COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of

Jodok

I was looking for a certain document in a desk this morning and I came across an old wallet or billfold which had seen its best days and had been discarded. It was, apparently, outlived its usefulness, just as other old things I could name. Plenty of such things to be found at my home town, and it is no exception to all other towns in that respect.

I did not expect to find the document in the old bill fold, but I, nevertheless, picked it up and looked into it and I did find several things that reminded me of the fact that time rapidly passes into eternity, and ceases to be time, but just a portion of past duration, and that minor incidents or happenings soon become history.

Some of the things I found, among several others, was a portion of an old letterhead, formerly used by the Friona Chamber of Commerce, and had evidently been printed some time in the early twenties. In the middle of the page or sheet, near the top, was printed the words, "CHAMBER OF COMMERCE," in about 24-point type, and just below that was the words: "Friona, Texas," in about 14-point type. On each side of the sheet and also near the top, was a short list of the natural resources of the town and country, supposedly intended to attract the interest of any who might have been looking for a good place to make a home.

These items were printed one below the other, but I am not going to copy them so here, but will give the items in their order, each following another in the same line. The column on the left side of the sheet were as follows: WATER: As good as the Best. FOODS: Cereals, Vegetables. RAIMENT: Cotton, Wool. On the right side of the sheet was listed three other items calculated to attract the attention of home-seekers. They were as follows: LAND, A Plenty, Level, Fertile, Cheap. SCHOOLS: Buildings, Equipment, Instructors. None Better. PEOPLE: Best on Earth.

At the time that was written, Friona may have had as many as 400 people maybe not. I feel that it is a safe guess, that half of those people who were here then, have gone—either moved away or passed on into eternity—and deducting the remaining 200 of those earlier settlers from our estimated 1,600, and we find that about 1,400 of our people have come here since that date, so this is history to them.

Just below the printed portion of the above mentioned letterhead, was a clipping, neatly typed and by someone, I know not who, and composed by someone, I know not who, and handed to me at some time, I know not when, as there in neither name nor date on it, but it contains such lofty sentiment, that it is worthy to be included in any man's effusion, so I shall quote it here, as people cannot get to much of such sentiment brought to their attention:

(QUOTE) People are looking vainly for satisfaction. It is not to be found in the gilded halls of pleasure, nor under the blazing lights of the streets. It is in loyal obedience to God's will. The weakest spirit can stray and fall.

But it takes a man to do right. The seas to sail and the heights to scale. To the dwelling place of light. And the things that count. When the night is near. And the long, long race is run. Is a conscience clear. And devoid of fear. And a sense of duty done. (End QUOTE)

I received a very nice letter one day last week, from my good friend, Walker L. Hyton, of Chester, Illinois, who stated that he had been reading these effusions and was enjoying them. I have not seen Walker in these past 36 years, and he is one of the "Ball of the Earth," which means one of the best of men. He stated that he enjoys all my effusions but the one in the issue of the Star of February 10th, was especially satisfying to him. According to Walker's own words, his opinion of the condition that our government is now in, is identical with my own and Floyd's and his forecasts for the future are the same as mine.

I have known Walker for the past half century and, so far as I know, his only resentment against me is that of my political affiliation, I being a Republican and Walker a Democrat, but I never ever held that against him. And in fact, I do not think he ever held it against me either. It was a great pleasure to me to hear from him.

Frequently when I have said something which later sounds silly and frivolous, howsoever honest and with whatsoever good intentions I may have said it, I always feel somewhat relieved when I have heard or read of some other reason—may be a learned man—using the same or similar expressions. I seem to have the feeling that, if a smart man—a scientist for example—should have such hay-wire ideas, I may not be so mentally inept as I may seem.

In corroboration of this idea I had the pleasure of reading in one of our daily papers, that a scientist in a not too distant city had made some expressions regarding the final results or effects of the explosion of the H-bomb, more fanciful than any I had dared to make. Some of his forecasts were practically the same as mine, and others were more far-reaching in their absurdity and more disastrous than any I had dared to make. However, that does not make them true, and he stated that there could be no positive proof of any such results. But I still claim that my surmises are ridiculously absurd.

However, I claim that there is no harm in such ratiocinations or cogitations. It is just another way of thinking, and absurd as it may be, it is better than no thinking at all.

The excessively pleasant weather which the Panhandle region has been experiencing throughout the entire winter, but especially during last week and this week, is almost unspcakably grand and exhilarating. We are defying Southern California or Florida to surpass it in excellence. In fact, it is doubtful if Utopia itself, can excel it. Add to this a whole day of steady soaking rain and we will have the limit of weather grandeur.

Back in the United States, where I grew up, a few days like these during the winter or spring always brought forth the expression, "This day is too pretty. It is a weather-breeder and we are sure to have some bad weather in the near future. They never seemed to stop to consider that all seasons of lovely weather are terminated by a spell of rough weather of some sort. Evidently this was their motto:

"A deep clear sky of fleckless blue. Breeds storms within a day or two."

Look in now on a career in the Navy.

World Day Of Prayer Meet In Friona Baptist Church

World Day of Prayer was observed by Friona women with an interdenominational meeting in the Friona Baptist Church Friday afternoon.

Rev. George E. Meyer, Congregational minister, gave an inspirational message on World Peace. In discussing the tense international situation, the speaker said, "Indifference on the part of Christian folk in the crisis of this day is the tragedy of it all." He elaborated on the thought that the only hope for civilization is in the dominance of peace-minded people under God.

Rev. Meyer classified the three levels of life as: the lowest involves returning evil for good; next level shows a return of good and evil for evil; and then the Christian level which returns good for evil.

"The life of Mahatma Gandhi was based on the Sermon on the Mount, and he proved the power of non-violence," stated the speaker.

"Sweet Hour of Prayer" led by Mrs. Clyde Sherrieb opened the meeting. After a prayer Mrs. Milburn Bennett introduced Mrs. Howard Ford who gave the meditation.

This interdenominational group voted to sponsor a sunrise service and breakfast for the youth of Friona Easter morning. The entertaining rooms were decorated with arrangements of snapdragons and sweet peas. The WMU served refreshments to the following guests: Mesdames O. F. Lange, A. A. Crow, J. A. Lamb, Bertie Stowers, Willis Parker, J. L. Shaffer, Pearl Kinsley, Fred White, Wesley Hardesty, Marvis Southward, Sherrieb, C. W. Dixon, W. S. Crow, Roy V. Miller, Harley Reeve, Floyd Schlenker, Floyd Reeve, Lucille Foster, J. C. Wilkinson, Bert Shaeckelford, C. C. Maurer, Ford, R. J. Durstine, C. A. Regan, C. T. Stevens,

School Board To Study Friona And Cite Improvement

The Friona school board of education recently has spent considerable time and effort investigating the exact needs of the present school system. The general public has indicated a desire to improve the physical plant which is definitely inadequate and in some instances unsafe.

With the help of architects and engineers, the school board has made a careful study of the cost of suggested improvements. Due to the enactment of the Gilmer-Aiken bill, the financial condition of the school has improved to such an extent that it would be very easy to service a bond with which to construct a new gymnasium and auditorium, and to make the necessary repairs changes in the present plant.

After careful consideration and study, the board has found that the present grade school building is badly in need of certain repairs and rearrangements. From the standpoint of safety and health, and efficiency the remodeling is imperative to provide a modern up-to-date building.

At present the High school gymnasium has a very small seating capacity and playing court. Accommodating a tournament crowd or even seating a local group of spectators is impossible.

With the construction of a new gym and auditorium and some remodeling in the grade school Friona's physical plant would compare favorably with those of other school in its class.

Creeds By HERB SWINNEY Minister of the Sixth Street Church of Christ

The church of Christ lives by only one creed and that is the New Testament. The word "creed" simply means a belief. The Bible teaches that man's spiritual life must be guided by just one creed as evident when we examine 2 Timothy 3:16, 17. "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. That the man of God may be perfect, THOROUGHLY FURNISHED unto all good works." When something is thoroughly furnished and is capable of producing perfection, is there a need for substitution or an addition? My Bible teaches me that man made creeds are an abomination unto God. Paul said that if we, or an angel from Heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. (Gal. 1:8, 9).

FARM BUREAU WARNS

Beware of cesspool pumping operators, who refuse to quote exact prices per job. Certain trucks have been going around the country, pumping out cess pools and septic tanks. This is a normal practice and often is a big help to a farmer or other home owner. The catch is that some of these operators will not quote prices on their work except "by the pound"—and, since scarcely anybody knows how many pounds his cess pool holds he is caught off guard. Then the bill comes up to $100 or $250 and there is nothing left to do but pay up.

Insist on a price per job before letting anyone pump out your septic tank or cess pool. Rosedale Farm Bureau Executive Committee, Russell Harrington, President; Jas J. Spurring, Secretary; Lucian Madole, vice president.

W. E. McGlothlin and W. A. Tinney were business visitors at Amarillo Saturday.

Church Notes

The Congregational Church is holding services each Wednesday evening at 7:30 during Lent. The pastor is leading in a general discussion of the Bible, its make-up, content, and the story of how it was written. The church extends a cordial invitation to the community at large to these and the special Sunday services at 11:00 a. m. and to the services which are to be held each evening of Holy Week, April 3rd to 7th inclusive when the general topic of "Day by Day with Jesus Through Holy Week" will be followed.

The Congregational Church will hold a church family fellowship Sunday evening March 5th at 6:30 in the church parlors. It is for the members and friends of the church and their families. A lunch of sandwiches, cake, jelly and coffee will be served. The program will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. George E. Meyer, and will be informal. Families coming should bring sandwiches, or cake or jelly. The ladies of the church will furnish the coffee.

The Baptist Congregational and Methodist Churches cooperated in a community wide religious census last Sunday with very good results. The pastors of the churches wish to thank the workers and the people of the city and vicinity who so kindly cooperated with not a single exception.

Facts About The Lindstrom Affair — Married Or Not?

A statement issued at the office of Father Felix Morlion, O. P., flatly denies a press association dispatch, published in the United States, which said the Dominican priest had declared that the Lindstrom Bergman marriage is not valid because the participants were Protestants. Father Morlion is now in Northern Italy and was not available for personal contact, but the Dominicans said that every Catholic knows and the priest knows that the marriages between Protestants who are free to wed are binding in the eyes of the Catholic church.

There has been no official statement about a possible Catholic wedding of Ingrid Bergman, movie star, and Roberto Rossellini, Italian movie director, but clergymen in high position say that no marriage could occur, in this case or any other unless previous bonds were proved invalid. Divorce action of civil court has no effect on such decisions.

Quotidiano, Catholic Action daily, regretted that the name of Father Morlion had been linked in any way with the case.

New York — "This statement attributed to Father Morlion, is unequivocally incorrect," the New York Chancery said. "The vast majority of marriages between Protestants, are perfectly valid, and are, therefore, so recognized by the Catholic Church. If one or another of them is challenged as being invalid, complete legal proof of the alleged invalidating circumstance must be adduced before the church will recognize the marriage as invalid."

"No divorce, Mexican or otherwise, has anything to do with the validity of a marriage. Divorce admits the bond and tries to sever it; annulment declares that there is no bond to cut."

FIGHTER COMES HOME — Lawrence Roach, popular Texas middleweight, died of head injuries received in a losing 10 round fight to George Small in New York City. Despite efforts of five physicians, he succumbed at St. Clare's Hospital where he was taken on a stretcher from ringside. Funeral services were held in East Orange, N. J. Sunday and again in Plainview Tuesday for the young boxer who was 24 years old the day of his final fight.

Dr. Cooke practiced a year in Friona and decided to locate permanently in Hereford.

Red Cross

The Farmer County Red Cross drive for 1950 campaign got under way Tuesday, with Frank A. Spring, cashier of the Friona State Bank, as County Chairman.

Mr. Spring announced the following named people as precinct chairmen, who will assist him in his work by pushing the campaign in their respective precincts.

Other precinct chairmen have not yet been secured.

BIBLE COMMENT

Christianity Survives Even as It Did Early Paganism

THE contrast between the little group of Christians and the pagan world with which they were surrounded as the church took its roots and beginnings in the now famous cities could hardly have been greater.

Corinth, where Paul spent a considerable time on his missionary journeys, and to which city he addressed the longest and most revealing of his Epistles, was called the eye of Greece. "To live as they do at Corinth" became a byword for luxurious and cultured living. But here, too, as one can plainly see from I and II Corinthians, the church had to make its way against an immorality by which some of the professing Christians themselves were corrupted.

It was not amazing that probably well-intentioned but unthinking, souls should imagine that they could continue in the Christian community practices of their former pagan life, but one can see how uncompromisingly Paul rebuked them, and asserted the necessary moral integrity of Christian living, in personal life, in home and family relationships, and in all the situations of daily life.

One might dwell upon that contrast and contrast in the ancient world, but it is more fitting to realize how that contrast and struggle go on today. Modern paganism is mostly irreligious. It does not build temples, or erect luxurious altars. But its characteristics are the same. It is a paganism of immoral living, foul and degraded on its lower level, professing a culture and refinement in its higher devotees, but disregarding, or denying, the elemental integrities.

One need not be a pessimist to remark how much in our modern society portends of the very things that were in that ancient pagan world, and that brought it to ruin, in spite of all its apparent culture, strength and splendor. Christianity survived, and Christianity will survive, but ancient paganism has its warnings for the paganism of our present environment.

A godless society and a godless culture live in them the seeds of destruction. History confirms the realism of the Bible.

LADIES AID MEETING

The Congregational Ladies Aid met in the home of Mrs. Fred White, Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. White and Miss Lola Goodwine as hostesses.

This was a work meeting and the afternoon was spent crocheting, sewing and other needle work, in preparation for their annual bazaar, in November.

Weather

On Monday morning we had a sprinkle of rain, sufficient to wet the pavement, but not enough to have any appreciable effect on the ground or the crops.

Monday and Tuesday were remarkably mild for winter, and we might say, for summer either. Wednesday was pinchy cold all day, although the sun shown most of the day, with wind from the north Thursday morning is colder still and cloudy and snowing with wind from the south.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Marshall and Peggy Dell were over at Muleshoe on Tuesday night of last week to see their baby grandson, who has had another bad spell.

Earl Fischer, principal of the Amarillo Price Summit Height school, was guest speaker in the local Methodist Church in observance of Laymen's Day.

School officials and students are working on projects for the Open House to be held Thursday night, March 16.

T. J. Crawford returned Monday from a visit with his daughters, Miss Jean at Dallas, and

Research Project Of Roofing Bureau Praised for Work

A research fellowship sponsored by the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau at the National Bureau of Standards has made "notable contributions" to an industry that supplies 84 percent of all the roofing sold in the United States, the Department of Commerce notes in its monthly booklet, "Construction and Construction Materials."

The Department says the fellowship is one of the oldest, sponsored by industry at the Bureau of Standards. The asphalt roofing fellowship was established Jan. 1, 1925.

One of the main research projects has been concerned with asphalt roofing felts. Felt is the base for asphalt saturants and coatings and for the mineral granules which are bonded to the surface of fire-resistant asphalt shingles.

Home Offers Variable Plan

This home was designed with alternative exteriors and interiors, enabling the owner to choose the combination which suits his own needs best. Because of these optional major features, the dwelling has been selected by American Builder magazine, 36 Church St., New York 7, N. Y., as its Plan No. 38.

The two exteriors are the same except that one has a steeper roof pitch than the other. The house as shown above has the more gently sloping roof. The steeper roof provides an expansion attic where rooms might be added in the future. For either type of roof, Walter T. Anicka, the architect, suggests that the color of the shingles form the basis for the entire exterior color scheme.

The floor plan shown would be used with a basement. For a basementless house, the stairway would be eliminated. This would leave space for a small utility room where a heater could be installed.

The living room-dining room and the kitchen face the street. The bedrooms, overlooking the rear yard, are in the quietest part of the house.

The house contains 1,029 square feet of space on the first floor. This figure would be useful in estimating cost of construction.

(Detailed estimating plans and a complete home planning packet of building information are available from American Builder, 36 Church St., New York 7, N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 38.)

Liberty Bell Chosen as Savings Bonds Drive Symbol

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, right, looks very pleased as sales Director Leon J. Markham of the United States Savings Division shows him the symbol for the Independence Drive, which will open May 15, and run through July 4, to stimulate the sale of savings bonds.

"The Liberty Bell symbolizes not only our political independence but also all those characteristics of Americanism which serve to sustain our independence," Secretary Snyder said. "Of these characteristics, thrift, of course, is one of the most outstanding. Thus in the Independence Drive, the Liberty Bell will be an especially suitable reminder of the importance of savings and Savings Bonds to our economic life and to the financial independence of the individual," he asserted.

Dawson County Farmer Tells Parmer County Farmers To Be Independent

About one hundred Parmer night in the Friona Grade School Auditorium at the first Quarterly Meeting of the County Farm Bureau. President Roy Miller, of Friona suggested organization of the wheat Producers Association to work in collaboration with the Texas Wheat Producers and Marketing Association. In the absence of representative response, he was asked to appoint a committee of three to investigate and hold a meeting in time to elect officers who could attend the next regional meeting in Amarillo the 20th of March.

Sam Allen, successful farmer and rancher and president of Dawson County's Farm Bureau was the speaker of the evening, he encouraged planning and thinking among farmers for control of production and marketing to an extent great enough to avoid complete dependence on government control. In emphasizing this thought, Allen referred to present socialist Brittan, who has come about in the last ten years. Various proposals for control were cited, one former stomped out at the statement that the Brannan Plan is socialist in policy. The statement was supported by mention of the fact that labor groups and industry, not farm groups, are lobbying for it's passage.

Farm income represents one seventh of the nation's income, said Allen, and that is "Big Business" worthy of business-like management. Farmers are urged to look into the policies of the Farm Bureau, and if it represents the kind of program they believe to be in the interest of the nation's economy they are invited to support that program by their membership in the Bureau. "Many" rather than Money is the democratic voice employed in Farm Bureau efforts toward good legislation.

New Friona State Bank To Show Off Building Saturday

Frank A. Spring, director and cashier of the Friona State Bank, states that the new bank will hold open house Saturday March 4, from 2 to 6 P.M. The public is cordially invited.

Spring, active in Friona civic affairs for several years, has the distinction of being one of the first children born in organized Parmer County. He is Red Cross chairman of funds for Parmer County, past president of Friona Lions Club, a member of the local Chamber of Commerce, and a Khiva Tempe Shriner.

"From rags to riches" will be the story behind the headlines when the Friona State Bank holds open house in the new ultra-modern bank building. The architecture of the old bank building, erected in 1909 contrasts sharply to that of the strictly modern lines of the new structure designed by Architects Shaefer and Merrell, Clovis, New Mexico, and built by Elmo Jones, Littlefield.

The new cream brick building is trimmed with aluminum and Roman brick. The glass brick windows and the canopy over the front entrance complement the attractive exterior. This structure located at Main and Seventh, houses Alens Jewelry, Southwestern Public Service Office and the G. B. Buske Cattle and Realty Co., as well as the bank.

Concerning the history Spring says, "This bank has given continuous service since 1909, first as the Friona Bank, then in 1919 it was chartered as the Friona State Bank. The late Al Henschel established the original institution. Other early directors were R. H. Kinsley, deceased; P. W. Reeve, the late George G. Wright original owner of the Friona townsite; Clyde Goodwine; and T. J. Crawford.

The rapid growth of the community is reflected in the steady increase of the bank deposits. Since 1944 deposits have soared from $800,000 to well above the $2 million mark. As of Feb. 2, 1950 the deposits were $2,418,000, the highest in the banks history. The figure in 1919 was $200,000.

Wainscot fixtures and furnishing throughout the interior of the new bank were custom built by the Panhandle Fixture Co. Amarillo. Included in the bank are four teller units, the cashier's private office, directors room, a spacious lobby, and two vaults, one for the cash and books, and the other for safe boxes.

A year round air-conditioning system adds to the comfort of the building which is fifty by one hundred and eight feet.

On entering the lobby the photographic display on the walls catches the eye. Large hand-tinted photographs of local scenes portray the industries in and around Friona. One depicts the elevator business; another

Give Your Pecan Tree An Even Chance At The Start

The pecan tree you set out now can become a monument to you 50 years from now, that is, if you give it the start in life it needs. After transplanting, the pecan tree develops new roots very slowly and the top of the tree must be reduced in size to balance this root system, says J. E. Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A&M College. This usually means removing about a third of the top growth of the transplanted seedling.

During the first growing season, a vital factor in the growth of the tree is plenty of moisture. The soil around the tree should never be allowed to become dry and if the season is dry, Hutchison recommends soaking the ground around the tree, to the full depth of the root system, once every two weeks.

He says newly planted pecan trees that are making little growth are likely to sunscald at the ground line unless protected. He points out that it is best not to water during the heat of the day. The wet soil should be covered with dry soil or a straw mulch. A sawdust mulch helps to conserve moisture and also to cool the soil. Sunscald can also be prevented by loosely wrapping the lower part of the trunk with burlap or paper soon after transplanting.

Training or heading the young tree is most important, says Hutchison. The temporary branches which are allowed to develop during the first two or three years should be removed to give the tree a permanent important protein food you can use in the diet for the growing child. Besides the vitamins, they contain iron which is a body builder and the phosphorus helps make strong teeth and bones. The appetite appeal of colorful egg dishes, she points out have no age limit—from baby to granddad. Eggs make fine dishes for breakfast, dinner or supper and should be served every day.

Miss Schultz says the growing child should have at least one egg every day and that adults should eat eggs four or five times per week. She says there are many different ways to prepare eggs for the family table and that the method of preparation should be varied for variety adds to their appetite appeal.

She offers these suggestions on egg cooking. Eggs should be cooked with low heat—high heat tends to make the eggs tough. For best success in beating egg whites, use them when they are at room temperature. Strictly fresh eggs, she adds do not peel easily and the older eggs should be used for hard cooking. When you make custards, overcooking will cause the eggs to curdle and too much beating or mixing, in the case of cakes, will cause a loss of air and you'll lose the lightness and fluffiness that you want in your cakes.

If you are interested in getting more information on preparing egg dishes and hints on cooking, she suggests that you call on your local county home demonstration agent for recipes and cooking hints.

College Station — Eggs are an excellent protein food. They are rich in vitamin A and this makes them a good body building food. The vitamin B helps to promote good digestion and egg yolks are one of the richest sources of vitamin D. You get all of this and more, and it's all done up in one neat package when you eat eggs, says Lucille Shultz, associate extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College.

She says right now eggs are one of your best buys. They are cheap. The supply is abundant and next to milk are the most

Several Candidates Seek Worley Seat In Congress

Candidates for the United States Congress post Representative Eugene Worley is vacating, to accept a federal judgeship, announced in rapid succession this and last week, even before Rep. Worley has resigned his present post.

First three to toss their hats in the ring were Mrs. Altavene Clark, State Representative Blake Timmons and Walter Rogers, Pampa attorney.

Mrs. Clark, special assistant to the House Agriculture committee and former secretary to Worley and to former-Congressman Marvin Jones, issued her statement of candidacy immediately after the White House announced Worley as the choice for the vacancy on the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

Blake Timmons announced from Austin as soon as he learned of Worley's plans. The 33-year-old Amarillo lawyer, who has served four years in the Texas House, said he will announce a detailed platform within a few days, when the rush of the special session of the legislature is over.

Walter Rogers, Pampa attorney, announced his candidacy early Friday afternoon. He had previously been mentioned as a likely candidate to oppose Worley in the election this year.

A fourth candidate, LeRoy (Pete) LaMaster, announced from Perryton Tuesday. LaMaster is a farmer and stockman, 31-years-old, and a veteran of 3 1/2 years in the Navy.

They Won't Run
Among those who have stated they will not run are Lt. Gov. Grady Hazlewood, Allen Harp of Childress, Johnny Linn of Amarillo and John Deaver of Memphis.

There is a possibility that this congressional district will see two congressmen elected in the same year, one in the special election and another in the Democratic primary.

It is also possible, but unlikely that the two elections might be held on the same date, particularly if Worley's resignation is soon. The special election victor will serve as congressman for the rest of the year, and the

Many Diseases Can Be Traced To Housefly

Millions of flies help to cause the illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be traced to the State of Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint, and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection recently said, "Be sure that your windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor will not endanger your family. Be sure that flies are kept away from food, drink, and utensils used in the preparation of food. Make sure, if you live in rural districts, that outside privy vaults are tightly covered so as not to permit the entrance of flies. Infection from this source can be picked up and spread to human beings through contact with food, drink and utensils. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies and you will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness."

Dr. Cox said that the State Health Department would furnish upon request a pamphlet outlining safe and practical methods recommended for use in fly control.
