Are straight rows of feed and cotton a lost art? We recognize that good farming practices often require terracing or contour farming, but when driving along beside level fields, we cannot help but observe the lay of the rows.

Who do you think plows the straightest rows in the country? Let's have some nominations! We'll suggest one candidate right now: H. C. Wells. Now we doubt if H. C. did the work himself, but you never can tell. At any rate, next time you drive north from his house, just observe the straight rows of feed up the road a mile or two, on the west side; pretty good, aren't they?

And if you haven't driven over the county to observe the cotton and feed since the rain, you've missed something. A bumper crop is in prospect if all goes as it has started. There's no prettier county anywhere than our own on a seasonable year with the fields and pastures thriving.

We drove out to the Russel O'Brian farm east of Hub Tuesday evening. . . now there is one of the neatest farms we've seen (not to mention the fine garden with its squash, corn, etc.)

There must be something to it: the progress of Friona and surrounding community was featured during the past week over Station KGNC in Amarillo, in the editorial page of the Sunday edition of the Dallas Morning News, and the Canadian Record and other weekly papers. We are happy to state many of the comments were lifted from the columns of the Star.

Some still maintain that it's a man's world! If you are one of these, take stock of the main events in your life. When you were born, the question was "And how is the mother?" when you were married the comment was "The bride was attired in pink", and when you die, the question probably will be "How much insurance did she receive?"

There was no evil intent here we assure you, but Mrs. Os Lange has a pretty convincing case against CL. It seems that recently on our Public Poll question, Os was asked what he would do if suddenly he were to receive a gift of $1000. Now Oscar replied that he would apply it on his debts as far as it would go; and Mrs. Os stopped us on the street today and said she had been unable to get credit from Friona merchants ever since. Please, please, folks, extend Mrs. Lange credit just as though husband Os had never made the headlines!

You just can't win for losing. Rev. Jimmie Tidwell accuses us of misrepresenting him as doing all the work around the house; and neighbor S. T. Thornton says we fail to give him credit for his home work.

Work is near completion on the new machine shop located on Highway 60 in northeast Friona, with owner Raymond Adams stating he hopes to open for business next week.

This is one of the neier buildings we've seen machine shops housed in, and its appearance itself is a valuable addition to Friona.

Legion Post Has Officer Election

Membership Drive Gets Underway As Thornton, Taylor Choose Sides

Ballots were counted at the Friday night meeting of the Friona American Legion Post 206, determining the slate of officers for the oncoming year. Elected were: Commander, Bert Neelley; 1st Vice Commander, Ralph Taylor; Adjutant, Roy Wilson, Finance Officer, Allen Stewart; Service Officer, F. O. Griffith; Child Welfare Chairman, Foster Rector; Chaplain, Forrest Osborn; Historian, Charles Allen; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Joe Brummett.

The new officers will take part in a zone-wide installation to be held at Dimmitt in September.

The annual membership drive was set off with two team captains being appointed, who in turn selected ten legionnaires apiece to commence the drive. As each team enlists a new member, that member is to be added to the team; thus the largest team at the drive's end will be declared winner to entertain the post and auxiliary. Captains named were Ralph Taylor and S. T. Thornton.

Twenty six legionnaires and auxiliary members were present at the Friday night meeting; next meeting date was set for Friday night, August 3rd.

Club Women Approve Paving at Clubhouse

Pavement and parking space to the west and south of the Friona clubhouse was assured this week by vote of the women's clubs of the town.

Representatives of the Modern Study Club, Friona Woman's Club, and the Progressive Study Club met Wednesday and voted, to have the parking space paved as well as the streets.

Plans Underway For Moving PMA Into Courthouse

Joe Camp, secretary of the Parmer County PMA program, confirmed reports this week that plans are underway for moving of those offices into the courthouse at Farwell.

The PMA offices now are located in the Claude Rose building on Highway 84 just two doors east of the Security State Bank.

Apparently this is not a consolidation move with the Extension Service of Texas A & M, inasmuch as the county agent's office still will be located on the ground floor, with the PMA in the second floor quarters.

District Court Criminal Docket Was Completed Today; One Postponement, Three Convictions Are Final Talley

The criminal docket of the District Court was disposed of today with three convictions being handed down and one trial postponed. Ernest Wright and Harold D. Thurman, charged with cattle theft, were each assessed 5-year suspended sentences.

J. C. Broyles waived trial by jury in his case, being charged with hog theft, and he was given three years suspended sentence by Judge W. A. Willis. Thurman, also charged with hog theft, was not tried on this count.

Bob Pierce, second offense driving while intoxicated, drew a 2-year sentence but was placed under probation after pleading guilty and asking for a suspended sentence. The judge handed down the probation sentence under the adult probation law.

The Ralph Palmateer trial, involving child desertion, was postponed; Palmateer remains in jail. Jurors serving were Condy Billingsley, Preston Martin, E. J. Gulley, H. D. Bradshaw, A. M. Wilson, Bob Hammonds, A. J. Glenn, John H. Burrow, Roy Clements, Heard Whitefield, Billy G. Buchanan, and Eugene Boggess.

Street Work To Start August 1

With actual construction slated to commence next week on the Friona street improvement program, personnel of the contracting firm already are moving into town. The construction superintendent representing Brown & Root will arrive this week-end.

Machinery already is being moved in, with dirt handling equipment arriving early this week.

Must go out of town. We think we need this service; what do you suggest?

Public Poll

What is your conception of an ideal vacation one which you would personally enjoy the most?

Mrs. Roy Wilson:
"This year I would like more than any other vacation to travel over the country visiting the families of the servicemen with whom Roy is in service. It has been nearly 6 years since Roy has seen the men, and I would like to meet and compare families!"

Mrs. J.C. Wilkison:
"Go to the horse races!"

Allen Stewart:
"Like the type vacation from which I have just returned. . . seeing the mountains, streams, and rugged scenery. I don't care for the deserts, sand dunes, or a lot of people about."

Mrs. Marvin Lawson:
"I don't particularly care for vacations. Home is just the nicest place in the whole world to be!"

Mrs. Paul Fortenberry:
"I hadn't given it much thought. Our last vacation was a trip to Florida. I like the cooler resorts and small places; don't care for the big cities."

Mrs. H. T. Magness:
"Oh, I just like to stay home and have someone else to do all the work!"

Mrs. D. C. Merring:
"There are just too many things I'd like to do to name any one. I like the mountains very much, however, for a vacation spot."

Mrs. Nelson Welch:
"Just to get away for a few days, take it easy, even having breakfast in bed. . . that would be ideal for me!"

Directors of the Parmer County Fair met in Bovina this week to initiate active work on the fair scheduled for September 13, 14, and 15.

Practically all discussion centered around financing of the county-wide show, inasmuch as difficulty has been noted each year in paying the bills. In fact, $346.77 still is owed on the fair show. Recent contributions on last year's show included $150 by the Friona Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, and $150 by the Friona Lions Club.

The directors voted to launch a drive for sale of advertising in the fair catalogue, hoping to defray expenses in this manner. The chambers of commerce in each of the three towns were delegated to supervise the sales to be made immediately.

Next regular meeting of the board is slated for August 14 in the Agriculture Building at Bovina.

Attending the session this week were Wendol Christian, president; Virgil Teague, vice-president; John Blackburn, acting secretary-treasurer; and directors including John Getz, A. L. Hartzog, Floyd Schlenker, Clude Hays, J. L. Sheaffer, and Levi Johnson; J. T. Gee, Weldon Spinks, Robert Truitt, Joe Jones, Frank Truitt, Sonny Graham, the Lazbuddie agriculture teacher, and J. Alan Romich.

Cotton Growers Are Doing Something About the Insects!

A second round of meetings for study of cotton insect control was conducted in Parmer County Monday by the Extension Service of Texas A & M College. Conducted by County Agent Joe Jones and Extension Service Entomologist Harry Harvey, the discussions held right in the cotton fields in every section of the county centered around insect identification and control measures.

Brown Swiss Tour Slated Monday

The first Texas Brown Swiss Association herd tour in this area will be conducted Monday, and all interested parties are invited to attend part or all of the tour.

Professors from Texas Tech will be in charge of judging and classifications, with supporting reasons for the decisions fully discussed at each farm.

The group will leave the Hill Hotel in Hereford at 9:30 Monday morning, making the following itinerary:

- 10:25 Leave Robert Kerschen's.
- 11:00 Leave Sam Ventruella's.
- 12:00 Leave Harold Huckert enroute to Martina Farm where lunch will be served to all.
- 2:00 Leave Martin Fulcher's (Martina Farm.)
- 3:00 Leave D. C. Burnett (Lea Don Farm.)
- 4:00 Roy Delashaw, Final.

Gas and Electric Servicemen Move Here This Week

Both the gas and electric service firms supplying Friona moved full-time service men into town this week.

Ralph Shirley, formerly of Hereford, will represent the West Texas Gas Company, setting up headquarters in the City offices. He and his family have moved into the J. P. Wilson house in north Friona.

H. L. Outland, representing the Southwestern Public Service Company, moved today into the Schuler apartments and will make his headquarters at the same former location of the electric company in the bank building.

Gas Collections To Be Handled At City Office

Arrangements have been negotiated between the West Texas Gas Company and the City of Friona whereby collections for that firm will be made by the city office personnel. Mayor Mack Bainum announced this week.

Beginning August 1st, gas bills will be paid at the city office. In addition, a full-time serviceman for the gas company has been approved for Friona and Bovina, and he will maintain a desk at the city office.

The city will receive a flat fee from the gas company for these services.

Baker Promoted In Rank, Now a Major in Combat Training Command

Elmer L. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Baker, of Friona, has been promoted from captain to major with Combat Training Command, stationed at Fort Benning. He will continue as adjutant of CTC, according to the announcement by Col. Ralph N. Woods, commanding officer.

Major Baker recently began his third decade in the Army. He enlisted at Fort Warren, Wyo., on March 6, 1931. He was commissioned in November, 1942.

After 23 months in the Philippines, Major Baker returned to the States last August and was assigned to CTC as adjutant in December. His Philippines service was with the Seventh Service command adjutant general section and with the Fifth Army.

During World War II, Major Baker was one of seven brothers in the armed forces. Four of his brothers, George F., Arthur B., Oliver, and Raymond, were in the Army. Duke was a Marine and Gilbert a Coast Guardsman.

Major and Mrs. Baker now live in the nearby city of Columbus. Mrs. Baker is the former Miss Wilmirth Sultz of Elbert, Colo.

The Bakers' son, Calvin, is an employee of the Denver, Colo. Post assigned to Fort Logan, Colo.

MULESHOE TEACHER DIES

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday in Muleshoe for G. S. Dowell, one of the agriculture teachers there and widely known in regional school activities. Dowell, 59 years old, died suddenly, according to J. T. Gee, who reported the incident to the Star.

Editorially Speaking

A Case Close to Home. . . .

We would like to say that the Farmer County courthouse was designed for use by county offices alone, but on second thought we cannot present a case on paper that would meet the approval of even the federal government itself!

Now we know that we are right, but there have been so many infringements upon the designated functions of government on every level that the local case would merely be a drop in the bucket. We do not believe the PMA, with all its benefits, should be housed in a county-owned building; let the Federal Bureau keep their own house!

But such clear-cut division is not in keeping with present trends. We even have the old-fashioned understanding that tax-collectors should collect taxes, and merchants should sell merchandise. But now the merchants must hire help to collect the taxes from his employees! (And if he commits the sin of error, he is fully reprimanded and fined for making a mistake on a job that by rights is a function of the government! and the government is in the business of buying and selling, oftentimes in competition with private investment.

Case after case of such inconsistencies could be enumerated. They are smiled upon in high places.

We just want to know if you think this is aboveboard and even morally right? If it is to be accepted, then we will just list ourselves with the oligarchies but if there is something amiss here, we urge you and you and you as good citizens to begin applying the brakes somewhere. Maybe the specific incident would be of relative little consequence; but in this fastmoving era we must take stock of all the implications and look ahead to future consequences. If we accept double talk and loose dealings, we have no one to blame but ourselves.

You're Being Quoted!

Confirming our belief that the "small fellow" still can be the controlling factor in democratic government, if he so chooses by alert attention to his duties of citizenship, eighteen weekly newspapers were quoted in the Congressional Record of the United States during May. Most of these were quoted upon the floor of the House or Senate, by our representatives who were attempting to voice the "will of the people"

Subjects quoted varied from the MacArthur affair to Texas and the Iranian situation.

One subject, which we readily understood, was voiced by the Grass Lake, Michigan, News. The editorial, "Prodigal Printing," discussed the tightening paper situation and deplored the flood of dispatches from the Federal Government, unwanted and unused, which ultimately find their way into the wastebaskets each day. Attention was called to the government's system of selling imprinted envelopes through local post offices at a price below what the printing industry must pay for the envelopes alone.

Understand this. . . we do not say that the small fellow is the determining factor in the majority of governmental decisions, but we know that such was the intention of the writers of our constitution, and such practices of self government still can be restored by aggressive, alert citizens.

With the United States teetering dangerously on the brink of socialism and bureaucratic control, we suggest that action of the small citizen is imperative, before it is too late.

Better Understanding and Appreciation is Our Purpose

The kind words of many of our readers regarding the series of "word portraits" the Star is printing about our neighbors, fellow workers, or pioneers is truly appreciated.

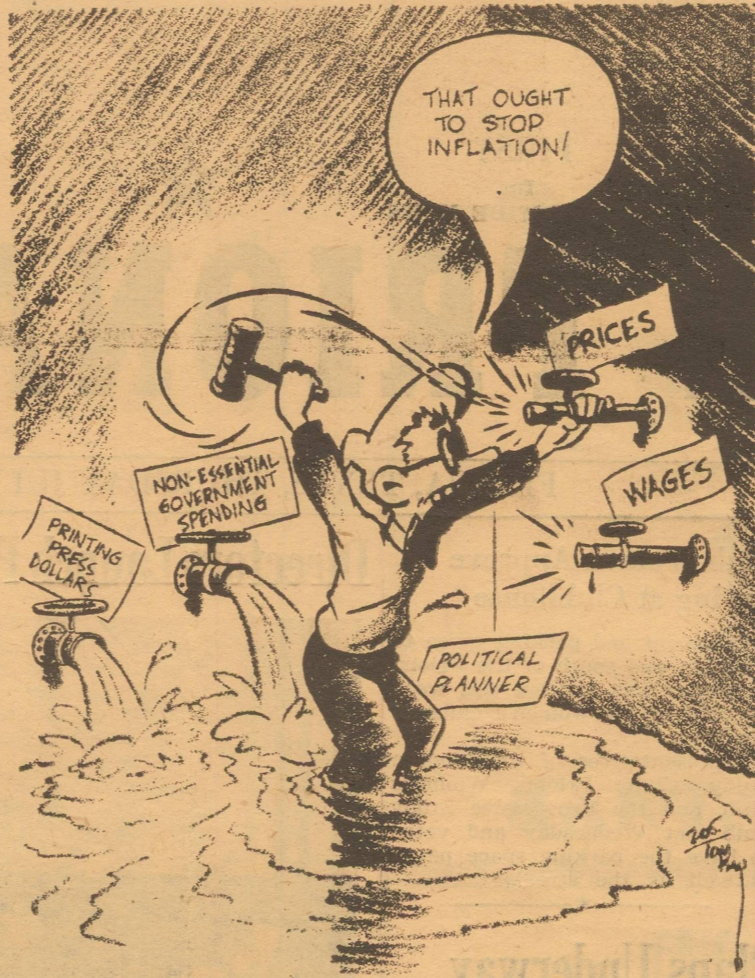

Our gratitude does not come from any selfish motive or gratification, but rather we just like to hear "I like that man, the Metzners already," or "Now, that's just as true as it can be, and told as only Mr Spring or Jack Anderson could relate it." We like to hear the kind words about our neighbors, and most important. . . we like to see honor and credit given the living.

'Tis often difficult to view people, places, and events in their proper perspectives. So often we glamorize or pay homage to some distant vista, some ancient sage, or some sensational happenstance, relegating to the back ground those factors more directly affecting our daily lives. To know one's neighbor and to understand him is a rare privilege; if we can in any way help in this understanding and appreciation, the series of articles have served their purpose.

With all respect to our neighboring state of New Mexico, we cannot help but censor their publicity minded leaders who along the highways extoll this area or that creek as "Billy-the-Kid Land," beckoning the tourist to see the museum of related lore, that tourist to remember for the rest of his life that New Mexico is Billy-the-Kid Land. For our part, we would like the visitor to remember Friona, or Texas for that matter, not for its black marks, but for such men as F. L. Spring, and all the civic leaders, the church workers, and the conscientious citizens

Dumas Editor Cites Personal Catastrophe

By Bill Rutherford

"Getting your mind out of the gutter is not one half so painful as getting your teeth out of a sewer according to our horrible memories of a hectic Wednesday.

"Very sleepily following a hectic night, we groggily reached for the flush lever on the commode while our indispensable upper plate dangled lazily in the other hand. Suddenly these fiendish teeth were imbued with atomic energy and devilish ingenuity.

"They fairly bit the hand that paid for them as they slithered straight into that miniature Niagara Falls and down the chute to escape oblivion.

"Diamonds in a sewer did not compare with the loss. You can only hock the gleaming ice but you can flat starve to death without your teeth.

"Frantically, we phoned the Lewis Plumbing and Heating Company and with tears in our voice, begged them to drop far more lucrative jobs and go on a missing teeth scavenger hunt. Fortunately, Mr. Lewis Sr. cats by artificial ivory manipulation and the gentleman recognized grim tragedy when face to face with it.

"Men dream of walking out without their pants out at the moment we would have done a male version of Lady Godiva's act down Dumas Ave., to get these teeth back.

"Well, they ripped out the commode and shook it like a tiny rabbit in a tiger's paw. They dug holes here and dug holes there and swabbed between 'em while we sat with eyes peering into the murky depths below. Ever see what comes out of a sewer? Bet you'd be surprised.

"After what seemed anguished hours, those teeth slipped meekly forward as innocently as a lamb toward its mother.

"After what seemed anguished hours, those teeth slipped meekly forward as innocent as a lamb toward its mother.

"We boiled 'em in scalding water, soaked them in Poilident, we carried them to Dr. Fowler and he soaked them in acid and alcohol and polished them to a gleaming white with antiseptic powder, but sometimes even yet we imagine they taste funny.

Ladybugs Get Results

By Castro Experiment
From The Castro County News

A Castro County father and son team recently did some experimenting on their own hook. They are David Honea, 14-year-old 4-H club boy and his father, H. B. Honea who decided to rid a 70-acre cotton patch of lice on their farm eleven miles north of town.

On July 13 just before daylight, young Honea released about one-half gallon of ladybugs on 5 acres of cotton which he had entered in the Plains Co-op Oil Mills 4-H Cotton Contest. By July 16 (Monday), the small bugs had cleared, by eating, a light infestation of lice in the cotton and had moved on to lamb's quarters at the end of the rows. His father also released one and half gallons on 65 acres

The Law & You

By Robt. (Bob) Kirk

DO YOU KNOW what laws the last session of the Legislature passed regarding "slot machines?"

At Least It's Novel: Taxpayers Honored

From The Savannah (Ga.) Morning News

At last someone has thought about doing something for the long-suffering taxpayer.

Up in Detroit the observance of "Taxpayer's Day" has been inaugurated. What with Father's Day and Mother's Day and the rest, the idea of a day set aside in honor of the fellow who helps to maintain the Government seems overdue if anything.

While the day was observed in connection with Detroit's 250th anniversary celebration on July 4, already there is a movement afoot to make it an annual affair.

In connection with the celebration, seventy Detroiters who have been paying taxes every year for fifty years, were honored and were presented special gold medals.

The only trouble with this phase of the celebration, we presume, was paying persons who have been paying taxes for fifty years who still have a shirt on which to pin a medal!

Declaring that "slot machines" and "one-armed bandits" fostered and supported crime and criminals and take large sums of money from school children and others, the Legislature passed a law describing these machines and making it a penitentiary offense to possess the same. The act further requires that such equipment having been seized by the Sheriff, that notice be given to the person owning or possessing such equipment, that a hearing will be held to determine whether or not such equipment shall be destroyed, unless the same shall be needed as evidence in the trial for possession of such equipment. The enactment states that "whoever shall manufacture, own, store, keep, sell, rent, lease let on shares lend or give away, transport or possess a slot machine, as defined in Section 1, shall be guilty of a felony and be confined in the State penitentiary not less than two (2) years nor more than four (4) years."

SUBSIDIZED HAIRCUTS

Writing in the EAGLE LAKE HEADLIGHT, Mrs. Hargrove Smith objects to members of the House at Washington subsidizing barbers in the capitol:

Now maybe we don't understand it, but that item in the House budget sounds as though an appropriation of taxpayer's money is set aside to assure House members of paying no more than 50c for a haircut.

If that is what it means, we don't get it. We have a husband and two sons who require haircuts about every three weeks, for which they pay the prevailing price of $1.00.

It just never occurred to us that somebody ought to be subsidizing us so that we don't have to pay any more than a certain amount for those haircuts.

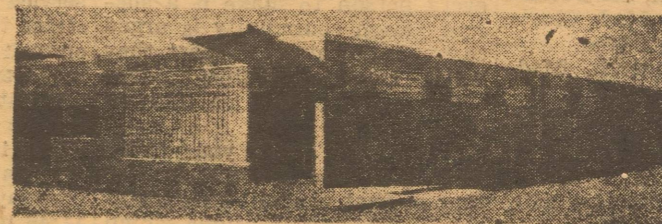

Papaya or Mamaya?

Papaya trees have a sex life, Carl Miller complains in his RAYMONDVILLE CHRONICLE. He has four tall, magnificent looking trees in his backyard reaching maturity this season, but now he finds that, yes, he has no papayas. Probably needs a few mamaya trees. . . .

W. H. Cooke in the ROCKALE REPORTER is cheered by the news that OPS has exempted tombstones from ceiling prices, along with the report that Truman wants more insurance for atomic warfare victims. "If an atom bomb drops on you, the government will buy you a tombstone and OPS will let them pay as much as they want for it."

Alfalfa Seed Yields Increased by Honey Bees

One Hive of Bees Per Acre Gave 120 Lbs. More Seed, Plus 53 Lbs. of Honey.

"We don't know enough about seed setting in alfalfa. We need to take the guesswork out of alfalfa seed production," says C. O. Grandfield, (Federal-State) alfalfa specialist in Kansas. We are learning some things about alfalfa seed production which help, but there are still many other things to learn.

That honeybees can and do increase yields of alfalfa and clover seed in many locations is now a generally accepted fact. The climatic conditions and the geographic locations most favorable for maximum results from use of honeybees are not yet clearly understood. Agronomists and entomologists in several States have conducted experiments on the relationships between bee activity and alfalfa seed production, and have drawn certain more or less tentative conclusions.

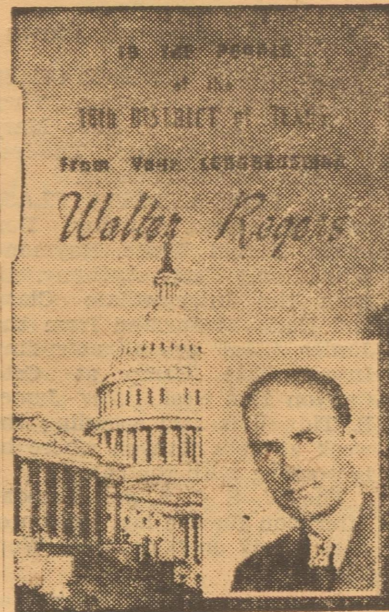

Honeybees are not nearly as effective pollinizers of alfalfa as bumblebees, and certain other wild bees, but unfortunately the native bees are not present in most seed fields in sufficient numbers, and these fluctuate so widely that they cannot be counted on to pollinate any large portion of the alfalfa seed crop. We turn therefore to honeybees as the one controllable pollinating agency which can be used to increase seed yields.

At Manhattan and Hays, Kansas, in 1949, the use of one colony of bees per acre increased alfalfa seed yields by 120 pounds of seed per acre and 53 pounds of honey after deducting two-thirds of the total honey produced for bee consumption. From the numbers of bees and flowers and quantity of nectar available, it was estimated that an acre of alfalfa can produce enough nectar to support at least three good colonies of bees. The potential product therefore from each acre would be 360 pounds of seed and 159 pounds of honey.

Since producers of alfalfa seed are not ordinarily producers of commercial honey, it is usually necessary for the alfalfa seed producer to negotiate with the honey producer for the rental of hives of bees during the alfalfa-flowering season, if he wishes maximum yields of alfalfa seed. The above data will furnish an approximate basis on which satisfactory rental terms could be arranged.

In addition to supplying bees for pollination of alfalfa flowers, as a necessary preliminary to successful alfalfa seed production, there are at least two other important factors. One is the development of adequate root reserves by allowing the previous crop to go to the full-bloom stage before cutting which has given 50 to 100 per cent or more increase in bloom and has resulted in a similar increase in seed production. The other is lygus bug control which has been most effective in increasing seed production in the Intermountain Region. Regardless of the supply of pollinating insects, seed production has often been a complete failure from lygus bug damage where no control was used.

MORE ON THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT

This piece of legislation is one of the most important that will ever come before Congress. The debate has been long and at times heated. There is no doubt that the members of the congress will refuse to place unlimited powers in the hands of appointed officials. This is proven by the many amendments that are being offered. We hope to finish this bill today and it is possible that it will be in a conference committee by the time you read this letter. Much has been said about the fear of inflationary trends and all speeches indicate a desire to stop them. Congressman Jim Davis of Georgia brought the issue to a point by introducing an amendment that would freeze all prices as of July 7th of this year; the freeze to remain in effect for four months. This amendment carries the Committee of the Whole House and if it remains in the House bill, it will probably receive much debate in the conference committee. It provides an immediate stop to inflation and an opportunity to solve the problems within the next 120 days. This is the most important amendment that has been proposed and I hope it stays in the bill. Cloak Room gossip is that unless this amendment stays in the bill, there may be no defense production act.

RESEARCH ON WHEAT AND OTHER CEREAL INFESTATION

I appeared before a Senate appropriations committee a few days ago on behalf of an appropriation for research to fight the wheat and other cereal grain infestations. This is a serious problem, especially in our section of the country, and we must have research to protect our food supplies. Here is a portion of a committee report which I think expresses and explains the need for this research:

"Science saves our cereals: Stem rust and other diseases took an enormous toll until varieties developed through cooperative research with State agricultural experiment stations came into general use. When scientists learned that the rust organism spent part of its life on certain varieties of barberries, a large-scale campaign was organized to get rid of these plants. This proved to be a herculean task and is still going on. "Our temporary conquest of stem rust has not come easily. It was one of the earliest diseases to demand attention of cereal breeder. Scientists were puzzled to see a variety that had stood up for several years suddenly succumb. New varieties often met the same fate after a few years of successful resistance.

TWINKLING

Twinkling-eyed Jane Wyman relaxes at home in one of her favorite outfits—a rugged ensemble of sturdy cotton blue jeans, cotton jersey slipover, and topped off with a pert little cotton cap. The charming MCM star currently is being featured in "Three Guys Named Mike."

For a while it looked as though we were losing ground as fast as we gained it.

One of the essential ingredients of science is ingenuity. It expressed itself in the mind and hands of a young scientist at Minnesota. He demonstrated that there were many races or forms of stem rust and that varieties of wheat or other cereal might be resistant to one race but not to another. This basic discovery explained many failures of the past and set up new guideposts for the future. It complicated the task of wheat breeders immeasurably, because they were fighting not one organism but a host of organisms, all capable of causing stem rust.

Later on it was learned that the rust spores were hybridizing in nature (during the period spent on barberries) at a faster rate than we were able to hybridize wheat and other cereals. This race between man and nature is still going on. We are only a few steps ahead. If we slacken our pace the gains of a lifetime will quickly disappear and the rusts will take over.

The recurring problem of plant diseases is well illustrated with oats. In Iowa, farmers have had to shift varieties of this crop twice in the last 10 years because of diseases. Fortunately, new varieties were available because of research. Through increased use of these new varieties, Iowa farmers alone have harvested what has amounted to one extra crop of oats since 1900, and the total of this new fits have extended over into other oat-growing States.

New races of oat-stem rust—2, 7, and 8—were found over a wide-spread area this summer (1951) with much damage in many States. These new races were found in the Dakotas, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Mississippi, and Florida. Present commercial varieties are susceptible to these new races. We have a resistant source of parent material in our breeding nurseries, but it will take time to breed this resistance into commercial varieties."

Hay and Pasture Seed Supply Adequate for 1951

With the 1950 hay acreage the largest in 5 years, with nearly a third more acres for the production of grass and legume seeds than in 1949, and with above-average yields per acre, the supply of grass and legume seeds appears ample for sowing an increased acreage of hay and pasture in 1951, according to George C. Eddler, statistician of the U. S. D. A.

Although the outlook for ample supplies of grass and legume seeds for planting in 1951 is bright, the situation in 1952 is somewhat clouded at this time by the conflict in Korea and other uncertainties that have made changes in the economy of the Nation. With the declining importance of having adequate supplies of food and feed crops available at all times, producers of grass and legume seeds should do everything possible to maintain their capacity to produce hay and pasture seeds in the years ahead.

Year-Round Forage Supply Cuts Down Feed Bill

Graph showing grazing periods and relative carrying capacity for certain pasture crops in region of southern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and northern Kentucky and Missouri. Every farmer, wherever located, who wishes to economize in his feed bill by making maximum use of grazing crops should make a similar graph showing his potential pasture crops from which he can prepare his own pasture schedule.

In a grassland program where an effort is made to produce the maximum of feed at lowest cost from grassland and keep a large portion of the farm in sod crops, the maintenance of an ample continuous supply of forage the year-round without high peaks and low depressions is a problem. This is difficult of accomplishment solely from permanent pastures. Careful study and planning will do much to attain this end, but even with the best permanent pastures there always will be periods of short supply and other periods of surplus when some means of forage preservation as hay or silage must be resorted to in order to conserve such supplies for periods of deficiency.

In the South the solution lies largely in the maintenance of year-round pastures, but in the North where freezing conditions and snow-covers for a part of the year make this impossible, an ample supply of high quality preserved forage as hay or silage must be provided for the winter months. Even here provision must be made for the hot summer months of low pasture yields.

The problem involves the maintenance of (1) a substantial acreage of potentially productive permanent pastures, (2) supplemental crops to provide emergency forage if and when needed, (3) a proper balance between number of animals to be fed and potential forage production, (4) fencing and other facilities for rotation or deferred grazing of fields occupied by supplemental crops if mangel feeding is to be dispensed with, and equipment and storage facilities for the harvesting and preservation of forage as hay and silage.

To insure sufficient year-round forage a more-than-ample supply for immediate needs during the period of lush-growth in spring and early summer is likely to be produced. This surplus can be ensiled for supplemental feeding during the hot summer months when many permanent pastures are unproductive.

KITCHEN MEMO

FOR weddings, parties, for Sunday suppers or summer parties concoct a light Florida Punch for guests. If you wish, add champagne for extra sparkle. Prepare 3 6-oz. cans Florida frozen orange juice concentrate and 1 6-oz. can Florida frozen grapefruit according to directions on can. Pour into punch bowl with 1 qt. gingerale, or 1 qt. champagne. Add ice. Cut 2 Florida slices into very thin slices and float in punch. Yield: 32 1/2 cups.

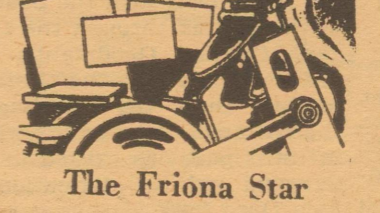

Personal cooking habits are good guides to what type automatic gas range you intend to buy. For example, if you bake a lot, then a gas range with two ovens is a logical choice. However, if your preference is for broiled foods then by all means choose a range with a waist-high broiler and a second broiler section underneath the oven.

When French Toast is broiled it doesn't get soggy. Use your favorite recipe, arrange slices on broiler pan 5" from low flame, broil golden brown on one side, flip over to broil on the other side.

Full length mirrors cover the front of some gas heaters to add extra usefulness and light to a room. They are available in either single or dual room units.

For Nut Brown Rice: Butter, monosodium glutamate and finely chopped peanuts or peanut butter forked into hot cooked rice. Delicious addition under creamed meat or vegetables.

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS

The June issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine has an article on Palo Duro Canyon which will probably be of interest to many of you stalwarts, whether you are interested in the aspects of the park from a geographical, historical, sportsmanship or picnicking point of view. Written by Paul V. Jones, Jr., and titled "Great Canyon of the Plains," the story deals with the Spanish Cavalry's trek through the Canyon, Charles Goodnight's expeditions against the Indians in Palo Duro, the founding of the JA ranch, the wild life which in times past has existed in the Canyon, and the formation of Palo Duro Park.

According to Mr. Jones, Palo Duro canyon is only about ninety million years old, formed by the confluence of the puny waters of Palo Duro and Tierra Blanca Creeks at Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River. So the next time you are weighted down by worries and woes, just remember that Palo Duro has been there for 90,000,000 years, and your worries can't possibly last that long.

Hand in hand with the city wide paving program, go plans to mark Friona streets with uniform and readable street markers. Currently there is on display at the Chamber of Commerce office a design of a type under consideration. This project will be under the auspices of the Lions Club, and will be held in conjunction with a house numbering campaign. Yes, there's a lot of work in store for some civic minded individuals, but sooner or later Friona will blossom into one of those neat little towns where tourists find paved roads, clearly marked streets, designated house numbers, and a lot civic pride.

And if you are interested in what type of paving is going to be put down on Friona's streets, drop by Mayor Bainum's office, the city clerk's or Dan Martins. They have some sizable samples of what a chunk of paving will look like, so you get a first hand view of the asphalt and aggregate that will soon top Friona streets. The samples are pie shaped, quarters of cylindrical molds, and they tell me that Dan Martin has a whole bucketful of them in his office in the bakery building.

FELLOWSHIP LEADER NAMED
 The Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church which meets at 7 p. m. each Sunday announces Dudley Bainum as its leader for July 29th.
 The "Fellowship" is working on plans for its summer camp dates etc. which are to be announced soon. The pastor is adult leader of the group. The fellowship meets each Sunday morning at 10 as a Sunday School class. The "latch-string" is out for any and all young people from 6th. grade up and a cordial invitation extends to both the class and the evening fellowship. Rev. Meyer states.

 Visitors in the Nelson Welch home Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Teague of Littlefield. Mrs. Teague and Mrs. Welch are sisters.
 The bee that gets the honey doesn't hang around the hive.

SERMON TOPIC TOLD
 "The Minister's Wife" is to be the sermon topic for the worship service of the Congregational Church, 11 a. m. next Sunday. Mrs. Meyer, an ordained Congregation Minister, wife of the pastor "George E." who has been a minister's wife for several years and has known many minister's wives, has promised a very interesting message which every member an devery friend of the church should hear. Some of the women of the church will have special parts in the service. There will be special music by the choir.

 No, Susie, the girl who knows all the answers hasn't been out with questionable men.
 ...ever regard a man as a failure until he flops at something he likes.

Sunday Evening Program

The Methodist Youth Fellowship furnished the program Sunday evening at the regular church service hour; the program was centered around the study of hymns, and was termed "Hymnody." Ray Nell Foster and Vera Ann Jones told how various hymns came to be written, then the song was played on the phonograph.

Mrs. J. E. Tidwell sang "Are Ye Able" as a solo; "God Bless America" was played as a piano solo while the words were read as a poem.

The entire service was held by candle light, and the picture, Solomon's "Head of Christ" was flanked by tall candles to either side, forming the worship center.

Eight hymns were presented, and the service closed with the MYF benediction.
