Coryell Exceeds County Cotton Quota

HERE and THERE

By Joe Quinn

A light thunder shower which came Wednesday afternoon was certainly a real life-saver to practically the entire populace of this section of the state. The thermometer made no bones in stretching itself up around 110, in the shade, and the humidity had become so terrific that many who were really not exposed to the mischief of King Sol actually suffered from the intensity of the heat. It looks like the little weather change came just in time. Of course, one shouldn't believe everything that's heard, but a woman of a nearby city claims that she gathered soft-boiled eggs from her hen nests the day before. Take those eggs with a bit of salt, please.

IT IS said that you can't teach an old dog new tricks; and if that's a rule, then here's an exception: When Mrs. Barbara Ann Hunt, of South Bend, Ind., took her first airplane ride at the age of 98 she was so completely overcome with pleasure that she engaged the pilot to take her up again on her 100th birthday. We can't help but admire the spunk of old-timers like Mrs. Hunt when the world is going so fast in this age of "take-your-life-in-your-own-hands."

ONE can't always judge the temperament of an individual by the kind of verse he writes or by the tune to the song he sings. Perhaps it's a mere oversight on the part of Ted Koehler, however, when he fails to pay his divorced wife back alimony he owes her. Although he was the composer of such heart-stirring melodies as "Stormy Weather" and "I've Got the World on a String," we can't pass judgment on the poor fellow until we hear that his sad and neglected wife files suit for collection of back alimony. It seems almost pathetic to think that a man with such a marked feeling of humanity in his songs should be attacked with such an unpleasantness. One can never tell these days.

SOMEONE said that that which is one person's loss is another's gain, and many times that old saying is proven. At least it so happened with an imprisoned cook at a certain county jail. Pilar Castanada had gained a real reputation as a chef among his fellow inmates, and now he is to be transferred to the state "big house" at Huntsville. If Pilar's talents are discovered at Huntsville, he is going to be a very popular man there. It was with much regret that the boarders at the County jail bade farewell to their friend the chef. But there you are; one's loss is another's gain.

MEXICAN authorities have now come to the aid of the American government in tightening the prohibitive wires against smugglers on the Rio Grande border at Juarez and El Paso. At a recent meeting of officials from both countries, held in the Juarez American Consulate, Juarez authorities announced plans to increase the number of its patrolmen and customs officials on the border against smugglers there.

In the face of prospective repeal of the 18th amendment in the United States, which would no doubt cut to a very low figure the wet visitors to Juarez, that

Sup't. H. T. Johnson Resigns School Post

Board Grants Release; Johnson Will Assume Duties August 1st As Methodist Orphanage Head

H. T. Johnson, who has served for the past three years as superintendent of the Gatesville Public Schools, tendered his resignation before the school board last Wednesday evening, following his election to the position of superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage at Waco, recently. Mr. Johnson was elected to succeed the late W. F. Barnett, who died recently, after serving the home for many years.

Superintendent Johnson came to Gatesville in 1930 from Roanoke, Texas, where he had served as superintendent of the schools. He received his A. B. degree from North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton. He later did post-graduate work at Southern Methodist University. Mr. Johnson is very active in state scholastic circles, being vice president of the Texas Teachers Association.

Superintendent Johnson will assume his new duties at the Methodist Orphanage on August 1. With his wife and young daughter, Marie, he plans to leave for his new post at an early date.

Although his friends in Gatesville and Coryell County will be very sorry to see Mr. Johnson and his family leave, they rejoice in the promotion attained by the former Gatesville superintendent. About Mr. Johnson. Mr. W. F. Barnett died the same day that the Gatesville District Conference met in Clifton. At the morning session, Dr. A. D. Porter, presiding elder of the Waco district and a member of the board of managers of the (Continued on last page)

CO. JUDGE SAYS ROAD CHANCES LOOKING UP

Judge Robert W. Brown returned Tuesday night from Austin, where he, along with others from this section, conferred with the State Highway Commission relative to highway work to be done in Texas under the Federal rehabilitation program.

Judge Brown, at the request of the commissioners' court and on behalf of Coryell county, presented requests for work to be done in this county.

Judge Brown states that we have the assurance from the commission that work will not be stopped on Highway No. 36. However, it is uncertain as to whether the work will be continued under contract or under the maintenance department. The commission also continued the designation of Highway No. 36 from Rising Star to Abilene. Judge W. R. Ely did not vote on this order, as Abilene is his home town.

As to further assurance on highway matters, Judge Brown informed The News representative that the requests of the 75 delegations were heard, but that the commission will go into executive session later to determine what is actually to be done. Counties will be advised of the decisions as they are made.

City has shown a great spirit of co-operation in joining hands with the U. S. against border lawlessness.

Steve Winfield, Local Resident for Half a Century, Passes Away

J. S. (Steve) Winfield, 72, died at his home here at 5:25 p. m. Wednesday, after an illness of several weeks.

Uncle Steve, as he was called by his friends, was born in Boone County, Arkansas, Dec. 12, 1860. He moved to Coryell County in 1879, and to Gatesville in 1883. He was married to Miss Hattie Catherine Weaver on July 5, 1885. And to this union were born ten children, two of whom preceded their father in death.

Funeral services were held at the family home at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, with Rev. W. W. Ward officiating, interment following in the City cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, Oscar Winfield of Wichita, Kan.; Ernest Winfield of Kansas City, Mo.; and Edwin Winfield of this city; five daughters, Mrs. U. D. Hodges of Waco, Mrs. J. L. Webb of this city, Mrs. Carl Floyd of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. E. W. Heath of Hamilton, Mrs. Roy Hagans of Lampasas; two brothers, Rev. G. F. Winfield of Mississippi and Walter Winfield of California; one sister, Mrs. Tom Mayberry of Southwest Texas, and numerous grandchildren and countless friends.

Uncle Steve was known and loved for his pleasant disposition. He went about his work with a merry whistle on his lips and a smile on his face. He had been in the milling business for many years, and for the past few years had been operating a mattress factory and chick hatchery in addition to his mill.

Chalk-Talk Artist Renders Interesting Religious Program

Mrs. George Miller of Waco spoke at both the morning and the evening services at the Baptist church Sunday.

Mrs. Miller is a chalk artist and illustrated numerous stories with chalk drawings. As each drawing was being made, either the congregation, the choir, the quartette or a soloist sang appropriate numbers. Mrs. Miller played the steel guitar as an introductory to each of the services. The theme followed in the morning service was "God's Love for Humanity." The central thought for the evening discussion was "God Still Stands." Mrs. Miller is not a stranger in Coryell County, as she made many friends when she lectured and illustrated in almost every Baptist church in the county about twelve years ago.

Mrs. Miller is prominent in Baptist circles in Texas and is a very inspiring speaker.

JOHNSON SPEAKER METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday morning, at the 11 o'clock service, Mr. H. T. Johnson, newly elected superintendent of the Methodist Home, will be the principal speaker on a laymen's program at the Methodist Church. Special music by the choir for the service.

JULY TERM OF DIST. COURT IN SESSION

The July term of the district court convened Monday last, and will be in session for seven weeks, with Judge R. B. Cross, appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Judge Joe H. Eidson, presiding. Judge Cross took the bench, and from his demeanor in impaneling the grand jury, one who did not know would have thought he was a veteran on the bench. He delivered a very able charge to the grand jury as to their duties. He paid a very glowing tribute to the late Judge Eidson in the charge, and among other things said:

"I think my predecessor in the office I now hold so truly exemplified those qualities of good citizenship and patriotism that all good men would desire to emulate, it is not out of place and entirely appropriate to the occasion that I make some mention of him and his distinguished service to our country at this time; Judge Eidson was a great jurist. His father before him was a great jurist, having served with distinction on the Court of Civil Appeals of this state. Joe Eidson was perhaps the best known and most liked man in this district at the time of his passing. For four years he had carried the banner of the prosecution in the courts of this district. As a prosecutor he was fearless and vigorous. He was (Continued on last page)

Petit Jurors--Notice

All petit jurors who have been summoned to appear for service Monday, July 17, are hereby commanded they need not appear, as there will be no jury cases to be tried that week. However, the same petit jurors will be summoned to appear at a later date to serve as special veniremen.

By order of Judge R. B. Cross. Attest: P. M. Post, District Clerk.

'round the square

By The Snooper

Have you ever seen such a heat? It beats me; or rather beats down on me. As little as Joe Hanna complains about anything he just couldn't help but say some mighty harsh things about this weather. Fred Prewitt seems to think that just because there is such a thing as cotton control he shouldn't have any news for himself. If you happen to see Ray Virginia Rayford and Margaret Gandy in a big hurry--they're getting subscriptions for the Coryell County News. Clinton Chamlee was spraying water in front of the garage the other morning, but he said he didn't have any flowers planted there. Gene Alvis and Andrew Kendrick really get hot talking about this inflation situation. Rev. Morton is one person that is always in a big hurry. It tires me out to see him hurry so, and besides I'm hot--think I'll turn in.

C. OF C. GIVES ROADS; COTTON DISCUSSION

The local Chamber of Commerce held its regular membership meeting in the County Court room at the Courthouse Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Lewis S. Holmes, recently elected president, presided at the meeting.

County Judge Rob't W. Brown was one of the principal speakers at the meeting and gave in a very interesting manner a report of his recent conference with highway officials and members of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission at Austin. W. C. Guggolz, local lumberman and member of the Chamber of Commerce, accompanied Judge Brown on his trip to Austin. In his talk, Judge Brown touched on many of the high points of the road situation throughout the state and the position of Coryell County as concerns this question. His report carried a marked note of enthusiasm and optimism, and his remarks were somewhat climaxed with a statement, when asked what the attitude of the state commission seemed to be toward Coryell County: "Judge Ely told me, with all assurance, that the work on Highway 36 between Gatesville and Temple would not be stopped," stated Judge Brown.

Following his introduction by Mr. Holmes, D. W. Sherrill, agricultural emergency expert from A. & M. College, gave a very concise yet encouraging report of the cotton reduction situation in Coryell County. Sherrill prefaced his report by expressing his individual appreciation for the cooperation of the local Chamber of Commerce and to C. E. Alvis and the central committee and (Concluded from page one)

Work on Community Club House Project Finished This Week

The Community Club House in Woodard Community was finished Thursday of this week. Formal opening of the house will be announced in next week's issue of The News.

The building is 30 by 40 feet and will be used as a religious and social gathering place.

The building of the club house was sponsored by the Priscilla Club which was organized about five years ago. There are 21 members of the club with Mrs. J. C. Bunnell as president, Mrs. Ed Schloeman secretary, Minnie Eva Williams club house secretary, and Mrs. Parker Hirsch reporter. Mrs. Bunnell has been president of the club since its organization. The club heretofore has met in the various homes and will continue this policy for part of their meetings.

Funds for the building were raised by the Priscilla Club by various means namely; plays, booth at the fair, sale of quilt and private donations.

Mr. Gus Barsch gave a lease on the land, upon which the club house stands, for as long as it does stand. Labor was done by R. F. C. and local people under Mr. N. P. Harper as overseer.

The News wishes to congratulate this progressive community on the accomplishment of so worthy an undertaking.

Charles Parker White returned to his home in Burk Burnett one day last week after a ten day visit with his grandmother Mrs. Pearl White.

Estimated $300,000 Likely to Be Spent by County Farmers; 2,500 Bales Option Cotton Asked

Joe Wise, Prominent Clifton Banker Dies Suddenly at His Home

Joe Wise, 38, Clifton banker, suffered an acute internal injury and died suddenly at his home there Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Wise had been connected with the Farmers State Bank for the past fifteen years, acting in the capacity of cashier at the time of his death. He was a member of the First Methodist Church, and director of the Sunday School teacher and assistant Sunday School Superintendent. Mr. Wise was very popular in civic and social circles, having served as both president and secretary of the Lions Club of Clifton.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock at the Methodist Church, Rev. Edgar N. Scarlett officiating. Services were also held at the grave under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge.

The Clifton banker is survived by his son, John Dorbritz Wise, who lives in Waco, and by his mother, Mrs. Wanda Wise of Clifton; three brothers, Bill, Adolph and George and two sisters, Josie and Hattie, all of Clifton.

New Filling Station Going Up on E. Main; Lonnie Wharton Owner

Mr. Lonnie Wharton, independent gasoline dealer here, is erecting a service station on the Ruby lot on East Main street.

The station, when complete will be operated by Boe Wright. Both Mr. Wharton and Mr. Wright are well known here. Mr. Wharton has been connected with the wholesale petroleum business here for several years. Mr. Wright has been a service station operator here for the past eight or ten years.

REBECCAS AND ODDFELLOWS TO CONVENE HERE

The annual association of Central Texas Oddfellows and Rebekas will meet in Gatesville Tuesday afternoon and evening, July 18. Dr. Jewell Matthews, pastor of the First Christian Church, Temple, will be the principal speaker at the evening. Dr. Matthews is one of the most prominent and popular ministers in Texas, as well as an outstanding Oddfellow.

Mrs. Laura Blum, also of Temple, who is grand warden of the Rebecca Assembly of Texas, is also expected to be present. A large delegation is expected from the various lodges of central Texas.

The program for the afternoon is not a public meeting but a closed executive session of the bodies.

Beginning at eight o'clock Tuesday evening the meeting is open to the public and everyone is urged to attend.

Mrs. Joe Whigam, Miss Annie Robinson and Mrs. George Pennington attended the funeral of Mrs. Whittenburg at Leon Junction.

Miss Jo Goodall of Valley Mills is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Ethel Goodall, this week.

According to a report from the central cotton committee of Coryell County, headed by D. W. Sherrill, government representative, this county will probably exceed in its cotton reduction quota by one or two thousand acres.

An accurate report made after midnight, July 12, revealed the fact that 25,000 acres had already been contracted and approved and sent to Washington from Coryell County. It is estimated conservatively that the total number of signed acreage will aggregate 32,000 in all. Approximately 2,200 Coryell County cotton producing farmers have signed contracts, either under the outright sale or option plan.

The central committee reports that the average lint production in this county is well in line with the five-year average. The committee also feels that this is a conservative estimate and that the Washington authorities will readily accept the contracts from Coryell County, due to this fair estimate.

It is generally estimated there will be approximately $300,000 made payable by the federal government to the farmers of this county, and over 3,000 bales of cotton to be sold those farmers who have shown a preference for the option plan of cotton control. To date, $220,440 has already been approved by the local committee, and 2,500 bales of option cotton.

The committee has been very anxious and careful in its acceptance of all contracts, as to the proper signatures on these contracts, so that checks might be made payable to the proper parties and collected without any difficulty.

TO ATTEND CAMP AT VALLEY MILLS

Misses Frances McCoy, Elizabeth Ann Ward, Marie Johnson and Bertha Lillian Stewart will leave this morning for the Y. W. C. A. camp "At the Falls of the Bosque" in Valley Mills, to attend a week's camp. This is the camp for girls of the intermediate age, under the auspices of the Methodist church, and will accommodate about sixty girls from Central Texas.

Mrs. M. L. Richard and daughter Miss Grace removed from Waco to the State Juvenile Training School one day this week. Miss Elizabeth Richard accompanied them for a few days' visit.

Mrs. J. B. Millard and son J. W. visited her sister Mrs. B. S. Hancock at Abilene last Sunday. All of Mrs. Millard's brothers and sisters were also visitors with Mrs. Hancock at that time.

Don't Forget

Your Home and General Building Repairs

Building material will be advancing a little along, and carpenter work is easy to get now, so your needed repairs will not be worrisome or expensive.

How is your roof? Shingles are cheap. It is a small job now. A new porch or room would not cost so much. Better look over your screens. Flies and mosquitoes might deal us trouble a little later.

We all have been putting off a little inside painting and wall papering in our homes. Now is the time to make home look a little more cheery. Things are looking better anyway.

Last but not least, do not overlook the outside of your home, give it the necessary paint to protect it from the weather. The life of a building may be extended many years if properly painted, besides the new colors that are used now will make your home look like a new one, and it costs no more.

Bring your repair troubles to us and we will help you over them at the least outlay of money.

"Secret Six Dozen" Helps to Maintain Law in San Angelo

San Angelo, July 10.—Operation here of the secret six dozen, composed of citizen traffic police, and work of the San Angelo Safety League has resulted in a substantial reduction of traffic law violations, according to B. F. Lee, San Angelo Mayor and president of the league.

The six dozen are San Angeloans whose names are held secret, but who are co-operating in curbing traffic law violations by reporting license numbers of law violators.

Many Counties Make Requests for Share In State-Aid Road Bill

AUSTIN, Texas, July 11.—Preliminary to hearing 75 delegations seeking a share of the $24,244,450 federal highway money allotted to Texas, Gibb Gilchrist, highway engineer, at the instance of the highway commission, explained the details of expenditure and said about $4,000,000 in contracts will be let soon.

Chairman John Wood said he hoped the commission could meet July 25 and make the first awards, but that because all projects first must be approved by the Federal Bureau of Roads and advertised 10 days in advance, it might be July 31 before the first contracts could be let.

Gilchrist said the commission has $15,000,000 in plans ready to be submitted at once. They must be sent to C. E. Swain at Fort Worth, Federal district highway engineer, for approval.

Division of Funds. Gilchrist said not more than 50 per cent could be applied on Federal designated highways, not exceeding 25 per cent on secondary or feeder roads and not less than 25 per cent on highways through municipalities.

This allocation, he said, restricted the commission to about $12,000,000 in the first instance and $6,000,000 in the second, and that these could be reduced to increase the $7,000,000 available for the cities to meet unemployment conditions.

A further requirement is that the money must be spent in not less than 75 per cent of the counties needed in their sectors and that the aggregate reached $88,000,000.

W. R. Ely, the commission member, said it would not make new designations unless the great need can be shown, that the purpose is to get construction under way as soon as possible and to complete the highways already building and to finish them before making new designations.

'Possum With Ear For Music Attends Sunday Church Service

Corsicana, July 10.—Rev. Thomas Lenox, pastor of the First Christian Church here, had competition in holding the attention of his congregation yesterday.

During the latter part of his sermon a young possum marched down an aisle and to the rostrum, where it capered around. It then climbed to the music rack of the piano, and frolicked some more, later exploring the depths of the musical instrument and walking on the strings.

After the benediction the animal was killed.

Melon Shipments In June Decline Due to Rainfall Deficiency

AUSTIN, July 11.—A deficiency of rainfall over most of the commercial summer vegetable growing areas of Texas was noted during June, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

The reported condition of watermelons and cantaloupes declined during the month. With the exception of these two crops, the shipping season for Texas vegetables is practically ended.

The loadings of watermelons were rather light during June and totalled only 960 cars compared with 1,560 cars for the same month a year ago. Dry weather cut yields in the southern counties, where the bulk of the June shipments originate. Loadings increased in volume during the latter part of the month as central counties began harvesting.

About 100 cars of cantaloupes were shipped during June, compared with eight cars for the same month a year ago. A light movement should continue throughout the summer. The Pecos Valley crop should furnish a few cars the latter half of July, but the main movement from there will not start until mid August. The acreage in this valley ley has been greatly reduced from that of a year ago, but the outlook is for a much better crop. An acreage of honeydews at Eagle Pass is reported to be in excellent condition and should be ready for harvest early in August. The cantaloupe crop at Pootet is nearly harvested. The average condition of the crop declined 14 points during June to a reported condition for the state of 65 per cent on July 1.

BACK TO THE JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Readers may consider this discourse a follow-up editorial subsequent to one which appeared in this column a few weeks ago. If you remember, mention was made of the reasonable consideration that should be made to the organization of a civic league, club, or whatever you choose to call it for the benefit of the young men of Gatesville who are not already affiliated with the local Chamber of Commerce.

Regardless of what such an organization might be called, which after all is of secondary consideration, there are many important objectives that may be successfully accomplished through the efforts of an organized body of the young men of Gatesville.

For the sake of consideration let us enumerate only a few of the many undertakings, as follows: the marking of the two streets, Main and Leon, and all intersecting streets on the curb of each corner; the promotion of boy scout and girl scout activities; the organization of good-will motorcades to neighboring towns, and most important of all the cooperation with the senior Chamber of Commerce on all matters of civic promotion and development.

Space in the editorial column of this paper limits the number of worthwhile things that might be listed as prospective jobs for a local Junior Chamber of Commerce.

MR. FERGUSON'S MISSION IN WASHINGTON

When former Governor James E. Ferguson and party left recently for Washington, buzzing began to take place as to what the mission might be. Some said that Ferguson was probably going to the capital city to request Roosevelt to specifically request Texas to follow the example of other states and vote the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"I am in Washington," said Ferguson, "at the request of the Governor of Texas, to express the good wishes of the governor and see what Texas can do to further the plans and policies of President Roosevelt."

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE MERCHANT

$200,000 is not a trifle sum when we realize that Coryell County cotton growers will have probably that much money to spend when Uncle Sam pays off for the 24,000 acres of cotton producing land that Coryell County farmers will plow under.

The cotton destruction program is assured and so is the compensation to the farmers. The first to be benefited by the cash reimbursement will be the producer, landowner and mortgagee. The next to get the benefit will be the retail merchant. The farmer has long been waiting for an opportunity to sell his cotton and not take a loss and consequently buy the things that he and his family have actually needed during that time.

The opportunity of Coryell County merchants is golden, yet it can be easily overlooked and lost if too much is taken for granted. The individual merchant has it in his power to get the trade within his territory if he so desires but he shouldn't expect the trade to come to him when it is not sought.

ROOSEVELT WILL STOP KIDNAPING

Kidnaping seems to be the latest popular source of income for racketeers throughout the country. The story of "Jake the barber" is an example of how brazen kidnapers may become.

President Roosevelt has already assured the senate investigating committee of his determination to deal with this hideous racket; that should make us feel confident that the proper legislation against kidnaping will be enacted. It is estimated that $10,000,000 is contributed annually to racketeers; that alone is enough to make the President put

COMPENSATION

By LEONARD A. BARRET

For many of the problems which seriously puzzle us, we find an explanation in our study of the inner workings of nature's laws.

The law of compensation is splendidly illustrated in one of William Beebe's books, "The Arc-turus Adventurer." He cites the case of the peacock who is gorgeously arrayed in fine colors and justly voted the aristocrat among birds, but has a voice which no bird would covet.

As with the birds, so with men and women. The law of compensation, explains many of what appears to be, life's injustices. At times we grow very much discouraged with our lot. We seriously ask why we had not been given a special talent like our friend. Upon more careful examination, however, we might be quite unwilling to be blessed with that particular talent, if at any time, it meant sharing some of the other characteristics of that particular person. Things seem to be equally balanced in this world.

It is all folly for one to try to do something which he was never intended to accomplish. The peacock would make a farce of an attempt to sing, and the nightingale, a ludicrous comedy of any attempt to display its fine feathers.

The path of least resistance is just to be ourselves. If we study ourselves earnestly and seriously we shall soon discover that nature has been very kind. We shall discover, in spite of our handicaps, that there is one thing we can accomplish. By developing this one thing we acquire self-confidence. Other possibilities open before us, for we have discovered sources of strength within, which we did not know we possessed. A striking illustration of this fact is found in the career of the great scientist, Steimetz. Born a hunchback, he came to America penniless. Friendless, he decided to make something of himself. Life held great compensations for him and he became a leader in the field of electrical engineering.

The law of compensation also plays an important part in helping us rightly to evaluate our own experience. For all who bravely meet adverse conditions, the law of compensation brings encouragement. Even the economic depression, with all its sacrifice, sorrow and suffering has its compensations in renewed courage, hope and enduring power.

Four Points for Cooperatives

In his annual message, Fred H. Sexauer, president of the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc., a pioneer co-op in the eastern field, stressed a four-point program for his organization. The points are:

- 1. Raise the price level of all commodities equal to the debt level and the level of fixed charges.
2. Give agricultural products as a whole the same purchasing power in terms of industrial commodities that they had from 1910-1914.
3. Unite the industry for the protection of those who are selling their commodity in the form of milk in this territory, and
4. Reduce operating costs, or spread between consumer and producer, in order that a large proportion of the consumer's dollar may go into the producer's pocket.

If one changes the word "milk" in the third proposition to "wheat," "cotton," "hogs," and so on, this program fits every agricultural group. It will benefit the farmer, and work in the interest of consumer, to whom a steady supply of fair-priced farm products is essential. The strong, well-backed cooperatives are peculiarly fitted to put such a program into effect. They are a power in the world—their executives are consulted by governments when agricultural legislation is under consideration. They can make themselves heard, where the voice of the individual farmer is lost.

All farmers, everywhere, would do well to think this over. During the next few years the cooperatives will be able to do their most valuable work—if the producers of their sections work with and for them.

The World Economic Conference

The World Economic Conference hasn't collapsed, but it's looking pretty tottery. It is, basically, an attempt to revive internationalism in a world which is now predominately nationalistic. Bones of contention have appeared at every turn: Most important is the fight between France and the United States over the dollar stabilization. France wants it, to save her franc from slipping off the gold standard. U. S. is against it; our internal recovery program is based principally on one kind or another of inflation, which is definitely opposed to gold standard principles. The American delegation has lost caste, due to the fact that individual members have been making statements which often conflict. European observers wonder, and justly, why they don't go into more huddles among themselves. Secretary Hull's trade resolution, main feature of which is reduction of trade barriers, met a cool response. Only resolutions on which any real progress have been made deal with matters of a minor nature.

THE JOB AHEAD OF TEXANS

"The job immediately ahead of all Texans, whether they be producers or consumers," remarks the Oak Cliff Tribune in an editorial headed, "Texans, Let's Know Texas," "is to do their own thinking and their own investigating about whether or not Texas-made things are as good as or better than things from elsewhere."

Texas manufacturers today are producing articles that find ready sale throughout the United States, some of them, indeed, throughout the world, on a purely competitive basis. And yet there are Texans, suffering from an industrial inferiority complex, who believe that only from a distance can come the best of things and that the farther they are shipped the better they are.

Progressive Texans, Inc., seeks to build no brick wall about Texas. It merely seeks to aid in the development of the industries of the State on a simple basis of quality, price and service, and it believes that where price, quality and service are equal, the Texan is unwise to his own advantage who fails to give consideration to Texas-made wares.

The list of first-class Texas-made articles is long. It includes many articles that find ready acceptance in other sections as proof of their quality. Texas manufacturers are furnishing markets for scores of Texas raw material; they would furnish more if there were a general recognition on the part of Texans of the fact that the future advancement of their state is indissolubly bound up in its development along industrial lines. —Progressive Texans, Inc.

IS IT NOT BETTER TO TALK ABOUT DYING COST WHILE YOU LIVE THAN FOR OTHERS TO DISCUSS CASKET PRICES AND DEBTS AFTER YOU DIE? THINK IT OVER!

PRAYERS AND PREPARATION

WE CANNOT deny the fact that Life Insurance and Funerals are closely associated. Funerals call for Prayers. Prayers are often necessary due to the lack of Preparation, all of which leads us to believe that a man should have a 'voice' at his funeral.

Suppose a man should preach his own funeral service while living; and have his thoughts and ideas recorded on a phonograph record! No doubt he would mention his life insurance policy, for he would want his friends and neighbors to know that he was not being buried on borrowed money. He would probably tell his mourners not to be concerned about food and shelter for his loved ones for he had provided for them with insurance. He might remind his listeners that a good citizen should not only meet his obligations while living, but should provide for their payment after he was gone by means of insurance.

Finally, is it not reasonable to suppose that such a man, who was true to his loved ones and his fellow man, would also make preparation for the life to come, for Eternity; that he would leave this life with a clear conscience and enter the hereafter with a confident soul? Think it over!

The Snooper Turns Tourist

It surely does a fellow good to get away at times (not too often, however) and see what other people are doing; how they are complaining of the heat, each one thinking he or she is suffering more than the other; talking over old times; swapping yarns and the latest wise-cracks, etc. Yes sir, it's quite a revelation and sometimes a recreation to go back to some old favorite spot again and see and hear what has taken place during one's absence.

We visited in Mineral Wells last week-end. Arriving there about ten o'clock in the morning, Saturday, my wife became so completely surrounded with the environment of that nationally known health resort and land of health-giving waters that she immediately became ill and remained so until our departure. Now that just goes to show how one might be easily influenced by the reputation of a certain locality. The idea that we were visiting in Mineral Wells where so many people from all over the United States go to regain lost health was just more than she could stand, and it took her about thirty-six hours to get the idea out of her head that she was not a health seeker herself. With the good help of Dr. Patterson, who by the way is one of the best, and a few gallons of that imbecilical Crazy Water, she was soon up calling for a six-bit dinner. When she started that I knew it was time to bring her home or suffer the consequences to my almost empty pocket-book.

It's funny the kind of places one picks out in a fondness for certain localities. Personally, I can't help but like Mineral Wells. After all, I guess it's just a "Crazy" idea. The Crazy Water Hotel Company and its outfit just about has things sewed-up in Mineral Wells. With a Crazy Hotel, Crystal plant, laundry, drug store, barber shop, tailors and what not, one would think so anyway. The Crazy Company is on the air now over the N. B. C. chain, and at ten o'clock sharp every week day morning the whole office force from the high ups on down gather around the radio in the drinking pavillion and listen to the fifteen minutes program conducted by Gene Arnold. That bunch surely believes in their Crazy Water, and from the amount of business they are doing, their patrons must have the same sense of loyalty. Even Carr P. Collins, one of the biggest life insurance men in the state has become so attached to the Crazy that he spends practically all of his time in Mineral Wells. This is on the q. t., but personally I believe he has more faith in drinking Crazy Water and staying well than he does in buying life insurance and reaping its rewards.

Mineral Wells is a great little city besides being a wonderful health resort. They have a live-wire mayor, good civic clubs, a dandy newspaper (thanks to Bill Cameron and his staff), good schools, active churches, and everything that goes to make a progressive community. Mineral Wells has grown into such an up-to-date city that they have even added a stock exchange. Murphy, Shives and Payne are responsible for that addition.

If this discourse on Mineral Wells should by chance give any free publicity to that locality, I'm glad of it, even though I don't get paid for the space. That's how much I think of the place. And if any of you readers should happen to go there for a bit of rest, play or relaxation, I don't doubt that you will feel the same as I.

Life Insurance Looks to the Future

We are all familiar with the dark days of the past three years, during which there were 31,000 bankruptcies, the failure of 2300 banks, an inconceivable security panic. Crowds rioted in the streets of Washington. Business debacles occurred on every hand. Twelve million workers were without employment.

During those dark days life insurance companies stood out in doing a miraculous work by preventing more unemployment, more failures, more distress and poverty. It paid to the people of America $6,000,000 a day in cash during the peak of depression. That money kept homes from being foreclosed, made possible education for children, saved business, bought food and clothing and the necessities of life, mitigated distress.

Without that aid, depression would have been infinitely worst. Now it seems that the worst of hard times is over—that the blackest days have passed. In the work of recovery, and in a stable economic set-up, life insurance will play an equally important part. Millions of Americans will turn to it, as millions have done, as the safe repository for savings. Men will use it not only to protect dependents, but to build up estates, and to assure an adequate income in old age.

Yes, depression has focused the public eye on life insurance. Its achievements in the past have been great—and greater achievements await it in the future.

WE HAVE TURNED THE CORNER

It looks now like we have definitely turned the proverbial corner that we have been looking for for the past three years. The Presidents programme of relief is rapidly being whipped into a working program. Billions of dollars are being poured into the various channels of trade primarily to aid unemployment.

With the vast sums of money distributed as it will be, no doubt, it will create thousands of places where a knowledge of young man or woman having business will be needed. The just finished high school will act wisely if they now prepare themselves by a few months of intensive training this summer and will be ready for the fall rush. The demand on our Employment Department this fall will, no doubt, tax it to its capacity. Fortunately will be the young man or young woman who will be ready for the many places that will be calling for them.

The Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration is well equipped to give you the very best in business training. Our thirty years of experience should be of value to you. We do not experiment. We know HOW and you will be thoroughly trained when you are awarded your diploma.

We have just installed one hundred and twenty-five new standard typewriters. This is more machines than most all the other Texas schools combined have in use.

We always lead and other schools follow as best they can. So, if you are going to take a business training course, why not get it in one of the largest and most up-to-date colleges in the Southwest.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow
Extension Service Editor
A. & M. College

A "poor man's garden irrigation system" which uses tin can pipe to distribute the waste water from the weekly washing to irrigate 75 feet of tomatoes has been devised by Joe Macha, Heckley county farmer. He slashes the bottoms of tin cans obtained at the city dump heap to make flanges that fit to the mouth of the next can. The sections of pipe thus made were laid 2 or 3 inches in the ground and the water seeps through the joints for about 2 feet on each side. When plowing he removes pipe.

For $2.49 obtained by selling seeds, Sibyl Garrett of Soules Chapel 4-H Club in Upshur county has a brand new bed room. An old walnut bed was cut down to her size and she re-finished it, stained the floor, varnished a straight chair, put extra slats in the bed, and re-modelled her clothes closet. She is typical of thousands of Texas farm girls who have made beautiful bed rooms at small cost this year.

Mason county 4-H club boys who swept major livestock show honors with their baby heaves last spring started 64 more calves on feed in May. Weighing an average of 227 pounds they were started on 2 to 4 gallons of milk daily and allowed to eat free choice from self-feeders containing 50 per cent whole oats, 40 per cent shelled corn, and 10 per cent pea-size cotton-seed cake, with fine stem hay and water available at all times.

Selling farm products in one month for $55.92 meant living at home to Mrs. J. W. Flippen, president of the Barwist Home Demonstration Club in Wichita county. Sales were: butter $6 pounds; milk 19 1/2 gallons; cottage cheese, 26 quarts; Philadelphia pot cheese, 35 pounds; eggs, 239 dozen; angel food cakes, 2.

Liberty county farmers who sprayed tomatoes with 2 to 4 pounds of arsenic of lead per 50 gallons of water, and picked off and carried out of the field the fruit infested with worms, had good crops this spring, says the county agent. Those who did not follow these suggestions harvested about half a crop in most cases.

Texas wheat growers may receive cash payments of 30 cents extra per bushel this fall for the portions of their 1934 crops estimated to go into domestic consumption if satisfactory adjustments in the domestic allotment plan for wheat are made, it was announced by O. B. Martin, director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, on his return last week from a regional

American Housewife Demands Efficiency

One of the many encouraging facts brought out by an analysis of the plainly evident pick-up in business throughout the entire United States is that today's housewife is becoming more and more insistent upon efficiency, according to Mr. I. O. Scott, representative here for Frigidaire, subsidiary of General Motors.

Mr. Scott supported his conclusion with latest reports from the company's main offices in Dayton, Ohio, showing that the quickening demand for electric refrigeration noted in May and June was showing no sign of receding, but on the contrary was growing stronger.

"This," said Mr. Scott, "proves that the American housewife is paying more and more attention to domestic science. She is insisting that her kitchen must be operated with due regard to all of the rules of health and economy. She has learned of the economies that can be effected through the use of electric refrigeration and this, in no small measure, is responsible for the demand for electric refrigeration that has resulted in the employment of more than 10,000 workmen in the big factories of the Frigidaire Corporation at Dayton, Ohio."

Mr. Scott let it be known that Frigidaire is maintaining the largest production schedule of household cabinets in its entire 17 years' history, and that all reports indicate a continued gain.

The capstone of the Washington Monument weighs 3,300 lbs.

Secretary Wallace Will Cut Farm Production Despite Crop Shortage

Washington, July 10.—Secretary Wallace said tonight he would proceed with his program for cutting American farm production despite today's forecast of the smallest harvest of grain, including corn, in decades—the result of the worst general crop damage in 50 years.

The crop reporting board, assessing damage from excessive heat, drought, and storms up to July 1, predicted that the year's wheat harvest would be the smallest since 1893 and now more than 100,000,000 bushels below normal domestic needs; that the corn crop would be one of the four poorest in the 32 years, and that the output of oats would be the lightest since 1897.

Its estimates, regarded as gloomier than private reports of recent weeks, indicated an average crop of corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye and flaxseed of 3,783,204,000 bushels. This would be 1,408,996,000 bushels below last year's harvest of these crops and 1,165,260,000 bushels below the average output for the five year period, 1926 to 1930, inclusive.

Many large areas in the middle west have the poorest crop outlook in the memory of their oldest farmers with the prospect of any harvest eliminated on thousands of farms, the operators, of which, with little or no grain to sell, will have no opportunity of sharing in the recent general advance of farm prices.

After reading the report, Wallace said that in his opinion the crop outlook indicated greater necessity rather than less for his program for reducing the output of farms.

NAVY'S OLDEST SAILOR GOES BACK TO FARM

San Diego, Cal., July 9.—At 75 Chief Boatswain's Mate Isaac O. Castles was retired as Uncle Sam's oldest sailor today with a service record going back to 1873—before many of the admirals now on active duty were born.

It was a gala occasion at the destroyer base when the man who had served before the mast of the Navy's famous old square-rigged clippers and on the steel decks of its modern battleships was mustered.

Capt. C. W. Nimitz, commander of the base, called a special inspection of the crew in Castles' honor, and the retiring sailor, with grandchildren as old as some of them, bade a formal good-by to his shipmates.

The grand old man of the enlisted ranks had not served continuously in the uniform he donned 60 years ago as a boy fresh from the farm near Armo, Wis., where he was born in 1858. He left the sea and spent forty years on a farm near Salem, Ore., re-enlisting in 1918 to do his bit on a transport during the World War.

Twenty years' service completed, he became eligible for retirement with pay today and left immediately after being discharged for Aumsville, Oregon, where he now owns a farm and where his family lives.

NOW! ALL TOGETHER!

LET'S GET BUSY! LET'S START DOING THINGS!

Mr. Roosevelt is doing what is possible in his program for a return to normalcy, which seems miraculous. Never in the history of our country has a statesman accomplished so much in so short a time. We, as individuals, can assist him materially in putting over this prosperity drive by doing something worthwhile ourselves.

The campaign which we have launched to help relieve the unemployment situation locally, vitally concerns every one in Coryell County, regardless of his or her vocation. As boosters, in the PROSPERITY CIRCLE, we are offering the following suggestions, to remind you of a few things that can be accomplished. In our midst we have capable mechanics representing practically every line of work. Do your part in this program by giving them something to do. Remodel the front of a store building or construct a new one. Build a new home, rooming house or garage. The present price of labor and material warrants this suggestion. Your house may need painting, roof or foundation repaired, rooms repaired, etc.

Let's help by giving employment to others, thereby putting money into circulation, from which the entire community will receive an indirect benefit. Read the CORYELL COUNTY NEWS, Official paper of the PROSPERITY CIRCLE.

open and fair with counsel and with all those with whom he had to deal as district attorney. He used facts to convince his juries. Artifice and schemes that tended to weaken truth and thwart justice were not a part of his practice. He never used the daggers of deceit and dishonesty to carry his purpose. With him it was always the sword and face to face with his foe. In argument, abuse, vilification and vituperation, weapons so often used by those of our profession who are overzealous in their cause, were laid aside in the administration of Joe Eldson. In their stead he substituted logic, reason and appeals to justice and the nobler side of man's nature as his weapons of warfare against crime. As a result of his course and as a reward to his energy and efforts, if my memory serves me right, there were only two verdicts of "not guilty" rendered in the District Court of this county during the four years of his service as district attorney.

"Having had previous judicial experience as county judge of Hamilton County, as well as a varied experience in the practice of civil law, and having defended as well as prosecuted those charged with the violation of law, he came to the judge's office ripe in experience and rich in legal learning. Having been endowed by nature with a pleasant personality, and those splendid qualities of nobility, gentleness, fairness and firmness, he came to us as a jurist possessed with charity for all and with malice toward none, and during all the day and years of his service to this district he remained that way, and it can be truly said of him and to his everlasting praise that he left us in the same spirit in which he came.

"Friends of law and order and lovers of justice lost a great champion in the untimely passing of Judge Joe H. Eldson."

Miss Faye Hamilton invited a group of friends to her home on East Main street Monday evening to a dinner and theater party, celebrating her birthday. The table was centered with an immense birthday cake, and the table accessories carried out a green and yellow color theme. A three-course dinner was served. Following the dinner, the party left for the theater. The guests were Misses Jane Wells, Mary Jane Colgin, Mary Lou Morris, Beatrice Farmer, Lindsey Dickey, Mary Wyatt and Marjorie Wollard.

Supt. Johnson—

Methodist Home, spoke to the conference and conveyed the sad news of Mr. Barnett's going.

Immediately upon dismissal, Mr. R. E. Miller of Hamilton, lay leader of the Gatesville district, approached Dr. Porter and placed in nomination H. T. Johnson of Gatesville—probably the first man to be nominated for the place, though he was the last to place his application before the board. Mr. Miller made known his action to Rev. W. W. Ward, who also spoke to Dr. Porter in behalf of Mr. Johnson. Mr. Johnson was notified two days later of his nomination by his friends, but gave little attention to the matter until within the past week when he was urged by his pastor to make investigation of the place. Rev. R. A. Langston also urged the cause of Mr. Johnson to board members.

Last Friday, upon learning that the board of managers would meet and elect a general superintendent of the home, Mr. Johnson, accompanied by his pastor, went to Waco and called upon some members of the local committee, who give close supervision of the Home for the general board. They said it was late to make application, since the nominating committee had already eliminated about forty applicants and were recommending three men to the general board. They invited Mr. Johnson to return Monday night and bring his family to meet the committee in called session. This Mr. Johnson did. Again he and his family returned to Waco on Tuesday and made thorough investigation of the Home and its possibilities and whether it would appeal to them when the final decision must be made. After consulting with some close friends of former days out of Gatesville, and after due consideration of the whole project and its challenge for service for his church and young childhood, he and his wife and daughter decided Wednesday morning to make formal application to the general board of managers.

Wednesday morning the board met in the Home, and each of the applicants were asked to be before them. Mr. Johnson and family were present, and after his presentation a letter of recommendation from Mr. R. B. Miller of Hamilton was read, and Rev. W. W. Ward was asked by the board to speak. In the meantime the board members had made private investigations in Gatesville concerning Mr. Johnson, at Mr. Johnson's request. These, together with Mr. Johnson's own personal appearance and answering various questions put to him, resulted in Mr. Johnson's being selected on the first ballot by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Johnson and family will assume their duties of the Methodist Home August 1. They will live in the main building, a suite of rooms being provided for the superintendent there. He will have charge of the entire institution, now caring for 412 boys and girls. It maintains, in addition to a home for children, a well supervised grammar-junior high school, the graduates attending the Waco senior high school; a dairy, broom factory, hog ranch, a hatchery, a manual training shop, etc. There are 18 buildings, 2,650 acres of land, there being two small farms and a larger ranch-farm due west of Waco, besides the campus. It maintains its own hospital, and the property valuation as listed in the Methodist Year Book is $1,092,685.

It will be Mr. Johnson's duty to supervise the ongoing of the institution, having under him two competent assistant superintendents who have in charge the actual running of different phases of the Home. Mr. Johnson will visit the five annual conferences in Texas, and the New Mexico conference, once each year when they are in session and represent the Home before these bodies, outlining the needs, program, etc., of the Home. Mr. Johnson will be in the field a great deal of his time, making contact with churches and individuals in behalf of the Home. He will be ably assisted by a local board composed of Waco citizens, who will advise with Mr. Johnson monthly, as well as be at his disposal at all times when occasion arises.

farm inspectors for the work they have done in making possible the accomplishments on the cotton control program in Coryell County. In mentioning the splendid work that has been done by the citizens of Coryell County, Sherrill brought to the attention of those present the fact that the forty farm inspectors who served in the field spent from ten to twelve and eighteen hours with the farmers of the county, all in the interest of the government program.

A short discussion was held on the possibility of getting a federal building for Gatesville and Coryell County from the national building appropriation, after which the president appointed a committee to investigate the matter. Secretary Prewitt called the attention of the membership to the four projects being sought by the city, and suggested that a separate committee be appointed to sponsor each enterprise with the idea of furthering its promotion. He also read plans for an extensive membership campaign to increase the membership of the Chamber of Commerce, which was approved by the body and a special membership committee appointed, after which the meeting adjourned. The Tuesday evening meeting was attended by a very enthusiastic group.

Garbanzo, a Spanish bean or pea, has been successfully introduced into the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas.
