HOSPITAL TO BE OPENED BY DRS. JONES IN JULY

"NEW DEAL" OUSTS OLD REGIME OVER 2 TO 1

Thru a deal which was recently consummated with Mrs. Blanche Powell, Dr. Kermit R. Jones of Gatesville and Dr. Dean B. Jones of Dallas, brothers, will soon open and operate a hospital in the present home of Mrs. Powell, about July 1, or soon afterward.

Work necessary in fitting this residence for a hospital will commence about the middle of next month, according to Dr. Kermit Jones. The building is located on Leon and Fenimore Streets.

Included in the hospital will be an operating room, X-ray room, delivery (maternity) room, laboratory and 10 or more beds. An elevator will probably be installed in the rear of the building for service to the second floor. No changes will be made in the house with the probable exception that one additional room will be added.

Dr. Kermit Jones, who has been a practicing physician here for a number of years, is a graduate of Gatesville High school, and holds a B. A. degree from Baylor University at Waco, and received his M. D. at Baylor Medical College in Dallas. After completing his studies in Dallas, he interned in the Baptist (Baylor) Hospital in Dallas, after which he practiced one year in Freer, Texas, before coming to Gatesville. He is now Health Officer for the City of Gatesville and Temporary Physician for the CCC Camp located here.

Dr. Dean B. Jones, also a graduate of Gatesville high school and Baylor Medical College at Dallas, interned in Baylor Hospital in Dallas for one year, and is now House Physician and Surgeon at Medical Arts Hospital in the Medical Arts Building in Dallas.

Both these physicians are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Willis M. Jones of Gatesville.

MILLION FEET OF GAS AND 4 BBL'S. OIL EACH SWAB IN WELL

Reports are that the T. K. O'Neal Doyle No. 1 near Ireland, is producing a million feet of gas, after having been plugged back to 34 feet and acidized Sunday. With each "swabbing" four barrels of oil are brought out.

"Dad" Joiner and other Dallas oil men were present at the acidizing. The well made three showings of oil between 3150 and 3400 feet, and it looks as if the operators will be able to bring this showing into a commercial producer.

NEWS FROM THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

Census reports should be in at this time. Practically all districts have made reports. A few may know of children who for one reason or another were not taken. Every child should be enumerated. Late blanks may be mailed in during this month. They will go on supplementary list if too late for the regular enumeration.

The County Board and the county administrative forces appreciate the interest and energetic business like vigor with which trustees have honestly sought to forward the school interests of their respective schools.

Good schools for all children as near home as practical will be a good slogan to help children and save money.

MRS. EVA BRAZEAL DIES WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at the Ater Cemetery for Mrs. Eva Brazeal, who passed away Wednesday night, April 8, at the home of her son, J. E. Brazeal, of this city.

She has been a member of the Baptist Church since early girlhood. Mrs. Brazeal was seventy-nine years of age at the time of her death.

She is survived by four sons; J. E. Brazeal and Inch Brazeal of Gatesville, Luther Brazeal and Harmon Brazeal of Levita, and three daughters; Mrs. Walter Voss, Mrs. Leo Voss and Mrs. A. Quicksall, all of Levita.

Prizes Offered in Wool Show to Be Had Here Saturday, May 16

In an effort to encourage the production of better wool in Coryell County, Gatesville Lions Club is sponsoring a wool show to be held at Gatesville Saturday, May 16.

Any wool grower in Coryell County is eligible to compete in this show.

All entries must be in by ten o'clock the day of the show.

Prizes are offered for: Best Rambouillet ewe fleece, $2.50; Best Rambouillet ram fleece, $2.50; Best Delaine-Merino ewe fleece, $2.50; Best Delaine-Merino ram fleece, $2.50.

All sheep men in the county are urged to enter their best fleeces in this show. Suggestions for preparing fleeces for show will be available next week. Any member of the committee in charge will be glad to supply these instructions upon request. A leading wool man of the state will be obtained to judge the show and to conduct an educational meeting on the findings, therefore, all sheep men of the county are urged to attend and get the latest information on wool. The committee requests all who plan to enter fleeces report their intentions at once in order that sufficient tables and space will be available.

Wool buyers will be invited to be on hand to bid on all wool which is on display.

The committee from the Lions Club is:

"SUNNY OF SUNNYSIDE" TO BE AT LOCAL SCHOOL APRIL 17

On April 17 at seven thirty o'clock, the Choral and Dramatic clubs of the Gatesville Elementary School will present the operetta, "Sunny of Sunnyside" under the direction of Misses Maude Alyce Painter and Robbie D. Simpson. Some unusual talent will be displayed in this operetta and it promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of the school year.

There will be a small admission charge made.

LIONS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. BYRON LEAIRD WEDNESDAY

Gatesville Lions were treated with two vocal numbers given by Mrs. Byron Leaird, Jr., who was accompanied by Miss Orpa Mayo.

In addition to the above program, Rev. M. M. Chunn, gave a discourse on Easter, outlining religion on civilized countries as well as uncivilized countries since its incipency.

Visitors were Sam Watson, Floyd Bell, J. M. Gilbreath, T. E. Cantrell and Millard Powell, school bus drivers for the local high school. Brack Curry and Miss Lawrence, social science students who have made the best grades in their field, were also guests. Also Mr. Jones, new education director of the CCC Camp and Rev. J. H. Baldrige, Presiding-Elder for this district.

MRS. ADDIE EVA HALL DIES IN PORT ARTHUR

Mrs. Addie Eva Hall passed away Sunday morning, April 5, in a Port Arthur Hospital at eight twenty.

The body was brought to Gatesville Tuesday and rested at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Prewitt on College street. Services were held at two-thirty Tuesday at the Prewitt residence.

Mrs. Hall was born October 16, 1874, in Gerird, Kansas. She had reached the age of 61 years, 5 months and 19 days.

She is survived by two children; Mr. Keakel and Mrs. A. C. Welch, both of Port Arthur.

RAIN PROVES ONLY "HOPE"; NOT ENOUGH TO REGISTER

Gatesville received a very little moisture Wednesday morning, just about enough to settle the dust, but not enough to register in the "rain cup" on the court house lawn.

This is the first rain in Gatesville for several weeks.

Mrs. C. A. Morton was a Waco visitor Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jones and family of New Mexico are visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ashby of this city.

John Weaver of Mt. Zion, who has been ill, is reported as much improved.

C. E. Gandy, "New Dealer," was swept into the mayor's office Tuesday by the overwhelming majority of 348 to 166, sixteen more votes than a 2 to 1 majority.

E. Routh, candidate for Alderman, Ward 2, Gandy's running mate won over the present incumbent, Dr. J. H. Hamilton and also Harold A. Cunyus, the count totaling as follows: Routh, 289, Hamilton, 176, and Cunyus 33.

Running in the wards, showed the following statistics, according to official reports from City Secretary Robert W. Brown's office, and are:

Mayor's Race
Ward 1	W	2
Dr. M. W. Lowrey	59	107

ELIZABETH LINDENBERG, STUDENT AT NTSC TAKES PART IN ACTIVITIES

Denton, Texas, April 9.—Miss Elizabeth Lindenberg, student of North Texas State Teachers College, Denton, will spend the Easter holidays in Coryell visiting her father, Rev. O. Lindenberg.

Miss Lindenberg, freshman in the College, plans to major in languages and to minor in history. She is a member of the Womens' Athletic Association and the Gammadion Club, an honorary club for freshmen. She graduated from Gatesville High School in 1935, where she was active in athletic activities.

"HORSEPOWER IN ACTION" TITLE OF FREE SHOW AT REGAL TUES. A. M.

"Horse Power in Action" is the title of the free picture to be shown at the Regal Tuesday morning at 10:30 under the sponsorship of horse and mule breeders of Coryell County. County Agent Guy Powell urges the people of the county to attend this show because many interesting points will be brought out about horses. Much interest is being displayed throughout the country in the breeding of horses, therefore, many points may be gotten from this picture.

The picture will be shown Tuesday morning only.

Mrs. Pat Potts, Mrs. Byron Freeman, Mrs. Leonard Milner, and Miss Edith Raby and mother were Waco visitors Wednesday.

Mr. H. P. Sadler, who has been confined to his home for several months, was able to be out one day this week.

Mrs. R. E. McBride and little son, Mark, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Flowers, returned to their home in Houston last Sunday.

We Have a Letter from Dr. M. W. Lowrey

Office
DR. M. W. LOWREY
Gatesville, Texas

Editor Coryell County News:
That Editorial on the front page of the 'News' of today is a fabrication entoto, the imputation of dishonesty is the most reprehensible piece of low-down politics imaginable, I have nothing to hide nor any ambitions to gratify, Gatesville and her people have been good to me, I am wholly unconcerned as to the outcome of the election, but that inference of crookedness positively RESENT!

The books are Audited every two years and by an outside man of ability and unquestioned integrity, these reports are available to anybody interested in any way, to make a statement that no such audit has ever been made is branding the maker as ignorant of facts or deliberately attempting to prejudice the public mind thru misrepresentations, take the horn of the dilemma you choose.

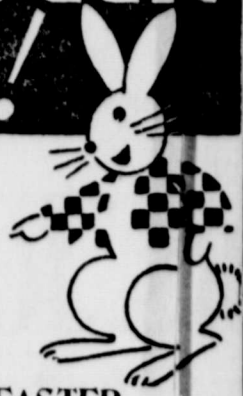

I did not believe there was an editor in Gatesville that would stoop to the puerient and business of cauendo to gain their ends.

I am putting this on paper that you may refer to it at any time to get my feeling in the matter, I shall never retract a word of it.

Sincerely,
(Signed) M. W. LOWREY.

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

The fight for delegates to the Republican Convention at Cleveland has developed into a clear-cut contest between Governor Landon and Senator Borah.

Even more important than the many straw polls which indicate the Kansas Governor to be leading all other contenders is the fact that he already has 74 delegates-votes to his credit to 24 for Frank Knox of Illinois and none for Borah. Landon backers are already talking of having 250 of the 1001 votes on the first ballot at Cleveland and the nomination by the fourth ballot. Last week 18 of the 22 Kentucky delegates went into the Landon column.

The Landon forces won a moral victory in New York where the Borah slate of delegates was defeated and an un-instructed delegation elected. In California William Randolph Hearst, publisher, and Governor Frank Merriam are backing a Landon slate against the candidates responsive to Mr. Hoover. Senator Borah is traveling in the west in quest of delegates to offset the advantage Knox and Landon have won in the East. Borah candidates are running in Wisconsin and Illinois, where he is opposing Colonel Knox. Maine and New Hampshire have let their delegates know in convention that they favor Knox.

The harassed League of Nations, made impotent and null as a factor for world peace, meets this year to consider the troubles of a poor and dissatisfied world.

In Europe, Germany, Austria, Turkey, and Italy are the sore spots and their demands and ambitions cannot be possibly adhered to without upsetting the entire balance of power on the Continent. In the Far East war looms between Japan and Russia, clashing along the boundaries of their respective proteges, Manchukuo and Mongolia. Africa echoes the clash of arms between Fascists and Ethiopian natives.

Europe awaits the outcome of the French election on April 26. Until then nothing can be done to settle the statement between France and Germany. The forces for and against Germany are bound to come in conflict in the French campaign and the inevitable result will be a victory for the anti-Fascists, personified in the persons of Edouard Herriot, former premier, and the present cabinet members, Sarraut and Flandin. Former premier and foreign minister Laval favors reconciliation with Germany and repudiation of the mutual assistance pact with Russia.

The natural fear engendered in the minds of the French, after two merciless German invasions, will return to power the men demanding stronger defenses against the Nazi menace and stern measures against Germany by the League for treaty violation.

Austria has followed Germany's lead in scrapping treaties imposed by the victors of the war and announced a modified form of universal military conscription and the maintenance of a standing army of 6,000 men. Fear of an invasion by Germany and a possible internal rising by Nazis is responsible for the act, indeed, many believe Hitler's next blow will be delivered southward and not eastward as generally expected, to incorporate Austria into the Reich, following the abortive effort two years ago in which Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was killed, may come while Britain is in its present mood, determined not to fight.

Another besides Britain will have to be reckoned with when German troops enter Austria. Benito Mussolini is firmly determined never to let Hitler take Austria, which would place a nation of 75,000,000 Teutons on the northern boundary of Italy. The present Fascist government of Austria, supported by less than half of the people, is maintained solely with Italian money and arms, supplied to the aristocratic young aristocrat, Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, scion of the family which turned the Turkish hordes from the gates of Vienna.

Italy has by no means become a negligible factor in European politics, even though its position has been weakened by the campaign in Africa. As long as Mussolini can raise and equip an army of 5,000,000 men, which he maintains he can do in three months, the voice of the Black Shirt dictator will be heard and respected around the council tables of Europe.

The economic condition of both Germany and Italy probably keeps Europe from facing a major conflagration this year, yet it is often the case that difficulty at home forces dictators into foreign wars to maintain their position.

Sanctions and the cost of war are straining Italy to the utmost. The recent nationalization of factories was a necessity to the continued productions of armaments. Private profits have not been abolished but labor has been forced to work at

Mr. and Mrs. "Dode" Sims visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Rhodes Sunday.

Mrs. Bessie Langford is visiting her son, Mr. George Langford and family of Marlin.

Mrs. R. C. Campbell and daughters, and Mrs. J. Y. Hamilton visited relatives in Star Saturday.

Misses Bessie Earl Whitt, Erma Lee Brown, Paunee Cox, and Geraldine Preston, all charming young ladies of Pearl, visited in the home of Mr. W. B. and Miss Ollie Preston Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckham Guthrie spent the week end with relatives in Crane, Texas.

Messrs. Bob Belcher, Allen Sparks, and others are enjoying a fishing on the Colorado River.

Miss Violet White and Mr. Weldon Freeman surprised their many friends by getting married Sunday night. All are wishing them many happy years of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport of west Texas visited his aunt, Mrs. Bob Belcher, and daughter, Mrs. Malola Pounds. While here they visited Austin and San Antonio.

Grandmother Dixon was visiting Mrs. Lonze Burney Saturday.

Our community was well represented at the county meet last week end.

Mrs. George Manning is quite ill with pneumonia at her mother's in Gatesville, where her father passed away last week. Everyone extends sympathy to the Mannings in this time of trouble and anxiously await news of her improvement.

E. ROUTH THANKS VOTERS

I desire to thank the voters of Gatesville for their expression of confidence in Tuesday's Election. My friends announced me as a candidate for Alderman and I did not solicit a vote. However, I will now try to serve the entire people in such a way that will be to the best interest of Gatesville.

Again thanking you, I am
Yours respectfully,
E. ROUTH.

World Comment—

whatever wage the government decrees. The same condition exists in Europe, necessitated by the huge cost if the rearmament program.

Turkey, no longer in alliance with Germany, but still under the treaties imposed in 1918, threatens to fortify the Dardanelles in violation of the treaty of Lausanne, which provided for a demilitarized zone on both banks of the straits. Fortification of the narrow strait which connects the Mediterranean with the Black Sea does not mean what it would have twenty years ago, when Imperial Russia was seeking an outlet for its commerce through the Dardanelles and chaffing under the restraints imposed by Turkey. Today Communist Russia and Republican Turkey cooperate to the utmost, and most of the Soviet commerce passes through the Baltic Sea, which Germany intends to dominate with its new navy.

Russia, confronted with hostile nations on east and west, is the only nation which would welcome war with Germany now. The Reds face complete nullification of all help France might render them in a war with Germany with the construction of a string of forts in the Rhineland by the Germans. Hitler does not intend to repeat the Kaiser's error of fighting France and Russia at the same time. Twenty years ago the Germans did not try to take the French along the Franco-German border but instead invaded France through Belgium, drawing Britain into the war and ending all hope of German victory. New Belgium is fortified and France is more impregnable than ever but, when Germany in conjunction with Poland, marches into the Russian Ukraine, the Fatherland will also be impregnable against French attack and invasion in compliance with the latter's obligations under the treaty with Russia.

Possibly 500,000 German troops can man the fortresses which will be erected and the bulk of the army can be employed against the Russians. To Russia now seems the time to start the "inevitable," when Germany is not equipped and ready and while France could help. But the spectere of the Mikado's troops in the East will probably deter the Russians from any rash measures.

Mr. Charlie Morse Host At Fish Fry

Mr. Charlie Morse was host to a large concourse of happy friends last Wednesday evening, April 1.

Several men went to Mr. Morse's place early in the afternoon. The caught and dressed the fish; they had quantitative proof of their hard work and good work!

About sundown the guests assembled and the fish were fried. There were pans and pans of delicately browned fish, also, mysterious boxes from the various cars of the gay picnickers produced bread, lettuce, salads, pickles, cakes and pies.

After supper, which was spread on the beautiful, large rock river bed, games were played and enjoyed by all.

About ten o'clock the following reluctantly said, their good nights and went to their respective homes: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Langly and Edgar Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Graves and Norris Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Thompson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Montus Thompson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lockhart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alf Lockhart, Virgil and Guy Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pendleton, Cecil Lee Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Lawton McBeth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ves Newton, Mr. and Mrs. S. County Base Ball League to Get Underway Sat.

Hornets Hitting Turf as Spring Training Starts

With 12 teams entered, the Coryell County Base Ball League will get underway tomorrow (Saturday). Six teams are in each division, Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday games will start at 3 o'clock, also the Sunday division will start Sunday at 3 o'clock. The visiting team will always take the bat first in every game scheduled. Each team will play as many games at home as they will away from home. Games are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock, in case a team is not on the field, the game will result in a forfeit for the team that is on the field if the game does not start by 3:30 o'clock.

Managers are urged to get their Entry Blanks in by 12 Noon Saturday, in order to get the league underway in the best possible way. The writer will be out of town part of Saturday, but will be here all day Friday and anything a manager does not understand, may see me at the office.

If co-operation on the part of the managers continues, I see no reason why the organization should not get off to a flying start Saturday. We give you the schedule of both divisions below:

From all indications the local Golf Club is progressing nicely. Some of the young ladies of the city have been out with their 'Don Juans' or 'Romeos', and seem interested in the sport that is said to tell "what kind of man you are." It is said that more men "lose" their heads on the golf course, than at home. We'll have to admit Local Hornets are off for preparation of the 1936 football season under the direction of the two local coaches, Messrs. Worley and Ewing. They will keep a constant grind for some six weeks, mostly practicing the fundamentals of the game.

Prospects, to this writer, are as good if not better, than they were at this same period last year, taking into consideration the ineligible players of last season, who are now in training and the host of material up from last year's squad, together with the understudies of the club of last year.

Lettermen out are: The Davis brothers, a center and guard; J. R. Colgin, halfback of the '35 season, who proved his ability of shaking his hips on several occasions, J. C. Byrom, a lad who had plenty of power in the Hornet backfield last season. Foy Wicker, an end of the '35 squad that put himself on the map when he participated in the game against the M. E. Home. Clovis King, a guard who with a little more experience will be a cog worth having in any coach's team.

Ineligible players, who are eligible for the '36 season are Voss, a hefty player who should make a good guard or tackle Herbert Turner, who will probably hold down an end birth, and should prove capable, Zack Fore, the speckled face lad with red hair, who will also be placed at end, Douglas White, a lad who had a little hard luck the first of the '35 season, but promises to be a spark plug this year.

Understudies, who failed letter last season, who should show much improvement during the spring season, and probably many will become regulars are; Joe Baker, who possibly will be called to bark signals, Neal Hines'ey, a lanky end, who should improve greatly during the spring work-out. Roy Adams with Lester Williams, better known as "Fats," should prove their ability this fall after spring practice, and C. H. Wallace, Jr., who was a good prospect last season, but was injured, should be a regular this year.

The Hornets have gone thru a few scrimmage drills already, and will probably see plenty of it before the spring training is over in order to get acquainted with the more definite phases of the game.

that's a pretty broad statement. At any rate, go out and see if you can keep yours.

With the cool Easter breeze sweeping over the turf, the local Hornets are hitting the sod as Spring Training got underway Tuesday. Coach Earle Worley to us yesterday that Spring Training would probably last six weeks or until the boys learn how to block and tackle, the two things this writer contends are the most essential for a good football club.

Even EASTER EGGS SHOULD BE MODERN

EASTER dates from the dawn of Christianity, but the chief symbol which is connected with it in these modern times should be as modern as the time — at least within a day or two. The Easter egg is a symbol of reviving life, but, even at that, we don't want it chirping at us if we chip it—that is if we aspire to eat it! There are so many ways to cook eggs that there has been a centuries-old debate as to which is the best. Even the poets have participated in this argument. In the Seventeenth Century John Dryden wrote:

"And new-laid eggs which Baucis' busy care Turn'd by a gentle fire and roasted rare."

And Alexander Pope also preferred his eggs roasted if we are to believe the line in his Epistles of Horace in which he says:

"The vulgar boil, the learned roast, an egg."

Take Your Choice

You can take your choice as to whether to brand yourself vulgar or learned by the way you prefer your eggs. We won't take sides. But, as far as we can discover, no poet has ever mentioned an omelet (perhaps because there is no rhyme for it, though there's a reason) so we can safely tell about them without getting involved in the controversy.

There are two basic ways of making an omelet—the French way in which the eggs are beaten slightly, just enough to mix the yellow and white, and the other way in which the yolks are beaten until thick and lemon colored and the whites are beaten until stiff and then folded into the yolks to make a puffy omelet.

But all sorts of foods can be included in these two kinds of omelets. They can be made with cheese, fish, fruits, macaroni, meats, jelly and vegetables, and this by no means exhausts their possibilities. We have not space to give recipes for all these kinds, but we can at least include a couple of

Vegetable Omelets

Tomato Omelet: Chop one small onion and half a green pepper fine and sauté in one tablespoon butter till tender but not brown. Add one cup canned tomato sauce, one-half teaspoon sugar, salt and pepper, if necessary, and three tablespoons chopped ripe olives. Heat to boiling and pour over either a French or a puffy omelet before folding.

Corn Omelet: Make a puffy omelet of six eggs, six tablespoons hot water, three-fourths teaspoon salt and one-third teaspoon pepper. Add one cup of canned corn and pour into a buttered, hot skillet or better, into two smaller ones. Cook slowly until brown on the bottom, then place in a moderate—350 degree—oven until firm and the top dried off. Fold over and turn out onto a hot platter, garnish with bacon strips and serve at once. Serves six liberally.

LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

Denton, April 9.—Boulevards everywhere are revealing unmistakable signs of Easter. Gay new frocks with all the freshness of the new season are in constant demand, and "tops" among them are the pastels.

Brilliant prints that have been worn since early January have a tinge of winter about them, and something altogether unsuggestive of the past season is in order. Pastels are the very breathe of spring, and are adaptable to the summer season as well.

I saw one particularly smart suit that would fit in nicely with your spring and summer wardrobe. The dress was made of aquamarine crepe and fashioned so that it could be worn without the jacket. A wide sheered yoke was finished at the neck with a narrow band-collar that tied in a bow under the chin, and tiny covered buttons fastened the frock in the front. The jacket was made with a peplum, and featured wide lapels that were banded

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THE English tell lots of stories about American tourists because there's a lot of American tourists over there all the time. The Jokes is always on the Americans in the English stories.

Well, here's one about English tourists in America. The young man that was just out of Eton was with his dad, and they come to look America over from the corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street. The young fellow had brought his amateur movie along, and he was having the time of his life.

But they got into a communist riot at Union Square, and the cops noticed the boy's dad was a foreigner, so they started beating him up. The kid ran into a little store and yelled, "Oh, I say! The bloody constables are jolly well going for the Governor! They have got him under, and they're beating him with their truncheons!"

"But we ain't communists here," says the store-keeper. "What do you want us to do about it?"

"Sell me some film for my pocket cinema, of course! What a ripping picture!"

at the edge with several rows of cording. The three-quarter length sleeves were also banded in this manner.

Pastel sports frocks are ever-popular with girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA). These dresses, made shirtwaist style, show an abundance of pleats in front and back. They are fashioned in light and dark color combinations, and boast novelty buttons, running from the neckline down to the hem. If pastel crepes are not to your liking, select a string knit in natural color. There are some particularly charming styles on the market that have unusual color trimmings in chartreuse, fuchsia and salmon.

NEW TEXAS ALMANAC

The book of 100,000 facts—the 1936 edition of the Texas Almanac—is just off the press. It is the largest volume in the history of this publication—a total of 512 pages, on better grade of paper and more profusely illustrated. The 1936 book, although designated as the "Centennial Edition" and compiled in tribute to the grand celebration in Texas this year, misses only twenty-one years of reaching its own centennial year, having first been issued in 1857 by the Galveston News, the parent organization of The Dallas News, its present publishers.

While much new material of historical nature is included in the new issue, none of the chapters that has made The Texas Almanac the standard reference book of Texas in the past has been omitted. The names of several thousand individuals appear in its pages.

Features of the current issue include an extensive description of the Texas Centennial, including celebrations at Dallas and other points in the State, an outline of the history of Texas from its beginnings to the present, an illustrated chapter on the wild flowers of Texas, lists of the different kinds of trees and wild animals found in Texas, extensive lists of historic old towns and origins of names of Texas towns, a text of the State Constitution with all its amendments and brief account of submission of all adopted amendments since adoption of the Constitution, and the new farm census figures of 1935. There is much of interest for the coming political campaign, including the current poll tax payments by counties. All figures on State, county and city bonded debt are brought up to Pledge . . .

I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be. . . .

100th birthday. Thousands of out-of-State visitors and newcomers will find this birthday edition particularly acceptable. No individual or organization is so thoroughly equipped to present in book form a compendium of Texas data. Facts and figures come from all parts of the State to find, in well edited form, their niche in this widely demanded handbook on Texas—its past, present and future.

SOIL CONSERVATION

In today's issue of The News', we have a report covering the past seven months of the work of Gatesville's and Coryell County's CCC Camp.

Of course, some time was taken up in the organization, building, signing up and publicity necessary to properly get a movement like this underway.

"Since August 31, 1935, 200 lineal feet of terrace outlet channel has been constructed and protected with 32 masonry spreaders."

"One hundred and fifty acres have been protected by 300 lineal feet of channel which was constructed and controlled by strip sodding."

But you read it, on the front page of the second section.

This camp here has been worth so far, only a fraction of what it will be both to the farmers, landowners, renters, business men and their decedents. CCC Camps are CONSERVING (saving) for the future, as well as right now. CO-OPERATION, is the only way they can get the job done. And it's for us. Let's co-operate.

SPRING SUIT

Announced in this issue of the News', Coryell County is to have a Spring showing of "what the well dressed young man and woman will wear."

Sponsored by the Gatesville Lions' Club, who have the committee on arrangements, as well as offering prizes for the best wool from several different kinds of sheep, and under the direction and guidance of County Agent Guy Powell, and W. E. Lasseter, high school "Ag" teacher, ranchers of this county are going to profit immeasurably by showing their "wool" at this show.

There will be special emphasis put on stock and farm products at the Texas Centennial Exposition, and Coryell County certainly has fine wool, and yards wide, and will certainly give some of the raisers a run for their "silk" when the showing is made in the Dallas Exposition.

Being about shearing time, this is an ideal time for a show of this character, and the Lions are going to look the "Lambs" over, that is, if you "raisers" will bring them in. Com on in and let's let the sheep Baa Baa-a, even if some of them are black.

HOW MUCH DO YOU SPEND ON CLOTHING?

If you belong to a girls' 4-H Club, one of the most valuable things you have learned is the cost of a year's wardrobe.

On January 1, every 4-H Club girl takes an inventory of her clothing. In her notebook, she has on record every article of clothing she possesses and in what condition they are. After she has taken an inventory, she makes an estimate of every article she will need for the coming year. This plan includes cosmetics as well as clothes. Throughout the entire year, the 4-H Club girl keeps in her records every article she buys. Not only does she keep the name of each article, but also the brand, and piece.

At the close of the year, she knows the condition of her wardrobe, the articles that have been the most satisfactory, the most reliable companies, and exactly to a cent the amount spent on her wardrobe for the entire year.

Where, except in 4-H club work, would a girl get the above experience?

CENTENNIAL YEAR EVENTS STIMULATE TRAVEL IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, April 6.—Centennial year travel in Texas is underway in rapidly increasing volume, according to reports received from all parts of the state by the department of information for Texas Centennial celebrations.

More out of state motor cars are reported on Texas highways today than at any time in the past. All travel agencies report greatly increased demands for service. In addition Texans are traveling in increased numbers, stimulated to do so by the many Centennial celebrations being held each month. Thirty-five Centennial celebrations are scheduled this month.

Record breaking crowds have attended all Centennial celebrations held to date. As the vacation season arrives thousands of Texas families are expected to take to the highways to "travel Texas" this summer. These travelers, augmented in number by thousands of out-of-state visitors, will make 1936 the greatest travel year in the Lone Star State's history.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD TUESDAY FOR MRS. W. C. KELLUM

THE PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND

A novelization of DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S 20th CENTURY PICTURE with WARNER BAXTER, GLORIA STUART, and a cast of 1000 players

SYNOPSIS

Condemned to life on "Shark Island," America's own Devil's Island, where life imprisonment was an ironic term for slow death, Dr. Samuel Mudd, began his hideous sentence. The doctor had been found guilty of conspiracy in the assassination of President Lincoln because he had unwittingly set the fractured leg of the murderer. Arriving at "Shark Island" he was overjoyed to see Buck, a negro from his plantation. But the colored man refused to recognize him. An old enemy of Mudd's, Sergeant Rankin, was stationed on the island. His greeting was to kick at and spit upon the doctor. Then he showed the new prisoners the moat which ran all the way around the island. It was, he said, filled with "pets."

Chapter Seven

Glaring around at the shackled men, Sergeant Rankin grinned again. "And now, my hearties," he said. "Just for you and because I like you, I'll give you a little treat." Obviously relishing his humor, he turned to a soldier and taking from him a cloth sack, pulled a mangy black cat out of it and threw the animal into the moat. As the squalling creature hit the water a dozen black fins streaked toward it. There was a pitiful wall, a thrashing of the black tails and the water became black and still again. "Sharks!" he gloated. "Ever see 'em before?" He turned back to the soldier and taking a wooden bucket from him, continued: "But maybe you think that's all they'll eat—cats. So I'm going to give you a look at the last fellow that had that idea, a fellow that thought what you pigs have been thinking ever since you got here—that a man might be able to get through the moat."

Kneeling down he thrust the bottom of the bucket just under the surface of the water. "This is a water-glass," he told them, "and Dr. Mudd is going to look first, because Dr. Mudd is the most famous murderer here." Reluctantly Mudd looked through the glass. On the bottom, against the side of the moat, he could see a skeleton kneeling, a few rags still clinging to his bones, one boney claw still clutching at the wall, chains still weighing his ankles. . . .

Dr. Mudd's sickened heart lightened as he was led into the presence of Dr. MacIntyre, a kindly looking old man who was sitting at a table checking some reports. Perhaps here, at last, was someone who would understand. "Doctor," he said in a low voice, at the conclusion of his physical examination, "I also am a physician."

Back at his desk, the doctor replied, without looking up, "I know you are." The old man lifted his head and stared at Dr. Mudd. "If you assumed you might find sympathy here," he said quietly, "get rid of the idea. The profession you have dishonored is ashamed of you—ashamed of your membership in it. As a doctor I may inform you that I despise you even beyond the rest of the world."

This was the greatest blow to his spirit of all. That night as "taps" were sounding on the ramparts of the fort, an anxious black face peered in at Dr. Mudd, through the bars of his cell. "Marse Sam . . ." whispered Buck. "Ah'm sorry, suh, but Ah was too skeered this afternoon. Ah couldn't say anything to you then."

"It's all right, Buck," said Mudd, relief and joy flooding his sick heart. "But Ah'm gonna try to do something fo' you if Ah kin, suh." "Thank you," gratefully. "You're giving me now the first hope I've had since this—this nightmare started."

"Yas, suh. Ah guess so, suh. But hyah's some soap I bring you." Hearing a noise, the Negro vanished. And Mudd, looking at the soap continued to smile. Then, touched and cheered, he put the soap down. Finding a pencil and scrap of paper he sat down on his cot and, snipping every now and then at the mosquitoes, began to write.

"My darling Peggy: I am now convinced that if I am ever to see you and Martha again we must take matters into our own hands. So if you will communicate with me through Buck, who is a soldier here, but as devoted as ever, we will try to work out a plan . . ."

Weeks later Peggy Mudd's father called upon General Ewing, the Yankee officer who had been his son-in-law's counsel when he was court martialed.

"General, get your hat," he said abruptly, hardly able to control his excitement. "Now wait, Colonel," said Ewing wearily. "What else can we possibly do? I've exhausted every possible means of getting Dr. Mudd out of prison!" "I said, 'get your hat!'" exclaimed the Colonel. Shrugging Ewing took his hat. "But where are we going?" "That, suh, I'm not at liberty to reveal." A short time later the Colonel conducted his Yankee friend into a shabby rooming house. "My home, suh," he declared stiffly, opening the door into a large, bare-looking chamber. Peggy Mudd, thinner, but as eager as ever, took their visitor's hand, smiling her welcome. Then she introduced him to the other occupant of the room, an elderly man, slightly pompous, who was trying his best not to look uncomfortable in these surroundings.

"This is Judge Maiben, of the District Superior Court," she said. "He's going to get Sam out of jail," said the Colonel bluntly. Embarrassed and annoyed, Judge Maiben started to protest. But Mrs. Mudd placated him with a quick, apologetic smile, and scolded her father. "Now, dad, you promised to be good!" Then, turning to Ewing, she said, "Let me explain, General. At my request, and for my own satisfaction, Judge Maiben has gone over the whole record of the case, word by word."

"You have some kind of plan, Judge?" Ewing asked after a respectful pause in which Peggy Mudd and her father exchanged excited glances. "The plan," said Maiben, "is Mrs. Mudd's. No judge would dare devise anything so—so extreme."

Mrs. Mudd turned eagerly to Ewing. "I explained to Judge Maiben what happened to the writ of habeas corpus you obtained for Sam," she said. "The Government simply laughed at it," Ewing remarked bitterly. "But," she said softly, "if a writ were served on him in, say Key West, a civil municipality, it would be honored, wouldn't it?" "Of course, but Dr. Mudd's not in Key West."

"I know he isn't . . . yet!" Judge Maiben chuckled dryly, enjoying the consternation on General Ewing's face. His gaze returning to Peggy Mudd was full of admiration. He liked a woman with spunk. This one was certainly game. She had "downed" him. With pleasure he waited to see her "down" Ewing.

But the General was a harder nut to crack. "But great scott, Mrs. Mudd," he was exclaiming as the full meaning of what she had said dawned upon him. "You surely wouldn't dare—" "General Ewing," fiercely, "I'd dare anything for my husband. And it's not only freedom I want for him; it's exoneration, too. He's innocent . . . and they've got to say so . . . to the whole world!"

"Just a moment, Mrs. Mudd," broke in Maiben soothingly. She was close to tears and if there was anything he hated it was to see a woman cry. Turning to Ewing he said quietly: "All I have to say is this: If Dr. Mudd should be able to deliver himself to the civil authorities in Key West, I could have a writ of habeas corpus there to be served on him. Under its protection he could then be brought back here. I would reopen the case and, I am sure, give him a fairer trial than he received in the Court Martial."

Rising, he reached for his hat, as he concluded with dry humor: "But as to how Dr. Mudd is going to be able to get to Key West, I'd rather not hear."

At the door he added in a low voice. "And don't let anything discourage you." Closing the door behind him Peggy turned a triumphant face on her father and Ewing.

"We'll sell everything—pawn everything—mortgage everything—we'll get the money somehow!" she announced hotly. She stopped, and slowly the look of exaltation faded from her face. "What is the matter?" she asked.

General Ewing, standing with bowed head, looked up. "I am sorry," he muttered, "but if you're set on such a foolhardy plan . . . I must withdraw from the case."

Standing side by side the two watched General Ewing go out of the room. He did not turn or speak and they said nothing as the door closed behind him. But alone they turned and looked at each other and slowly they both smiled, the same indomitable courage in each smile. At that moment father and daughter looked singularly alike.

Her eyes shining, she whispered, "What do you think?" "I—Gad, sugar, we'll show these dad-blamed chicken-hearted Yankee lawyers . . . even if I have to sell the sword that Stonewall Jackson gave me!"

the screen a new love team, Herbert Marshall and Jean Arthur. And it also marks Miss Arthur's initial appearance as a full-fledged star. Her name joins Marshall's above the title. This is Marshall's first picture since "Dark Angel," in which he gave a performance that was widely hailed. Miss Arthur has been rewarded with stardom by her home studio for the fine work she did in "The Whole Town's Talking," with Edwag G. Robinson, in "Public Hero No. 1," and in "Diamond Jim."

In "If You Could Only Cook," Marshall is seen as a disgusted millionaire. Not disgusted because he doesn't know what to do with his money, but because he is about to marry a girl he doesn't love and who doesn't love him. And further, because his board of directors has been annoying him. Instead of getting drunk, he goes and sits in the park.

Here he meets Miss Arthur, who is scanning the want ads for a job. She mistakes him for another unemployed member of society and invited him to go with her to answer an ad for a married couple, a butler and a maid. Marshall, on the spur of the moment, accepts, and off go the millionaire and the young lady and get the job. They find themselves working for a big-shot racketeer; Leo Carrillo plays this role. And when both Marshall and Carrillo fall in love with Marshall's "wife," things happen. Especially when Marshall has a previous commitment to marry a society girl on a fast-approaching date. From this point on, the tale is filled with complications that promise much in the way of merriment. William A. Seiter guides "If You Could Only Cook" to a conclusion that proves satisfactory to all concerned.

GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1936

NUMBER 32

Summary of 7 Months Work by CCC Camp Is Outlined by Supt.

SCS-26-T
Gatesville, Texas,
B. D. Reynolds,
Camp Superintendent.

March 31, 1936, marks the third anniversary of the Civilian Conservation Corps. CCC Company 2895 has been located in Camp SCS-26-T, Gatesville, Texas, for a period of seven months.

The work done by the camp in the Gatesville area includes the control of erosion by the coordinated use of all approved methods of erosion control, such as strip cropping, contour tillage, crop rotation gully control, terracing, reforestation, pasture improvement, water conservation, the retirement of steep and submarginal land from cultivation to pasture or forest, and the reorganization of farms for the development of economically sound farm enterprises without affecting the present farm income. The farmers who cooperate with the camp in controlling erosion on their farms contribute labor, equipment, and such materials as they have on hand.

A recent survey shows that a total of 228 requests have been made for 62,281 acres of land on which soil conservation work is to be done by the local camp in co-operation with the farmers in the camp area. Preliminary surveys of this area have been completed on 134 farms of which 95 have been accepted for mapping. Of these 95 farms, 29 of the farm owners have signed agreements with the Soil Conservation Service to carry out the soil conservation work on 5,715 acres.

During the first few months after establishment of the camp in Coryell County, excessive rainfall made it impossible to carry on conservation work since the wet areas found on numerous farms expanded to abnormal proportions. Due to this rainfall, additional gullies appeared on farms at a rapid rate and the destruction of soil by sheet erosion became very noticeable.

After the rains ceased, soil conservation work was started on several co-operating farms. As the work progressed in the camp area interest increased and now soil conservation work is gaining momentum rapidly in the entire county. Many co-operators have planted strip crops, rearranged rows for contour control, built terraces, and taken other measures for erosion control.

The soil conservation work in this area has been carried on by the Soil Conservation Service staff consisting of five supervisory and six facilitating members. Under the supervision of the soil conservation staff, over 10,500 man days of CCC labor have been used in 70 working days of soil con-

APRIL TWELFTH

(Sunday)

Easter is not a season, it's proven to be a day in these modern times. Formerly, it was a religious festival or period of reconsecration and reverence. Even today, it is a time when we celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

With it, goes the hopes of Spring, of the green fertile fields to conquer, budding hopes, bunnies and flowers. Fresh new things are in vogue. It is the season or day of bright clothes, the kind that take their coloring from flower gardens. Everything, in fact, that's Spring is personified.

The aged, however, are not ignored, but are glorified and revered, by the thoughtful who are in the Spring of their lives. No one is overlooked in this day which is celebrated, probably, thruout the world more than any other.

So, this Eastertide now with us is a festive occasion as well as one of reverence.

ervation work during the past seven months.

Since August 31, 1935, the following has been accomplished by the camp: 2000 lineal feet of terrace outlet channel has been constructed and protected with 32 masonry spreaders. A total of 150 acres have been protected, by 3000 lineal feet of channel which was constructed and controlled by strip sodding. One hundred acres have been controlled by 800 lineal feet of terrace outlet channel which has been constructed and controlled by solid sodding. Ten masonry dams have been constructed to protect terrace outlet channels while 4 rock sod ramps have been constructed to protect terrace and diversion ditch outlets. Three loose rock dams and 180 temporary wire and sod bag dams have been built in gullies. Six thousand, two hundred square yards of gully banks have been sloped and chunked with sod and 150 acres have been removed from cultivation and sodded for permanent pasture.

Ten thousand square yards of Bermuda grass sod have been gathered to be placed in terrace outlet channels and on land removed from cultivation. Two hundred cubic yards of rock and 700 cubic yards of sand have been gathered to be used in constructing dams. Eleven thousand black locust trees have been planted on a total of 8 acres for reforestation and gully control. A total of 1150 rods of fence and, 35 miles of truck trails have been built.

The co-operators with the aid of six tractor and grader outfits have constructed 50 miles of terraces protecting 900 acres of farm land on eleven farms.

Approximately 100 miles of terraces and strip crop lines have been run. More than 7,000 acres of land have been mapped and planned on which soil maps have been made on approximately 6000 acres.

When Mayor Juan Posadas Jr. of Manila, P. I., recently asked the municipal board to appoint him "traffic dictator" so he could untangle the promptly said "No."

Methodist Revival Now In Progress; Close Sun. With Easter Services

Perhaps, few organizations of the community have paid much heed to the meeting going on, a few business men have slipped out in the morning services, while a large number of the women have put the program of the revival in their schedule this week.

Many handicaps have come up, this we always face up to, we may plead tearfully, but "the rest of the world must go by."

In spite of all this we have had some fine preaching by Rev. J. H. Baldrige who closes his part Friday night, but the pastor will carry on through Sunday, occupying all hours.

There will be no Saturday services and Sunday night brings the one week effort to an end.

The choir as usual has been very faithful and many of the members likewise, all this we rejoice over.

A nice class will be received into the church Easter and the Wednesday night following, the exact number we cannot say yet as it is not known to date.

The pastor says: "While we have not touched the people as we wanted to do, we face the close with our heads up and declare we have done all that we were able to do."

Thanks to the Lions Club and some other interests that have recognized the week.

Roundtable Club Elects Officers for Year at Meeting Monday Nite

Bachelors of our fair city gathered in the District Court Room Monday night for the purpose of electing officers for the Roundtable Club for the coming year. Minutes of the last three meetings were read by Secretary David Franks, after which James Reed Saunders was unanimously elected to become a member of the said organization.

The club was called to order by President Talley Youngue, and nominations were in order for new officers. David Franks was elected president, Cam McGilvray, Vice-President, and C. Eugene Alvis, Jr. (who was absent for some unknown reason) was "put on the spot" by being elected by acclamation to become Secretary-Treasurer.

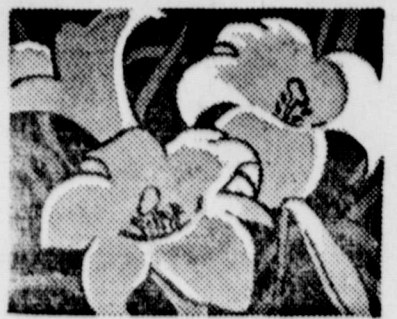

Several suggestions were made by members for the betterment of the club. As Leap Year is playing havoc with some of the "weaker" members, it was suggested that the drive for new members should be continued.

The History of Coryell County

By FRANK E. SIMMONS

Authorized by County Commissioners, as Official History for Texas Centennial Celebration

FORT GATES

When the United States Government, at the close of the Mexican War, 1846-1848, took charge of the vast Texas frontier, reaching from the Rio Grande to the Red River, that territory was without military protection, save for a few scattered companies of Texas Rangers. U. S. troops returning from the Mexican War were sent to establish a line of forts to protect the advancing settlements along the entire frontier. One of the forts was established on the Leon River, in what was then Milam County, but was later organized as Coryell County.

It is very difficult to gather authentic data on Fort Gates. To illustrate, we will quote from a letter written to the author, March 19, 1935: War Department, The Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C.

"A complete history of Fort Gates, Texas, has not been compiled by this department. However, the records show that Fort Gates, Texas, was situated on the north bank of the Leon River above Coryell's Creek, north of Austin, Texas. It was established October 26, 1849. It was named in honor of Major C. R. Gates, 4th United States Infantry. It was evacuated in March, 1852. The post was authorized on September 2, 1849 per orders No. 62, 8th. Military Department."

Signed, James F. McKinley,
Major General,
The Adjutant General.

The foregoing was all the information we could obtain from the War Department, but following that thread, we later located Miss Arrie Barrett, San Angelo, who contributed the valuable history which we append. The information is confirmed by a letter of Acting Adjutant General Lutz Wahl, on April 6, 1925:

"On October 26, 1849, Brevet Colonel W. R. Montgomery, with two companies of the Eighth Infantry, founded Fort Gates on the Leon River, at a distance of seventy-five miles from Austin. Troops remained there until March, 1852. The immediate site was on the north bank of the Leon River, a tributary of the Brazos, and on the edge of a post oak grove, which extended from the garrison to the river. Assistant Surgeon Johns said that the post oak woods were in such position as to fail to check the wind from the north in the winter, and yet it would obstruct the breezes in the summer. He considered that the location on the southern banks of river would be much more satisfactory. People suffered severely from intermittent fevers.

"The officers' quarters were frame buildings covered with clapboards; those for laundresses and muleteers were about the same. The remainder of the buildings were frame with upright posts, pointed out and placed in the ground. Hired labor erected several of the buildings. In 1851, the buildings were as follows: four officers' quarters, two for company quarters, three for laundresses, one for muleteers and employees, one hospital, one stable, one forage house, two storehouses, one guardhouse, one blacksmith shop, and one unfinished quarters for a third company. This included 18 buildings.

"Stone for buildings was abundant, so stone fireplaces were built for cooking and heating. Lumber cost $25.00 for one thousand feet at Bastrop. Government teams transported it to the post. Troops, with public teams, hauled good water from a stream about three hundred feet from the post. It was necessary to pay from $2.00 to $3.00 per cord for fuel. In 1850, the price of corn was $1.75 per bushel, the high price being due to the great distance. Good grass was close by, but there was difficulty in getting hay. Beef was scarce, so it was necessary to pay six cents a pound for it. At about this time, R. G. Grant arrived with a herd of 700 cattle and 200 hogs, the first herd brought to the fort.

"Fort Gates was on the road leading from Austin to Fort Graham. A branch extended out to Fort Crogham. Often rising streams would delay trains for days from Austin to Fort Gates. There were no bridges over the streams except across the Brazos, at Waco village, and at Fort Graham. During 1850 supplies carried by contractors, went from Washington on the Brazos, one hundred and forty miles distance, and Houston, two hundred and twenty miles away. After 1851, supplies, drawn by public teams, went from Indianola, which was on the coast.

"November 29, 1849. Fort Gates. Bvt. Lt. Col. W. R. Montgomery, commanding two companies, 8th. Infantry, 6 com. officers, 76 men, one officer absent, 3 men absent, total 86.

"1850, Fort Gates. Bvt. Lt. Col. W. R. Montgomery, commanding two companies there, 8th. Infantry, Companies D. and J.

"November 26, 1851. Fort Gates, Bvt. Lt. Col. C. A. Waite. Two companies, 8th Infantry, 8 officers present, 113 men present, 1 officer absent, 6 men absent. Total 128 officers and men."

Above we have given the historic data, available to us, on Fort Gates.

At the time Fort Gates was founded, Col. Robert E. Lee was commander of the 8th Military Department, which embraced the Mexican border, and the task of establishing a chain of forts from the Rio Grande River to the Red River, to protect the advancing white settlers against Indians.

Col. Albert Sydney Johnston was one time paymaster for the soldiers occupying the frontier forts. The intrepid Ben McCulloch also had much service on this frontier. All were later distinguished Confederate Generals.

Among the officers of the frontier service, and who later distinguished themselves as Union Generals during the Civil War were Phil Sheridan, who said he would "rather be in hell than in Texas," Geo. A. Thomas and Geo. B. McLennon were also there.

It is quite probable that this sextet of famous generals had visited Fort Gates.

Near the site of the old fort is a small burying ground where the soldiers, who came so long ago to protect our frontier, are buried. Over the other way, but near by, is the Sheridan burial ground, where members of that family are buried.

A Centennial Monument, made of granite, four feet high, thirty inches wide, twelve inches thick, with bronze plaque, containing a brief history of the Fort, will be set up there in 1936, authorized by the State Historical Commission.

CLEAR CREEK NEWS

We are proud of the showing made by our pupils who were entered in the County Meet. Of the first round, J. W. Yancy won third in the junior boys declamation, this being the first time for pupils of this school to enter the county meet, and consequently, we feel with a little more experience they can make a more impressive record.

In the intellectual events, J. W. was the only one to place, but our spellers did well enough to run a close fourth.

In the last week of the meet Leo Edwards won five ribbons on running and jumping, while Milton Kattner tied for first in high jump in rural and for second in county with a 5 feet, 2-inch jump.

Norris Allman was third in churning the bar. Our playground ball team won third in Junior boys' rural

THE COOKIE JAR

The housewife who plans to keep supplies of foodstuffs on hand to serve in an emergency will be sure to keep her cookie jar filled with such delectable concoctions as these:

RAISIN COOKIES

One and one-third cups condensed milk sweetened, 2½ cups puffed wheat, ½ cup peanut butter, ½ cup seedless raisins, ½ cup shredded coconut.

Thoroughly blend the sweetened condensed milk, peanut butter, raisins and coconut. Add the cereal. Shape with the hands into small flat cakes. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake for 10 minutes in a moderate oven. Remove from the pan while still warm. Makes 3 dozen.

NUGGETS

Rub three-fourth cup shortening, butter preferred, into 2½ cups flour which has been sifted with ½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon mace. Add 2 well-beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel, ½ pound of chopped nut meats and ½ pound chopped raisins or currants. Mix thoroughly, knead a little and set in a cold place for a few hours or over night. Knead off 'nuggets' or small pieces, arrange on a greased baking sheet and place in a moderate oven.

OATMEAL COOKIES

Cream 1 cup sugar and 1 cup shortening together, add 2½ cups oatmeal. Sift 2 cups flour with 1 teaspoon salt and add alternately to the oatmeal mixture with ½ teaspoon soda dissolved in ½ cup milk. Roll thin on floured board and cut in fancy shapes. Bake in moderate hot oven.

FRUIT DESSERTS

Desserts with fruit flavors or those that utilize fruit in the cooking are always welcome, especially at this time of year when the flavor of something tart is especially pleasing.

ORANGE SOUFFLE

Three tablespoons shortening, 2½ tablespoons flour, ¼ cup milk, ½ cup orange juice, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup sugar, 3 eggs beaten, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, separately.

Melt the shortening in a saucepan, stir in the flour and then the milk. Cook for a few minutes until thick, stirring constantly to keep lumps from forming. Remove from the fire. Add the orange and lemon juices, orange peel and sugar. Add the egg yolks, well beaten; then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a greased baking dish 7 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep. Place the dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Serve with whipped cream.

FRUIT MARSHMALLOW

One level teaspoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup fruit juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, one-third cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 egg white, ½ cup whipped cream, ½ cup marshmallows, diced, ½ cup peaches, diced, ½ cup bananas or other fruit cut in small pieces.

Soak gelatine in cold water in boiling fruit juice. Add sugar, salt and lemon. Cool and about 5 minutes, and dissolve when mixture begins to thicken fold in marshmallows and fruit, whipped cream and the stiffly beaten egg white. Pile in serving glasses and chill. Serve with or without whipped cream. Garnish with fruit.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

SCOLDING ABOUT HEALTH

I know parents who try to "scold" health into their children. "I cannot get Helen to drink milk," they tell me, though I explain how healthful it is." Too often that "explaining" is "nagging."

Health is not understandable to children, at least under twelve years; hearing it so much is tiresome; and nagging never pays. There is another angle too. Under the conditions I have described, can we blame a child for becoming contrary? Many children refuse to do the healthful things because they react against being driven.

This is also important: when we plead with a child for health, he may begin to imagine he is not healthy, else why should mother or father talk about it so much? And that is bad. For the child's mind to become disturbed over the fear of disease is about the worst thing that can happen. A sense of insecurity develops. Thinking much about one's body is enough to bring on sickness, mental sickness at any rate, and it is a very difficult condition to cure. Most of us have never recovered from such fears.

A new sweet corn for the South, developed in Texas, is so able to resist drought that a fair crop of roasting ears was reported if no rain fell from planting to harvest.

Frogs in Hawaii are called mountain chickens by the natives, who have found frogs' legs a fine delicacy.
