STUMPIN' THE STATE

With the Spectator

With the primary only one week off, your correspondent feels it to be a propitious moment to list what he believes to be the voting strength of the candidates as gleaned from reports over the State.

Opinions of newspapermen and political observers are in agreement that Jimmie Allred will lead the list and of course be one of the runoff contenders. Several weeks back there was talk that the Governor might win in the first primary, but now there appears to be no such possibility. There is no basis upon which to estimate the strength of F. W. Fischer, who is a newcomer to Texas politics, but Fischer has been conducting one of the most vigorous and expensive campaigns ever waged by a gubernatorial contender, and many believe he will furnish the opposition to Allred in the second primary.

Roy Sandarford opened his campaign with little enthusiasm but it is no secret that he has been picking up votes like a rolling snowball. In the last week he has made what is really amazing progress—in fact all the progress the Belton Senator has made has been in the last fortnight—and Sandarford is expected to poll a large number of votes July 25.

Tom Hunter has passed the 200,000 mark in both of his campaigns—220,000 in 1932 and 241,000 in 1934—but the general opinion among observers is that Tom made his big race two years ago.

Pierce Brooks is conceded little change, although he has been actively campaigning for several weeks. Dallas County—home of Brooks—is expected to give the other four candidates larger totals than it gives Brooks.

As stated above, Tyler's "Big Fish" F. W. Fischer, is carrying his cause to the voters in every county in the State. "Fischer for Governor" posters are visible along all the highways and in virtually every city and hamlet in the State. Fischer literature is being distributed in huge quantities. Three one-hour night periods have been engaged over the Texas Quality Network, consisting of radio stations in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, and Fort Worth.

For the final week a group of prominent speakers will take the stump for Fischer. Included in this list are Coke Stevenson of Junction, speaker of the House of Representatives; Lee Simmons, former manager of the Texas prison system; former Judge George W. Baccus of Waco; Dallas Scarborough of Abilene, and Senator Joe Hill of Henderson.

Candidate Fischer will spend the week in East and South Texas and before July 25 will make addresses in the four principal cities of the State, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio.

Chief opposition to Senator Morris Sheppard's reelection aspirations comes from Houston's Joe H. Eagle, member of the House of Representatives from the Eighth Congressional Dis-

INSTITUTE OF COOPERATIVES OPENS SECOND SESSION AT SHORT COURSE

College Station.—The second annual Texas Institute for Cooperatives will be held in connection with the Centennial Year Farmers' Short Course at A. and M. College, it was announced by J. Wheeler Barger, head of the department of agricultural economics, who recently said that twice as many cooperative organizations were formed in Texas last year as in any previous year.

Opening July 20, the meeting of the Institute for Cooperatives will continue through July 22.

Most of the speakers on this program will be successful leaders in Texas cooperative enterprises. Among those nationally prominent to appear are President C. E. Huff of the Farmer's National Grain Corporation; Dr. V. N. Valgreen of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, D. C., who is a national authority on farmer's mutual insurance; Maurice R. Cooper, authority on cotton marketing with the U. S. Department of Agriculture; and Harold Hedges, former secretary of the Omaha Bank for Cooperatives, who is a specialist on cooperative purchasing and cooperative elevators.

The successful management of every type of farmers' cooperative establishments such as grain, packing plants, elevators, and creameries, will be taken up. Cooperatives purchasing will also be discussed.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for all who were so kind and comforting to us during the recent illness and death of our dear mother and grandmother. We wish to thank those for their floral offering. May God bless each of you is our prayer.

(Signed): Mr. and Mrs. Jim Painter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dawes Graves and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Graves and family, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Grave and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Reaves and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Painter and family.

strict, Eagle is the only House member to announce against Sheppard, although several were prominently mentioned as opponents of the Senior Senator.

JOE H. EAGLE

Eagle offers a comprehensive platform consisting of 34 planks, and bases his attack on Sheppard upon the Senator's advocacy of national prohibition and votes against payment of the bonus.

SWINE RAISING AND TRUCK FARMING GO TOGETHER

Fort Worth.—Leonard Meyer, 4-H club boy of the Birdville community in Tarrant county, has proven that profitable swine raising can be carried on in connection with truck farming, reports J. O. Woodman, assistant county agricultural agent.

Leonard has raised swine principally on the unsalable products from his father's truck farm for three years.

In 1933, when hogs were low in price, Leonard's books showed a profit of $30 on two Poland China hogs that weighed a total of over 600 pounds when sold.

In 1934 the 4-H club boy made a net profit of $35 on 3 hogs, and in 1935 he started out with two Duroc Jerseys valued at $10. The gilt farrowed pigs and these were sold for $30. On May 29 this year the sow again farrowed a litter of nine. The assistant county agricultural agent estimates that Leonard will net $100 this year from his swine.

Fort Worth Ready for Gala Opening

The Last Frontier—Pioneer Palace—Jumbo—Casa Manana—Nude Ranch! Marvels of entertainment will go on parade in Fort Worth Saturday, July 18, when the Texas Frontier Centennial opens its gates to the world. But mere gates, closed during rehearsals, have not kept out the crowds. Bess Harris, for instance, boldly travels the "Sunset Trail" in a modern covered wagon, mustering into service Mr. Star, an Indian youth whose Hopi reservation is on the Centennial grounds, and pausing for refreshment at an old pump presided over graciously by Miss Yellow Spider. And below is Nikki Allen, who takes time out from rehearsals at Sally Rand's Nude Ranch to furnish a good reason for the crowds in the bottom photo.

HOLY CITY EXHIBIT SHOWS RELIGIOUS RELICS

Dallas, July 16.—One of the largest as well as finest religious art exhibits ever shown in this country is assembled in the Holy City at the head of the Midway at the Texas Centennial Central Exposition. Included in the exhibit are more than 200 authentic shrines of the Holy Land.

The master piece of the display, however, is the 8 foot mother-of-pearl, hand carved cross designed and assembled by Antonio Bartilio in the Holy City of Jerusalem in the eighteenth century. The crucifix, which displays the fourteen stations in the life of Christ is made up of more than 15,000 pieces of mother of pearl and took more than ten years to complete.

The Lord's Last Supper, another art treasure, also executed by Bartilio is the only one of its kind in the world. Made of colored mother of pearl it delineates the detail of the Leonardo d'Vincini painting in the most minute conception. This carving is over 200 years old and contains over 3000 separate pieces of mother of pearl.

There is a series of over 200 water colors depicting the story of both the Old and the New Testaments. These were done on actual location in the Holy Land.

More than a million people visited the Holy Land exhibit during its two years' showing at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago and the unanimous expression of its many appreciative admirers was, "It is the next best thing to a trip to the Holy Land itself."

loss in production during the hot, dry summer can be prevented.

The silo can usually be refilled with a late crop of feed in the fall for winter feeding. Put up at least six tons of silage for every cow in the herd—both dry and milking.

Flies are causing a loss in milk production in some sections of the state. To avoid this trouble let the cows graze on the sudan pasture at night and eat silage during the day in a darkened shed. Fly sprays will only keep the flies off for about one hour; therefore, fly sprays are of no value except to keep the flies off at milking time.

Cows that are to freshen in September should be dried off in July. Vows should be dry at least six weeks before freshening. Some cows are persistent milkers and can not be dried off so long as they are on good pasture, such as sudan grass. This kind of cow should be put in a dry lot and given nothing but carbonaceous hay, such as sorghum prairie, Johnson grass, sudan grass, and water. The water should be limited to three gallons each hour until she has had all the water she wants; after that let have access to the water trough. Do not give the cow anything to eat but hay until she is dry. She should be dry in a week or ten days. Milk her only once per day.

DAIRY NEWS LETTER FOR JULY 1936

By E. R. Eudaly
Extension Dairyman, College Station, Texas

Over the greater portion of Texas the early crops will be ready to put in the trench silo during July. Let the crop get ripe before cutting even though most of the leaves have dried before the seed are hard. As a rule some of the silage will be needed during August and September due to drouth, and September due to drouth. Sometimes silage is needed in July. Remember that dairy cows need a succulent feed at all times. When the grass dries up on account of drouth, silage should be fed so as to supply the succulent feed needed. If silage is fed the heavy

YOU don't hear much about women being afraid of a burglar under the bed anymore. Women have got other things to think about, I reckon.

But lately it got so bad in Detroit that a lot of folks thought Chicago maybe moved up there, and there was one woman who got terribly nervous, after reading about all the gang killings. She says to her husband one night, "Say, Steve, I got a terrible strong hunch that there's one of the administration gunmen under the bed. I just can't sleep."

"Well, Kate," he says, "I got just as strong a hunch that there's one of the anti-administration gunmen under the bed. Let's let 'em fight it out, and we'll sleep."

TIPS FOR THE HOME

By HOUS N. HOM

IF YOU'RE BUILDING WITH MASONRY

Masonry construction of all has long been a favorite with home builders. The permanency, the low cost of upkeep and the general attractiveness of materials of this type have much to recommend them. But like most materials and methods of construction, there are certain dangers in the actual process of construction that must be guarded against.

Stone, brick, concrete block, cement, hollow block, and tile all fall within the "fireproof" or "semi-fireproof" classification, and all of them are subject to the dangers outlined here. Since the materials themselves are generally sound and fireproof, the danger lies in the method used to put the units together to form a wall.

Adequate bonding must be provided for in all types of masonry where individual units are used. The "bond" consists of a course laid across the double wall to act as a tie. Insulation must be provided, and bonding courses should be laid at intervals to assure a well laid wall.

Foundations should be carefully considered. They must always, for all types of masonry construction, be laid well below the frost line, to prevent "seaving" and ultimate cracking of the walls laid on them.

Interior finishes should never be allowed to rest in direct contact with masonry walls. "Furring" (thin strips of wood laid on the masonry) should be provided, and panels or lath nailed to the strips. Further insulation is gained in this way, since the air space thus provided not only holds the finish away from contact with the masonry, but offers a second dead air space in the wall. As with other types of insulation, this means a house less subject to outside changes in temperature, as well as lower fuel costs.

The mortar used with any masonry, as well as the "mix" for concrete construction, should be carefully prepared preferably under the direction of someone familiar with the atmospheric conditions in your locality. Moisture, dry air, rapid or slow drying—all affect the strength of the mortar used, and should be considered in preparing the mixture.

The difference in expansion and contraction of different materials is important, particularly when door and window frames of wood are used with masonry. The joints should be stuffed with oakum or a similar substance, to prevent sticking. In some cases steel frames should be used, to assure easy action and latching of both windows and doors.

BOY MAKES PROFIT RAISING BERRY CROP

Groveton.—Clayton Barnett, Carlisle 4-H club boy, gathered 56 gallons of berries from a plot of ground 12 by 22 yards, reported Alfred Crocker, Trinity county assistant agricultural agent.

From this plot, Clayton sold thirty-one and one-half gallons for 30 cents per gallon. Also 98 quarts were canned and valued at $19.60. By subtracting the canning cost of $6.63, this 4-H club boy made a profit of $22.42 from his berry patch.

Clayton has one row of dewberries and three rows of blackberries and is taking cuttings from his plants for a larger patch next season.

Novelized by Wallace West from the Apprehended speeding in a 30 mile zone for the fourth time, Betty Winslow, stunning society girl with a yen for getting into trouble, is brought to Police Headquarters. There, Lieut. Knox, handsome head of the Traffic Department, who is trying to reduce the number of fatal accidents, gives her a verbal spanking.

CHAPTER II

BETTY'S case in traffic court early next morning was short and sweet. It was watched with ill-concealed merriment by Jackie, her younger brother and by Dodie Sloan, early drinks had lost their effect on Jackie and he was becoming jittery. He tried to give the gun back, but could not find Knox. With a laugh, the latter took the automatic from him and removed the blindfold.

"You miss a lot of fun," whispered Jackie to his sister as the four found seats in the front row.

Knox peered over the audience to identify the speaker and recognized Jackie from previous traffic court run-ins.

"Mr. Winslow," he said, "Will you step up here, please."

"Now you're going to get it," chuckled Betty as her brother rose reluctantly but obediently

early drinks had lost their effect on Jackie and he was becoming jittery. He tried to give the gun back, but could not find Knox. With a laugh, the latter took the automatic from him and removed the blindfold.

"You were right, Winslow," he told the shaken youth. "It wasn't loaded. You were morally certain of that, and still you wouldn't take a chance. But," he glanced sharply at his students as they returned sheepishly to their seats, "you'd take a chance with another deadly weapon—a car! A curve in a road is a blindfold, but you go plunging ahead. You don't know whether you're going to hit anything or not—but if you do—it means sudden death."

"Mr. Knox," bridled Dodie when the class was dismissed, "I've never been so thrilled in my life! It was just breath-taking."

"Is that all for today, Professor?" Betty inquired with a yawn.

"No—we're just starting," Knox seemed to come to a sudden decision. He led them down a corridor and stopped in front of a heavy door.

"What happens now?" inquired Jackie, who had regained his composure.

"So far," answered the officer, "I've shown you the cause of accidents—now I'm going to show you the result." He moved to open the door and in so doing exposed a sign reading "MORGUE."

"I won't go in there—I can't!" gasped Dodie.

"There's no reason why you should, Dodie," Betty was staring at Knox disdainfully. "This is for my benefit."

"Wait a minute, Sis," Jackie stepped up beside her. "I'll go along."

"Thanks, Jackie," Betty gave his arm a quick squeeze. Then, as nonchalantly as though going on a picnic, they sauntered through the open door. The rest of the regular class followed hesitantly.

For several minutes the rest of the group waited for the two to reappear. Then the door opened and Jackie stumbled out alone. He seemed on the point of collapse but took a deep breath and tried to smile.

"Sorry to be such a sissy about it, but it sort of gets you," he gulped.

As he spoke the door opened again and Betty came out. Her face was an expressionless mask but as white as paper.

"That'll be all for today, thanks," said Knox, closing the Morgue door as soon as his other students had passed through. Suddenly he was confronted by a raging Jackie.

"You and your lectures." The boy clenched his fists. "Making my sister look at anything like that! I'd like to break your face for you!"

"Shut up, Jackie," Betty interrupted him in a hoarse voice.

"It must have been awful," whispered Dodie as she put a plump arm about her cousin.

"It was," the girl answered in the same strained tones. "It was horrible." She swayed, recovered herself and tried to smile. "Dodie," she managed to whisper. "It's awfully silly of me—but I think I'm going to faint. . ."

"All right. Take a chance," the officer soothed him.

"What do you think I am?" Those her plump and matronly cousin and the latter's nervously ineffectual husband, Archibald.

"Under ordinary circumstances," the Judge ruled, "you would be deprived of your license, but at the suggestion of Lieut. Knox, I hereby fine you fifty dollars and order you to report to Traffic School for Delinquents this morning and every morning thereafter at ten o'clock until further orders. Next case."

"Why don't we all go to traffic school?" cried Jackie when they had left the courtroom. Although it was early in the day the handsome, highstrung youngster already had had several "eye-openers" to celebrate the occasion, and was feeling high. The others agreed so they all trooped into the schoolroom where Knox was already lecturing. The officer was surrounded by blackboards, charts, automobile wheels mounted on racks and other paraphernalia and was talking very seriously to a group of about fifteen people seated in the classroom.

"So much for the anatomy of a tire," he was saying when the newcomers arrived. "I'll say this in conclusion: A tire is no better than its inner tube. Have the tubes taken out and checked every 5,000 miles—or less. It only takes a few minutes—and it may save your life."

"Good old inner tubes," snorted Jackie.

"What I'm trying to impress on you is this—DON'T TAKE

"Sit down, Mr. Winslow," said the head of the traffic department when his victim had climbed up on the platform. "I'm going to blindfold you, if you don't mind."

"Go as far as you like," was the amused reply.

Knox quickly took a large handkerchief and bound the boy's eyes securely. Then he spun him rapidly about in the swivel chair. Next he took a deadly-looking automatic from its holster and put it in Jackie's hand.

"Mr. Winslow," he said slowly, "you are now holding a very dangerous weapon in your hand—a Colt .45 automatic. You're not sure where the other people in the room are. So point the gun straight ahead of you and pull the trigger." As Jackie hesitated he urged: "Go ahead, Winslow. Take a chance."

The little tableau had created pandemonium in the school room. "Hey!" "Look out!" "Take that gun away from him!" "What sort of a gag is this!" "He'll kill somebody!" the students shouted as they dived for cover. Only Betty refused to be frightened and stared coolly up into the muzzle of the gun.

"Go on—you may not hit anybody," Knox insisted. "Take a chance and shoot."

"I know it isn't loaded." The gun wavered uncertainly.

"All right. Take a chance," the officer soothed him.

would not permanently stain mohair and yet satisfactorily kill goat lice. Wettable sulphur which will pass 325 mesh screen used at the rate of 10 pounds per 100 gallons of water has proven to be most satisfactory. The goats are held in the dip one-half minute and submerged at least four times. The sulphur is retained in the mohair and is a slow killer which begins to take effect ordinarily in four to seven days. The second dipping will be conducted on the eleventh day to kill those lice which may hatch out after the first dipping and, also, any which might have escaped the first dipping.

Experimental results have shown an increase from one-fourth to one pound of mohair per goat per year when sulphur dip was used.

Results from these experimental dippings will be closely watched and reports made upon findings.

Its solid white walls flooded with many lights, the huge Ford Exposition building at the Texas Centennial in Dallas makes an attractive and imposing structure at night. STREETS OF PARIS TO HAVE NAME BANDS

July 16.—Ted Lewis, famous "Is Everybody" band, with his high hat and cane, will lead a parade of name bands into the Streets of Paris at the Texas Centennial here, and will open his engagement on Saturday night, it has been announced here by John McMahon, general manager of the Parisian Village attraction.

Lewis will be followed in close succession by Frankie Masters who will play from Aug. 1 to 3; Ina Ray Hutton, August 4 to 11, and Isham Jones whose band will be presented nightly for two weeks beginning Aug. 12th.

These famous bands will be an added attraction and will be presented in addition to the 2nd edition of the Streets of Paris French Revue, which is now playing. Featured in the French Revue are Mona Leslie, the diving Venus who does an entirely nude dance; the Clymas troupe, internationally famous knife-throwing pantomime adagio dancers; Alene and Evans, novelty acrobatic dancers; Lady Godiva who rides as did the original unclathed and unmasked each night at midnight, and a company of seventy people.

Tribute will be paid to the Indians who once roamed the plains of West Texas in appropriate ceremonies. An Indian pageant is also planned.

HAS 35 VARIETIES VEGETABLES IN GARDEN

Tyler.—Inez McNutt, four-year demonstrator of the Starville 4-H Club, planted for 1936 some 35 varieties of vegetables with 14,715 feet of row space, according to Rebecca Murray, the Smith County assistant home demonstration agent.

This 4-H club girl canned 128 quarts which include: Jellies, relishes, beets, cucumbers, beans, carrots, berries, and plums. The family used 426 pounds of vegetables.

She has also sold $10.56 worth from her garden.

In the same county, Eurma Louise Sheegog, garden demonstrator of the Providence 4-H club, has made a profit of $10.01 from sale of vegetables from her garden of 2,380 feet of row space which cost her only $2.37 to plant because of saving seed from her last year's garden. She spent $1.00 on commercial fertilizer.

Stumpin' the State—

The record, according to Eagle, reveals that Sheppard voted for the pay-cut bill of 1933 which cut 300,000 World War veterans off from pensions and compensations, and that the senator four times voted against payment of the soldiers' bonus while Eagle voted on all ballots while he was a member of Congress for paying the bonus.

Sheppard, says the Houstonian, only voted for the bonus after Eagle became a candidate. In addition, Eagle voted to restore the pay cuts while Sheppard voted against restoration.

Eagle, an avowed wet, attacks Sheppard because of his advocacy of prohibition and introduction into Congress of the Eighteenth Amendment in 1914. "After 14 years of National Prohibition Texas voters on a referendum voted nearly 3 to 1 for submission of the repeal of the 18th amendment," Eagle states. "The National Democratic platform of 1932 declared for repeal of the 18th Amendment but after that, in 1935, Sheppard voted NO on question of submitting repeal."

Eagle is for repealing, "as rapidly as improving business conditions permit," each and all emergency laws and agencies and for a reduction in governmental expenses. He favors an adequate national defense and strict neutrality. He is for an increase in old-age pensions and unemployment insurance by a system of Federal aid to States. His agricultural plank declares for levying processing taxes "or some corresponding form of benefit" in favor of farmers upon farm products they must sell, "as long as tariff taxes are levied in favor of manufacturers upon products the farmers must buy."

Who Has Spread False Accusations?
Did Bob Poage Vote For or Against the Old People?

In a sheet signed by Hon. Frank B. Tirey, candidate for Congress, he says:

"I shall appreciate the vote of every person, but shall not make or countenance the making of false accusations against or about my opponent to get votes."

Yet, in almost every speech Mr. Tirey or his cohorts have made in the past ten days he and they have charged that Senator W. R. Poage was the author of an amendment to the pension law to deny pensions to old people with children able to support them. On last Sunday the Waco News Tribune published the following account of Mr. Tirey's Valley Mills speech:

"Tirey cited the legislative record by book and page as proof that Poage introduced an amendment to the old age pension bill which would require that the support children might be able to give old age pension applicants be investigated before a pension should be granted. This amendment, Tirey said, was finally defeated.

"The amendment would have meant, said Tirey, 'That if an old man applying for pension had a married son who had an extra room at his house, the state could tell the old man to go and live with his son, and could bar him from relief; no matter what the old man's daughter-in-law might think about it.'"

WHAT DOES THE RECORD SHOW?

Mr. Tirey, who says he would not countenance any false accusations against his opponents to get votes must have had some other motive in mind because the very page which he quotes is found in the Senate Journal, Second Called Session of the 44th Legislature pages 27 and 28, and this record reads as follows:

"Amend Shivers Amendment by striking out the last sentence in Sub-division (2) of Section 3, the language to be struck out being as follows:

"It shall also be the duty of the Director to investigate the ability and willingness of the component members of said applicant's immediate family to assist in the support and maintenance of said applicant and to modify and adjust the assistance for such applicant in accordance with evidence found." ONEAL and POAGE" (submitted to strike out.)

On page 28 of the same Journal, we find that the record shows that the amendment (to strike out) was adopted by a vote of 13 yeas to 11 nays, with Poage voting yea. Thus we find that Mr. Tirey not only falsely accused Bob Poage of doing the very thing that Poage prevented, but also misrepresented the final action on the amendment in the Legislature. Did he do this "To Get Votes?"

WHO FOUGHT FOR THE OLD PEOPLE?

Bob Poage was one of the two men who actually struck out the language Mr. Tirey complains of. If Mr. Tirey does not like what Poage did, he has a right to criticize, but let him tell the truth about what Poage did. The Shiver's Amendment (page 25) later became the Senate Bill, and if it had not been for Senator Poage the Bill would have contained the very language Mr. Tirey complains of. Bob Poage has been fair with the old people, and has not tried to misquote the record. Bob Poage voted for the old age pension and offered a Natural Tax with which to Pay the Bill.

What has Tirey ever done for the old people?

Was Mr. Tirey actuated by Ignorance or Malice when he told the people that Bob Poage tried to the very thing that Poage prevented from being done?

If Mr. Tirey was so ignorant of the effect of legislative amendments that he could not understand an amendment that said "the language to be struck out being as follows . . ." then he is too ignorant to properly represent this District.

If Mr. Tirey deliberately sought to deceive the people about the facts in this matter can you rely on any other representations that he may make?

If he will make misleading statement in this particular how can the people believe any of the mud, muck, and slime that he and his henchmen have been throwing at Bob Poage?

Senator Bob Poage Speaks Sat. 4 p. m. In Behalf of Candidacy for Congress

State Senator R. W. (Bob) Poage, candidate for Congress from this the eleventh District, makes his second appearance in Gatesville, when he takes over the microphone on the steps of the Court House Saturday afternoon, July 18, at 4 o'clock.

In what is proving to be one of the most interesting races in this part of the State, Mr. Poage will probably answer accusations made here last week by the Hon. Jake Tiley, brother of Mr. Poage's opponent, the Hon. Frank B. Tiley, Waco, reputed millionaire landowner by inheritance.

An arrangements committee will supply plenty of chairs for all those who wish to hear the speaker on this occasion, and sound equipment will be provided so that everyone within range may hear as well as see the speaker.

Senator Poage, having twelve years' experience as a legislator in the State House of Representatives and State Senate, is running on his qualifications, experience and desire for promotion. He was actually reared on a farm, and has actually farmed himself, thereby knowing from experience the needs of the tenant and small farmer, according to his statement.

Mr. Poage advocates an acreage basis that will not penalize the farmer who diversified in the past; advocates a guarantee of government benefits to the tenant, as well as the landlord.

Yesterday information was received from Senator Poage that he would go to Ewing picnic today and also the Jonesboro rodeo in the interest of his campaign, if at all possible.

C. E. Alvis Jr. Makes Statement to Voters As Campaign Closes

To the Voters of Coryell County. Due to the fact that on Monday July 12, it was my duty to go to work with the Grand Jury and District Court as your County Attorney, it will be impossible for me to see all the voters as I would like to and speak to them personally about my candidacy for County Attorney. I am therefore making this brief statement which I hope you will be kind enough under the circumstances to consider as a personal solicitation.

My home has been in Coryell County continuously for 19 years—since the year 1917 when I moved to Gatesville. I was educated in the Gatesville Public Schools, Southwestern University and the University of Texas, having received a degree in law from the University of Texas in 1933. I then returned to Gatesville where I began the practice of law in the office of Judge Bates Cross. I practiced law until eleven months ago at which time I was appointed County Attorney of Coryell by the Commissioners' Court to fill out the unexpired term of the Hon. Floyd Zeigler. Marvin E. Fletcher Has Statement to Voters of County in Last Days

To the Voters of Coryell County: Next week will close the political campaign for the 1936 primary election.

I have enjoyed making this campaign for County Clerk of Coryell County. I have enjoyed meeting friends and many people that I did not before, even those who cannot for me have been very kind and nice.

I have tried to see each voter personally, but if I have missed you or any of your friends, I wish to take this method of asking your consideration.

I am 35 years of age, have a wife and two children, was born and reared in Coryell County and feel that with my experience of over ten years general office work I am fully qualified to serve you as your County Clerk.

To those who are supporting me, I now wish to thank you for the many good words spoken to your friends, and if elected to this office, I will endeavor at all times to perform the duties of this trust in a courteous and business-like manner.

Again thanking you for the (Continued on last page)

TWIN ENTERTAINMENTS TO BE GIVEN TODAY BY EWING AND JONESBORO

Ewing's Ex-Students' Association Picnic! Jonesboro's Brown & Gilmore Rodeo!

That's the billing today! A guaranteed good time, good eats, fun and amusement at both places, put on in a professional manner.

Go to either one, we'd suggest both, and have one grand time. They do things at both places, things that you will enjoy. Jonesboro has rough riding, bronc busting, bulldogging, and all the other rodeo entertainment, and the price of admission includes a barbecue dinner, Ewing, with a picnic, which includes a negro ball game between Gatesville Negroes and one of the fastest Central Texas Negro ball clubs, amateur entertainment contest with cash prizes, state, district and county candidate speaking concessions and amusements, ending with a play in the evening entitled "The Mills of the Gods."

Two big chances for two big times today!

Coryell County is going to be "on the move", August 14th!

That is, if plans work out! We're, all of us, are going to "put the bells on" and give old Coryell County and Gatesville on of the best, biggest and most stupendous gigantic and colossal advertising-good-will trips it has this section of the country's lot to receive.

For on that date, that day of days, August 14, and Friday, Coryell County and Gatesville literally go on parade before the eyes of the world, on no other day than "Coryell County-Gatesville Day" at the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas.

Tentative plans are for a Coryell County-Gatesville, Centennial Cavalcade, or Motorcade, composed of cars, trucks, buses, decorated with banners streaming and screaming banners, following to the World, and people between here and Dallas, the part Coryell County and Gatesville play in this thing we call civilization.

Sound trucks will tell the story. Bands will play. Stops will be made in every town between here and Dallas. Everyone will be tagged with an appropriate badge. The county will move to Dallas on this occasion.

Lytel Powell, internationally known pianist, and Murray Kendrick, nationally known tenor, will go on a national hookup over one of the major systems for Coryell county. The time on the air will be interspersed with other talks, music and features, that will properly sell Coryell County's wares to the world.

Every town, village and settlement will be represented, and are invited and urged to help put this "Cavalcade of the Century" over. Banners will be used on cars, trucks and buses, proclaiming the school, organization, business or what-have-you represented. The idea seems to be to make it County-wide and County-inclusive.

Furthermore the idea, following the columns of the News and in each and every issue until that red letter date in Coryell County history, August 14, new developments, ideas and suggestions will be presented as they materialize.

On to Dallas, Coryell County!

Gulf States New Building In Use At 2:30 Thur. Calls and Business

Yesterday at 2:30 p. m., the "hello" girls, employes of the Gulf States Telephone Company of this city, voices echoed in the halls of the new Gulf States office building at Tenth and Main streets.

Last evening at 9:00, General Manager Oscar Burton, W. W. Bamberg, a number of operators, the Chief Operator and technicians were observing their handiwork at their new headquarters. Miss Betty Lee, faithful night operator, was having her usual evening work-out with the "plugs and lights" on the switchboard. The new plant was in operation.

In conversation with Mr. Burton, he stated the motive for moving away from the business section of the city was for better service, which had at times been interrupted by fires. Now, with the complete modern and fireproof building, his company will not inconvenience patrons with that cause to interrupt service.

Furthermore, Mr. Burton also stated that due to the motorizing of the public in general, officials considered an out-of-the-business district and on the ground floor location better, because it facilitated parking and convenience for the patrons in attending to business with the company.

At an early date the company will hold "open house" and the public will be invited to see the finished job. Until such time, all the business of the company will be handled at the new location, according to Mr. Burton.

LIST OF JURORS FOR OTHER WEEKS OF DISTRICT COURT; JUDGE'S CHARGE

July term of District Court convened Monday morning with the empanelling of the Grand Jury and the following men compose this body: F. A. Morris Jr., J. M. Manning, Leslie Thompson, Levi Aldrich, Charlie Barkley, Henry Hudson, B. W. West, J. H. Brown, Frank Blair, Charlie Maynard, Jeff Ritchie, and Geo. I. Johnson, the latter being named foreman.

In his charge to the Grand Jury, Judge R. B. Cross commented on the favorable conditions in the county as to the absence of major violations of the law, particularly to the fact that there are no murder cases.

Judge Cross expressed his faith in the Grand Jury system of the country, and said that he never read of a more satisfactory method by which to investigate the commission of crime and to secure punishment of the same than the grand jury system. He commented on the completeness of the oath which they had taken as Grand Jurors as a gentle guide in the performance of their duties and as a guide in daily living.

Further comments were on the fact that the United States, greatest of nations should be known as one in which crime is most prevalent, but stated that Coryell County, not being near the center of population, is not so affected.

The Grand Jury was given in charge the entire penal code of the State, with the request to

WORLD COMMENT

By JOE BURNS

The signing of an Italo-Austro-German accord and other events of the last few weeks point to a new alignment among the European powers on the outlines of the old Triple Alliance and Triple Entente of pre-war days.

To all outward appearances, the main point of dissension between Europe's two great Fascist states—Italy and Germany—was disposed of when an agreement was reached as to Austria. For four years one of the main objectives of German Nazism was the incorporation of Austria into the Reich, but the opposition of Italy's Duce obviated any such possibility. By the new agreement Germany recognized the territorial integrity of the Austrian federal state and Germany and Austria pledged abstinence from interference in one another's internal affairs.

Italy and Germany are now, to all intents and purposes, prepared to work together while maintaining Austria as a buffer state between them. Thus is made a combination or alliance if you wish to call it so that extends from the North Sea and the Baltic to the Adriatic, rivaling in military strength and diplomatic prestige the old Triple Alliance of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

On the other side, a revival of the Triple Entente is almost inevitable. With Germany's Kaiser on the rampage, Britain, France and Russia—with many conflicting interests—banded together in mutual self-defense and thwarted the world-empire aims of the Hohenzollerns and Hapsburgs. Today, with Hitler determined to remake the map of Europe, necessity again points to an alliance between these three powers.

Germany and Austria-Hungary were drawn together by racial brotherhood, Italy, badly in need of diplomatic strengthening, was drawn into the alliance only by such a need and in spite of the fact that Austria was its age-old enemy. The weakness of this alliance was demonstrated by Italy's refusal to enter the 1914 conflict on the side of the allies by her entrance on the side of the Triple Entente powers in 1916. But Italian "Irredenta" is no longer a source of dispute between the Latin and German speaking nations of Central Europe and aside from the personal jealousy between Hitler and Mussolini, Italy and Germany have no quarrels and should be able to work together for their mutual benefit.

Italy turns to Germany rather unwillingly. The basis of Italian policy since the ascendancy of Mussolini in 1922 has been the cultivation of friendship with the French. Italy's desire for colonial expansion in northern Africa—traditional sphere of French control—prevented amicable relations between the two nations for years until the late Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, settled most points of dispute with Mussolini.

Scarcely had the Stresa front been formed against Germany, to which Italy was a party with Britain and France, than Italy began its conquest of Ethiopia and found France supporting Britain's demand for sanctions against the Fascist nation. Came the threat of war between Britain and Italy—and France sided with Britain.

Germany needs friends—and seeks Italy as an ally to counterbalance the Franco-Russian entente. In the event of war between Germany and France, Italy could threaten the southern border of France and force that nation to keep several army corps there for protection which otherwise would be available for use on the northern frontier.

Recent triumphs of German diplomacy have turned Hitler's head to the extent that he is willing to flout the British—the fatal mistake Kaiser Wilhelm made when he challenged Britain's supremacy of the seas. The collapse of the League of Nations following its attempt to punish Italy as an aggressor, French internal troubles, and the success of the Rhineland venture have given Hitler a decided Hohenzollern complex.

The refortification of Heligoland, demilitarized by the Versailles treaty, is proceeding at a rapid pace in spite of pro-

WOMAN BUILDS FLAGSTONE WALK AT HOME

Eldorado.—An attractive flagstone walk has been built by Mrs. S. D. Harper, cooperator in the Cliff home demonstration club, according to a report of Lorena Farnsworth, Schleicher county home demonstration agent.

"The walk, leading from the front steps to the front gate, is about three feet wide, and is made of large flat rocks. Soil was dug out deep enough so that the rocks could be placed even with surface if the lawn. Care was taken to have the sides of the rocks even and parallel.

"Burmuda grass is being cultivated in the walk between the rocks and will be mowed along with the rest of the lawn," the home demonstration agent's report reads.

Danzig is prodminately German—and expects reunion with the Fatherland in the Fall.

What next with Hitler Britain and France wonder. This mutual wonderment by both powers provoked the utterance in Paris of Alfred Duff Cooper, British Secretary of War, that the base for British and French security was identical. Does this security lie in a common front against Germany?

The internal difficulties in France have occasioned much fear in Soviet Russia, which counts heavily upon French support should Germany launch its long heralded "march to the East." Premier Leon Blum's Popular Front government in France is given only until fall until it must resign for lack of support in the Chamber. The recent series of Strikes in the republic have fallen like a heavy hand on the economic rehabilitation plans of Blum and the conflict between Communists and Fascists threatens to render the nation impotent as a military and diplomatic factor in Europe.

Russia fears no imminent attack in the East by Japan, although the Nipponese are known to be laying the groundwork for an attack on the U. S. S. R. in the not too distant future. But the plans of Germany, with strikes with the sudden swiftness of a python, cause the Moscow officialdom unending worry and anxiety.

SAILOR, AHOY! JUST WHO CAN MAKE LONG SPLICE HOSPITAL ASKS

Splicing, an art of the seafarer, came into importance last week during the installation of an elevator in the new Milton Powell Memorial Hospital. Drs. Kermit R. Jones and Dean B. Jones, who will open this hospital soon, needed some one to make a "long splice" in the rope which was to pull the elevator in the hospital. Being nearly 300 miles from the open sea, old salts were scarce. One was called, had never made one, another called and he stuck a needle in his hand, another tried to finish his half-completed job and as a result the job, tho completed, would shame one of the "iron men who used to sail on wooden ships", and looked more like a job from one of the "wooden men who now sail on iron ships". However, the job was finally completed, and now the elevator goes up an down like a heaving ship in a heavy swell. —Poage's Qualified!

THE IRON HORSE

By Bellmay Belcor

Praise! O, praise! The great iron horse

That drives upon two rails And feeds upon the hard black coal

Or oil of cheaper sale.

And he who drives this giant steed

Is very, very fond, indeed He pats his sleek broad back, And glories in his speed,

But not all his pride is in his speed,

For he fondly smiles as he feels
His hand upon the throttle,
While his eyes 're upon the steel.

He thinks of the many millions
There are to clothe and feed,
And it is he who carries them
Their clothes and every need.

And he knows that o'er the iron rails
He has swiftly brought relief
To may a poor and bleeding heart,
And many sufferings, chief.

He thinks of the mother that clasped

The letter to her heart and said
"It's from my precious boy,
I'm so glad to know he's well!"

"It came on this morning's train
And now only a few hours
And I am sending one to him—
God bless the wheels that bring me word from him!"

And then a missive they brought one morn,
And that eve they carried her away.

For the missive read like this:

"Mother, I'm sick, won't you come today?"

And every time the wheel would turn

She said she whispered to herself

"I never realized before
How great the railway is!"

For when she clasped him in her arms

She told it all and said, "My boy I am convinced,

I freely give you the railway,
For it is just as you have said:

A respond to many a call for bread;

A relief to many an ache and pain;

The uphill grade to the Nation's goal,

And the answer to many a prayer just like you said."

railways, I wrote this poem a number of years ago. I have always held open defense for the railway and have said, "Not to defend the railways is like unto condemning one's mother." They have made our country and are yet the dependable method of travel—Author.

Firemen Win Grudge Game, Money from Doc's

Regardless of what you or anyone else thinks, you will have a heck of a time convincing the Firemen that the best team won the first half softball title, for the smoke-eaters walloped Doc's Sandwich Shop in two straight games, winning the grudge as well as the money.

Monday night with the hash-slingers playing like a bunch of old women, both at the bat and afield, the Firemen slammed the ball with abandon to win 7-1. Doc's crew couldn't solve the slow teasers of Doc Ray, at bat, and couldn't catch a bad cold in the field.

Wednesday night the game somewhat better played and won in the last inning with the final tally being 5-2, with the Firemen in the van.

In the first inning the winners scored an unearned run and this looked sufficient as the game went into the sixth inning with the losers trailing 1-0. But in the sixth, with the help of an error, Doc's went into the lead 2-1. This was short lived, however, as the Firemen came back in their part of the last frame and after two were out scored four runs on three hits, a base on balls and an error. Doc's attempt at the bat in their half of the inning was futile, ending the ball game, and the Firemen's argument as to who which the better team. However, the Sandwich team does not share the same opinion.

LOCALS BEAT SUNDAY SCHOOL CREW OF WACO 3-1

Tuesday night Doc's Sandwich Shop beat the Calvary Baptist softball team of Waco with a score of 3-1. The game was witnessed by a good sized crowd who witnessed one of the best games of the season.

Although the small ball was used, the locals handled it as though they had been playing with it the entire season.

All the runs were produced in the initial inning. Beatty and Cooper, the first two visitors up, went out but Ferguson drew a base on ball. Pyles then hit a fly to the outfield which Vaiden missed, allowing Ferguson to score. King then made the last out.

The locals then took their first time at bat and quickly went to work on Wright, the opposing pitcher. Rogers, first up, drew a free ticket to first, which was followed by a hit by Baker. Jack Wiggins then poled out a triple to score Rogers and Baker. J. L. Wiggins duplicated his brother's feat by blasting out a triple only to be thrown out at the plate, trying to stretch it into a home-run. This blow scored Jack Wiggins, with the game's final tally. After J. L. Wiggins hit, Jones walked and Busby and Morgan got infield hits to fill the sacks with one away, but failed to score further when Wilson forced Jones at the plate and Vaiden struck out.

After the first inning uprising, the locals never threatened again, getting only two more hits, both by Jones, while the visitors were continually in scoring positions, mostly thru the wildness of Sasse who was working in the box for the locals. In every inning the visitors got the first man up safely to first, by either a hit or a walk, only to see their attack bag down. In the fourth and sixth innings, Waco rallies were killed when Jones, on nice pegs to Busby, threw runners out trying to steal third. In the last inning the Baptists had the bags loaded and one out when Busby purposely dropped Pyles line drive down the third base line then stepped on the base to force the runner from second and relayed to Jones who completed the double play by tagging the runner from third.

The losers gathered five hits and drew eight bases on balls while the locals picked up seven hits and walked twice.

Soft ball

The second half starts Monday with four teams, namely, Doc's Sandwich Shop, the Merchants, Firemen, and the CCC Camp. The second half will close August 27, with the winner to play Doc's team, which was winner of the first half, for the full season title.

Monday's Schedule:
First Game: CCC vs. Doc's.
Second game: Firemen vs. Merchants.

First game: Doc's vs. Firemen.

Look Toward Your Future

There is an Ideal of a home in the mind of everybody and the sooner the efforts are directed in this direction the earlier this Ideal is made reality, and satisfaction is the reward.

Some want a large, spacious home, some want a small systematically, well arranged home, some want a convenient home, and some want a pretty home. Sometimes most of these features can be very well combined and the cost is no more. House planning is the big end of our business and the service is free for the asking.

Prices on building materials have been at the bottom for several years and you can't find a better time than now to build.

MORRIS ROBERTS GIVEN A FAVORABLE BOOST IN "THE STATE WEEK"

From the State Week, independent newsweekly of Texas, published at Austin, Morris Roberts, son-in-law of L. B. (Boone) Gordon, has this to say about "Senator" Roberts, written by one of the columnists: "Campaigning: Already they are calling Morris Roberts 'Senator.' The young member of the House is unopposed as a candidate to replace Senator Blackett, and is he having fun campaigning. 'You have to campaign,' he explained, regardless of whether you have opposition or not. But there's this essential difference. 'When I talk to people at picnics and places and ask them if they're going to vote for me, and they say 'no' well it doesn't hurt my feelings at all.' Morris, a visitor to the Governor's office, was booked as a prospect for governor one of these days. The booming was done by one of his constituents whom Morris had just met this year, and that's speaking well for the lad if he can win friends that quickly."

This clipping was sent to Mr. Gordon by President Irvin McCreary of the Farmers State Bank of Temple, and formerly an officer of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Company here. Mr. Creary writes: "You can tell him that I pledge what little influence and vote I may have to him right now. Morris is certainly a fine fellow and is destined to go a long way."

Mrs. Claude Turner's dramatic class staged a play entitled "The Mystery of the Masked Girl," which furnished the entertainment for the evening. Delegates from Stephenville, Hamilton and several other towns in the district were present.

FOR WEST TEXAS TOWN

Sweetwater, July 16.—The second annual Water Carnival, to be presented here July 16-17 will offer an unusual experience for Centennial year visitors. Contrary to the opinion of most persons there are parts of West Texas that have no indication of aridness and one of them is the city of Sweetwater with its modern swimming pool and large Lake Sweetwater. The Centennial Water carnival will be held at the pool and at the lake.

Feature events on July 16, opening day, will include preliminaries in the swimming and diving contests, tennis and roque tournaments, and the selection of "Miss Sweetwater." Finals in the various events will be held the following day which will have as its featured evening event the brilliant Queen's ball.

Marvin E. Fletcher—

kind, courteous treatment, and the joyous gatherings I have been privileged to attend thru your invitations, I sincerely solicit your vote on the 25th day of July.

Respectfully yours,
Marvin E. Fletcher,
(Political Adv.)

C. E. Alvis, Jr.—

will recall that at that time Judge Robert Brown had resigned the office of County Judge and Mr. Ziegler was appointed to fill out his term.

Having served you as your County Attorney for the past eleven months—not quite half of a term, and having become familiar with the duties of that office, I respectfully submit to you, the voters of Coryell County, my candidacy for County Attorney and ask you to give me the opportunity to serve you a full term in that office.

C. E. Alvis, Jr.
