The County Meet is finally over! Praise be to Allah, and hallelujah sister! Now there are eleven months and three weeks to rest before we are troubled with it again.

Meet officials have all taken a deep breath and relaxed. The annual hair-pulling, nerve-shattering period has finally been completed, with the usual County Meet weather running true to form. Saturday saw the completion of the track and field events after they had been postponed a week due to the adverse weather conditions.

Perhaps there will be no district winners to come out of this gathering, but here will be quite a few excellent events, with the competitive spirit running high and each being hotly contested.

Perhaps the most thrilling (la-de-dah, even these hardened old arteries ran freely during the tension of the moment) was the mile race. A bunched field for three gruelling laps, and then two leaders fighting it out in a mad spurring finish brought all eleven spectators to their feet cheering wildly.

Robert Mack, of Gatesville High took off the blue ribbon in the mile event, but only bare inches in front of Adams, of Copperas Cove. For three laps around the quarter mile track the contestants were bunched, with no particular favorite to pull ahead. Then, at the bell corner, Mack and Adams began stepping out. Harder, harder, harder, they pounded on the rough dirt track. Down the home stretch they burs, muscles straining, hearts pounding, feet flying. (This was the moment that all eleven spectators rose to their feet wildly cheering.) In the last five yards, in dramatic fashion, Mack began to pull up faster, faster, faster and broke the tape with only bare inches to spare in front of Adams. On the exact number of inches the eleven spectators were divided. Some said three inches, some five, and one hard-headed radical went so far as thirteen inches. However, the time was important. The stop watch said 5 minutes and 46 seconds, which is fairly good time for the erratic condition of the track.

Another good race, though not so spine-tingling, was the 440. After the starting pistol had snapped some thirteen times without exploding, the field was started at the clap of the starter's hands. Off at a speedy pace they went. Immediately a light-stepping rangy lad took the lead. Passing the first corner he took a ten yard lead. On the back stretch he added another ten yards, and on the third corner he added another ten yards, and on the home stretch he turned and took back, then trotted in across the finish line. His name was Petty, of Pearl High School, and he ran the lap in 54 seconds, about four of which could have been clipped off if anyone had threatened his lead. Storch, of Copperas Cove, came in second, with Fore of Gatesville third.

In the high hurdles event Zack Fore, of Gatesville, took first place with a time of 19.8 seconds. Baker and Malone, both of Gatesville took second and third places.

Upton, of Pearl, took off first honors in the low hurdles event, with Brown and Baker of Gatesville coming in second and third.

Gilbreth, of G.H.S., heaved the platter 106 feet in the discus throw to win a blue ribbon. Roberson of Copperas Cove, took second place with a throw of 95 feet, and Fore of Gatesville won third with and 89 foot heave.

Storch of Copperas Cove, sailed through the air for 19 feet, 11 and 3-4 inches to easily outdistance other contestants in the broad jump. Upton of Pearl, took second and Fore, of Gatesville, placed Third.

One other event held the public eye enough to draw a spectacular crowd. Sixteen wild-eyed high jump enthusiasts gathered around the jumping pit to watch the junior boys sail over the cross bar. From all corners of the county they came, some in fancy and multi-hued trunks and shod with spiked shoes, some in old, faded basketball pants, and some who nonchalantly kicked off their shoes at the side of the pit and rolled up their over-all legs preparatory to jumping.

After many a thud and groan when bodies met ground, the field finally narrowed down to three contestants. Finally the three, Fabion, of Copperas Cove, reached his limit and failed to cross the bar on his third trial. Only Arnett, a tall lanky boy from Pearl, and Turner, from Gatesville were left. Up they soared, up, up, up, and up. All sixteen spectators had all their sixteen mouths respectively open. Sixteen gasps were gasps and sixteen hearts went up into sixteen throats. As the cross bar was repeatedly raised the crowd repeatedly went wild. The tension of the moment become nerve-racking. Who will be the first to fail, was the only thought of the crowd.

At last the inevitable happened. When the bar had been raised to the unbelievable height of 5 feet, 2 inches, Turner finally faltered. As one, fifteen mouths closed, (one small child had adenoids and couldn't close his) and sixteen sighs of relief escaped to the heavens. The contest was over!

With a nonchalant gesture, Arnett motioned to the bar and shouted for it to be raised a couple of inches. And in one graceful bound he cleared it!

It was too much. The ultimate had been reached. As far as I was concerned the Meet was over. As I wearily wended my way up the rock-trewn path I turned over in my mind and idle thought, "How nice it would be to live in Australia, for there I'm sure, they don't have County Mitz."

IN MEMORY OF MISS JESSIE DRISCOLL RUBARTH

By J. L. Holcomb

Miss Jessie Driscoll Rubarth was born December 7, 1879. She was the daughter of Lee and Victoria Rubarth. After several years of patient suffering she passed to her heavenly reward March 16, 1937. The funeral service was conducted at the family residence by Rev. J. L. Holcomb, pastor of the Capitol Heights Baptist Church, Austin, Texas. She is survived by one brother Dave Rubarth and two sisters, Miss Lillian Rubarth and Mrs. E. W. McMordie all of Gatesville, and several nieces and nephews.

Miss Jessie professed faith in Christ at the age of twenty-four and later united with a Baptist Church.

To know this unusual personality was to love her. She had one purpose in life—to be helpful and kindly to those with whom she came in contact. This was particularly evident to those who knew her most intimately. She was especially fond of children and young people and was greatly loved by them. She sought always to make them happy and to instill into their lives the highest virtues and principles that would make them useful and successful in life.

Although a great sufferer for more than twenty years she was patient, sweet, and uncomplaining. She never lost faith in life. With an unwavering faith in the future she was content to live in the present.

Miss Jessie was a great lover of the Bible which she read constantly. Many times she read it through. Even in her last days, as she hovered on the border land, she read her most loved and treasured book. To the sorrowing friends and loved ones we would say, emulate her example, for even though dead, yet she speaketh.

Hub of the Lone Star

Chapter 6

Belton (first called Nolanville, for Nolan river) became the county seat with the organization of Bell county, and is one of the most beautifully located in the state with its cedar hills in the background and the riverside park in the heart of the town. It had one of the early cotton mills of Texas and is the home of Hardin-Baylor college. A few miles to the west is Salado, where a college was established in this section of the State until rival towns sprang up along the railroads to rob it of its prestige. Here the first Grange was organized in Texas in 1872, and the first co-operative store was established under the auspices of Grange no. 1. Numerous mills were turned by Salado creek in the olden days. Dr. Dientz reminds us that some careless map-maker transposed the names of the Lampasas (water lily) and the Salado (salty) so that the latter, whose water is sweet is now misnamed and the former whose mineral waters make its namesake town famous as a health resort should be the Salado. Likewise the Brazos was first called "Colorada" (red) by the Spanish on account of its ruddy waters. Marlin achieved new fame when the waters from a hot mineral well were discovered to have unusual healing power, and though it remains the service point for a rich agricultural district, its hotels and sanitariums entertain 80,000 health seekers every year, all of which makes a market for a great deal of garden, orchard, poultry and dairy products from the neighboring farmers. Temple, with its railroad shops and hospitals, also makes heavy demands for food products of high quality, and "smart" farmers are cultivating this select market. Flour milling, which once made Chilton famous, has had a rebirth here, and the superior quality wheat of Bosque and adjoining counties, which laid the foundations for one of the greatest milling fortunes in Texas, is coming back into its own. The new industry gives work to many men and creates a large market for other food products besides wheat. Everywhere we turn we find the towns becoming two-way service stations for their farm territory-buyers as well as sellers—and those towns which supply a buying market for everything from the farm are the towns which sell most goods from their shelves. A survey recently conducted by Farm and Ranch representatives showed that merchants in the region we have been describing carry stocks of high quality goods in every line. Seldom is it necessary for customers to drive miles away from their local trading point to secure the goods of their choice, and all the better brands which are advertised in reliable publications are found in one or more stores somewhere within a few minutes drive of every resident of the area. Wholesale houses at Waco, Temple and elsewhere the cover the territory thoroughly and quickly with manufactured goods, and country produce meets a wider market through the ramification of motor transportation on which has followed the improvement of roads. Trench silos are numerous, mill feeds for poultry and livestock are manufactured at several places in the region, soil conservation by terracing and crop rotation is sweeping forward; more feed crops produced as a result of the conservation program indicates an increase in dairying and meat production in order to market the feeds, meaning new sources of income for farmers, and in turn for the business interests which serve them. Central Texas has passed down the curve of exploitation and ne crop economy, and her future is grighter than it has been at any time since the World War.

CHOCOLATE-FOOD OF THE GODS

By BETTY BARCLAY

A fanciful description you think? But it's the literal translation of the name given by a great naturalist to the cacao tree, which produces chocolate beans.

What a help to you homemakers of modern cooking chocolate is—with each one-ounce square neatly divided for instant use! And what a gay deceiver is that rich, smooth chocolate flavor with its power to hide, gracefully, the economies of simple dishes and transform them into apparent extravagances!

Here are some familiar favorites over which chocolate weaves its magic spell—to the joy of any family:

Chocolate Macaroons

3 egg whites
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 1/2 cups shredded coconut
Beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add salt and vanilla. Fold in chocolate; then coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool 5 minutes before removing from paper. Makes 2 dozen 1 1/2 inch macaroons.

Chocolate Dessert Waffles

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup melted butter
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg yolks and milk; add to flour mixture, beating until smooth. Combine butter and chocolate; add to batter and blend. Add vanilla. Fold in egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve hot with whipped cream, orange marmalade, or orange sauce. Makes four 4-section waffles.

Chocolate Upside Down Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup softened butter or other shortening
1 egg, well beaten
6 tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted

8 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup sugar
4 slices canned pineapple, cut in wedges or 1 cup grated pineapple

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk, and vanilla; add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened. Add chocolate and blend; then beat vigorously 1 minute.

Melt 3 tablespoons butter in 8x8x2-inch pan over low flame; add sugar and cook and stir until thoroughly mixed. On this arrange wedges of pineapple, or cover mixture with grated pineapple. Turn batter out on contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Turn upside down on dish with pineapple on top. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Serve warm.

Chocolate Pineapple Upside Down Cake may be made with 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, instead of 1/2 cup white sugar, in butter-sugar mixture in pan.

Soaps Help House Cleaning

Brush and mops and dust cloth and vacuum cleaners will take off the thick of the winter's grime when house cleaning time comes around, but the housewife who wants her home spic, span and spotless will add the final polish with soap.

The modern housewife, moreover, is a good judge of surfaces—she knows that different sorts of surfaces demand different sorts of soap. Woodwork and walls need one kind, floors another.

She washes woodwork and other painted surfaces, for example, with lukewarm suds, being careful to use only a pure, mild soap, like Ivory, because stronger soaps tend to scratch the paint or even take it off along with the dirt. A cloth or sponge wrung out of the lukewarm suds will remove dust and surface dirt, but for stubborn, badly soiled spots it is a good idea to rub the cloth over a bar of soap before applying. This puts concentrated soap right where it's needed most. A clear water rinse, with a separate cloth or sponge, leaves the woodwork cleansed and shining. For walls, which may be dirtier, a second rinse with light suds is a good idea before the clear water rinse.

For bathroom floors, porcelain fixtures, and similar surfaces, an abrasive soap, such as Lava, is in order. This gets into the cracks and crannies with the maximum of efficiency, softening the encrusted dirt without scratching the smooth surface.

SALMON TREAT

JUST how are you going to prepare that canned salmon that you are buying or that you bought during National Salmon Week—February 28 to March 7? Salmon is too fine a fish not to pay special attention to the way you cook and serve it. Decorative and delicious, it is worth the extra trouble. So here are some timely recipes for serving that succulent fish.

A Large Recipe

Molded Salmon: Soak four tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup cold water for five minutes. Mix together in the top of a double boiler four teaspoons salt, four teaspoons mustard, a few grains cayenne, two tablespoons flour and two tablespoons sugar. Add eight egg yolks and mix well. Add slowly six tablespoons butter, three cups milk and three-fourths cup vinegar. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. When about to set, add the contents, broken in pieces, of four 1-pound cans salmon. Pour into large wet fish-shaped mold, or into individual molds, and let harden in a cold place. Serves twenty-four or twenty-five.

A Small Recipe

This is the same recipe, made by the same method as that above, but the ingredients are changed to one tablespoon gelatin, two tablespoons cold water, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mustard, a few grains cayenne, two egg yolks, one and a half tablespoons butter, three-fourths cup milk, three tablespoons vinegar and the contents of one 1-pound can salmon. This smaller recipe serves six.

The flour added to the larger larger quantity hold its shape nicely when unmolded. The sugar in the larger recipe may be omitted, if desired. A small amount of sugar may be added to the small recipe. The slight effect on the finished flavor is not sufficient to make its omission noticeable.

CORN Contributes

To Many Dishes

HOT stewed corn is such a good dish all by itself that some housewives continue to serve it year after year, and fail to realize that corn can be combined with many other ingredients in dishes that add desirable variety to the menu and taste equally good. Try it, as an ingredient, in one of the following dishes and you'll soon find yourself inventing other combinations.

Corn and Rice Fritters: Beat four egg yolks well and add one cup creamy canned corn and one-half cup boiled rice. Add one-fourth cup milk and then one and two-thirds cups flour, one teaspoon salt and two teaspoons baking powder sifted together. Fold in four stiffly-beaten egg whites. Drop by spoonfuls into hot deep fat—375 degrees—and fry until a rich brown. Serve at once with maple syrup. Makes about two dozen fritters.

This Tastes Like More

Baked Spaghetti with Corn and Lima Beans: Combine four cups cooked spaghetti with one cup canned creamy corn and one cup canned lima beans. Add two cups milk to three slightly-beaten eggs, add one and a half teaspoons salt and one-fourth cup chopped parsley, and pour over. Sprinkle with one-fourth cup grated cheese and bake about thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Serves eight.

O stands for Olives
The tasty first bite
Your guests will insist on
When dining tonight.

BY BETTY BARCLAY

Tonight, or any other night, the olive is anticipated by dinner guests. Globes of green, and crisp celery on chopped ice should greet the guests as they sit down. This is expected.

Few shelves in the grocery are as attractive as those containing rows of small and large glass bottles—clearly showing the size and type of olive they contain. The glass bottle is traditional for olives because, appetizing as they are, they must be kept in tip-top condition until they reach your table. Some modern jars are accompanied by a small wooden fork which assists the serving of the olives.

But don't be content with that plain dish of olives and celery. Here are two recipes that will increase your olive appreciation:

Spanish Sandwiches

Butter lightly thin slices of bread and remove crusts. Spread half the slices with finely chopped stuffed green olives moistened with mayonnaise, the other half with cream cheese mixed to a paste with a little cream and two tablespoons of finely chopped walnut meats. Place the bread slices together in pairs, an olive spread slice on a walnut spread slice. Press lightly and cut in fingers.

Green Olive Squares

Butter thin squares of brown bread and sprinkle very lightly with salt and pepper. Stone eight olives and chop them with two stalks celery, one small cucumber pickle, a teaspoonful of catsup, a small spoonful of salt, a pinch of pepper and a very little mustard. Mix well, spread on the brown bread, cover with another slice of buttered bread and pile in a square.

THERE'S NOT ENOUGH WEEKS

This week, April 5 to 11, has been already designated as State and City Clean-Up Week and, now, the National Association of Retail Grocers also claim this week.

For at least 750 years of definitely recorded history—and probably for a much longer period—grocers have not only been prominently and influentially identified with the activities of their own neighborhood or communities but also with the progress and development of business and industry in American and a multitude of motherlands.

No business in the nation perhaps, has a more fascinating and intensely interesting background of service and usefulness than the grocery fraternity. And as far back as 1180 history records the work of men and women in the field now represented by hundreds of thousands of grocery distributors.

In modern times, the grocers, as purveyors of foods to millions of families, their responsibilities involve the dispensing of not only convenient and economical commodities, but products that actually contribute greatly to the happiness and health of American people.

With this background of over seven and a half centuries of useful service, the grocer today has a fraternal heritage of which he may be generously proud.

Sheep and Goat Association Urges Branding

In cooperation with Sheriff Joe White, Coryell County Sheep and Goat Association in session Saturday morning, March 27th, worked on plans to get sheep and goats of the county branded and these brands properly recorded in an effort to thwart stealing.

Sheep and goats can be properly branded on the face and jaw with a small fire brand or acid brand. Law enforcing body are at a considerable disadvantage when attempting to recover stolen sheep and goats unless the animals are branded and the brands are on record. By using a face brand it is much harder to destroy identification, whereas with ear notches and marks changes can be made and identification lost.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a woman at the grocery store giving the grocer a piece of her mind.

"See here," she says, "now I spoiled my dress on the paint on your door!"
"Oh, I'm sorry," says the grocer, "but I had a big sign there that said Fresh Paint. I reckon you didn't see it?"
"Sure I saw it. I been seeing a sign here that says Fresh Eggs for the past three years, too, but I never seen any truth in it. How can a lady believe what the signs say in a joint like this?"

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

F. D. R.'S
"CROWN PRINCES"

Because of the personal nature of the second Roosevelt's administration, much speculation is rife as to possible successors of the Democratic Party's second president of the century. For it has been long apparent that should anything happen to President Roosevelt, the New Deal would collapse of its own complexity and of the internal party opposition to its principles.

Washingtonians tacitly admit that while John Garner may go down the line on Capitol Hill for his Chief's pet measures, he would scarcely continue half of the New Deal should he suddenly ascend to the presidency.

The result is that currently much attention is being focused upon several Roosevelt lieutenants, each of whom is a potential "crown prince" for 1940. They are men who have assertedly mastered the "complexities" of the New Deal program and would be capable of administering and continuing it. They have endorsed the President's policies one hundred per cent, both publicly and privately.

This is, of course, an early date to be speculating on possible successors to President Roosevelt, with his second term scarcely underway, but it is not at all improbable that one of the personalities we shall herein discuss may be the Democratic standard-bearer for 1940.

On the basis of current news value and importance in the national political scene, six Democratic office holders may bear your attention in the months and probably years to come.

The best known, but not necessarily the most politically potent, is JAMES ALOYSIUS FARLEY, Postmaster General and Democratic National Chairman.

"Jovial Jim" has just completed a tour of key Texas cities, ostensibly to dedicate federal buildings at Waco and elsewhere, but primarily to transact some political crusading for boss F. D. R.

Some of the principal opposition to the President's court plan is coming from Texans, including junior Senator Connally, and other prominent members of the congressional delegation. Hatton W. Summers of Dallas, chairman of the house judiciary committee, while making no public commitments, is privately understood by friends to oppose "The Plan," as Time terms the court proposal. The Postmaster General in Texas, lost no opportunity to denounce opponents of "The Plan," while delivering some vigorous blows in its defense.

The political history of Jim Farley will not be detailed, as it has been rather extensively covered in the press and is undoubtedly familiar to the reader, other than to say that he is as close to the President as any other public official, and that he is one of the shrewdest politicians and political organizers

TENANT CO-OPERATOR OF COUNTY TELLS OF TERRACING

Gatesville, Tex.—"Planting of Strip Crops on the contour in the field just above my house has been responsible for the elimination of small gullies and also protected the farmstead from flooding," says Gus Koch, a tenant-cooperator with the Gatesville soil conservation camp. Mr. Koch farms land belonging to C. C. Powell.

"For the past two years I have stripped the field with spring wheat and in the late summer with sorghum and peas. At no time has the water from the field come down through my farm yard, even after very heavy rains," Mr. Koch says. "The close-growing strips spread out and hold the water on the field so it soaks into the ground."

Although Mr. Koch is not farming his own land he says that he can materially profit in his farming operations by conserving soil and moisture, and he feels that he should leave the farm in as good or better condition than it was before he rented it. "There will be generations after me that can profit from soil conservation measures and methods started now. I find also that the land is easier cultivated on the contour rather than up and down hill, which has the method I used before signing a cooperative agreement with the Soil Conservation Service."

NEW PREXY AT TRINITY TO BE INAUGURATED

Waxahachie, Texas, April 5.—Dr. Frank L. Wear will be installed as Trinity University's new president on Founders' Day, Thursday, April 22, according to an announcement of Dr. Floyd Poe of Dallas, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the inauguration.

President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University will be installation speaker at the inaugural ceremonies in Watkins gymnasium at 11 o'clock that morning. This program will be followed by a reception in Drane Hall at 12:15. At one o'clock a luncheon will be served at which all the delegates and official guests of the University will be entertained and at which time representatives of educational and affiliated agencies and boards will extend greetings.

An educational conference will be held at 2:30 in the University chapel with principal addresses followed by brief discussions.

Dr. E. E. Rall, president of North Central College and former president of the Conference of Church-Related Colleges, will speak on "The Place of the Church School in the Field of Higher Education."

Dean Colby D. Hall of Texas Christian University will deliver an address on "Recent Developments in College Curricula."

One total fee for the trip will include all expenses, all arrangements with hotels, restaurants, and transportation lines having been made by college authorities. Credit in art will be given students in the college who take the tour.

This is the second Mexican trip which has been planned by the college. The first, conducted last summer, met with such success that the tour, with certain changes in the itinerary, is being repeated this summer.

America has ever produced. He is said to be aiming at the governorship of New York in 1938 and if he should succeed, would certainly be in the forefront of potential presidential nominees in 1940. I might add that Mr. Farley is a Catholic, and that in 1928 a Democratic governor of New York of the Catholic faith fared miserably before the voters of the nation.

The new high commissioner of Philippine Islands is Indiana's former governor (1933-1937) Paul V. McNUTT. An ardent Roosevelt supporter, an able administrator, and a convincing speaker, McNutt has given notice he will spend but twelve months in Manila. Upon his return he will likely step into the cabinet and after that, friends say, into the presidency.

Almost every news dispatch from the Detroit strike front in the last three months has mentioned or featured the name of FRANK MURPHY, governor of Michigan. Within two months after he took the oath of office Gov. Murphy was hailed as a national hero for his part in settling the General Motors sit-down strike which threw 135,000 men out of work. He is currently figuring prominently in the negotiations attending the Chrysler strike and other labor troubles in his state.

Early in 1936 Murphy was happily esconced as Philippine high commissioner, drawing $20,000 year and entertaining no desire to enter the hectic political scene back home. Before the summer was out he was drafter from Manila by National Chairman Farley to run for the governorship of Michigan to strengthen Roosevelt there. He turned in one of the best political jobs of the year in downing Michigan's Republican incumbent, Frank Fitzgerald, a seasoned campaigner in his own right. Thus did Frank Murphy enter the political arena, and right luckily

No one was bitten, but the whole community was gotten out by the excitement.

GATESVILLEITES ATTEND EASTER SERVICES IN LAWTON, OKLA.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McConaughy and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Compton were among the 35,000 spectators to watch the famed Ester Sunrise Service deep in the Wichita Mountains near Lawton, Oklahoma last Sunday morning.

Like all other spectators they were forced to huddle in blankets and gather around fires built on the mountain because of the near freezing weather. The service began at 3 o'clock in the morning and lasted until sunrise. The scenes portrayed, with a background of soft Easter music rendered by an orchestra and choir, made the setting ideal for the glorious Easter day and the Resurrection thoughts.

Babies today ... buyers tomorrow

More than 2,000,000 babies graduate to a bottle diet of cow's milk every year. Every day nearly 6,000 youngsters enter the ranks of consumers. Will they use dairy products for only a few years, or for a lifetime? That depends upon how good milk seems to them, and how thoroughly it is sold to them. Aided by progressive dairy producers, Borden service and research have developed methods for keeping in the final products all the goodness of the original milk. Every dairy farmer can be proud of his part in this achievement. At the same time, Borden salesmanship has kept before consumers of all ages, the story of the benefits of milk. All of this joint effort has contributed much to making milk and dairy products America's most important foods.

13,000! TEXANS

The Humble Company lists approximately 13,000 Texas men and women on its payrolls. If you could gather all these folks and their families into one place, they would make a city with over 50,000 people. Happily, they don't all live together; they are scattered through the length and breadth of Texas so that the work they do, the money they earn, contributes to the building up of a hundred or more Texas communities. Through them, as through many other activities, the Humble Company, a Texas institution, plays its part in the sound development of our common state.

Words can not express the deep gratitude of our hearts for the beautiful floral offerings, for the cards, telegrams and all other expressions of love and sympathy in the home going of our father. MAN-MADE METHODS HELP FARMERS COMPROMISE WITH NATURE

Farmers who used to plant whole fields to row crops are finding it is better to compromise with nature's methods of erosion control, according to E. E. McAlister, Technician-in-Charge, of the Soil Conservation Service, Camp SCS-26-T, Gatesville, Texas.

Planting bands in close-growing crops across sloping fields between strips of clean-cultivated crops gives nature a chance to protect the land. Strip-crops slow down the run-off from cultivated fields, thus protecting the land from soil washing and also make the fields more drought-resisting by giving the water an opportunity to soak into the soil. Legumes used as strip crops increase soil fertility. When turned under in the spring winter legumes make the land more porous and add life giving humus.

By the proper use of farm crops, cooperators with the Soil Conservation Service are employing plasts with which they are familiar not only to aid nature in carrying out her processes, but also in protecting the fields from erosion.

Man-made methods such as contour cultivation, contour furrows in pastures and terraces where necessary are used in conjunction with nature's vegetative methods control. All of these measures and water conservation are used on the farms of cooperators in the Dublin project area, Mr. H. N. Smith, Project Manager, states.

ALL-SCHOOL NIGHT AT THE HIGH SCHOOL GYM THURS. NITE

Next Thursday night at the gymnasium Gatesville high school will put on an extravaganza of melody and mirth with all four classes of the school participating.

Each class will have a boy's and girl's volley ball team that will fight it out in intra-mural competition for the title of the high school. In addition, there will be the fisticuffing Future Farmers who will push leather in each other's faces for the more bloodthirsty spectators. Set all this to the music of the High School band, gorgeously arrayed in new uniforms, and you have the first All-School Nite at Gatesville high school.

There will be a small admission charge that will go to provide folding chairs for the gym.

World Comment—

for Michigan, too, in view of adroit handling of the labor problems there. Keep your eye on him.

In 1932 Democrats claimed that they won Pennsylvania, but that Republican vote counters robbed them of victory. Whatever merits of this contention, Democrats swept the state in the congressional elections of 1934 and 1936, today and have twenty-seven of the state's thirty-four representatives. Democratic leaders in this startling victory which rocked the nation were JOSEPH H. EARLE, former ambassador to Austria, who won the governorship. Molding a well-oiled machine which rivals in efficiency the national organization of Jim Farley, they routed Republican opposition in 1936 and put their state in the Democratic column for the first time since the Civil War days.

For a senate "freshman" Joe Guffey occupies seats of unprecedented in senate committees and in administration circles. The latchstring of the White House is always out to George Earle. So don't forget these two.

In charge of the administration's farm policies since the bleak days of 1933 has been Henry A. WALLACE, one of President Roosevelt's favorite cabinet members. As secretary of Agriculture, he is better known in agriculture circles today than any other public official. Not a politician, possessing no political machine such as those of Messrs. Farley, McNutt, Murphy, Guffey and Earle, Wallace is nevertheless a potent figure in the national scene today and may well be watched in relation to the convention and election of 1940.
