PASTURE TOUR WELL ATTENDED

Pounds of meat, wool or mohair per acre is the only value which can be placed on a pasture, was the fundamental trend which was ever before those who made the pasture tour on Tuesday, October, 5th, which was sponsored jointly by the local county agent's office and the extension service, College Station, Texas. Those from College Station who aided in the tour and discussions were R. R. Lancaster, Pasture Specialist, M. R. Bentley, Agricultural Engineer, and A. L. Smith, Beef Cattle Specialist, now in charge of the range work in the state.

The tour was planned to bring out the fundamental points in maintaining a pasture and the livestock that go with it, or in making a pasture and then maintaining it.

More than 65 different people were at various times associated with the tour and its features. The group left the county agent's office at 9:15 o'clock. The first stop was at the Foote Ranch near Turnersville where N. Foote discussed the methods of management pursued on that ranch, bringing out that the ranch had been in the family more than 90 years, and it is with much pride that the present generation feels toward the property. The first fence was built on the ranch in 1882. Pastures are so divided and the number of livestock kept on hand is such that sufficient grass is available for the stock at the lowest time of the year, rather than at the best time of the year. By pursuing this method only a few times have the livestock been in distress. At the present time rather the extreme

Gatesville Business Men, Farmers To Attend Agricul. Meet

Secy. Andrew Kendrick of The Gatesville Chamber of Commerce, received a letter from the East Texas Chamber of Commerce this week, stating that they were cooperating with the Taylor Chamber of Commerce in holding a Cotton-Agricultural Meeting to be held in Taylor Texas, on Thursday Oct. 14.

All business men and farmers of Coryell County have a special invitation to attend. There will be many interesting speakers there, who will discuss cotton marketing problems. The main address will be given by Congressman Marvin Jones. He will also preside over hearing on pending farm legislation to be considered when Congress reconvenes.

All farmers from this county who would like to attend this meeting are asked to see County Agent Guy Powell and let him know if you can go. All Gatesville Business men and Chamber Members are urged to see Andrew Kendrick with reference as to how many wish to attend this meeting. Please let them know this week.

The meeting will be held in the S. P. J. S. T. Auditorium one mile east of Taylor. Dinner will be served on the Grounds for $1.35 After the main meeting and dinner, an inspection tour of the Taylor Market has been arranged, as have trips to the Coupland "One Variety Cotton Community" project and also, to farmer owned and operated gins in Granger Community, both of which are near the meeting place.

Those attending this meeting are bound to profit from the things they will hear and see. So lets all go to Taylor Oct. 14. The meeting will open at 10:00 A. M. Let these men know immediately.

WORLD SERIES PROGRAM MAKING BIG HIT

Come on folks, join the crowd at the News Office every day and enjoy the World Series Baseball Party. Game starts at 12:15. Much enthusiasm has been shown during the first two games and the large scoreboard is easily read, giving you every play just as it really happens. The Yanks have won the first two games and it seems that they are going to be hard to stop. Its lots of fun so come on up and enjoy the party to day. A free note book is given to each visitor. The scores for Wednesday and Thursday are as follows: Wed.—Giants, 1 run, 6 hits, 1 error. Yanks, 8 runs, 9 hits 0 errors. Thurs.—Giants, 1 run, 7 hits, 0 errors. Yanks, 8 runs, 12 hits, 0 errors. This program will also be held on Sunday afternoon, so come early for a good view of the board.

Main street. People have been heeding these signals wonderfully and the city of Gatesville appreciates their cooperation. The new light is a very important one, because of the many school children that pass that way three times every day during school days.

Children are urged to stop and wait for the green light at all times.

35 BOYS TO BE ENROLLED IN C. C. C. NEXT WEEK

On Tuesday Oct. 12, thirty-five boys will be enrolled in the C. C. C. Camps from Coryell County. These boys will report at the City Hall around 8:00 on Tuesday morning, to secure proper papers before entering some Camp.

OKLAHOMA NEWSPAPER MAN VISITS NEWS OFFICE

D. S. Smith, a member of the staff of the Tipton Tribune of Tipton, Oklahoma was a visitor in the News office Thursday.

Mr. Smith stated his town was located in the heart of the famous alfalfa belt of Oklahoma, and that things in general were in good shape in that area.

Mr. Smith is visiting his relatives, the Bill Carters of The Killeen Herald.

HIWAY NOTES

No news has been received as yet, in regard to when work will began on highway 7 west from Gatesville. Work is being completed fairly fast on the upper end. The last bucket of concrete was poured Wednesday on the new bridge over in Hamilton county and it is pretty. Sightseers will enjoy seeing the beautiful structure this week end.

JR. HORNETS PLAY KILLEEN TO A 7 TO 7 DRAW

The Gatesville Junior High School football squad motored over to Killeen yesterday afternoon and played the Kangaroos a hot game. Kirkpatrick stared again when he made the one and only score for the local boys. The Killeen boys out played Gatesville in the first half, but the locals went in at the half and really gave the Kangaroos something to think about. There was undoubtedly something in the little talk that Coach Swarsz gave the boys at the midway period. Anderson and Ray Ward were in there tearing those boys apart. Tommy Bishop did well for the Kangaroos, scoring in the second quarter of the game. Their score was made after Kirkpatrick was called off the field by Swarsz. When he went back in the Hornets scored in the final minutes of the game. Duncan carrying the ball he also made the extra point, to tie the score.

THE FUTURE HIGH SCHOOL HORNETS ARE COMING THRU.

PLAY FOR CHILDREN, AGES TWO TO FOUR AT SCHOOL

Play-school, for children, from two to four years of age has been had this week by the Home Economics Class of the local high school, the children arriving at 12:15 each day, and were served lunch prepared by members of the class.

After lunch, there was a thirty-minute rest or nap period followed by active play with various toys, picture and story books, and a sand box with large spoons and containers made by girls of the class.

The children also took walks in the park and played on swings, see-saws, and other equipment there. Pre-school children attending play school were; Tommy Ray Wallace, Robert Earl Meeks, Dewey Meeks, Charles Dickey, Lucretia Howell, Bonnie Ruth Adams, Betty Joyce Braziel, and Fisher Brown.

News From Office of County Supt.

The Coryell County School Board will meet at 10:00 A. M. on Thursday October, 14, 1937. This will be the regular monthly meeting.

All transportation Contracts should be filed in the County Superintendent's office before that date. No salary or expense can be paid bus drivers before Contracts and Monthly expense reports are approved by the County Board.

Teacher's certificates must be filed before Trustees or the County Superintendent can legally sign a Contract, vouchers or other documents that are issued in teaching. County or City Superintendent's or school trustees who violate this act "shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars". It is hoped that conscientious teachers will not call for a violation of the School Law. Teachers are required to have Contracts properly signed and approved. They are also required to have a record of their College work and experience filed with the County Superintendent.

Interscholastic League Application Blanks for membership are in the office and can be had for the asking.

Coryell County Teachers Association will hold its first meeting on October the 30th at the Gatesville High School. This date is the end of the second school month. The Principals may mail their vouchers on Thursday or Friday preceeding this meeting if they desire. The vouchers will be registered and held for the Principal should hand them to the teachers under his supervision. The programs for this meeting will be mailed out.

DISTRICT COURT HANDLES ANOTHER BELATED CASE

District Court again swung in to action this week when O. J. Phillips, et al. were granted an application placing O. J. Phillips, Jr., Ovaldean, Virginia Mae and Bobby Gene in the State Home for Neglected and Dependent Children at Waco, according to advices from the office of District Clerk, Carl McClendon. No other cases were handled, the report said.

Coryell and McLennan counties will be host to all Texas Congressmen and all farmers of Central Texas, in a celebration planned for October, 15, at the Farm Security Project near McGregor, on the old Davis Ranch.

The occasion will be the moving in of farm tenants who are to be come owners of twenty fertile farms, with modern homes, under the Federal Government's forty-year, three percent plan.

Congressman Marvin C. Jones author of the legislation passed at the last session of Congress to aid tenant farmers in buying homesteads, has been invited to make an address explaining the present and future outlook.

Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, and C. M. Evans, Director of the Farm Security Administration in Texas and Oklahoma, have already accepted invitations to speak, and Congressman Poage said that he believes a majority of the Texas Congressmen will be present.

This occasion is of the greatest significance to the entire nation. Congressman Poage said. "It marks the beginning of a program which will without doubt extend over a long period of time, and should not end until this action has been turned to one predominantly land owning, rather than one of tenant farmers as is predominant today" Congressman Poage visited some of the farms Wednesday and talked with some farmers who have been given the opportunity of buying them. "I think that we will be successful in having this work extended in the next few years to aid a much larger number of farmers" he said.

The twenty farms of this project are among comparatively few that have been developed at the present time, and officials of the Farm Security said they expected this project to be a demonstration and proving ground upon which they will base their plans for the larger projects.

The Waco Congressman and several representatives of the Farm Security Administration were guest of the McGregor Rotary Club at noon Wednesday, and afterward met with a committee of McGregor business men to plan next week's celebration. George England, was named chairman of a committee on arrangements and to invite various notables from throughout Texas.

Principal addresses will be at 2 p. m. at the headquarters of the Old J. T. Davis Ranch between McGregor and Oglesby. There is a grove of large shade trees on the place, and the speakers stand will be on the porch of the farm home which has been built there. Congressman Poage will present the keys of the home to Ted Polard, who will buy this place, with 80 acres of land under the new program.

The exact date has not yet been set, waiting for word from Congressman Jones as to which day will be open on his schedule. However, the date will be either Wednesday or Friday, October 13 or 15.

The new municipal airport on Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, only two and a half miles from downtown San Francisco, will be the closest-in all field of any large municipality in the world.

WORLD COMMENT

Joe Burns

The case of Justice Black is closed.

Circumstances obviate any possibility of removing the former Alabama Senator from his post on the Nation's highest tribunal. There is not the slightest possibility of the House of Representatives bringing impeachment charges against Black. Neither is there any inclination on the part of the Senate to further judge Black's fitness to sit on the Supreme Court.

The regretful part of the Black case is that with a bit of frankness on the part of the former Senator and the willingness of the President and the Senate to investigate the qualifications and past history of the court nominee, the present future could have been avoided.

Justice Black served eleven years in the United States Senate. In that body it was regarded as a settled fact that Black had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan. But that fact did not bar him from membership in the Senate, provided the voters of Alabama were willing to be represented by a Klansman.

But the fact that the membership of Black was an acknowledged fact among the membership of the Senate should have made an investigation of the Alabamian imperative at the time of his nomination by President Roosevelt. Instead, in the face of press charges and allegations made on the floor of the Senate by New York's Senator Copeland that Black was ineligible for the appointment, the new deal majority demanded and received the immediate confirmation of Black.

It is believed that Black's connections with the Klan. If he was not, his lieutenants in the Senate should have acquainted him with the fact.

If this was not done, President Roosevelt should have conducted his own investigation of the man he was to nominate to the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter.

Justice Black would have spared himself much criticism and embarrassment at the time of his appointment if he had acknowledged his Klan membership to the Senate and to the President, leaving with President Roosevelt the option of withdrawing the nomination.

There is another aspect of the Black case which should not be closed. That is, that President Roosevelt violated the Constitution when he tendered the Supreme Court appointment to Hugo Black. The President is expressly forbidden to appoint any member of the current Senate or House to hold any office the emoluments of which have been increased by this Congress.

This does not effect Justice Black's right to assume office. But the constitutional provision quoted above prohibits the chief executive from appointing Mr. Black or any other member of the present Congress to the Supreme Court.

As the Dallas Journal points out, the infirmity raised by the constitutional bar is in the appointed power. Mr. Black's mere membership in this Congress removes him from this class of persons from among whom the Constitution gives the President the power to select a nominee to the Supreme Court. Says the Journal: "Mr. Black is in the legal position of Hiram W. Evans, if Mr. Evans were to present himself to the Supreme

John Head's Weds Virginia Crews At Church Sites

The following article, which is the wedding between John Head, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Head of this city, and Virginia Crews, was taken from the Dallas Morning News. Although the groom has never lived here, his parents have been residents at the State Training School for about two years. As the groom's mother was ill, neither attended the wedding.

Mrs. J. H. Head is the sister of Mrs. Leake Ayres.

Mrs. Head, of Childress and Mr. Head, of Odessa were united in marriage at the First Presbyterian Church at Childress Sunday morning by Rev. William Logan, school mate of the couple.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress of white batiste with insets of real lace and a diamond bracelet belonging to a friend. She carried a prayer book that belonged to her great aunt and a handkerchief she bought in Paris several years ago, and saved for this occasion.

The lovely bride was attended by her sister as matron of honor, and two friends were bridesmaids. Rush Crews of Galveston was best man.

Following breakfast for the wedding party the couple left for a short wedding trip. The bride wore a gray wool suit trimmed with caracul for her going away costume. The couple will make their home in Odessa.

The bride is a graduate of Childress High School and attended the Texas State College for Women at Denton two years and graduated from the University of Texas. Mr. Head graduated from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene and took post graduate work at the University of Texas.

Pasture Tour—

is true where approximately 500 head of sheep, 35 cows, 25 calves, and six head of horses are in the most excellent condition of flesh, and grass in the reserve. The above number of animals are being run on 556 acres of grass, supplemented by field grazing. The group observed at this stop very heavy density of native grass, the advantages derived from pastures being adjacent to adjoining fields in checking soil erosion, and one of those rare areas in this section—a meadow of the old original prairie grass, the kind that was here when the older generations settled the country. This particular area being more or less a hobby of Mr. Footes, and is being reserved more or less as a recreation and something to point back to as something that "use to be".

The second stop was at the ranch of C. P. Liljedblad which ranch of C. P. Liljedblad which was brought out at the first stop, in that an excellent native pasture has been so managed that a good density of grass is maintained which will produce very high type of Herford Cattle, as was indicated by the group of two year old heifers which was inspected near the ranch headquarters.

The cow catching device, designed and constructed by Mr. Liljedblad, was closely inspected by the entire group because of its apparent efficiency and practicability. The catching device is situated at the outer end of the crowding chute and by its use cattle can be caught and held for inspection, or what ever is needed.

The third stop was to inspect the site of the trench silo on A. T. Quicksall's farm. Mr. Quicksall brought out that by feeding ensilage last year his milk check was doubled, and that he had filled the trench for the second Time out for lunch at Gatesville, and wished that he had more.

The first stop after lunch was at the native grass meadow of C. M. Brown, on the Killean road. These native meadows are quite a rarity in Texas and some of the younger people have never seen them and can only know of them by hearing of them. From this meadow, of only a few acres, 1250 bales of hay was cut last season.

The last stop was at C. C. Lum Hubbard's farm where 7 years of planned construction effective pasture work has been done. Beginning with a brush pasture of very low value in the 7 years time a pasture of very high carrying capacity has been made under Mr. Hubbard's careful supervision. The pasture is being utilized extensively by cattle, sheep and goats.

The tour was considered most educational by the group of vocational boys who attended, as well as the men. Mr. Lancaster brought out various factors at each stop which are practical to be used under given circumstances. Mr. Bentley discussed those situations which require engineering attention, and especially discussed the use of an electric fence at the last stop, which was at the Hubbard farm. Mr. Smith put his discussion at all times on the proper handling of beef cattle, sheep and goats for the proper utilization of grasses, and bringing out very forcible the results of different demonstrations, which conclusively proved that where the proper number of cows or ewes were run to a given area of land that the calf or lamb crop was increased from 40 to 80 per cent.

State Fire Marshal Urges Clean-Up During Fire Prevention Week

In an open letter from Olin Culberson, State Firemen's and Fire Marshalls' Association of Texas, addressed to Mayors, Fire Marshalls and Fire Chiefs of Texas, urges a clean-up of homes as follows:

The State Firemen's and Fire Marshalls' Association urgently requests that every city governing body, its fire marshal and fire department prepare some sort of a publicity campaign and, if at all possible, a program of some sort, at a given hour, which will interest its citizens in the very important matter of fire prevention.

Now is the time to call to the attention of the citizens of your respective cities the fact that chimneys, flues and fire places should be inspected for any defects prior to their coming into use in the cold weather. Gas explosions due to defective appliances and piping must be forestalled and will be if you will have an inspection made of the piping and appliances in the houses in your city.

A great work can be done and a great assistance extended to all of the citizens of Texas through the efforts of you people who are in this position of accountability to the public if you will insist on and plan an active campaign of publicity for Fire Prevention Week, October Third to Ninth, and more especially if it would be kept up about two or three month intervals during the entire year.

Remember that fire losses in your city have a direct bearing upon the fire insurance premiums to be collected in your city and just in the ratio that such things as the prevention of fires through reminding the public that it should keep its premises cleaned up of all rubbish and litter that it should have inspection made of its piping and heating appliances, and in proportion to the interest that is taken to educate the public and keep them "Fire Prevention Conscious"—just in that ratio will your entire citizenship profit in dollars and cents by reason of enjoying the best rate on fire insurance that will be allowed under the schedules. This has no relation whatever to the greatest good that will come to your citizenship, and in that, through the removal of every possible hazard to the loss of life by fire. This is the most important activity to which our Association and your City can dedicate itself; and while the matter of saving in dollars and cents is appreciable and substantial factor in the lives of all of us, yet the preservation of human life by far out distances all of the money that could possibly be saved to any human being.

Mesdames E. G. Rutherford, C. D. Blackburn, and Mrs. Sullivan visited in Dallas Tuesday

THE NICKLE LOAF

Gone, with a million prehistoric animals, the bussle, the hoop skirt and a million and one relics that have once been necessities of life in this civilization, is the "nickle loaf".

It went locally, just about six weeks after the local bakery "folded up", on account of this self same nickle loaf.

We tried in vain, Tuesday, to buy one of the ill-fated "nickle loaves", but to no avail. Its "bread 10 cents" on your grocery bill from now on.

Of course, the fact is, no one can afford to put out a nickle loaf, unless they are trying to put the skids to someone else. Evidently, they were, and factually, they did.

Thereby, hangs a tale, and that tale is, as we predicted when the bakery closed, 10 to 12 cent bread would be our lot.

The sin is, the bakery was allowed to close its doors.

News From The Grove School

Attendance at the P. T. A. meeting last Friday night was below average, due to the fact that several entertainments were scheduled in the community for that same night. The main feature of the program for the evening were some quartet numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Copeland, Mr. Walls, and Mr. James Evans.

In the business meeting it was decided that the P. T. A. give an ice cream supper Friday night, Oct. 8. Everyone is invited to come. There will be plenty of ice cream, a cake walk, string music and lots of fun.

School attendance is a little better than last week, and a few more weeks and the cotton crop should be gathered, thus allowing some of the pupils who are still out on that reason to attend.

New additions to the school rooms and playground equipment are a chart printer, new flag, and a soft ball and bat.

CONNALLY HOLLINGSWORTH NOW EMPLOYED BY MESSENGER

Connally Hollingsworth, son of Mrs. W. W. Hollingsworth has accepted a position with the Gatesville Messenger & Star Forum in the mechanical department.

Connally said he was acting as "Casting Director" and doing other odd jobs in the back end.

CIRCUS EQUILIBRISTS GO TO NEW LIMIT TO CREATE THRILL

THE REBRAS

When Russell Bros. Circus comes to Gatesville on Wednesday, Oct. 13, a featured act will be presented which invariably causes people to gasp with amazement and ask "What next?"

For in executing this act, the Rebras seem to have established new limits of human possibilities. Incredible as it may seem, here is what these two ingenious French equilibrists do: The man supports and balances without aid a perch surmounted by a large upright cylindrical track in which his charming blonde wife loops the loop with a bicycle.

The weight which Monsieur Rebra must keep aloft by his strength and uncanny sense of equilibrium is said to be 450 pounds. As for Mme. Rebra's part in the feat, to loop the loop with a bicycle is no mean achievement in itself, but to do it under such perilous circumstances is indeed an expression of Supreme confidence in another person's reliability. Here is one wife who will make sure of keeping her husband's good graces!

The Rebras' thrilling perch and loop exhibition is but one of the various novel features and surprises which distinguish Russell Bros. Circus from all others. Yet even with all of its innovations, assurance is given that none of the time honored favorites of the big-top will be found lacking.

Hornets Meet Valley Mills Tonite in First Conf.

BY HAZEN AMENT

Tonight at 8:00 a muddled Hornet team will clash with Valley Mills. When we say muddled team, we mean a team that has been changed around considerably since the game last week with M. E. Home, Bruce Jones who has been playing jam up ball at the left end position, has been ruled ineligible due to attending high school one month too long.

Scrimmage this week has crippled Zack Fore and Cotton Davis to the extent, that they will see no service in tonight's game. Wallace also has an injury that will keep him out part of the time. But Wait! That doesn't mean that the Hornets are blanked. Think of that scrub team that did the crippling. They must be GOOD, if they were able to tear up three of the best players in the conference. After all this changing around, we believe that the Hornets will show the fans and Coach Earle Worley, the best coach in the State of Texas, Class A or Class B, just how the Valley Mills boys must be beaten. Don't think for one minute the spirit has dropped, because of the losses. If anything it has risen. This writer sincerely believes, those attending the game tonight, will see a fast and furious game with Gatesville still having a slight edge over the Valley Mills boys. Let's all go and make added strength for the home team.

Gv. Lineup

NAME	Pos.
Lester	L. E.
White	L. G.
Wallace	C.
Blankenship	R. G.
Williams	R. T.
Gilbreath	P. E.
Brown	Quarter
Voss	Full
Hinsley	L. H.
Weaver	R. H.

We have been unable to get the Valley Mills lineup.

As we spy around on sports this week, it gives us the well known heebie-jeebies. Things have changed up considerably in the football part of it, in fact so much that this writer has changed his guess several times already on some of the games this week.

On Monday it looked like Waco was a favorite over Waxahachie but now it may be another story. Also at that time Gatesville was looked as a favorite over Valley Mills by a large score, but now, it seems that it will be a score reading something like the one below.

Here-to-fore I have always guessed at the games scores for both high school and college but have refrained from making the guesses public in this column, I have had so many fans and other people ask me do do so here of late, that I have decided to go ahead, so here they are:

CUPID STAGGERS AS 70 PLUS, COUPLE MARRY

Dan Cupid received the jolt of his immature life Thursday, when his "cruel" weapon sank home in the combined hearts of J. W. Dockery and Mrs. Georgia Ann Sanderford, both over 70 years young, when they applied to County Clerk Chas. P. Mounce for a marriage license and got it.

A. Shirley, J. of the Peace using County Attorney C. E. Alvis, Jr.'s office desk as an altar, tied the knot that made these two glowing youngsters "one".

Although their exact ages were not obtained by the County Clerk, they told him, "We're old enough to be married", and were.

This, in Coryell county, Texas, is certainly not a "child marriage", but it MIGHT be a "second childhood" marriage.

Although we didn't meet this couple, the News wishes them a "battling" time down the rocky road of "Matrimoney".

BETTE DAVIS REACHES NEW PEAK IN "THAT CERTAIN WOMAN"

Star of "Marked Woman" Comes to the Regal Theatre Sat night at 10:30 also Sun. and Mon., supported by Henry Fonda and Ian Hunter in outstanding screenplay.

Adventure — romantic — love — martyrdom — mother-love — all are portrayed by blonde Bette in the course of this exciting drama, which was both written and directed by the celebrated Edmund Goulding. Her part in the play is much more important than the one in her recent "Kid Galahad," with Edward G. Robinson, and the role is even more tense and engrossing than the one she had in "Marked Woman", with Humphrey Bogart.

"That Certain Woman" is a story about the widow of a slain gangster, who despite the scorn of the world and the persecution of enemies, wins her way to business success and to the affections of a worthwhile man.

There has been an increasing tendency of late to give Bette Davis the very best stories that the Warner Bros. can find, and the result has been evident in the increasing popularity of her films. This story was written for her and nobody else, by Edmund Goulding. He even composed the music for it.

Miss Davis won the Academy Award for the best performance in 1935, and her enthusiastic fans are saying that her present picture may put her in line for another one in 1937.

She and Fonda and Hunter all turn in outstanding performances in "That Certain Woman" which is about as sensational a movie as she ever made.

—FOR SALE, The T. J. Washburn place of 95.7 acres, 1/2 mile west of Purnela school on State Highway 7. 30 acres cultivation, 30 can be put in. GATESVILLE, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCT. 8, 1937

NUMBER 82

YOUR CONSTITUTION

SECTION TWO

1. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have the power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

2. He shall have the power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, providing two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law, but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

SECTION THREE

He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the law be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION FOUR

The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE 3 SECTION ONE

The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION TWO

1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority;—to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls;—to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction;—to con-

SINGING AT ARNETT

Next Sunday, October 10, there will be an all day singing at Arnett, nine miles west of Gatesville on number seven highway.

Everyone is invited; especially singers.

Disputes between two or more states;—between citizens of different states;—between citizens of the same state claiming land under grants of different states, and (between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.) Clause changed by article 11, Amendments.

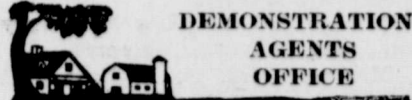

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and to fact, which such exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crime shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

SECTION THREE

1. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attained.

COUNTY 4-H GIRLS TO MEET SATURDAY

"BILL OF RIGHTS" NOT RIGHT 4 JAILED

Our recollection is, someone once gave to the world a "Bill of Rights". Wasn't that around 1776.

That may have been okey dokey in 1776 but in 1937, its out.

In that above referred to "Bill of Rights", our very unhistorical memory reminds us that in this bill of rights was that a man could not be put in jail for his debts.

That's out!

If you don't believe it, ask John Fore, father of the redheaded man on the Hornet squad.

Saturday, from 1 p. m. til 5, he spent in the City Bastille, on account of a bad guess on the outcome of the Hornet-Home melee. He gave 21 points (meaning to manage, that the Home would beat the Hornets by a 21 point margin.) He lost to or affirms revenge.

Incidentally, henceforth and forever, the City Bastille is Second Hand. John was the first "boarder".

ONE VARIETY OF COTTON WOULD NET GROWERS PREMIUM

The planting of one variety of cotton in the Copperas Cove section is being advocated by A. H. Mickan and others interested in the improvement of the cotton situation in this section.

"If one variety exclusively is planted in this section, mills that need that type will send buyers in here to bid for it", Mickan said. He said that mills needing one particular variety have to buy about three or four times the quantity they need, then peddle off three bales they can't use for every one they keep.

The variety movement is gaining popularity in all sections of the State, as buyers wanting the particular raised are willing to pay a premium ranging around one point above the market price in order to get the cotton raised. No meeting has been called, but

EARL HUDDLESTON VIEWS AS TO WHAT SHOULD BE DONE AT AUSTIN

I am sure that it is plain to those who have read the daily newspapers, that there are conflicting views of the members of the legislature and certain state officials, as to what should be done at this session of the legislature.

There are those who say that no additional revenue is needed at this time, then others, with the Governor say that it is imperative that we have additional revenue at this time, that we somewhat like $15,000,000 deficit in the general revenue is not denied. It seems also that more money is needed for the maintenance of the old age assistance fund and for other purposes, such as care for the blind and crippled children. Personally, I have never advocated spending any more money in the legislature than it was absolutely necessary, and this is my view at this time. I do not take the view that the general deficit must be wiped out entirely, but I am of the opinion that we need some more revenue for the causes which I have just mentioned, namely taking care of the unfortunate people. I shall vote this session, to place a reasonable tax on some of the larger corporations, which I think are not paying their just share of taxes, such as oil, sulphur and pipeline companies. I do not propose to vote any more taxes on the average person who is already paying more than his share of taxes. I do not want to be unfair to any business concern, but I am confident that some of these corporations I have mentioned can pay some additional taxes, which we need at this time to carry on our state government.

I am also in favor of cutting down the expenses anywhere possible. I think some mistakes were made in the last regular session by the legislature, by making some appropriations which were not absolutely necessary. Of course, everyone realizes that the people voted several amendments within the last few years which call for additional money.

I think this is the time which calls for sober thought by all concerned. I am not interested in any man's political ambitions but I am interested in what is best for the people of the state at this time, and I am sure that the people of my district are interested. It is well known that we have always welcomed the cooperation of my people, and hope at this session we can all work together and do something worthwhile for the people. I will be glad to counsel with anyone from my district on any problem which they are interested.

Respectfully,

Earl Huddleston

those who have been discussed it hope interest will be sufficient to call one in the near future, have a good representation in the next session.

"It would be necessary for farmers who raise the cotton to decide by a vote which variety we will raise here", Mr. M. said. "There are lots of good varieties, and it doesn't make much difference to me at all, but I want them to decide on one or cotton so a better price can be paid. And whatever variety has a majority vote for, all plant it."—The Copperas Cove Crew.

New Acts Booked for Pan American Casino

For the last 30 days of its run, the Pan American Casino at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas has booked four stellar acts to complement its "perfect revue" that has received nation-wide acclaim. 1. Johnny Puleo, star of Borrah Minneville's Harmonica Rascals; 2. Isabel Kimpal and Leon Barte, dance team featured in the "Bolero"; 3. Barto and Mann, the long and short of laughs and taps, and 4. Stan Kavanaugh, comedy juggler, who returns to the Casino revue by popular demand.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

I WONDER how the girls are coming out that studied how to cook in school. There has always been jokes about brides and the way they can't cook, although I never could understand why being a bride would make anybody cook wrong.

Anyhow, there was one bride that never took cooking at school. She served lamb chops and her husband acted awful funny about eating them.

"Well, they just taste funny," he said. "I'd like to eat them, but you know that taste is just a little queer. You must have done something to them lamb chops, because no lamb ever tasted like that on its own hook."

"Why, John," she says, "I cooked them lamb chops awful careful. I burned them a little bit here and there, but I remembered what the radio woman said about what to do for burns, and I put a little soda and witch hazel wherever I'd burned 'em. They ought to be good."

The Story of FRANK CAPRA'S Mightiest Production

RONALD COLMAN in LOST

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE Robert Conway, British diplomat in the East, is found in a small Chinese mission after having been missing for more than a year. He has lost his memory, but readily agrees to return to England with Lord Gainsford, his rescuer. En route, his memory suddenly comes back and he insists that he must leave the boat and return to Shangri-la. He tells Gainsford of the evacuation of Basul — where he was consulted during a bandit attack. The white residents escape by plane and Conway with his brother, George, an American named Barnard, Gloria Stone, a sultry prostitute, and Lovett, an English scientist, are the passengers in the last plane. They soon discover that they have been kidnapped. For a day and a night the plane flies on, climbing higher and higher to clear the treacherous mountain peaks. At last the motors sputter and go dead. The pilot is found by a bandit and George enters the cockpit to subdue the pilot. They find him dead. Conway studies the pilot's map and concludes that they have come about two thousand miles into Tibet and are at least a thousand miles from the nearest civilization. Facing a slow and torturous death from starvation, they are rescued by a caravan of natives led by a Chinese who introduces himself as Chang and offers them shelter in a nearby lamasery. It is a terrifying journey through narrow, precipitous mountain passes and the entire party is exhausted when, at last, they creep around a narrow ledge and stop to gape at the sight before them. It is a strange eye-filling horizon diffusing a softness and warmth that is unbelievable. "Welcome to Shangri-la," says Chang.

"Your Western mind is given to flights of fancy," Chang replied. "Shall we go in? I should like to show you some of our rare treasures." Conway followed him into a huge library whose walls were lined with books. "Two hundred and fifty thousand volumes — and more," Chang announced proudly. "You keep yourself well informed here," he commented. "Oh yes," said Chang "Are you interested in comparative religion?" "Only casually incidentally, what religion do you follow here?" "We follow many," Chang explained. "We do not hold that any particular religion is completely false. To put it simply, I should say that our general belief is in moderation. We preach the virtue of avoiding excesses of all kinds — even including excesses of virtue." "That's intelligent," said Conway. "In the valley," Chang continued, "we rule with moderate strictness — and in return we are satisfied with moderate obedience. As a result, our people are moderately sober, moderately chaste and moderately honest." "Aren't there any disputes about women?" "Only rarely. You see, it is not considered good manners to take a woman that another man wants." "Suppose," Conway persisted, "somebody wanted her so badly he didn't give a hang about good manners?" "In that event," Chang smiled, "it would be good manners on the part of the other man to let him have her. You'd be surprised, Conway, how a little courtesy all around helps to smooth out the most complicated problems." Conway's attention during the latter part of Chang's explanation had wandered to the adjoining music room where he could see and hear his mysterious girl of yesterday playing a violin to the accompaniment of a white haired old man. "At some time in the future," Chang said, "you'll have the pleasure of meeting her." Conway took one last look at her and then turned to follow Chang. "Some man," he said, "had better get ready to be very courteous to me." A strange peace settled over the little group at Shangri-la in the ensuing weeks. The racking cough that had haunted Gloria Stone left her and she seemed to bloom anew in this peaceful environment. She accepted the sincere proffer of friendship that Barnard made to her. Lovett contented himself with daily trips in search of fossils which he felt certain must abound in this mountain fastness. Conway spent most of his time riding through the valley and nurturing his friendship with the valley folk and with Sondra Bizet the mysterious girl whom he had met at long last. Only George remained rebellious at their enforced confinement: at Shangri-la Nor did the fact that he had met and been attracted to a beautiful Russian girl, Maria, quiet his restlessness. Each passing day saw him becoming more impatient and his taut nerves snapped one night after dinner drawing a pistol, he started out with the avowed intention of forcing Chang to give him information about the porters. A servant, terrified at the sight of the gun, fled from George while the latter pumped a stream of bullets after him. It was then that Conway overtook his brother, disarmed him and knocked him out with a single well-directed punch. While they were trying to revive George, Chang joined the group. Conway spoke to him. "Personally I have enjoyed every minute of our enforced stay at Shangri-la," he said, "but my brother is not of the same mind. I think it's time we were given some idea as to what this is all about." "Strange," said the imperturbable Chang, "when all this happened I was bringing the most exciting news to you. The High Lama wants to see you." "The High Lama?" Barnard demanded. "Who in blazes is he? I thought you ran this joint." "The High Lama is the only one from whom any information or assistance can come." Conway stood up. "That's the man I want to see," he said quietly. "Let's go to him."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter Four

The party soon made the descent into the valley and came to a halt at the foot of a wide marble stairway leading into the lamasery. "The servants will show you to your quarters," Chang said. "I do hope you will find them suitable." The party mounted the stairs after the servants, leaving only Conway who was raptly studying the lamasery building. In an upper window he saw two robed lamas watching him curiously. Farther over, on a narrow terrace half hidden by a floral arbor, his eyes were arrested by the sight of a girl—a girl whose beautiful oval face was framed in a halo of rich brown hair. She was standing quietly, looking down at Conway intently. After dinner that night it was Lovett who first broached the subject of their departure. "I regret that I cannot help you," said Chang. "Unfortunately, we have no wireless here. In fact, we have no means of contact with the outside world." "In that event," said Lovett, "hadn't we better make arrangements for porters to take us back to civilization?" "Are you so certain?" Chang asked quietly, "that you're away from it?" Lovett mumbled a confused apology. "We'll pay your natives anything within reason," he offered. "That's of no use," said Chang. "We have no porters here. The men you saw this morning are our own people and they never venture beyond the point where you met them. It is much too hazardous. However, there is a tribe of porters some five hundred miles from here. They are our only contact with the outside world and in that respect you are indeed fortunate for we are expecting a shipment from them almost any time." Chang acted as Conway's guide on his inspection of Shangri-la the next morning. "Shangri-la," Conway said, "you—that mysterious pilot—are all tied up in a well-worked-out plan to kidnap us and bring us here against our will. Am I right?"

RATHER THAN PAY FOR TIRE MAN ABANDONS CAR

Bob Gilmore expected only to make a tire sale when a traveler stopped in need of one Sunday evening but now Bob has the car and can't decide what to do with it.

After a new tire had been put on the car, the driver attempted to leave without paying for the tire, but Bob quickly mounted the running board, and began choking the driver. When the car was brought to a stop the man leaped out, dashed to the railroad tracks and grabbed an eastbound freight going thru at that time.

The sheriff's department at Lamasas, notified of the incident advised that the car a blue 1930 Chevrolet roadster, he held here pending investigation. The license plates were said to have been issued in Lamasas to a 1936 Chevrolet coupe. The car was still here Wednesday morning—The Coparas Cove Coney.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this method of expressing our sincere appreciation for every act of kindness for every expression of sympathy and for the beautiful flowers sent during the illness and death of our husband and father, R. L. Powell. Sincerely, Mrs. R. L. Powell and family

STATEMENT

Of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Acts of Congress of Aug. 24, 1912, and March 3, 1933

Of The Coryell County News, published semi-weekly at Gatesville, for October 1, 1937.

The State of Texas, County of Coryell: Before me a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared W. Mat Jones, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of the Coryell County News, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulation, printed on the reverse of this form, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publishers, S. F. Bethel and W. Mat Jones, Gatesville, Texas. Editors, Managing Editors, and Business Managers, are the same.

2. That the owners are: S. F. Bethel, Gatesville, Texas; and W. Mat Jones, Gatesville, Tex.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities, are: Ayres Compton, 4331 Hall, Dallas, Texas.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the Company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

(Signed) W. Mat Jones. Sworn to and subscribed before me this 4th day of October, 1937. (Seal) Harry W. Flentge, Notary Public in and for Coryell County, Texas. (My commission expires May 31, 1939)

CIRCUS, ONCE ROMAN, BUILT IN DAY; MODERN MIRACLE

Those inspirational lecturer who stress the importance of teamwork in the attainment of a desired goal, might well point to the circus as one of civilization's outstanding examples of organized effort and what it can accomplish.

People go to the circuses to see clown and elephant, and maybe to see a casual peacut into the monkey cage. It would be asking too much to suggest that they divert their attention from these ageless joys long enough to consider that on the following day other people will be watching the same clowns and elephants, and tossing peanuts to the same monkeys fifty or a hundred miles away. Nevertheless, they might find consideration of that fact interesting.

Russell Bros. Big 3 Ring Circus, which will give two shows in Gatesville on Wednesday, Oct. 13, is an example of such an itinerant enterprise. It is essentially a tented city which moves its streets, business offices and residential section as frequently as the ring of the sun.

From April until November, this is the only city the nearly 500 employees of Russell Bros. Circus know, save for a superficial acquaintance with the towns where the show exhibits, gained by brief shopping tours. They eat in the circus dining tent, sleep in their living cars and earn their livelihood in the tents and wagons on the show grounds.

The immensity of moving this tented city naturally is realized only by those intimately associated with the task, or by those spectators whose interest keeps them on the lot long after the night performance is ended, watching the dismembering and loading of the big top, menagerie, side show and other tents, seats, poles, light plants, cables and the thousand and one little odds and ends necessary to operate an organization of this kind.

Rome may not have been built in a day, but the circus, which had its origin in that imperial city, performs that miracle with astounding regularity.

MUSTEROLE

SOOTHING, warming Musterole well into your chest and throat. Musterole is NOT just a salve. It's "counter-irritant" containing old-fashioned cold remedies—of mustard, menthol, camphor and other valuable ingredients. That's why it gets such fine results better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. It penetrates, stimulates, warms and soothes, drawing out congestion and pain. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All drug stores. In three strengths: Regular strength, Children's (mild), and Extra-strong. Tested and approved by Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.

PROJECT STORY

I bought two Duroc-Hampshire pigs, Oct. 6, 1936, seven weeks old. I started them off with wheat shorts and about 3 or 4 ears of corn a day. I mixed the shorts with the slop. I fed up one sack of shorts and then put them on a corn and slop ration until Jan. 1. Then I bought a sack of cottonseed meal and fed them cottonseed meal, slop, and corn until February 13, 1937 when I sold them. At the start they weighed 64 pounds together and 420 pounds Feb 13. They gained on an average of 2.7 pounds per day. My total cost was $25.60 and my profit was $10.52. I received $.86 per hundred weight for them. I kept them 129 days.

IRELAND SCHOOL NEWS

The high school students under the direction of Miss Driscoll, one of our teachers from Texas University, and Mr. Stiles organized a Dramatic Club. This club is one of the most wide awake organization on the campus. They are at this time working on "Hands Up" a two act drama which will be presented Friday night at the High School Auditorium. Every one is cordially invited to attend this unique affair.

The Ireland High School lassies eked out a win over the Evant girls Friday night. The final score being 16 to 14. Edith Anderson did some plain and fancy guarding to stop the Evant forwards on numerous occasions. Edith stayed as close to her opponent as a Scotchman stays to his pocketbook. Alice Mae Fisher, Bernice and Pauline Russell also did an extremely good job in guarding the pay window.

Rena Mae Dickenson who carried home the high scoring honor for the evening tossed the ball through the net four times for a total of 8 points. Estelle Huckabee was a close second with 6 points to her credit. "Stell" and Rena Mae will prove plenty tough for opposing guards to handle before the season ends. Laura Beth Hampton and Reva Murry also made a very creditable showing at the forward positions. These two girls will more than likely have the old net smoking before the season is very far advanced.

The boys lost a fast and furious game to the Evant boys. The score being 21-11. The boys are not hitting the basket often enough. Raymond Limmer and Raymond Glaes looked good at their forward positions. Paul Russell held down the center slot and turned in a good game. Jack Limmer and Edwin Roberts were at the guard spots and both played a good brand of basketball. Jack Limmer was high scorer for the Ireland boys. Sinking three field goals. Dalton Morgan, Dan Huckabee, Burl Pierson, Noel Neyland and John Orvig were sent into the game by Coach Dickenson.
