CCC Camp and SCS Will Be 'At Home' Monday; Program, Barbecue

"It's on the house" and, the Chamber of Commerce at the local CCC Camp and among the SCS officials Monday when at 11 a. m. friends and relatives of the enrollees and camp officials and the general public will have a chance to see all phases of camp life.

Guides will be on hand to answer questions and explain the functioning of a CCC camp.

When the "chow bell rings" a free barbecue, furnished by the Chamber of Commerce of Gatesville in cooperation with the camp will be served.

During the hours from 1 til 2:10, speeches will be made including such notables as E. T. Nagle, Regional Administrator of the CCC, P. H. Walser, State Co-ordinator for the SCS.

At 2:10 sponsored by the Gatesville Soil Conservation Association, a field tour of several farms will be made.

The celebration is designed to better acquaint citizens of the county with the work of the SCS and CCC camp is doing in this vicinity.

CAMERA! LIGHTS! AND SOUND! ONLY NEED CAMERA IN CONTEST

You only need a camera and films in the News-Merchant's Candid Camera Contest!

Lights are furnished by sun, clouds, moon, electric lights, or any of your own manufacture!

Sound, well, we couldn't handle that, and will be frank with you on that point.

All of which don't mean anything, but that this contest is gathering speed, and will (if the weatherman will behave) and we take your entries any day.

Everyday, you miss a beautiful picture, especially on these cloudy and rainy days, or, nights, when there's lightning. Or the kids, dogs, cats,—we could literally name millions of "shots" that would make interesting pictures—pictures that are just as liable as not to take off a prize in the Candid Camera Contest. Get your camera, be it box, vest pocket, folding, candid, brownie or what-not. This is YOUR contest, and it's going to be just what each of YOU make it. We'll furnish the prizes,—you furnish the pictures.

Beside, these merchants, Koen-Foster Drug Store, City Drug Store, City Drug Store, Gatesville Drug Store, Flentge Drug Store and Mayes Studio and Radio Shop have films, cameras, instruction books, in fact, everything you may need. See them, take your picture, bring it to us, and then, it will be the Judges' decision that name the winners. Let's Go!

Miss Pauline Lathan, MesJames Olin Sydow and Allan Vandiver spent Thursday in Waco.

"BILL DING" GETTING THE JOB DONE: CITY COVERING STANDS

Everythings points to a building boom here, and even the City has the epidemic.

Here's a few more we've heard about that are in various stages of completion. R. M. Arnold, new brick veneer home, Boe Wright, new rock veneer, Miss Jesse Fauntleroy, rent house, O. L. Beck, new home, Dr. John Thomas Brown, T. W. Turpin, new double garage, Cliff Rankin, two new rent houses, new house next to Rutherford's on W. Main, Miss Betty Lee, new rent house, and then another new one across from her on South 5th.

Down at the athletic field, for the rodeo and football fans, the west stands are being covered, to take care of both sun, rain and cold, which will encourage attendance in this popular stadium.

Just can't hardly find a carpenter or painter. And what's more, Gatesville Drygoods Company has a flock of new modern counters, and,—out of the building line, but improving,—is Benson's new uniforms for the beauticians there.

The town's taking advantage of everything and is really 'goin' to town".

STATE FIRE OFFICIAL TO BE HERE APRIL 7

Chief Frank Williams, instructor in Firemen's Training School, sponsored by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshal's Association will be in Gatesville Thursday, April 7, to demonstrate and explain any and all phases of the Short course and extension lessons issued by A. and M. College.

Olin Culberson, secretary-treasurer of the association forwarded this information to the city officials. Fire Marshall and Volunteer Fire Department.

DISTRICT MEET DATES

In a letter received from L. W. Courtney, District Director of the Texas Interscholastic League to C. D. Boyer, Director General of the Texas Interscholastic league for Coryell County, the District Meet has been moved up from April 16 to Saturday, April 9.

Also, in the letter Director Courtney states a general assembly will be held in Waco Hall at Baylor University at 9 a. m. on Saturday morning. At 9:30, the divisions will meet in their respective places for full directions. Contests will begin at 10 a. m. No admission will be charged for any of the contests, if it can be avoided.

"Anything that Baylor University" Director Courtney states "can do to make the meet a success and a pleasure will be done."

TRAIN SCHEDULE "IS" CHANGED AGAIN FOR CERTAIN

W. J. McWilliams, local Cotton Belt Agent brings the following schedule of trains arriving and departing. Previously, we reported a change in the News, and in the next issue cancelled the changes because the officials stopped the change.

Here is the new schedule effective Sunday April 3:
North Week Days Only
No. 716 Departs at 9:01 A. M.

South Week Days Only
No. 715 Departs at 12:30 P. M.

South Sunday Only
No. 605 Arrives 11:53 Stops at Gatesville.
No. 606 Leaves 2:30 P. M.
No Sunday trains will be run between Gatesville and Hamilton.

INVITE 'EM TO THE HOME-COMING RODEO

Your friends, your relatives, your acquaintances!

There's to be a Rodeo and Home-Coming here on or about June 3-4, and Mrs. Turk Brown, Chairman of the Home-coming committee asks that you phone or write her the names and addresses of those you know, so that she may extend an invitation to them to attend the "big show".

She asks that you do this right away, as they want to get this work done within the next two weeks.

APRIL 1! LOOK OUT! WE WOULDN'T KNOW WHAT WILL HAPPEN!

Anything is liable to happen today. It's April 1, and April Fool's Day! And, advising, if you can't take it don't dish it out.

"Cause today if you're not careful, you'll pull it under, hook, line and sinker!

There's nothing to this story except a very timely warning. We hope you "can take it".

RAY JONES IMPROVING FROM INJURY FROM FALLING TIMBER

Ray Jones, injured by a falling timber Monday afternoon while working in a bridge abutment pit on the new Leon River bridge is reported improving now, and is at the Milton Powell Memorial Hospital.

Jones was in the pit, and a falling timber struck him on the head fracturing his skull, and caused a mild concussion of the brain and temporary partial paralysis.

J. S. Riley Sr. is ill in a Waco Sanitarium.

As little as you think about it and as little as has been said about it, there is going to be a city election here Tuesday, April 5, from 7:00 a. m. 'til 7:00 p. m.

Last time, there was rather a full register of candidates, but this year there won't be any choice except in the Mayorality race, which according to the lackadaisical interest shown in the 1938 model.

In the official line-up, here's the men in question:

For Mayor.

C. E. GANDY

(Re-election)

Dr. M. W. LOWREY

For Alderman, Ward 1:

RUFUS J. BROWN

For Alderman, Ward 2:

E. ROUTH

(Re-election)

For Assessor-Collector:

EILAND LOVEJOY

Last election in 1936, 514 votes were cast in the mayor's race, but it is expected this time not more than two-thirds of his amount will be polled.

MARINE ENLISTMENT STILL OPEN FOR CAPABLE YOUNGSTERS

Examinations for entrance in the United States Marine Corps are being held at 822 Allen Building, Dallas, Texas, it was announced here by the officer in charge.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 25, white, un-married and without dependents, of good moral character, not less than 64 inches nor more than 74 inches tall and with a fair education are eligible to take examination. Those under 21 years of age must have written consent of parents or guardian, sworn to before a Notary Public, or your local Postmaster.

On completion of the initial recruit training at San Diego, California, many men are selected for technical schooling in aviation, radio, motor mechanics, etc. All men in the Corps have an opportunity to enroll in the Marine Corps Institution where they may learn free of charge some trade, art or science. Those seeking travel and adventure may request duty on board ship or in some foreign land where Marines are stationed, it was stated.

REORGANIZATION BILL

In the Senate's favorable vote for the reorganization bill, Mr. Roosevelt has won a majority victory for his thinly disguised theory of strong centralized power in which the President governs and Congress signs the checks. The measure is not a law and it must be voted by the House. That body, however, has passed earlier its own similar but less drastic measure and short of a surprising revolt in the lower chamber, the chief executive will get his reorganization much as he planned it. There is yet hope that the House may save the Comptroller General.

Assuming the House makes important amendments, reorganization must return to the Senate for acceptance or conference. The fight against what most conservative observers believe to be a radical upset in our long maintained form of government will go on. But today it looks as if Mr. Roosevelt has won his most important victory.

If the measure once passed proves as evil as its enemies fear the prospects of repairing the damage are negligible. Any future repeal bill is sure of presidential veto which can be overridden only by two-thirds majority in each house.

Under the bill as the Senate has passed it, the President's orders for reorganization must lie before Congress for sixty days before becoming effective and within that time a joint resolution may veto it. But the President must sign a joint resolution or it fails unless carried over his veto by a two-thirds vote of both houses. Had the Senate provided for veto by concurrent resolution which does not require the President's signature, it might have protected Congress and the country against the possibilities of bad reorganization but it did not do so.

Administrative reorganization has long been needed and has not been provided because of the political preference of Congress in the past for extension of the spoils system. Reorganization can be accomplished best under presidential direction. But Congress cannot safely give to the executive department such sweeping power as it has now accorded practically without check. The point is not that Mr. Roosevelt may necessarily abuse the power given him. The dire risk is expressed in the President's own phrase in once asking for extraordinary power when he declared it dangerous to place this in untrustworthy hands. There is no possible guarantee that the powers which the Senate gives, not to Franklin Roosevelt but to the President, may not lie some day in very dangerous hands indeed. But this bill Congress binds itself against freedom of action to restrain them.—Dallas News.

Co-Hostesses Honor Future Bride At Bridge

Mesdames Harry Flentge and Francis Johnson of Clifton were co-hostesses Wednesday afternoon at bridge, naming Miss Katherine Gordon honoree, at the Flentge home on Lutterloh Avenue. Set at every vantage point over the lovely home were bouquets of roses.

At conclusions of games of bridge Mesdames Francis Caruth Jr. and T. P. Tackett were awarded for high score. The gift for the honoree was a beautiful bluebonnet plaque on a gold stand.

Favors of miniature old fashioned bouquets were presented to the guests and forming the center piece for the table from which a delightful collation was served was a huge old fashioned bouquet.

Those present for the courtesy were: Misses Katherine Gordon, Mary Brown, Dorothy Culerson, Jewel Witcher, Joyce Baker, and Bochie Wollard, Mesdames Charles Powell, Morris Roberts, Eugene Alvis, Bates Cross, Mabel Gardner, Francis Caruth Jr., John T. Brown, Floyd Zeigler, Billy Thompson, John Neubauer, J. M. Pancake, Jack Odell, Bob Saunders, George Painter, Clay Stinnett, Roger Miller, O. N. Hix, Robert Brown, Chess Sadler, Jim McClellan, Miller Stinnett, R. W. Ward, Emmett Stewart, D. D. McCoy, Lee Colwick, Pat Potts, Stewart Williams, Louis Thomson, Joe Whigham, Clyde Bailey, Kermit Jones, Rufe Brown, M. W. Lowrey, T. P. Tackett, Hurl McClellan, and Clark Jensen, Calkers were Mrs. J. O. Brown, Mrs. C. L. Bellamy and Miss Margarete Williams.

Party Honors Birthday Tuesday Evening

A group of friends were inited to the home of Miss Margare Melton to honor Miss Faye Jones on her eighteenth birthday Tuesday evening of this week.

Guests were seated at three tables neatly arranged in the living room. Games of bunco, kootie and other table games were enjoyed by the guests. During the evening a large white cake containing eighteen glowing candles was presented to the honoree, and ice cream and cookies were also served.

Buffet Supper and Shower For Bride-Elect.

One of the loveliest and most attractive compliments paid to Miss Katherine Gordon this week was a buffet supper and miscellaneous shower given by Miss Wilhelmina Cayce in the beautiful country home of Mrs. Dan E. Graves Tuesday evening.

Guests were received into the living room which was tastefully decorated in roses. The bluebonnet theme was thoroughly carried out during the entire evening, and after the guests were seated they embroidered blue bonnets on tea towels for the honoree. While engaged the guests were served punch and sandwiches.

For the delightful supper the thirty two guests were directed to the sun porch and were seated in groups of four at small tables which were laid in blue and white covers. Bouquets of bluebonnets lent charm to the setting with the Texas flower theme being evident over the sun porch; plate favors being miniature blue bonnets. Serving the supper were Misses Marion Brown, Frances Reesing, Jerry Davis and Josephine McClellan, who wore saucy blue bonnets.

SURPRISE DINNER GIVEN

UNCLE JOHN BRASHEAR ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

Last Sunday a group of friend and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Colvin to enjoy a birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Colvin's father Uncle John Brashear. After all were there, he was brought in to be completely surprised by his nice dinner, his many gifts and a shower of letters. A group of relatives from Calahan County surprised him with a shower of letters for his birthday. Brashear was unable to be there. There were eighteen present due to the death of Mrs. Brashear's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Zona Shear's brother's little son.

HORNETS WORKING HARD IN SPRING GRID SESSIONS

The first week of Hornet spring football drills featured scrimmages every day. These scrimmages are about an hour and a half long, and the team is profiting immeasurably from these stiff sessions. There are practically no experienced, backfield men on the squad. Only five lettermen returned for another year of competition, and all of them played in the line last year. However, two of these veterans, Bayne Blankenship and John Albert Lester, have been shifted to the secondary in order to give the backfield a much needed punch. Neither of these have any experience along that line.

There are four or five boys Bruce Weaver, a halfback with practically no experience has shown to an advantage while little Jackie Jackson has run wild in these practice sessions. Jackson, one of the best liked boys on the squad, is too small to stand the full sixty minutes, but Worley intends to use him only as a spot runner to send in when the opposition is fagged out. Little Jackson should make many long gains in games next year.

G. L. Schley who has never been out before, looks as if he might break into the starting line at one of the tackle positions. This boy has a hard fast charge, and if Worley can teach him some offense, he may see plenty of action next fall.

Duncan Kirkpatrick, star of last year's junior high team, seems to be developing into a capable quarterback. He is the hardest runner in the backfield and is a smart signal caller.

HORNETS AND HORNETTES RECEIVE BASKETBALL AWARDS

As is the custom at the conclusion of a year's work, the Hornets and Hornettes received their cage awards Friday.

Following are those who received the gold sweaters—Hornets—Zack Fore, Lorraine Turner, Neal Hinsley, Byron Gilbreath, Roy Adams, Felix Newlin, John Frank Post, and Bruce Weaver.—Hornettes—Mary E. Eubanks, Ruth Rutherford, Madylene Patterson, Leta Bell Shoaf, Treva Davis, Margaret Weaver, Sarah Hinson, Odell James, Flo Gene Martin and Zorada Thomasson.

RAIN FOR WEEK ONLY ADDS UP TO ONE INCH

Reports are here that the scattered showers for the week have only totaled about one inch for Gatesville.

However, we don't believe this would stand for most of the county, although it would be a deluge in some parts where they have had no rain at all during the past week.

Other reports from over the county are that everything is looking good, and prospects for crops of every description are improving with each passing day.

Rev. Sam Franks returned to his home in Austin Monday after visiting with relatives for several days.

MORTON SCOTT

HOUSE FURNISHER

WITH THE

SHIP OF STATE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One reason for the prompt acceptance by the State Department of the absorption of Austria by Germany was to provide a means of allowing political refugees from Vienna to enter the United states under the special quota which has been maintained for some years for the benefit of those German who are victims of Hitler's anti-religious drives. The German quota has been 26,000 a year while the Austrian has been 1,400. Since in 1937 only 11,000 Germans came in and a somewhat lesser number expected this year, the combined quota will provide admittance for some 18,00 inhabitants of the old Hapsburg Kingdom—provided they are able to get out of the Reich and are able to pay their steamship fare here.

This policy is in direct contrast to that of England where Prime Minister Chamberlin's Government refuses to allow the admission of Austrian refugees on the grounds that such a move might offend the Nazis.

Passage of the new navy bill is certain to be followed by announcement of plans for "super battleships" of a greater tonnage and armament than any now afloat. In spite of declarations that the Panama canal could not give passage to larger ships it is no secret that the navy has plans of vessels a thousand feet in length with a beam of a hundred and a draught of thirty-five. This eighty thousand ton giant would fill the locks with but a matter of a few feet to spare but it could be jockeyed from the Pacific to the Atlantic without serious difficulty.

Such plans remind us that 1938 is the hundredth anniversary of the first passage of the Atlantic to the United States by a steam driven vessel. The Sirius arrived at the battery in New York late on the evening of April 22, 1938 with 94 passengers.

The Sirius had a length of 176 feet, a beam of 25 and a draught of 18—while her tonnage was barely 700—the hundredth part of such a warship as proposed.

Increasing interest centers on this year's gubernatorial elections—especially in the empire state where the split between Governor Lehman and the President promises to rival the "Old Potato" feud between F. D. R. and Al Smith. Lehman, no longer favored by the democratic leaders since his poor showing in 1936, is believed anxious to succeed himself and certain to oppose the nomination of Robert H. Jackson, the solicitor General who is reputedly the President's choice.

President sounding taken by experienced politicians indicate that neither can win the election unless the Republican candidate is a nonentity. Without a doubt the Democratic most capable of carrying the state is postmaster General Farley and his supporters are already hard at work to win the necessary labor votes to his sides.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
 Jerry and Lucy Warriner are divorced after a silly quarrel during the period while they are waiting for the decree to become final. Each try various stratagems to affect a reconciliation. Their stubborn pride, however, keeps them apart. In a pique Lucy becomes engaged to Dan Leeson, wealthy oil magnate, and then breaks it. Meanwhile, Jerry has become engaged to Barbara Vance, madcap young heiress. Through a ruse, Lucy attends their engagement posing as Jerry's sister. Pretending to get drunk, Lucy quickly insults everyone at the party and succeeds in breaking the engagement.

Chapter Six

Jerry guided Lucy to the car. "Get in," he commanded. "I'll drive you home."
 Lucy leaned heavily against him. "You don't need to," she said. "I can drive."
 "That's what you think. Get in, I said."
 She settled herself comfortably in the car and Jerry started the motor. "I'm not going to the apartment, you know," she announced sweetly. "Aunt Patsy's waiting for me at her country lodge. I'm going up there."
 "You can drive up in the morning," Jerry remonstrated.
 Lucy shook her head. "No," she said. "I'm going tonight. You don't need to drive me. It's only forty miles and I'll drive like the wind. Be there in an hour."
 Jerry looked at her disgustedly. "Why do things like this always happen to me?" he muttered. The car swung out into traffic and Jerry headed for the country.

of the cops accused Jerry. I'll bet it was a stolen car."
 "Don't be silly," Lucy said. "I'm Lucy Warriner and this is my husband. We're driving up to the Randall place. If you'll take us there the caretaker will identify us."
 The cops beamed. "Why didn't you say you were friends of Patsy Randall?" they asked. "Come on. Get up here behind us and we'll drive you up there." Lucy and Jerry each climbed behind one of the troopers and they were whisked to Patsy's lodge in record time. The caretaker identified them, of course, and the cops left after profuse apologies.
 "Where's Miss Randall?" Jerry demanded when the police had left. "She's not here sir," the caretaker replied. Jerry looked accusingly at Lucy.
 "That's funny," she said blankly. "Patsy said she'd be up here. Oh well, I suppose she was detained. She'll drive up in the morning. I'll take Aunt Patsy's room. You can have the one adjoining." Lucy climbed the stairs and entered the bedroom. After he had borrowed a night gown — the old fashioned kind — from the caretaker, Jerry went to his room.
 As he closed the door from the hall a gust of wind blew open the door connecting with the room Lucy was occupying. Lucy was in the room, wearing one of Patsy's nightgowns which was considerably too long for her. Jerry crossed to the door.
 "The latch doesn't hold very well," Jerry explained.
 "So I see," Lucy replied. Jerry started to close the door.
 "Good night," he said. Lucy didn't reply. He looked up and saw her watching him amusedly. Jerry looked down at his flannel nightgown. "Pardon my appearance," he said. The clock struck. It was eleven-thirty.

"If you ever bet anybody that I still love you, you win."
 (Posed by Irene Dunne and Cary Grant.)

When they left the outskirts of the city Jerry stepped on the gas and the car roared through the night.
 "I suppose you will let me borrow your car to get home in," Jerry said.
 Lucy smiled sweetly. "Of course. But it's silly to go all the way back tonight. Patsy has plenty of room."
 Jerry shook his head grimly. "No thanks. I'll go home."
 A few miles from Patsy's house two motorcycles fell in behind the speeding car. They were state policemen and they soon overtook Jerry and stopped him.
 "Where's the fire?" was their original greeting to the fuming Jerry.
 "We weren't going too fast," Jerry protested. "There's no traffic this time of night and I can handle this car."
 "Lemme see your license," the cop demanded. Jerry produced it.
 "This your car?" he demanded.
 "It's mine," Lucy interposed.
 "Where's your registration?"
 "In the lower right hand drawer of my desk," Lucy announced sweetly.
 "You people been drinking?" the cop asked suspiciously.
 "No," Lucy replied promptly.
 "Have you people been?"
 "I don't believe it," the cop replied. "Get out of the car — both of you. I want to see if you can walk a straight line."
 As they stepped from the car Lucy surreptitiously released the emergency brake. The car, which was on a grade, started to roll quietly down hill, no one noticed it until with a rending crash, the car toppled over a steep embankment and toppled down into a gully.
 "You did that on purpose!" one

"Funny, isn't it?" he continued. "In half an hour we'll no longer be Mr. and Mrs."
 Lucy nodded. "If you didn't feel the way you do, things wouldn't be the way they are," she said.
 "Pardon me?" Jerry was puzzled.
 "As I see it things are the way you made them."
 Lucy shook her head vehemently. "Things are the way you think I made them," she protested. "I didn't make them that way at all. Things are the same as they ever were but you're the same as you were too, so I guess things'll never be the same again."
 "This was too much for Jerry. He looked at Lucy for a moment and then said, "Well, good night." He closed the door. Lucy stood for a moment and then extinguished the light and went to bed. The moonlight illuminated the room dimly.
 There was a sound of the latch lifting and Lucy turned quickly to the door. Jerry was standing there.
 "It's me," he explained. "I've come to tell you that if you ever bet with anybody that I still love you and still want you — well, you win."
 Lucy's heart skipped a beat but she controlled her emotions. "Just a minute, Jerry," she replied. "What do I win? The opportunity to spend the rest of my life arguing about Armand Levalle?"
 Jerry's brow puckered in a good imitation of real bewilderment. "Who's Armand Levalle?" he asked grinning.
 Lucy sat up in bed. She was laughing as she stretched her arms to him hungrily. "Darling!" she called.

THE END.

RESULTS OF TRAFFIC DRIVE

This year's traffic drive by the Dallas police department has made the snubbing of traffic tickets no longer a matter for joking. Of 3,407 who snubbed summonses in January and February, 2,973 have paid fines the total of nearly $30,000. Dallas motorists gradually are learning that a summons for traffic violation is not an invitation but a command.

Measures to clear the docket of the County Criminal Court of appealed traffic cases now pending will benefit the police enforcement drive. With 22 traffic cases set for this week and 600 for next week, Judge Winter King is making a strenuous effort to have the court catch up on appeals. Appointment of a special Assistant District Attorney paid by the city, to handle traffic cases in this court, already has had some effect in speeding trials and reducing the number of appeals.

While the city's intensive drive against traffic offenders has not yet continued long enough to have much effect on accident rates, it is encouraging to note that traffic deaths within the city limits have been reduced to nine this year, compared with 13 for the corresponding period of last year. It seems only reasonable to assume that the current enforcement campaign has been responsible for at least part of this reduction in fatalities.

No matter whose toes are stepped on, the great majority of Dallas people want the police traffic drive carried on. Safety from traffic accidents is more important than immunity from petty fines.—Dallas News

TRENCH SILO BUILDING PROGRAM TO HELP FARMERS

Approximately 75 trench silos will be constructed in Coryell County by Farm Security Administration borrowers, according to Sloan Baker, rural super-factors in helping FSA borrowers to a system of farming more profitable than that which forced them to seek FSA assistance, the supervisor said.

The tenant takes a more active interest in the land which he is renting when he begins to make improvements of this kind Mr. Baker said. FSA is seeking to promote longer terms for lease agreements in order that tenants will feel justified in making such improvements, which they would not make if faced with the likelihood of being forced to move at the end of each year.

Two Elephant Towers forty feet in height will make the main entrance towers of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition known as the Portals of the Pacific 120 feet in height.

For a change, we have enjoyed five days of almost perfect weather. All this week it has been bright and clear and the first part of the week was so warm that everything began to come out with the greatest rapidity I have ever seen. First were the Chinese Tulp trees and a day later the Japanese Cherry trees. It seems that all the trees here bloom. However there is no display of wild flowers on the ground such as we have in Texas. Washington makes much of the Cherry Blossoms. I have not had a chance to see the great number of Cherry trees along the Potomac which you often see in pictures, but I have seen those around the Capitol and the Library of Congress and I am convinced that Texas is overlooking an opportunity in not advertising our own Spring flowers. These Cherry blossoms resemble a cross between a peach and a plum yet many thousands of people come here to see them and it is a source of lots of business to Washington.

Mrs. Poage is still in the hospital where the doctor placed a steel plate in her broken leg. This has kept me running between the hospital and the Capitol and since the traffic has picked up with the good weather it has taken lots of time. We hope however, that she will be able to get out on crutches again in a few days.

Last Monday the House finally passed the Naval Appropriation Bill and we are today working on the Army Appropriation Bill. As I explained these bills carry a tremendous amount of money but certainly the recent events in other parts of the world show that we can not afford to be without adequate national defense.

At the same time we should make war unattractive to all Americans by making it impossible for them to make any profit out of war. I was very sorry to see the Senate cut the Connally Amendment out of the tax bill. This amendment would have levied very heavy taxes on everyone as soon as war might be declared.

The Senate also cut out an amendment to tax bill would have levied a processing tax on agricultural products for the purpose of increasing the benefits to be paid under the farm bill. I was very sorry to see this done and I hope that this tax may be restored on the floor of the Senate. I do not think that a processing tax is the best way of handling this but it is the only way available just now and we must have increased agricultural income. I have repeatedly pointed out that I thought we should divide up the domestic market between our farmers, offer loans on the domestic part of the crop so that it would have to sell for a good price and then let us plant all the crops we want to for export at world prices. In that way we would use all our land and all our people and we would have a much larger total income than any other way I know of—and it is increased income that we need. We cannot get such a plan at this time. I, therefore, favor doing everything we can under any plan we can get to get more money for the farmers. A farm bill reducing our production can only hurt us unless it raises prices so that total income is increased.

This last week the House passed a number of amendments to the Farm Bill trying to correct irregularities in the law as passed. The Amendments may help but I am fearful of the effect of interpretations by the Department of Agriculture that seem to be tending to restore a lot of special privileges that the larger operators have always had and that Congress thought we had removed.

TRACK MEET

The Gatesville Hornets captured the 1938 Coryell County track and field meet by scoring 141 points to Pearl's (their nearest competitor) 42. Joe Ned Brown, husky Hornet, led the scoring of the meet with 16 markers to his credit, having finished first in the low hurdles and broad jump and second in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Jack Petty, a boy who has a splendid chance of going places in the district meet next weekend, was runner-up in the individual scoring race with 15 taljes. He copped the blue ribbons in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes. Following is a complete record of the meet:
100 yard dash, Petty, Pearl, 1st; Brown, Gatesville, second; Ballard, Pearl, third; Hart, Copperas Cove, fourth.

220 yard dash, Petty, Pearl, 1st; Brown, Gatesville, second; Fritz Copperas Cove, third; Ballard, Pearl fourth.
440 yard dash, Petty, Pearl, first; Fore Gatesville, second; Hart, Copperas Cove, third; Waddell, Ireland, fourth.
880 yard run, Conner, Pearl, first; Kelley, Pearl, second; Weaver, Gatesville, third; Duncan Copperas Cove, fourth.
Mile run, Wittie, Ewing, first; Newlin, Gatesville, second, Duluf Pearl, third; Medart, Pearl, fourth.
120 yard high hurdles, Weaver, Gatesville, first; Fore, Gatesville, second; Robertson, Copperas Cove, third; Hinsley, Gatesville, fourth.
220 yard high hurdles, Brown, Gatesville, first, Fore Gatesville, second; Weaver, Gatesville, third; Watt, Copperas Cove, fourth.
High jump, Arnett, Pearl, first, Ingram, Gatesville, second, Harvison, Jonesboro, third; Dumus Pearl fourth.
Broad Jump, Brown, Gatesville first; Fritz, Copperas Cove, second; Ballard, Pearl, and Spencer, Gatesville, tied for third and fourth.

ELIGA NEWS

Quite a few folks of this community attended the county meet at Gatesville the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Thomas visited in the Ike Bay home recently.

Miss Mary Young visited Mrs. Mary Graham Monday.

Mrs. Walter Rancher is visiting her daughter of Falls County this week.

The men of this community met at Gatesville a short time ago, asking for a bridge or a dip to be built across the Cowhouse river at Eliga. The good wives and mothers of the Eliga community would like to make an appeal to the office holders of Coryell County to investigate and see if they think we need what we are asking for, a bridge or dip. We would like to take our children to church each Sunday, as there is a church house located on both sides of the river, but there is only three or four months of the seasonable year that folks can cross in a car. It seems as if we will have to go back to the old farm wagon or stay at home.

Now when some few folks drove a chevrolet, others drove a ford, while some drove an old grey mule and bat him along with a board it did not make much difference some 15 or 20 years ago, but today cars are so different, if we want to visit a sick friend or neighbor that lives just across the creek one would have to go around by the way of Killeen which would make a distance of forty miles which if we had a bridge it would only be a mile or two. Only last week a funeral procession had to come by way of Killeen to reach the Graham Cemetery which is located about 1 1/2 north of Eliga.

The folks are greatly handicapped, as not all have wagons or buggies to go so just have to stay at home away from church or any social gatherings in our community. We would like to attend the practical meetings with Ray Franklin.
