FOURTH BAD DATE FOR POLITICAL RALLY, CROWLEY FINDS

Due to the fact that the majority of the citizens of Coryell county and Gatesville were either in Waco, Belton, Hamilton or other places the fourth, the advance man for Karl Crowley, candidate for governor, canceled his speaking date billed for the night of the fourth on the courthouse lawn.

Mr. Crowley was in Belton in the afternoon and spoke to a large crowd there. Due to the fact no crowd was in Gatesville, we were told Mr. Crowley's advance man phoned Mr. Crowley and told him to "take the night off, go to bed and get some rest".

Candidates Invited to "On the House" Political Rally Here on Wed. July 20

A novelty in politics! Gatesville's first county wide political rally, all candidates are invited that Coryell County citizens vote for!

Date: Wednesday evening, 7:30 p. m., July 20.

Place: Court House Lawn.

Time: FIVE MINUTES will be allotted to each candidate; 5 minutes only—and then the gong will sound!

This is so voters of this vicinity can hear and see personally any candidate who wishes to appear, or if some one is appearing for the candidate, his "mouth piece" will get the same time.

The News in sponsoring this rally, jointly with the Western Auto Supply Store, who will furnish the sound equipment, will carry this rally out in utmost fairness to all concerned.

No introductions will be made for anyone, only the name will be called and the office for which the candidate is running. There will be absolutely no cost to anyone.

As far as is known at this time no other rally is scheduled in the district, so that even the candidates or all district offices and the representatives may be present on this occasion.

Since this rally is being held primarily for the benefit of county and precinct candidate, it is expected no high powered speaker, or state candidates will appear. The five minute rule will apply, however, if state candidates are here.

WORLD COMMENT

BRAOK CURRY

News item: Appropriations at this session of Congress established a new peace time record in excess of fifteen billion dollars. Administration leaders contend the business recession is responsible largely for the increased outlay. Republicans say Democrats are trying to buy success at the polls in November.

Let us consider the basis of the claims made by administration adherents and their GOP opponents.

First, the new dealers say the government must increase expenditures because of the depression. They therefore admit that we are now in the midst of a depression. In so doing they likewise concede that their enormous expenditures of the last five years succeeded in creating only a superficial prosperity in 1935 and 1936 which collapsed in the fall of 1937. Some of these federal handouts included:

Loans by the farm credit administration to the tune of $3,264,642,000 outstanding.

Loans by the reconstruction finance corporation to the amount of $3,012,670,000 to railroads, banks, corporations, states, and cities.

Loans by the home owners' loan corporation to the sum of $3,089,798,000.

The total loans of these agencies of the government plus PWA, REA, CSC and several others totaled, as of April 1st, the date when these figures were printed in the Congressional Record from a survey made by the national emergency council, the shocking figure of $11,115,918,000.

The total of government guaranteed loans made by banks, insurance companies, building associations and similar organizations to people who have attempted improving their homes, amounted to $1,493,977,000 at the beginning of this year. This makes a total of more than twelve and a half billions of dollars of government guaranteed loans.

This sum does not include any of the expenditures involved in the new "prime-the-pump" spending program. A new bill permits the RFC to lend another one and a half billions. The government, when the new program is fully underway, will have handed out more than $15,000,000,000.

In regard to the new dealers' assertion that we are to spend our way out of the depression, the above listed figures involving a government expenditure of twelve and a half billions of dollars proves that their logic is false.

Now what about the claims of the Republicans that the Democrats are trying to buy votes at the November general election? What do the facts here show?

The American Institution of Public Opinion, an impartial organization, records the results of its studies as to how federal spending influences the voters.

It finds that in 1936 the Roosevelt new deal got 57 per cent of the votes of people who received no benefits from the government in any manner.

What of the voting per cent of those who DID receive federal handouts?

Of those who receives the soldiers' bonus, 62 per cent voted for Roosevelt.

Of the farmers who received cash benefits payments, 63 per cent voted for Roosevelt.

Of those who received federal home loans and land loans, 73 per cent voted for Roosevelt.

Of those person on relief, 80 per cent voted for Roosevelt.

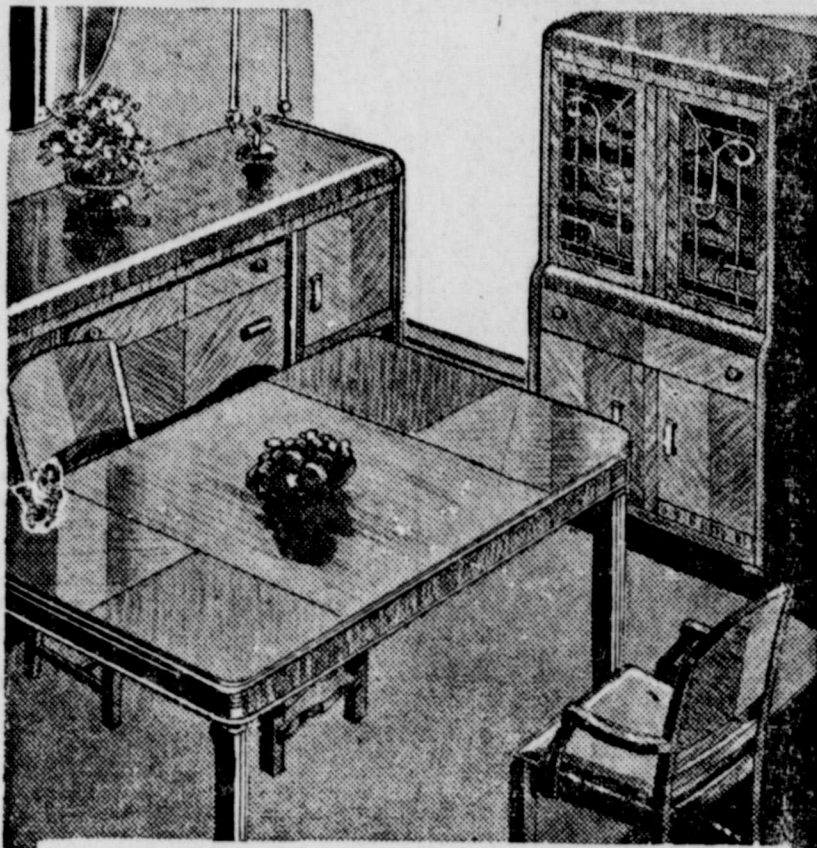

It was supposed to have been Mr. Garner who said to a friend "How can you beat a man with $5,000,000,000 to spend?"

Prior to 1933, there were less than 2,000,000 families depending on the government for their living, including employees, military forces and pensioners. Today it is estimated 7,000,000 out of the 30,000,000 families in the nation are dependent on government handouts. Then there are the 4,000,000 farmers who have receive crop control checks; the drawers of unemployment insurance, HOLC, FHA borrowers, and on down the line until some have figured that more than 30,000,000 individuals are helped by the federal government today.

Under good Democratic government, it is assumed that if public funds are turned over to the administration un earmarked for expenditures on relief and recovery measures they will not be allocated with a view to their political effects. It is assumed that if a man holds a position of public trust whereby he has control over the livelihood of millions of people, he will scrupulously refrain from using that position as a means of bringing political pressure.

If the President has the power to give or withhold funds for relief and public works to induce recovery, then he is under the strictest moral obligation to distribute those funds with the most impartial justice and totally without regard to the political influences that he may or may not thereby help. But it is generally conceded in Washington today that Federal money is being distributed with a view to influencing the outcome of the political contests now going on.

Church Nuptials For Davidson and Mooney

Saturday evening at eight-thirty o'clock Miss Dovey Virginia Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen M. Davidson, of Pecan Grove, became the bride of William C. Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Mooney of Oglesby, in the Pecan Grove Baptist Church. Vows were taken before an altar of ferns and profusions of daisies, centered with a large bouquet of roses, with Rev. W. C. Taylor of Oglesby performing the ceremony.

Wedding music was rendered at the piano by Mrs. Hollis Davidson who also accompanied Rev. Kenneth Hiner, pastor of the church who sang, "I Love You Truly," and "At Dawning".

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Charlotte Davidson, who wore a lovely navy sheer ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was of rosebuds. The bride wore a creation of beautiful nature, fashioned of white lace, which was simple in design, and becoming in style. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses, and her accessories were white.

Feyte Mooney of Oglesby, brother of the groom, served him as best man; Ushers were: Jack Kinslow, M. C. Powell, Ross Kinslow and Savoy Lawrence.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for Ft. Worth where they are making their home. Mr. Mooney is employed in that city as bookkeeper for Cooks' Paint and Varnish Company.

Hall and Turner Nuptials Celebrated

Miss Pauline Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Turner, became the bride of Woodrow Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hall, Saturday evening at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding vows were taken in a room decorated with assorted summer flowers. Rev. W. O. Pittman performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by close friends and relatives.

The bride was dressed in a becoming navy sheer with pink accessories. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hall are graduates of Gatesville High School, and she has attended business schools in Tyler and Houston.

On their return from a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at Arnett where the groom is engaged in business.

Shower Courtesy for Wedded Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morris were hosts to a large group Saturday evening when they complimented Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis of Waco with a pretty shower at their home in the Hay Vally community. After assembling in the party room the guests engaged in various contests; one being a jigsaw puzzle, which, after solving, revealed the date of the marriage. Others enjoyable games were played on the lawn, and concluding their courtesy the couple served iced tea and cookies to approximately thirty guests.

Mrs. Woodrow Hall Receives Compliment

Included in the compliments for the former Miss Pauline Turner, who was married to Woodrow Hall of Arnett, July third, was a miscellaneous shower Monday evening given by Mrs. W. O. Taylor and daughter, Vera at their home in the Arnett Community.

The room where games monopolized the evening was tastefully decorated in various seasonable flowers. After the many gifts were received by the honoree and admired by the guests, cake and punch was served to the thirty-two present.

Rev. Edward Bayless Weds in La Grange

On Tuesday morning the Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful and impressive wedding when Miss Lucille Duff, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Guy B. Duff of La Grange, became the bride of Edwin Stephen Bayless, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bayless of Beaumont. The single ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Dr. Guy B. Duff. The church decoration was beautifully suited to the early summer ceremony. Seasonal flowers, daisies, crepe myrtle, and palm blooms with a picturesque background of English ivy forming a latticed effect. A soft light reflected upon the bridal party was furnished by two rows of white tapers. The bridal solo, "At Dawning", was rendered by Thomas Ellis of Houston to the accompaniment by Pauline Duff, sister of the bride, who also played the preliminary music and the wedding march by Lohengrin.

Miss Pauline Duff was gowned in a frock of pale blue silk lace over taffeta. The bride's attendants were gowned in informal frocks, simply fashioned along Grecian lines, of pastel shades of blue and pink marquisette.

Miss Billie Kreuz, serving as a bridesmaid was in pink marquisette, and Miss Muriel Burt of Smithville, bridesmaid was in blue marquisette. Both attendants wore hats matching the color tones of the frocks and carried nosegays of pink carnations and daisies.

Mrs. Duff, mother of the bride wore a lovely ash of ashes of roses lace with navy blue accessories, with a corsage of rosebuds. Rev. R. A. Partlow of Sherman served as best man, and the ushers were Rev. Oscar Landry of Livingston, and Erwin Culley of Austin.

The bride wore a lovely informal frock of chantilly lace over taffeta. The frock was simply designed and styled along Grecian lines, and her accessories were white. Her flowers, fashioned in a simply nosegay, were white carnations and daisies, twined with white satin ribbons and sweet peas. Her brother, Willis Powell Duff of Childress, gave her in marriage.

After the wedding breakfast, given in the home of the bride, the young couple left for a short honeymoon to be spent at Kerrville before going to Gatesville, where Rev. Bayless is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The ceremony was the culmination of a group of lovely parties and showers for both the bride and the groom; for Mrs. Bayless has a number of friends in La Grange, where she has lived and taught in the public schools for the past three years, and Mr. Bayless has a large circle of friends in Austin, where he attended the Seminary and the University of Texas. In the center of the church stood a small table decorated in pink and white; which was centered with a beautiful pink and white tier wedding cake, decorated in pink rosebuds with "Sybil and Woodson" written in pink icing across the top.

Upon entering the church the guests registered in the bride's book, presided over by Mrs. Preston Flemings; then, Mrs. Clarence Crawford pinned pink wedding bells on each guest, containing the words: "Wedding Bells are breaking up that old gang of Mine".

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

News of the sudden death of Mr. Ike Wallace, father of Mrs. Claude Hilton of Coryell Church

Chapter One

"Tom . . . TOM . . . TOM!"
Only the katydids answered Aunt Polly in the quiet little Mississippi River town of St. Petersburg that lazy summer's day. The old lady pulled her spectacles down and looked over them about the room; then she looked under them. She seldom looked through them—they were her state pair and she could have seen through a pair of stove lids just as well.

As Aunt Polly turned toward the kitchen of her modest home she said not fiercely, but still loud enough for the furniture to hear:

"Well, if I get hold of you I'll—"
She did not finish for by this time she was punching under the bed with the broom and she needed breath to punctuate the punches.

She resurrected nothing but the cat. In the kitchen stood Tom's younger half-brother, Sid, a smug and oily little "good boy" attired in an apron, wiping dishes.

"I never see the beat of that boy," muttered Aunt Polly, "why can't he be more like you, Sidney?"

"I reckon he jest doesn't try hard enough," replied Sid, trying so hard to be nice that he dropped the plate he was polishing.

Tom meanwhile had dashed not to school, but to a swimming hole near the river. When he finally came home he recounted his adventures to Little Jim, a small colored boy who helped around the house, as they chopped the next day's wood.

At supper, Aunt Polly asked questions full of guile. She loved to contemplate her diplomacies as marvels of deep cunning.

"Tom, it was middling warm in school, warn't it?"

"Yes'm."

"Didn't you want to go in a-swimming, Tom?"

Now Tom knew where the wind lay, and he forestalled the next move.

"Some of us pumped our heads, mine's damp yet. See?"

Aunt Polly tried another trick.

"Tom, you didn't have to undo your shirt collar where I sewed it, did you?"

Tom opened his jacket. His shirt collar was securely sewed.

Aunt Polly was half sorry her strategy had miscarried, half glad that Tom had stumbled into obedient conduct, when up piped Sidney:

"Didn't you sew his collar with white thread, Aunt Polly?"

"Why, yes, I did," said Aunt Polly.

"Holler 'nuff!" Tom demanded.

"Now there, that's all right," gasped Aunt Polly. "You didn't mean to do it. Go on back to school—don't wait for Tom."

Sid jerked off his apron, slapped on his hat, and as he left the house by the back porch, stopped at the door of the jam closet and called:

"Good-bye, Tom!"

Aunt Polly tip-toed to the door and opened it, and when Tom darted out, grabbed him by the ear and rapped him smartly on the head with a thimble-covered finger.

Tom dropped a paper-covered dime novel of the era, "The Life of John Murrell, River Pirate."

"Forty times I've told you if you didn't leave that jam alone, I'd skin you alive!" said Aunt Polly.

Tom obligingly handed her a switch from behind the closet door. As the switch hovered, he pointed and yelled: "Aunt Polly! What's that behind you?"

As she whirled and snatched her skirts from danger, Tom bolted.

Surprised and angered the old lady stood for a moment looking after the fleeting boy, then shook her head, half amused, half perplexed.

She entered the kitchen and found Mary Sawyer, a dreamy, pretty girl of about fifteen, working intently on her latest poem.

"I ain't doin' my duty by my own dead sister's child, and that's the Lord's truth, ain't it?" she addressed her meditative niece.

"Yes, ma'am," said Mary absently.

"Well," gloated Sidney, "that thread is black."

Tom fled, leaving a promise of a licking for Sid.

Just around the corner he met a stranger in town, a boy a shade larger than himself. This boy was well dressed—on a week day—and had shoes on. There was an air about him that irked Tom.

Neither boy spoke as they moved sideways in a circle, face to face and eye to eye. Finally Tom said:

"I can lick you."

"I'd like to see you try it."

A few more such challenges and counter-challenges and then both boys were rolling and tumbling in the dirt, punching and scratching at each others' noses, covering themselves with dirt and glory.

Presently, through the fog of battle, Tom appeared, seated astride the new boy, and pounding him with his fists.

"Holler 'nuff?" demanded Tom. At last the stranger got out a smothered "Nuff," and Tom let him up and said: "Now that'll learn you, better look out who you're fooling with next time."

He got home pretty late and when his aunt saw the state of his clothes her resolution to turn his Saturday holiday into captivity at hard labor became adamant.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
In the little town of St. Petersburg, Mo., Tom Sawyer leads his happy boyhood life, marred only by the infrequent scolding from his Aunt Polly. His younger brother, Sid, traps Tom when he denies that he played hooky to go swimming. Fleeing from a licking, he encounters Joe Harper, a newcomer to the village. They fight. When Aunt Polly sees Tom's torn and disarranged clothing she promises to find work to keep him out of mischief on the following day.

Chapter Two

Saturday morning, the summer sun was bright, hearts sang, and sweet bloom fragrance filled the air. But when Tom Sawyer surveyed the thirty yards of board fence, nine feet high, that he was under orders to whitewash, life seemed hollow, and his spirit was crushed with melancholy.

Aunt Polly, followed by Sid, ushered him to the scene of his labors, and departed with the air of one whose mission had been well done. As Tom raised the brush for the first stroke, Little Jim, with a tin pail, came skipping through the gate on his way to the pump. Tom offered to fetch the water if Jim would whitewash. Jim demurred, saying Aunt Polly would "snatch de haid offen" him.

Slowly, painfully, Tom went on with his task. Soon the free boys would come tripping along on all sorts of delicious expeditions and they would deride him for having to work. Tom's sorrows multiplied with each stroke of the brush. At this dark and hopeless moment, a great inspiration burst upon him. He resumed his work with an air of intense concentration. In sight hove Joe Harper, the boy whose ridicule he had been dreading. Joe was eating an apple, but between bites whooped melodiously, for he was impersonating the steamboat "Big Missouri."

Tom paid no attention. "I'm goin' a-swimming, I am," said Joe, "but accourse you'd druther work."

"What do you call work?" said Tom, looking at Joe with feigned surprise.

Joe WAS surprised. "Why, ain't that work?"

"Well," said Tom, wielding the whitewash brush with a few artistic flourishes "all I know is, it suits Tom Sawyer."

Joe stopped nibbling his apple, and said: "Say, let me whitewash a little."

Tom pondered the proposition, finally said reluctantly: "No, no, if it was the inside I wouldn't mind and Aunt Polly wouldn't but she's awful partickler about the outside."

Joe tried bribery. He offered a Bible ticket, which Tom scorned, but finally the offer of the party eaten apple and the knob off a brass door knocker got Joe the whitewash brush.

Tom sat down on a barrel, with the apple, and grinned to himself while Joe put everything he had into his task.

By the time Joe had fagged, Tom had traded the next chance to Billy Fisher for a kite; Johnny Miller succeeded him for a dead rat and a string to swing it on.

Other opportunities developed and by mid-afternoon, Tom was generally rolling in wealth. While he sat idle, basking in plentiful company, half the boys in town emptied their pockets for the privilege of whitewashing. The fence received not one, but three coats before the whitewash ran out.

Headed home for supper, Tom passed the house where Joe Thatcher lived and saw a new girl in the garden—a lovely little blue-eyed creature with yellow hair plaited into two long tails. A certain Amy Lawrence vanished from his heart.

The angel was near the fence busy picking flowers and humming and loudly humming a tune. It redoubled the energy of her manual and horticultural efforts. Tom neared, but gave no other sign that she was conscious he existed. Tom began to show off, appearing for his own amusement. He leaped and cartwheeled, while a serenely hummed and minded his own business.

Finally she left the garden, but

Tom neared, but gave no other sign that she was conscious he existed. Tom began to show off, appearing for his own amusement. He leaped and cartwheeled, while a serenely hummed and minded his own business.

Finally she left the garden, but as she departed, tossed a pansy over the fence, as if it were a bloom rejected. To Tom, the sad-eyed little flower took on an immense significance. He edged over to it, picked it up with his toe, and nonchalantly transferred it on his hand. Then he went home, entranced.

Next day, Mary Sawyer prepared Tom for Sunday School. She made him rehearse his Bible verses, and saw that his hands and face were washed and his hair plastered conventionally in place. She crowned him with a speckled straw hat. He was uncomfortable—and looked it.

At the church, where the Thatcher family arrived at about the same time as the Sawyers, Becky gave no sign that she had seen Tom until just as she and her parents entered the Sunday school. Then she turned her head slightly and gave him the ghost of an alluring smile.

Tom's lovesick expression changed as he got an idea, collaring his various boy friends, he swiftly traded the loot he had amassed on his whitewashing deal, for Bible tickets.

When the Sunday school superintendent called for the pupil who had learned 2000 verses and had tickets to show for such diligence, Tom amazed the gathering by stepping forward to claim a Bible.

"And now my little man," said Thatcher, who as guest of honor was awarding the prizes, "no doubt you know the names of the twelve apostles. Who were the first two?"

There was a dreadful wait. Mrs. Thatcher said kindly: "Poor boy, he's frightened . . . but he'll tell me. Now, Thomas, the names of the first two apostles were?"

"Adam and Eve," said Tom desperately.

There was consternation. "I meant David and Goliath—no, Sodom and Gomorrah," Tom hastily amended.

The superintendent very properly snatched the Bible from his hands.

FILM LIFE TOUGH SLEDDING FOR SHE WHO GETS SOCKED

Carole Lombard will tell you that the new type of slapstick comedy in which girls get kicked (aft. amikships, to use nautical terminology!) and socked on the jaw, are no cinch for them.

There's a passion for realism in these films, it seems. When a kick is aimed at on's aplomb, the kick lands—heavily.

So it was a real pleasure for Carole—who has the reputation of losing her dignity more effectively than any other star on the screen—to live "soft" for a picture. And to let her black and blue spots gradually fade. She did that in "Fools for Scandal," in which she stars with Fernand Gravet.

The films in which she had been accumulating bruises were "Nothing Sacred" and "True Confession." In LeRoy's picture the socks and kicks were all of clever dialogue and situation. her part is the sort Carole does best of all her wide repertory—light romantic comedy. "Fools for Scandal" comes to the Regal on Saturday night Sunday and Monday.

County Judge Zeigler Makes Statement To Coryell Voters

To the voters of Coryell county:
It has been my privilege to serve you as County Judge for nearly three years, having filled out a portion of a term under appointment and am now serving my first election term.

Whether I have rendered the type of service in this office that you are entitled to receive at the hands of a public official is for you to say. Most of you know me, know the principles that I stand for and what my record has been, however, I would like to say that I have tried only one case that has been reversed when carried on appeal to the higher Courts. I have sought to keep the finances of the county on a sound basis feeling that the County is entitled to receive full value for every dollar spent, and I am happy to state that for the past fifteen months Coryell county has operated under the smallest bond and warrant indebtedness, that it has in over forty years. I have worked continuously for good roads and I am now in a position to say that an east and west paved highway through the County is certain, and that the prospects for the completion of Highway No. 36 south to Temple in the near future are better than they have been at time in the past.

Approximately fifty per cent of the work of this office is strictly legal work, and I feel that the legal training that I have had, plus the experience I have received during the time that I have been in this office will allow me to render better service in that position than I have been able to do in the past.

In conducting the affairs of this office I have sought to be courteous and considerate at all times. I have tried to be fair and impartial, feeling that each citizen who came into this office was entitled to equal consideration and the best service that I could render.

Upon this basis I seek your support for a second term and I extend to you in advance my appreciation for your vote and a kind word in my behalf.

Sincerely,
Floyd Zeigler.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 1

To the voters of precinct 1: I am asking you for the office of Public Weigher again. With my work it will be impossible for me to see each of you, so I am asking you for your vote in this election.

My experience in this office and dealing with the people this term makes me believe that this office should not be run in connection with any other business. I have a good set of new scales, which I had to buy two years ago, and are not owned by the city as some believe. They are carefully looked after at all times and are not run in connection with my mill. My weigher is not interested in the marketing of any thing that you have to weigh—just honest weight for buyer and seller.

I have nothing new to offer you people in weighing—just honest weighing on good new scales, State inspected and sealed; a weigher that can't be bought and will weigh you any time you want to weigh. If you want this kind of service I would greatly appreciate your vote and any favor you can show me in any way.

Thanking you,
L. A. Preston

FEDERAL POWER OFFICIAL EXPLAINS POWER OFFER

L. C. Clark, an official connected with the Buchanan Dam Power Project was the speaker and "explainer" to members of the city council and other citizens, of the offer being made by the government to bring light and power line and current to the city gates, selling this service either to a city owned service system, or to the present system in an effort to reduce rates.

According to Mr. Clark the steps necessary at this time are only that the council pass resolution that the city would consider receiving this service, and that this resolution be sent to the proper officials. Then, surveys and specifications could be offered for a PWA grant on which as we understood, 45 per cent would be granted by the PWA, and 55 per cent could be secured on long time loans, to build a new, or buy the present company owned distribution—if the citizens wished.

In other words the city was offered the service, and could reject or accept. No action was taken.

Mr. Clark highly complemented both Congressman W. R. Poage and the Congressman from his district Lyndon Johnson or the splendid work and efforts these two "youngsters" had expended for their respective constituency and stated that they had both worked wonders during their office periods, and could accomplish still more with the concerted backing of the citizens of their respective districts.

Mentioning the proposed dams and structures in this drainage area, Mr. Clark also stated, that with plenty of push and help, our federal representative from this district could make considerable showing in securing of a project of this nature for the Brazos Valley Watershed, which includes the Leon and its tributaries.

Those present were Mayor C. E. Gargly, Louis Holmes, Horace Jackson, Dawson Cooper, Pat Holt, J. O. Brown, Louis Thomson, Hurl McClellan, Elland Lovejoy, Mat Jones, John P. Reising Rufus Brown and E. Routh.

GUY M. YOUNG HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS

Should I make a thorough canvass, which I will be unable to do, I might, then, be unable to see all the voters, so vote for the "guy" who appreciates your vote. I offer service in return.

GRAD JURY BEGINS JULY TERM MON.

Monday at 9 a. m., Judge R. B. Cross will deliver his message to the Grand Jury and "The boys", those that are sworn in at this time, will start the mills of Justice working.

Of course, until you are billed by these "tried and true" gentlemen, you have nothing to fear, but they see lots, and you can find out nothing with the good door baliffs they select, until they are ready to "give" to a waiting citizenry.

It's the opening of the July '38 term of court-

"FOURTH TAKES NO CASUALTIES HERE NATION 525

Some 525 people in the United States payed the 'supreme' penalty in traffic, drowning, suicides and other accidents during their celebration of the Fourth of July. No death or incidents of any consequence happened in Coryell county.

Necrest, was a 'side-swiping' of a light roadster driven by Joe Stevenson which contained five other negroes, one of them Stevenson's wife, and a sedan driven or owned by Red Fores' father. Crumpled fenders, running boards and a bent front axle were the car injuries. Stevenson receiving a small cut. The accident happened on Highway 7 in front of the C. W. McConaughy home.

The other mix-up was on the South side of the square when A. H. Meadows and Ernest Farmer's cars met resulting in bent fenders and running boards other damage being slight. No one was injured in this accident. It happened on the fourth, about 4:30 p. m. One car was backing out from the curb when it struck the other, we are told.

Frank Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Morgan of Jonesboro, probably came off with the worst end of the fourth when he dived to close to the bottom on Cowhouse Creek and knocked a hole in his head. Medical attention fixed it, but Frank is shy some hair on top of his head. Although it hurts when he smiles or talks, he's back on the job.

NEFF PARK, JULY 17; STRICKLAND-HOUSE REUNION

Neff Park, will be the locale of the 1938 Strickland-House family reunion which will be held on Sunday July 17.

Last year, the reunion was held at Pecan Grove and some 200 people gathered for the reunion.

So far as is known now, no program will be held this year, but the affair will just be a get-together, with dinner, talking and reminiscing.

All relatives are extended an urgent invitation to be present, as well as the many friends of the two families.

ROTOGRAVURE SECTION OF STAR-TELEGRAM TO FEATURE CITY

Placards and the information has been received locally that the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram will feature Gatesville in its rotogravure section of the Sunday, July 17th issue.

Gatesville, among many of the other larger and smaller towns of central and west Texas are receiving a "real hand-shake" from this newspaper and the people back of it, and it's home city, Ft. Worth.

The News was pleased in being able to assist in a small way by marking the pictures for State Editor Presley Bryant, who mailed them here for that purpose. One picture of the State Juvenile training school was included.

ABSENTEE VOTING BRISK: MANY VOTE

Absentee voting is on the upswing, according to County Clerk Charlie Mounce, who has mailed out some seventy-nine applications to would-be voters.

Nineteen have already made up their minds that they have voted for the ones who will "save the country" and deposited their decision to be opened on that fateful day, July 23.

WORLD COMMENT

BRACK CURRY

Chips from political stumps:
Two one time political opponents met recently in Coleman and the one who had lost gave his support to the one who had won.

William McCraw and Walter Woodward were opponents in a hard fought campaign for the Democratic nomination as attorney general in 1934. It took a runoff to decide which would be attorney general.

When McCraw campaigning for governor, visited Coleman, Woodward held a reception for the attorney general at his offices. Between 300 and 400 Coleman citizens called to meet the candidate.

Woodward introduced McCraw as the Coleman Lion's Club luncheon.

"There were no hard feelings in that campaign" Woodward said, "although it was a hard fought campaign it was a clean one. Bill McCraw is a clean fighter. He has made a great record as attorney general and will make a greater one as governor. I have no hesitation in recommending his candidacy to my friends. I know Bill McCraw and I know what he will do."

Recently Clyde E. Smith, who was also a candidate for attorney general in 1934, introduced McCraw to a Tyler county crowd of his homefolks.

Dr. L. Mackechney of Wichita Falls is touring his "old stomping grounds" in East Texas in the interest of the candidacy of Tom Hunter. For 25 years he has been Hunter's family doctor and is in East Texas to tell all his old friends about the Wichita Falls candidate for governor. He is campaigning thru 20 East Texas counties on his own and at his own expense.

"If anybody knows a man, I reckon it is his family doctor" said Hunter's long time physician. "I know Tom Hunter and he is a man Texas need for governor. Last times Texas elected a governor they came mighty close to nominating Hunter and this year I am saying 'this time it's Tom's time'."

Each Texas senator has received an official envelope containing a Congressional Record tear-sheet giving the addresses of Federal officials at Washington in the send off dinner of Karl A. Crowley, gubernatorial candidate who resigned as solicitor to the United States Post Office Department.

At the top of the envelope appeared the words United States Senate and beneath it part of Congressional Record—free. It was franked under the stamp of United States Senator Kenneth McKeller of Tennessee but was postmarked at Dallas.

The envelope announced that it contained speeches delivered at testimonial dinner for the Hon. Karl A. Crowley, April 20, 1938, by the following, all names being preceded by the Honorable: Cordell Hull, Secretary of State; James M. Head, chairman of the House Committee on Post Offices and Roads; Kenneth McKeller, Senate chairman of Post Offices and Roads; Alben Barkley Senate majority leader; Homer S. Cummings, United States Attorney General; Daniel C. Roper Secretary of Commerce; Joseph C. O'Mahony, United States Sen-

STUMPIN' THE STATE— Yarbrough for attorney general Bascom Giles for land commissioner, E. B. Barnes and Charlie Lockhart for state treasurer, L. A. Woods and W. E. James for superintendent of public instructions

William McCraw, Ernest Thompson, Walter Woodul, C. V. Terrell, John Wood, George H. Shepard, W. H. McDonald, and J. E. McDonald live most of the year in Austin fulfilling the duties of their respective offices, but they list their home counties on the ballot.

Other large cities with candidates on the State ballot include Beaumont with P. D. Renfro, its former mayor for Governor; Lubbock with Senator G. H. Nelson for lieutenant governor, and with G. A. Jerry Sadler for railroad commissioner.

Five of the most prominent members of the State's delegation to the National House of Representatives have opponents. Six have filed their candidacy against Representative Fitz G. Lanham of Fort Worth.

The veteran Representative Hatten W. Summers of Dallas, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, is opposed by Leslie Jackson, Dallas attorney, who unsuccessfully sought Summers' place in 1936, and by former State Senator Thomas B. Love.

Both Jackson and Love are capitalizing upon Summers' opposition to certain new deal legislative proposals, notably the Supreme Court enlargement bill. Jackson and Love profess their 100 per cent loyalty to President Roosevelt and the new deal.

Thomas B. Love was State Representative from 1903 to 1909, serving as speaker of the Texas House and later as state senator. In 1936 he made an unsuccessful race for governor.

Representative Martin Dies of Orange is opposed in the Second District by Dr. H. G. Hendricks of Silsbee.

Representative Maury Maverick of San Antonio is challenged by Paul J. Kilday, who purportedly is backed by Mayor C. K. Quin and other democratic leaders of San Antonio.

Representative Luther Johnson of Corsicana is opposed by Judge H. Fountain Kirby of the 77th District Court at Groesbeck and Noble Cook of Thornton.

PITY THE POOR HOUSE RENTER!

Time was when SCS and Highway people filled the vacant houses in Gatesville. They are vacating daily.

Also new houses are going up regularly, but for what, we don't know, because there won't be anyone to pay rent.

Renters will move from the older houses to the newer ones, which will be alright for the new ones—but, what about the older ones.

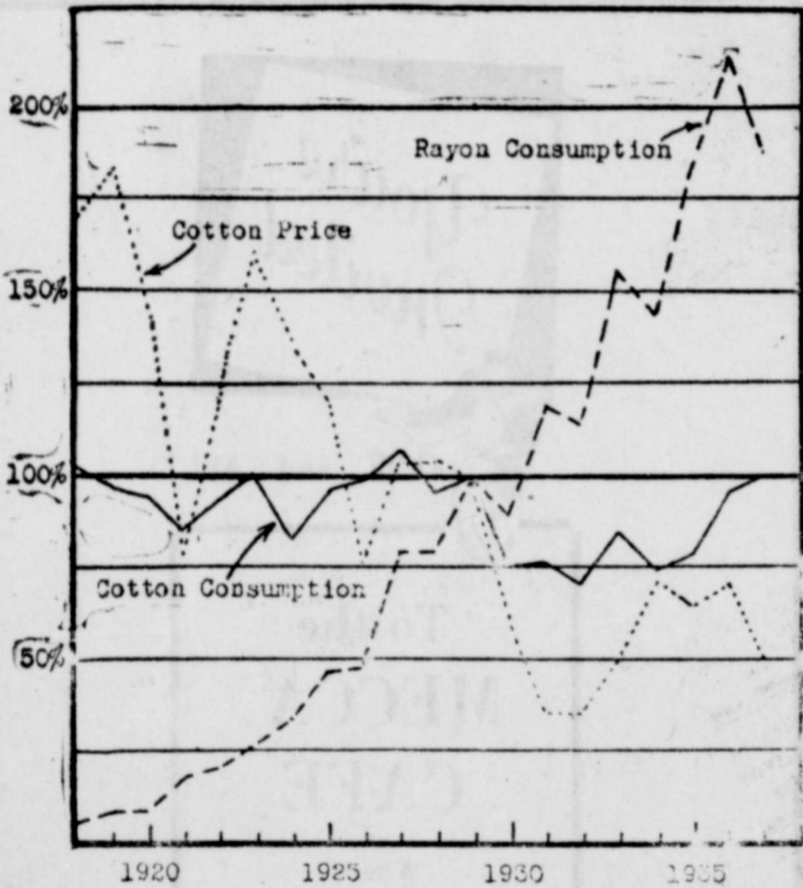

Here's where that PAY ROLL business we "agitated" some time ago comes in.

Without this payroll, which would fill houses, pay taxes buy merchandise, there's going to be some "property" poor people here, rents are going to fall to a prohibitive low, and there'll be lots of vacancies.

Fortunately, we are not rent house owners here, but we do sympathize with those who have to pay taxes, upkeep, higher insurance rates on empty houses.

We think it is up to civic organizations to encourage new businesses, new improvements, new pay rolls in Gatesville in order to protect these taxpaying house renters who are going to be on the "red" side of the ledger soon, if more folks are not attracted to Gatesville to fill the "gaps" both in the business and residential sections.

It's pay rolls that GATESVILLE NEEDS, and must have.

Cotton producers face a problem of competition that will probably be as far reaching in its effects as the decline of foreign markets," states W. E. Morgan economist of the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College. "I refer to the comparatively produced from synthetic fibers."

The 20 year trend in per capita consumption of cotton and rayon shows a sharp increase in the use of the latter fabric.

From 1918 to 1929 per capita cotton consumption in the United States remained fairly constant, and in 1929 stood at 29.4 pounds compared to 1.08 pounds for rayon. After 1929 cotton consumption dropped sharply but returned in 1936 and 1937 to near the 1929 level. Rayon consumption, on the other hand, has increased steadily since 1918 and at present is nearly twice as high as in 1929.

Cotton prices thru the 20 year period have declined in about the same manner as rayon consumption, increased, but, according to Morgan, it should not be inferred that the increased use of rayon is solely responsible for the downward trend in cotton prices.

The decrease in per capita use of cotton after 1929 and the wide increase in use of rayon since that period occurred in spite of extremely low cotton prices which in 1931 and 1932, were at about one-third of the 1929 level.

"Several important textile producing foreign countries have gone much farther in the use of synthetic fibers than the United States," Morgan pointed out. "Among these are Germany, Italy and Japan, where synthetic fiber is mixed with cotton and wool fabrics by governmental degree."

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you may need is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and thus help calm your shrieking nerves, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

Ernest Thompson, candidate for Governor, talked to 5000 citizens of Bee, Karnes, Goliad, Victoria, Refugio, Nueces, San Patricio, Kleberg, Live Oak and other counties when he was the honor guest at a barbecue on Refugio County Sheriff Ira Heard's ranch near Beeville Thursday. A part of the large crowd is shown at the top. Left center Thompson is shown receiving from Hayden Head of Corpus Christi, chairman of his Nueces county forces, the signatures of 2,000 Nueces voters, charter members of the first Thompson for Governor club in the state. Lower left, the candidate is shown dining on barbecue with Miss Clara Driscoll, prominent former Austin resident, national committee woman and known throughout the state as "the savion of the Alamogordo". Miss Driscoll warmly endorsed Thompson's candidacy from the platform. Lower right is 12-year-old Johnnie Barnhart of Beeville, who astonished the crowd with a fluent speech in which he stated that "nine years from now, when I am old enough to vote, I want to find the state in good condition, and I know it will be if we turn it over now to Col. Ernest Thompson."

WORLD COMMENT—

ator from Wyoming; James A. Farley, Postmaster General, and Crowley. Texas may continue its abbreviated pattern of State Treasurers, as Charlie Lockhart, the present 45-inch incumbent is opposed by Lewis C. Foster, Fort Worth who is near his stature. Foster's legs are withered and he uses crutches, but with slight handicap as he climbed to the fourth floor of the State capital after the elevators had stopped, to pay his fee to Secretary Vann Kennedy. A third candidate is E. B. Barnes, former clerk to Lockhart. Foster has sold hats in Texas for 24 years and balances several dozen on his head when he goes into a store. He says he has been campaigning since last summer and during that time has traveled 35,000 miles. The voters have just four oc-assions, in all the turmoil and activity of election year, to express themselves or to act in the selection of public officials. All four events take place in the period from July 23 to Nov. 8. These are the first primary and the precinct conventions on July 23, the second primary Aug. 27 and the general election in November. Chosen representatives of the electorate will meet Sept. 13 at Beaumont in state convention to declare the nominee and a party platform. Timely editorial on the political situation clipped from the Dallas Times Herald. "Candidates for governor are so numerous that not one voter in a thousand can name them. And, while the names of candidates are difficult to remember, it is even harder to keep in mind what the various platforms contain. "All this confusion is the inevitable result of the primary system. The issues involved are so badly tangled up that the races are largely personal contests. "But, while some races are overcrowded, in others there is a scarcity of participants. In Dallas county it costs so much to get on the Democratic primary ballot that many would-be candidates are barred for financial reasons. "The primary system is supposed to be democratic, but it causes thousands of citizens to waste their vote and it throws issues into the background and brings personalities to the front. "In counties where the cost of getting on the ticket is prohibitive for the average citizen, the primary system is anything but Democratic. Moreover, the cost of making a personal campaign often exceeds the salary which is paid by the office sought by the aspirant. "The ability to win votes is not always accompanied by fitness for office, but under the primary plan of direct appeal to the electorates, it is, as a rule, simply vote getting skill that determines the result. It is not too much to say that the primary system of nomination is destroying party government in this country, and is one of the major obstacles in the way of governmental efficiency."

RE-ELECT

GEO. H. SHEPPARD
STATE COMPTROLLER

A good rule to follow in public as well as private business: When a man asks you for a job, demand to know his qualifications.

George H. Sheppard is asking you for re-election as your State Comptroller. His qualifications, as outlined by a non-partisan newspaper writer in an article several months ago: "Since Sheppard has held office, a variety of improvements have been made in his department, resulting in increased collections of about $10,000,000 a year."

In other words, had a less qualified man been your comptroller, the taxpayers would have been called on for an additional $10,000,000 in taxes.

Born in McLennan County, George H. Sheppard was reared on a ranch in West Texas; was educated in the public schools; served as a teacher, a tax assessor of Nolan county; as president of the State Tax Assessors Association; as mayor of Sweetwater; as a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He was called upon to serve as Comptroller during the darkest period that office ever has known when gross inefficiencies were revealed by a Legislative investigation.

Under his administration, the State Ad Valorem Tax rate has been reduced 28c on the $100 valuation—yet state appropriations to the schools have been increased to the highest level in Texas' history. This has been possible by steadfastly holding to one aim in administering tax laws. There is but one equitable administration of taxes, and that is to collect for the state all that is due the state. To continue this high record of efficiency, re-elect George H. Sheppard.

The efficient organization which Mr. Sheppard has built is a business and not a political machine and is an effective efficient and productive one from the highly technical task of collecting a multitude of taxes and accounting for every cent and should be kept intact.

ARNOLD'S ELECTRIC WIN FIRST; SLUG MERCHANTS, 11-7

The team that was the laughing stock of the league during its first two outings did a sudden about face Tuesday night and defeated the over-confident cocky Merchants 11 to 7. The Arnold's Electricians slammed Sticky Anderson for seven runs in the closing inning to overcome a seven to four lead gathered by the Merchants in the first four innings and win their first game of this young season. Fore opened the last stanza with a single, then Hearn sent a long fly to short field, which Bradford failed to hold on to, with Fore being safe at second, and Hearn on first. Kirkpatrick struck out for the final out, but Herring doubled, sending both Hearn and Fore home with tallies leaving the score 7-6. By rom flew out to Barry, and it began to look as if the rally would fall short of its goal. White singled, sending Herring to third. Post sent a stinging double down the right field foul line, scoring Herring and White, and giving Arnold's the lead, 8-7. Bobby Arnold, portly first sacker, singled, sending Post to third. Gregory reached first when Turner dropped his long fly to right, and Post scampered home. Rutherford got on when Burns failed to come up with his grounder, Arnold scoring. Fore got to first on Barry's error, with Gregory crossing the plate with the eleventh tally. Hearn flew out to Barry. Tat's the story of the ball game. Rutherford pitched good ball the first four innings, but because of his extreme wildness, Herring relieved him and pitched the final inning. The Merchants slammed out six hits, while Arnold's combed Merchant hurler Anderson for nine safeties.

In the first game Tuesday, the Firemen took an easy 13-4 win from the T. & R. bridge gang. In the very opening round, the Firemen got eight runs off Himsley, the young hurler walking three and allowing four hits before he got settled down. Doc Ray led the smokeaters hitting getting a single, double and home run in four jaunts to the plate.

In the first game Monday night the hustling Highway team edge out an eight inning 8-7 win over the Merchants, while Coca-Cola club took a lop-sided 17 to 4 victory from the CCC camp. Tuesday night the Coca-Cola club traveled to Copperas Cove, where they met the cream of that town's softball performers, and came back on the wrong end of a 11-12 score.

In the novelty contests Wednesday night, the ladies proved to be a thriller. Camille Lester's femmes defeated Edith Lackey's squad 7 to 5, a three run rally in the last inning giving the Lester team the decision.

The Beeftrusters again fattened their softball averages at the expense of the long-faced Ridge Pole club, 30 to 18. No more needs to be said.

(f) No player will be allowed to play without a shirt of some kind.

II Managers

(a) It is up to the managers to see that your players are on the field when the game is called. Each team must have 10 players to start the game. The games start promptly at 8:00 o'clock and 9:20 o'clock respectively. Each team that does not have 10 men ready to play by 8:15 and 9:35 respectively, shall therefore forfeit the game. All games must be over by 9:15 and 10:35 respectively. (Unless a tie and the tie shall be played off.)

(b) All games rained out shall count 1/2 won and 1/2 lost.

(c) Any team using a player that has not paid his entrance fee shall forfeit that game.

III Profanity

(a) In the past, trouble has been had by players using bad language. This year profanity positively will not be tolerated.

IV Benches

(a) Benches will be furnished for regular players of both teams. Players must stay on these benches while not playing in the field or unless they are acting as coaches. No one else will be allowed to sit on these benches except the scorekeepers. No one will be allowed on the field except the four teams playing for the night.

V. At the end of the schedule the three highest teams will have a playoff. The winner of the 2nd and 3rd teams play the No 1 team for the championship playing three games each.

stumpin' the state

BY BRACK CURRY

The Wharton Spectator has announced the results of a State-wide poll of daily and weekly newspapers showing the relative strength of candidates for governor, attorney general and lieutenant governor.

Frank Shannon publisher of the paper, stated:

"Questionnaires were sent to the publishers of all daily and weekly newspapers. A tabulation of 167 replies received to date shows Attorney General William McCraw far in the lead in the governor's race, with Col. Ernest O. Thompson in second place, Tom Hunter running third and W. Lee O'Daniel for fourth position.

"Lieut. Gov. Woodul assumes an impressive lead in the race for attorney general, and on the basis of tabulated returns an excellent chance to win the nomination with out a runoff. Gerald C. Mann of Dallas is in a secure position for second place, with Ralph Yarborough holding a small advantage over Bob Calvert for third position and Lewis Goodrich trailing.

"In the lieutenant governor's race Coke Stevenson was shown to be far in the lead, with Senator G. H. Nelson securely in second place and Pierce Brooks and Smith contesting closely for third position.

"More than half the voting population of Texas is included in the counties from which returns were received."

Shannon calls attention to the fact that the average date of return in the newspaper poll was June 21. "One of the gubernatorial candidates, W. Lee O'Daniel, was off to a late start, and the poll gives little indication as to his strength or weakness," he pointed out.

W. Gregory Hatcher, Dallas, has withdrawn his candidacy for state railroad commissioner because of "financial inability to meet the enormously increased costs of making a state race."

Hatcher, from 1924 through 1930 state treasurer said he would support John Wood, former chairman of the state highway commission, now a senior member of that body. He said he was communicating with the Democratic executive committee chairman in each county asking that his name not be printed on the ballots. His withdrawal left six, counting Wood in the race for railroad commissioner.

Another endorsement for John Wood came from Judge W. R. Ely of Abilene. Declaring Texas would be fortunate to have John Wood a member of the railroad commission and that the state has never had a better highway commissioner, Ely, in a statement at Austin, formally endorsed the candidacy of the Timpson man.

Wood succeeded Judge Ely as chairman of the highway commission in 1933, but they served on the commission together for two years.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the railroad commission was endorsed in his stand on gas rate reductions by M. H. Wolfe, President of the Utility Rates Reduction Rate League, last week.

The rate reduction campaigner made his comment on Commissioner Terrell's announcement at Austin that there would be no compromise with the Lone Star Gas Company on the rate reduction so long as he (Terrell) remained a member of the commission and could prevent such a compromise with his vote.

The number of candidates for State office from largest in the history of the State. Dallas heads the list with 7 candidates on the ballot, and has a candidate in each of the four major races—governor, railroad commissioner, attorney general lieutenant governor.

Dallas candidates are William McCraw and Clarence R. Miller for governor, Pierce Brooks for lieutenant governor, Gerald C. Mann for Attorney General, Frank Morris for railroad commissioner, Charles A. Pippen for judge of the court of criminal appeals (unexpired term), and Larry Mills for commissioner of the general land office.

Fort Worth is a close second to Dallas in the number of candidates entered in the political sweepstakes with a total of 6, including three for governor. The three gubernatorial candidates are Karl A. Crowley, Clarence E. Farmer and W. Lee O'Daniel. Other Ft. Worth candidates include Robert A. Stuart for railroad commissioner, Lane Terrell for comptroller, and Lewis C. Foster for State Treasurer.

Houston, Texas' largest city, has only three contestants for the Democratic nominations. These are Joseph King and Marvin P. McCoy for governor and Walter Woodul for attorney general. Wichita Falls has a resident in west ran third in the Allred, Hunter and McDonald were Wichita Falls citizens who ran in 1934. In 1936, Hunter and Allred were again on the ballot, Allred winning in the first primary with a majority over the field of five.

Six of the State candidates list their residence on the official ballot at Austin. They are Ralph (Continued on page 3, this sec.)

FROM HOT TO COLD!
THE INTENSE HEAT OF GAS FUEL IS USED TO MAKE DRY ICE ONE OF THE COLDEST SUBSTANCES KNOWN!

ONE CENT WAS OFFERED AS A REWARD FOR THE RETURN OF KIT CARSON FAMOUS SCOUT WHEN, AS A BOY, HE RAN AWAY FROM HIS WORK!

"BUFFALO BILL"
[COL. WM. F. CODY]
KILLED 48 BUFFALOES IN 15 MINUTES AND 4280 IN EIGHTEEN MONTHS! HE MADE THE LONGEST PONY EXPRESS RIDE IN HISTORY 322 MILES—AND ONCE RODE 45 MILES IN THREE HOURS!

When a young lad (about 1819) Kit Carson, the famous scout, worked as a saddler's apprentice in Howard County, Missouri. He ran away and his employer advertised in the local paper a reward of one cent for his return.

Colonel Cody made his reputation and his famous nickname "Buffalo Bill" when he supplied buffalo meat for employees constructing the Kansas and Pacific Railroad.

Because gas fuel is clean and easy to control automatically, it is used extensively in the manufacture of CO₂ (Dry) ice, one of the coldest substances known. It is interesting to note that because of the cleanliness and flexibility of gas, 14,800,000 families in the United States use this fuel for one or more of these purposes—cooking, water heating, house heating and refrigeration.
