SATURDAY'S SW CONFERENCE GAMES TO BE BROADCAST BY HUMBLE COMPANY

The somewhat muddled South-west Conference championship race, with three teams tied for 1st place, will be considerably cleared Saturday as six Conference members engage each other in three important games. At the same time, T. C. U.'s Horned Frogs, looking for new worlds to conquer, travel north to Tulsa for a game with Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane.

That radio followers of the game may keep up with the teams they favor, on Saturday the Humble Oil & Refining Co. will broadcast all four of the games featuring Conference teams.

The first broadcast, in point of time, is that of the homecoming game in Fayetteville, Ark., between the University of Arkansas and the Rice Institute Owls, one of the trio leading the league.

Game starts at 1:50 p. m. Game No. 2, to be played in Dallas, featuring Southern Methodist University, another member of the first-place triumvirate, and Texas A. & M. College, which last Saturday came out victor over the fine Arkansas team. This game is to start at 2:20.

The third Conference contest takes place in Austin, where the Texas Longhorns engage the Baylor Bears. This game also starts at 2:20 p. m.

CAR ACCIDENT SATURDAY INJURES TWO AT CARDEN

Roy Evetts was slightly injured internally, Clayton Powell received a cut on arm and other bruises, and Gus Jones got a cut wrist, hand and knee, when the cars driven by Roy Evetts and Gus Jones collided nearly head-on at the junction of the Straw's Mill road and old Highway 7 at the Minus Clemons store.

Mr. Evetts said Wednesday they "just got their signals crossed and couldn't get out of each others' way."

Mr. Jones' car was not badly damaged, but Evetts' was pretty badly banged up.

GID GRAHAM, A FORMER RESIDENT SPOKE AT SCHOOL

Gid Graham, former resident of Coryell County, and now an Oklahoman, was a speaker at the high school, according to Miss Floy Basham.

Mr. Graham was formerly a State Senator in Oklahoma, and spoke to the students here on "Animal Life."

ELMER MAYBERRY IS BURIED THURSDAY AT LEVITA

Elmer Mayberry of Purlmela was buried yesterday at Levita following services which were held at Purlmela at 2 p. m. Mr. Mayberry was a bachelor and lived with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mayberry of Purlmela.

Mr. Mayberry died at the Mayberry home about 1:30 of self-inflicted gun shot, according to inquest statement handed to us this week.

No one witnessed the shooting, but signed statements by two people in the house at the time, stated that he had opened his mother's trunk where it is thought he got a revolver and went out in the back yard, and shortly afterward, the shot was fired.

Mr. Mayberry was about 46 years of age, and as far as is known, had no enemies, and is reported to have had considerable money saved.

J. T. LILLJEDAHN OPENS HIGHWAY GROCERY AT JONESBORO

Jonesboroans, Irelanders, Alamanites, Turnersv—well, we'd better not go too far, but—

As you'll note from the advertisement in the News today, J. T. Lilljedahl has just opened the Highway Grocery in Jonesboro, and is after your folks business, at least, a part of it.

Mr. Lilljedahl was here Wednesday and stated he would handle a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, as well as fresh and cured meats. Now, if we were buying groceries in that neighborhood, we'd certainly call on Mr. Lilljedahl.

DAVIDSON BROS. & COMPANY HAVE CIRCULARS OUT FRIDAY

But now you've probably gotten yours! They were mailed out Wednesday.

They were Davidson's circulars! If you haven't one, it'll be for your own good if you get one, and there were a great mass of them mailed out, and the multitudinous melange of masterful merchandise marked at minimum would astound even a manufacturer, much less a job house or wholesaler.

Folks, they've literally taken the bottom out of prices, and are literally putting on the best inducements we've seen in—well, anyway, a long time, to get folks to come in and look over their merchandise, and see the many values.

No foolin' folks, they're really AFTER your business, and with an unsurpassed value giving.

DR. G. W. LEE, MCGREGOR

Funeral services for Dr. G. W. Lee, 64, who was found dead near his home at McGregor Tuesday at 3 p. m. of a heart attack, were held at the grave Wednesday at 4 p. m. in Comanche Springs cemetery, with Rev. Robert A. Ritchie of McGregor officiating.

Surviving are six children: Mrs. Mamie Buckney of San Antonio, C. R. Lee of Waco, L. A. Lee of Beaumont, G. W. Lee Jr. of Washington state, Homer Lee and Miss Josephine Lee of Rockdale; two sisters, Mrs. James McMilan of Thorndale and Mrs. L. Gilchrist of Houston; one brother, W. J. Lee of Rockdale.

CONGRESSMAN POAGE GETS WPA APPROVAL OF MOUND JOB

Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage Wednesday received approval from the WPA in Washington for the school project at Mound. The outlay for this particular job is $23,933.00 of government money, sponsored by Mound Common School district.

The appropriation is carried in Presidential Letter No. 2535, dated October 31.

Congressman Poage, according to a letter received from his secretary, E. L. Uphaw, leaves for Washington shortly, where an appointment has been made with Secretary Ickes for November 7 for a hearing on the Brazos Dam, flood control and soil conservation projects, which if approved will affect this part of the Brazos Valley Water Shed.

LEON CRUSE, NEWLY EMPLOYED AT MESSENGER OFFICE

SEA BISCUIT BEATS WAR ADMIRAL BY FOUR LENGTHS

In their $15,000 race at Pimlico Wednesday Sea Biscuit threw dust in War Admirable's face and took the majority of the prize money, establishing a track record with a time of 1:56 3-5 second.

Not that folks here are especially interested in horse racing, but this just keeps the records straight, and, then, there are lots of horses in this county, still.

SCHLEY SCHOOL NEWS

Mr. Johnnie Nance of Leon Junction visited school Monday. He is a brother to our principal teacher, Mr. Herbert Nance.

Master Warren Clark was a pleasant caller in school Tuesday.

Our soup supper and Hallowe'en party was a real success. We had several contests which were very interesting and after the supper, everyone assembled to the play yard for games.

Miss Bob Scott spent Tuesday night with Dorothy Faye Wittie.

Our teacherage will soon be completed. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will occupy it. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Williams to our community.

Our school has been going on now for the past month. The children and teachers are striving to make this one of the best school years at Schley.

Mr. Nance: (in English class) Loyd, what is an adjective?

Loyd: Polly Alford.
Mr. N: Why Loyd, what do you mean?

Loyd: Well, she's always describing something.

We wonder why—
Ruth Scott goes to Mr. Jones' store so often.

Hattie Pearl Dyess is so interested in the Gatesville bus to see that it stops at the store.

Mildred Alford always watches for the children who come south of the school house each morning.

PURMELA EX-STUDENTS HAVE PARTY

The Purlmela ex-students enjoyed a Hallowe'en party Monday night at the Cow House Camp grounds. Lighted jack o'lanterns, witches, cats, etc., were hung in the trees for decorations. Spooks furnished much entertainment and it was very hard to find out who some of them were. Mrs. Cleo Huckabee was awarded a prize for looking the most like a spook.

After playing several interesting games, apples and candy were enjoyed by all. Approximately 40 young people were present.

GATESVILLE DRYGOODS CO. BUYER IN DALLAS WHOLESALE MART

Irving Bornstein, of the Gatesville Drygoods Store, was a Dallas wholesale market visitor this week where he went to buy additional merchandise for the customers of this territory.

Mr. Bornstein made the trip to make special purchases for the holiday season, and for other customers who needed special orders. Much of the fall merchandise has been sold out this fall, and the visit was primarily to complete the diminishing stocks.

It's another chance to use that $1.75 you paid for the privilege of doing your duty.

The merits of the $1.75 are out of our category, but anyway, it's your DUTY to go vote.

If you've seen the ballot, you'll think you have a big job. However, you will likely stick to one column, and as the first column on the ballot is the Democratic column, most of us will do our scratching, or else, there.

Reports from Chas. P. Mounce's County Clerk's office shows that only three ballots were mailed out and that two straggled in to vote in person.

Course the General Election don't amount to much in Texas, or don't usually, but we well remember one year when the old state went Republican, on account of some tendencies that lots of Democrats didn't like. At least, they were "one-time" Republicans.

That was the time, if you remember that the "Brown Derby" was very much in evidence and one Alfred E. Smith was a runnin'.

This year, we're to vote for old age pensions and no poll tax following the standard of Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniels.

Right now we'll pause to say, we'll be "in the shop" Tuesday evening late, and give you the election returns—if you are interested—and are here, or if you phone.

The main thing is, go do your DUTY and VOTE November 8, so you won't GROWL November 9th.

MORTON SCOTT GETS TAKEN ON FREE OFFER

Tuesday's News carried a story about Morton Scott's five free offers.

First five calling get free rides in the new Meteor La Salle Ambulance. There's one call gone already.

Thursday, Mr. Scott's new hack carried Mrs. D. E. Ramsey and her young son from the Milton Powell Memorial Hospital to their home in Waco. Even "Grandpa" J. W. Ramsey is happy about the entire affair, and says, we'll bet, there's a future Gatesville High Hornet, or may be a Waco High Tiger, since the young boy will be a resident of the "neighboring settlement." Rain from the rain gauge was given out as .37 inch up to noon yesterday. Taint much, but helps the spirits a lot, and prospects at that time were good for more.

Comments on 1938 Farm Program

By N. FOOTE, Chairman, County Committee

Now that we are nearing the close of the year 1938, it might be well to discuss several of the factors which have entered into the operation of the 1938 farm program. It will be well to bear in mind that President Roosevelt called Congress in session in the latter part of 1937 for the purpose of enacting farm legislation along with other important legislation. For various reasons the farm bill, for which the entire country waited in eager anticipation, was not finally signed until February 28th, when farmers in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas had already begun planting cotton. Naturally it is very difficult to frame farm legislation which will operate satisfactorily in all parts of the United States; and with the amendments that were later made to the farm program, it was not until April 7th that the final amendments affecting cotton was made.

Lateness

This lateness of the program apparently has been one of the outstanding objections to the program. However, along with the delay caused by slowness of enactment, it must be born in mind that there are approximately 900 cotton counties with 2½ million cotton farmers, and in view of the huge amount of work required to be completed it would seem that those in charge of the administration of the program have done exceptionally well to get the information to the farmers and to give them their allotment as soon as they did. Thus, it can be seen easily that it is not the fault of anyone in charge of the admini-tration of the program that the program for 1938 was delayed so long. The amendments which were added to the farm program were made in order to prevent undue hardships on many farmers, and the need for these amendments did not clearly show up until after the program was being put into effect, and it was then shown that there was an urgent and imperative need for amendments.

1938 FARM PROGRAM—

Lack of Understanding

No doubt a great deal of the complaint of the present program is due to the fact that the operation of the program was not fully understood. It is true it may seem at first a little complicated, but with a careful study the program comes reasonably simple. In 1938 the time was so short and the volume of work was so great in the county office that probably not enough time was spent in instructing the farmers of Coryell County in whom they could comply with the 1938 program and receive the greatest benefits. It is expected that persons in charge of the administration of the 1939 program will take more time and spend more effort in instructing the farmers of the county as to the operations of the 1939 program and attempt to make it as simple as possible and put it into common "horse sense" terms. It is always a pleasure and a privilege for those in charge of the program in Coryell County to explain to any farmer how he may plant his crops so as to receive the most amount of money.

Change in Administrative Rulings

Another one of the complaints often heard is that the administrative rulings change too frequently. It must be born in mind that the program was new and that the changes in rulings were made so that the program would more uniformly fit the various farmers of the United States. All of us should take a reasonable attitude in this matter and be as willing to concede to a change in the administrative rulings so as to help out farmers in the other sections as we would want them to concede to changes in order to help us out. It is only by give and take in the administrative rulings and ironing out from time to time the imperfections which are found to work undue hardships on different groups of farmers in the United States that the faults of the program can be eliminated. This is nothing but common sense. If a farmer were to build a barn and did not like all of the inside arrangements, it would be nothing but common sense that he change the few parts that he did not like rather than tear down the whole building. Thus it is with the farm program. It is much better to correct the bad features from time to time than it is to attempt to destroy the program or rewrite a new one for 1939 and have the same difficulties as we had with the 1938 program.

Several times in the past they made radical changes in the farm programs, and each time it has always been late and caused much confusion. The farmers of Coryell County now have a program which has been carefully worked up and have had the deep thought of some of the best minds in the United States, and every attempt should be made to keep the general outline of the program as it is and work out the imperfections of the present program from time to time as the need arises.

Cotton Allotments

Many persons felt that the individual cotton allotments were too low, but it appears that if one would make a careful study of the manner in which these allotments were made it would be found that every individual was treated on an equal basis insofar as it was humanly possible to do so. Coryell County was allotted approximately a total of 58,000 acres or approximately 27 per cent of the tillable land. One of the most important features of the present bill is that the cotton allotments were fixed by law at the time the bill was written and no individual in the County, State Office or Washington has the right to change the allotment of any person in Coryell County or any county as much as one acre. It has been said by some individuals that every farmer in the state should be allowed the same per cent. However, that would have given farmers in some sections of the State more land for cotton than they had previously been planting and would have made an unreasonable reduction for farmers in Coryell County. It would have meant that cotton allotment acres would have been taken from Coryell County and given to other counties in Texas which have not been planting to cotton in the past years. This would have worked an undue hardship on the farmers in Coryell County and would have given more cotton acres to some counties in Texas than they could have possibly used even though they had planted all their tilled land to cotton. It is nothing but right that the farmers in those counties that are equipped to farm cotton and whose lands are suitable for the raising of cotton, and who have been planting large percentage of cotton acres, should be permitted to have a larger percent of their tilled acres in cotton than those counties where the soil will not grow cotton. Each state in the southern region that grows cotton was given an allotment of acres based on the cotton that they have been producing in past years, and each county within each state was given an allotment based on the cotton it had produced in the past years. Had this not been done cotton acres would have been taken away from Texas and passed to some of the southeastern states.

40-50 Rule

This so-called 40-50 rule was an amendment to take care of many farmers who had been planting a large amount of their land to cotton, but who lived in counties where the farmers of the county as a whole had not been planting very much of their land to cotton. For example, a man who had 100 acres of farmland and had been planting 80 acres in cotton, but lived in a county that only received cotton allotment of 25 acres per 100 acres; therefore, he would only get 25 acres, but under the 40-50 rule he would get 40 acres, which is not less than 50 percent of his 1937 acreage and yet not more than 40 percent of his farmland. This is the law of the amendment.

Red Tape

There have been a great many statements made about the "red tape" connected with the farm program. Red tape is caused by the abuse of privileges. There is always a small percent of people who try to get something for nothing and who try to either ride the program or cheat the government. Thus it is necessary to set up a system of rules and regulations so that those who are not entitled to the benefits will be excluded and those who are entitled to the benefits will receive their share. This is nothing but good business. To do otherwise would cause more complaint with the program than at present because no one wants to fully comply with the program and see part of the money which he is entitled to go to some individual who rides the program and does not meet his requirements. Therefore, whenever you hear someone complaining of red tape you may well bear this in mind that the red tape is a protection of the honest folks against those who would get something for nothing. Any program which will help the farmers, and thus directly affect the business men of Coryell County, will call for adjustments; a give and take attitude on the part of all; corrections from time to time as the need arises; a full understanding of what the present program covers; and certainly enough time for the results of the program to be shown. Have you ever read the bill in full to see how much it really covers? Part of it is technical, but the rest is full of valuable information and will give a broader understanding of the means that the United States Department of Agriculture is using to help the farmers of Coryell County. A great many of us often comment on the program from hearsay, rumor, or general gossip, without really knowing what we are talking about. It certainly appears that it would be common sense to become informed on the program and what it is attempting to do before criticism is offered. Think it over.

SPORT SCRAPS

By JONES

Hornets rest this week.

At least that's the way a sports writer would say it! It isn't so! They are catching it "without glory" this week, and in large doses, they're getting ready for some Bulldogs from up Hamilton way. And what we mean, they're certainly learning to "take it!"

We've heard something more about Pearl's great 6-man team. They tell us, there's another unfortunate (like ourselves) named Jones, that's something that worries any position. One of those from Pearl who's "in the know" says he's, well, he's got everything.

Right now we want to go on record in stating to Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, that along with others, we think Gatesville ought to have a 6-man bi-district play off, with whoever wins this district taking on any other district in a bi-district championship game in the "Mule Bowl" right here, or, if it is O. K. with the coaches of the two contending teams, on a home and home series basis.

The "B's" Hornet variety took on the Crawford high boys last night, a benefit for the Hornet Club, and (Wednesday night) we hope the fans have helped, financially. If you didn't there's liable to be a "hat" coming your way, and should.

SWC games this week, with Humble doing the broadcasting, include: Baylor - Texas, Austin; A & M-S. M. U., Dallas; Rice-Ark., at Fayetteville, Ark.; TCU-Tulsa, at Tulsa, Okla. As for what we'll take: Baylor, SMU., Arkansas, and TCU.

Six-man sees the two highs tangling, Pearl-Ireland. Pearl took Ireland once, 52-0, but we don't know about this next, since Ireland is steamed up to break even.

Flat plays at Turnersville, and in their previous meeting under the lights here, Turnersville took Flat 32-0. So that's liable to be a battle.

Doc Hamilton, with the side kicks, Ashcroft (Dr. Pepper) and Gibson (7-Up) are so far this season, the leading pin artists, their hi scores still holding.

With the conference (Class B) games getting over soon, we're asking for your selections as follows:

Two ends, 2 guards, 2 tackles, 1 center, 2 half backs, 1 full back, and one quarter back. Also, list: best passer, punter, line plunger, and captain. Get these selections in to the News office.

MOVED TO IRENE

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mack and son moved to Irene, Hill County, this week to make their home.

Mr. Mack has a small farm there and will live on that. After 12 years of indoor work here in the cabinet shop, Mr. Mack states that he was advised to get out for benefit of his health.

TURNERSVILLE

Mrs. J. R. Cooper is visiting in Gatesville this week.

Mrs. Martin Clary is home after spending the past ten days in Houston visiting her brother, Rev. J. H. Fredane, and attending the Eastern Star Convention.

Mrs. George Holder of Mt. Calm was a week end visitor in the Truman and R. M. Holder homes.

Frank Holder and family of Mt. Calm were visitors over the week end in the Truman and R. M. Holder homes.

Emmitt Hollingsworth and wife, Wiley Mangum and wife and Mrs. Claud Buster were Belton visitors Sunday.

MOUNTAIN NEWS

Rev. Hollis Yeilding is to preach Sunday morning. Everyone is invited to attend.

The death angel visited the Orphord home, taking Mrs. Orphord. She passed away peacefully and quietly in her home. Funeral services were held on Saturday evening, October 29.

Those visiting in the D. J. Fisher home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jay, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher, Miss Thelmarie McCarver, and Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Moore of Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shirley are the proud parents of a new boy, born Saturday, October 29. He has been given the name Joe Frank. Mrs. Shirley's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades, are visiting with them.

Mr. Warn Upton of Izora is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. I. Chambers.

Tommy Barton and Durth Chambers visited Junior Loer Sunday.

Those visiting in the Mrs. Joe

Shirley home Tuesday were Mrs. Reuben Fry, Mrs. I. I. Chambers, Mrs. Jess McCarver, Mrs. Floy Cooper, Mrs. Otha McCarver, Mrs. Stoll and daughter, Ester.

Health of this community is good at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tine McCarver have moved back to their home here on the farm.

COUNTYLINER NEWS

Everyone enjoyed the singing at the Countyline School house Sunday night. There was a large crowd from Gatesville, Flat, The Grove, and several other places.

Mr. Bonnie Kellum from Waco visited Mr. and Mrs. Odis Lambright Monday night.

This community was made sad by the passing away of Mrs. Homer Ballard. She was buried in the Flent Creek cemetery. She is survived by her husband, three sons and five daughters. Mrs. Ballard lived with her daughter at Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Lambright of Corpus Christi visited their sister and brother, Mrs. D. D. Dixon and Mr. Odis Lambright recently.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watts are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes, at Moffet.

Mrs. L. A. Dixon visited Mrs. Pete Lawson recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fuller of Silver City visited Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wolff Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lum Luckey of The Grove spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Luckey.

CORYELL CHURCH

Rev. Robert Smith and wife of Waco preached at the church Sunday. Quite a large number were present.

The Hallowe'en entertainment at Crawford was well represented by this community.

Mr. Lee Hickerson and family were seen in our community last Sunday.

Mrs. F. F. Simmons is visiting her son, James Simmons, of the Pecan Grove community.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis King visited Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Riddle Sunday.

PURMELA SCHOOL NEWS

The community 4-Square club held its first meeting last Friday night. New officers elected for this year are B. B. Comer, president; C. T. Hoard, vice president; and Antonece Bertrand, secretary. The next regular meeting will be the fourth Friday night in Nov.

Members of the rhythm band were pleasantly surprised Monday when their sponsor, Mrs. Huckabee and Mrs. Warden, entertained them with a Hallowe'en party. Games were played and the social climaxed with an old fashioned apple bobbing, followed with "witch" and Jack O'Lantern faces on lollypops and Hallowe'en horns and snappers. Everyone decided to work harder if possible in the future and maybe there would be another surprise.

Senior boys, junior boys, basketball teams, and girls volleyball team journeyed to Plainview last Friday and enjoyed games with teams of that school. We were defeated in all games but enjoyed the visit just the same and are looking forward to being host to the Plainview teams in the near future.

Junior boys and a sub-junior mixed team of playground ball played Arnett teams on Tuesday winning one game and losing the other. Again the fun was in the playing rather than in the winning or losing and we plan to welcome the Arnett teams to our school when they return the games.

Members of the sixth and seventh grade room feel really "dressed up" now that they have some new window shades. This was a much needed item and one well appreciated by all.

The primary room and lower intermediate room have new window boxes and are enjoying planting seeds to watch the plants grow and thereby plan to learn more about things around us. Later they plan to have flower beds on the school ground as their part of a general school beautifying program.

SCHOOLS — THEN AND NOW

By BETTYE BARSTOWE

Much is said these days about the passing of the little red school house, and much grief is expressed over its disappearance.

Do you remember how we kids hurried off in the early winter mornings, sometimes before the sun came up, to walk the two or three miles to school? We must be there by 8:30 or we would be tardy. "Books took up" at that early hour, so that there would be time for all the lessons. Our school term was from three to five months, so everybody had time to gather the crop before school began. School usually started about the middle or last of November, and do you remember how we sometimes beat the teacher there and had to build our own fire. The stove was an old fashioned box one and stood in one end of the room building. We hung our coats and hats on nails driven in the wall and set our lunches on the floor in a corner. The seats were all double ones with usually a desk. If we had no desk we stacked our books on the floor. The books were all bought by the parents.

Do you remember how long you had to wait for a new reader because there was no one going to town that week? Remember how cold the wind came up through the cracks in the floor and thru the broken windows? The windows were always getting mysteriously broken especially on the north side of the house. There were usually from forty to sixty pupils enrolled, with one teacher to handle all classes. We had no such things as grades. There were children all the way from beginners to geometry, physics and the like. The teacher was sometimes a girl of 20 or thereabouts, who was expected to handle this mob for the magnificent salary of $50 to $75 per month. They really earned their money.

You surely haven't forgotten the thrill of taking the tin water bucket just before recess and going to the branch for water and how we all fought over the dipper when you returned. Sometimes there were two dippers and maybe two buckets, if so the smaller children, who were last, got a drink sooner. We all drank out of the same dipper. If anyone had brought a drinking cup he would have been considered a terrible crank and "stuck up."

Of course you remember the "dinner bucket," filled with sandwiches of biscuits and meat and maybe some cookies. How we did quarrel over whose time it was to carry the family dinner bucket. We never heard of school lunches in those days, and wasn't that left-over bread and meat fine eating on the way home in the evening?

On Friday afternoons we had a "spelling match," not a spelling bee, and a few speeches (not readings) by some of the pupils, or scholars as they were then called. On the last day of school we took an extra nice dinner and all of us spread our dinners together. In the afternoon a few parents came in to hear our little program, or speeches. Occasionally an extra ambitious teacher got up an "exhibition," or "concert" which was a longer program given at night.

Oh, those were the good old days!

Now for nine months out of each year the big motor busses come by about eight o'clock in the mornings and take our children to a school where each teacher is a specialist in the subject he or she teaches. The bus is closed so the children are kept warm and dry on the way. The school building is properly heated and kept so all day. All buildings are equipped with sanitary fountains, etc. There are separate buildings for different ages, also separate grounds.

Even the lunches are different, dainty sandwiches, each wrapped separately, sweets, fruits and often milk or cocoa. The smaller children have a supervised lunch hour so that they may eat the proper amount in the proper manner.

We may grumble and wish for the old days, but we really don't mean a word of what we say. We complain at the expense of the family automobile but not one of us want to go back to a horse and buggy. So it is with schools. The modern school is far from perfect, but we are marching on!

BEARS WILL TRY TO MOUNT TEXAS STEERS AT AUSTIN SAT.

Waco, Texas, Nov. 4.—Those Baylor Bears, held back twice on successive weekends will be battling to edge back into the win column Saturday when they invade Austin for their encounter with Texas University Longhorns.

The tilt will be the fourth conference start for both clubs, the steers having dropped their opening games in straight order, while the Bruins have managed to come through with a win and a tie to throw up against the humiliating 39 to 7 setback at the hands of T. C. U. last week.

It will be a different Baylor team that takes on Texas this weekend as the Bruins will be out to avenge the 9-6 upset handed them last year when they were riding at the top of the conference standings. Only five members of last year's starting lineup are missing from this year's eleven and the holdovers are determined to even the count.

The game will find a back-sliding Baylor eleven up against an up and coming Texas team that gets stronger and stronger as the games roll by. The Steers will get

YOUR FLAG AND MINE, AND HOW TO RESPECT IT

When the Flag is suspended over a sidewalk from a rope, extending from a house to a pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the Flag should be hoisted out from the building, towards the pole, union first.

When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, the Flag of the United States of America should be on the right, (the Flag's own right) and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

When displayed over the middle of the street, the Flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and a break in catching the Bruins after two hard tussles with the Aggies and Frogs and while on their way up, should provide plenty of entertainment for the Bears.

The Bruins' hopes rest on the ability of Bullet Patterson to break through the stout Texas defense. In all the conference games to date, the Hillsboro chunker has been the only offensive threat the Bears have had. Meanwhile the Longhorns were putting up a surprisingly good pass defense game against Rice and S. M. U.

ABILENE CHRISTIAN COLLEGE PLANS FOR BIGGEST HOME-COMING IN TEXAS

Abilene, Texas.—With Abilene Christian College football team in the race for the Texas conference championship, the first time in several years, interest is running high in the annual homecoming slated for November 11 and 12.

First thing Saturday morning will be the chapel program at 9:30 followed at noon by the seventh annual West Texas barbecue with everyone invited to be guests of the college. The football game is set for 2:30 on Morris Field.

The "C" club banquet and the ex-students meeting to elect officers for the coming year, are foremost in Saturday night's program with arrangements to be announced soon on banquets by other organizations of the college in honor of their old members who will be visiting the campus during the two day affair.

REDUCTIONS IN FIRE RATE ARE GIVEN JONESBORO BY COMMISSION

State Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall today announced fire reductions in fire insurance "key" rate for Jonesboro, along with eight other Texas towns.

These rates, effective November 1st, are given to Jonesboro, with the following explanation as to the reason:

The rate is "100-99" which, not being insured minded, we don't understand, but maybe those—well, maybe you do.

When the Flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of a building, the union of the Flag should go clear to the peak of the staff (unless the Flag is to be displayed at half-staff.)

Salute to the Flag

During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the Flag, or when the Flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the Flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right hand salute. Those men not in uniform should remove their head-dress with the right hand and hold it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the Flag in a moving column is rendered as the Flag passes.

When carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the Flag of the United States should be either on the marching right, or when there is a line of other flags, the Flag of the United States may be in front of the center of that line.

When a number of flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs with the Flag of the United States, the latter should be at the center or at the highest point of the group.

When the flag of states or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the Flag of the United States, the latter should always be at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs the Flag should be hoisted first and lowered last.

At Funerals

When used to cover a casket, the Flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder of deceased. The Flag should not be lowered into the grave or allowed to touch the ground. The casket should be carried foot first.

PAYROLL OR DOLE?

It makes a whale of a difference whether people are on the payroll or on the dole, and it makes just as much difference with livestock. It may be necessary, sometimes, to go on a "drouth" ration, doling out just enough food or feed to keep life in the animal, but neither man, beast nor fowl goes long on a bare "maintenance ration, without losing something that cannot be regained. If the ration is unbalanced the body must draw on its reserves for the deficiency elements, resulting in depleted vigor. If the ration is balanced—that is if it contains all the essentials—and is yet too skimpy, the result is worse, for it takes more to regain the loss than to hold normal growth in the first place. Feed has only one purpose—to be fed. The worst possible disposition to make of it is to peddle it on a cash market for less than cost of production; the next most wasteful use of feed is to dole it out stingily or to feed it in the wrong way to the wrong kind of stock. It takes a certain amount of feed to keep up normal body functions, and unless more is fed and digested there will be no gains in weight, no eggs, or no milk. It is especially important at this time to keep turkeys on a full balanced ration until they go to market, and laying hens must have what it takes to produce eggs during the next few months, when the price is best. If all the elements of a good ration are not produced on the farm—and it is seldom that they are—whatever is lacking must be purchased. The primary purpose of course is to sell home-grown feed to the best advantage, and the ration should be built around the feeds that are available. But it is not possible to get the best returns from one kind of grain alone, from carbohydrate feeds alone, or from any other unbalanced combination. There is no excuse for haphazard feeding methods when the information can be had from county agents or from bulletins of the agricultural colleges which enable the feeder to work out a ration which uses as much as practicable of home grown feeds, and yet get the best results from their use. Everyone now knows that a protein supplement makes corn or other carbohydrate grain go farther in pork production, and it is therefore economy to buy whatever is necessary rather than fatten hogs on corn alone. The same principle applies in every kind of livestock and poultry. Growing and laying mashers are used by every good turkey raiser and egg roducer, according to the needs of the fowls. To withhold either quality or quantity in feed is to reduce the profits in the long run, even if at the moment it saves cash outlay. In these short sketches it is impractical to discuss details, or to lay out rations for general use. Such a variety of feeds is grown in the Southwest that it would take a book to explain their uses with various types of animals and fowls, and for the several purposes of breeding, growing, fattening, and egg or milk production for which livestock is kept. Every farmer must decide for himself how to best use his feed, and if he has not already learned how to figure a ration based on what he grows and the kind of livestock he has, he can secure the information by going to the right sources. The F. F. A. boys and the 4-H club boys are learning these things in their daily work under vocational agriculture teachers and county agents, and they have made proud records in livestock and poultry production, which their fathers may well emulate.

The Fords Tell Their Plans for 1939

IF WE KNEW anything better we could do for the country than make good motor cars, we would do it.

By every one doing his best in the job he thinks most useful, this country is going to regain its momentum. We have tried to do our best in our job.

When business was suddenly halted in its recovery more than a year ago, we determined that we should keep going anyway, if not at full-volume motor car production, then at getting ready for greater motor car values that would help future production.

EXPANDING FOR THE FUTURE

We began to build 34 million dollars' worth of new plants and equipment. We felt that if we could not employ all our men building motor cars, we would employ as many as we could building better production facilities.

We were told, of course, that this was no time for expansion, that a wiser business policy would be to "hold everything"—which means, stop everything. But no one ever got anywhere standing still.

Besides, we are not defeatists. We do not believe this country has seen its best days. We believe this country is yet in the infancy of its growth. We believe that every atom of faith invested in our Country and our People will be amply justified by the future. We believe America is just beginning. Never yet have our People seen real Prosperity. Never yet have we seen adequate Production. But we shall see it! That is the assurance in which we have built.

Business is not just coming back. It will have to be brought back. That is now becoming well understood in this country; for that reason 1939 will be a co-operative year. Manufacturers, sellers and buyers will co-operate to bring back the business that is waiting to be brought back.

This construction program is almost completed. It has increased activity and payrolls in a number of related industries. It has given us better facilities for building better cars and trucks, and eventually our new tractor which is being perfected.

THIS MEANS MORE VALUE

The current program has provided a new tire plant, which will turn out a part of our tire requirements . . . a new tool and die plant that will help us cut the cost of dies . . . and a steel-press plant that will enable us to make more of our own automobile bodies. These are in addition to the plants we already had for producing glass, iron, steel, plastics, and many other things.

We don't supply all our own needs, of course, and never expect to. The Ford engine is one thing that no one's hand touches but ours. Of nearly everything else we use we build some quantity ourselves, to find, if possible, better and more economical ways of doing it. The experience and knowledge we gain are freely shared with our suppliers, and with other industries.

Henry and Edsel Ford, on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company, June 16, 1938

We take no profit on anything we make for ourselves and sell to ourselves. Every operation, from the Ford ships which first bring iron ore to the Rouge, is figured at accurate cost. The only profit is on the finished result—the car or truck as it comes off the line. Some years, there is no profit for us. But we see to it that our customers always profit. A basic article of our business creed is that no sale is economically constructive unless it profits the buyer as much as or more than the seller.

Our new plants have helped us build more value into all our cars for 1939. That means more profit on the purchase to the purchaser.

We have not cut quality to reduce costs. We simply will not build anything inferior.

NEW TESTING EQUIPMENT

While we were putting up new plants to produce cars, we constructed new equipment to test them. The first weather tunnel of its kind ever built for automobile research went into operation at our laboratories this year.

It makes any kind of weather to order. The weather it delivers every day would take months to find in Nature. Our cars are weather-tested to give you good service in any climate anywhere.

In other tests, every part of the car is punished unmercifully. Then our engineers tear it down to see if they can find abnormal wear or any sign of weakness.

The money we spend on tests saves you money on repairs. And your family car is safer and more dependable when we put it in your hands.

THE NEW CARS

We have two new Ford cars for 1939—better cars and better looking—but we also have an entirely new car.

It's called the Mercury 8. It fits into our line between the De Luxe Ford and the Lincoln-Zephyr. It is larger than the Ford, with 116-inch wheelbase, hydraulic brakes, and a new 95-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine.

We know that our 1939 cars are cars of good quality. We think they're fine values in their price classes.

With new cars, new plants, new equipment, the whole Ford organization is geared to go forward.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY, Dearborn, Michigan

Prepare Your Car for WINTER HEAT

THE chief cause of all Winter driving troubles—one least likely to be suspected by the average car owner—has at last been identified. Heat, not cold, is the real Winter villain under the hood, automotive experts find.

Excess heat is so much the injurious Winter factor that practically all cases of freeze-up are traceable to it. The answer is that engine temperatures get so high that they cause unseen boiling in the engine. This unseen boiling occurs around "hot spots" which are to be found in every motor. The boiling generates steam, and this steam, seeking to escape, pushes the anti-freeze solution out of the overflow pipe. At the same time, excess heat in the engine will evaporate any anti-freeze solution containing alcohol, robbing it of its protective properties.

So long as a car which has lost much of its anti-freeze solution continues to be driven, it obviously cannot freeze. It can, however, and will, overheat very rapidly. This overheating may crack the cylinder head and block. It can also gum and score pistons, burn and gum valves, and scuff cylinder walls. It can even melt an aluminum cylinder head.

When low boiling point anti-freeze is used, the Winter driver's problem is further complicated, engineers point out, because high temperatures are a necessity in the modern high compression engine. High temperatures are also necessary to operate a car heater. A thermostat that opens when the heat in the engine reaches 160 degrees enables the average car heater to operate satisfactorily. This also means that 160 degrees will be approximately the lowest temperature at which the motor can run after it is warmed up.

Despite all safeguards, this minimum temperature gets out of control at one point of the motor's operation. This is when the driver slows up or stops. Due to the heat built up in the engine, and the retarding or stopping of the fan and water pump, the temperature will rise 20 degrees, or higher, to 180 degrees or more. With an anti-freeze such as a 50 per cent solution of alcohol, which has a boiling point of 180 degrees, boiling immediately starts at the hottest points in the engine. This at once generates steam, which forces the anti-freeze from the engine into the radiator and out on to the ground.

The one perfect safeguard for the Winter driver, the engineers agree, and the only one necessary, is the use of high boiling point permanent anti-freeze. With a 50 per cent solution of this type of anti-freeze, the boiling point cannot be reached short of 226 degrees. The car owner is thus fully protected because he has a super-safety margin of more than 45 degrees over that provided by alcohol solutions of the same concentration.

Providing the owner has had the car's cooling system thoroughly cleaned and checked, and all connections tightened, before putting in the permanent anti-freeze, he should be able to drive throughout the Winter, the experts conclude, and get as good motor performance as he does during the Summer months.

COTTON PICKING TIME

By Bettye Barstowe

"Cotton Picking" is a great time. Here in the hill country it is mostly a time of family cooperation as we have such small crops that outside help isn't often necessary.

The days are long and hot and backs ache from too much bending and knees are sore from too much crawling, but the crop must be gathered.

Sonny watches the sky for the clouds, hoping that rain will come so that he and sister can have time to play. Dad urges them to "hurry and get the bale out, then you can go to the gin." You can see them at the gin or in the road most any day. Faces scrubbed and clean, little new coveralls and their good straw hats, delighted with everything from the candy which will soon be smeared on hands and faces to the big gin with all its noise.

Sid and Molly are left at home to start the new bale. They have outgrown such nonsense as going to the gin, and besides they are anxious to get through picking cotton, because school starts week after next. It sure is hard to see the bus pass loaded with all their friends and they still picking cotton. When Molly is compelled to stay at home she had much rather mother would fib a little when writing an excuse. It would sound much better to her ears to say, "Molly was absent from school on account of illness" than "Molly had to pick cotton." Sid pretends he doesn't care but all the time he's wondering how many field trips the other FFA boys are making, and wishing he could be with them.

Mother isn't idle during this busy time. Her mornings are filled with house work, trying to get enough cooked to satisfy those hungry cotton pickers and probably a little sewing, washing or ironing on the side. In the afternoons she can pick a "weighing" or two of cotton before time to do the chores. Any leisure she has she will be looking at catalogs and newspaper ads trying to plan the best way to stretch the cotton money. There is the land note or rent, comes first. The doctor must be paid for his visits last spring when Dad was sick. There are dozens of small obligations, and the children must have school clothes. This must all be managed some way with the short crop we have this year. Mother's task is no small one.

There is a lot to cotton picking time besides hard work, there is even romance sometimes. Once there was a young man who was heart broken over the death of his wife in the spring. When fall came he and his little boy started picking cotton in the same field with a young lady. He seemed to find great consolation in picking the row next to hers. There was a wedding before Christmas, and they have lived together happily or otherwise for many years. I knew another couple who were married after two weeks' acquaintance spent together in the cotton patch. So boys, if you are discouraged over your failure to find a hard working wife, try the cotton patch, after all cotton picking is one of the most important, though poorest paid, industries. What would modern civilization do without cotton? It is used in some way in nearly every thing. Cotton is food, clothing, and shelter.

There has been, so far, no successful cotton picking machine invented, so all honor to cotton pickers and cotton picking time! The planet Saturn is lighter than water.

TIRES FOR EVERY SERVICE

The extra mileage that Mansfield Tire users have received during the past twenty-five years has been responsible for the fact that the Company has grown steadily until it is now one of the six largest producers in the tire industry. Mansfield distributors dot the continent from coast to coast.

Mansfield Mudders

Designed and built to do just what their name implies — take you through the mud, slush, snow on any type of road, on their wide angled, heavy cleated treads.

Mansfield Cushion Balloons

Today's cars — built for small diameter wheels and low air-pressures — need special tires for high speed service. Mansfield Cushion Balloons bring out all the sparkling performance built into modern cars.

● There's a Mansfield Tire built to give extra mileage and extra safety on any make car or truck you drive — on any kind of work, in any season of the year, over all kinds of roads. That's the reason we are stocking them, yes, and selling them to your friends and neighbors who already have had the opportunity to see the extra safety, economy and performance of Mansfield Tires.

THREE WAYS SAFER

Mansfield Tires are three ways safer because they are built three ways differently from other tires. For instance, Cord-Lock construction puts 31% more full weight cord fabric into the sidewalls, reinforcing the tire against flexing strains. The high tensile, steel piano wire beads are seven times as strong as actually needed. Mansfield treads are made of tougher Duro-mix rubber, today still more resistant to high speed wear and pavement "burn" from fast starts and quick stops. Every Mansfield Tire gives you most mileage than you pay for.

CHAPTER VI

IN Duluth, once, Fields was annoyed by a particularly obnoxious bellboy, who obviously considered himself above his position and not only did his work in a surly manner but frequently hurled insults at the guests. Fields wasn't used to being insulted and on the day he was leaving the hotel a particularly bitter argument ensued. Fields threatened to punch the bellboy, who responded by refusing to carry Fields' bags and reported to the clerk that Fields had insulted him.

When Fields reached the lobby the clerk, a husky individual, and a couple of porters were waiting for him. They made threatening gestures and Fields decided to depart in a hurry. He didn't even stop to pay his bill but bolted through the revolving door with all four in hot pursuit.

The streets were icy and Fields went down, baggage and all. The pursuers tripped over him and all were in a surging mass. Across the street was a saloon. Somebody observed what he thought was a fight and the entire population of the bar charged across the street. Glee-fully they joined in the fray.

From his recumbent position, Mr. Fields ob-

New York to find that the troupe already had departed for Syracuse, and was scheduled to start a tryout run the following night. Fields hastily loaded all of his paraphernalia on a train and fled to Syracuse. He arrived in time to fill his spot and did his customary act which was received sensationally by a hilarious audience.

Well pleased with himself, Fields read the notices in the papers the following day, which were more than satisfactory, and went to the theater.

"Hello, Bill," said the manager. "Got a little bad news, I'm afraid. Your act is good but the show's too long. We're cutting you out."

As it happened, it was really a big break for Fields. Gene Buck, talent scout for Ziegfeld, had seen the show and liked Fields' work. As soon as he heard the comedian was being dropped, ter that he returned to the stage and did not go back into pictures again until 1931, when he was almost broke.

Fields has his own explanation for the fact that he once had to drop out of pictures.

"All my life," he points out, "I had earned my living by entertaining people. I figured I had a vague idea what people liked and what they would laugh at. I knew what I could do best and what I couldn't do.

"So when I signed my first contract to make pictures the studio heads told me my worries were over. I could go out and play golf. Meanwhile they had experts who would write comedy and funny lines, other experts who would figure out things for me to wear and things for me to do. More experts would tell me how to do them. I could just loaf until they wanted me and then I could come into the studio and just follow directions.

"I did. And when my contract was up, it not only wasn't renewed but nobody else would have me. So I went back to the stage."

Fields stayed on the boards until 1931. Meanwhile he had lost almost his entire fortune. He went to Hollywood and vainly sought work. He went to one studio and made them a proposition to write, star in and direct a two-reel snort for no money whatsoever. If the comedy got over, then the studio was to give him a contract to make more shorts. He was turned down cold.

Finally Mack Sennett gave him a chance and Bill almost lost his life, twice. Once he was supposed to ride a bicycle into the back end of a truck and fall to the ground. He did but the truck didn't stop. In the fall, Bill had broken a vertebra in his neck and, unable to move, was directly in the path of the truck's wheels. Johnny Sinclair, then a stunt man, not a comedy writer, yanked Fields out just in time. They loaded the comedian into the back end of a sedan. A man sat on each side of him, bracing him erect. Fields held his head upright with his hands and they raced to the hospital. He was in bed for months.

served that help had arrived. He didn't know or care whence it came. Retrieving his bags from under the mass of stamping feet, he crawled on hands and knees through a wilderness of legs to safety. Then he regained his feet and departed speedily for the station, noting with pleasure that a platoon of police was on the way to restore order. He carefully avoided Duluth after that.

While he was in Australia, Fields made the world's longest journey for a one-night stand. His tour of Australia was just about finished and he was scheduled to leave for India, when he got a cablegram offering him a part in a New York show.

Despite his fame, Fields never had been starred on Broadway, and he jubilantly accepted the invitation. He boarded the first available steamer—which happened to be a slow one—and for 49 days and 49 nights he impatiently awaited the end of the voyage. He arrived in he promptly signed him for the "Follies," and Fields stayed with Ziegfeld nine years.

During that time he worked with almost every well known comedian of the day. Will Rogers, Ed Wynn, Eddie Cantor, Bert Williams and dozens of others appeared in the same shows with Fields. He also did "Poppy" on the stage and worked in George White's "Scandals." He developed his famous billiard act and golf act while he was with the "Follies."

In 1925, David Wark Griffith was planning to make "Sally of the Sawdust" for the screen. He had seen Fields on the stage in "Poppy," and asked him to play the important role of "Dr. Eustace McGargle," the same role that Fields is playing today in the talking version of "Poppy," which marks his return to the screen after an absence of a year, because of a serious illness.

He was an instant hit and followed that picture with "That Royal Girl," "It's The Old Army Game," "So's Your Old Man," "The Potters," "Running Wild," "Two Flaming Youths," "Tillie's Punctured Romance," and "Fools For Luck." Al-

It is known that the sense of smell is highly developed in fish, and it is believed that this sense, combined with that of touch, plays a much greater part in securing food than does the sight.

THE J. S. POOLE FARM BEING IMPROVED UNDER CCC SUPERVISION

Nov. 3, 1938.—The farm of J. S. Poole, recent SCS Cooperator in the Soil Conservation Service promises to be one of the best demonstrational units in the entire camp area of CCC Camp of Gatesville.

Mr. Poole's farm, located 4.5 miles west of Mosheim, consists of 431 acres of which 88 acres are in cultivation. These 88 acres are to be treated with strip cropping of the half-and-half method, contour tillage and drainage terraces with outlet channels for proper diversion of water falling on this land.

The 343 acres of pasture land is to be contour furrowed and some 10 acres are to be sodded to increase grazing potability. It is to be cross-fenced to allow both summer and winter grazing of goats, cattle and other livestock and mixed grazing.

Practically all of the fencing on the farm will be renewed or re-located. New fence is to be placed along the entire east side of the farm along the roadside which will greatly improve the appearance of the place from the road.

Work is progressing rapidly and will be completed in the near future and anyone interested in this type of work in conservation is invited to inspect the place at any time.
