GATESVILLE TEAM TAKES BELTON WOW 2-1 SUN.

Gatesville's Baseball Team took the Belton WOW team Sunday afternoon here at the old Athletic field with a score of 2-1.

McBroom went the route, allowing only one run, and backed up by an air tight defense.

Perryman, out of four trips to the plate, got a three bagger and a single, and along with Bauman, accounted for Gatesville's 2 runs.

Only three errors marred the afternoon's playing for the Gatesville aggregation. Belton infield blew up in the 10th frame, allowing the final run.

PRESBYTERIANS TO START REVIVAL MEETING ON WEDNESDAY EVE

Beginning with a fellowship supper and devotional message, the Spring Revival and Evangelistic Meeting of the First Presbyterian Church will begin tomorrow night.

Members and friends are asked to bring covered dishes for the supper which will begin tomorrow at seven o'clock. At the conclusion of the meal, there will be a period of worship, and the pastor will speak briefly on the subject, "Priestly Responsibility."

Thursday night, traditionally "Maundy Thursday," has been designated for the celebration of the Lord's Supper. Worship will begin at 7:30, and Communion will follow a message by the pastor, on the subject, "In Remembrance of Me." Every believer in Christ, regardless of church affiliation, is cordially invited to be present and to take part in this sacred rite of the Church.

Friday night has been set as "Loyalty Night", and efforts are being made to have every member of the church present, and to have families together. "Members as Team-mates" will be the subject of the sermon, by the pastor. A song service will precede the message.

Hours of worship will be regular on Easter Sunday, with the pastor preaching at both the 11 and the 5 o'clock hours.

Dr. Robert F. Gribble of Austin will arrive on Monday. A Bible class at 10:30 each morning and preaching each night at 7:30 is the program for that week. Dr. Gribble will lead the Bible study and preach every night, preaching also at both hours of worship on Sunday, April 16.

The public is cordially invited to all these services.

Evant, according to our notion sprung or sprang a surprise (English teachers look this up) in the Coryell County Meet, just closed, when they ran off with the premier honors, and left the mighty Pearl and Gatesville trailing in that same order.

Late yesterday, Mrs. D. I. Campbell, the County Superintendent office's Girl Friday, and incidently, Secretary of the Coryell County Meet Association, had not run up the points, and no cups will be awarded or winners named until that time.

As far as is known, only one record fell in the athletic events, and that the the 880 run, which has already been reported.

Mrs. Roosevelt Urges Farm Careers For Youth

YOUNG people who are emerging into our crowded economic fields would do well to look toward the farm as a means of livelihood and a full and satisfactory way of life, according to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. When depressions come, hundreds of citizens leave the cities and go back to rural areas in order to live. This mute fact seems to indicate that the stability of the farm is preferable, in the time of disaster, to the insecurity of a wage-earner in the city.

Eleanor Roosevelt, America's much-traveled first lady, analyzes the problem in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine in an article entitled: "Security Begins Beyond the City Limits." She adds a plea for education along cultural and recreational lines which will compensate farm dwellers for the lack of readymade entertainment offered by cities. Mrs. Roosevelt also discusses opportunities for financial success in farming, cites developments in agricultural methods, new markets and experiments in the industrial use of farm products which will provide year-around employment and new avenues of profit for agriculturists.

"It is possible to have as much culture in the country as in any city and more wholesome community life and amusement, but it requires more personal effort and better training," Mrs. Roosevelt declares. "We must see that education is interpreted in a broader way than in the past. It is absolutely vital that people living in rural areas have access to books of all kinds and learn to enjoy reading. With the radio there is now the possibility of teaching appreciation of good music and of developing participation in community music projects. Federal art projects, music projects, theatre projects, murals and sculptures all over the country have laid foundations for varied enjoyments which can be built up in rural areas."

Mrs. Roosevelt does not hesitate to touch on the aspects of rural life which are definitely in need of change. Chief among these is the problem of health and nourishment. The high mortality rate among country mothers and babies due to the lack of competent medical attention, is marked. Education regarding health and diet habits for growing children needs widespread dissemination. In the country where it is possible to raise a wide variety of fresh vegetables, fruits and dairy products, children are often undernourished due to pure ignorance on the part of their parents. Such education can be accomplished.

In urging rural life, Mrs. Roosevelt also urges the development of home-spirit in children who live in rural localities . . . a sense of belonging and having roots in a particular community, a responsibility for the present and the future of that place. Children are always interested in the traditions, legends and histories of their homes and early instruction in these things will build a lasting loyalty to a locale. Such loyalties will often overshadow the tinsel lures of big cities later on.

"One of the means I saw employed to inculcate this feeling was a project worked out by a progressive school in a rural community," she writes. "There happened to be a log cabin available for use of the children and they were encouraged to restore this cabin which dated back a hundred years or more. They made it fairly livable with things they collected from their families and their neighbors, of the sort used in the cabin when it was originally built. They gave little plays which depicted the early life of a family in that cabin when the Indians roamed the countryside and the land was being cleared and tilled for the first time. In this way the children learned something of the past and what it had cost their ancestors to establish a community in the wilderness, thus acquiring a respect for the work accomplished and a sense of responsibility toward carrying it on satisfactorily."

Mrs. Roosevelt does not suggest in "Security Lies Beyond the City Limits" that we merely go back to the farm. Instead she insists that we bring the farm forward where it can compete with the city as a way of life.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN

Austin.—The plan of special interest lobbyists to saddle a $40,000,000 sales tax burden on the backs of the poor folks of Texas was shot to pieces this week, following a shattering defeat in the House of Representatives, where the sales tax constitutional amendment by Alfred Pesch of Fredericksburg went down into oblivion with less than a bare majority of votes in its favor. It would require a two-thirds vote to have passed it, and the same vote would now be required to revive it, so it is dead for the session, so far as all practical purposes are concerned.

LOBBY PROGRAM IS SUNK

The sales-tax lobby, badly shaken by the overwhelming house defeat, turned its attention to the Senate, where there are pending two other sales-tax constitutional amendments. Both of these measures, however, are much milder in form than the Pesch measure. Preliminary debate and test votes in the Senate indicate little likelihood that either can muster 21 votes necessary for adoption, and the House situation makes any kind of a constitutional amendment carrying a sales tax very unlikely of ever reaching the voters, best observers here believe. The Senate was to resume work on amendments this week, after a plea of Lt. Gov. Coke Stevenson for harmony and a compromising attitude, but the best bet for additional social security revenue now seems to be a tax bill which would raise a maximum of $10,000,000 and must originate in the House, under the constitutional rule.

The House clearly does not intend to submit a sales tax in a constitutional amendment, and close observers here believe its members will never submit a sales tax in statutory form, unless their present attitude changes radically again before the end of the session. The Senate seems unwilling to accept an omnibus bill that does not carry provision for raising some revenue by a sales impose, although it may be possible that a selective sales tax, or luxury tax, that would exempt purchases of food and clothing up to a certain sum, might be the basis of a compromise.

DEADLOCK MAY BE ANSWER

There is still a strong possibility that a deadlock between the two houses may result without any tax-raising measure of any kind getting through. Although nearly 100 members of the House have signed a pledge to remain in session until money is raised for social security purposes, this is discounted by many observers as a political gesture, which would not bind the members for very long, when the $10 a day pay drops to $5 a day, after the 120-day period of the regular session is over.

NO HUGE TAX PROGRAM

One rather obvious conclusion that may be drawn from the week's tax debate in both houses is the fact that the $40,000,000 a year tax program has gone out the window. Members of both houses who have studied the pension question point out that removal of the ability of children and other relatives as a factor in determining need of pension applicants would raise the total of those pensioned to about 200,000 from the present 113,000, and would probably take in all the "border line" cases, and meet 90 percent of the criticism of the present pensioning system. That, the estimate, could be done for not more than $9,000,000 more than present pension revenue, or a total of $18,000,000 a year, with Federal matching, which would give a total of $26,000,000, or an average payment of $15 per month to 200,000 pensioners.

EVERY MAN FOR HIMSELF

There were signs that the 'solid front' of special interest who have sought to freeze a sales tax into the constitution has broken under the decisive House defeat. The oil lobby, never enthusiastic over the program, apparently is in open revolt. The oil lobbyists figure the constitutional amendment, carrying 33 1-3 percent increase in the oil tax, offered them no advantage, as they can probably fight off any greater levy than this in an omnibus tax statute, and they would not be "stuck" with the tax frozen into the constitution. With its near solid front broken by defeat, the special interest "program" lobby at the week end apparently was breaking up, with every man and every industry for himself, and Gov. O'Daniel and his ambitious sales-tax advisors "out on a limb" so far as the legislature is concerned. Meanwhile, economy advocates in both houses were awaiting a strategical moment to push forward their plans to save $5,000,000 a year by careful paring of departmental appropriation bills when the dust from the tax fight clears up a little.

"THE FRIENDLY STORE"

It's really National Baseball Week, started yesterday.

Yesterday, along with quite a few other, we saw the Phillies and Browns, have a racetrack at Katy Park, Waco, and there were lots of free tickets issued, since the balls went over every fence.

We've inquired about a County Baseball league, and this year, haven't had much response.

Soft Ball, a really better game to our idea, hasn't started yet either. What's a matter with you ball players?

And, to cap it all off, this is the 100th Anniversary year of the great National Pastime. Looks like it's slipping.

Today, at 3:30 in Waco, Tulsa and Oklahoma City of the Texas League meet, and should you happen to me down, see this game. It'll probably be the equal of the one played Sunday.

County meet's over, and no apparent damage was done to any records, and no outstanding runners showed. Petty only made the century in 10.3, which, well, which.

Dallas visitors last Friday were Mr. and Mrs. E. Routh, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Routh and Mrs. Charles Powell. They also visited Misses Nell and Mary Routh in Denton.

Girls' Basketball Team Honored By B & PW Club

Honoring the Gatesville girls' basketball team, State Champions of 1939, members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of this city entertained with a banquet last Thursday evening in the High School gymnasium. The Easter theme was featured in the decorations and other appointments. Centering the festive boards were nests, containing Easter bunnies and eggs, favors were tiny Easter bunnies.

The menu consisted of tomato juice, baked ham, mashed potatoes, green beans, pineapple salad, rolls, iced tea, vanilla ice cream, and cookies. It was served by the Home Economics girls.

Miss Louise Hall acted as toastmistress; after the sing-song, led by Miss Mary Oldham, the invocation was given by Mrs. Pearl White. Miss Sidney Gale Gibson, president of the B & PW Club, introduced the toastmistress; B & PW members presented the following Hornettes: Misses Sarah Louise Hinson, Madalyne Patterson, Ruth Rutherford, Leta Bell Shoaf, Margaret Weaver, Zoriada Thomasson, Odel James, Imogene Curry, Sally Frances Wiegand, Treva Davis, Edith Cole, and Melba (Pete) Hardin. Also at this time two basketball fans, who had been behind the Hornettes, and who had attended almost all the games, were presented. These fans were G. L. (Butter) Schley and Sidney Pruitt.

Miss Melba (Pete) Hardin presented the coach, Fred G. Schwarz who then gave a short talk about the Hornettes. After the principal speaker, Horace K. Jackson, had delivered the address, R. D. Foster representing the Chamber of Commerce, told of Gatesville's appreciation of what the Hornettes had accomplished, and presented each member of the team with a gold chain for their gold basketballs that they had received in Waco at the State Meet. Miss Sarah Louise Hinson gave the response, and then presented Coach Schwarz with a gift. The concluding number was the singing of the song, "On Ye Hornettes".

Approximately 80 guests attended the affair.

Tenth Birthday Celebrated By Donald Flentge

Wednesday, March 29, Mrs. Ed Flentge honored her son, Donald, on his tenth birthday anniversary when she invited a number of his friends to their home on Waco street to assist in the celebration.

Games were played, and a contest was held in which Helon Sydow and John Miller Stinnett won the prizes. Later in the afternoon, the guests gathered around the attractively decorated dining room table, where they were served ice cream cones and the delicious birthday cake, which centered the

Personal Touch Makes Stork Club Successful Spot

SHERMAN BILLINGSLEY, New York's night-club phenomenon, receives the accolade of the Cosmopolite of the Month in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine and Finis Farr interprets the personality of this successful young man on the café-society trapeze. According to Mr. Farr, the genial host of Manhattan's famous Stork Club is a year-in and year-out winner because of that very thing—he is a host in all that the word ever implied. There are no lengths to which Mr. Billingsley will not go to make his guests feel at home. He takes trouble to find out things which please his patrons and then he provides them—even if it entails having stone crabs sent up from Florida daily by airplane to please exacting palates, ferreting out and stocking obscure beverages which they casually mention as their favorites, admitting apes and other wild animals (one gentleman even wanted to bring in a horse) to the blue and silver confines of his club because their owners insist, and cutting the check in half when he thinks it is costing more than the patron can afford. It is easy to see why Mr. Billingsley's customers soon look on him as a personal friend.

Through the portals of the Stork Club have passed more celebrities, celebrity seekers, actresses, debutantes, models, rich writers, photographers, glamour girls, movie actors and actresses, gossip columnists, booking agents and assorted socialites than any doorway on earth. In addition the political, diplomatic and industrial tycoons have not passed it by. This medium-sized restaurant on East Fifty-Third Street in Manhattan, with its elegant and dignified decor, which seats only three hundred devotees at a time and offers just dance music, drinks which start at seventy-five cents, food, the other customers and Billingsley by way of entertainment, still tops competition which puts on elaborate revues. The secret of this is Billingsley.

Sherman Billingsley says that beautiful women are the only worthwhile decoration for a night club and he goes to considerable trouble to make the Stork a rendezvous for the most attractive society buds of every season who bring him little in the way of cash but much in custom and reputation. Two other rules for making a night club go are given by Billingsley in Finis Farr's article. "People like to come into a crowded room," he reports, "and you've got to have plenty of mirrors. Outside that your guess is as good as mine." People in the know guess that you've also got to have Billingsley.

SOCIETY WRITER SPURNS SOCIETY

"I've given the best years of my life to Society," says Inez Galaway Robb. "Would I, after eleven years of constant association and observation, like to be a full-fledged bonafide member of it. No, no, a thousand times no! If I must Tell All, Society has always seemed a pretty dull dish to me." With this observation, the famous society reporter, sums up her attitude toward the social set in May Cosmopolitan's revealing story, "A Pair of White Gloves."

Society is changing and being changed, Miss Robb goes on to say, by outside and inside influences. State and Federal taxes make the vast fortune heir to multiplied hazards. Yachts, mansions, private cars, racing stables and other monuments to wealth are becoming a drug on the market because few families can pass on the hereditary wealth to maintain them. The servant problem is increasingly difficult and the day of the great hostess and social leader is at an end. The younger generation prefers a more direct and simple approach to amusement and the decline of inherited wealth is making this approach necessary.

The fabulous success of Elsa Maxwell has grown out of the inability of society to entertain itself. Inez Robb is convinced that the acquisition of wealth is usually accompanied by the loss of two of mankind's most precious boons: imagination and a sense of humor. Miss Maxwell has supplied society with these two things.

"Persons who can lighten for one moment that ennui induced by too much money and too little imagination are worth their weight in gold to a group which long ago gave up all effort to hide its yawns when face to face with itself," Miss Robb says in discussing Elsa Maxwell.

ELSA MAXWELL

Society in 1939 is showing a few encouraging signs, the writer believes. There is no longer such a thing as a social arbiter. The throne is vacant because none of the younger socialites have thought it worth bothering about. Class lines are being broken down to admit exponents of various talents. But society still needs to get more for its money. Miss Robb says in conclusion, "Riches ought to be good for something beside a ringside table and a Winchell footnote."

table. In all decorations, the Easter motif was featured. Small baskets with candy rabbits were favors.

Enjoying the occasion with the celebrant were: John Miller Stinnett, Bob Potts, Billie Frank Carroll, Charles Milner, Billie Bob Ashby, Phil Jean Jenson, Billie Hayes, Wayne Sullivan, Billie Laxson, George Painter, Geraldine Washburn, Beverly Ann Barber, Helon Sydow, Bob Sydow, and Le Verne Ament.

WHO LOOKS AHEAD DOESN'T GET BEHIND

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

There is still plenty of time to plant silage crops and summer pastures, and if for any reason they are not planted at the earliest practicable date, a place for them should be reserved anyway. There are, however, several points in favor of early planting for silage crops which do not apply to late-planted silage.

First, the planting can be done just before or just after cotton planting, when the time can best be spared. If the sorghums are planted for silage it is usually better to follow cotton planting, as they grow off better after the soil is well warmed up. The same holds true during the early cultivating season, and silage crops can usually be laid by in time to devote all the attention to cotton in the latter part of the cultivating season.

Second, early silage will be ready to harvest before the "summer drouth" that so often burns later crops in some sections of the Southwest.

Third, early silage is off the ground in time to plant a crop of cowpeas to be grazed or turned under in the fall. If there is not enough moisture to plant peas the silage is out of the way for summer plowing to get the land ready for fall grain, alfalfa, or sweet clover. This cannot usually be done if the corn or sorghum is left to mature in the field for the grain crop.

Fourth, the sorghums will stool out and make a second growth crop in the warmer parts of the Southwest, if summer moisture is available. If the second growth is not needed for feed, or is too short to be worth harvesting, it is well worth turning under "for the land's sake" and the next year crop.

Fifth, early silage can be disposed of before cotton picking time and before dry corn and sorghum grains are ready for harvest, and which conflict to some extent with the cotton picking season. Either extra help must be employed to gather the grain crop at its best or it must take the weather damage until cotton ginning is over.

A French proverb says "he who looks not before, finds himself behind," and I don't know any farm operation in which "looking before" counts in more ways than in getting the silage crop under way at the earliest favorable season. It distributes the labor to better advantage, it makes a way for a fall-sown crop of clover or grain, and it avoids the danger of early frost to which late crops may fall victim.

If there are those who still question the value or practicability of the trench silo, I only have to quote the slogan of a well-known automobile—"Ask the man who owns one." Almost invariably one year's experience means two silos or more the next year. A great many farmer and ranchmen now store extra feed in the good years and keep a reserve for the poor crop years. Properly ensiled—and that is simple—the feed will keep in perfect condition for an indefinite period. I have seen perfect silage uncovered after nine years in the ground.

Texas now has 262 miles of trench silos and other Southwestern states are rapidly extending their use. Like the "fifty million Frenchmen," that many farmers "can't be wrong". The size can fit the farm—that is the number of animals to be fed. A cow can use a six-inch cut of four square feet daily, and a trench two feet deep and two feet wide will feed her two days for every foot of length. A six by four foot trench will feed six head, and so on. An acre of silage or a hundred acres, the trench silo saves the feed in its most palatable and nutritious form.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eye—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DEMENTIA: BETTER CURE?

In hospitals and other institutions in the United States are 500,000 persons with unbalanced minds. Fully half of them are suffering from dementia praecox. This is a type of insanity which enables more persons in the nation than any other disease, physical or mental. Varied in its forms, it may disintegrate the personalities of its victims, afflict them with delusions of persecution, or even with cataleptic trances. Last week, for victims of this madness, science was seeking a new remedy.

Before a meeting of doctors in New York City, Dr. Carl M. Bowman, head psychiatrist of Bellevue Hospital, reviewed progress in curing once incurable dementia praecox. During the past 2 years, he said, doctors have had great success with insulin treatments. More recently, they have experimented with metrazol, a drug which appears likely to be similarly successful.

Nevertheless, said Dr. Bowman, neither insulin nor metrazol treatments "will remain with us long as the best solutions". Both drugs are given by injection. Insulin brings patients close to death before it effects a cure; metrazol inspires an overpowering fear of death in patients who take it.

Dr. Bowman's thesis, although it still lacks definite proof, is that both metrazol and insulin achieve their result by depriving the brain of energy. By absorbing sugar from the blood, insulin cuts off the brain's sugar supply. Metrazol causes terrific convulsions during which breathing stops, and with it the flow of oxygen to the brain. Over a course of treatments, both drugs seem to give the brain a rest which somehow sets it right.

At Bellevue, Dr. Bowman had experimented with a third technique. One dementia praecox patient was made to breathe pure nitrogen thru a mask. "The patient" said Dr. Bowman, "was allowed to go into a state of acute anoxemia (oxygen starvation) until he became unconscious and developed slight twitches".

Then explained Dr. Bowman, "pure oxygen was switched on, and the patient quickly regained consciousness. The patient had no sense of suffocation and claimed that the treatment was not unpleasant. He also stated that he felt better as a result of it." Only one of a series now being conducted at Bellevue, the nitrogen experiment seemed to hold out hope for a dementia praecox treatment which would both be moderate in its action and beneficial in its results.

Visitors to Buchanan Dam Sunday included Misses Pauline Latham and Clay Allen Vandiver, and W. T. Newberry and Dick Chandler.

John Morgan, who has been making his home in Temple, has returned to this city to live. His family remained in Temple, but they will move here when school is out.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McCulloh of Penelope, N. A. Shirley of Austin, and Mrs. N. A. Shirley, faculty member of Baylor University, Waco were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Shirley.

Mrs. M. W. Lowrey, Mrs. B. S. Cook, and Mrs. Pat Olsen visited Misses Anita Lowrey, Eloise Cook, and Patsy Olsen, and Wendall Lowrey in Austin over the week end, and attended the Round-up of Texas University.

Those who visited Mrs. Ethel Goodall and Miss Frances Goodall in Clifton Sunday were: Mesdames Wade Hampton, Laura Rayford, Jim Saunders, G. L. Polk, and E. J. Brooks. Mrs. Goodall and Frances are improving nicely. They were injured in a car accident a few months ago.

South America's Columbia

By R. G. Davidson

You are probably wondering why the delay in my writing. It's like this, after reading a couple of my letters in print, I thought I had better wait and see how many people cancelled their subscription. Anyway, as I write this I think of what a Columbian fellow here told me about one of his friends. He was over in Paris when he met this fellow, and the fellow could speak about as much French as I speak Spanish, so he wasn't doing so well. He had his heart set on learning French and was so intent that he really forgot his own language. Then, to top it off, he never did learn French. It is almost the same with me, with all the errors that I make in writing—if you don't correct them, I stop writing.

It is rather late to be wishing you a Merry Xmas and A Happy New Year, but most of the mail coming in here is still bringing cards. Other than airmail, it takes a little better than a month for a letter from the states to reach Colombia. I certainly did enjoy the cards received from friends. Although the Xmas spirit was a bit hard to get here in the tropics, it was just about the same as at home in celebration. We had a big turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Our turkey was wild turkey, killed just the day before right around camp. It is no trouble to get wild game here, they are really plentiful. Very often one of the fellows brings in a deer, and there is no limit or season!

Must say something about the rainy season here. During December we had better than 20 inches of rainfall, and that is some rain! We are now having somewhat of a dry spell, comparatively speaking, it rains at night now, and with just a shower during the day. The tropics are really wet during November and December. Right now it is ideal, comfortable during the day at about 75 to 80 degrees and cool enough at night to sleep under a blanket. Last month I was over in Cucuta for a short vacation of six days. Every three months we are allowed this time off to go up town. As I have told you, Petrolea is somewhat of an out of the way place. Although we have it very comfortable here, it has its disadvantages, for one thing, there are no females present. You know these Spanish Senoritas are as beautiful as they are pictured and especially after being in the desolation of Petrolea for 3 months at a time.

My trip into town was quite different than the first trip out here. We have a plane coming here almost daily now. I was lucky in getting to be one of the first passengers out of here, that is, after the trial trip to inspect the airport. The trip took something around 20 minutes by plane—by land, it takes at least six hours and often much more time, usually a whole day.

I stayed at the Palace Hotel while in Cucuta, and it is almost what the name implies. There is every modern convenience and many that few in the states can offer. There was a balcony opening from my room that gave a perfect picture of a view. Just under the balcony was a beautiful tile bathing pool. At night the pool is lighted with colored lights from the bottom of the pool. The service is excellent, breakfast is always served in your room if not otherwise ordered. Meals are elaborate affairs with a choice of almost anything you could wish for. In the states we have the idea that food here would be similar to a Mexican Chili supper. Well, they are not. They are very much the same as our own diet, if not better, due to the many vegetables available and many fruits that the states have never had the equal. Now you must think this would cost a fortune, well, room and meals together, the price is from three to five pesos, or about $1.75 to $2.50 in our currency.

Most of my time in Cucuta was spent sight seeing, and there are many sights well worth seeing. I made several trips to small villages in the mountains just for the drive. For transportation, cars are for hire at a reasonable price, you can get anything from a Ford to a limosine of the latest model. Traveling on these narrow roads, it is often that you must stop for a pack train of small mules to leisurely take their time to get out of the way. During this rainy season it is more than often that the roads are blocked by landslides and brides out. In the land-slides in the Andes mountains, it is often that even a city may be taken with it. I have heard of one that covered a village of 300 people.

A very good way to picture the mountains can be explained by the fact that the regular daily airline from Bogota Cucuta in clearing the mountains at the safest passes must reach at least 18,000 feet. At that altitude you can look out and see peaks going right on up several more thousand feet.

I met a young engineer that came down to one of the South American republics to put in a pipe line to furnish one of the cities their water supply. He had some interesting things happen in doing so. The pipe was brought from his company so he was sent down to help put it in. On his arrival he asked for the plans that had supposedly been drawn up. He was shown a large sheet of wrapping paper with a pencil sketch of the proposed line. Along the center of the line he noticed a big hump in the drawing, this, he was told, was a hill. The plan as he understood it, did not include any method of forcing the water thru the pipe other than by gravity. On seeing the lake, then the hill, and then the city on the other side of the hill, he asked how did they suppose the water would go over that hump. They thought if it got a good start down from the lake that it should get over the hump. Anyway, it turned out alright, with about twice the amount of pipe they were able to go around the hill. This happened over in a nearby republic and I am thankful that Columbia is much better for its knowledge of modern ideas.

This is the vacation season of the year in Columbia. The schools are closed during December and January, just opposite to our seasons in the states. The wealthier people that own ranches or haciendas as they are called in Spanish, spent these holidays with the whole family there. The cities are deserted almost, at least, of the wealthier class which owns city homes. As yet, I have not had the pleasure of seeing one of these haciendas, but they must be a dream if they compare with the descriptions I have heard of them.

This part of Columbia where I am located is known as the Cata-tumbo Valley. There is an unusual lighting of the skies here called the "Cata-tumbo Lights". It appears to be a constant flood of lights along the horizon that can be clearly seen often times at night. This is caused by some freak lightning, with the flashes so often and so near the earth that it appears from a distance to be a flood light.

The working hours here require the early hour of 5:30 for breakfast, so since I have spent almost 'til midnight writing this, I will have to say 'buenos noches.'

The bride wore a lovely rose beige dress with contrasting accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Both of these young people are qualified for the journey they are beginning in life. The bride is one of Purlmela's most charming and industrious young women and a leader in church and social activities. The groom has a vision of continuing his work where he is now located in his garage at Purlmela.

Mr. Bertrand was a '32 graduate of Purlmela High School and Mrs. Mrs. Bertrand graduated from Gatesville High School in '35.

On this occasion, Mrs. B. R. Day was given a shower, in which she received many lovely gifts.

In the games of bridge, Mrs. E. W. White won high score prize. After the presentation of the award, a delicious salad plate and iced coffee were served.

The guest personnel included: Mesdames E. W. White, T. G. Wray, A. T. Ray, J. C. Porter, Joe Faulk, Doyle Singleton, Emmett Stewart, Richard Dickie, Paul Hardy, Sam Nixon, Bill Wiegand, and Clifford Day of Waco.

Edna Ruth Ward, Bride Of Lawrence B. Epps

Before an altar banked with bridal wreath, white stock, ferns and palms, Miss Edna Ruth Ward became the bride of Lawrence Buchanan Epps of Dallas, at Herring Avenue Methodist Church Friday evening at 7:30. Rev. C. M. Epps of Colorado, Texas, father of the bridegroom and former pastor of Herring Avenue Methodist Church performed the ceremony, assisted by the pastor, Rev. A. B. English. Mrs. Epps is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ward of Waco. Nuptial music was by Miss Waldine Wharton of Gatesville who sang "Your Song of Paradise" as pre-nuptial selection and "On Wings of Song," during the ceremony. She was accompanied by Mrs. L. C. Alexander at the organ who also played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin fashioned with a high neck and a long full skirt. The sleeves were long and tight fitting, coming to a point over her hand, while the bridal veil of illusion was caught into a cap at the head.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and valley lilies tied with white satin streamers. To carry out the traditional "something old", she wore a brooch belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. L. A. Pennington of Gatesville. The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Epps of Grand Saline, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Dorothy McAdams, wore frocks of blue moire fashioned with low necks, full skirts and short puffed sleeves. Their flowers were arm bouquets of pink sweet peas. The matron of honor, Mrs. Neil Ward, and the maid of honor, Miss Ina Ruth Griffin of Oglesby, cousin of the bride, wore frocks of rose petal moire also fashioned with long full skirts and carried bouquets of lavender sweet peas. The bride's attendants wore small hats of velvet, the color tone matching their frocks. The flower girls, Barbara Stewart and Doris Jean Morris, wore taffeta frocks of lavender and green fashioned with long ruffled skirts. The bride groom was attended by his brother, C. M. Epps, Jr. of Kerrville, as best man, and ushers were Neil Ward, Lewis Powers, Richard Stapp, and W. M. Stringfellow of Dallas.

Following the wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Epps was graduated from Waco High School and is a senior in Baylor University, while Mr. Epps is a graduate of Draughen's Business School in San Antonio.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of blue wool sheer, trimmed with cyclamen and chartreuse, with black patent accessories. Following a trip to south Texas, the couple will be at home in Dallas, where Mr. Epps is employed.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. L. A. Pennington and W. R. Pennington of Gatesville. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Boyd of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ward of Oglesby, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd McGregor of Temple.—Waco Tribune-Herald.

THE HIGHWAY USER'S TAX DOLLAR VITAL QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1. Q. How much did highway users pay the State in taxes for 1937?
A. $62,233,480.
2. Q. How much did they pay in 1930?
A. $41,883,704.
3. Q. How much was spent by the State Highway Department in building and maintaining roads in the years 1930 and 1937?
A. In 1930—$27,214,077.
In 1937—$38,550,715.
4. Q. If the highway users paid over $20,000,000 more taxes in 1937 than in 1930 and about $9,000,000 less was spent on roads, what's the answer?
A. Relief to counties and road districts.
5. Q. How were they relieved?
A. Under the 1932 Bond Assumption Act, Counties and Road Districts were relieved of some $22,000,000 principal debt with payments to be made from gasoline tax money.
6. Q. Did the counties get any further relief?
A. Yes, the counties were further relieved beginning that year by not having to pay any part of construction costs on state roads which had been costing them around $10,000,000 per year.
7. Q. How much of the highway user tax money is now going into construction and maintenance of a state system of roads?
A. Less than 4%.

8. Q. How much is going to counties?
A. 10% for their road and bridge funds for which they give no accounting to the State and 17% goes to the Bond Assumption Fund—total of 27% goes direct to relief of ad valorem taxpayers on road expenditures in the counties.
9. Q. Where does the other 19% go?
A. 17% goes to the Available School Fund, thus relieving County ad valorem taxpayers and 2% is the cost of collection and administration.
10. Q. 53% of the Highway Users' Tax dollar thus is really used to relieve the ad valorem taxpayer, is that right?
A. Yes.
11. Q. How much of all Travel in Texas is on County Road?
A. Less than 17%.
12. Q. How many miles of road are there on the State System?
A. About 25,000 miles.
13. Q. At the present rate, how long will it take to modernize and surface the state system?
A. About 14 years.
14. Q. Does that estimate take into account obsolescence or need for extensions?
A. No.
15. Q. Shouldn't more than 45% of the tax money paid by motorists go into the construction and maintenance of a modern system of roads?
A. Yes, if Texas is going to have a road system that meets its needs as a growing state.
16. Q. What does the county bond assumption plan pending in the Legislature propose?
A. It proposes that the State assume $20,000,000 outstanding indebtedness on county local roads which are not a part of the state highway system.
17. Q. Has the State ever assumed any county road debts?
A. No, but the State is compensating the counties to the amount of approximately $12,000,000 on roads that were taken into the state highway system.
18. Q. Where does the State get the money to provide this compensation?
A. From 1¢ of the 4¢ per gallon state gasoline tax.
19. Q. Do the counties now contribute to state highways?
A. Only the right-of-way.
20. Q. Would the passage of the county bond assumption bill relieve the average ad valorem taxpayer?
A. No. The average ad valorem taxpayer also is the average gasoline taxpayer. Therefore, only the large property owner stands a chance to benefit and then only if the counties vote no more bonds.
21. Q. Who would benefit from state assumption of these debts from the counties?
A. The smart bond manipulators and a few over-bonded counties.
22. Q. Would the passage of this legislation establish a dangerous precedent?
A. Yes. It would be the opening wedge to saddle all local debts on the State.
23. Q. If the State does not assume the counties' debts, could State road construction be speeded up?
A. Yes, because 1¢ of the state gasoline tax now produces more than enough to pay the indebtedness on state highways and the balance would speed road construction.
24. Q. Would that benefit the counties as well as the State?
A. Yes, the State could build some of the roads the counties are clamoring for more quickly and thus create employment as well as increased property values.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
Cosmo Topper is defending his wife's divorce suit which arose out of complications caused by the misguided good intentions of his very strange friend, Marion Kerby. Marion, strictly speaking, is not really a person at all, but the "materialized" spirit of a lovely young girl who was killed in an automobile wreck and who feels a compulsion to do good deeds in order to make her position in the hereafter secure. In her invisible form Marion visits the divorce court, creates a commotion, forces Topper to threaten assault on his wife's attorney, and causes the Judge to throw out the case. Mrs. Topper's designing friend, Mrs. Parkhurst, decides to take her to Paris for another try at divorce.

Chapter Two

Topper hustled down the street, away from the courtroom — making a wild dash from what was, to him, a fate worse than divorce. But his fate caught up with him — he was halted by a sharp pull at his coat tails.

"Marion," he grunted, while passersby turned and stared, "Marion,

"Good afternoon. Pleasant weather — or don't you think so?" "Mister," pronounced the barkeep slowly, carefully, "people have staggered in here in all sorts of ways, but never in all my life — listen, would you mind going back and doing that again?"

But instead of complying, Topper briskly ordered a Martini. "Make it two," said the contralto voice as the bartender was turning away. He whirled around quickly.

"Huh? You mean a double Martini?" But Topper firmly insisted on two separate Martinis — and made the bartender turn away about his business while the extra glass rose in air, tilted over, and was emptied — apparently into nowhere.

After the third round of Martinis Topper glanced down and found Marion sitting comfortably on the railing under the bar — fully materialized. A cheery bark sounded — Marion gave a command — and Atlas appeared out of the thin air.

The bartender, who had just recovered from the shock of seeing Marion appear, leaned over, saw the dog, and felt slightly delirious. "How did he get in here?" he babbled. "There's no dogs allowed!"

"Shhh!" Marion shushed him solemnly. "He might hear you. He's awfully sensitive!"

Marion was sitting comfortably on the railing.

let go of my coat and leave me alone, won't you?"

"Who's bothering you?" said a man who had stopped close by.

"You are, you big stiff," answered a pleasant contralto voice. Topper dashed away before any further complications could ensue; but the disembodied voice was still at his heel.

"Oh, Toppie, don't act like a scared rabbit! Stop running away from me!"

"Haven't I enough troubles? You've just got to leave me alone!" "I can't leave you alone — I've got to make you happy! We need each other, Toppie — I'm not going to leave you until I see you safely back with Mrs. Topper!"

They were passing an inviting-looking cocktail lounge, and the voice spoke up with a sudden inspiration.

"I know, Toppie! What we need is a drink."

"But I don't want a drink," he mourned. "And I wouldn't go into a place like that — especially with you!" He was mistaken. First giving him a shove through the door, and then propelling him forward by means of expert tickling of his ribs, Marion, still remaining invisible, soon had him at the bar, wriggling and dancing preposterously and giggling in a manner wholly unbecoming the president of a bank.

"Oh, hee-hee-hee-ha-La!" he shrieked. "Please — Marion — please cut it out! I give up — oh, ha-ha-ha!"

Fortunately there were no other patrons in the place; but the bartender, a suspicious-looking soul, eyed him grimly. At that moment Topper's hat rose from his head and landed on the bar. Topper quickly put his hand on the brim to cover up the inexplicable movement, and grinned fatuously at the

Two hours later, sitting cozily at a booth in the same retreat, and feeling very much at peace with the world, Topper phoned his home. After much parleying with Wilkins, the butler, he learned that his wife had just a few hours before sailed for Paris with Mrs. Parkhurst.

"I had my suspicions about that Mrs. Parkhurst," said Marion. Then, with sudden determination, "Toppie, we're going to Europe!"

Topper felt that the time had come to put his foot down. He simply was not going to Europe. "All right," answered Marion reasonably, "if you want to be that way about it you can have your own way. But we're going to Europe!"

Fully satisfied with this admirable compromise, Topper went with Marion to his bank to get his passport. It was long past bank hours — but after all, as Marion pointed out, wasn't he the president of the bank, and didn't he know the combination? He was and he did; and so they got the passport. And everything would have gone off very smoothly indeed had not Atlas leaned against the open door of the vault, swinging it to and locking them in. And when the police gentlemen arrived with their tear gas, set off their gas bombs and then let Topper and Marion out of the vault, everybody had a good cry over it.

"Why, it's Mr. Topper!" sobbed the police sergeant. "Are you all right, sir?"

"Quite, quite!" wept Topper. "Thank you very much."

Then Marion, now invisible, shoved Topper post-haste out of the bank, and he staggered, weaved and St. Vitused his way into the street — bound for Europe with Marion and Atlas as his unchosen companions.

Menus

Savory and inviting in its first appearance, ham loses nothing by returning again in unusual and tempting "left-over" guises.

HAM SALAD

- 2 cups cooked ham diced
- 3/4 cup cooked peas
- 3 tbsp. India relish

Mix ham, peas and relish together and mix well in French dressing. Chill thoroughly. Arrange on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with slices of hard cooked egg. Serve with Russian dressing.

CREAMED HAM AND OLIVES

- 2 tbsp. butter
- 3 tbsp. flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 1/2 cups diced cooked ham
- 2 tbsp. stuffed olives (chopped)
- Pepper
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 loaf bread
- Parsley
- Cucumber pickle

Melt the butter in a saucepan, add flour and stir together until well blended. Add milk and cook until thick. Add ham, olives and seasonings to the sauce and heat thoroughly. Cut the bread in 6 slices about 2 inches thick. Trim the crusts, cut in squares and hollow out the centers, leaving cases in which to serve the creamed meat and olives. Brush the cases lightly with butter and toast. Fill with creamed ham. Garnish with parsley and slices of pickle and serve.

HAM WAFFLES

- 1/2 cup minced ham
- 2 cups flour
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 4 tsp. baking powder
- 3 tbsp. melted shortening
- 2 eggs, beaten separately
- 1 tsp. salt

Combine the melted shortening, the beaten egg yolks and the milk and add to the dry sifted ingredients. Fold in the ham and add to the stiffly beaten egg whites.

HAM MOUSSE

Take 2 tablespoons of gelatine and soften in 3/4 cup cold water. Add 1 1/2 cups boiling water and dissolve. Chop fine enough cold cooked ham to make 6 cups. Mix the ham with 3 teaspoons of prepared mustard; add the gelatine and 1 1/2 cups of cream whipped stiff. Season with a little salt and pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Mix well. Put the mixture in a mold rinsed in cold water, chill until firm, unmold and garnish.

HAM GRIDDLE CAKES

- 2 cup flour
- 4 tsp. baking powder
- 2 tbsp. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 1-3 cups milk
- 1 beaten egg
- 2 tbsp. melted shortening
- 1/2 tsp. prepared mustard
- Thin slices cooked ham.

Sift dry ingredients together. Add milk slowly, then the beaten egg; beat until smooth. Add mustard with shortening to griddle batter, beat one minute. Dip ham slices in batter and cook on a hot griddle.

CREAMED HAM

- 2 tbsp. butter
- 4 tbsp. flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- Small piece bay leaf
- 1/2 tsp. onion juice
- 1 whole clove
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1 1/2 cups cooked ham (cut in 1/4-inch cubes).

Melt butter, add flour, stir until well blended. Add seasonings. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Bring to a boil and boil 2 minutes. Add ham.

HAM FONDUE

- 1 cup milk
  - 1 cup soft bread crumbs
  - 1 tsp. butter
  - 1/4 tsp. salt
  - 3 eggs
  - 1 1/2 cups finely chopped cooked ham
- Scald milk, add bread crumbs, butter and salt. Add egg yolks slightly beaten. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 1/2 cups ham. When ready to bake fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven from 45 to 50 minutes.

HAM SALAD

Chop ham very fine to make 1 cup. Chop 1 green pepper and 1 onion. Combine ingredients and blend with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce cups with additional mayonnaise.

LOOK It Could Be Your Home

FIVE ROOMS AND DINING NOOK
ADAPTED FROM SUNNY SPAIN

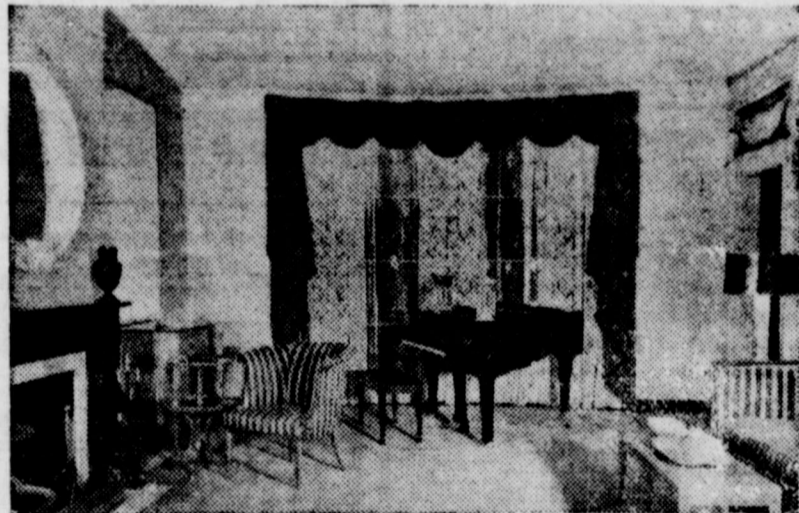

This romantic looking home is Spanish in inspiration but thoroughly American in practicability. Its charm depends a good deal upon the locality in which it is located—it requires ample room to produce its full effect. Careful landscaping, with rolling lawns and appropriate shrubbery, will enhance its beauty manifold. The internal arrangement of the rooms has been carefully planned for maximum convenience. The entrance opens upon the spacious living room, which present a doubly hospitable atmosphere because of its friendly open hearth and its bookcases. The dining nook, located next to the kitchen, is convenient for informal breakfasts and luncheons; just beyond is the dining room for more formal affairs. The bedrooms are placed on the second floor, which provides extra privacy to the occupants.

Bride's House On View At New York Hotel

MORE alive with color and freer in design than ever before, House Beautiful's sixth annual Bride's House is open to the public at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel in New York.

This year the Bride's House is made up of five separate houses (34 rooms in all) ranging in size from two to six rooms, excluding kitchen and bathroom. All five houses take inspiration from the various periods, although the eighteenth century pervades more generally than any other. This being a year of color—tangerine, dramatic greens, blues, brilliant golds and reds predominate, blazing their way through the entire house. Basic in the decorating scheme is that color be made to flow from room to room, fusing them all into an harmonious whole. Thus, the gray damask curtains in the mirror room of one of the houses (the Devon) paves the way for the gray walls of the room beyond; or the trace of chartreuse in the piano chair's satin seat finds its counterpart in the carpet of the living room.

The Kentwood Living Room of the "Bride's House"

Among the many decorating innovations, the most daring is that of using color schemes in five of the rooms as backgrounds for five distinct feminine types: blonde, chestnut, brunette, titian and silver gray. There are hostesses in these rooms to illustrate the striking color affinity possible with proper make-up.

The five houses, in order of size, are called the KENTWOOD (6 rooms): yellow damask living room, gold striped dining room, blue striped bedroom, man's bedroom, green library and guest room; the DEVON (5 rooms): mirror room, gray living room, dining room, camellia bedroom and study; the PENNFIELD (3 rooms): modern living room, white dining room and peasant bedroom; the BEDFORD (2 1/2 rooms): modern living-dining room and canopied bedroom; the SHERWOOD (2 rooms): blue living room and bedroom.

Miriam Thompson, talented, young American decorator, planned the Bride's House, lending all her efforts to the living, dining and bedrooms, while other experts decorated the kitchens and bathrooms. Miss Thompson borrowed a pattern from her own life and supplied the house with youthfulness and freshness and a perpetual radiance—qualities every young couple starting house-keeping together look for in their first home. The Bride's House, cooled by an air-conditioning system, will remain open to visitors all summer.

ZEKE SEZ

By NUGENT E. BROWN

(A column of personal comment on political news)

Austin—Ninety-six members of the House of Representatives this past Friday signed a pledge they "would stay in session if it takes all summer before they will go home without something being done for the old folks of Texas." While some point out that pledges are easily forgotten, it is believed the big majority of these fellows mean it.

House Joint Resolution 16, providing a retail sales tax to be voted on as a constitutional amendment, was really put to sleep when the House of Representatives, on Thursday, after three weeks of wrangling with it, voted 74 to 68 against the resolution on its third reading and then laid the resolution on the table where it will take a two-thirds majority to bring it back. This action of the members of this hotly contested question left the House in a sort of daze, so much so that they voted adjournment Thursday afternoon until Monday to "get a breathing spell and decide what is the next step." Many believe a tax bill can now be put through, maybe a sales tax bill or it may be a luxury and natural resources tax bill. Others do not think so, so it is hard to predict. In the Senate, only adjournment Friday at noon saved the life of the sales tax resolution there, which already had an amendment on it excepting foodstuffs.

In the meantime, everyone is discussing the possibility of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel taking a firmer stand for his transaction tax, which may now be brought back under another name and as a tax bill, minus the constitutional amendment feature. Scores of members would like that sort of tax in preference to the 2-cent retail sales tax and small natural resources increase.

Talking about Governor O'Daniel, while some say he has lost some of his power lately, yet more politicians now listen to his Sunday broadcasts than ever before. More members of the Legislature are going to the Governor's Mansion every Sunday morning. Hizzoner takes time enough to announce the presence of these members, thus letting the folks back home know they are on hand. Many legislators have had letters from constituents asking them why they were not present for any of these broadcasts.

Which brings up this thought. In boosting a Texan for President this writer would like to put forward the name of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel as a "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1940. It is generally conceded now in Washington that a Democrat cannot win in 1940—and he will not win unless he can get support of independent Republicans in the middle west. Governor O'Daniel, born in the State that is known as "the mother of Presidents", was raised in an ordinarily rock-ribbed Republican state (Kansas) and now is governor and leader of 600,000 Texas voters whose votes will go with him. O'Daniel, no matter what

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for indigestion.

Glasses Can Be Flattering

EVERY fifth person in the United States wears glasses. There being over 60,000,000 women in the country, it stands that 12,000,000 of them wear glasses—and without exception all think they have two strikes on them from the start. Ruth Murrin, head of the Good House-keeping Beauty Clinic, doesn't agree. After studying scores of cases, she finds that frequently glasses are actually flattering, and in the April issue of the magazine tells why. To help overcome that feeling of looking "glassy," Miss Murrin lists a few simple Do's and Don't's.

DO'S

Do give your skin superlative care. It takes a good complexion to live up to the shiny trimness of glasses.

Do arrange your hair softly around your face, avoiding both severity and fussiness.

Do strive for smartness in your coiffure. An up-to-date hair-do counteracts any tendency to appear old-maidish. Be sure to get an upward sweep at your temples.

Do remember that glasses make a strong horizontal effect, flattering to a long face, not flattering to a broad face. In the latter case, correct the widening effect by building your hair up on top, keeping it close at the sides, arching your eyebrows slightly, tilting your hatbrim to one side.

Do take infinite pains with your make-up, cleaning your face and renewing your beautifiers several times a day.

Do blend your rouge off imperceptibly under your glasses, avoiding any hard line, and not outlining the lower rim of the lenses.

Do make your eyes important with eye shadow and mascara, and make up your mouth beautifully.

DON'T'S

Don't neglect your skin. Shiny glasses put the spotlight on a muddy complexion.

Don't skin your hair back in plain-Jane fashion.

Don't let your hair fall straight down at the sides.

Don't permit it to become oily, stringy, and flat. Glasses emphasize untidy hair, and vice versa.

Don't wear low bangs, or dips over your forehead, or push your hair forward on your temples in the effort to cover your glasses. This only concentrates attention on them.

Don't let your eyebrows become bushy or weedy-looking.

Don't be afraid to make up your eyes.

Don't go without cheek rouge unless your skin is beautifully tinted by nature.

Don't wear tiny hats or off-the-face hats unless they have a soft rolled rim.

Don't wear broad hats with horizontal lines unless your face is unusually long.

Don't wear metal hat ornaments, fancy earrings, and glittering necklaces. They make you look overdecorated, and nobody sees the nice you in back of the glitter.

Speed Under 40 Miles An Hour Cuts Fatalities in Half

TERRIFYING though it may sound, there is no escaping the fact that every automobile is a potential killer, once its wheels begin to roll. And the faster the wheels turn, so does the grin on Death's face grow wider—for Death lurks everywhere along the highway, flapping his black shroud as he speeds along.

There is one definitely established fact in the relationship between speed and safety, writes J. C. Furnas in his article "Speed Limit" in the April Good Housekeeping, and that is that accidents resulting in death occur less than half as often in cars traveling under 40 miles an hour as in cars whose speed is between 40 and 50. And speed over 50 miles an hour means that death will strike in one accident out of every eleven.

Being a woman, Mr. Furnas says, you may be exempt from some of the speed impulses that come over men. Figures do show that the average speed of women drivers is several miles slower than that of men; but modern cars being what they are, slick and insidious in pickup, the woman driver is often equally guilty of the most cardinal of all speed sins—speeding in excess of driving conditions. That is, driving too fast for your own skill under adverse conditions, such as a skiddy road, night driving, poor visibility around curves, an old car, etc.

Speed zoning is an excellent precaution, says the author. With maps, charts, photographs and mileage records before them, traffic engineers survey the whole main highway system of a state, mark off all dangerous stretches, and figure out the top safe speeds for each. That speed is then marked on roadside signs.

Pennsylvania not long ago enforced a 50-mile limit all over the state. Since that limit went into effect, motoring deaths have decreased 40 percent. The answer may lie partly in the fact that violators are deprived of their licenses for three months; if so, fear of incurable penalty is just what the doctor ordered.

More people believe that the faster they drive their car the more mileage they get per gallon. On the contrary, the writer points out, a light modern car in good shape gets about 20 miles to the gallon at 30 miles an hour. The same car, at 60 miles an hour, gets less than 16 to the gallon. Oil-consumption figures are even of greater disproportion. A car uses almost seven times as much oil at 55 miles an hour than at 30.

So, Mr. Furnas concludes, if the risk of death doesn't worry the careless, reckless driver, thrift ought to make him listen that speeds over 50 are an expensive waste—and make, to boot, for mechanical inefficiency, for every time he increases his speed he shoots up depreciation costs.

his most severe critics might say, is acknowledged as being master on the radio. His audience, on Sunday mornings, stretches from Maine to California. His mail includes letters from every state in the Union, believe it or not. He is the most publicized Governor Texas has ever had in its entire history, Jimmy Allred's excursions to Hollywood notwithstanding. Think it over.

What about the bill to outlaw the loan sharks of Texas? Representative Mason F. Harrell of Bastrop, author of one of the original bills directed at this evil, says "this new bill which came from the committee several days ago is expected to be brought up for consideration almost any day now, bringing it up as special business."

The Homer Leonard bill, H. B. 420, is the one to which Harrell refers. Thirty-one states now have laws to regulate the loan sharks. In the meantime, in Austin, County Attorney Paul Holt has filed receivership proceedings in Judge Ralph Yarborough's court and has named 19 defendant concerns for which he asks a receiver. The brilliant Travis county attorney has led the way. His action will bring temporary relief to some 15,000 employees in Austin, many of them state employees, caught in the meshes of the loan shark. It is up to the members of the Legislature to follow Holt's lead and solve for once and all the small loan problem in Texas.

Christie, Jr., (son of Mr. and Mrs. Red Christie of Collin County) a page in the House, was elected "speaker of the Junior House" one day recently. Representative Dallas Blankenship of Dallas carried the pages and clerks and stenons on a swimming party to Barton Springs one evening last week. Land Commissioner Bascom Giles hastens to say he has not recommended the land vacancy bill now before the House (the school lobby is against it). Coke Stevenson is being groomed as a candidate for governor one of these fine days. Many believe Senator Joe Hill is trying to get in the limelight so he may run for a state office soon. Several thousand visitors from out of town watched the long street parade here Friday when the University sponsored its annual round-up of ex-students. The new prexy, Homer P. Rainey, was on hand. ## Swept into Last War, We May Repeat Folly, Warns Stuart Chase AMERICA had better plan now how to keep us out of war, or we may be swept into the next European conflagration against our will, just as we were dragged into the last war, warns Stuart Chase, noted economist, in the March Cosmopolitan.

In his challenging article, "Keep Your Powder Dry!" Mr. Chase reviews how in 1917 we drifted into a position where we had to fight, even though no one wanted to fight, except the few who saw an opportunity to acquire wealth and power out of war, and these who were bored to death by peace. What Chase fears is that we will repeat our folly and go blundering off to war again without reason.

A recent survey by the George Gallup Institute revealed that 69% of the people want the country to remain neutral in the event of war; and that 73% believe war is inevitable. These figures puzzle Mr. Chase. Why, he asks, is the government doing so little to prevent our becoming enmeshed again, when the majority of us want no part of war. The Neutrality Act of 1935 was a step in the right direction, but it didn't go far enough. It is foolish to think we are now safe because of the Act, he challenges Washington.

The best program yet seen by Mr. Chase to keep us out of war, is "The Maintenance of American Neutrality," prepared by a group of experts. The following are the terms:

1. When war comes, restrict exports to belligerents by government quotas, the quotas to be based on the average of actual exports to these countries during the last three peacetime years. (The Neutrality Act of 1935 only restricts exports of munitions; this provision restricts all exports.)

2. Shut off all credit to belligerents. Make them come and get their goods in their own ships and pay cash. Thus, if the ships are bombed, our citizens will not be aboard, and our exporters will not suffer any losses.

As for our defense, Mr. Chase believes we should be thoroughly equipped to make an invasion by a foreign country unthinkable. In his estimation Germany, Italy and Japan are the only countries likely to cause trouble; therefore, we should be strong enough to defend ourselves against one or all of them.

Further, he advises shying away from any military alliances with European powers, and to shut our ears when we hear of any proposal to make the world safe for something.

They May March Again, says Chase.

In Chase's eyes it is the third of the groups which would welcome war—the disillusioned who are bored by peace—which is most dangerous. Ten million unemployed potentially make for ten million soldiers, especially the younger generation, who see nothing ahead for them and would accept war as a drug to kill the aimlessness of their lives.

Chase adds a final thought to his peace program, perhaps the most important of his suggestions: if we really want to stay out of war, we must provide jobs for the jobless security for the insecure and hope for those who have no hope.

ing about the University, attention of several legislators has turned to a possible probe of how some of the faculty members out there can hold two or three jobs at the same time. Bill McGill, perennial manager of the publications, now draws $377 per month as a full time journalism prof. The question is: how much does he draw from his job with the publications? Some say it is only $80 per month, but the publications are run by a private corporation, so their funds are not handled by the bursar's office. A full-time professor, on the other hand, is not supposed to draw any kind of salary for any other work. They most certainly need a rejuvenation of the public relations department out there. Maybe Doctor Rainey will do something if the legislature gets too busy to do it.

The writer is in receipt of a communication from Buck Taylor, executive secretary of the "Texas Protective League," an organization devoted to old age problems with headquarters in San Antonio, in which Taylor says they are on record "indorsing the signal service you have done in exposing the conditions existent in Austin in the mal-administration of the pension laws." For which we thank Buck and wish his organization much success.

When you come to Austin, drop into the Longhorn Waffle Shop on Congress avenue where Ralph will extend that longhorn welcome of his and you may get a chance to broadcast over the radio at the noon hour. Nuf sed!

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.
