EASTER

By BELLMAY BELLCOR

Risen! Risen! Innumerably voiced from everywhere, Told by verdure fresh with might,
The lilies' bulbs from out their tombs
Bears petals so velvety, so pure white.
They seem in softest tones to say,
"O, death where is thy sting, 'O, grave where is thy victory?"

Then vivid rays from colors bright
Are billboard answers—by Heaven's light.
Resurrection give back likenesses of each kind

Then why we doubt—that good could have naught.
The faultless seeds with surety fraught
With Crowning Victory over grave and cost.

Murmurs sweetly their still small voices
His hallowed promises, "He goes but comes again, Taking unto Himself His own."
The outer robes decay and go to dust,
But the inner life—immortal good,
Embedded with the life giver has no end.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Marion Kerby, the "dematerialized" spirit of a beautiful young girl who was killed in an auto crash, hovers about the earth and particularly about her friend Cosmo Topper, bent on protecting him from the harshness of the world. With the dematerialized spirit of her gifted dog, Atlas, she invades the courtroom where Topper's wife is suing him for divorce, and breaks up the trial. Mrs. Topper is taken by her designing friend, Mrs. Parkhurst, to Paris for another try at the divorce; and Marion prevails upon Topper, against his better judgment, to follow her. Marion and Atlas, despite Topper's strenuous pleas to be let alone, accompany him.

Chapter Three

Mrs. Topper reclined in an easy chair on the deck of the yacht that lazied at anchor in the Mediterranean water. At her feet, looking soulful, lay the Baron de Rossi; and somewhat apart from them sat Mrs. Parkhurst. All three were enjoying the Riviera with might and main.

"Oh, dear," sighed Mrs. Topper as only Mrs. Topper could sigh. "I in French which Topper could fathom not. The facts in the case, in a nutshell, were that Mrs. Topper was registered at this hotel and that the manager was fostering her romance with the Baron de Rossi in expectation of a percentage of the "take", to be divided between himself and Mrs. Parkhurst, when the Baron should acquire the fair Mrs. Topper as his bride. Therefore the Monsieur Topper was not at all welcome at the hotel, and Monsieur Louis suddenly discovered that they had no accommodations at all except a mean little room on the 14th floor.

But Topper confounded the plans by insisting on having the mean little room; and presently, over their bitter protests, he was installed in tiny quarters with one bed, his luggage, and the materialized Marion and Atlas.

The hotel waiter was considerably mystified, a little later, when a contralto voice over the telephone ordered two dinners and a big bone delivered to room 14-B. And after Topper had explained that he always ate two dinners, and liked to keep a bone handy to gnaw at night if he woke up, the proceedings were further complicated by Marion's phoning for an extra bed and a basket to be sent up.

Meanwhile a cablegram arrived for Topper from his butler — and "I think this is rather silly," sighed Mrs. Topper.

wonder if I wasn't a little too harsh with Cosmo!"

"Clara dear," said the practical Parkhurst, "I think we might find a more pleasant subject to discuss than your husband."

"Yes, you must forget him, Mrs. Topper," emoted the Baron, rolling his eyes up at her. "I will make you forget him! But you must relax — you must give me the opportunity. The lovely sun — the Mediterranean water — does it not do something to you?"

"Yes. The heat makes my feet hurt."

Mrs. Parkhurst wiggled to her friend that the proper thing to do under these circumstances would be to run her fingers through the Baron's hair. After missing a couple of signals, Mrs. Topper got the idea and complied with such vim that the Baron winced.

"I think this is rather silly," sighed Mrs. Topper, tugging away at de Rossi's curly locks.

Meanwhile Topper, Marion and Atlas alighted from a plane at Le Bourget and, after some frantic bi-lingual parleying with taxi drivers, arrived at a hotel in Paris. But during the ride Marion, for a reason intelligible only to her own special brand of philosophy, took it into her head to dematerialize. As a result Topper had some little difficulty in convincing the driver that he had not murdered his woman companion and tossed her out of the cab during the trip.

Topper was greeted with great ceremony by the hotel manager, one Monsieur Louis, and offered a luxurious suite on the fourth floor. But when he exhibited his card an agitated conference between Louis and his room clerk ensued, was read by Monsieur Louis and his underlings before being delivered. It read: "Unable to cable money, Mrs. Topper's lawyers have attached entire estate. Am enroute with luggage. Wilkins."

Louis, seeing his chance to get rid of the unwelcome guest, and primed with the stories of waiters and bellboys of invisible dogs barking, double dinners and bottles of champagne rising up and pouring themselves a drink in Topper's suite, advanced upon Topper and demanded that he pay a week's rent in advance or get out. But in the middle of the discussion a host of porters entered, carrying the extra bed and the basket — and in response to Louis' outraged queries as to the meaning of this newest lunacy, Topper stoutly maintained that it was simply because he liked two beds and a basket!

"I will wait until morning, M'sieu," announced Louis dramatically. "And then if you cannot pay for one week in advance I shall not only be forced to eject you, but I shall also have to throw you out!" And he flounced out, slamming the door behind him.

"I threw him out — tomorrow!" he announced to his waiting staff outside.

But already Marion, never at a loss, had her little plan. "Don't worry, Topper — I know a place where there's plenty of money, and they give it away. We're going to the Casino!"

And while Topper argued volubly against it, she jammed his hat on his head, tickled him toward the door, and they were bound for the Casino!

KILL THE BUGS THAT PREY, MAKE COTTON PAY

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Cotton is, and should remain an important factor in balanced agriculture in most Southwestern farms. With good management we will eventually make as much cotton on the reduced acreage as the world will take. The Breeder-Feeder program involves better cotton yields thru crop rotations and livestock; and the cottonseed are indispensable to good livestock feeding.

There is yet another way to offset the smaller cotton acreage and make more profit from the cotton crop by increasing the yields. That is by effective control of the insect pests which, like the poor, we have always with us. Conservative estimates, based on careful measurements of yields with and without the use of proven control measures, indicate that the bugs get from one-eighth to one-fourth of the cotton crop for which we labor every year. The average for the cotton belt is about 3,000,000 bales annually, or an average loss of about two bales per cotton farm.

If this loss were like those from flood, drought or storm, completely beyond our control, our indifference would be excusable. As a matter of fact, however, most of the insect damage can be avoided if we use the right methods at the right time. So long as we enter each season with only the pious hope that the flea hopper, the boll weevil, the leaf worm and the boll worm will not "happen" this year, we shall go on taking the yearly losses from their depredations.

It is not often that all these pests seriously attack the cotton crop in the same year; on the other hand, there are few years in which we escape damage from at least two or three of them. Why not be prepared to fight whichever of them shows up first—and the other if they occur? One machine of the right kind and two chemical materials are all that are needed for either of all of the four principal cotton insect pests—flea hopper, boll weevil, boll worm and leaf worm. Other methods and materials will serve for one insect, but only a good dusting machine is effective for all four of these pests, and dusting machines may be had to suit any purse and any size cotton field.

Just as we know that weeds and grass will grow if we do not hoe and plow, we know that one or more of these 4 insect pests will attack the crop some time during the season. Good business demands that we be ready with the guns and ammunition to battle the bugs just as we are with the weed-killing implements.

Sulphur and calcium arsenate are the two effective materials for a complete pest-control program from early flea hopper time to late leaf worm time. Sometimes a little extra arsenical is needed, but the 2 materials, separately or in combination, and the same dusting machine, will handle all four pests.

Successful and economical control of these pests depends on doing the right thing at the right time, as well as on having the right implement and the right materials. If we wait until the bugs get busy before seeing whether our merchants have the machinery and the materials in stock, part of the damage will be done before we can get "hitched up" for the job.

The flea hopper is the early bird of this pest quartette, and does more damage than many people are aware of because the insect is hard to find, and its presence is not easily perceptible. It attacks cause the early fruit buds to fall before they become "squares", and we say "the cotton is not setting a bottom crop." It's a pretty safe guess that flea hoppers are responsible, and dusting with prepared sulphur is the remedy.

RUFUS BROWN BRAGS ON CCS WORK ON HIS PLACE

"Have you seen my place south of town?" asks Mr. Rufus Brown when the subject of soil conservation is mentioned. "A complete soil erosion control program has been put into effect on my place for about a year now and I believe I can control the erosion that was washing my farm away," declared Mr. Brown.

Mr. Brown's 440 acre farm is located nine miles south of Gatesville in the Ewing Community. In cooperation with the local Soil Conservation Service and CCC Camp, Mr. Brown has constructed approximately 9½ miles of terraces, 4000 feet of terrace outlet channels, and is now practicing strip cropping, crop rotation, and contour tillage on his 162 acres of cultivated land. Mr. Brown declared that his land could begin to build up since erosion has been controlled on his farm.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. J. B. GARRETT HELD SUNDAY

The old, old conflict of interests between rural and urban areas has been fanned to white heat here in the House the past week, and as usually happens, the boys from the city got all the advantage. (at least temporarily). Last week the House took up the Agricultural Appropriation Bill for next year. This bill includes many items for all of the activities of the Department of Agriculture, including, in addition to those functions we readily think of in connection with this department, such matters as National Forests, the Pure Food and Drug service, Public Roads and Highway aid, Soil Conservation, the Farm Security Administration (part), and the Farm Credit Administration. The total of the bill was $1,067,274,427, which is $61,890,832 less than this year. The largest item in the bill was $429,560,000 for "Conservation and Use of Agriculture Land Resources". This is the fund from which the "Soil Conservation payments" are made. The next largest item was $250,000,000 for "Price Adjustment." It is from this fund that the so-called "parity" payments are made.

The Republicans are, generally speaking, against any payments of any kind to farmers or anybody else except big business, but alone they could not take the parity item out of the bill. It remained for a group of Democrats from New York, Chicago, New England and Pennsylvania to join with the Republicans and strike out all appropriations for "parity" payments. To my mind this was an outrage. The farmer has always received far less than his proportionate share of national income. It would have required well over a billion dollars to have paid parity prices to all farmers on normal production of our five major crops. Although this government has given billions to various enterprises in which the cities are interested, as Housing, PWA and WPA, we of the farm sections realized that we could not get any such tremendous sum. We did, however, try to get one-half a billion. I supported and voted for such an amendment, but it was defeated by an overwhelming vote. A point of order made it necessary to get an affirmative vote for even the $250,000,000. On the final vote on this, the big city representatives were able to defeat us by a vote of 204 to 193. Thus, the bill as it passed the House contains no provisions whatever for the payment of any parity.

The same group that defeated the parity payments also defeated an amendment to raise the appropriation of $250,000,000 contained in the bill for the purchase of farm homes for tenant farmers to the $50,000,000 authorized by law. I voted for the full amount. In both actions it seemed to me that the majority in the House repudiated its plain duty. I can only hope that the Senate, in which the influence of the large cities is no so great, will restore these items. This action does, however, teach us two important lessons. First, the agricultural South can never hope to secure the cooperation of the industrial East except where we can show the East that cooperation is to its immediate selfish advantage. Second, our farmer can not expect to continue to depend on the payment of direct government "subsidies" or "parity payments." There is still a chance, although only a chance, that we may receive these payments next year, but this should be fair warning that we must work out a farm program where the farmer's income will come from the sale of farm crops—not from tax money. If we learn this lesson, what has happened may yet be helpful to us.

As soon as the Agricultural Appropriation Bill was disposed of we took up the second deficiency appropriation of addition money for the WPA. This bill provides additional money for the purpose of keeping WPA going until July

1st. In January we appropriated an extra $725,000,000 for the WPA. At that time the Administration wanted $875,000,000. The money appropriated then would have kept every person employed by WPA at work at $40.00 per month until July 1st, and would have left $155,000,000 for supplies, but the WPA is not satisfied to pay the same wage all over the country. We find that in New York they now have several thousand people working full time on construction jobs and drawing from $150,000 to $250.00 per month. It seems to me that they have deliberately created a situation where Congress had to give them more money to prevent real suffering on the part of helpless people who are not responsible for this condition, but the evidence showed conclusively that they do not need all they asked. I, therefore, voted against increasing the appropriation to $150,000,000, but did vote for an additional appropriation of $100,000,000, which will provide all the money needed to prevent employment cut. I always want to take care of every honest need. But bad management, and deliberate and intentional waste has created a situation that really required more money to prevent suffering. We had to provide what was actually needed regardless of why it was needed but I am glad to report that the House ordered a sweeping investigation of the WPA and its methods.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!
THE NEW
Firestone CHAMPION
The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY
and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

"TOMBOY" SENIOR PLAY AT GYM TONITE: BIG CAST

Tonight at eight o'clock in the local gymnasium the senior class of Gatesville High School is going to present their annual play.

This year the play is a comedy dealing with the ups and downs of a young lady who finds that tennis, golf, and fishing interest her more than the usual maidenly amusements. From this it can be seen that the play is aptly named "Tomboy". Ruth Hanna plays the title role and in the supporting cast are such characters as:

Mrs. Abbott, the mother with social ambition for her daughters, Vera Taylor.

Mr. Abbott, the Tomboy's best pal as well as her father, Bruce Weaver.

Dorothy and Eloise, the two older daughters who thoroughly disapprove of the Tomboy, Mildred Gandy and Frances Brown.

Larry, an early pal of Jackie's who eventually wins her heart, John Albert Lester.

Alfred and Earnest, two young business men who are engaged to the older sisters, John Frank Post and Steve Lindley.

Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Abbott's sister and Mrs. Simpson, the dressmaker, Jean Patillo and Margaret Gentry. There are several other characters who furnish many whole hearted laughs.

The admission prices are very reasonable, and the money is to go to buy a gift which the class will leave the school.

With the support of the entire town and county the class can accomplish this worthwhile purpose and everybody who comes is guaranteed an amusing evening. A great added attraction will be the famous Diserens Swing Band, which by itself is well worth the price of the Show.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Tucker went to College Station to get Jack Hearne, who returned with them and is spending the holidays with them and other relatives and friends.

39 VOTE IN WARD 2; 18 VOTE IN WARD 1; LACKADAISICAL

That's the record of Gatesvillians or Gatesvilleite, if you may!

Out of a possible, maybe, 750 votes, 57 executed their Democratic right to vote on their governing body for this democratic part of the country,—this little local government.

Granted, there were no opponents, and no scratched ballots or "write-ins", but the vote is shameful.

It's shameful, when, in Europe, there are Stalins, Hitlers, Mussolinis, and the Far East, Japanese War Lords who are lording it over all who dare to speak.

Even Hitler, we'd imagine, has more opposition in his self-setup totalitarian state than was indicated right here in our own "principality". And, this, in a Democracy! Probably, it's a disintegration of this form of government—who knows.

The facts speak for themselves—out of a possible 750 votes, or thereabouts, 57 citizens voted, or registered approval.

We maintain, that's sumpin'.

 the following Sunday, we will have had nearly 900 in Sunday School. We hope every Department will reach the same goals on the Sunday of the 23rd, and give us an all time attendance record. Let's do our best to go over the top.

The men of the church will come together in a Fellowship hope that every man will avail himself of the opportunity of being present. More than 125 have

SAN ANTONIO PASTOR, DEN- TON SINGER TO LEAD IN BAPTIST REVIVAL

Rev. O. M. Thompson, pastor of the Beacon Hill Baptist Church of San Antonio will do the preaching in a series of Revival Services to be held at the First Baptist Church beginning the 16th of April. Mr. Earl Rogers, Music Director and Pastor's Assistant at the First Baptist Church of Denton, will lead the singing. Both of these men are splendid in their field of service. Rev. O. M. Thompnouncements will be made in this

FIFTH SERMON OF SERIES WILL BE GIVEN BY BAP- TIST PASTOR

Sunday evening at 8 the pastor of the First Baptist will preach on the subject: "The Marks of a New Testament Church". This will be the fifth of a series of sermons on the subject: "Distinctive Bible Doctrines and Baptist Beliefs."
 What is a New Testament Church?
 What are its peculiarities? What and how many are its ordinances?
 Who is the founder of the plan on which The New Testament Church is built? What are the specific differences in a New Testament Church and those that are not considered such. These are some of the points to be considered in the sermon.

On Sunday night the 16th, the last of the series will be given.
 The subject will be: "Christ, The Adequate Savior of Men". Christ the eternal Son of God; Christ the ONLY Savior of men; what the resurrection proves as to the person and work of Christ; these are questions to be considered in the course of the sermon.

SPECIAL EASTER PROGRAM AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Interesting Program Featured At Methodist M. Society

Following is the program which was given last Tuesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church by the Women's Missionary Society as an introduction to the study, "The Church Takes Root in India": Devotional, Mrs. Gugolz; Special music, Mrs. Elworth Lowrey with Miss Orpa Mayo accompanist; Travel Sketches of India, Mrs. Byron Leaird Jr; Group of poems, Mrs. C. H. Wallace; Introduction of study, Mrs. A. C. Schloeman.

In the decorations, there was much color as the Indian theme was carried out. The Indian rugs, shawls, pottery, paintings, and tapestries on the walls made the church meeting room into a lovely scene. Locust blossoms in oriental vases helped create the atmosphere of foreign India.

The ladies were served in a small room off the place of meeting. The tea table was laid with a mosaic cloth with a centerpiece of fruits, nuts, coconuts on silver platters surrounded by bridal wreath. Salted nuts in glass dishes and honey locust blossoms added much charm to the table.

Seated were Mrs. Louis Holmes, Mrs. Clay Stinnett, in typical Indian dress, pouring tea.

Serving were Mesdames Fred

Chamlee, John T. Brown, T. P. Tackett, E. C. Lay and G. C. Acrea.

Refreshments consisted of hot spiced tea, rice pudding, salted nuts and cups, shaped as Lotus flowers, containing green mints.

A large group signed for the study course. Everyone is invited to attend these lessons in the circle meetings each Tuesday.

AN EXTENSION TELEPHONE

SAVES MANY HOUSEHOLD STEPS

IN THE BEDROOM

When the telephone rings while mother is busy with household tasks, this extra telephone saves her a hurried trip downstairs to answer the call. And for emergencies at night a bedside telephone is always most welcome.

IN THE KITCHEN

An extension telephone permits the housewife to "keep an eye" on things in her workshop and still answer incoming calls and order the day's supplies—extension telephones cost little.

"THERE'S THAT WOMAN AGAIN" ROMANTIC MYSTERY-COMEDY

"There's That Woman Again", referring to Melvyn Douglas' ditted detective spouse in "There's Always a Woman," will appear at the REGAL Theatre on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, with Virginia Bruce in the role introduced by Joan Blondell. Douglas, who created the character of the wife-troubled Bill Reardon in the original romantic mystery-comedy again plays the harassed detective.

The story opens with Melvyn Douglas, as a private detective, faced with a perplexing crime problem. Daily thefts from the exclusive Nacelle Jewelry company store have everybody—especially the insurance company—in a dither of excitement. Douglas has but one major suspect, a clerk in the store. When he is about to jail this clerk, his wife, Virginia Bruce, accepts the suspect as a client. Thus Douglas finds himself faced with the dilemma of trying to prove the clerk guilty while his madcap wife is doing rather amazing things to prove him innocent.

In the latter connection, much to the detective's disgust, his mate gets herself mixed up in a murder and in a general robbery of the store. This serves to give serious yet highly comic complications in which Douglas has become entangled.

Margaret Lindsay plays the dangerously attractive Mrs. Nacelle with Tom Dugan the role of Flannigan, Douglas' slap-happy aide. Other members of the supporting cast include Gordon Oliver, Paul Harvey, Jonathan Hale, Stanley Ridges and Pierre Watkin.

The picture was directed by Alexander Hall who handled the successful comedy, "There's Always a Woman," which also chronicled the mad adventures of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reardon.

Softball, last year, looked like big league stuff to us, and if a County Hardball League can't be organized, how about a County Softball League, like the '38 City Soft Ball League?

In the year 1873, the first college baseball team in Texas and the second anywhere in the state, was organized at Baylor university in Waco.

VARIOUS INFORMATION FOR FARMERS AND RANCHERS FROM COUNTY AGENT

Wool worms are making their appearance in Coryell County and some men are shearing their sheep early in an attempt to keep the damage as low as possible. There are several methods in which these worms may be controlled, one of which is by the use of benzoin. After the worms are killed a good fly repellent should be used. A number of commercially prepared fly repellants are available, oil of Tar is also good, and excellent results have been obtained by the use of bone oil.

The following whitewash formula, according to the Georgia Experiment Station, is a little different to other formulas in that it looks like white paint and sticks to the wall.

Mix together 50 pounds of hydrated lime, 10 gallons of water, 10 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of alum, 1 bar of soap (melted). Let this stand for 24 hours, strain, add enough water to make it about like thin cream, put on with sprayer or brush.

In order to determine whether or not it was economical and advantageous for dairymen to include silage in the dairy ration the Texas Herd Improvement Association obtained the records of 25 herds consisting of 619 cows to which silage was fed, and records of 25 herds consisting of 60 cows which were not fed silage. The results of this research favored the feeding of silage by a wide margin.

Cows that were fed silage as a part of the ration averaged 32 lbs. more butter fat over a given period, with an average of $3.95 less cost for feed than the cows where silage was not a part of the ration. This increase in production was valued at $9.80 per cow. The value of production above feed cost was $62.21 for the cows fed silage as a part of the ration and only $47.06 for the other herds, a difference of $15.15 per cow.

During 1938 the Middle and West lost approximately 170,000 horses from sleeping sickness, and some authorities believe that 1939 may bring an even more serious outbreak of the disease. It is suggested by the National Horse and Mule Association that all good horses and mules be vaccinated during the months of April and May, and that such immunization be supplemented by insect control measures in an effort to prevent the spread of the disease. It is also suggested that all animals, which die from this disease, be quickly buried. All carcasses should be buried deep enough that they cannot be visited by birds or rodents, as they are great carriers of the disease. Every precaution should be taken since it has been ascertained that humans can contract the disease from affected animals, the result of which are serious if not fatal.
