Need For Production Dept. In Local Red Cross Realized

In the recent organization of the Coryell county chapter of the Red Cross an urgent need has been seen for a production department. Definite plans are being made to do our part toward meeting this need. The quota of garments, both sewed and knitted designated to our chapter, has been accepted, and these materials are on their way to us. The time and effort of every individual in our county will be needed to make these garments. Relief supplies sent through the American Red Cross to the victims of the warfare in Europe and in the Orient reached a total value of $19,496,805 up to February 1. This total figure includes expenditures and commitments from the $21,827,608 American Red Cross War Relief Fund, estimated value of Chapter produced articles and supplies made available through the United States Government purchases. The government supplies have been purchased with funds provided in the Congressional foreign war relief appropriation of $50,000,000. Of this amount $18,000,000 has been set aside by the President for the purchase of supplies to be distributed by the American Red Cross. The allotted funds are available for purchases, including transportation, but to date have not all been used.

JEFF WILLIAMS HOLDS BANQUETEERS SPELL BOUND: NEW OFFICERS NAMED

AUCTION SALE AT EVANT TOTALS $10,127.00

The auction sale staged at Evant by Graham Wall at his recently erected barn exceeded by far the fondest expectations of all interested parties and the general public, the sales mounting in figures to the peak of $10,127. Both buyers and sellers were highly pleased. It was stated that a large number could not get in with their stock on account of the condition of roads leading to their premises.
There was a noted variety of breeds of cattle but it was generally conceded that good milch cows brought the best average. Some calves brought as high as $82.50. Sheep and goats were not as much in demand as cattle.
These sales will be a weekly affair and a large number is expected next Friday.

FIRE CAUSES ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE AT JOHN MORGAN HOME

Only small damage was done to the kitchen of the John T. Morgan home on east Leon street Monday morning about 11:30 o'clock when a pan of grease caught fire. The flame and smoke only damaged the wall paper and the window shade.

METHODIST DISTRICT UNION TO MEET IN OGLESBY TONIGHT

The East Side Gatesville District Union of the Methodist Church will meet Tuesday night at the Oglesby church. It is hoped that a large group of the young people will attend from this city.

Jeff Williams, of Chickasha, (long a) Oklahoma, had 'em in the aisles, and handkerchiefs at their eyes, alternately Thursday evening at the gym, when he was banquet speaker at the Fourth Annual Banquet of the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce before nearly 450 members, visitors and officials.

Mr. Williams didn't have any speech, he made it as he went, and he really made one, ask anyone who heard him. What he was driving at besides entertainment, no one seems to know, and, for the matter of fact, didn't care. He spoke (Mrs. Tom R. Mears timed him) one hour and 20 minutes, and we thought it was about 40 minutes. Ladies and Gentlemen, that's speaking, when you can do that.

A delicious menu, served in a really delicious and remarkable way, considering the crowd, pleased everyone. The coffee was hot, the entire dinner was grand, and that's just a lot of credit, considering some of those that have gone before.

Mrs. A. W. Ellis, accompanied by Mrs. Ola Mae Parks opened the evening's entertainment with the Star Spangled Banner, following which the audience joined in singing "God Bless America". Invocation was by Rev. C. M. Spalding, Pastor of the First Baptist Church.

After the luncheon, a Military Tap Dance was given by Miss Betty Jean Winslow, of Temple, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Fischer, also of that city.

Paul Wilkerson Jr., of Temple was soloist for the evening, and was also accompanied by Mrs. Walter Fischer.

OFFICERS NOMINATED AND VOTED BY ACCLIMATION DURING DINNER

Just before the speaker of the evening, Leake Ayres, Chairman of the Nominating committee for the new officers of the Chamber of Commerce, read the names recommended by the committee, which was composed of, besides, Mr. Ayres, B. K. Cooper, C. P. Mounce, L. M. Stinnett and Byron Leard Jr., and the following officers were voted by acclamation:

President Joe Bailey Walker, 1st Vice-Pres. Robt. W. Brown 2nd Vice-Pres. J. Hurl McClellan, 3rd Vice-Pres. Andrew Kendrick Secretary, Mrs. Tom R. Mears, New directors named were, B. K. Cooper, Harry Jones, Rev. Edward S. Bayless, Erle Powell, Mrs. Mabel Gardner.

Hold-over directors are: H. K. Jackson, George Painter, R. R. Anderson, Dr. Otis Carter Ray, L. K. Thomson and Floyd Murray.

Out-of-town guests were introduced and although the names were read and they were introduced, no record was made of those present, as visitors.

DOLLAR-YEAR-TROUBLE

WASHINGTON. — Defense chiefs aren't advertising it, but they are quietly trying to ward off a blow-up over the host of dollar-a-year men now working for the government.

Some of the One Dollar men are conscientious and sincere public servants. Others are less scrupulous. While representing the government they have sold goods to the government, exerted inside pressure in favor of their industries, represented clients before government agencies.

All this has been no secret on Capitol Hill, where the steadily growing corps of One Dollar moguls has been eyed with increasing resentment. Recently this undercover indignation took form in a bill by Sen. Kenneth McKellar, veteran Tennessean, to ban such business men from government service and to probe their operations.

McKellar's plan is to await enactment of the lend-lease bill before pushing his measure, but meanwhile defense chiefs, seeing the handwriting on the wall, have quietly started cleaning up the situation themselves.

This has been done in a series of apparently unrelated moves. Under cover of transferring the original defense organization to the new office of production management, several One Dollar men have been eased home with the high-sounding, face-saving title of "Advisory Consultant" pinned to their coat-tails. Others have been shifted to jobs not directly connected with their own industries.

Also, several non-commercial experts have been brought in to replace One Dollar men in important sections of the OPM. And more house-cleaning is still to come.

Note—Among non-commercial experts who have been brought into the OPM are Dr. Ernest M. Hon-

MR. SMITH GOES TO LATIN-AMERICA

It looks as if Senator Barkley was right when he denounced the box office smash movie, "Mr. Smith Comes to Washington." That film is now causing all kinds of headaches for the U. S. A. in South America, where it is used by the Nazis as one of their deadliest propaganda weapons.

John Hay ("Jock") Whitney has just made this report to the Rockefeller branch of the national defense commission. The story of a grafting senate ganging up on a young reformer, Whitney says, is being circulated through Latin America as an illustration of U. S. government graft.

Whitney has been pressuring Hollywood moguls to halt further foreign distribution of the film.

Another big problem for Whitney is newsreels. Just how damaging a newsreel can be to the "Good Neighbor" policy if even a slight detail of sequence is overlooked, was illustrated in a recent report to the state department by Norman Armour, ambassador to Argentina.

In a Buenos Aires theater one night, Armour was witnessing American newsreel shots of an air raid on Great Britain. Immediately following the raid pictures a bathing beauty contest in California was flashed on the screen.

"The letdown of the audience was terrific," Armour reported, pointing out that the newsreel made it appear that United States had its mind on bathing beauties instead of defense.

THE TAFT BROTHERS

William Howard Taft's boys, Bob and Charley, are at odds again, Charley having been in Washington more than a week in his new job before he got together with Bob.

Reason is the job Charley has taken from the hands of Roosevelt. It sounds harmless enough—"Assistant Co-ordinator of Recreational Activities for Defense"—but it's a sufficient tie-up with the administration.

When he wrote that book we had not yet discovered sulfanilimide and its chemical relatives. Probably that drug has already saved more human lives than the War of the Revolution cost!

Atomic energy, with thousands of times the energy of gasoline, was a dream five years ago. It is only a possibility today, but it is already newspaper news—a step nearer; perhaps very close.

It is up to us in America today to create our own style, develop our own art, try out our own tastes.

Are we efficient enough? Can we do it? We can if we keep free our means of communication and expression.

If progress—and failure—can be reported without hindrance, if the things men do—in politics and sociology and science and business—can be discussed, compared and weighed, we shall have a great era of progress—greater than all the progress that has gone before.

And all we need, to guarantee that freedom to grow, is a strong and fearless press. Need? We do not need to create such a press. We need only to keep it. You are reading a sample of it at this moment.

We need only to appreciate it, conserve it, defend it, keep it free.

NOTE: The Newspaper Publishers Committee, composed of over 350 leading American Newspapers, publishes these messages simultaneously each week. The force which unites these newspapers is their recognition of their responsibility to you, the reader.

foreign policy to leave anti-interventionist Bob a bit chilly.

What hurt more, perhaps, was that Charley, who has long quarreled with his brother over domestic policies, accepted the job just the week before the historic lease-lend debate opened in the senate. Bob knew where brother Charley stood long before, namely with the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. But this brought the split into the public gaze.

"You don't have to agree with your brother all the time, do you?" is Bob's shrugging comment.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

You can reach hard-working John R. Steelman, head of the U. S. Conciliation service, practically any midnight in his office working on some labor dispute, but not between 7 and 7:15 p. m. He always takes this time out to listen to a favorite daily radio program.

The budget is full of unique items, such as $6,000 for a fence on the Texas-Mexican border, $75,000 for personal funds for inmates of federal narcotic institutions, $10,000 for sea food inspection.

THE STORY TO DATE

When Sir Richard Ingolby one of Elizabeth's gallant freebooters, loses in battle to Don Miguel de Casans, his boyhood friend, he knows that his life will be forfeited to the Spanish Inquisition. His son, however, is sheltered by Don Miguel until he hears of his father's death at the stake. Shaken by rage and grief, he flees in a fishing boat.

Chapter Two

To Elizabeth, the horror of Spanish invasion was daily becoming a closer actuality. The words of the Spanish ambassador still rang in her ears, "If Your Majesty will not hear, we will come to cannons!" If Elizabeth hanged Drake as crafty King Phillip insisted, the Spanish would build up their power for England invasion without interruption. If she did not stop the raiding of her gallant sea soldier, immediate invasion would come, anyway.

So the Queen sat in her council chamber, listening first to flashing impetuous Leicester. There had been a day when her regard for him was more than that of a Queen. This reckless lord could still play on the great Queen's feelings. But on the other side were the considered, careful decisions of Lord Burleigh "Return Drake's capture," counseled the gentle graybeard who had grown old in the service of his rulers.

"Her Grace shall not so humble herself," shrilled Leicester. "My Lords, let us face facts. Why is the Armada being built if not to invade England?"

"We have kept the peace thirty years," Elizabeth interrupted sternly. "Who now teaches you to croak 'War'?"

"A raven new loosed from the Spanish ark," spoke Burleigh and signalled to the attendant at the door. The door swung open and a tattered, gaunt Michael stood in the entrance.

Swiftly, he advanced, knelt and kissed the hand of the Queen. In short phrases, laden with heart-break, he told her of his father's fate. "Gentlemen," spoke the Queen as she rose, "Give us leave." She motioned for Michael to follow.

Alone with the imperious Queen, Michael blurted out his story. "Facts, facts!" insisted Elizabeth. When Michael admitted that he did not know the size of the Armada, the Queen pursed her lips and said, "There will be one hundred and thirty-two ships of the line."

"You have made a fool of me, your Majesty," cried Michael. Elizabeth laughed, rang a bell. Suddenly, like a vision, Cynthia stood in the doorway. Michael darted forward, wrapped her in his arms. "Darling!" "Sweetheart!" "Beloved!" they gasped, unable to believe their sight.

"Mistress," spoke the Queen with some harshness. "This is my palace, not your private parlour. Lord Leicester dines with me. Change my dress and jewels now."

"I'll come back," whispered Cynthia, eyes aglow, as she sped off to the Queen's chamber.

Although the Queen taunted Michael, she knew that the youth spoke the truth about Spain. It was his influence that decided her to return the money pirated by Drake to Spain. In Elizabeth's mind there was one purpose, to sue for time in which she could prepare for the inevitable attack by Spain. For the time being she would placate King Phillip.

Michael found the first few days at home filled with joy. Every hour he could steal he spent by Cynthia's side, as together they thought and spoke the tender nothings that have made up lovers' conversations since time immemorial. True, the Queen still harassed the lovers, but it was with the sardonic amusement of a woman who had been tragically robbed of the happiness of love.

She listened carefully when the boy spoke of Spain. "Madam," he said, "In Spain they herd souls as we herd cattle. All men must be of one pattern, one blood. Spain is the prison of all freedom... Spain is horror."

"Hush!" the Queen would say to these passionate outbursts, but deep within her she was stirred and frightened.

But Michael was to prove his loyalty to the Queen in another manner shortly. There was a meeting of the nobles at Westminster Hall. The streets were full of banners snapping in the wind and noisy, jostling crowds of people come out to see their beloved Queen.

On a balcony situated on the avenue through which the Queen would approach Michael and Cynthia stood. The youth's mind was full of questioning. Would the Queen accept his petition to rejoin the fleet. "No," answered Cynthia pertly. "She likes you!"

Before Michael could answer, his keen eye caught a movement in the crowd below. A cloaked figure was darting forward to the edge of the crowd. The Queen was rapidly approaching. The cloaked person pulled at something inside its shirt. It looked like a gun. It was a gun! Without thought or hesitation Michael dove straight on the figure, crashing it to the ground.

When he rose, the Queen was standing before him. With a steady hand, she snatched the hat from Michael's prisoner. Loops of gray tousled hair fell out, revealing an old woman whose eyes gleamed with a maniacal light.

"Are you the English Queen or the Scotch Queen?" she croaked. "She is crazed or she would not dare," spoke Elizabeth. "Where are your friends?" she demanded.

"In France" said the would-be assassin.

"You shall be given safe conduct and money to take you there." Then to Michael, after a moment's steady glance, "Your arm!"

Look at America

By NORMAN CHANDLER
Chairman
Newspaper Publishers Committee

NORMAN CHANDLER

WE'RE ON OUR OWN. We'll sink or swim, herein America, depending on whether we are competent, able to solve our own problems.

The dictators say democracy won't work—too inefficient. The very word "democracy" is under fire. Today, our form of government faces a challenge as serious as it did when the 13 colonies united.

Well, not quite. We are forty-eight strong and well-united states now. We have a large share of all the world's wealth. We have discovered and developed an astounding number of resources. We have scientists, thinkers, doers to spare. We have skills and arts and traditions and experiences now.

We have used up the wilderness, but we've replaced it with a thousand new frontiers. Four or five years ago a Yale professor, C. C. Furnas, wrote a book called "The Next Hundred Years." In that book he pointed out the pitiful little strip of knowledge we have mapped and the vast areas of wilderness and ignorance ahead of us.

The GHS Hornettes, champions of this district and a contender for the State Meet for the past 3 seasons, advanced to the quarter finals in the State Meet at Waco Thursday night when they defeated the Dodd City sextette in the first round of play. However the Hornettes lost in the quarter-finals when the Mesquite lassies took them into camp by a score of 25-18.

goals for a total of fourteen points and high scoring honors for the game, the locals had little trouble in winning from the Northeast Texas team. The Hornette guards proved the fact that they were one of the best sets of the tournament by holding the losers to four field goals and one charity toss.

Mrs. Balch ran in her second string and let them play their first game in the State tournament. Perkins, one of these, sank four field goals during the period she was in the game.

Other results during the first round of play were:
La Poyner 35, Silsbee 27
Mesquite 46, Sidney 17
Anton 27, Rusk 19
Trent 36, Blanco 11
Mobeetie 27, Lott 14

The Ennis team drew a forfeit over Van Horn, since the latter team failed to show up due to weather conditions. Friona drew a bye in the first round of play.

Friday night at 9:30 p. m. the Hornettes met the strong Mesquite team from near Dallas and lost the game after a tough fight. The height of the Mesquite sextette proved the margin of the win over the Hornettes. Co-capt. Moore of the locals led the Hornette scoring with ten points for the game. Turner was second with five for the locals. Miss Grubb of the winners captured high scoring honors for the game with 13 points to her credit. Again the Gatesville guards turned in a great game, and held the winners scoring down. The Mesquite forwards won the game on their long shots, which Grubb took under her direction by scoring six.

This made the second time in as many years that the Hornettes have lost out in the quarter finals in the State Tournament, but they are the only team that has been in the meet for three years in a row and each year have advanced further than the initial round.

After the Hornettes had been nosed out in the quarter finals the Ennis, Anton, Mesquite, and Mobeetie teams advanced to the semi-finals. Saturday morning Ennis and Mobeetie, and Anton and Mesquite met each other to determine the finalist in the meet.

Ennis defeated the Mobeetie sextette by the score of 27 to 17 and went into the finals. Anton surprised the fans by winning from the favored Mesquite team 23-19 and went into the finals with Ennis. Ennis won the meet Saturday night by defeating the Anton team by the score of 34 to 29.

Also Saturday night the East and West game was played. The East team was made up of the following schools: Dodd City, La Poyner and Lott. The west all-star team was made up of Friona, Blanco, Gatesville and Trent.

Miss Dollie Moore and Dorothy Mueller of the Hornettes placed on the West team. Moore led the scoring for both teams by scoring 13 points, and seven more points than her nearest rival on either team.

The west all-stars won by a score of 29 to 15.

Ennis, one of the three central Texas entries, won the trophy for winning the third annual state tournament, and Friona, of near Amarillo, won the trophy for traveling the longest distance. Mesquite won the third place honors in the meet by defeating La Poyner Saturday evening. So after three years of State Tournaments the winners stand: In '39 the local Gatesville team won, in '40 Wayside from up in the panhandle won the meet, and this year the Ennis sextette of the central part of the state conquered the title.

Baseball Managers To Meet Saturday, March 15

With the Coryell county baseball league to start sometime during April, a meeting has been called for Saturday, March 15, for all managers and persons who are interested in the league.

The meeting will take place at 3:00 p. m. in the News office. Schedules and important issues will have to be worked out before the opening of the season. Representatives from the following places are especially urged to be present: Pidcoke, Copperas Cove, Plainview, Topsey, Jonesboro, Flat Turnersville, Pearl, Blackfoot, Moshim, Mound and White Hall. All persons interested in the league, and are also interested in organizing a team from other sections of the county are also requested to be on hand.

Flat Yellowjackets Start Spring Training

The Flat Yellowjackets, finalist in the six-man football race last fall, are in spring football training. They have been hampered by bad weather, but are going through limbering up and signal exercises. Coach Mohrmann of the Jackets had a great team last season that went to the finals and were defeated there by Oglesby after taking an early lead.

Prospects for the next year are fairly bright since several lettermen are back from last fall's team. This is the first report we have had from any team that is in training, but others that were in the race last season are expected to start soon if they have not already done so.

DALLAS, Tex., March 8.—Nearly 135,000 Texans get their entire living from oil refining, a state-wide survey just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association shows.

The oil refining branch of the state's petroleum industry furnishes jobs for 33,000 Texas workers, including office employees, with payrolls of $50,000,000 a year. Counting four persons to a family, a total of 132,000 Texans obtain their livelihood from oil refining alone, the survey shows. In addition, Texas carbon black plants employ 1,800 more workers and pay them $2,200,000 a year, while natural gasoline plants provide jobs for 3,850 more Texans with payrolls of $5,775,000. This gives a total employment in the Texas petroleum refining industries of 38,700 workers, who with their families make up 155,000 Texans getting their sole living from this source.

Texas oil refineries refine 82 1-2 per cent as much crude oil as Texas produces, an increase of 28 per cent over 1933, the association reported. This is in contrast with Texas cotton, of which only about 2 per cent is processed in Texas, and Texas wool and mohair, virtually none of which is processed here. Most Texas raw materials are shipped out of the state to other parts of the world for manufacturing, to the virtual exclusion of Texas labor.

"It is a factor of vital concern to every Texas worker to see that as much as possible of the raw materials which Texas produces are also manufactured into finished products in our state," the association points out in a statement issued today. "Oil, like cotton and all other Texas materials, must seek outside markets for volumes in excess of home requirements. But unlike most of the other materials, Texas oil is first manufactured into useful products in Texas plants with Texas labor. More than four-fifths as much oil as is produced in this state is also converted into finished products here, making Texas' largest manufacturing industry.

"The result is that thousands of Texans are afforded employment. This would not be the case if the bulk of the crude oil produced here were shipped out to be refined by petroleum refineries situated in other states. Most Texas refiners now operate on a profit of a small fraction of a cent per gallon of gasoline, their principal product. Anything which would add even a part of a cent a gallon to their costs would seriously injure Texas' largest manufacturing industry and affect the livelihood and welfare of nearly 135,000 Texans."
