We haven't heard of any special plans for these schools closing, but they never miss having a picnic, ball game or something that's worth your time, if you have time, and you'll miss it, if you miss it.

Last week end, Harmony slipped out without it being announced, but it was added to the Hubbard and Brown's Creek list of those already out.

Rudolph Hess Is In London: Was Taken At Glasgow

Rudolph Hess, Nazi Deputy, and the No. 2 Hitler, was captured at Glasgow, Scotland after he "bailed-out" of an airplane and broke an ankle. He was immediately taken to London.

Reports are that his "lungs" are bad as the result of a World War wound, and he's thought to have gone "screw-ball."

Nazis missed him Saturday, and those who allowed him to get away have been punished by Adolf Hitler & Co.

High Water Don't Stop Mother's Day At Neff Park

Former Governor Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, being the Baptist that he is, can stand the water. Even if it is muddy Leon river water.

And, so he and about a 100 daring souls waded, forded or boated to an island in the overflow of the Leon river for the annual Mother's Day services at Mother Neff state park Sunday.

About 20,000 were present last year, but the water thinned them down to around 100 in '41, and a program was presented just the same.

If they happen down, next Sunday, this part of the Leon can promise more water, since "she's comin' down again". Big rain at Eastland, and river rising at Jonesboro; out in slough now, and may be rising here; looks like it.

AMATEUR NIGHT AT CORYELL CITY THURSDAY NIGHT

R. B. Forrest "by special wire" this morning, advised the News that there'd be an amateur night at Coryell City Thursday night of this week, and that they're looking for all the amateurs out there for the big show.

They're going to offer _____ but we don't know whether Uncle Sam would like for us to say what. But anyway, you won't lose anything by entering the festivities.

Of course, the public is invited, as well as all the folks in the community.

Nesbitt "Drunk With Power" Says State Legislator

In an Associated Press story carried in the daily newspapers under a date line of May 9, E. H. Nesbitt, Superintendent of the State Juvenile Training School was said by Chairman Bundy of the House Committee on Eleemosynary and Reformatory Institutions, to be "drunk with power."

It was one of the usual investigations by the House Committee, and almost every time, something ridiculous like this is uttered by the Committee members.

Mr. Bundy said: "You are and the other heads of state institutions are drunk with power. You think you are the real power and not the Legislature."

Others who were "inquisitioned" were Edgar Lorenz, manual training instructor; G. L. Polk, night-watchman; J. P. Head, teacher, and Leo Jensen, storekeeper and accountant.

The Committee went into further details as to the use of the strap, which seems to be a necessity where boys are put together, and have to be controlled.

Arrangements have been made to have Boy Scouts of the county to assist in handling the tremendous crowds which are expected for this big event. Further announcement will be made Fri. in the News.

Wrecked, Burned & Bumped: Accounts For One Injury

Mrs. Virgil Jones, of Turnersville was the only one figuring in various accidents over the week end that resulted in injuries. Mrs. Jones' thumb was broken and is causing her considerable pain. The accident happened when Superintendent Virgil Jones' car hit stakes next to the bridge near Bill Nesbitt's store Saturday afternoon and overturned. Mr. Jones said he was driving "a little fast" and had to dodge another car coming out of Nesbitt's station. The accident, he said, was unavoidable.

Mr. Jones' children, including a baby of only a few months were in the car. Neither of the children or Mr. Jones were injured. The car had a damaged right front wheel, and front door, and the top was caved in badly, but being steel, saved the occupants.

Another accident happened earlier in the week, when a car reported to have been driven by George King hit the front end of a Waco Brownwood bus, damaging Mr. King's car, and denting the front door of the bus. No injuries resulted.

No. 3. Frank Wright's car, a '36 4-door Dodge burned Thursday about 4 miles north of Turnersville at noon that day, as a result of a shorted battery cable. The car was brought in by J. W. Thomson's wrecker.

It's always a good warning, "Drive Safely".

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. English, Mrs. W. A. White, Mrs. Dan Graves, and Mr. and Mrs. Harmon White spent Mother's Day at College Station.

COPPERAS COVE NINE PUSH INDIANS BY TROUNCING COKERS 7-3 SUNDAY

Despite a wet field and threats of rain the Pidcoke Cokers and the Copperas Cove baseball nine battled it out on the formers home field Sunday in the only contest played in the county league.

The Copperas Cove team was playing their first game of the season and from the showing they made it looks as if they are one of the teams to beat for the league title, for they had very little trouble in winning from the Cokers, 7 to 3.

Leroy Fritz lasted all the way for the winners and turned in a near mound performance although touched for several hits throughout the contest. Trammel lasted until the ninth and during his turn in the box kept the Cove hits well scattered, but errors cost him the game.

In the initial inning the visitors scored two runs and from then on were never headed. The Cokers came back in the first to score one run, but no more tallies were made until the third period when the Cove team rallied to take a 3 to 1 lead. The Cokers pushed one run across in their half of the fifth, but in the seventh frame Fritz opened for the Cove with a single and Adams doubled, but Fritz was trapped between home and third.

Adams stole third and scored on Hughes single. Magg was safe on an infield hit, and Hughes came home on a wild pitch and Magg went to third. Magg scored on an infield hit by Dewald, but Trammel struck out Walker and Gotcher to end the Cove scoring.

The Coker scored their last run during the same inning when Newton doubled, Perryman walked, and Trammel singled to score Newton.

Lockhart relieved Trammel in the ninth for the losers and after filling the bases with none out, retired the Cove with no runs.

Third baseman Adams and pitcher Leroy Fritz shared batting honors for the Cove, but manager Emmett Gotcher accounted for most of the winner's runs batted in with a couple of doubles. Adams had a triple and a double for the Cove while Fritz had a good day at bat with four out of five.

Newton and L. Trammel, Coker first sacker, led the losers at the bat with two hits each.

Score by the inning for the game was as follows:

Cove	.....	201	000	310	—7
Cokers	.....	100	010	100	—3
Batteries: C. Cove, Fritz to Gotcher; Pidcoke, Trammel, Lockhart to Porter.

SPORT SCRAPS
By NORRIS

The second round of play in the county baseball league will get underway Sunday on two diamonds in the county. Probably the feature game of the day will be the Ireland - Blackfoot contest which is scheduled to take place on the Indians home field.

The Cards have won only one game this season, but they showed great form in downing the defending champions, the Pidcoke Cokers, for their only win of the season. They lost their initial game of the season to the Indians by the one-sided score of 23-5, but since then they have greatly improved.

The league leading Indians will probably start Jack Barton, veteran hurler, on the mound against the Cards. Richards, hard hitting Indian catcher, will be behind the bat to complete the Blackfoot batteries.

The other game which is scheduled Sunday will be at Pearl, where the Pidcoke Cokers engage the Dragons in a contest which is due to draw a large crowd of fans.

The Copperas Cove team took a game from last season champs, the Pidcoke Cokers, at Pidcoke Sunday by the score of 7-3. The Cove has a team which can be counted in on the playoff if nothing happens.

The House of David walloped the Waco Dons in Waco Sunday 3-0. The loss was the Dons first of the season, as they had won from the Austin 7-up team the previous Sunday.

Softball season is about here and there is much interest in the sport. During the past seasons there has been several teams in the league and this years line up is expected to be no exception.

The league standing in the county league is as follows:

	P	W	L	Pct
Blackfoot	.....	2	2	0	1.000
Cop. Cove	.....	3	2	1	.667
Pearl	.....	2	1	1	.500
Ireland	.....	3	1	2	.333
Pidcoke	.....	4	1	3	.250

The State baseball nine won from the Waco State Home team Saturday at the Training school diamond. The State team has a fine team this season which is capable of giving all teams around here plenty of competition.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. DELIA BANKSTON HELD AT TURNERSVILLE

Last rites for Mrs. Delia Bankston, age 79, were held from the Turnersville Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with the Rev. Leslie Scott, assisted by the Rev. A. Loper, conducting. Burial was made in the Turnersville cemetery, Scott's in charge.

Bailey of Comanche; one sister, Mrs. Fannie Childress of Lamesa; one daughter, Mrs. W. G. Hardie of Gatesville; three grandsons, Herbert, Hilton and Herman Bailey; one granddaughter, Mrs. Harlin Compton; and three great-grandchildren.

Jr. Hornets Start Spring Football Practice

The "future" Gatesville Hornets opened their Spring football practice last week on the local football field. The Junior Hornets are coached by "Clint" White, assistant high school coach, who is expected to round the boys into good shape before the spring session closes.

Those reporting for the initial practice session were: Robert Bond, Charles Wise, Weldon Pucket, Wade Tatum, George Taylor, Geo. Hodges, Louis Campbell, Carl Gandy, Lloyd Sexton, Earnest Boynton, Ayres Anderson, Roger Draper, Dan Davidson, Billie Jo Fisk, Cavett Miller, Leo Baker, Don Sexton, Sam Franks, Red Spence, Bill Blankenship, Salvador Garcia, Lee Ingram, Harold Pendleton, John Paxton, Dan Edwards, Wayne Sullivan and Irvian Deorsam.

Last season the Jr. Hornet squad failed to win a game, but with fair material which Coach White has this year they are due to have a better team.

State Wins From Waco State Home Saturday, 9-5

The State Training School baseballers came from behind in the latter part of their game with the Waco State Home team to down the visitors by the score of 9 to 5 Saturday, at the State Training School diamond.

The Waco nine jumped off to an early start by bunching hits to score five runs, but soon after their their spree the State team loaded the bases and then completely bunted the Home southpaw out of the box.

With the bases loaded and no outs the State tallied by laying down three consecutive bunts to score three runs. Then an error by the Home catcher scored two more runs to tie the score.

After tying the score the Home manager replaced the starting pitcher, but to no avail for the State team came back to win the game by scoring four runs on two errors two hits, and a stolen base. Thus the final score ended with the state in the lead 9 to 5.

Against Interruptions to Your Electric Service

YOU probably know him as Tom or Dick or Joe, a friend and neighbor. There's nothing spectacular about him and he doesn't claim to be a hero, but his role is an important one in seeing that you get dependable electric service.

When Nature goes on a rampage and causes breaks in power lines, he's the fellow who braves driving rain, howling wind or stinging sleet to locate the source of the trouble and restore service with a minimum of delay. Unmindful of personal discomfort and the risk of injury, he is ready day or night to go wherever duty calls. At his disposal, if needed, are motorized line crews, skilled engineers and nearby reserve stocks of materials and supplies. All are part of an organization geared for quick action in emergency.

Every effort is made to prevent interruptions to service, but when occasionally they do occur, in spite of all precautions, it is comforting to know that your electric serviceman is on the job with but one thought in mind—to restore the flow of current as quickly as is humanly possible.

Good Electric Service Doesn't Just Happen

It takes a huge investment in costly generating, transmission and distribution equipment; the expenditure of large sums annually for maintenance and taxes; the ceaseless efforts and constant watchfulness of a trained personnel. It takes all this and more to render good electric service, yet electricity is one of the smallest items in the average household budget.

GEORGE R. HODGES

E. Leon

The House of Representatives has devoted the week to domestic problems and has made some progress. We have passed the regular Interior Department Appropriation Bills as well as several bills relating to the organization of certain courts, but far more important, we have passed a bill providing for loans on cotton and wheat at seventy-five percent of parity for the crop year of 1941. This bill is not permanent legislation as it relates to one year's crops only, and it does not reach the parity or justice mark for farm products, but it is estimated that even if we do not succeed in passing the Russell Amendment to the Appropriation Bill that this will still give us a total return of 92.3 percent of parity on the normal production on allotted acres for the 1941 cotton crop and a 90.9 percent of parity on the 1941 wheat crop. This will be a very substantial aid even though it will still leave the farmer much below the level of the other income groups of the nation. I am still fighting to get 100 percent or full parity income as well as full parity price for our farmers. I believe that until we do give our farmers full parity income we can not claim to have done substantial economic justice in the United States.

The House Agricultural Committee has been holding almost continuous meetings for some time and will probably continue for several weeks studying the various plans that are suggested to increase the income of our farmers. Some of these bills undertake to secure full parity income and this is the goal toward which I am working. Some propose only parity price on a part of the crop, or on crops grown on a reduced acreage. Some propose only a part of parity price for a part of the crop, but they offer larger returns than the present farm income. Generally speaking, the plans fall under three heads:—(1) High commodity loans with export subsidies, which will require continual direct appropriations from the Treasury; (2) The so-called export certificate plan, which would require the processors to pay higher prices; and (3) Outright fixed prices—at least minimum prices fixed by law like the wage and hour law. Each one of these plans has certain advantages, and each one has certain weaknesses. If we knew that we could continue to get Congress to appropriate the money each year the first plan would probably give our farmers more help with less disruption of their present methods than any of the others. I feel that we may be able to get the Senate to increase the loan from 75 per cent to 85 per cent of parity in the bill I mentioned for this year only. If we could, that would practically assure us a parity price for cotton this fall, but it would not solve our problem. Of course a fixed minimum price is the simplest method and would require no appropriation out of the Treasury, but it would probably lead to an endless chain of price fixing of other commodities.

It is too early to predict just what will come out of the committee and certainly no one can guess what the House will pass, but I definitely feel more hopeful than I did some time ago. Personally, I shall support any measure that comes before the House that will increase farm income. I shall first try to get full parity income, but if I can't get that I shall support any increase whether it be by a loan, a certificate, or even by statutory price fixing. We must increase farm prices, and I am not going to be too particular about the method. But we must make any law we pass mandatory. It will not do to simply give the government the right to raise farm prices. The Secretary of Agriculture has had the right to give 75 per cent of parity loan for several years, but he has only given cotton and wheat 56 per cent. The Administration does not understand just how desperate our farmers are. It feels that it has done more for the farmers than any other administration has ever done—and it has. Therefore, it feels that the farmer should be in good shape—and they would be if they had not been kicked so far down the economic ladder by the Republican tariff system before the present Administration began to help them. It is, therefore, now a problem of making the Administration see that agriculture need and must have even greater assistance than was needed by and given to labor and industry.

GATESVILLE BOY HELPS IN NATIONAL DEFENSE PROJECT AT J.T.A.C.

Thomas Richardson of Gatesville, who is a student at John Tarleton College, participated in one of the most unusual national defense projects sponsored in this section. The Ordnance Department of Camp Wolters found that they needed at once 409 rifle racks to hold the 12,720 rifles of the trainees. They sent out an SOS call to the Mechanical Arts Department of Tarleton. The Department in which Thomas is a student, answered immediately that they would build the racks.

This unusual undertaking required a complete reorganization of the department in order to speed up the work, most of which would have to be done at night and after the regular school hours. The students gladly contributed their work. With Professors E. A. Blanchard, C. H. Dawson, and John Crowell as advisors, the boys elected other foremen, divided the tasks, and started to work. One group of boys did nothing but mark boards; another group cut little blocks; still another group bolted the pieces together, etc. In approximately 2100 man hours, days ahead of schedule, they notified the Ordnance Department that the racks were available.

Some idea of the magnitude of the job is gained by Professor Blanchard's explanation of the material used in making the racks. Into them went 7,360 feet of angle iron, 5,740 bolts and nuts, and 11,982 board feet of lumber.

Dear Wardie:

George Washington was just a piker compared to Roosevelt. Geo. threw a dollar across a river. FDR threw a billion dollars across a ocean.

You know, I think some men must be crazy. They go out on Saturday night and all night long they bowl, and throw a ball at ten sticks. The next day they go out at golf course and throw ten sticks at a ball.

I seen a baseball player a watchin' a bowling contest the other night, and when the bowler made a strike, he clapped his hands in glee, but the baseballer said, "Buddy, a strike is jest a pain in the neck to me."

Lem Haskins told me the other day he sold his automobile to a feller fer a song. I guess he meant he took a bunch of notes for it.

You know, back in '76, England taxed our tea and we fought 'em. Now we are a goin' to tax our highball to help 'em.

I find that DENTS is a important word. There's the preseDENTS like Roosevelt sets. There's the acciDENTS like when a auto hits you. Then there's them plain old DENTS these taxes is a goin' to put in yere pocketbook.

While on that subject, I guess the fellers I owe money to have taken this national debt of 65 billion seriously, and the way they are sendin' me bills, they must think I owe it all.

Well, chum, keep yere umbrella and raincoat handy. It looks like that Califory weatherman has moved in on us fer good. I'll be a seein' you, Pal.

"The Great Physician" was sung by the group. Mrs. Hayden Watson discussed, "A Day in the Life of a Nurse at Baylor Hospital," and Mrs. W. A. Wallace Sr. told us how Baylor Hospital as well as other Baptist hospitals ministered to the rich and poor alike. Mrs. Clarence Watson gave a talk on "When I sent my Daughter to the Hospital." ## TERRITORIAL BASES

The island bases of the United States are now considered our best safeguard against invasion. But army and navy brasshats get a scorching rebuke in a report prepared by the house appropriations subcommittee that inspected territorial bases.

Written by Rep. James G. Scrugham of Nevada, chairman of the group, the report recommends the immediate creation of an "independent air force." This would be intended to correct two chief abuses:

(1) The location of army and navy bases almost side by side in flat, unprotected country, thus "inviting destruction by enemy bombs." (2) Failure to build hangars, repair shops and other facilities underground.

Regarding the first criticism the Scrugham report states: "This policy of concentrating highly essential military or industrial structures in very limited areas cannot be too strongly condemned, and may constitute an error of gravest consequences. This is as true in our territorial as well as our continental defenses.

"The lesson of the destruction of the Polish air force by the Germans at the beginning of the war seems to have gone entirely unheeded (by the aeronautic bureau chiefs responsible). In a flat country, protected air facilities may be impractical, but where there are adjacent hills, it seems inexcusable to deliberately build . . . bases invitingly located for bombing attacks, and so close together that an enemy plane can hit one if it misses the other.

"Everywhere the story is the same, from Hawaii to Puerto Rico, from Alaska to the Virgin Islands, Jamaica and Trinidad. Also, no adequate plans have been formulated for water reserves, except to contract for drilling a few wells, with grave uncertainties as to quality and quantity."

Scrugham's conclusions are that a "tragedy of the first magnitude" may develop unless immediate steps are taken to rectify conditions at the territorial bases. His solution is the centralization of all military air forces under a single head with cabinet rank.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR AIR

One of the significant differences between the war and navy departments is the hostility of navy brasshats to civilian scrutiny and control of their operations.

Deciding that the vastly expanded army air corps needed a central directing head, Stimson and Patterson selected Robert Lovett, New York banker and World war ace, for the job and had the President appoint him. There was no interference from the generals, and air corps chiefs are working harmoniously and effectively with their new civilian boss.

Navy brasshats, on the other hand, are fighting tooth and nail to block a similar civilian intrusion into their gold-braided realm. Through high-powered lobbying operations in the house, the admirals wormed into the $3,500,000,000 navy appropriation bill a provision that would make it impossible to name an assistant secretary for air.

The prohibitive clause is a very slick piece of axing. On its face it has no connection with the proposed civilian appointee. It merely bars the expenditure of navy funds "for any additional positions . . . at a rate of compensation in excess of $5,000 a year." The pay for an assistant secretary is $8,000 a year.

TOUGH DRAFT BOARDS

The problem of industrial manpower has become so acute that defense chiefs have complained to selective service officials that some local boards are "too tough" about granting deferment to skilled workmen.

Ohio draft boards, for example, are ordering the induction of craftsmen badly needed for the crucial machine tool program. Similar complaints have been made against Michigan draft authorities for taking specially skilled men needed by the Packard plant, now producing Rolls-Royce airplane engines for the British.

From Virginia have come reports that the draft is hampering the vast naval and shipbuilding program at Newport News.

The problem of labor supply is also hitting agriculture. Agricultural officials fear that so much labor is being drained off farms that some of them want to bar any more defense plants in midwestern dairy and pork sections.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Tall, fast-moving Rep. Lyndon Johnson is going to let no grass grow under his feet in his campaign for the seat of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas. The young New Dealer, who has the public blessing of the President, plans 208 speeches, an average of three a day.

George Brooks, executive assistant in the OPM labor division, is able to keep two secretaries busy taking dictation and at the same time carry on a telephone conversation.

IN OUR

Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.
38th Infantry, Hqs., Co.
May 5, 1941

Dear Mr. Jones, and all concerned: I could not help in writing this letter to you in answer to the letter published April 18 from a "Troubled Mother."

Yes, Mr. Jones, I have heard a lot about the probability of an Army Camp at or near Gatesville. There are many things to be considered here . . . it is possible for a camp to make Gatesville the richest, happiest, and most prosperous little city in the entire country, or it can ruin the most beautiful little town that I have ever known; depending entirely upon the people that NOW live there,

You will find that if a camp is started, the very idea of the troops of Uncle Sam being there will draw many people of all creeds to . . . may I say "Our" town. These people know that soldiers are well paid and most of them are very free with their money, and these people are there to get their share one way or the other. These are the types of people that will ruin our town, NOT the soldiers.

I'll tell you straight—a few of the soldiers are going to drink, if they can get it. It will be these few that ruin the reputation of the entire camp. For the sake of all concerned, let's keep Gatesville drier than ever before.

Every soldier must have some place to go . . . some place he may find entertainment. Of course, the government furnishes a certain amount, but most of the boys want to get away from the camp, at least a few hours each week. So we must have many new places of fine and wholesome entertainment. You will find some "Army Boys" who are sure to want to dance, so please take this warning and from the start, do not at any cost let these cheap dance halls get started in Gatesville for it is there that many of the boys not only lose their morals that their Mothers taught them, but some times their lives. Don't let this be in Gatesville.

Dear "Troubled Mother", I give you a chance to help in National Defense . . . Any soldier—some Mother's loving son—is no better than the environment about him, please, help to make Gatesville a real home for every Mother's son.

Yours truly,
"A Soldier Boy"

Jimmy Bradley.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:
India's untamed Northwest Frontier Province shows signs of trouble when modern machine guns are discovered to be in the hands of the natives. Secret Service officer Carruthers learns of plans for an uprising, and is sent to the frontier town of Tokot to negotiate a peace treaty with the aged Khan. Carruthers, who has recently married the Governor's niece, Marjorie, arrives in Tokot and learns from an old friend, Prince Muhammad Ali, that the Khan's younger brother Ghul is plotting to murder the Khan and his little son Azim in order to seize power and wage war to drive out the English. Carruthers tries to conciliate Ghul but fails and returns to Tokot, while Ghul and his co-conspirators perfect their plot.

Chapter Three

The old Khan sat at his ease in his apartment at the Palace, dining alone, while musicians played softly and girls danced for his entertainment. In the street below, unheeded by the Khan, haranguing Mullahs and beating drums whipped up the crowds to wild excitement.

A moving curtain on the balcony caught the Khan's eye. As he watched a crouching figure appeared from behind it. It was Ghul; and as the Khan gazed with a frozen stare, his brother leveled a pistol at him and fired. The Khan uttered a gasping cry and fell back.

At the same moment Prince Azim was enjoying his favorite sport — a gallop on his white horse along the roads outside Tokot. As he slowed down for a moment, two men leaped from behind a rock, closed in behind him, pulled him off his horse, covered his mouth, and dragged him into the bordering shrubbery. They were Wafadar and Rajab, two trusted servants who had been detailed to guard Azim constantly against any plot.

Even as they lay hidden, a party of horsemen thundered past led by Abdul Hakim, one of the conspirators, intent on doing away with the Prince. But half their plot was thwarted. The Khan was dead and Ghul would rule in his place; but Azim, rightful heir to the throne, remained alive to go into hiding, a constant threat to Ghul's illegal reign.

Rajab and Wafadar, guarding the Prince for the day when he might be restored to the throne, took him to the city of Peshawar. There they hid in one of the narrow, crooked streets, posing as cobblers, disguising the boy as a poor Hindu child who ran their errands. But never far away were the lurking agents of Ghul; and one day, when the boy set out alone, one of these spies seized him on a lonely Peshawar lane.

"Come along, Azim. Your father wants you."
The Prince struggled, cried out, and managed to break away — but not before Slim's quick knife had slashed into his shoulder blade. Azim ran wildly up the road, pursued by Selim, until the boy gained the steps of a bungalow, rushed up the porch, and sank down exhausted.

Fortunately for Azim, it was Captain Carruthers' house. As the knife-wielding Selim crouched over the boy, trying to drag him off, Marjorie emerged, armed with her husband's service revolver, and chased the man off the premises. Then, still ignorant of the lad's identity, she took him into the house, bandaged his wound, and gave him a hearty meal. It was only when Carruthers came home and greeted Azim that Marjorie knew who it was she had befriended.

"Wouldn't you be safer staying here?" suggested Carruthers. "There is room in my compound for both you and your servants." But Azim declined, pointing out that this was the first place his enemies would look for him; and when Wafadar came to claim him, they left together.

With Ghul now the ruler of the Northwest Frontier Province, the Governor decided that a British Residency must be established there to try to keep the peace — and the logical choice for the job was Carruthers. So up to Tokot went Carruthers again — this time taking Marjorie with him, and a garrison of some 300 troops to establish a Residency in an old converted palace.

On the very first day Ghul paid them a visit of state — moving about the Residency, reviewing the troops, noting everything with a sharp eye while his suave tongue uttered faultless diplomatic phrases of welcome and showered the Resident's wife with compliments on her beauty. Ghul suggested a polo game for the morrow between the British officers and members of his own staff; and Carruthers smilingly accepted the challenge.

After Ghul had departed, Carruthers sent his well-loved old servant, Zarullah, over to the Palace to do a little of his expert spying and see if his suspicions of trouble brewing were well founded. His fears were confirmed in a brutal way when, a few hours later, a window pane crashed in the Residency dining room and something thudded onto the sill.

It was Zarullah's head — severed from his body and thrown back contemptuously to his master as a warning of what he might expect!
