FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1942 NUMBER 30

WELCOME, SOLDIER Men of Camp Hood, Coryell County, Texas! WELCOME!

You're new to us, in our little town, and we're new to you—you from New York, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

That's all over now, pals; we're glad you are here, and, as small as our little town is, we're going to do our dadburndist to make you glad you're here.

We're going to prove it; and, we're not here to "heist" prices on anything—there won't be two prices on anything. Here in Texas we try to treat every man alike. We've obliterated th' Mason-Dixon Line. You boys ar here. Our boys are with your "folks", and, after all, aren't we all "Just Folks" (apologies to Edgar E. Guest).

We could go on in a lengthy exposition, but suffice to say: We welcome you to Gatesville and Coryell County, "Deep in The Heart of Texas" (more apologies), and this welcome is not a veneer, a phoney—it's genuine!

Always, our latch string is out; we want you—everyone of you to use it!

893rd Tank Destroyer Battalion Arrives Gatesville

Tuesday, they came! Tuesday, Camp Hood's first battalion arrived in four special trains at Gatesville and moved into bivouac at the "location" on the Williamson ranch, about 15 miles south of town.

Coming from Ft. Meade, Maryland, with 1,000 men, the commanding officer was Major Samuel E. Mays.

Enroute, they traveled by Baltimore and Ohio and Cotton Belt lines to Gatesville, nearest point to the bivouac.

The outfit includes a headquarters company, three weapon companies with anti-tank guns up to 3-inch, one pioneer company and one medical detachment.

A tent camp with mess halls and kitchens was ready for the men when they arrived.

The 893rd is a part of the School Training Regiment under the command of Lieut. Col. G. S. Beatty. Its troops, known in the Tank Destroyer Command as "school troops" will be for the training of other battalions to be sent to Camp Hood from all parts of the U. S. A. for special instructions.

This outfit was designated by the war department as the first experimental tank destroyer battalion for last fall's Carolina maneuvers and was under the command, then of Col. Richard G. Tindall, present commander of the Unit Training headquarters of the Tank Destroyer Command.

Colonel Tindall, as well as Colonel Beatty, Col. O. A. Gorder, the TDC's S-4 (supply officer) and others from the tank destroy-

Highway Department Grants 3.5 Miles Construction, 36

According to a letter received by County Judge Floyd Zeigler, construction will start soon on Highway 36 from the end of the present improved part 3.5 miles approximately, to within one-half mile of Ewing.

The estimated cost will be $6000. The Commissioner's Court is to secure the right-of-way, which will give room for a 120 foot highway.

"Hoodmen" To Be Guests of City Saturday Eve

Gatesville is to be host Saturday to 300 or more "Hoodmen" at Raby Park, for a regular Texas barbecue, and citizens locally are as busy as cranberry merchants getting ready for the event. Civilians will not eat, but are invited to act as "hosts" and get acquainted with the men of the 893rd.

Following this, beginning at 9 o'clock, the WPA Community Recreation program will furnish a program and Gatesville and Coryell County girls will be on hand to add the feminine touch to the entertainment.

The program will be as follows: Introduction; Sing Song; Songs of Greetings; Pack Up Your Troubles; Over Hill, Over Dale; L'il Liza Jane, Someone's in the Kitchen with Dinah; Short'nin' Bread; I Ain't Gonna Grieve, My Lord; Swing Low Sweet Chariot; and America will be the songs.

Then, there'll be the Grand March, followed by Folk Dances as follows: Pop Goes the Weasel; Ten Pretty Girls; O' Susanna; Put Your Little Foot; Rochester Schottische; and Heel Toe Polka.

Following a brief intermission, the orchestra will play a few numbers, and there'll be a folk dance featuring the Gooseberry Girl and Scatterbrain Schottische.

Then, square dances: Texas Star, Ocean Wave, Down the Center and Divide the Ring; Sallie Goodin and Virginia Reel.

Army trucks will bring the men in and there will be girls, and chaperons for them.

A SUMMARY OF WORLD, NATIONAL AND STATE NEWS

FILIPINOS RAID JAPS

Washington, April 1 (AP).—Filipino raiders, striking savagely on the island of Mindanao, have demolished Japanese military installations in the center of the occupied city of Zamboanga and have leveled 22 war-stocked warehouses near another enemy stronghold, the war department announced.

28 AXIS SUBS SUNK BY US

Washington, April 1 (AP).—America's toll of axis undersea raiders was raised to 28 today with announcement by the navy that 3 more submarines had been sunk—two in the Atlantic and one in the Pacific.

NET 30 JAP PLANES

Melbourne, April 2 (UP).—Allied bombers slashing thru tropical storms have destroyed or damaged at least 30 Jap planes in 3 day attack on Jap invasion bases, as Australia brought her land forces to full war strength by calling up 3 more military classes.

"SMALL BUSINESS" HELP

Washington, April 1 (AP).—The senate today unanimously approved a bill to create a $100,000-000 smaller war plants corporation within the war production board to assist hard-pressed "little business men" in converting their facilities to war production.

NO "CRIP" FOR CRIPPS

New Delhi, April 1 (UP).—Sir Stafford Cripps opened negotiations with all-India congress party leaders tonight in a last minute effort to stave off failure of his mission to swing India fully into the war against Japan, and hopes arose that a compromise might be reached.

RUSSIA STILL AT 'EM

London, Apr. 1 (AP) — Bitter fighting now under way in the Donets basin on Russia's southern front was reported tonight to be gradually developing into a titanic clash which ultimately may determine the outcome of 1942's warm weather operations on the entire Russo-Nazi front.

LEW AYRES "OBJECTOR"

Wyeth, Ore. Apr. 1 (UP) — Film star Lew Ayres exchanged the luxuries of Hollywood for the "pioneer life of a conscientious objector camp here tonight, and took his bunk with 20 others in one of the institutions big frame dorms.

RUMANIA TO FIGHT RUSSIA

Bern, Switzerland, Apr. 1 (AP) hail Antonescu declared today that —Rumanian Foreign Minister Mihail Antonescu declared today that his country intends to fight Soviet Russia to the finish because "we are fighting for a new state and a new human-being."

CHINKS "CUT OUT" OF TRAP

Toungoo Front, Burma, April 1 (AP).—Under the incessant week-long blasting of Jap dive bombers and artillery, a Chinese garrison has slashed its way out of encircled Toungoo, forded the Sittang River and rejoined the main Chinese armies in a bloody withdrawal action personally directed by Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell with all the shrewd serenity of a chess master.

10 NORSE SHIPS DASH

Stockholm, April 1 (AP).— Ten Norwegian ships berthed in Sweden since the German invasion of Norway, made a dash for England Tuesday night and three, of 10,000 tons, were torpedoed as soon as they cleared the limit of Sweden's territorial waters, it was disclosed Wednesday night.

Army Day Is Monday, 6th Of April

Well, we can really celebrate Army Day, this according to the Temple Daily Telegram. "Our Army", the 893rd, will furnish the parade, "starting from the bivouac area, they will move north to Gatesville, then to McGregor and Moody, and into Temple, doubling back via Belton and Killeen.

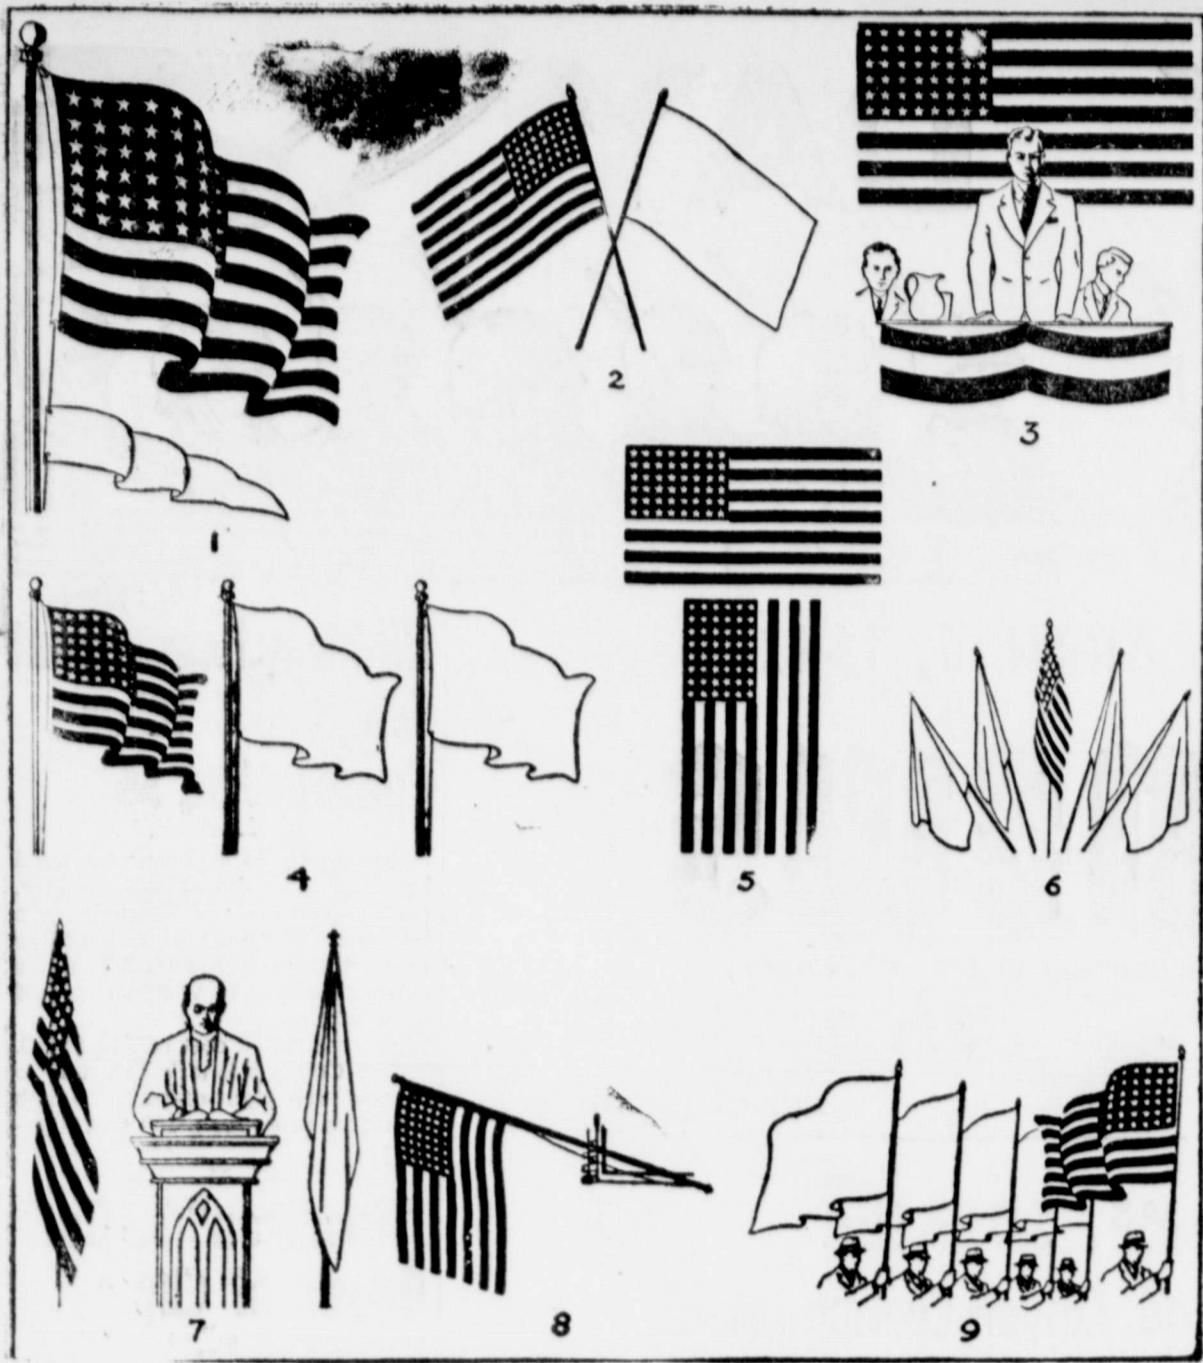

After the parade, the 200 vehicles and guns will be on display on the square in Temple, or Belton.

So, unless counter-manded, we'll see them "on parade," Monday, April 6, Army Day.

THE FLAG OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—
HOW TO RESPECT AND DISPLAY IT

- 1—When flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States of America, the latter should always be at the peak. When flown from adjacent staffs the flag of the United States should be hoisted first and lowered last.
- 2—When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, the Flag of the United States should be on the right (the flag's own right), and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.
- 3—When used on a speaker's platform, whether indoors or out, the flag should never be reduced to the role of a mere decoration by being tied into knots or draped over the stand. For the purpose bunting should be used. The flag, if displayed, should be either on a staff or secured to the wall or back curtain behind the speaker with the union to the flag's right.
- 4—When flags of two or more nations are displayed together they should be flown from separate staffs of the same height and the flags should be of approximately equal size.
- 5—When the flag is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left.
- 6—Whenever a number of flags of states or cities or pennants of societies are to be arranged in a group and displayed from staffs with the flag of the United States the latter should be placed at the center of that group and on a staff slightly higher than any of the others.
- 7—When the flag is displayed in the body of the church, it should be from a staff placed in the position of honor at the congregation's right as they face the clergyman. The service flag, the state flag or other flag should be at the left of the congregation. If in the chancel or on the platform, the flag of the United States should be placed on the clergyman's right as he faces the congregation and the other flags at his left.
- 8—When the flag is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony or front of a building, the union of the flag should go to the peak of the staff (unless the flag is to be displayed at half-staff).
- 9—Whenever the flag of the United States is carried in a procession in company with other flags, it should occupy a position in front of the center of the line of flags or on the right of the marching line.

Ater

Mrs. Birdie Coward, cors.

Mr. Jim Ferguson, who resided in this community for some time but lived near Gatesville, died Thursday morning, March 26, and was buried here in the Ater cemetery Friday March 27. Rev. Dykes of Goldthwaite conducted the funeral services. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Miss Dorothy Robuck spent a six-day vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Roebuck. She returned to Weatherford, where she is attending college.

Mrs. Ragsdale of Hurst Springs visited her daughter, Mrs. Red Linton, last week.

Rev. Willie Mayhew and wife of Temple visited in the home of Mr. W. O. Moreland Sunday.

Mr. Jim Herring has moved back to his home place vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rivers, who now live in the school building.

Several school children are absent from school on account of the measles; they are, namely, La Rue Whisenhunt, Peggy Herring, Ru Ella Pruitt, Delise Coward, and Ruby Rivers.

Rev. C. A. Corn and wife of Bruceville visited Mr. and Mrs. John Roebuck last week.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Coward Sunday were, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Russell and family and Mrs. W. C. Coward. Monday Mrs. Myrtle Baker spent the day.

Mrs. Kays has been on the sick list this week, also her daughter, Mrs. Page Massingale, and two children.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith are visiting her cousin at Belton.

Mr. and Mrs. Beryll Coward are now living at Dallas.

"V" Victory Egg Is Brought in By Roedler

We've seen eggs, and we've eaten eggs, and we've stopped some over-ripe eggs when we were a "slime" at a nearby institution of higher learning, but Monday is the first time we have ever seen a "V for Victory" egg, and all this (the latter only), thanks to J. C. Roedler, of near Caulfield School.

Mr. Roedler brought this one in, and in the window it went. It's got an almost perfect "V" on it. That old hen was an artist, she even makes some printing look bad. You have read Ripley, and these other "You Don't Say So" boys, but we're beginning to believe Mr. Ripley ought to pay a visit, rather spend a week, down here in old Coryell County. There are plenty of funny, odd, and interesting things here.

Sebastian-Hix Nuptial Rites Solemnized in Moody Sunday

Miss Harriett Louise Sebastian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Justus Sebastian of Moody, became the bride of W. T. Hix of Gatesville Sunday morning at 9 o'clock in a ceremony performed in the First Methodist Church at Moody, with the Rev. Whitfield, pastor, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a navy sheer tailored suit with inserts of navy blue silk faille in the skirt for fullness, the same material which trimmed the coat. Gold buttons fastened the coat at the front. Her hat, styled in Hollywood, was of navy felt and draped with several yards of Kelly green veiling which fell below the waist in the back. Navy felt bands also edged the veil which encircled the face. Her accessories were navy, and she carried an ivory suede prayer book to which was attached a shower of white stephanotis.

Mrs. Lena Lou Dean of Waco, the bride's only attendant, was attired in a navy sheer suit trimmed in off-white eyelet embroidery. She wore a picture hat of navy with navy accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

O. N. Hix, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Luther Staton, of Waco, was a groomsman.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. J. L. Staton of Waco, aunt of the bride, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. G. H. Hundley of Moody. Mrs. Hundley played the traditional wedding marches.

The couple left immediately following the ceremony for a wedding trip to New Orleans, and on their return, they will reside in Gatesville.

Mrs. Hix received her degree from the East Texas State Teachers' college at Commerce last June. Last September she was elected a faculty member of the Valley Mills public schools as head of the commercial department in the high school. She resigned her position with the Valley Mills schools only last week, and prior to her resignation, several pre-nuptial courtesies were tendered her by her friends in both Valley Mills and at Moody.

Mr. Hix, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas Hix, attended Trinity university and Texas Tech at Lubbock. He is owner and operator of the Western Auto Stores in both Gatesville and McGregor.

Among the out-of-town people who attended the wedding were the following from Gatesville: Mr. and Mrs. Wade Sadler and son, Wade Jr., Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Hix and daughter, Gene, Mr. and Mrs. Pete McIver, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McMordie, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Compton, Mrs. Pearl White, Mrs. I. F. Johnson Sr., Mrs. Willie D. Young, and Mrs. J. M. Prewitt.

Miss Gladys Marie Phillips arrived Wednesday night to spend the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr and Mrs Jack Phillips, and other friends and relatives here. She is attending SHSTC in Huntsville.

Miss Rutherford And Lt. Wayland Holt Wed Sunday

The wedding of Miss Margaret Rutherford and Lieutenant Wayland Holt was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the pastor's study of the First Baptist Church at Gatesville. The Rev. Lawrence Hayes performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of only a few friends and relatives.

The bride wore a smart tailored suit of light blue wool with matching blue hat and gloves. Her other accessories were black patent, and she wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to San Antonio and points along the Gulf Coast. They will return Monday to Fort Riley, Kansas, where they will be at home.

Mrs. Holt, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McBride of Jonesboro, was graduated from Jonesboro High school, and has held several responsible positions in Gatesville, Hamilton, and Stephenville. Lt. Holt, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Holt of the Hubbard community, attended John Tarleton College in Stephenville, and has been attending an officers' training school in Kansas. He was graduated last Friday evening and received his commission as a second lieutenant.

Mrs. Madison Pruitt Is Hostess to Wednesday Contract Club

Complimenting members of the Wednesday Contract Club, Mrs. Madison Pruitt entertained in her home on Pidcoke Street on the appointed afternoon this week. In all decorations and other appointments the Easter motif was featured.

Mrs. Jim J. Brown was high score prize winner, Mrs. E. W. Jones, Jr., second high and Mrs. Kermit Jones low prize. After the presentation of the awards, the hostess served a delicious refreshment plate, consisting of cramed ham, hot rolls, individual cakes topped with Easter egg nests, and iced tea.

In attendance were the following: Mesdames Pete McIver, Sherrill Kendrick, Pete Grevelle, Elworth Lowrey, Floyd Zeigler, Johnnie Washburn, Jim J. Brown, John Thomas Brown, Bevie DeMerville, Kermit Jones, Bill Nesbitt, and E. W. Jones, Jr.

ville, was solemnized at 4:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, March 21, in the First Baptist Church of Newport News, Virginia. Dr. F. W. Putney, Baptist minister, performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful navy blue alpaca frock with navy accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Mary Kitchen of Newport News, Va. was the bride's only attendant.

Mrs. Carroll was graduated from Gatesville High school and attended a business college in Fort Worth, where she was employed about two years. She now holds a technical stenographic position in Newport News, Va.

Sergeant Carroll is a graduate of Gatesville High school, and also attended a business college in Fort Worth. He has been in the U. S. Army over one year, and is now attending an officers' school at Fort Monroe of Old Point, Va.

Personals

Mrs. F. C. Mayberry is visiting her son, Fred Mayberry, and wife in Laredo. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayberry are the proud parents of a baby son, born March 19th in that city. He weighed six pounds and has been given the name Fred Jack.

Mrs. Hal Anderson will return to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Thomson, in this city today after spending past few weeks with her husband, who is in the army stationed at Riverside, California. She also visited her aunt, Mrs. Fred Knapp, and cousin, Miss Martha Jo Taylor.

Mrs. Lila Holmes and daughter, Mary Margaret, and Miss Bess Holmes spent the past week end in Fort Worth with Holland Holmes.

Private Herman Wittie from Troop A, 124th Calvary, Fort Brown, has been visiting here the past week. He returned to his post Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Walker and Miss Margaret Koch, all of Temple, visited relatives and friends in and near Gatesville Sunday.

SPRING HILL CLUB

The Spring Hill Club met with Mrs. Hilmer Schaub March 25. Their work was quilting.

Members present were: Mesdames Weldon Pope, Fisher Walker, Aubrey Jackson, Hilmer Schaub and Miss Mary Pope. Visitors were: Mesdames Tom Powell, Spencer Thompson, and Bill Holt.

The hostess served devil's food cake, cookies and hot chocolate. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Aubrey Jackson April 8th.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

One Installment Paid for Freedom

History proves, as patriots put it so often these days, that one can never feel complacent about one's freedom, which has to be guarded and fought for always. And the history of Texas might well be produced as evidence; for, contrary to a widespread impression, the defeat and capture of Santa Anna at San Jacinto did not settle things once and for all as regards the independence of Texas. The Battle of San Jacinto was a tremendous down payment to have to make, of course; but Texas bought its freedom on the installment plan—and the terms weren't easy.

The nine-year history of the independent Republic of Texas, to be specific, is far from uneventful to be specific, is far from uneventful. Texas Library's Texas Collection will attest, it is the history of extremely perilous and extremely tragic times.

In early September of 1842, for example, General Adrian Woll led a Mexican army of 1400 men across the Rio Grande and on the 11th took San Antonio with a surprise attack. Word of the invasion spread quickly, and in the scattered communities of the surrounding country volunteers began to gather for an attempt to drive Gen. Woll out of the Republic. Among these was a company of 53 ill-fated men from Fayette County, led by Captain Nicholas Dawson.

The Siege Begins

Dawson's men reached the close vicinity of San Antonio in the mid-morning of the 18th, when a scout brought them word that 200 other Texans under Captain Jack C. Hays and Matthew "Old Paint" Caldwell were already engaged with the Mexicans on Salado Creek just outside the city. Without knowing exactly what the situation on the Salado was, they rushed forward in hopes of reinforcing the Texans while they could still be of service.

The Mexicans, however, were themselves on the lookout for stray companies of the enemy and, having located Dawson's force out on the prairie, met it with 150 dragoons. Thus cut off from the main body, Dawson withdrew to a mesquite grove for shelter and defiantly refused a request for surrender which was immediately put to him. One quick volley brought down a few of the Mexicans, who then settled down safely beyond the range of the Texan rifles.

After this first brief skirmish, and while the Fayette County was wondering what it might do under the circumstances, an additional force of 300 Mexicans appeared on the scene, and the Texans quickly found themselves entirely surrounded by an enemy line they couldn't reach with their rifle fire.

The Cannade

The decisive factor, however, was that the Mexican reinforcements brought with them a cannon which they set up at a distance and which soon began to shower grape shot on the force in the grove. Half an hour of this bombardment reduced Dawson's company by half, and at last he raised a white flag, seeing that there was no hope.

Many of his men, when the firing thus ceased, expected only to be slaughtered and so dashed madly off toward safety, inevitably bringing on the slaughter they expected. Two got away, but all except about a dozen of the other survivors of the bombardment were ridden down and killed, some even after they had surrendered their arms. The dead were stripped and left on the field.

Meanwhile, the main battle on the Salado was still raging—and going badly for Gen. Woll. When evening came he drew off to cover and early the next morning retreated hastily to the southwest.

Only then did Hays and Caldwell discover that Dawson's reinforcements had almost reached them and now lay dead in the shadows of the little grove they had hoped would be their sanctuary.

100 Years Ago in Texas

"Infamous Political Fraud!! — We have just learned from Galveston and Houston, that some of the friends of General Houston were busy in circulating a report that Judge Burnet intended to withdraw from the Presidential contest; and that a report to this effect was published in the Galvestonian. We are not surprised that such a base falsehood should be put forth just before the election. It is what we expected; and is of a piece with the lying reports put in circulation against the Father of Texas, Col. Austin, immediately preceding the first election for President.

"We have heard it intimated, within a few days (since General Houston's friends begin to find that Judge Burnet's election is certain) that they intended to report Judge Burnet's death, just before the election, so that it could not be contradicted in time.

"We warn the people of Texas against such tricks. Do not believe reports!" — The Texas Sentinel (Austin), August 12, 1841.

Visitors in the home of J. ed Evans Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Robinson and Cronnie Ker of Waco, Mrs. Roy Bates and children, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Evans and baby, and Mrs. and Mrs. Vester Ashby and son.

YOU GUESSED WRONG! HE'S IN THE INFANTRY—In modern warfare infantrymen fight with other arms than the traditional rifle. This soldier operates a 37-millimeter gun and among his comrades on foot are mechanics, cyclists, telephone operators, ski troopers, "walkie-talkie" radio men, parachute troops and airborne infantry. Off to each flank of infantry troops, mounted in a speeding armored car or crouched behind his well-concealed weapon at a road junction is the 37-millimeter gunner. Primarily, in modern warfare, he has but one target: enemy tanks and armored vehicles. His first shot must be a direct hit for armored vehicles travel at a high rate of speed and a miss means precious seconds lost.

Gen. Washington's Medal of Honor

"The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country is open to all", declared General Washington in his order of the day August 7, 1782, instituting the first American badge for military merit.

His act was in recognition of "bravery, fidelity and good conduct" among the non-commissioned officers and private soldiers in the Continental Army. Thus was established the Order of the Purple Heart.

Individual valor has always been a distinguishing trait of the American soldier. In the lapse of more than a century and a half between Bunker Hill, Valley Forge and Stony Point to Pearl Harbor, Batan and the Macassar Straits the roster of those men who have traveled the road to glory furnishes a brilliant record of patriotism and sacrifice.

In the first dark hours of the present war their heroic deeds have thrilled their countrymen and illumined the way to ultimate victory—inspiring hope of a triumph not only for the United Nations but for downtrodden peoples throughout the world.

No gold, silver or bronze blazoned from the breasts of the heroes Washington intended to honor. Read his general order:

"The General ever desirous to cherish virtuous ambition in his soldiers, as well as to foster and encourage every species of military merit, directs that when any singularly meritorious action is performed, the author of it shall be permitted to wear on his facings over the left breast the figure of a heart in purple cloth, or silk, edged with narrow lace or binding. Not only instances of unusual gallantry, but also of extraordinary fidelity and essential service in any way shall meet with due reward. . . . The road to glory in a patriot army and a free country shall be open to all.

Subsequent to the Revolution the Order of the Purple Heart seems to have fallen into disuse and no further awards were made. Its revival was suggested at the time of the observance of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth, and its reinstatement was announced by the War Department February 22, 1932. Under changes in Army regulations the Purple Heart is authorized to persons who "while serving in the Army of the United States perform any singularly meritorious act of extraordinary fidelity or essential service." Wounds received in action are included in this category.

Church Services

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, GATESVILLE

Sunday, April 5th
Sunday School at 9:45 and preaching services at 11 a.m. and 5 p. m. Mr. Robert Douglass of Austin, Texas, will preach at both services.

METHODIST CHURCH

The revival at the Methodist Church is going nicely. Attendance is good. Interest is fine. The music and the preaching are both of the highest order. You will enjoy every minute you spend in the services.

Sunday morning the pastor will christen all the children and infants presented for baptism. Let the mothers of our people prepare to bring the children to this service.

The visiting minister, Rev. Harrison Baker, will bring a great Easter message Sunday morning. You will want to hear this message and to worship in the Easter service. Bring the whole family and come in time for Sunday School hour and remain for the preaching service following.

A most hearty welcome is extended to all strangers and visitors to the Methodist Church. Soldiers and Officers are extended a very hearty welcome every Sunday to our services.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Lawrence Hayes, Pastor

The three Men's Sunday School Classes of the First Baptist Church taught by Tom Robinson, Dan E. Graces and Cyril Hudson voted last Sunday to combine the classes in one large Business Men's Bible Class for three months and thus make an intensive effort to reach many men of the community who do not attend Sunday School. The pastor, Lawrence Hayes, was voted as teacher of the class.
Sunday evening at the close of the service the ordinance will be observed. Some four or five are awaiting baptism.

The pastor will preach Sunday morning on "The Exalted Christ."

THE FIRST STARS AND STRIPES

FIFTEEN STARS AND STRIPES

This is the first Stars and Stripes. The Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, resolved: "That the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." According to legend the five-pointed stars were designed by Mrs. Betsy Ross.

With the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union two stars and two stripes were added to the flag following an Act of Congress in 1794. It was a flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes over Ft. McHenry that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." Congress in 1818 restored the original number of stripes.

Men with the Colors!

According to "Nick"

These 1,000 men just arrived, have busied our scribe at Camp Hood, and we're taking the liberty of taking our typewriter in hand and dashing off a few observations, wise and otherwise.

One of the main interests (to locals) about the recent "mass migration" into these parts, was the (now don't laugh) Pullman coaches. Some of the sages said those used by the army were the first to come to Gatesville. Young as we are, we wouldn't know about that.

Also, the first "700" locomotive pulled some of the four trainloads into Gatesville.

Now, as to the "Jeeps"—everybody wants a ride in one, from the mellowed matrons, down to the one-year-olds, and so do we.

Circuses have been here, but nothing has ever startled us "natives" like the four trains of the 893rd which rolled in. We know now there's a war—evidently, others don't from the fuss continually in newspapers.

In closing, we know when things are ironed out at Camp Hood, we will hear more "out of their mouths", and, until then, we're going to sign off with this: "Ain't you glad it was Uncle Sam who arrived instead of that H-H-M (Hitler, Hirohito, Mussolini) combination. The 893rd took charge without firing a shot."

Dear Wardie:

Well chum, I heerd from some of the folks this week. Old easy goin' Cousin Sim, he carried out his deliberate ways to the last. He took slow poison cause he wasn't in no hurry, but he made it.

Got word from my Aunt Jenny, too. That's the one that's half-crazy. She went to a psychiatrist for three months, and now he's nuts.

Uncle Tobias came in to spend Sunday and he's here yet. Uncle Tobe calls his upper plate London Bridge, cause it's always falling down.

I went down to the general store yesterday and paid 'em $4.75 on account — on account of that's all I had left after payin' my income taxes to Uncle Sam.

Theys' one thing that's been a worryin' me. In fact, two things. What happened to Jim Farley's gang that was a goin' to buy the Yankees in a month or two? What's the latest if any on Rudolph Hess?

I seen where everybody's gettin'

And, that was not all—practically everything stopped in Gatesville, and because it was Tuesday in Coryell County, too, people lining the streets, hollering at the men, looking at the equipment, and riding out to the station to meet the trains.

Even today, Thursday, equipment is still being unloaded and things are shaping up for a big week-end for the men and officers in Gatesville.

into the Naval Reserve to take care of the physical fitness program in the Navy. Perty soon they won't be no more coaches or athletes left in the country. I heerd also that there was some vacancies in the Navy where a feller can learn seamanship and gunnery too. That is, if they run out of physical fitness commissions.

Grandma is a hewin' to the line. She obeys the laws. She is on a 40 hour week. This week she finished her 40 hours at 5 o'clock a Wednesday afternoon, and now is a takin' Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday off. Won't even feed the chickens without time and a half.

I'll be seein' you, Pal. Keep 'em Flyin'.

BEAUMONT

IS THIS SUNDAY

THE PROMISE OF EASTER . . .

THROUGH the years, Easter has been a shining symbol of love and hope. Its light was dimmed for a while in the Dark Ages, only to be reborn with greater brilliance in the awakening that followed.

NEVER in history has the message of Easter meant more than it means today, when so many have forgotten it. While we pray in the churches of our choice, fierce battles rage across the world. But just as surely as day always follows night, Easter, 1942, brings the age-old promise . . . that new life will come again to a world of peace and freedom.

WITH THE COLORS

Mrs. Della Hall has just received a letter, dated February 22, from her son, Eugene, who is in the U. S. Marines at Midway Island. She had not heard from him since January 28, and he was at that time at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu. He says "all we need is more help". Ain't it so!

Pvt. Jearld Smith from Camp Polk, La., spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Smith of Bee House. Jearld has been at Ft. Knox, Ky., studying as a radio operator and has finished the school, got his diploma and is back at his old post, Camp Polk, La.

Now comes a long one from our old friend and "politician" Glenn Hendrickson. (W. T. Hix, the Mrs. and I made the Beaumont State Democratic Convention together).

308 Prisoner of War Escort Co., Ft. Sill, Oklahoma.
Dear Mat:
Just sitting around the fire this afternoon, I got to thinking about everyone I knew around home. Been out riding around for the last week, nothing to do, same old job always had, just loafing around, sleeping until 10 or 11 o'clock every morning, don't eat much, however we have plenty, but you know how it is, when you are not working you don't eat much. I am a perfect picture of health. Staying out of the sun, wind and snow, and am as white as a sheet.

I am glad Coryell County got an Army camp. The folks around home will find the soldiers are fine young men, upright in every respect. Won't have to lock their cars, put locks on their meat houses. They are not the same kind of boys like you have out at the State. "Bless their little hearts, maybe they too, will make good soldiers some day". That is, of course, if they get the same discipline as soldiers get.

Mat, it looks awful bad, and is bad, to have to move the old timers away from their homes, after they have lived there always, but on the other hand, it's a God's blessing for the young and middle age. They can move somewhere, some place out of those hills and rocks, and with a little effort they could make a living. I would say some place where it was wet, at least where there was beer.

Mat, I was in the Tank destroyer, but now in the 308 Prisoner of War Escort Co. We will handle all prisoners, aliens, spies, etc. Can't tell you anything about it, but if anyone wants to know bad enough, he might find out by joining the Army. By the time I get out of here, I will be well trained for a small town law.

Like the work fine, you noticed all your life when you put a gun on a man and make him the law, he feels mighty important. Well, I am just like all the rest of them, I began to think everybody is awful crooked and no good. Most of them I know just have one, sometimes you find a two-gun law, but boy, I have three.

Mat, I guess all the boys are leaving home for the Army—want to make good, so I am sending them a few rules to go by and how to get in with the Battery Commander. Of course, he doesn't have to do this, but they are helpful.

1. The day you are assigned to his outfit and roll is called, don't just answer "Here". Always say: "that's me", and then there can't be no doubt in his mind that it's really you and not a couple of other guys.

2. No matter what your first military chore is, always beef just a little. That'll let him know he can't put nothing over on you, and he will think twice before assigning you to a scrubbing detail.

3. When you pass him on the Post, always salute in a snappy manner. Take about 5 minutes to get your hand to your forehead, and at least that long in returning it to your side. That will have him guessing whether it's infantile paralysis or if you just favored four or five of your buddies and took their shots for them.

4. When you have occasion to speak with him, always call him by his first name. That makes it more chummier, and I understand the boys in the Brig always have lots of magazines.

5. When inspection is coming up, don't bother to polish your shoes and shine your brass. All he will do is take your name—you'll see it later on the K. P. Detail, and somebody has got to peel those spuds.

6. When he's on hand for drills, always keep looking back as the you lost something. Pay no attention to the commands. What if they do make a left-fank movement. You will bump into somebody who will tell you which way they went.

7. When you go in to get your money, just take a chair while he counts your pay. Don't bother to salute as you leave; just say "Thanks, Cap'n".

8. When he comes in the Day room, and "attention" is called, don't bother to stand; just tell him you are reading and might lose your place. He will just send you to the washroom to clean up for a week, and will always know where you are.

9. If he gives you a 3-day pass, say, "O. K., I'll take 3, which makes 6 days." I don't think he would say anything. A bargain is a bargain.

Of course, Mat, there are several other ways of getting in with him, but I just offered these to the boys back home. They can try it—if it doesn't work, then they can try something else.

Best regards,
Glenn Hendrickson

EGGAPAPER! WE'VE PRETTY NEAR GOT THAT MANY

Dernd if we're not glad they're not rotten eggs they're bringing us. If they were we'd begin to think that were a Vth columnist or something. That will never be!

This egg No. 347629846 we got in from Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith of Osage is really a "new twist" in eggs.

We don't know the hen's routine for laying eggs, but this is THE egg of eggs. Never have we seen "effort" so wasted. Looks like this old hen ought to be called Mrs. Ripley; she's done such an outlandish job.

Bring 'em in, we'll try to think up a new angle, but this egg has got more than angles. See for yourself, and thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

closely, you might be "juggling G. I. cans", or some other "diversion" granted Army men who have "G's" painted on the back of their "fatigue clothes", and who get to sleep behind barbed wire corrals, and they're not aliens, spies, etc.)

IT HAPPENS EVERY DAY AT CAMP HOOD

By Jones

"That louse! Some day, I'm going to molder dat guy.
"He has to stick his face in that brass pipe and he don't do it at any reasonable hour. Always, it's around 5:45. It's the most horrible music in the world. Well, it's Army, I guess. You have to take the good with the bad, and he's no good!"

Here it is, summer, and the "order of the day" calls for overcoats, but then, what's an Army without a little innocent griping. It's good for letting off pent up energy, and, well, whatta you got to lose. It's just being done every season in every army, and ask the Morale Officer—it's always here.

They've done made a pack-horse outta me. Always thought I was doin' well to carry my own weight, but, it's just like this, Buddy, in this man's Army, you begin to know you're the carry-all, especially when they hang all this gear on your back, and make that "forced march."
Too, you always bring back what you carry out.

"Be see'in you, Buddy! Gotta be there 'bout a quarter past 8, yeah man, heard them skirts swish, and you know what that means—you just gotta, you just gotta.
"Naw, she ain't got no sister, but then, come on Buddy, she might have a girl friend, and it's town for the two of us—this time, as usual, let's make it Gatesville—they kind of like us over there."

"Yeah, those stripes are 'citations' I got in one of my 'campaigns'! Easy as pie—you just do what they tell you, and the best bet is to wait till they tell you.
"Yeah, I just told the Old Man I had to see my Sweetie, and he loaned me a 'fiver', and here I am.
"Say, this Army ain't so bad, is it. And just think (why think about that) I'll have to be in to hear that — bugler sound 'taps' tonight—even the Army has curfew."

"SMALL ONES, TOO" . . .

A mason was engaged to build a great stone wall. Wisely he determined in advance the kind and amount of materials he would need for the task, and had it placed on the location. The material consisted of large stones, medium-sized stones and also small stones. An observer questioned him as to the smaller stones. "They are just as important as the larger ones," was the reply. "There are more places for the smaller ones than the larger ones. Though they do not take up so much space, in number more of them are required. They fit into places in which the larger can't be used, and they also serve to hold the larger ones in place." The great wall could not have been built without the small stones. Great tasks nowhere can be accomplished without the help of the small men. There are more of them and more places that they can fill. Let not the small man feel unnecessary. Often he holds the key place in life's scheme.—Ashland (Ohio) Progress.

Make business see that the big idea about war profits and war loss is that it is possible to have them both at the same time.

Walkie-Talkie

Far in advance of the main body of troops, or off on a crest to the flank, is the observer and his "walkie-talkie" operator. Although separated by distance, he is in constant communication with his commander, reporting activities from his vantage point. Separated battalions and companies are coordinated by the same means. Although the field artilleryman's guns may be thousands of yards to the rear, the forward observer with the walkie-talkie radio can climb a tree near the front and direct fire accurately on the enemy. Better than the sniper is the radio operator who can hide in a hollow tree and bring a barrage of high-explosive shells to any target he can see.

FARMS & RANCHES FOR SALE

The property I offer for sale is either my own or in my hands for non-resident owners for whom I am managing same. I do not list land for sale on commission as a real estate agent but I am at all times ready to co-operate with agents and land owners in the sale of property without thought of any commission that might be involved.

The farm I offered for sale last week and the one I offer this week are both good homes for some one.

Rationing razor blades to one a week will leave hubby in a strategic position for informal social relations.

"Our turnips are as good as you ever tasted," is the opinion of folks who eat some of them. The foregoing statement was made concerning some purple top turnips at the Claude Collins home at Ewing. The story behind the statement is an example of thrift and good sense which had its beginning last fall when they started to break the ground for their fall garden. They found plenty of turnips left over from the spring planting in the ground so they harvested them, cut the tops off to one inch in length, and stored them in a sweet potato bank.

This spring, since they have been using them, they have found them very good to eat. About two bushels were saved in good condition in the manner described. They have given some to their neighbors who assure anyone that the turnips stored in the old-fashioned bank at the Collins home have a sweet and improved flavor.

This year food must not be wasted. All surplus food should be saved. Several storage structures, both old and new, are found in a bulletin "Storage Structures and Home Storage of Vegetables and Fruits," which is on the bulletin rack in the County Agent's office for free distribution. It covers banks and mounds, pits, cellars, and ventilated pantries in its subject matter and illustrations.

"We surely do enjoy the food from our locker," commented Mrs. D. E. Seward at Ewing. Their home produced food can be stored largely in the locker plant. They have been pleased with the cure given their home grown pork. They have dressed and had frozen three of the black broad breasted toms raised by Maxine and Dorothy Seward last year.

Food preservation through freezing meats and many fruits and vegetables is explained in "Facts About Freezing Foods," a bulletin which can be obtained at the County Agent's office. Besides the poultry used at home, Maxine and Dorothy Seward realized twenty-five dollars on turkey sales.

A plan for establishing places where folks can take surplus garden and orchard produce and use canning equipment to conserve it is being worked out between the Hot School Program and the Home Demonstration groups in Coryell County. Last year the Hot School Lunch workers canned about 36,000 cans of food for use in the lunches and this year they are planning to can food for 2500 children. These canning centers will be the logical places for the persons with surplus food to take it and use the equipment to can it. No matter what method of food preservation is used, the food to be preserved must be high in quality and food value, and all precautions taken to assure that the food is properly processed so that it will be safe to eat.

Freezing Makes Pork Safe

Trichinae which causes the serious disease, trichinosis, will not survive in pork treated by a special freezing method developed by the U. S. D. A. Pieces of pork products not exceeding 6 inches in thickness must be stored for a continuous period of not less than 20 days at a temperature not higher than 5 degrees F. or not less than ten days at -10 degrees F. to assure complete protection.

Freezing Tenderizes Steaks

Aging a thick beefsteak for 35 days at a temperature just above freezing makes it more tender. This steak will be equally tender if it is ripened for only 5 days and then frozen at -10 degrees F., the U. S. D. A. reports. The Department suggests a combination of aging not to exceed 15 days at 34 degrees F. followed by freezing at -10 degrees F. for beef cut about 1.5 inches thick. The meat should then be wrapped in moisture-vapor proof paper for storing.

WHEN PERSHING HONORED MacARTHUR 23 YEARS AGO—
This picture, made on a blustery March day in Remagen, Rhenish Prussia, shows the commander of the A. E. F. pinning the Distinguished Service Medal on General Douglas MacArthur then commanding the 84th Brigade, 42nd Division. The photo is from the World War files of the U. S. Signal Corps.
This was General MacArthur's second decoration. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for gallantry in action in March, 1918. He also wears the Silver Star Medal with six oak leaf clusters. A bill is pending in Congress to award him the Medal of Honor.

SPRING BONNET—American soldiers this year have brand new headgear to match their sisters' latest spring finery. The new helmet, just now being issued, gives greater protection than the old style flat "tin hats" of 1918.

REVEALING SLIP . . .

The Vichy authorities in Morocco have interned 2,000 British subjects. Their action is taken as reprisal for the RAF's bombardment of occupied France. Hold on a minute! Why should Vichy act for occupied France? Occupied France is German ground; Vichy pretends to speak for Frenchmen in only the unoccupied area, not for the Nazi police force in Paris. Vichy has inadvertently exposed her cards. Will Americans in North Africa also be interned? Is our State Department too polite to look?—New York Post.

Air-Borne Infantry

Far cry from the "doughboy" who marched for days to capture his objective, are the troops whose mission it is to fly where their support is most needed, step from their transport plane and taking their place in the line, fully equipped, surprise and overpower the enemy. Accompanying them to the ground and ready for instant use are machine guns, the automatic rifles which they carry themselves, and even motorcycles and the multi-useful "peep." Airborne infantry also is equipped to disrupt communications and destroy command posts far behind the lines of battle.

LOVE FROM A STRANGER

SYNOPSIS

Pretty Carol Howard, enriched by a winning sweepstakes ticket, quarrels with her fiance Ronnie, goes to Paris with her friend Kate, and marries the attractive but mysterious Gerald Lovell. Back in England, in a secluded country house Gerald has bought with funds "borrowed" from Carol, Gerald acts strangely and evinces great interest in criminology, especially the career of one Fletcher, murderer of three former wives. Warned by Dr. Gribble about his weak heart, Gerald dismisses the servants, locks up the house, and menacingly confronts Carol.

Chapter Six

Chilled by forebodings the nature of which she hardly knew herself, Carol made a valiant effort to keep her self-possession.

After dinner Lovell looked up at the clock. A quarter of nine. Fifteen minutes more.

"It always gives me a strange sort of thrill to see the minutes slipping by, one by one," observed Lovell. "I can remember so well standing in the headmaster's study at school, waiting for a beating, watching the hands of the clock move on — with a strange mixture of sensations — terror — yet a strange sort of delight... You can't find the key to the door, dear, I have it" — as Carol went out to the kitchen.

"I was fetching your coffee," said Carol, returning with the beverage. "Don't you think you'd better lie down after dinner?" she suggested while he drank it.

"No. We've work to do. I've made my plans."

Carol gave him another cup of coffee, but declined any for herself, though her husband remarked that she was shivering. He insisted on her donning the beautiful white scarf. Then he returned to the subject of Fletcher, the murderer. "Now there's a man worth studying. He never makes a mistake. A genius!" The strange, weird light was again in his eyes. "Carol — you must read to me about Fletcher! I want to hear some one reading it — reading it out loud. Go on!"

His manner was subtly commanding, relentless. With undefined terror tightening her throat, she began to read.

"George Edward Fletcher is the name by which he was tried. Possessed of an extraordinary fascination, he would make the acquaintance of a girl, marry her after a brief courtship, then induce him to make over all her money to him." "Louder. I can't hear you," he cried.

"It was his habit to rent a small place in an out of the way neighborhood. He would announce to neighbors that he and his wife were going away for some time..."

And now the realization was full upon her. The cold creeping horror of it seemed to enfold her heart like a clammy shroud. But one thought kept beating through her whirling brain... Must keep my head... mustn't break down... must go on... on.

"The fact," she read aloud, "that the Mrs. Fletcher of the moment was never actually seen to leave the place seems to have awakened no suspicions. Yet the cellar could have told the guilty secret."

She put the book down. "Gerald — suppose one of these women had found out beforehand and made an appeal to him?"

"I'm quite sure he never would have let anything influence him."

"But suppose she let him keep the money — promised not to prosecute him — wouldn't he be glad to escape the horror of having to —" She paused, as a clearer light, a greater horror, dawned on her. "I see... Perhaps it was no horror to him."

"No," smiled Lovell, and his arms started going round her. "You see, there are other things to it. Power — excitement — the climax of the music — at one moment to hold someone in your arms..." His grasp tightened... "And at the next to hold some thing."

"Even if you scream," he finished, through his teeth, "no one will hear you."

"Gerald — wait — wait," she half gasped, half sobbed. "There is something I must tell you. It concerns you."

"What do you mean?" He relaxed his hold.

"I once killed a man. When I was eighteen, I was his secretary. The next winter he was desperately ill of pneumonia. When it seemed he would recover after all, I opened all the windows of his room, let in the bitter cold air, turned down the covers. It killed him. Then I closed the windows, made up the fire — and no one ever suspected."

"Very interesting," commented Lovell. But why tell me about it?"

"Don't you see, you know all about me now. I wouldn't dare give you away. So why kill me?"

"An excellent idea, my child," he sneered, "but there isn't a grain of truth in your story. I read it in the same book you did. Very clever of trying to put me off — but it won't work!"

"Not for a moment did I expect you to believe it," cried Ann. "But you've forgotten one thing — you wonderful genius! I didn't drink any coffee!" I only wanted to hold your interest a while to gain time — time for the stuff to work! What a lucky coincidence that Dr. Gribble should have come back tonight!" Lovell's eyes bulged, his chest heaved.

"Gribble? He gave you —?"

"Yes!" Her voice rose hysterically, almost to a scream. "It's beginning to take effect now — it's beginning to choke you — you are deathly pale — it's beginning to paralyze you —"

He staggered to his feet, clutching at his throat, his heart.

"You can't move, can you," she shrieked. "You can't move..."

George Edward Fletcher slumped down to the floor and lay there — dead.

Carol ran to the doors and windows, almost beside herself with horror, beating at the walls that imprisoned her with the body of a horrible fiend. Suddenly the front door crashed open and in rushed Ronnie, followed by Kate and a constable. Unable to quiet their fears for her, they had turned back.

"Oh, Ronnie, Ronnie!" Carol sobbed on his breast. "It was horrible! I made him think I poisoned him."

"It's all right now, darling," soothed Ronnie. And he held her close — held her as if he would never again let her go.
