CHICAGO, July 3. (AP) —William Heirens, Chicago University student, questioned in the Suzanne Degnan kidnap-slaying, was ordered held for the Grand Jury today of four assault charges and 21 burglary charges, none connected with the Degnan case. His total bond was $270,000.

NORTH CAMP HOOD DB'S IN SPECIAL CONFINEMENT

SAN ANTONIO, July 3. (AP) Sixty prisoners of the North Camp Hood Disciplinary Barracks at Gatesville were held today under special confinement as an investigation was made of a serious outbreak in the compound Saturday night.

Two barracks were burned while prisoners armed with stones kept fire fighting equipment from nearing the scene, Maj. W. J. Todd of 4th Army Headquarters said here today.

Two prisoners were shot, neither seriously, by guards. Todd said the riot was the climax of a series of incidents the past three weeks. It started, he said, when prisoners were transferred to the North Camp Hood Baracks, from Camp Bowie. He said they protested that the Camp Hood Barracks are not as good as those at Bowie.

Between 35 and 40 small fires were started in the past few weeks, he said. Saturday night, however, three barracks were fired.

Guards inside the compound, always unarmed, were unable to quell the rioters, and called for help from armed guards outside.

The prisoners, many serving sentences for major crimes such as rape, murder and grand larceny, kept fire engines from nearing the scene until armored cars from the Second Armored Division quelled them at midnight.

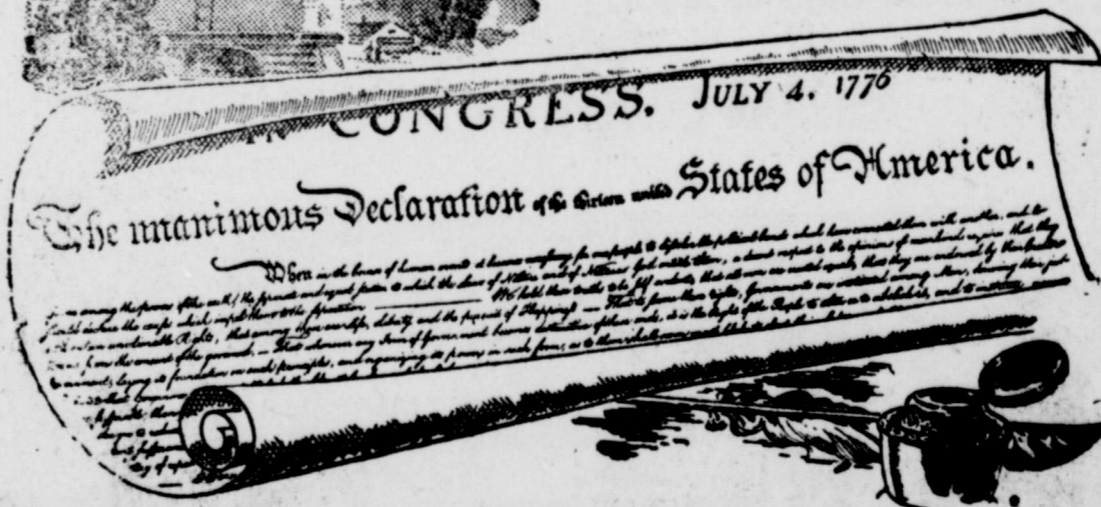

THE FOURTH

July 4, the first one, was a far cry from this one.

But, in a great many ways, it was too very similar.

They didn't know what they did then, and we don't know what we're doing now.

Cheerfully, however, they pulled out of their troubles, just like, of course, we're going to pull out of ours.

UNCLE SAM

(First of Three Articles)
WASHINGTON—As the nation's biggest landlord, the government makes some money and loses some—an dprovides homes for a lot of people.

Aiming t keep out of the way of private builders and investors Uncle Sam has stepped in to build and operate homes only when the job could not be done by anybody else.

THE government owns or is connected with the management of 856,601 dwelling units. They cost about three billion dollars to build an dshelter more than two million persons—a good deal more than the population of Connecticut. Tenants pay about 200 million dollars a year rent. This vast enterprise is only a second-cousin to the veterans emergency housing program aimed at getting 2,700,000 homes started this year and next. That is private, not public, housing.

Philip M. Klutznick, a short, friendly fellow from Omaha, is in charge of the arm-long list of federal holdings, which range from apartment houses to trailer villages. He is commissioner of the Federal Public Housing Authority (FPHA), the government's agent in the low rent and war housing business.

From operating some projects and selling others, FPHA is turning a tidy sum into the U. S. Treasury these days. Klutznick estimates it will hand over about $130,000,000 next year — about half that much this year.

The government has become a landlord for two purposes.

1. Originally, to help local communities build housing for those who could not pay enough rent to support private building.

2. Then, during the war, the government built 851,000 homes for war workers and others in war communities who were unable to get shelter any other way. This housing is being sold as rapidly as possible so the government can concentrate again on low-rent housing.

FPHA has on its busy hands approximately 600,000 units of war housing—mostly apartments—in these main classifications.

About 286,000 temporary units not suited for more than a few years' use; 174,000 permanent units being sold to occupants or to private investors; 9,000 units built by the Defense Homes Corporation and also available to private buyers; 51,000 units built with low-rent funds and now being taken over by local communities to operate as low-rent projects; 35,000 trailers serving as temporary homes for veterans but due to be old eventually by the Reconstruction Finance Corp.; 54,000 units in converted structures leased by the Home Owners Loan Corporation and to be returned to the owners as quickly as leases expire.

ENGAGEMENT OF JENNY DAVIS TOLD AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Davis announced the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Geraldine, to Lt. Gerald R. Gamble of York, Nebraska, at a dinner Saturday evening, June 28 at seven thirty o'clock. The wedding will take place at 5:00 o'clock P. M. July 7, at the First Methodist Church.

Sharing the courtesy with the honoree were Meses. Louis Bone, J. E. McClellan, Jr. Jack Jackson, Charles Landt, and Misses Mary Jane Slone, June Chamlee, Mary Holmes and Gene Stinnett.

Martha Jo Guggolz Robert Newton Wed Saturday Night

Miss Martha Jo Guggolz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Guggolz of Arnett became the bride of Robert Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Newton also of Arnett in a ceremony performed at the First Baptist Church in Gatesville, June 29.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Dr. Lawrence Hayes at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride was attired in a summer suit of pastel blue, white accessories, and corsage of gardenias.

Miss Helon McClesky attended the bride. She chose for the wedding a dress of light blue, white accessories and corsage of gardenias.

Nelson Newton attended his brother as best man.

Mrs. Newton graduated from Gatesville high school and attended John Tarleton Agricultural College. For the past 3 years she has been employed as bookkeeper for Alvis-Garner Company.

Mr. Newton graduated from Valentine high school and recently returned from service after spending 4½ years in the U.S. Army.

The couple left immediately for Austin and other points and on their return home will live on W. Leon St.

CORYELL COUNTY OFFICERS GIVEN PERMANENT RANK

In a recent release of permanent commissions in the U. S. Army, Maj. Sam L. Huey, son in law of Mrs. W. W. Melton of Gatesville was given the permanent rank of 1st Lieutenant. He is now in the Philippines.

BAYNE BLANKENSHIP HAS STATEMENT FOR VOTERS IN REP. RACE

Another problem facing this people today is that of crime and juvenile delinquency. Morally and monetarily it is a costly proposition; it would be hard to measure the moral cost but in terms of money crime and juvenile delinquency cost this one state alone more in one year than the Panama Canal. The Canal cost $525,000,000, while crime cost Texas $750,000,000 a year—tremendous price for such a harmful commodity.

Now, criminals are not born as such; rather they are initiated into crime by juvenile delinquency. As youths many of them come to know crime not as a wrong but as an adventure. It is a fact that young people have great energy and, if this energy cannot be channeled into work, study or healthy play, it will be turned toward petty thievery or vandalism. At that point the youth is introduced to crime.

Basically, the prevention and remedy of juvenile delinquency lies in the realm of the home. Undoubtedly, if his parents are living apart, the youth cannot have a normal home life; ordinarily, he will not be required to learn the meaning of discipline and self-discipline. As a result he will have much greater opportunity to become a delinquent. This basic factor in the prevention of delinquency cannot be solved by any legislature; rather, it must be solved in each individual home by the assumption of parental responsibility by the parents.

However, some aid can be had by legislative action. If some means could be provided whereby children could expend their energies in healthy ways, then juvenile delinquency would decrease greatly. Since by far the greatest percentage of crime occurs in the larger towns, I recommend that well equipped play grounds be installed in the cities. In this way children could use up both energy and time in healthy activity.

Another preventive measure would take the form of more strict application of the school truancy law. Recently, I found that a large percentage of boys in the Gatesville Reformatory had not attended school for two or three years prior to their detention, even though they were only 14 or 15 years old. This in itself is illegal. Public school attendance in imperative for the continued improvement of our populace; these young boys who fail to attend regularly are in excellent position to become delinquents, since in the large cities no adequate employment is to be had. I am a firm believer in compulsory attendance laws.

When young people or any people are busy with legitimate pursuits, there will be very little juvenile delinquency. And when this decreases, crime itself will decrease proportionally. Besides the moral consideration prevention of crime will more than pay for itself.

I submit these proposals for your consideration and approval.
Sincerely,
Bayne Blankenship, Candidate for Representative.

WHAT ABOUT O.P.A.?

FOR ABOUT FOUR YEARS O.P.A. has played a very important part in holding prices to the minimum, considering the shortages of many items and the buying power of the buying public, it is true that some phases of it have been badly administered, however we believe that had it not been in effect that prices would have been at least double what they are today.

NOTWITHSTANDING THE HARDSHIPS that O.P.A. has caused us in our efforts to comply, we have been heartily in accord with the purpose for which it was engerated and hoped that it would be retained until all signs of run-away prices had passed, we find that those in charge of our Government or at least a majority of them, decided that price controls had been in effect long enough and that supply and demand should again take over and bring about the needed adjustment. We hope that this is true and will make every contribution to make this possible.

WE WANT OUR TRADE TO KNOW that in no case shall we deviate from a controlled price, such as we have adhered to for over four years, until such time as rising prices from the manufacturers make it imperative that we do so.

STILL MANY CRITICAL ITEMS. There are many items that will not be plentiful for some months, we have gone along, done everything within our power to see that the limited quotas that we received were equitably distributed, most everyone has co-operated in this equitable distribution. Very few have shown any disposition to want more than their share, we sincerely hope that this attitude may continue and hope for a greater supply in the near future, without there being a mad rush for the critical items, thus creating an inflationary price far in excess of its value.

WE JOIN THE PRESIDENT in his appeal to the buying public to hold the line on prices, some things must of necessity be adjusted before production can produce the advance in labor, materials, etc., has brought some items under O.P.A. regulation below cost of production, these things will have to be adjusted and will be, we may expect and invite such adjustments, so that we may be able to obtain the needed merchandise.

WE SINCERELY BELIEVE that if the buying public will lend their co-operation as outlined by our president that within a few months we will find the now critical items more plentiful and at prices we can afford to buy. However, if we all stampede, try to buy at any price, we may expect an inflationary situation that will be many times worse than after the other war, which at that time brought chaos and want to so many people.

FOR TWENTY SEVEN YEARS we have done our best to serve the people in this trade territory with dependable merchandise at prices in keeping with the values they received. We shall continue to do this.

BROADWAY :

By Jack O' Brian

FLYING SANDWICHMAN

NEW YORK — A dapper young guy whose interests before the war were pretty firmly attached to the roofs of the buildings adjacent to Times Square, has out-colossaled Hollywood in its most expansive advertising whims to a point where Hollywood has had to come to him for biggest single hoopla to be devised so far for one studio's films.

The young fellow is Douglas Leigh, who has fashioned some of the biggest and most traffic-halting signs along Broadway. He recently walked into legal difficulties when one of his ideas proved so eye-attracting that the police had to demand its immediate abandonment so that vehicles could move through Times Square without running over thousands of persons. That aborted though excellent advertising idea included color films on a huge screen atop a Broadway building.

With his plans now full of super soap bubbles rising from gigantic boxes for a soap company, more bubbles of actual ginger ale for a soft drink outfit and similarly extravagant ideas running over from his mind onto blueprints every day, young Doug, a Navy lieutenant until his recent discharge, now comes up with the all-star idea of his career to date.

A GIANT ex-navy dirigible shortly will be cruising the Atlantic seaboard, touching communities from New England to Washington, D. C. toting on its sides electrical signs 40 feet high which will carry running electrical messages 25 feet high and 200 feet long advertising the various film attractions of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures.

A minimum of 5000 lamps on each side will make the sign visible for more than five miles. The block long affair will be toted in a sort of sensational sandwichman fashion on a dirigible of the K-type, the idea for which crept into Leigh's agile imagination while he was on Navy duty. He already has bought three of the sky giants from the government. They are stored at Lakehurst, N. J.

THE sky venture will be handled completely by ex-Navy personnel. Karl L. Lange, former Navy Captain who was chief of staff to Admiral Charles E. Rosendahl, the Navy's crack lighter-than-air expert, will head the advertising operation; he has more than 25 years of lighter than air experience.

The dirigible, about four times as large as the blimps formerly used for advertising purposes, will make a regular daily junket covering a territory of 40,000 square miles stretching 150 miles in each direction from Lakehurst. The area includes New York, of course; and all points between Washington, Scranton, Pa., Hartford, Conn., Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Mrs. J. B. Jones, has just returned from a visit with friends and relatives in Ft. Worth. Mr. and Mrs. T. K. O'Neal left Monday for an extended trip in West Texas and New Mexico.

Explorers have found some 500 ruins of ancient Indian pueblos on the south and north rims of the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Today four Indian tribes still live in the region of the canyon.

There's a permanent mirage at Dry Lake, six miles west of Willcox, Ariz. From the highway miles off, the motorist can see a great body of "dry water" on a clear day.

He has the role of a gun-gorilla called "Dum-Dum."

"This police prowler car drove by and the cops skidded their tires, stopping, when they saw me. They got out and circled around me cautiously. What was I doing out at 1:30 a. m.? Did I have any identification? My draft card? My driver's license? I had to talk fast to keep them from hauling me in."

JACK was appearing in a New York stage play, "Blind Alley," during an epidemic of subway holdups. He was waiting for a car on a lonely subway platform after a nights performance when a suspicious plainclothesman grabbed his arm from behind and dragged him up the steps into a police car. "What do you do for a living?" the detectives demanded, ignoring Jack's protests. Angered at the whole business, Jack growled, "I carry a tommy gun." After that had soaked in, he added, "Yeah, and if you'll drive around to the theater, I'll show you a picture of me in the lobby with my tommy gun."

'Get Skinned By Vet', Reads Used Auto Ad

PORT ARTHUR, June 27—AP—Chairman A. M. McAfee of the Port Arthur war price control board today protested to the district OPA director over newspaper advertising being used by a local used-car dealer.

McAfee said he had protested to Director Stephen J. Tully of Houston the district office's issuance of advertising authorization to the Veteran's Car Sales agency.

The agency ran ads, in local papers, that included: "You are going to get skinned anyway, so why not let a veteran skin you?"

McAfee said authorization was granted after the local office had refused to do so.

LOOKING AHEAD

Eat Cake

Today's acute housing shortage was in plain view ten years ago. Experts in the business of building and equipping homes were writing articles and making speeches back in the 1930's forecasting what they called the building boom of the 1940's. They supported their predictions with sound reasoning and leaders in many equipment lines arranged to meet the demand.

A quick look at census figures, years before Pearl Harbor, would have convinced almost anybody that an unusually big share (say 20%) of the U. S. population would reach an age to be married between 1940 and 1946. Patently this would call for more places to live and, true to form under free enterprise, business men began getting ready quietly to serve the market, but war interfered.

Plans Not Executed.

Wars always frustrate plans, and few were revised more in World War II than those of the building trades. Priorities on materials, general shortage of labor and the compelling urge for victory changed most things but the predicted need for more housing came right on schedule. It is even bigger than experts estimated ten years ago because war retarded building and accelerated marrying.

Plans made before the war for meeting this expected peak demand are still workable plans. If industry were free today as it was then, people who want homes would be getting them a great deal faster. I believe Herbert U. Nelson of the National Association of Real Estate Boards has proved that Washington bureaucracy is chiefly to blame for today's housing shortage.

Facts to Remember

It's an old story that America has housing aplenty, and it was always true until right lately. France, England and other European countries that have endured regulation of home building since World War I have been short of housing meanwhile. Bureaucracy got a firm grip on American building during World War II and now hates to let go, shortage or no shortage.

The O.P.A. is the sorest bunion on the toe of our progress. Here is an illustration: Manufacturers of fire doors got caught behind increased manufacturing costs and asked O.P.A. for permission to raise prices 75c per door. It was refused. Result: No doors by mass production. Carpenters can build doors where they hang them, of course, at much loss of time and at several times normal cost.

Industry Is Ready.

A similar man-made muddle built a bottleneck in window sash. There's almost no end to the roster of crippling rules in this one industry. Miles Colean, a thoroughly respected Washington economist, says that industries producing building materials are fully reconverted, full capacity restored. Still the most productive nation of history is handcuffed and can't house itself. Why?

A price-fixing agency, while proclaiming its loyalty to the people, has refused many small strategic upward revisions, thus halting production. Consumers do without things or pay amazing prices for makeshifts. It savors of the Marie Antoinette school of thought. On being informed that by reason of her extravagance her subjects had no bread, she said "Let them eat cake."

Is your home wiring system big enough for its job?

The amount of electricity that a wire can conduct is limited by the size of the wire, just as the amount of water a pipe can carry is limited by the size of the pipe.

Wiring that is too small drops voltage and causes lights to dim and appliances to operate sluggishly . . . frequently results in blown fuses due to overloads. An insufficient number of branch circuits and outlets necessitates the use of unsightly, unsafe extension cords and limits the use of additional appliances.

If you plan to build, buy or remodel a home, it will pay you to insist on Adequate Wiring. Make sure you have enough circuits of large enough capacity to permit you to enjoy full measure electrical living. Don't let yourself be handicapped by "skimpy" wiring.

What is adequate wiring?

Adequate wiring simply means a service entrance large enough to bring in as much electricity as your home may need at any time, enough branch circuits of large enough wire to conduct a full measure of electrical energy to your lights and appliances, plus plenty of outlets and switches, properly located. Adequate wiring is the key to better electrical living.
