Gatesville Soil Office Owned and Operated By Coryell Farmers

An interesting story printed in a recent edition of the Temple, Texas, Telegram follows:
The Hamilton-Coryell Soil Con-

servations district is the only district in Texas where the farmers own their district office and the ground on which it stands, and furnish office equipment space for the technical personnel of the Soil Conservation Service. In addition, they hire one man to operate district owned seed harvesting and cleaning equipment.

Through the initiative of the land owners and the assistance of Congressman Bob Poage, the government granted the district 17 surplus buildings from Camp Hood, including about eight large buildings, in April 1946. With the proceeds from the sale of several of the buildings, plus funds obtained from selling Buffalo grass seed, a lot was bought in Gatesville. Then two of the larger buildings were placed on the site and were remodeled throughout to provide an office 20 by 40 feet in size, a garage 20 by 80 feet, and a seed room 20 by 45 feet.

The office building was stuccoed and hard wood floors and built in fixtures added to give the district a modern place to carry on its business. Adjoining the office to the rear is a six car garage with concrete floors and doors swing overhead. The seed room at the end of the garage houses two pieces of seed cleaning equipment owned by the farmers of the district. All of the buildings are painted white. Last year the district harvested and sold 5,000 pounds of Buffalo grass seed. As a result, over 400 acres of poor to non-productive land now has a fair to good stand of native grass that will improve through the years under proper management. The supervisors report that they now have approximately $1,600 worth of Buffalo grass seed ready for planting next season.

Two of the Camp Hood buildings have been hauled to Hamilton and the same type of setup is under construction there, giving the Hamilton-Coryell Soil Conservation district two Work Units where the farmers, under the direction of their five man board, of supervisors, own and control their office space and provide housing for government personnel and equipment.

The board of supervisors includes: Cliff Tinkle, chairman; Glen Riley, secretary-treasurer; Virgil Lockhart, vice-chairman; E. W. Newsom, and Sam J. Powell all of whom are farmers living within the soil conservation district.

Paralytic Stroke is Fatal to Mrs. Gilchrest Gatesville Resident

Mrs. Rosianna Jane Gilchrest, widow of the late Joe Gilchrest, passed away at the family home, one mile west of Gatesville, Saturday evening, November 16, at 10:55 o'clock. She suffered a stroke early Saturday morning, and her death following so few hours later was a great and sorrowful shock to her devoted sons and daughters, their families, relatives and her many friends.

An impressive service of final rites were held Sunday afternoon at 4:00, with Dr. Lawrence Hayes, pastor of Gatesville First Baptist church officiating. Coryell Church was the scene of the funeral, and burial was in the Coryell Church cemetery. Mrs. Gilchrest's grandsons served as pallbearers. The floral offering was profuse and very beautiful, a fitting tribute to the noble, useful life of the woman who had finished her earthly tenure to enter into the eternal life in Heaven.

Rosianna Jane Hobbs was born to Will Hobbs and wife, Mrs. Mattie Cowan Hobbs, in Gonzales county, Texas, November 20, 1874. She was married in that county to Joe Gilchrest, and to them were born eleven children, nine of whom survive. They are Mrs. May Spence, Mrs. Lou Reeves, Mrs. Lettie Crawford, all of Gatesville; Harvey Gilchrest, of Waco; Roy, Ceburne, Weldon, Mardia and Louie Gilchrest of Gates-

A Heritage

Phrase-makers who refer to Dixie as the Bible Belt have missed an important point. Without ignoring anything, I should like to appraise the whole of America as a Bible Land. This is done humbly, for Americans have sometimes failed to follow the light of truth when that light burned brightly before them.

Despite efforts of some modern historians to interpret the facts differently, our forebears developed this nation with religious principles in mind. They read their Bibles. Regardless of how many Americans have forsaken these fundamentals, it remains a nation that has been blessed bountifully by God.

Our Best Seller

Where in the realm of recorded human experience can you find a land so blessed with liberty and opportunity, as in America? And where in history has there been a land so prosperous, where material blessings fit only for kings of the past may be enjoyed by each man and his neighbor? Let it be remembered that America's best seller is still the Bible, a phenomenon which is cause and not effect.

National Bible Week was celebrated this year from October 21 to 27. Where else among the nations can you find a land so dedicating itself? In calling America a land of Bibles, I affirm that the religious people of this nation constitute its greatest asset. There now would be no hope for world peace, there would be no prospect of good citizenship at home, were this not so.

Practical Application

For example, the Bible offers us the perfect formula to put an end to industrial strife. In fact, I could never expect fair play in industrial relations to come about in a land where the Golden Rule is unknown. We must not forget it, here in America. Shall labor forget this rule of action and become a pressure group so determined to apply pressure upon industry that investment capital will be driven out and become unavailable to buy and replace tools? That is exactly the way to cut production and achieve lower and lower wages.

Industry aims at profits; it wants dividends for stockholders and capital for expansion. Should industry withhold fair wages and seek specialized legislation? No, that is the road to bankruptcy. Industry's first objective should not be its own welfare, but the welfare of labor and of agriculture.

Back to Fundamentals

Agriculture wants high prices for all it can produce. How shall it obtain these high prices? Through selfish, class legislation? No, that's the road to failure. Agriculture wants a prosperous market, with many people eating and living well. This it cannot attain by selfishly looking to itself. It must be more interested in the welfare of other groups.

Wherever we have strayed from God, and from His laws and His formulas, that is exactly the point where we must return. Harmony, prosperity, and peace will surely follow. If we loved one another as we love ourselves, we should have no fear about what use might be made of atomic bombs. Neither science, nor so-called "civilization," nor any of the human-"isms," offers a sure cure for the world's ills. A return to God and the principles found in the Bible is our only hope that we shall not literally destroy ourselves.

TEEN TALK:

DEAR JUDY:

Suppose you've got your own Christmas loot list organized for Santa Claus. But what are you giving heps? This year the kids are going to have a big grab bag and put all the presents in it so as to avoid confusion. Here is the list our gang made up—maybe you'll get some ideas from it:

For the glam-gams: Lucite luggage tag lettered with name and address; compact with telephone numbers scribbled on it; subscription to a magazine; cologne, sachet, soap set; wide leather belt with brass fastener; little fur cap;
high neck navy blue sweater (Army and Navy surplus); phonograph records; woolies; skating socks; ski gloves; nylons; five-year-diary; pen and pencil sets; theatre tickets; certificate for permanent wave (remember—just the ends); Chinese dinner.

For the Jacksons: Science magazine subscription; set of watercolors or oil paints; tennis, golf or jiu-jitsu course; flight trip at local airport; photograph album;
jackknife; chemistry set; reindeer sweater; basketball or hockey tickets; phonograph records.

Here are some low-moolah ideas for the rest of the family list:

Big gals, Mom, Granny Auntie: Closet accessories (shoe bags, lau-dry bags, hat boxes, etc.); slippers; nylons; knitting needles; bed jackets; fancy bed pillows; robe; towel and wash rag sets; pressure cooker; fancy handkerchiefs; set of hair brushes; scrap book; evening bag; mules; cookbook; flannel nightgown, traveling iron or two tickets to a good show.

Big boys, Uncle, Pop, Grandpa:
All-weather jacket; storm boots (Army and Navy surplus); garden tools; subscription to The News;
desk set; popular novel; combination bottle opener; horseshoe pitch ing set; electric razor; traveling kit; shaving set; book on a hobby;

detective story books.

The Lil' Kids: Slippers; games; sewing sets; doll that floats in the bathtub; small ironing board;
books—adventure for the boys;
kiddie phonograph records; muff purse; terry robe; telegraph set;
make-believe typewriter or telephone set; hair ribbons; ice-skates;
dart games; kiddie stationery.

The best idea in planning your list seems to be to write everybody's name down and then decide how much you can afford to spend on them. You should be able to find a gift on our list for all the family and friends you want to make happy Christmas day.

Don't forget to buy some cute wrapping paper. Half the Christmas fun is opening a snazzy looking package. The candy-striped red and white or green and white paper is super.

In love,
VIVIAN.

Miss Peggy Wollard Makes Student Honor Roll in U. of Japan

Miss Peggy Wollard, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney M. Wollard of Gatesville, and daughter of Edward Graves Wollard of Alice, Texas, writes from Nogoya, Japan, where she is a night student in the university, sending a report showing that she is entitled to a place on the honor roll, having made straight A's in all subjects she is taking as a major in business administration.

Peggy, a graduate of Gatesville High School, went with her mother, Mrs. Freda Greenwood of Ft. Worth, to Japan some three months ago to join Capt. William Greenwood, serving with the U. S. Army Air Corps occupational forces. Peggy was given a job as chief clerk in the office of Inner-Communications of the Fifth Air Force. An opportunity was offered young Americans to continue their education in the Nogoya University, and rather than relinquish her work with the air forces, Peggy became a night student.

Mrs. Clara Kingsbury Taylor of Evant, was a guest during the latter days of last week of her sister, Mrs. Bill Ament and husband, and greeted Gatesville friends.

Merry Wives Club Entertained at Home Of Mrs. J. M. Prewitt

A distinctive pleasure was afforded the members of the Merry Wives Club on the occasion of their meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Prewitt, who had as an honor guest Mrs. B. B. Garrett, president of the club for 38 years and at present honorary president. Mrs. Garrett retired from club activities on account of continued ill health but is now much improved and her presence was hailed with delight.

A Thanksgiving motif that threaded through the refreshment course, was charmingly achieved in the floral decorations of the rooms, where chrysanthemums were used, and in game table appointments. A series of games of "84" held the interest of the company of players through two hours. Engaged in the contest for victory were Mrs. Minnie Battle, Mrs. J. O. Brown, Mrs. C. L. Bellamy, Mrs. Charley Caruth, Mrs. B. S. Cook, Mrs. Tom Chapman, Mrs. T. M. Davidson, Mrs. Edgar Franks, Mrs. W. C. Guggolz, Mrs. Pat D. Holt, Mrs. Bruno Melburne, Mrs. I. F. Johnson, Sr., Mrs. Andrew Graves, Mrs. Earl Nesbitt and Mrs. Willie D. Young. Mrs. Prewitt had as her special guests, her sister, Mrs. Emma Wortham of Waco, Mrs. Howard Reunnich and Mrs. Pearl White.

Rehearsal Dinner is Given for Miss Holmes And James F. Cain, Jr.

A rehearsal dinner for Miss Mary Margaret Holmes and James Francis Cain, Jr., of Dallas, and the members of their wedding party was given Friday evening at 7 o'clock by Mrs. Byron Leaird Jr., at her home, 1208 East Leon. The marriage was solemnized Saturday morning at ten o'clock at Our Lady of Lourdes Church in Gatesville.

Place cards carrying out the bridal motif gave the seating arrangement at the bride's table for Miss Holmes, Miss Ann McClellan, James Francis Cain, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Fair, Mr. and Mrs. James McClellan, Jr., Danny McClellan, Billy Clay McClellan and Bill Gaynor. The table was laid with an Irish linen damask cloth and centered with an arrangement of white mums and stephanotis in a crystal bowl set on a clear reflector with smaller flower filled vases completing the floral theme in white. Crystal candelabra holding tall white candles gave the lighting for the board. Mums filling a crystal bowl, and a cornucopia and white lighted candles in crystal holders were seen in beautiful effect on the buffet.

In the living room a table was laid for guests including Mrs. Lewis F. Holmes, James F. Cain, Sr., Miss Stella Kay, Miss Cecile Blair, Mr. Lee, Father Dore. Table adornment was achieved in an arrangement of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Henry Sadler and Miss Bess Holmes assisted the hostess in serving a three course dinner offering fruit cocktail with cream cheese crackers, aspic salad, tuna fish on patty shells, creamed asparagus, cauliflower, carrot soufflé with June peas, hot rolls, coffee, banana mangle and decorated cakes.

T. L. Blackman, Rt. 1, Gatesville is in the Navy serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Salisbury Sound on duty with the 7th Fleet in the China-Japan area.

Services At First Baptist Church Sunday, December 1

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Charles Wellborn of the Baylor faculty will preach. Rev. Wellborn is a member of the "Youth Crusade" team that has gone out all over Texas the past summer in youth revivals. Some of our people have heard him give testimony and he has a very unusual story. He won honors in high school and college before the war as a member of the debating team and holds several oratorical medals. He was converted in the first youth revival at Waco two years ago. He now teaches in the Department of Political Science in Baylor and is a ministerial student doing graduate work. He is to go with the Youth Revival Crusade team to Hawaii during the Christmas holidays for a week's engagement—the first Youth Crusade outside the United States.

Our people want to hear him and be inspired by his gracious and heart searching messages. Our pastor, Dr. Hayes, is in a revival at Moody this week and the members of the church will want to be especially loyal to the church next Sunday and hear this guest speaker.

Of course, that eyestrain can lead to headaches, contribute to poor vision. But do you also know that bulbsnatching is an invitation to Junior squint over his homework, it may be because he had to rob a socket to get a light to read by—and wound up with an undersized bulb.

THANKSGIVING BOUNTY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Martin are gloating over the "spoils" of their hunt in Edwards county, and are already feasting on fine venison, and looking complacently forward to Thanksgiving with, perhaps guests to add to the gaiety of the dinner table. Mr. Martin brought down an eight point buck, and just to keep down any family jealousy, Mrs. Martin bagged one with just one point and no nubs less.

BIG BUCK BAGGED

The "Happy Hunting Grounds" of Llano and Blanco counties yielded one eight-point buck as the hunting trophy of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dyer and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holingsworth, a party returning to their homes in Gatesville last week. They declared they had "enough fun" to make up for any lack of triumph as Hiawathas.

THEATRE

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Rufus Rondell shocks staid 52nd Street and alienates his elder sisters, Adela and Letitia, by marrying Evelyn Macey, a show girl. This is in 1912, and four years later Evelyn dies, leaving Rufus their little daughter, Margaret. In 1937 Margaret returns from her schooling abroad to find a vast change both in 52nd Street and its habits. The sedate street has become New York's gay white way, and her father operates one of the night clubs in partnership with his picturesque friend, Fiorello Zamorelli. Margaret falls in love with Benny, Fiorello's pianist son, but resents her father's keeping secret from her his night club enterprise which paid for her upbringing and supports Adela and Letitia. To punish him, she becomes a dancer in Sid and Jack's cafe, where Benny engages in a fist fight with a gangster over her.

Chapter Six

The "Black Maria" was out again on 52nd Street. This time its cargo was more exclusive — just Benny and Margaret. Benny for his sins, and Margaret for company.

"You had no business coming along," he growled, as she daubed busily at his multitudinous bruises with her handkerchief.

"I like patrol wagons." "I'da killed that slug," muttered Benny.

"Sure you would," she soothed—"if he'd stayed on the floor the first time you hit him." That night, the financial formalities of the police court having been disposed of, the two youngsters sat on a bench in the park — the same bench, as it happened, on which Rufus Rondell had won Evelyn Macey's consent to marry him a quarter of a century ago. But this time the girl on the park bench was unromantically examining the boy's scalp for bruises.

"A fine occupation for your father to be in," mused Benny. "You know, if I had the money, I'd run him and my dad right out of business."

She laughed gaily, light-heartedly, dropping her head on his shoulder. "I don't know what's happened to me — it seems as if I like everybody — everything. You know, Benny, I think we can get the money to do what you say. I want father back awfully — but I can't get him back till he's licked."

"Well, how about the money?" "Father said he wanted me to talk to my aunts, whom I've never seen. And now, Benny — now that I'm happy I want to talk to them. And maybe, with their money..."

The scheme succeeded beyond her dreams. Margaret took Benny along with her to call on Aunts Adela and Letitia. And when they had done clucking and cooing over the niece who had come home to them at last, Benny broached their bizarre proposition. Letitia, the romantic and fluttery, rose to it like a trout to a shiny new fly, and for the first time in her life was militantly unafraid of Adela's doses of ice water.

"Shut your trap," Letitia cried imperiously. "It was you that caused Johnny to leave me. It was you that drove our brother out of the house. I like your proposition, young man, and I'm willing to do anything that will bring Rufus back to us. We'll put a cafe in this home that'll run him out of business."

But the sisters had not reckoned on Rufus' stubborn will. Rufus was their sole source of monetary income, and he refused to give them the check for a hundred thousand which they needed to start their night club going.

Finally it was Fiorello who stepped into the breach and furnished the money. But they still faced the problem of getting Rufus to come to the club for the hoped-for rapprochement.

The opening of the Rondell Sisters' Cafe was on the grandest scale 52nd Street had yet seen. Nothing was overlooked — from engraved invitations to New York's Four Hundred to a built-in radio chatterer who chattered like mad over a coast-to-coast network of the splendors of this stupendous event.

The floor show proceeded in full swing — a succession of headliners such as even Broadway had seldom seen. From every standpoint the opening was a huge success — except one. Rufus Rondell failed to appear.

Margaret, unable to conceal her disappointment any longer, broke down and wept.

"Fiorello, it's not going to work — it'll never work... I want him back!"

"You cry just like Benny's mama did," said Fiorello — "with angels in your eyes. Wait — you leave it to Fiorello." Whereupon he sought out the two Rondell maiden ladies and spent a busy quarter-hour persuading them to see the merits of his latest big scheme.

Fiorello rushed into Rufus' home. "Rufus! You got to help me! We gotta put a stop to this thing! It's your sister Letitia—she's gonna do a strip-tease on the dance floor!"

"SHE'S WHAT?" Rufus jammed his hat on his head and dashed in a headlong dash.

Breathlessly arriving at the cafe, Rufus found that his sister was indeed in the middle of the dance floor — not performing a strip-tease, but dancing the "Twenty-three Skidoo" with Sid and Jack at the behest of the crafty Fiorello. When Letitia, in the midst of her dance, saw her brother, glaring at her, her new-found brazen determination collapsed — and so did Letitia.

Before Rufus could fling his erring sister over his shoulder and take her home, however, the lights went low and Benny, leading the orchestra, signalled for a new number. And as they played the soft strains of "I Still Love to Kiss You Goodnight," a vision walked out on the stage—Margaret Rondell wearing a costume that was an exact replica of the one her mother, Evelyn Macey, had wore when she sang the same song in 1912. Rufus stopped, listened to Margaret's singing; then slowly his face softened and his eyes filled. Touched to the depths of his soul by this reminder of his beloved Evelyn and of what she had once been, all his vindictive bitterness left him and he softly joined Margaret and Benny in singing the chorus.

As the others proceeded to join in the singing, a uniformed minion of the law shouldered his way through the assemblage and tapped Adela on the shoulder.

"Sorry, ladies, but you're under arrest."

"Arrest — for what?"

"No cabaret license, ma'am." And so once more the patrol wagon came into action, this time to give the sedate Adela and Letitia Rondell their 52nd Street baptism of the police court. But it was a gay, happy crowd that went for the ride, with Margaret and Rufus sitting arm in arm, clearly determined never to part again. And as the wagon turned into the ultra-exclusive Park Avenue, Sid and Jack surveyed it with an eye to their next night club.

"Wouldn't that be a swell place for a sign over there," remarked Jack. "Jack and Sid's."

"Sid and Jack's," corrected Sid. "Jack and Sid's," roared Jack. Sid shook his head with the utmost finality. "Nope. No lit."

THE END.

Copperas Cove-Richland Bi-District Wed. Nite 7:30

COPPERAS COVE OUTLASTS GATESVILLE IN FOOTBALL HONORS, CHAMPS NOW!

It remains for Copperas Cove to hold up the honor of winning titles for Coryell County in 1946. They've already stowed away one Championship Cup by winning the District 12 Championship trophy from Pottsville 30-12 in Gatesville Thursday afternoon.

Wednesday evening, and, certainly, with the full support of all Coryell county and Gatesville, Copperas Cove meets Richland winners of District 11 Six-man Title for the Bi-District Championship.

Copperas Cove has an enviable record, including Turnesville 0-53; Oglesby 0-50; Flat 0-69; Jarrell 0-55; Oglesby 0-30 and Turn-ersville 6-12, and the District game.

Since there are only two other teams in the Richland district, Emhouse and Palmer, Richland has not had a very difficult season but is expected to put up quite a squabble.

Superintendent W. R. Goodson gives the probable starting lineup for his club as follows: Martin Luker 23, E. Arvin Kinsey 25, C. Stoney Gribble 27, E. Willie Brantley 1, B. Marvin Kinsey 21, B. and Gorman Gibson 5 B.

Substitutes will be Alton Brantley 11; Glenn Gibson 12; Decil Henderson 16, Winifred Grimes 10; Joe Hillin 24;5; Clifton Osborne 9; E. C. Kattner 10; Gene Wellen 12 and Bobby Lindsey 18.

Hon. Earl Huddleston of Oglesby, who is completing details in the business of closing his last months as legislator from the Coryell-Hamilton district, was in Hamilton recently to greet friends and to give personal attention to affairs connected with his office.
