Bottle Blvd. And Can Avenues Still Take Toll: 36 Escaped

Bottle Boulevard took it mostly this past week, and whether or not fluids had anything to do with the accident is another story. We couldn't say.

A man driving a Chevrolet of some vintage cracked up his car on Coryell Creek bridge, mangling the front end, light, bumper and fender.

Second go-round was S. C. Strickland, of Amarillo, according to Chief of Police Herman Sims, lost control of his lumber truck about 2 1/2 miles from town on U. S. 84, and it rolled over three times. He had a slight arm injury, and a Mr. Summers riding with him was treated at the Coryell Memorial hospital.

That's the trouble, reported, for the week, but then, there's Labor Day coming up. Advice: Park jitney, stay home!

"Smooky" Moore ought to take out a hunting license to fish! Fish he catches are big as "big game", and he ought to take out "group fishing license" or something.

Had his sample in town other morning, and believe they were 31 pounds and 47; anyway, awful big.

Along this line, too, now, since dove season is open, before it opened, a dove hunting a safe plate flew in Curt Rogers garage. Bet wasn't there Sept. 1.

Texas Pension Load Highest in Nation

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 30—The Texas old-age pension load is the highest in the nation, the legislative audit committee was told Tuesday.

John H. Winters, old-age assistance administrator, said this was due mostly to the state's liberal assistance law and prohibitions against considering the ability of children to support their parents as well as homestead exemptions.

While many pensioners have been stricken from the rolls in a tightening-up of eligibility examinations, he said, the net increase for the past year has been 12,584 pensioners. The load will become heavier, Winters predicted. This will probably cause a cut in the monthly payments to the old folks.—The Dallas Morning News.

HST Sticks To Vaughan: He's Still Under Fire

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1. (AP)—President Truman said today he will keep Major General Harry Vaughan as his military aide. That was about all the comment Mr. Truman would make at his news conference about the Senate investigation of Vaughan's activities.

A Senate group is seeking to determine if influence has been used improperly to obtain government favors. Vaughan's name has cropped up frequently and Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said later that Truman in retaining Vaughan is saying in effect that it is "proper" for Vaughan to "peddle influence".

Fighting 36th Reunion In Waco Sept. 9-10-11

Thousands of the 36th "Texas" Division veterans are expected at the Annual Reunion at Waco, Texas, September 9, 10 and 11th, announced Charles M. Beacham of Corpus Christi, Texas, current President of the 36th Division Association.

Over 70,000 men served in this Texas unit during World War II and thousands of others were veterans of World War I and a few of the Spanish-American War.

This famous fighting unit, known as the "T-Patchers" by its distinctive shoulder insignia, saw about 363 days of front line service in Italy, France, Germany and Austria. It fought in seven major campaigns, made two amphibious assaults, -- the famed "Bloody Salerno" landing of September 9th, 1943, and the landing on the southern coast of France on August 15th, 1944. The reunion was selected in commemoration of the Italian landing, the first such operation against the mainland of Europe.

A business meeting of the officers of the Association is scheduled for Friday, September 9th, at the Roosevelt Hotel, Waco, Texas, followed by a general meeting on Saturday morning at the National Guard Armory. A barbecue is planned for the afternoon, and a dance for the evening. Regular election of officers and a memorial service will be held on Sunday.

Reservations may be mailed to Wiley Stem, at either the Raleigh Hotel or the Roosevelt Hotel, Waco, Texas.

 County Agent

The County Agricultural and Home Demonstration Agents' Office will be enlarged due to the vacancy created by the AAA. It has always been the custom of the Extension Office to furnish seating space for callers. With the new arrangement there will be more space for committee meetings and other group activities.

Coryell County Farm Bureau

The Turnersville Farm Bureau entertained all county members and their families last Friday night with a supper and entertaining program. The arrangement committee deserve high praise for the efficient manner in which the entire program was conducted. President Cooper should be proud of the organization which has been perfected in his community.

Copperas Cove, Mound and Turnersville have entertained county members with supper club programs. All these meetings have contributed much to a spirit of co-operation and fellowship among the farmers of these communities.

County Wide Organization Now Possible

Texas is scheduled to double its Farm Bureau Membership this fall. Coryell County is expected to more than double its membership. County Membership Chairman, James Sharp, plans to assist any community with the formation of a club. A captain will be selected in such community and he will line-up his stem-winders or co-workers to go out and get the members.

Coryell County New Organizations

Coryell County farmers need a county-wide farm organization. A lack of such an organization has handicapped many attempts to make progress. Rural electrification, good roads, education, markets for produce and social activities as well as economic programs have suffered from lack of organization and leadership in the farm communities.

Any kind of farm organization founded on the principles of democracy should help farmers to unify their efforts and to register their wants with the local, state, and national government.

Important School Building Information!

In order that the public might be brought up to date on building plans, and at the same time justify the delay, the following information is submitted:

1. After the bonds were voted a 30 day period was required by law before anything else could be done. This was to cure any litigation that might be pending or brought up.
2. After this 30 day period an equalization board had to meet. This required 10 days notice by law, and four days were required for hearings.
3. After the equalization board met all the transcripts had to go to the Attorney General's department for a review. This requires time, and the Gatesville Board is now waiting on this report.

When an official report is cleared through Austin the Board is ready to start receiving bids. We hope to get this cleared within the next few days.

The bonds have been sold subject to the approval of the Attorney General.

The Gatesville School Board is standing by with plans and every thing ready as far as they can go pending the Austin clearance.

Everything possible is being done to expedite the program, and we hope to get started on the building in a very short time. The board has moved along as fast as the school laws will allow.

The cooperation and backing of the public has been greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

L. C. McKAMIE,
Superintendent

GATESVILLE NEEDS... modern street lighting! The street lights we have today are antiquated and therefore inadequate. Small towns, as well as cities, are awakening to the fact that a community needs a good front in this competitive world. Now, more than ever, towns are competing with one another for wholesale and retail trade territories. Since the war Gatesville has undergone considerable face-lifting in way of new store fronts, modernization of buildings, and new construction. We need ever more. Recently we lost a pastry shop to a nearby town because the baker could not obtain a suitable location here.

The need for adequate modern street lighting is just as vital. Customers do not window shop in a poorly lighted town. What is good for the merchants is also good for professional people.

I would like to see us install the new type mercury vapor lamp in our business district. The mercury vapor lighting is being used in Dublin, De Leon, Gorman, Arlington, Grand Prairie, Fort Worth, Dallas, and many other cities. Waco is installing a few of them at the present time. They are particularly desirable at highway intersections because the lamps give 5 times as much light with only a 1/3 increase in cost. That's right. You pay a little more for five times as much light. Perhaps you've seen them. The mercury vapor throws off a bluish white light and is very popular with those who have become accustomed to it.

This editorial is not intended to embarrass anyone, but to call attention to a crying need which is staring us in the face today.

HERE'S THE BOY THAT INTRODUCED AGRICULTURE TO THE GREEKS

—WELL, just that long, has Agriculture been the basis of civilization—honest agriculture!

—Agriculture is what we sell! The finished product—not the "grewed" kind! To sell even to the "grower" there's a lot more "production, processing, and prettifying up", necessary... That, with the labor, transportation, storage, and materials added, and the know-how makes for the difference of the "grower" price and the "seller" price!

—Those are factors WE can't control, and can only give YOU the HIGHEST QUALITY possible for the MOST REASONABLE PRICE.

—Yes, MURRAY'S, too, Makes his "living" from the soil!

CC-VFW Meets Mexia At 8 P. M. Friday In Waco

"Our" representative in the Waco News-Tribune Tournament is basically Coryell City, and it's listed that way, but, selfishly, a few members of the representative are members of the VFW-Gatesville team.

That don't make any difference, they play Mexia, a place we always like to beat, Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Coryell City is rated by "Jinx" Tucker, who'll be honored by his home town Saturday night, as one of the best clubs in the "one-time-loser" bracket, along with Itasca, who they lost to. Both are still in. Irene A. L., takes on Itasca, Thursday at 6.

GSSB Boys and Visitors Run, Etc. Hayter and Buddy Out Wednesday Nite

First off, three Fort Worth boys visited Gatesville, and GSSB Monday night, and tried to get a GSSB to go with them, but he declined, another Fort Worth boy did go with them, however.

He was captured Monday near Hamilton, and taken to jail, at Glen Rose. Three of the others, caught near Cresson Monday nite, admitted to Hood County Deputy Sheriff C. E. Baker, they had stolen a car at Cleburne, a Dublin car Monday night, and one from B. B. Bone of Glen Rose, also a truck belonging to Axel Lumber Co., Fort Worth, and one to John R. Martin, Cleburne. In addition, one belonging to Rupert Kemp, Monday afternoon.

The GSSB inmate was returned here, the others have already made various jails, and are wanted in others.

Wednesday two other boys got out, Hayter, the one that was out last week, and got into Ashby's Service Station, was one, and they were caught Wednesday evening, one at Vet Park, and the other at Blanchardville. They'd cut wires on an Evant man's car at Vet Park, and one ran when Dan Barton disturbed them, and Bill Hodge, GSSB employee got the other a short time later near Blanchardville.

While the guard was in the washroom, they picked up the right keys and unlocked four doors to the compound and left, the report was.

HISTORY OF CORYELL COUNTY

the rustlers. Many a bloody conflict occurred along the historic old cow trails. Many a cowboy was killed in these battles, and was wrapped in his blanket and buried in a shallow grave far from any human habitation.

In the open range days there was another form of rustling, that, according to the law of the range, was sanctioned for a time by all old time cowmen. All unbranded cattle were known as "mavericks" and any man had the right to brand mavericks wherever found. This form of rustling became so common that farmers who turned their calves out at night to grass, often found them bearing a neighbors brand next morning. The big cow outfits were particularly industrious in this unethical practice. Enmities grew up. Killings followed. From that organized clans, and mob violence ruled. Many men were shot, or hanged on trees by opposing clans. The men hanged were not all criminals. A man could be too successful, or could learn too much of the operations on the open range, and was liable to become a marked man.

The jail that followed the Red Log Jail in 1876, was a substantial rock building and had iron doors and windows protected by heavy iron bars which were the despair of incarcerated criminals. It had living quarters for the sheriff on the lower front floor. The upper had several strong cells for the prisoners.

Many thrilling incidents characteristic of the riproaring west occurred around this old jail. However, it has one distinction; it never suffered the humiliation of having its prisoners removed by infuriated mobs and hung to nearby post-oak trees. One prisoner escaped but voluntarily returned and stood trial in the court and was exonerated.

About the turn of the century a new jail was erected just off the southwest corner of the square facing Leon Street. At this time the old jail was abandoned and the new jail came into use. For many years the old jail was used by different parties as a place to store all sorts of goods. In 1937 it was razed and upon the lots was erected a modern business building. This jail stood on the lot a half block north of the square on 7th Street. The jail that stood off the southwest corner of the square was in turn torn down, and Judge Robert W. Brown, upon his resignation as County Judge in 1936 was able to report that "the county now has one of the best small jails in Texas."

It was in this jail that Sheriff W. W. Hollingsworth received a severe blow that was accidentally delivered from a friend while assisting the sheriff in bringing a belligerent prisoner under control. Sheriff Hollingsworth's death later came as a result of this accident.

A Heroic Woman

In selecting a few word pictures to illustrate the times when the Old Rock Jail was in service for the county's law violators, we have adopted one by "Anonymous" which was published in the Coryell County News of June 11, 1937. That was the year the old jail, after standing for 61 years was torn down.

The above conditions prevailed until a pall of gloom hung over the whole country. Every man's life was in his own hands. To have a gun and be quick "on the draw" was all important. One old cowman related that "we buckled on our sixshooters as often as we drew on our boots". The law enforcement bodies were powerless. Then something happened that had a very potent influence to bring about law and order: The barbed wire fence appeared.

About 1880 a cheap fencing material in the form of barbed wire appeared on the markets. It was immediately adopted by the small farmer and stockman to inclose his lands as a protection to his crops against the range cattle, and to confine his own small herds. There was a fencing boom. Every cedar brake became a center of activity as men began cutting cedar to supply the demand for fencing posts. Within a few years the country was literally netted with wire fences. The small farmer and the legitimate cowman had found protection against horse thieves and cattle rustlers. Thousands of miles of fences had been strung. Rustlers could not easily shift cattle across the country. They had to follow prescribed routes of travel and were more easily apprehended. People of vision could begin to predict an end to the reign of lawlessness.

"They Dood It Again"! Jonesboro Slaps Evant 9-8 Wednesday Night

Talk about the never-say-die spirit that makes great teams of any kind, and we have to hang that moniker on one Jonesboro. Pre-season dope of all varieties gave them on hole just below the lowest in the percentage column, and finishing like they are, the season is just too, too short, or, these boys from Jonesboro might be in the play-off.

Anyway, Evant dropped a game to the Jonesborans Wednesday evening by a 1 run margin, with the winner getting 12 hits, making 3 errors. Miller hit a single and a double, scoring three. Lilledahl hurled and Shrunk received the game.

This makes the Jonesborans a neat 300, if our figures are correct, and that's something, since their string of losses previously made it look like the Federal budget.

Evant certainly needed this one as they are just one jump or two ahead of Turnersville for a spot in the play-off, which is liable to come soon, if any action is taken Monday evening when the Commissioners and Managers meet with the Veteran Memorial Park officials to discuss the finishing of the season.

With the weather due to be unbaseball like, some sections want to cut the schedule and make the play-off come sooner.
