Little 'g' gatesville, Texas

Sold a paper the other day to buy. Wanted to read what's in it.

Sometimes it makes 'em mad if you write it; but, on the other hand, it makes some more glad. Always said they: They give you - if you do and - if you don't which isn't worth repeating.

Seems like folks particularly you to write something about their pet peaves, especially, if it's on the other fellow, and if it's on the 'party of the first part' that's differet, and he comes unbound. And, we've had'em come unbound!

'Course, we haven't written this for long, but we saw a ma who'd been with a Kansas City paper 75 years ad he was still lvin' and wrote a column. Maybe, we'll make it.

In this edition of THE NEWS, you'll see an advertisement saying school kids want jobs. Now, we edon't know who put in the advertisement, whether it was (the school, a teacher or kids. Anyway, we think it's about time some of them were 'askin'. Year after year (until we gave up) - we'd phone up to school and see if somebody didn't want to work. No luck. We wanted 'em to cover the school situation - sports, society, business activities, board edicts, etc., and etc., and, that's the reason, we have very little of it.

No, we didn't pay $1 an hour to start, as most of 'em want, because, our experience showed, it didn't pay for what we wanted, even tho, trained journalism students, when they go to college can ride that knowledge thru for a college education. Still, no interest.

It was before WWI I the last ones that came in - or, at least so many years we've forgotte just when - that any student came in asking for work. Maybe work was not what they wanted, as so many others are today. They didn't want work - just a job and pay. You might say, we're fresh out of that.

We think the best training for high school students WOULD be a little work along with hte LOT of play they get. If they could, and would learn to work, while still in high school, it'd be a sight easier when they DO get out and necessity pushes them on to some real work.

Now we think merchants and others will be very much interested in this 'change in trend' and maybe will have any number of 'openigs' for the student who really wants to knuckle down. If the employes find it's not the 'working' kind, our prediction is they're going to lose interest in a hurry.

Post Office Gets Loquacious, Something Says, Xmas Here

'Course, they got to dress it up, even tho it's the same every year. CHRISTMAS IS HERE!

They don't want to hurry, so mail early!

Mail cards, parcels to distant states before 10th.

Late mailing is subect to damage and delay.

Pack parcels wel, strong cardboard boxes, with cushioning materials; write or print plainly both address and return address; seal or tie with cord. Letter may be inside if you write: "Letter Enclosed" on outside of package and pay additional postage for it when mailed.

Mail leaves here at 5:10 and makes best possible connections.

No matter, you won't do it, anyway!

Coryell County Is Due The State $5,595.43 License Fees

Yackety-yack! We can get back to the Coryell County Tax Assessor-Collector, who's currety putting the heat o us for taxes.

His office, so says the Motor Vehicle Division of the State Highway Departmet, owes the state $4,595.43 in license fees.

...But, it ain't his fault, not necessarily.

Came abou thusly: "attempt by may motorists ad truck owers to escape areas of high taxatio by registerig their vehicles in counties where the taxation rate is low, despite a state law that syas they must be registered in the county of residence."

And, the stat elaw: This gives the counties the first $50,000 received from that county from vehicle registration, and the state and county share equally. the net $125,000 and the state gets the excess of $175,000. Thus, the motorist, living in a heavily populated county and registering his vehicle in a thinly populated county because of a tax differential is denying the state its share of the registration fees, at least, sa far as the state is concerned.

Three counties out of the 25 that owe the state have made arrangements to pay the state their part., but, so far, not Coryell.

Santa Claus Due Here At 3 O'Clock Saturday: Talk To Kids On Square

It's taken 365 days to get around to this again - - Santa Claus' first appearance in Gatesville during 1959.

The Old Gentleman will be here at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and will come in with the annual parade, with President Norris of the Jaycees as Parade Marshall.

Other Jaycees assisting in this: Annual affair are Alton Speer, Contests; promoters of floats, Brack Hanna and Billy McMor-die; Santa Claus and his entourage, Judge Norman Strom, Bill Steen and Fred yer, Jr.; parade participant, Sibly Price.

The Junior High School Band, GHS Band, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Gatesvill Riding Club, and many other organizations will participate, and it's always a known fact that nobody knows how many floats there will be, and this year's no different.

Anyway, everybody loves a parade, and Saturday at 3 pm, is the opportunity.

A stnad will be built on the south side of the square nad the kids can 'tell Old Santa What' right there, and he's to have candy and goodies for all, and for all, it'll be a great time in the Old Twn Saturday.

Income Tax School To Be Held Thursday 10th At Farm Bureau Office

By LeRoy Hoerma (County Agent)

An incometax school will be held on Thursday afternoon, December 10 from 1:30 pm to 4:30 pm at the Farm Bureau Office in Gatesville. All farmers and ranchers are invited to attend!

The meeting is sponsored by the Extension Service and will give information on farm and ranch tax matters. The school is designed to help you to become more familiar with the various methods of figuring your tax, record keeping, farm management, depreciation, social security, etc.

Sidney Jenkins, Farm Management Agent with the Extension Service will discuss the income tax part of the program and a social Security representative will be here to discuss Social Security as it affects farmers.

The 1960 Farmers Tax Guide is now available from your County Agent. This free guide published by the Internal Revenue Service is very beneficial.

"Battle Border"

Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE TEXAS ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE.

PART VIII

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth in a series of articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today)

After the Supreme Court set the south bank of the Red River as the boundary a tremendous argument developed over the exact location of the south bank.

In the ensuing fray, Texas stood to lose the most.

Down through the years, the U.S. and Oklahoma had been content to let Texas exercise all acts of sovereignty over the area. That is, until oil was discovered.

Attorney General Will Wilson points out that the discovery of oil in the Gulf of Mexico also brought on the tideland case in which he is fighting the federal government before the U. S. Supreme Court.

The first claim of Oklahoma to any land on the Texas side of the Red River came in 1918. T P Roberts owned and had lived 33 years on a farm located in Texas near the Red River.

"Mr. Roberts was orking his pasture early one mning," Wilson recalls, "when, to his amazement, he discovered a posted notice, 'This is Tillman County, Oklahoma Line.'

"If the boundary was fixed at some ancient trees growing where the foot of the Texas bluffs as Oklahoma and the United States as the United State san dOklah-claimed Red River flowed in 1819.

ma contended Texas would lose more than 500,000 acres of land. This land was populated by Texans, their homse, churches, schools, Odd ellow sand Woodmen Lodges, cemeteries and--oil well," Wilso onbserve.

The souldion lay n fndng wha as ntended in the 1819 treaty. A cattle truck full of evidence was spread out before the court. Texas introduced six albums of photographic study of the Red River from the Panhnadle to the east side of Wichita County.

The Red River got in the mood of the controversy. She staged a flood in 1920 that filled the oil wells with sand, tore derricks from their moorings. They disappeared downstream with their owner's dreams.

In January, 1923, the U. S. Supreme Court declared the southern bank to be a cut-bank at the average level. The United States took a strp of land between the cut-bank and the stream's normal stage adn also got Burke Bet and Goat Islands. Oklahoma claimed that in 1819 the river ran opposite Wichita County at the foot of the Texas bluffs instead of a mile north of its present channel.

old pecan tree. The stump of this mute witness should be located ad dedicated.

"It certainly did more than any man to win the battle for Texas."

The judgment of the court was swayed by a peculiarity of the Red River The judges remembered well witnesses' testimony of the old Red River's vagabond nature.

Friends of the river reported finding the flowing channel near oe side of the river in the morning and in the middel or near the other side in the evening.

"Certainly the haunting vasion of an oil well located in Texas in the morning and in Oklahoma in the evening prodded the court to look for a permanent boundary," Wilson observed.

The nearest was the cut-bank. The U. S. Supreme Court appointed Engineers Arthur D. Kidder and Arthur L. Stiles to locate and mark this boundary line.

They worked hard and reported in 1924:

"We have marked the boundary line by wooden posts called 'witness posts' set along he bank at varying short distances from the boundary and from each other. Permanent reference monuments are located on the Texas and Oklahoma bluff overlooking the river valley."

Weary of the many surveys, old Red Rive again blew her top and flooded.

Downstream witnesses observed strange black posts with white caps rushing past in the flood waters. It was those "permanent" witness posts.

As a result of he work done by Kidder and Stiles, Oklahoma got 18 oil wells to 38 for Texas.

SHINING TREE . . . If you think trimming the family tree is a big task, how would you like to tackle a 300-year-old live oak tree? The beautiful tree shown above, was decorated for Christmas at Wilmington, N. C. The majestic tree rises to a height of 55 feet and has a limb spread of 110 feet. It took some 5,000 multi-colored light bulbs to get the glistening effect shown above.

DEAR SANTA . . . You won't have any trouble reading my list this year. That's probably what this young lady is thinking as she follows the traditional practice of alerting Santa to the things she would like to find beneath the tree on Christmas morning. Obviously, doll clothes will probably rate a high spot on her list.

SANTAS A'PLENTY . . . This young lad looked a bit awed as he presented his Christmas list to Santa—and who wouldn't be? Some fifty Santas were pictured as they gathered at a New York restaurant for a final briefing before hitting the streets to collect funds for the Volunteers of America, which sponsors Christmas dinners for the needy.

Poinsettia Can Be Made to Bloom Again

Poinsettias which brighten the homes this Christmas can be made to bloom again if the plants receive proper light and temperature requirements.

Once the poinsettia plant has bloomed, the red leaves will begin to fall after a week or two and the plant enters a "rest" period. It should then be stored in a cool place, in a basement or a garage, where it won't freeze, and watered a little about once every two or three weeks to keep it alive.

Prune in Spring

In the spring, the plant should be pruned so that a few main limbs are left to start new growth, planted in well drained garden soil, and left there for the summer.

Shortened days of fall and winter then signal the plant to prepare itself for bloom. The plant can be brought indoors in the fall and left to continue growth at normal periods of day and night. It is also important to keep the poinsettia out of drafts and at temperatures of 65-70 degrees.

Poinsettias develop "bloom" when the days are short and the nights are long. Short periods of night caused by periods of exposure to artificial lights, however, interfere with blooming. Night lights lengthen the day, and the plant continues to act as though it is summer.

Time Bloom

Maintenance of normal days and nights according to the seasons help time the plant mechanism to bloom during the holiday season.

Blooming period of plants already in "bloom" can also be lengthened by keeping the plant away from artificial light at night.

"Bloom" of poinsettia is brightly colored leaves that surround tiny creamy white flowers.

Nut Cake Adds Variety to Holiday Table

Getting ready for Christmas company usually keeps the lady of the house extra busy preparing all sorts of good things to eat. It's hard work, but to the lady who takes great pride in her cooking ability, the compliments received are ample reward.

There's no end to the variety of desserts which may be baked in the oven. There are cakes, puddings, and gingerbreads from which to choose. A special treat is:

Spicy Cake-Nut Topping (Makes 1 loaf)

- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon cloves
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- 1 teaspoon allspice
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ½ cup baking powder
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup thick soured milk or buttermilk
- 3 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, mace, allspice, baking soda, baking powder, and salt. Gradually add brown sugar to shortening, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk. Pour into greased 9 x 9 x 2-inch loaf pan. Mix granulated sugar with nuts and sprinkle on batter. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 50 to 60 minutes.

CHRISTMAS CAROLERS . . . In olden days, carolers were as much a part of the Christmas scene as holly and mistletoe and each year this custom of bringing the songs of the season from house to house is finding new popularity.

The 49 states in the Union during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1959, collected a total of 15.8 billion in taxes, an increase of six per cent over 1958, reports the United States Census Bureau.

Trimming the Tree

The manner in which it is decorated can take away or add to the appearance of the most beautiful Christmas tree. Too often, the number of lights used to trim a tree is arrived at by guesswork and the results are disappointingly "spotty" or "lopsided." Professionals achieve good lighting effects by using this formula: Height of tree (in feet) x width of tree at base (in feet) x 3. If your tree is 6 feet high and 4½ feet wide at the base, the formula goes like this: 6 x 4½ x 3 = 81 lights for a good lighting effect.

THE CASE OF THE LOST SPECTACLES

"How did you obtain a way to the Carlin home?" demanded Inspector Wintser.

"See here," retorted Bartlett. "I've been an old friend of the Carlins for 20 years. I resent your —"

"I've just spoken with John Carlin by long distance," said the inspector evenly. "He claims there was $10,000 in negotiable bonds in his strongbox. There's not 10 cents there now. So begin at the beginning."

"It wasn't until three hours later that I managed to work free."

Bartlett sputtered, and then said: "Carlin asked me to check his house before he returns from Florida Tuesday. I had intended to drop by tomorrow. I went instead today because it's been below freezing for the past week, and I thought I'd make sure there was enough heat in the house."

Bartlett gazed momentarily at the heavy icicles on the window. "Carlin had mailed a key to me from Miami. As I entered the house about 9 this morning, I heard a noise in the study."

"Who's there?" I called, and immediately opened the study door. There were two of them. I hadn't a chance once they once they knocked my spectacles off. I can't see 10 feet without them. The pair tied me up, and it wasn't till 3 hours later that I managed to work free and call the police."

"Could you identify either of the thieves?"

"If I ever saw them again," said Bartlett.

"Did you turn up the heat?" "Why, no," answered Bartlett hesitantly. "The thermostat was set for 75, and the house was quite warm enough."

In talking to Haledjian the next day, the inspector said, "I'm convinced Bartlett broke into Carlin's strongbox. But I've nothing to hold him on."

"Nothing," asserted Haledjian, "except that he never saw two thieves in the study."

He steamed over completely. His glasses would have been a below freezing day, Bartlett 75 degrees from the outdoors on

TEXAS HOG PRODUCTION

Texas which produces far less pork than it consumes, had an estimated hog population of 1,226,000 at the beginning of this year with an average value of $25.10 and a total farm value of $30,773,000. However, as the year progressed, this estimated value went down as the hog market dropped. The hog population in Texas has fluctuated widely through the years. Back in 1870, there were as many as 1,004,000 hogs on Texas farms, with an average value then of $1.67 and a total farm value of $2,681,000. The all-time high in Texas hog production was in 1944, when 3,106,000 head were counted carrying a total farm value of $6,535,000. The current condition of the market offers little incentive, but it is figured that Texas now raises sufficient grain sorghum and corn to produce as many as 4,000,000 hogs a year. Texas now has about 46 per cent of the grain sorghum acreage in the nation, and in a normal year can be counted on for about 270,000,000 bushels. A continuing increase in corn production also can be anticipated. The nation's hogs consume about 40 percent of the feed grains produced, and by applying this percentage to Texas and using average feeding rates and slaughter weights it can be seen that 4,000,000 head production rate could easily be achieved. As for the present market situation and the outlook for the immediate future, Marvin L. McLain, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, told the National Swine Industry Conference in Iowa the other day that prospects are not as black as might be expected. "Price-wise," he said, "developments of the past few months have been about what would be expected when hog production goes up materially. Hogs got a little below $13 in October, or 1959 as a whole, the average is expected to be about $14.50 a hundredweight. "Summing up the overall situation, as far as prices are concerned we are obviously in the low phase of a hog cycle. However, there are good indications that producers are working out from under the current situation—as they always do if given a chance. The whole situation is much better than some pessimists were expecting a little while ago."

NOT ONE WITHOUT THE OTHER

At a Sunday gathering of church people the speaker suddenly stopped to ask what the people themselves believed are the great and fundamental values. The words called off were simple and typical, nor is there any denying their importance and reality: God, truth, happiness, health, wisdom, love, peace, home — the list could be considerably extended. After several minutes I became aware of what was being left out, and felt led to add: "There is one without which all the others must be frustrated and lose their meaning. I refer to freedom." And it is true. Reflect what would happen to any of these great and good things if we had to live as slaves, our lives regimented by the whim of dictators, bureaucrats, and oppressive laws! Yet the reverse is equally true. Without these values, freedom itself ceases to be good even possible. As the great moral values and spiritual realities need freedom, so freedom needs these values and realities—the fruits of faith. Thus we are led to speak, not of faith and freedom in isolation but together, else they cancel each other out. Hence the name of the journal I edit, Faith AND Freedom. If you are interested in a trial copy, write to Box 877, San Jacinto, California.

A REAPPRAISAL OF THE STEEL INDUSTRY

Since a resumption of steel production following invocation of the 80-day cooling off provisions of the Taft-Hartley Law, results have been very encouraging. Morale of the workers has been excellent, plant equipment is in much better shape than had been anticipated and there is every indication that full capacity production of steel will be reached by the end of 1959. Although an agreement has not yet been reached between the union and the companies, there appears to be some likelihood that steel production will not be stopped once again. If a contract cannot be negotiated, the workers may either return under a secret ballot to be conducted on the companies' final offer before the expiration of the 80-day cooling off period or in the event that the workers reject this proposal there is likely to be Congressional legislation to assure no further interruption of steel production. On the basis of these facts it seems to be fairly easy to forecast the outlook for the economy, the steel industry and specific steel companies over the next year. There is every reason to believe that business should be good throughout most of 1960. In addition to the steel required to support a high level of business activity, additional amounts would be needed to build up industry's inventories and consequently we look for a record year of production, close to 130-million ingot tons. As far as individual companies are concerned we favor Jones & Laughlin, National Steel, Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube. Statistically these companies appear to offer the best values. There has been some questions as to whether there will be adequate iron ore supplies available to assure capacity steel operations through the winter. Fears have
