Trail Ride Attracts County Horsemen

"Superhighway - supertrail"

Trail riders spent some part of Wednesday's ride on the Levita Farm to Market Road, which would have been a real luxury item for Chisolm Trail Drivers on stagecoach trails in the old days. Riders came equipped for the event in a variety of transportation arrangements. There were big horses, with little people, little horses with big people, horses pulling people and people in horseless carriages with trailers for horses to ride in.

Come and Get it!

Riders and non-riders all brought their appetites to the Wednesday evening meal on the Willie Johnson property. Chester Brown served up some of the best tea in the county to the thirsty cowboys and cowgirls.

... Riding Club

The Gatesville Riding Club's annual trail ride is the signal of the biggest western week in Coryell County.

This year, approximately 8-riders signed up for the two-day ride through northwest Coryell County.

Highlight of the event was the overnight camp on the Willie Johnson property, northwest of Gatesville, approximately 10 miles.

Wednesday afternoon, the call to "come and get it" was answered by all of the hungry trail riders and nearly 200 persons out for an old outdoors bar-b-q.

Bar-B-q, beans, potatoes, bread, pickles and tea were consumed by the hundred of pounds.

Campsites were set up all around the Johnson home, ranging from the most modern facilities to the old time camp, just a blanket and the sky.

Entertainment for the evening was furnished by Jimmy Payne and his Country Gentlemen in a true western style.

Trail riders slept some part of Wednesday night in preparation for the long ride Thursday through the Pancake Community and back to Gatesville for the late afternoon parade.

FIRST STEPS

TAKEN IN SPECIAL SESSION

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators took the first steps Wednesday toward action on the issues for which they were called into special session: taxes, spending and liquor law revision.

Gov. John Connally's bills on these subjects were formally introduced and sent to committee in the House. Only his liquor by the drink bill was introduced in the Senate.

Rep. R.H. Cory, Victoria, lost no time in scheduling the session's first committee hearing. His House State Affairs Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Friday - the earliest possible time - to hear Cory's bill revising the Liquor Control Act and one by Rep. Frank Lombardino, authorizing sale of liquor in 1.5 ounce bottles.

Gov. John Connally's liquor by the drink bill will be heard by the State Affairs Committee on Monday afternoon, Cory said. It will be about a week before the bill gets a Senate Committee hearing, said Sen. Ralph Hall, Rockwall, chairman of the Senate Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns.

Lombardino's bill differs from Connally's miniature bottles, liquor bill in that it would allow bars without much food business to sell cocktails. Connally's bill would limit mixed drink sales to places that do half their business in food. Both would have local option requirements and both would tax the drinks.

Cory's liquor law reform measure is the product of a 3-1/2 month study by a sub-

Rodeo Attracts Large Field

The 30th annual Jaycee Rodeo began Thursday night at the Firemen's Rodeo Arena.

The week's activities began with the Gatesville Riding Club's annual trail ride. Riders left Wednesday at 8:00 a.m. from the Community Center on a long two-day journey through the northwest section of Coryell County.

Riders were ready for the overnight rest stop on the Willie Johnson farm by the end of the first day. Nearly 30 miles of riding and occasional showers could not dampen the spirits of the riders.

Thursday afternoon, the trail riders joined in a 5:00 p.m. Rodeo Parade down Main Street lead by Gatesville's Cotton Davidson and TV personality, Dub King.

committee chaired by Cory. The committee sought out weaknesses in the Liquor Control Act at Speaker Ben Barnes' request following widespread accusations that the act was not being properly enforced.

Both Connally's and the Legislative Budget Board recommended appropriations bills were introduced in the House by W.S. Heatly, Paducah, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Hearings on the measures were held before the session started.

Rep. Ben Atwell, Dallas, House Tax Committee Chairman, introduced Connally's tax bill, which would raise about $125 million in the fiscal year starting Sept. 1 in addition to remaking another $125 million available to the cities through a sales tax rebate system.

Another bill, by Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, would raise an estimated $14.5 million, - the same amount Connally hopes to raise from his little bottles bill.

Both measures went to Atwell's committee. The governor's tax bill will be heard next Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. Taxes were evidently what preoccupied Speaker Ben Barnes.

Jaycee Lighting Project Nears Reality

Junior Chamber of Commerce Community Development Chairman, Tom Kennedy, reported Thursday that the Jaycees have accepted the lighting proposal of Verde-Ray Corporation.

The Verde Ray proposal will use iodized quartz lights stationed at nineteen locations around and on the courthouse to accent the structure.

Prior to actual contract arrangements for the fixtures, Kennedy plans to review the proposed program with both the City Council and the Commissioners Court.

The commissioners court approved the Jaycees project several months ago concerning installation of the fixtures, County Judge Norman Storm, said, "We will cooperate on the project". The Jaycees will be seeking official acceptance of the maintenance and operating cost responsibilities of the lighting facility in their meetings with the county and city.

The Verde-Ray Corporation proposal will cost between $2500 and $3000. It will consist of nineteen fixtures, twelve 1500 volt fixtures to be mounted at ground level and illuminating the base of the structure, six smaller voltage fixtures will be mounted on the third floor roof to light the dome area. The extra fixture will be used to light the Memorial monument on the northeast side of the courthouse.

Mayor Bob Miller stated Thursday that "it is my understanding that the city council has agreed to pay the light bill for the facility."

The Tuesday night council meeting will establish responsibility in the bill-paying area.

Jaycee Chairman, Kennedy, pointed out that approximately $1000 has been collected through various methods and earmarked for the lighting project. Kennedy estimates another $1500 to $2000 will be needed for the project and is seeking donations. Anyone wishing to make contributions to the project should contact Tom Kennedy as soon as possible.

Tom Kennedy

Kennedy will meet with the county commissioners on Monday, June 10, during the court's regular meeting. The Gatesville City Council's meeting will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the City Hall and Kennedy will seek the council's approval at that time.

Wilhelm Reunion

The Wilhelm reunion will be held Sunday, June 9th at the J.O. Forrest home.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the reunion. Refreshments will be served.

the city and county governments the project can begin with actual installation to begin within two or three weeks.

Gatesville School District To Sell "White Building"

The Gatesville School Board met Monday in a special session to further discuss the proposed consolidation of the Turnersville School District with the Gatesville Independent School District and to consider the sale of the part of the old high school buildings and land along College Street.

The consolidation discussions are still awaiting legal answers to some questions concerning financial responsibilities.

The board has agreed to advertise for bids for the sale of the "old white" building and additional property along College Street.

Presently the facility contains class rooms for the vocational subjects, auto mechanics and general mechanics. The board has made a reservation in the sale of the property to allow classes to be held in the bottom floor for the 1968-69 school year.

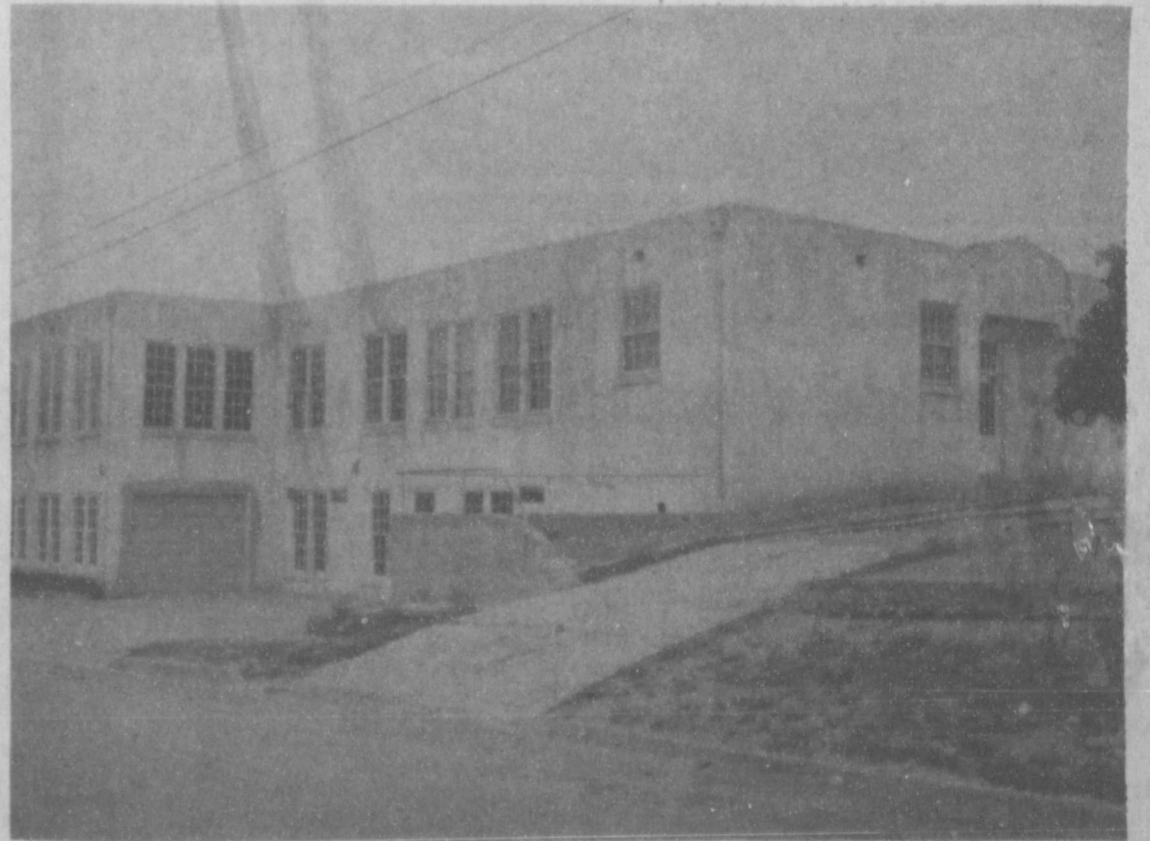

Superintendent, L.C. McKamie, reported Thursday that the funds derived from the sale would be earmarked for construction of a new vocational building being considered for construction in the near future.

McKamie pointed out that the state legislature would be considering legislation this year that would make available on a 50 - 50 basis, Federal funds for vocational school building and vocational equipment.

McKamie noted that when and if the funds are made available, the school district would be required to vote on bond issue covering the entire construction cost, however, half of a bond issue would not be used.

Presently school systems are diversifying their purpose by including programs and class work for students not interested in college educations. The new vocational programs give the student needed basic instruction in areas of interest to the student.

Bids for the property and building will be opened and considered at another special session scheduled for June 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The old "white building" located in the 1000 Block of College Street will be sold to the highest bidder or the bid considered best by the Gatesville School Board on June 18. The property being sold is 150' x 450', with its eastern boundary along the east side of the old tennis court and the western boundary, the retaining wall west of the old band building.

Doomsayers have always used the rise and fall of the Roman Empire as a classic example of the decay of a civilization. Nearly two centuries ago, an 18th Century Scottish historian and judge, Alexander Fraser Tytler, had in mind the fate of the Roman Republic when he said, "A democracy cannot exist as a permanent form of government. It can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on, the amorality always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from that public treasury, with the result that a democracy will always collapse from a loose fiscal policy, always to be followed by a dictatorship. Since these words were uttered, the greatest republic in the history of mankind was founded and has flourished, but even in the midst of the phenomenal growth of the Republic of the United States, the historians, the scholars and less-learned people have feared the very weaknesses so bluntly expressed by the 18th Century Scottish judge. But obviously, there are a multitude of factors that make a comparison between modern democracy and democracy Roman-type difficult, if not impossible. The simple conclusion that all democracies must suffer parallel fates is questioned by those who believe that evolution has produced stronger forms of democratic societies. Whether the latter are right or wrong only events can tell. One thing is certain, it is no longer necessary to go back to the Roman Empire to study a democratic society that shows symptoms of terminal collapse. Mr. Henry Luce, III, son of Mr. Henry R. Luce, co-founder of Time magazine, returned from a two-year sojourn in Great Britain, where he served as Time Bureau Chief in London. Mr. Luce paints anything but a hopeful picture of the state of British society. Writing in Life magazine, he says, "... when Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced on the budgetary cutbacks which included withdrawals by the end of 1971 from Britain's 'east of Suez' military positions in the Persian Gulf, Singapore and Malaysia, Britain had finally reached, staggering and lurching, the effective end of her long process of imperial liquidation." Mr. Luce gives a factual account of deterioration in nearly every phase of British life -- industry, religion and education; even more serious so far as the future of Great Britain is concerned is the decline in a national sense of purpose among the people. Mr. Luce says, "Indeed socialism has seemed to rob the average Briton of his self-reliance and, therefore, of his initiative and sense of responsibility. 'It's nothing to do with me', is the typical response to a strange problem or a request for help. People's ability to criticize the system that has failed them seems also to have gone by the boards. Most of them don't realize how bad their free National Health Service is, or how bad their housing is, or how bad their educational system is." The people of the U.S. have a close kinship with Britain. They know inherent in the British character is a will to muddle through. However, beyond any feeling of kinship or sentiment, there is no denying the fact that one of the world's great democratic societies has fallen from a position of world eminence. No longer need we look back into the dust of centuries for weaknesses that can undermine a Republic. In view of many, those weaknesses are sapping the life of Great Britain. As the Marysville, California, Appeal-Democrat comments, "We may be excused... for failure to heed the example of ancient Rome; but the example of Britain is... too obvious for a plea of ignorance."

EVANT NEWS

By Cornelia Kreid

Clouds, both literal and figurative, still collect in the Evant area. For rain or shine, both clouds offer silver, both literally and figuratively. But the neighborhood felt the tragedy of the death of young Ricky Wilkinson, following a multiple bite from a large rattle snake at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Boone Wilkinson, Pearl, late Friday afternoon, while playing with cousins just outside the yard. Age four, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilkinson of Copperas Cove. Both Marie and Jim Wilkinson were practically lifelong citizens of that area until moving to Copperas Cove shortly after their marriage. A nephew of Mrs. Dolan Kincheloe's, several accompanied the family to Pearl for final rites at the graveside, there Sunday afternoon. The funeral was held at Copperas Cove, with Palmer's Funeral Home of that city in charge of arrangements. Ricky is survived by two brothers, in addition to his parents, and another set of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fillmon, also of Pearl, numerous uncles, aunts and cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mason missed church Sunday for the "unusual" in the news for the week. They attended the annual McDonald reunion at Gatesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Spradling, Carlsbad, New Mexico, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spradling and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christian. The Lindon Spradlings joined the brother and wife in the home of the Ed Spradlings, Saturday night for a family supper.

Roye Shave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Shave, Wichita Falls, is spending the summer with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shave and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Wigley. The Shave's daughter, Mrs. Melvin Horton and daughter, Cheryl, spent last week end with the Glen D. Shave family, Wichita Falls. Mrs. Fred Shave called to tell that her grandson, Freddie Shave, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Shave, Hamilton, has graduated from Baylor College, Waco, with a B.S. degree and has been accepted in Baylor College of Dentistry, for beginning his work in September. His parents stopped by Mrs. Shave's as they went and came, both to see the degree conferred on their son.

Miss Doris Faye Forehand, Fort Worth, spent the weekend with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Faubion. She is not the kind of guest that came to be a lady! She baked pies and brought so they might get a chance to visit together some, besides over the stove. Doris Faye, a graduate of Lampasas high school, ten years ago, plans to be "home for the reunion planned by her class next weekend.

Mrs. J.C. Elam, former teacher in Evant school, spent this week in Evant visiting her father, A. J. Armstrong and friends. She is still teaching (typing) and her husband still in business in Lubbock. Mrs. Elam reports their only son, Don, is out of Tech College now.

Just as I thought news would be running low, up pops a bride and groom to live in Evant. Moving into the P.R. Sawyer apartment, this week, are Mr. and Mrs. George Walker. Former classmates of Garth Walls, they came here to be near and assist in the project of work concerning the Evant Auction Company. Mr. Walker is formerly of Kerrville and Menard, where his father has been ran-bride-to-be is Miss Carol Sugar of White Deer. Mark is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, Plainview. Mark has spent many summers with his grandparents and is a student of A & M College; each of the young people will graduate from that college in 1969.

While on the subject of Martins, we may as well mention the mockingbirds also. While Mr. C.B. Martin was on a business visit at the ranch of Seth Williams, near Hamilton, recently, a mocking bird flew into his pickup. Upon discovery of the bird, when he reached his home, on the Lampasas River, he immediately released it. Instead of flying away, it remained near by and has serenaded them each morning since. It beats an alarm clock for waking one any morning.

UNVEILING REMINDER

Be sure to keep the date of June 16, 3:00 p.m. in mind, and attend the unveiling of the grave marker at the Frank Gholson grave, in Langford Cemetery, just south of Evant. This fine old family deserves the honors planned at this time. Mr. Gholson was an early Texas Ranger.

The Evant Baptist Church is resetting their school of music, which was scheduled for the last week in June. New dates on that are July 15-19. Detailed story is promised, when final plans are complete.

The Rev. Bob Stokes, pastor, School with an enrollment of 47, and an average attendance of 36 daily.

Former residents of Evant community who have an item worth passing on, are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Russell, who once owned the old John Faubion place on Lampasas River.

Their grandson, Jerry Nelson was among the 164 high school seniors in Duncanville's class this spring. He was awarded a four year scholarship in voice to Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nelson. The Russells now live at Adamsville.

Mr. Edwin Spradley won in the race for Constable Precinct No. 1 in Saturday's election. He is a long time citizen of Evant and reared his family here, and well deserves the esteem in which he is held.

Due to so much rain, following last Monday's hail, some scars are already healing, but roofs are still unrepaired, in most cases, due to shortage of labor. The insurance agencies have been kept busy inspecting (and paying off) on damages incurred in some instances both on Saturday night and Monday morning. Orchards are stripped of leaves and fruit, and grain badly damaged in places, also. Some farmers are trying to combine between rains, for fear of repeating 1919 that is looming up in the minds of those old enough to recall that year - when grain finally was reaped, but sprouted and ruined in the shock. But the pastures still make grass, during rains and the field or pasture make nothing in dry years. To be pitied are the sections of the state, which is all farm; reports are of some counties that cotton is still unharvested and it is now passing planting time. One local man stated he never did plant as late as June, but June cotton, it will be at Evant this year -- or none.

In addition to Evant Ladies Club, names which have been turned over to the news reporter, you will still have HemisFair, include Mrs. Tilda Wilson, Bill Fraley, Cort Matthews, Miss Bernadine Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Thompson. Those who have tried to make plans to ride the chartered bus, have not been able to make accurate plans, so several have been asking about chartering a school bus. Anyone interested may call Joe Kreid or Roy Conner, Evant exchange.

The May Bible study of Evant Methodist Church ladies, WSCS closed, last Wednesday and will only meet once a month for the coming summer vacation. June 12 is the first date scheduled and they have agreed to meet at 3:30, so Mrs. Jack Elam, who is connected with the local bank and also president of WSCS, may be present to preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Horton and son, Melvin, attended the funeral of Mrs. Horton's brother - in - law, Frank Cloud, who was buried in the McCann Cemetery at Rogers, Sunday. He was born in Milan County and was the father of four sons, one of whom was absent due to being in Italy. His late wife, the sister of Mrs. Horton, died in 1922. Mr. Cloud was found dead in bed, he was 86.

Food for Thought

by Mrs. B. A. Snoddy

Let This Mind Be In You
Phillipians 2:5

I would like for us to consider, as our Food for Thought this week, a statement made by Paul, who was one of the greatest Apostles of the early church; Paul was not one of the first twelve men chosen by the Lord himself, but was, some forty years later, chosen of God and was seen as a vessel that could be used of God. After his great experience, having been struck blind, and hearing the voice of the Lord, as he was on his way to Damascus to persecute the early Christians, Paul became one of the greatest missionaries. He said "Woe is me, if I preach not the Gospel!"

He suffered many things at the hands of the unbelievers, because of his faith and his testimony for the Lord, and it was while he was in prison, because of this, that he wrote this letter to the church at Philippi.

To quote it completely, he wrote: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus". The Lord Jesus was born of lowly earthly parents; he had no schooling, never attended a college, didn't travel very far and that was usually by walking, or on a borrowed mule. He had no material possessions, not even a private bedroom, where he could rest at night. He had no recognition, other than the saying that he was a carpenter's son, or that no good thing could come out of Nazareth; yet the life that he lived, and the examples that he set and the philosophy of his life, have remained thru' centuries of time.

Paul's admonition was "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus".

He taught us to have compassion on people, to not be high minded or self exalted, to not place the value of our possessions above the love of God. He showed us that to be able to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, we must be like a little child, and we know a little child holds no grudges or malice and depends on their parents for everything, and do not complain at what is provided for them.

Jesus taught that to be great, we must minister, or be servant to, rather than be ministered unto.

Can you imagine the Lord Jesus in a riot, or destroying another man's property? He said he came to give abundant life; he came to save men not to destroy them.

Can you imagine Jesus going to any place of sin, and partaking of it? The word of God says, "No vile was found in his mouth". Paul said, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus". Can we measure up? This is Food for Thought.

The Psalmist said: "Learn of me". When we learn of him, from his word, our whole being is illumined, spiritually, mentally and physically, so that we are efficient and equipped for good work of every kind, II Timothy 3:17.

Here is an education which is the best indeed!

If we could catch a glimpse of the greatness of God, we could be thrilled at the new insight -

We are all prone to underestimate his greatness. The children of Israel provoked him in the wilderness, because they limited his power. Ps. 78:41.

Our finite minds cannot grasp the infinite mind of God.

We look at our problems, and forget, momentarily, the ability and goodness of God, Oh, that we might have a deeper insight into His greatness!

There is a movement in the world today that is trying to destroy our Faith in God; some professors in our schools of higher learning, have come out with a slogan that "God is Dead". To them, I suppose he is dead, but once again we hear the Psalmist David say: "As for God, His way is perfect". Ps. 18:30.

The story is told of a bright young efficiency expert who was sent to a lumber camp in the north woods to check on the efficiency of the workers. He noticed on his way through the snow to the camp that the lumberjack driver had the buffalo lap robe turned the wrong way. In his opinion, that is, "Turn the laprobe over with the hair side next to us and the skin side out". He said, "You're losing approximately thirty percent of the heat the way you're using it". The lumberjack laughed and obeyed, and after the expert had asked him if he was laughing at him, he replied: "Oh no, I'm laughing at that stupid buffalo, who wore the hide the way I had it for twenty years and never knew the difference."

God's ways are the best ways and we do well to study his ways, and conform to them. We cannot improve on his ways. If we want happiness and success, we have to go God's way by surrendering ourselves to Him and letting Him work out his way in us.

When Joshua, the great leader of the children of Israel became to the end of his life, he called for all of Israel to gather unto him, and he said: "I am old and stricken in age, I am going the way of all the earth, and ye know in all your hearts and in all your souls, that not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord, your God, spoke concerning you; All are come to pass unto you and not one thing hath failed, thereof". Joshua 23:1 and 14.

David speaks again, and says "Blessed is everyone that feareth the Lord; that walketh in his ways".

Quoting Paul again: "let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus".

This philosophy and these truths still hold good today!

Miss Wanda Buth Receives Certificate Of Completion

In graduation exercises at Tarleton State College in Stephenville on Sunday, May 26, Miss Wanda Buth received her Certificate of Completion in Home Economics.

Wanda made the Dean's List and the "A" Honor Roll for the spring semester, posting a 3.0 grade point ratio, out of a possible 3.0.

At Tarleton, she was a member of the Girls' Marching Drill Team, the Wainwright Debates.

Wanda, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buth, Route 1, Valley Mills, Texas, is a 1964 graduate of Turnersville High School.

In bygone days when men were gallant and maidens modest, lovers expressed their innermost thoughts with gifts of flowers. Through mythology, folklore and religion, each flower came to have its own special meaning. Whether one blossom or a whole bouquet, sent to man or woman, the flowers were carefully chosen to carry a special message.

In this romantic language of flowers every emotion had a flower to convey its meaning to friend or enemy. Bluebells meant "humility", aster "elegance", candytuft "indifference" and gardenias "I love you in secret!" An enemy could be sent hydrangeas for "boastfulness", mountain laurel for "treachery", datura for "you are poison" or an orange lily for "hatred and disdain".

Even many of the weeds had a particular meaning. The bindweed meant a "coquette or busybody", the briar "thoughtfulness", a burdock "boredom", nettles "cruelty", and dandelions were considered "oracles of love". Trees too came in for their share of attention, aspens meant "lamentations", elms "dignity", birches "fertility" and liveoaks for "liberty". Maple trees were for "reserve and retirement" and oaks were for "stability and hospitality".

The next time you pick a bouquet for a friend, choose the flowers carefully and just for fun tuck in a card explaining the special message they are bringing. You might want to use any of the following better known flowers: Sweet Alyssum - worth beyond beauty; Camellia - I shall love you always; Chrysanthemum - cheerfulness and optimism, although a yellow mum means slighted love; Crane Myrtle - Eloquence, nice for a corsage for some one making a speech. Daisy - purity in thought and loyal love; Goldenrod - reassurance and good fortune; Honey suckle - devotion and affection; Pansy - think of me.

Norval Green Speaks At Leon Junction Home Coming

Old-timers from out of state and all parts of Texas were present to enjoy the fine hospitality of the good people of Leon Junction, during the homecoming, June 2nd.

Visitors were especially impressed with the preparations which had been made for the occasion, the fine lunch, the clean buildings and grounds. Sincere thanks and appreciation to especially to Mr. Joe Whigham, Mr. Bush Kearney and Mr. Earl Whittenburg and granddaughters.

The invocation was given by Mr. Johnnie Evans.

The morning program consisted of a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gilbreath, accompanied by their daughter, Jeanie. The music was followed by a talk by Mr. Norval Green of Corsicana, a former resident of Leon Junction. Mr. Green, who is still quite active, is ninety years old. He talked of the early days and of the old settlers of Leon Junction.

At the age of eighty, Mr. Green wrote the following poem; which the younger generation might read with profit:

The Blessings of Health Visualize if you can
The stature of man.
If our forefathers had used judgment in the past
By placing more emphasis on health
Rather than the stressing for wealth
And considering physical fitness that will last.

Many features there are That may help make or mar Health and happiness down through life's way.
How we eat, rest and sleep, The regular habits we should keep Help to strengthen and lengthen our stay.

Early to rise with regular work Not too strenuous, but never shirk
Will develop appetite and muscle, also Control your temper, cultivate a cheerful mind,
Walk with head erect, and chest in line
You will be welcomed wherever you go.

Why should you taboo the long-handles

Or the proverbial red flannels If the weather changes provoke their use, Critics may scorn and scoff While they sneeze and cough Because of their needed health's abuse.

Many million dollars Institutions Have sprung up in quick confusion
Through our land from sea to sea. While many beguiled souls With heavy heads and chronic colds
Will buy anything sponsored on T.V.

Much unmelodious singing And exaggerated clowing Consumes too much time on the air.
While the listeners twist and squirm
Awaiting time for something to learn
And often shut off T.V. in despair.

Each cigarette manufacturer's sponsor loudly extol The merit of their brand as having reached perfection's goal,
Instead of announcing the scientific fact
That 100 thirty-seven thousand Americans this year will pass on
As the result of lung cancer from cigarette smoking alone
While many millions more are following in their wake.

It seems reasonable to suppose That an oval inverted nose Would have adorned God's loveliest creation
Had smoking been in mind For the majority of mankind in their construction by the Divine Creator.

Most seriously let me say That constant smoking night and day Depletes strength of power to resist
Though they would if they could
Though they could if they would And they know that they should While their consciences urges them to desist.

There's an expression you hear every day, "I wish I could quit" they will say, While a determined mind is all that is needed,

This is vouchsafed by everyone By whom the havit has been overcome
And rejoices that their conscience has been healed.

If the millions spent daily Would be used more sanely Instead of going up in smoke,
With the restraint of the habit headed
A health program, so much needed
A marvelous awakening would invoke.

We have now reached our last theme, The most important it may seem,
Because of its enormous cost In millions spent - in loss of time,
In broken homes and distorted minds
And self respect so often lost.

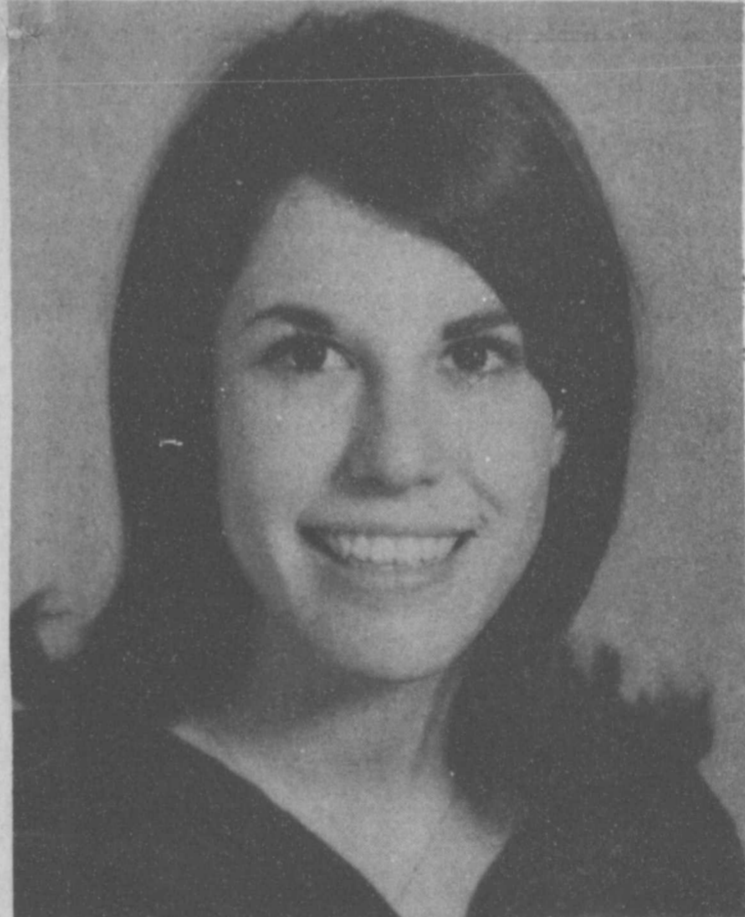

Usually considered the social drink Is inconsequential - to many think
You might compare with infants and adults
Or the legend of the acorn and the tree,
The massive cliff beside the deep sea
To visualize the possible results.

Down the drain we can safely say Go millions of dollars every day,
Which is by comparison relatively meager
Could the sorrows, heartaches and tears
Through the weeks, months and years
Be considered in a monetary figure.

If you are nearing your evening of life,
And have escaped all this stress and strife
And are still enjoying the blessings of health
By precept and example continue to teach
Until the ultimate goal you shall reach
And thank your Creator, daily, for your wealth.

Miss Linda Kaye Laurence Weds Wallace Lee Snoddy

Miss Linda Kaye Laurence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Laurence of 1812 Raydon Drive, and Wallace Lee Snoddy, of 412 Summit Avenue, Apt. 44, were married Saturday at 8:00 p.m. in the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Daisies and greenery were used at the altar where Rev. Jimmy Marrow, pastor, officiated during the double ring rites. Wedding music was presented by Marvin Kimmy, soloist.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Snoddy of Gatesville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of imported organza fashioned along empire lines with an A-line skirt. Appliques of Alencon lace enhanced the elbow sleeves of the bodice, which featured a slightly scooped neckline. The same lace motifs, reembroidered with pearls, created a yoke effect on the bodice, defined the high rise waistline and extended down the front of the skirt which was finished with a scalloped border of lace. A band of matching lace bordered the wateau train. Her circular veil of illusion was held by a caplet of pearlized organza and lace flowers. She carried a bouquet of daisies. Honor attendants were Miss Nedi Hatcoat, Mrs. Larry Daugherty and Odie W. Nichols, Jr. Miss LaJuan Horton and Miss Susan Stiles of Fort Worth were bridesmaids. Charles C. Neal, Max Scaggs and Chris D. Snoddy were groomsmen and ushers. The bride's attendants were yellow sabbone fitted sheaths with matching headpiece and carried bouquets of daisies.

Lynn Miller was flower girl and David Snoddy was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by Jimmy Laurence and Andy Hickman, the latter of Dallas. A reception was held at the church. After a wedding trip to Corpus Christi, the couple will live at 412 Summit Avenue, Apt. 44. The bride is a graduate of Arlington High School and attended Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth. Her husband was graduated from Gatesville High School and is a senior aerospace engineering major at the University of Texas in Arlington.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Laurence chose a floor length dress of green shantung with matching accessories. Tiny New Spray Freshens Breath

The new purse and pocket-size spray-type breath fresheners now available at store counters throughout the country serve as useful personal grooming aids.

Just a whiff or two of measured amounts of the mouth refreshers, and your breath remains sweet and fresh for hours. The use of the small, inconspicuous push-button freshener eliminates the social stigma of having to chew gum or the need to tote around a toothbrush or mouthwash just to provide a fresh, clean taste in your mouth. The aerosol container is about the size of a roll of mints. Breath fresheners, which can be purchased under a variety of brand names, come in a wide range of flavors. And the cost to the user is less than a cent per "shot" of spray. Aerosol Techniques, Incorporated, nationwide aerosol maker based in Milford, Conn., has been a major developer and packager of a number of the popular mouth refreshers now on the market.

Out of the water. Not breathing. Now what?

This is the most effective method of artificial respiration. Take the free Red Cross courses: 3.5 million people did last year.

Many people have the misconception that the only way to catch panfish—sunfish (perch), crappies, etc.—is with natural baits, like earthworms and crickets.

Normally bait of this type will catch the most panfish, but usually artificial lures will take larger ones.

Lake Marble Falls, located almost downtown in the community of Marble Falls in central Texas, holds an astronomical number of sunfish. But a fisherman using earthworms will more often than not, catch only a batch of little ones. These eager, speedy, small fish beat the bigger ones to the bait.

Next time out, try some of those tiny spinners, bugs and flies. They are more effective in taking the larger fish.

There are two facts to consider when after sunfish with artificials. Use a small bait and fish slowly. The smaller the artificial, the more effective it will be. And whether it is a surface or an underwater lure, retrieve as slowly as possible.

For fun at its best the sunfish should be taken on light tackle, something like a fly rod or an ultra-light spinning outfit.

Dick Brown, publisher of the Austin American-Statesman, likes to cast for so-called broom on Lake Austin, using a seven-foot fly rod that weighs less than three ounces. He says even a hand-sized fish fights like a big one on this dainty tackle.

Topwater bugs or flies on a fly rod should be small. About a No. 10 bug is best. The smaller bug will tempt many more strikes than a large one. Any tiny fly is okay, with standard colors of black, yellow and white producing best.

With a bug, just barely wiggle it on the surface. Don't pull with enough force to pop it. Pull the fly through the water in short, slow pulls. Sometimes a tiny spinner attached to the front of the fly will add the flash that attracts more strikes.

Also very effective is the ultra-light spinning outfit with the miniature lures designed for such tackle. A tiny spinner is best. A typical one will be less than an inch long with about a No. 10 treble hook.

Reel the spinner just fast enough that the blade spins; the slower you retrieve, the more strikes you'll get. Sunfish seem to prefer bright colors like yellow with black dots, or orange with black dots.

With the fly rod or spinning outfit, the angler can cover much more water than he can while fishing with natural bait, and by exposing his offering to more fish, he naturally stands a better chance of catching more.

While most crappies are taken on live minnows, there actually are times when a tiny white jig will take more and bigger fish. This is particularly true in the springtime, when the fish are in the shoreline shallows to spawn. But sometimes it is also true when the fish are deep, near the bottom. I remember a time on Lake Falcon in southern Texas when the crappies ignored minnows, but a tiny jig hopped around the base of the submerged brush would prompt a strike.

To be effective the jig must be small. One weighing about 3/16th of an ounce is the best size. Probably the best known make is the Fle-Fly jig, manufactured in Oklahoma.

Usually the best retrieve is to simply cast the jig and allow it to sink to bottom near submerged brush or trees, then reel in slowly and steadily. There may be times when you have to twitch the rod tip ever so lightly to get the action that brings strikes.

If you can't adequately cast such a small bait, rig a pair up in tandem, one on the end of the line and another on a dropper line about 18 inches above this one. When the crappies are cooperative, it isn't uncommon to catch 'em two at a time.

LANDRY LOOKS TO NEXT SEASON AND THE GREEN BAY PACKERS

Tom Landry is the kind of guy who doesn't even look nervous driving in the Central Expressway traffic.

But the calm and cool Mr. Ice, coach of the Dallas Cowboys, does have a few things haunting him these days. They all stem back to that frozen January day in Green Bay when the Packers closed the vault on the "Pokes in the last seconds.

Landry is wondering whether he will have a bunch of mental crumbles on his hands because of two successive NFL title losses to the Packers in the collar-tightening last moments.

"We can build up, an artificial outside crust, but you wonder just how we'll react if and when we get down to those last crucial seconds again," said Landry. "Who knows?"

"I do know one thing. We are either going to be a better team or we are really going to slip. We must gear ourselves for a greater effort and a better attitude."

Landry assembles his tone of expensive football beef at Thousand Oaks, Calif., July 10. There will be some changes made.

"We are going to strive to improve our pass protection," said Landry. "We want to reduce the number of quarterback traps. We were in the lower half of the league - No. 12 - in that department last season."

Landry said the Eastern Division champs "will reduce the types of pass protection in our multiple offense system." He did not spell out just what blocking patterns will be discarded. One possibility would be to reduce the number of fullback Don Perkins - one of the league's best blockers - stay back to pick up blitzing line-Landry, a former defensive back and coach with the New York Giants, will move into the slot vacated by assistant coach Dick Nolan, who took over the San Francisco '49ers head job.

"We must improve our pass defense," Landry said. "Just being third or fourth isn't good enough. We've got to have the best. We're already No. 1 against the rush."

Landry said veteran quarterback Don Meredith was throwing the ball extremely well during a two-week school in May in which quarterbacks Craig Morton and Jerry Rhyme also participated.

Landry said he hopes Meredith can avoid the score arm that has plagued the former Southern Methodist star in previous camps.

He said the club also needed to "find depth at linebackers. A few injuries at the spot and we could be hurting."

Landry said he wanted the Cowboys to "build up their confidence" during training camp and the exhibition season.

"But I just don't believe you have to win every exhibition game," Landry said. "If you get too high in the exhibition season, the team will flatten out." Then he smiled and said, "I certainly would like for us to have some momentum built up on Oct. 28. That could be a key game."

The schedule shows that Dallas plays Green Bay in the Cotton Bowl on that date.
