FRIONA WEATHER

The weather in the Friona territory during the past week has been fair and for the most part warm and balmy, but with no additional moisture received.

The warm sunshine has been causing the weeds and other vegetation to spring up and they are getting a fine start to growing; farmers are busy this week with their plasters, destroying this noxious vegetation and planting their cotton and feed crops.

Wheat and barley crops are looking quite promising and are in the heading stage, being either in full head or in the boot. Present prospects are for an average yield of all crops. Quite a number of farmers are planning to plant a considerable acreage of soy beans.

Singapore Survivor

Little Janice Murray arrives in London after hazardous journey as one of 490 refugees who fled Singapore. She saved her teddy bear from the Japs.

Prepare now to do your bit on Poppy Day, Mrs. Foister Rector of the American Legion Auxiliary urges people of the Friona territory. Date for the national observance is Saturday, May 23, and Mrs. Rector states that the date this year will have more significance than ever before, as we will wear poppies this year not only in memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in 1917-18, but also as a sign of respect to the men who are now fighting their country's battles. Disabled veterans who make the poppies derive two-fold benefit, the Friona woman points out. First, it gives them employment—often their only chance to help support themselves; and second, it enables them to help their fellows all over the nation. "Buy your poppy from the women of the auxiliary on May 23," Mrs. Rector says. "And remember the patriotic service you perform when you wear it."

Victory Club Chooses Council Delegate

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Vestal and Blackburn. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Carrie Collier on June 12.

Mrs. Houlette Returns From Clovis Visit

Mrs. Hutchins entered the hospital about a week ago to undergo an appendicitis operation. She was released Wednesday.

News of AAA Farm Program

By Kletz Garrison

As planting season approaches, farmers should remember that the amount of layout land which they must have in order to draw their full conservation payment will be 20 percent of the total cultivated acreage as measured out in 1941. This earns the crop payment of the conservation check. In case a farmer has 10 percent of his land instead of 20 percent out he will draw one-half of his crop payments on his conservation check. All farmers not having a cotton or wheat allotment should remember that it will not be necessary that they have any layout land whatever, since they will not have any crop payments and their soil-building allowance will be the only conservation payment they will have coming; therefore, they can draw just as much money by not having any layout land as they could by having the full 20 percent. It should be remembered that none of the above has anything to do with the parity payments and whether a man has his 20 percent layout or not he will still receive his wheat parity and cotton parity (if any) provided he stays within his acreage allotments. Those farmers desiring further information may contact their local community committeeman or any member of the county committee, or they may contact this office and we will be glad to explain individual cases more fully.

In last week's paper a revised ACP rate on wheat and a parity payment on wheat was announced. To clarify this announcement, it should be remembered that the conservation payment was originally announced at 10.5c per bushel times the average yield. This rate has now been changed and will be 9.9c times the average yield. Up to last week we had not had any parity payment announced; however, since that time a parity payment of 13.5c per bushel times the average yield will be

County Sets Record For U. S. O. Drive

Parmer County set up a record this week when it was the first county in Texas to turn in its quota on the U. S. O. fund-raising drive.

County quota was $550 and $619 was collected, according to the official report of county U. S. O. Chairman H. Y. Overstreet of Farwell.

Frank Spring, Friona chairman of the drive, reports that the local quota of $130 was raised in record time.

Parmer County U. S. O. officials expressed appreciation for the splendid response and declared that the rapid raising of U. S. O. funds shows the patriotic interest of Parmer County people in helping all boys in the service.

Induction Service For Congregational Pastor Set For May 24

Plans are being completed for the public induction of the Rev. Paxton Smith of the Congregational Church into his office Sunday, May 24. Superintendent H. H. Lindeman of Oklahoma City and Rev. D. D. Wilson, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Fort Worth, will participate in the ceremonies, and there will be other visitors from Texas and Oklahoma Churches. The Spring Lake congregation, which with the Friona church constitutes the Panhandle Association of Congregational Christian churches has also been invited to attend.

The date for the service is appropriate as it falls on Pentecost or Whit Sunday, the Seventh Sunday and fiftieth day after Easter, and is observed in the church commemorating the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the disciples at Pentecost, so commonly celebrated as the first birthday or anniversary of the Christian Church, according to the pastor.

Mary D. Christian Selected As Talent Club Member

Miss Mary D. Christian has been selected for special recognition under a new plan for a Talent Club for 4-H boys and girls of Texas, according to an announcement from J. Frank Triplett, assistant manager of Producers Grain Corporation.

Mary D. is one of five 4-H club girls to be selected for this honor. She was an honor guest at the annual stockholders meeting in Amarillo on May 13, at which time she received an award of $25.00 and signed an agreement pledging her fidelity to the trust.

The award of $25.00 is to be invested by Mary D. in some productive or home improvement demonstration, which will be carried on throughout the ensuing year and at the annual stockholders meeting of the Producers Grain Corporation in 1943 Mary D. will again be presented to the group, give an account of her investment and report on her accomplishments.

The Talent Club is worked out by the Extension Service in cooperation with Producers Grain Corporation. This plan has two purposes: First, to recognize the outstanding work being done by 4-H club boys and girls; and second, to interest this group of young agricultural leaders in cooperative activities.

The committee selecting Mary D. for this honor was J. Frank Triplett, assistant manager Producers Grain Corporation; Frank Overturn, state secretary of Farmers Union; Knox Parr, district agent, Extension Service of A. & M. College.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

I read an editorial in the Amarillo Daily News for Saturday, May 9, 1942, under the caption—"Traitors." It was a splendid editorial and I concur in its sentiments most heartily with the exception of the last paragraph, in which I think the author had in mind one man and used the name of another.

That paragraph reads as follows: "It's a shame that we can't consign them to the fate of Nathan Hale, who sneered at his country and was sentenced to roam the world the rest of his life, a man without a country."

Evidently the author had in mind Philip Nolan, as the only "Nathan Hale" mentioned in history was Captain Nathan Hale, of the Revolutionary War. He was a Connecticut school teacher and after the Battle of Lexington and Concord, he is credited with raising a regiment of Connecticut volunteers and joining the Colonial army and was commissioned as Captain.

Following the Battle of Long Island in the latter part of Aug., 1776, in which the Americans under General Putnam were defeated by General Howe's British regulars, who took possession of the island, General Washington wished to learn something of the British strength in New York, and of their plans; and Captain Hale volunteered to act as a spy and try to secure the desired information.

He entered the British lines disguised as a Dutch school master, in the latter or middle part of Sept., 1776, but on Sept. 21 he was captured by the British and his execution was ordered by General Howe. He was hung as a spy on the following day, Sept. 22; and while on the scaffold he made the statement: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country." So evidently this is not the man the author had in mind.

Edward Everett Hale, was an American author, a voluminous writer of books and shorter articles. He was the author of the book entitled "A Man Without A Country," and the hero of the story was a man who had committed some offense against his country and was sentenced by the court to roam the seas and never again to set his feet on his native land, and never again to hear the name of the United States spoken nor to see it in print.

This sentence was pronounced upon him in response to his own statement at the court martial when he said "Damn the United States, I wish I had never known it, and hope I may never hear its name again so long as I live," or words to that effect; and with the consent of President Jefferson the court pronounced such a sentence upon him.

I have never read the book "A Man Without A Country," and have stated only what I have been told. But this version seems to fit in better with the statement of the author of the editorial above referred to than does the sketch of Nathan Hale.

Far be it from me to be posing as a critic or in any way criticizing the afore mentioned editorial. But I, some 50 or 60 years ago, studied history in the little gray school house on the hill; and the name of Nathan Hale brought to my mind a trend of historical narratives and my statements above are what I recalled about Hale the American hero; and I have verified my memory by referring to a reputable book of reference.

My limited knowledge of history or of any other subject does not justify me to pose as a critic, and I hope the author of the editorial will not so construe what I have said here.

I have often heard the statement—"Revenge is sweet," and this statement has become so popular that it may almost be termed a proverb. But to my mind it is one of the most sordid perversions of the truth that the human tongue has ever been guilty of; for, tracing it down to its real meaning it is not sweet, but is the bitterest wormwood or gall that ever passed over the mental or moral palate of normal man.

And here is something that I have read in that excellent religious magazine, "The Christian Herald," which almost corroborates what I have just stated: "It has been well said, he treads on sacred ground who breaks a tie that binds two friends. Oh, who could ever feel revenge is sweet, to see a friendship die, or wounded so that it can never heal? If I should ever cause two friends to hate, then Lord, I ask thee, for just a little while, to banish me from thy pure sight, and make me friendless be."

I do not know the author of the above quotation, but it rings true and just. Vile and full of crime as my life may have been, that is one crime that cannot be justly laid at my door. I may have at times, through thoughtless and cruel words, wounded the feelings of an individual; but I have never knowingly severed a tie of friendship between any two persons. And I am not posing as a saint either.

The weakest spirit can stray and fall. But it takes a man to do right; The seas to sail and the heights to scale To the dwelling place of light And the things that count

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

RUMMAGING through my desk the other day, I came across some snapshots of friends of mine made back in 1933.

If you don't think time flies... if you don't think this world ever changes... you ought to look at the women's hats and dresses in those pictures taken 9 years ago! Wow!

It gave me quite a start... and then it set me to thinking... and rememberin'! Lots of things sure happened in 1933. A new administration in Washington... the turning point of the depression... and the coming of Repeal.

I remember the re-legalization of beer. It came before Repeal, when Congress amended the old Volstead Act to allow legal sale of "3.2" beer.

What talk and arguments they had in those days! One argument I remember well... was that beer would do a lot to help bring back prosperity. I wondered at the time whether that argument could be proved.

I thought about that again, the other day. I decided to check up and find out.

Well, I found out plenty. I found out that legal beer has paid more than $ billion dollars in taxes since 1933. It has made more than a million new jobs.

According to one of the reports I've seen, beer has put more than 15 billion dollars into general business circulation. Goodness me, that's a lot of money.

Beer is sold today in every state in the Union. Every state benefits from beer's jobs and taxes. And I guess there's no denying that beer did do its share in bringing back better times.

I'm glad I did, too, because beer is such a pleasant, appetizing beverage. And it stands for moderation and moderate people... it's not likely to get you in trouble.

By BOYCE HOUSE
If newspaper articles were written the same way that radio programs are given, how would they sound? The Trinity Standard—in effect—inquires and then proceeds to demonstrate by publishing an article entitled "The Radio."

The radio is the most wonderful invention of modern times. It was made possible by Lee De Forest, who now seldom listens to the radio and who says that he almost regrets having made it possible. But now for just a word from our sponsor.

Do you get the Trinity Standard regularly? If you do not get the Trinity Standard rush down to the news stand and buy a copy of the Trinity Standard and then rush to the Trinity Standard office and subscribe to the Trinity Standard and you will be able to keep informed and amaze your friends with your knowledge of local affairs. Now some more facts about the radio.

The first messages carried electrically through the air were telegraphed, and the system then was known as wireless. Marconi was one of those who helped perfect this great invention. But before we tell you more about Marconi just a word from our sponsor.

(Make the count test. Take an ordinary newspaper and crumble it in your hands while you count five: one, two, three, four, five; then take the Trinity Standard and crumble it in your hands while you count five, and notice the difference. Now some more about the radio.)

The first wireless signals were sent across the ocean by Marconi in 1901. However it was a long time from that date until there was a radio set in nearly every home. And here is a brief message for you while we check the latest information regarding this wonderful invention.

(When you buy the Trinity Standard you buy the best. The paper, on which the Trinity Standard is printed, is carefully selected, and in order to get the very best we pay 27 per cent more than the average market price. The ink too is selected with the greatest care, and is mixed with vitamins so that when you get the Trinity Standard you get not only vitamins A, B, and C, but the lower case vitamins, a, b, and c, as well. No other newspaper can make that claim. Now more about the radio.)

In the early twenties the first radio sets were marketed. At that time it was customary to sell parts, and in many instances amateurs built their own sets, using earphones, for the loud speakers had not been perfected at that time. In just a moment we will be back with more about the radio.

(Are your hands beautiful, or do they look like misshapen carrots? Does your husband thrill when he sees your hands or does he shudder? Your hands, too, may be beautiful and seductive. Every morning and night just wrap your hands in copies of the Trinity Standard, just as all the movie stars do, and then you too will have beautiful hands, and you will exude glamor like an automobile exudes gas fumes. And now some more about this interesting subject, the radio.)

Ladies and gentlemen, we interrupt our program to bring you a special bulletin. Hitler has just surrendered, the Berlin radio states. Mussolini has denounced the Axis and a peace party in Japan has driven out the militarists and is asking for peace. But now we have some important news from our sponsor.

(The Trinity Standard is only $1.50 a year, slightly more when sent a distance. Save the wrappers from the Trinity Standard, and when you have accumulated 12 dozen, send them in to the Trinity Standard, and you will receive a lovely bridge pad free; enclose 10 cents for wrapping and mailing.)

And now to become serious, here's something from the Conroe Courier:

Short words are always strong words; they explode like bullets. Do you know that the average word in the English Bible, including even proper names, is composed of less than five letters? Leave out the proper names and the average word wouldn't even have four.

In the 23rd Psalm there are 110 words; 95 are words of one syllable. In the Sermon on the Mount, more than 80 per cent are words of one syllable. In The Ten Commandments, on which are based all the laws of the world, there are 319 words; 259 are words of one syllable; and only 60 of two or more syllables. In Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg, perhaps the greatest in the world, there are 266 words. Of these, 194 were of one syllable; 53 of two syllables; and only 19 of three or more.

There is food for thought in these figures. What an improvement in our writers and speakers, if, like Lincoln, they would give study to the English of the Bible.

And help the USO, won't you? The campaign is now on in Texas to raise funds to supply recreation and comforts for our Army, Navy and Marine Corps. Let's all do our part.

OPA Notes

Every retailer automatically becomes licensed by the OPA under the Price Control Act on May 18, 1942.

Both civil and criminal penalties may be invoked against anyone who violates the Price Control Law.

Among services specifically excluded from the OPA's Maximum Price Regulation are professional, advertising, insurance, entertainment, transportation, and barber shop.

Procedures for seeking adjustments or amendments will be provided retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers under the Price Control Law.

Under price control, a retailer may ask for adjustment in his ceiling price where he is suffering substantial hardship from the fact that his price has been frozen at a level below that of his competitor.

Purpose of the over-all price ceiling is to establish maximum prices to prevent further increases in the cost of living.

The "maximum price," as defined in the Price Control Act, is the highest price charged for the commodity or service during the month of March, 1942.

The new owner of a retail store shall continue to be governed by the ceiling prices or the rules of prices which governed the owner who operated the store during March, 1942, under the OPA price regulations.

Sales or excise taxes may be collected separately as a charge over and above the maximum price if customarily stated and collected separately during March, 1942, under the OPA's Maximum Price Regulation order.

Materials for synthetic rubber are specifically excepted from the OPA order establishing maximum prices.

A report was being circulated this morning that a 60-year-old man has a new tooth, but it may be false.

Everything comes to him who waits... if he waits in the right place.

W. T. Changes Summer Courses for War Needs

Canyon, May 13—The curriculum of West Texas State in the summer session opening May 27 will be as broad as the needs of the students.

Offerings will be unusually numerous. Terms will last a total of 15 weeks in order that the College may make a maximum contribution to the war effort.

West Texas State will offer many "defense" courses—in industrial arts, aviation, safety, first aid, home nursing, chemistry, physics, mathematics, and other classes.

It will enable beginning freshmen to take the same type of work they would choose in a regular semester.

It will enable former teachers to take "refresher" courses to prepare themselves to re-enter the profession.

It will enable regular students and junior college graduates to hasten their graduations by half a year.

It will offer graduate work in selected fields.

Classes will meet six days a week, but there will be no classes or laboratory periods on Saturday afternoons. Copies of the summer program are available at the office of Dr. D. A. Shirley, registrar.

Mandatory Price Control on Equipment For Farms Will Regulate All Purchases

BY RALPH HERBERT

OF great importance to practically every farmer in the United States is an order issued by the Office of Price Administration and effective May 11, establishing the maximum retail prices for farm equipment.

These prices will be based on the manufacturer's suggested list prices, plus freight and handling costs. What has been sought has been a formula for determining the specific maximum prices at approximately the levels prevailing in March, 1942, when farm equipment dealers were operating under a voluntary price control program. The big difference is that now price control is mandatory.

With a universal price freezing order, special cognizance had to be taken of the farm situation. Farmers this year are estimated to have in sight a total income of $13,000,000,000. With many lines of consumer goods being withdrawn from the market, the farmers will have more money for the purchase of more farm equipment. Last year $4,300 retail dealers sold $850,000,000 worth of farm equipment. But this year the War Production Board is limiting production of this equipment to less than two-thirds of the 1941 figure.

IN regulating the retail prices of farm equipment, the OPA has stipulated that the dealer must give the purchaser an itemized invoice showing the manufacturer's suggested retail price, the freight charge, the handling charge and the sales tax, if any. Some dealers objected to this, saying their trade secrets might be revealed, but they were overruled, it being held that the itemized invoice would enable purchaser and government to know whether the price-fixing regulation was being obeyed.

The maximum price applicable to the retail sale of any new completed farm equipment for which the manufacturer has issued a suggested retail price will be the sum of the six following:

1—The suggested retail price f. o. b. factory.

Farm Building Rules Require Priority Rate

New regulations received this week by county agricultural workers have set the pattern for all future farm construction in Farmer County, officials said today, asking that farmers comply with regulations and get started now on the storage and labor housing construction which will be needed in the immediate future.

Cost Limits Set

Briefly, the rules require that construction of farm housing, up to the cost of $500 (including materials and labor) and of $1,000 for other types of farm buildings can be carried on without priority ratings, providing the farmer can buy the necessary materials from existing lumber stocks. If the lumber yard, or other dealer, has to order new supplies it will be necessary for the order to go through the county war board, whose approval will give the order the necessary priority rating to insure shipment. Approved orders must go from the county board to the state board at College Station, from where they will be relayed to Washington, whose final approval will come back to the county board.

All farm building which will cost more than $500 (housing facilities), or $1,000 (other type farm buildings) must have plans approved by the county war board, which will give priority ratings on all supplies. In drawing up plans farmers are asked not to call for the use of any unusually scarce materials, such as metals; priority ratings have no effect in the use of such materials, which are frozen for all except war construction at present.

No Rule On Remodeling

For such farm improvements as papering, painting—in fact any remodeling where the basic design is not changed—there are at present no restrictions, it was stated, and pointed out that all restrictions mentioned apply only to farm buildings, and that any building job in town will come under other regulations. "Lumber dealers are working with us to clear up some of the confusion on these building regulations," officials announce.

OPA Price Rules Available

According to the Office of Price Administration, all retailers are urged to observe three cardinal "Do's" and a like number of "Don'ts" before seeking special guidance from the O. P. A. on price regulation.

The three "Do's" indicate immediate steps to take in getting ready for the May 18 effective date on price regulation in all retail stores.

1. Assemble and preserve immediately all records of prices charged for goods in March. In addition begin preparing statement of highest base period price charged for each item so that it will be completed by July 1, 1942.

2. Check prices of all goods to be sure that they are no higher than prices charged in March, 1942. Must be completed by May 18.

3. Post or mark and identify as "ceiling price" and "our ceiling" your maximum prices on all "cost of living" commodities specified in "Appendix A" of the regulation. Must be finished by May 18. A list of these items and their ceiling prices must be filed by June 1, 1942 with local war price and rationing board.

The Three "Don'ts" are:

1. Don't bring problems to Washington personally.

2. Don't telephone OPA on your problem unless it is of urgent nature. It probably would be impossible to render a snap judgment in any case.

3. Don't write in before you have carefully read and re-read the regulation itself, the official press release issued simultaneously and the question and answer summary which accompanies the summary.

All OPA representatives, both in Washington and regional offices, have been instructed to confine themselves to the general dissemination of the order and explanatory material sent out and not to attempt to handle individual adjustment of any kind until a later date.

A sage observes that all the people who don't fall for flattery could hold a convention in a telephone booth.

Mrs. G. M. Baker last week received a letter from her son, Sgt. Raymond Baker, written from somewhere in Australia, where he is now located.

Sgt. Baker likes the country and climate but stated that the flies were the worst pest they had encountered, and that they were so bad it is necessary for the soldiers to wear nets over their heads and faces while at work. This at first was very much in their way.
