

When the Friona Young Farmers took charge of the Farmer County Junior Livestock Show last summer, one of the things the club began to think about was a show-barn to house the annual show. Friona's bus barn has long since been outgrown by the show, and while the school bends over backwards to be of service, it's getting more and more like holding the Olympic trials at the local junior high track.

As any of you know who have tried to watch the county show in recent years - it's just unhandy. First, there isn't room for the livestock. Secondly, there are no facilities for a crowd to watch the show.

These young showmen go to a lot of time and expense on their animals each year, and many of the parents would like to watch them show their efforts off at the county show, if they knew there would be a place to sit and watch the show.

The diehards come anyway, and they deserve a medal for their efforts in watching the kids under the present conditions. Many other mothers and fathers doubtless would attend the show if they knew they would be seated, and protected in case of threatening weather, such as we had the past Friday.

The Young Farmers were told by some of the local showmen that they would be willing to contribute five per cent of their premiums gained from the sale of their animals toward a showbarn.

So, the 4-H and FFA students were polled, and all were in favor of the plan. They picked a good year to start such a plan, since the sale was a record $36,000. This could put as much as $1800 into a savings account for the building program.

As one of the auctioneers remarked at the sale on Saturday "The youngsters have decided they are going to have to build a showbarn themselves."

One thing that might help the situation would be if the Friona Independent School District "just happened" to need a new bus barn. It might be that the needs would coincide.

A showbarn which would sit empty for the major part of 12 months would be a rather expensive luxury. But, if such a "coincidence" as mentioned above doesn't occur, then the kids may well have to build the barn themselves. And they'll do it.

And, speaking of the Young Farmers--they really did a bang-up job in their first year of producing the stock show after taking over the sponsorship from the Friona Lions Club. Out hat is off to the Young Farmers for a great start with the show.

Only thing is -- as we remarked to Dwain Menefee, the superintendent of the show -- with such a beginning, this year may be hard for them to beat.

Wife to husband: "I think you ought to go to the doctor. Other men don't come home too tired to argue."

A class was asked to write on the subject "What do you want to be?" One third grader wrote: "I would like to be myself. I tried to be other things, but I always failed."

Misinterpreted: A radio interviewer asked the lady what she thought of the Viet Cong. "I never have thought too much of him since he tore up the Empire State Building in that movie," she replied.

Story Hour Begins Thursday, Feb. 27

Children of the Friona area ages five and six are invited to begin attending the new story hour sessions at Friona Public Library beginning next Thursday, February 27.

To be held at the Library, 111 E. 7th St., the story hour will run from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. each Thursday for 10 weeks.

Because of limitations of space, this year's story hour will have to be limited to the five and six year olds.

ONE YEAR OLD. . . The Trevino triplets, who are the only triplets to be born at Parmer County Community Hospital, observed their first birthday with a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Welch the past Sunday. The girls, Maria, Margarita and Martha, are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trevino.

Maddox Resigns As Coach, Re-Assigned

Friona Chieftain basketball coach Cecil Maddox resigned as coach of the team this week, and requested re-assignment in the school system as a math teacher.

Maddox's resignation and request for re-assignment were approved at Monday's meeting of the school board.

Maddox, who has served as coach of boys basketball for the past three years, said he was making the move that he thought best for his family, and that the just-ended losing season by the Chiefs did not influence his decision, as he had made it earlier.

"I plan to put all of my enthusiasm into teaching now, and feel that I'll be better off in so doing," said Maddox, who coached basketball at Springlake and Whiteface prior to coming to Friona.

In other school board business, the contracts of head football coach Bob Owen and assistant Fred Dawson, renewed for two years, Girls basketball coach F.G. Crawford's contract, which still had a year to run, was extended another year to coincide with the other coaches. Junior high school coaches John Morrow, Jackie Morgan and Larry Dyess had their contracts extended through the 1969-70 school year.

All three of the school principals, Raymond Cook, Tom Jarboe and J.T. Gee, have another year remaining on two-year contracts. Superintendent of Schools Alton Farr has two years remaining on a three-year contract.

Contracts of the classroom teachers will be considered at the board's March meeting.

Maintenance foreman Richard Perkins also resigned. No replacement will be sought at this time, according to Superintendent Farr.

The trustee election has been set for Saturday, April 5, to be held jointly with the Friona city election. Terms of trustees W.D. Buske and W.M. Massie are expiring. Tax assessor-collector Porter Roberts noted that collections for the month of January amounted to $123,654.41.

City Receives $10,000 Grant For Growth Plan

Congressman Bob Price's office notified the Friona Star on Tuesday that he had just received word from the Department of Housing and Urban Development of an urban planning assistance grant in the amount of $10,040 for the comprehensive planning of the municipality of Friona.

The grant will cover two-thirds of the total cost of planning the work for 18 months. Local matching funds will amount to $5,020. The City of Friona made application for the program last July 8. It calls for a comprehensive plan for the future development of the city.

"This plan, when completed, will give the city a comprehensive plan for future development, and allow for its orderly development, rather than a hodge-podge system," said City Manager Jake Outland.

Squaws Lose To Owlettes, Miss Playoff

The Friona High School Squaws, who were hoping to win the second half championship in District 3-AA, met an aroused band of Hale Center Owlettes last Friday, who had designs on winning the title themselves.

It was a case of Hale Center being "on," and Friona being "off," and the combination did not work well for the Squaws, as Hale Center won, 83-53 to take the second half title and the right to meet Floydada in a playoff.

Owlette forward Judy Johnson had a fabulous night, scoring 53 points to equal Friona's output. Hazel Fallwell closed out her career with a 23-point production.

In the boys' game, Hale Center came from behind in the fading seconds for a 58-57 win. Bill Davis of the Owls hit a field goal and a free throw in the last 10 seconds to bring his team from behind.

Ted Procter paced Friona with 15 points.

Another light snowfall was evident on Wednesday morning, as another cool front was bringing promise of additional moisture.

Donald Taylor, who plays the brother, looks on. The play, "Molly Morgan," will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, February 21-22 at the high school auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Admission of $1 for adults and 75 cents for children will be charged. Wayne Hodgson is director of the production.

RECORD SET

Stock Show Sale Hits $36,000 In Premiums

Exhibitors in the 13th annual Parmer County Junior Livestock Show last weekend in Friona were paid a total of almost $34,000 in premiums for their animals at the auction sale which concluded the annual show at the Friona school bus barn.

Robert Haseloff of Farwell's FFA chapter exhibited the grand champion steer, a 920-pound Hereford which won first place in the heavyweight division. Tide Fertilizer of Farwell bought the steer in the sale, for a premium of 85 cents per pound.

Mike Haseloff, Robert's cousin, exhibited the reserve champion steer, an 860-pound Hereford, and this animal was bought by Friona Wheat Growers in the sale for 65 cents per pound.

In all, 40 steers were sold for an average of 58 cents per pound.

Grand champion barrow was exhibited by 10-year-old Stan Treider of the Lazbuddie 4-H Club. Treider won the honors with his 184-pound Hampshire. Reserve champion barrow was exhibited by Theresa Seaton, also of Lazbuddie, with her cross-bred champion.

S.I.E. Gin of Lazbuddie was high bidder on the champion barrow, at $1.40 per pound. Foster Fertilizer bought the reserve champion for $1.50 per pound.

Other breed champions were exhibited by Loy Dale Clark of Lazbuddie (Chester White); Robert Fowler of Bovina (Duroc); and Danny Wayne Clark, Lazbuddie (Poland China).

Friona and Lazbuddie exhibitors each had two champions in the lamb division, with Bovina getting one.

Randy Waggoner, Friona 4-H Club member, had the champion fine wool cross-bred lamb, which was bought for a premium of $1 per pound by Friona Medical and Surgical Clinic.

Charles Bentley exhibited the champion of the Dorset and Shropshire division, and it was bought for $1 per pound by the Friona Farmers Co-op Gin.

Jesse Mendoza of Lazbuddie had the champion fine wool lamb, which brought 90 cents per pound from Lazbuddie's Sherley-Anderson elevator. Junior Barnes had the champion Southdown, which went for $1.55 per pound to Lazbuddie's Western 66 Company.

Stephen Sherrill of Bovina exhibited the champion Hampshire lamb, and it was bought by Bovina Wheat Growers for a premium price of $1.10 per pound.

The show, which was produced by the Friona Young Farmers chapter for the first time, drew a record 221 entries, according to show superintendent Dwain Menefee.

The steer division drew a high 59 entries, the lamb division set a record with 47 entries, and the 115 barrows entered put that division at "about average."

The showmen volunteered to deduct five per cent from their premiums to go into a fund to build a county show-barn.

It marked the ninth straight year for a Lazbuddie entrant to win championship honors in the barrow division, and the third straight year for a Farwell steer to be judged grand champion.

Showmanship awards were presented to Danny Wayne Clark in the barrow division; Monte Barnes in the sheep division and Jim Schlenker in the steer division.

Move-In Houses To Aid Home Shortage

Pierce Construction Co. of Amarillo took out 11 permits in the Friona City office on Monday to move in and remodel homes to be located in the eastern part of Friona. The homes will be priced from $6,000 to $12,000.

Riley Pierce, of the above-mentioned company, said it is his company's plans to move in at least 20 houses to begin with. Others might be added later if the demand exists.

"We're not out to flood the market. It will depend entirely on supply and demand," Pierce said.

Pierce's company has purchased the east half of block 28, the 900 block of Walnut Street, and will locate six of the first 11 homes on that block. Other lots are being sought.

"I hope the people won't be alarmed when they see the houses first arrive. They will take on a completely different appearance once they're remodeled," Pierce said, indicating that some would be three-bedrooms, bricked after they are re-located.

Pierce's company bought several of the homes at an FHA auction in Amarillo last week.

"We think we have a three or four-year building program for Friona, and we're vitally interested in seeing the town grow. We'll be happy to talk with anyone, meet with any group that wants us concerning the project," Pierce said.

Tags To Be Sold Locally

License plates will be sold at the city hall in Friona by Hugh Moseley, county tax assessor-collector Monday through Friday, February 24-28.

Moseley asks that owners bring their registration papers as well as last year's receipt. He also asks that no title work be done during the special dates for tag purchases.

PIONEER NATURAL GAS

Pause And Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

On Saturday, February 22, we will observe the two hundred thirty seventh anniversary of George Washington's birth.

Although we claim Washington as the Father of our Country we cannot refuse to share him with the rest of the world, because the principles and ideals of this first president are known and respected by freedom loving people every where.

The techniques employed by him are best described as "the iron hand in the velvet glove" and it would be interesting indeed to observe his handling of today's militant minority groups who cry "Peace and Freedom" while disrupting the programs of educational institutions and denying others the right of free speech.

Contrary to popular belief Washington was not born in the lap of luxury. His family lived well due to hard work and sound management, the same formula that brings success in modern times.

Not everyone can become a George Washington but a happy and fruitful life can be had if one sets a goal and applies himself to the task of attainment.

A case in point is the story of a Panhandle editor - Mr. Douglas Meador of Matador, Texas.

I had the pleasure of visiting with him last Saturday afternoon and, as our talk ranged from local history to newspapering, it occurred to me that here was a man who had dared to dream the American Dream.

A review of his career will refute the theory that there are no more frontiers.

It is offered with the hope that it will inspire others, especially our youth, as it has me.

Born in Matador, Douglas Meador was six months of age when his parents left, and eventually settled on a farm five miles from Paducah, Texas, where he grew to manhood. He walked over three miles to a rural school and rode horse back to Paducah for his high school education.

He developed a desire to write, as a boy, and before dawn some winter mornings, he would wrap his feet in old quilts and write in a room without heat.

About the time he reached manhood, Meador went to Hollywood in the pursuit of writing. He sold three short plays to a small independent film company which later went bankrupt. He worked in a drug store for four years and studied writing. The fifth year he worked as an electrician for Fox Studios, and his sixth year in California he sold real estate.

Because of poor health, he returned to Texas in 1928 and to his native Matador, where he worked in a drug store. He married in 1929, a few months before the stock market crash. Out of a job, he worked in a grocery store for one month, then secured his first newspaper job in the advertising department of the Childress Daily Index. After three months he resigned and, returning to Matador, started working for the Motley County News. Three months later he lost his job because of the depression.

He worked as a roughneck on a pile-driver for four months at 20¢ an hour ($12 a week) and because of an injury was forced to quit. He operated a filling station for 10 months, and then started the first Matador Tribune, which he had printed in Floydada. After seven issues he was forced to cease publication.

In 1932 he was offered the job of printing the handset Roaring Springs News, eight miles away. He started in this newspaper venture with $1.43. After 15 months, he moved the newspaper plant to Matador, acquired a partner and formed the Tribune Publishing Company. They purchased the Motley County News, and the Tribune became the only publication in Motley County. In 1935 Meador purchased his partner's interest (in the indebtedness) and has been publisher of the newspaper for over a third of a century.

For six years (1948-1954) Meador served as Mayor of Matador, without pay.

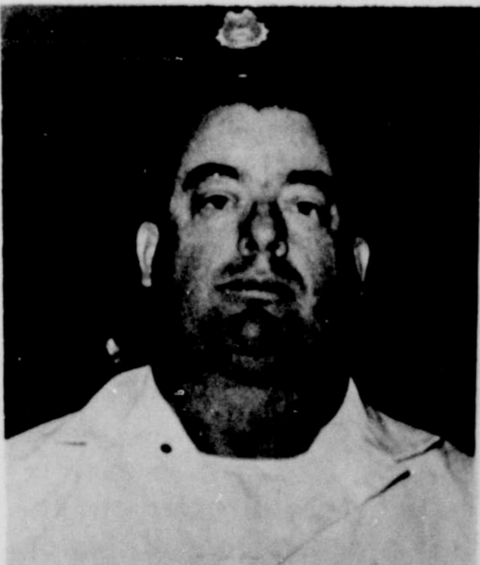

Meador started his column, "Trail Dust," in his first paper. It attracted interest in 1934 when it won an award as the best column in Texas. It has appeared in all types of publications from the Baptist Standard, to books of quotations. Reader's Digest has used it three times recently. It has appeared often in "Quote" Magazine and is used by many newspapers, including the Los Angeles Times, as well as nearby country weeklies. It has won numerous state and regional awards as an outstanding column.

Meador is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Professional Journalistic Society, and in 1952 he was named Texas Newspaperman of the Year by the Dallas Professional Chapter of the organization.

SAFETY REMINDER

Medicines and matches, like poisons and pointed objects, are major household hazards when they're available to small children, hence the wisdom of using safety-cap bottles of the type used on St. Joseph Aspirin for children. Bathrooms and kitchens especially, should be scrutinized to see that harmful bottles are well out of youngsters' reach.

The Library Corner
by Mrs. John F. White

Members of the library board have been busy this past week writing letters to Bill Clayton expressing our support of the "Texas Library Systems Act". There is an extensive article elsewhere in the "Star" explaining the purpose and plans of this important legislation. Read about this act and then sit down to write your representative.

This past week we received a large order of books for junior and young adult readers. They are on many subjects. For mystery fans we have "The Mystery of the Golden Horn" by Whitney and several others. Two new biographical books are "Louis Braille" by J. Alvin Klugel-mass and "The Mayo Brothers" by Helen Clapesattle.

This week a long-desired piece of equipment became a reality when the library acquired a new Lemm sound projector. The bulk of the funds was contributed by the Friona Lion's Club with other funds coming from "Friends of the Library" and the Friona State Bank.

This is a fine machine and will greatly add to the area of service which the library can provide to its patrons. Its first use is scheduled for the last Thursday of this month when the "story hour" will begin for the spring session. It is planned to have regular use of it. Again our thanks to the Lion's Club, Friona State Bank, and Friends of the Library.

Please read about the "Texas Library Systems Act". It promises to be of great benefit in organizing Texas libraries and expanding present facilities.

Crash Cost Soaring
NEW YORK—The annual dollar cost of the nation's traffic accidents has about doubled in the last decade, according to the Insurance Information Institute. The 1967 economic loss figure of $12.44 billion averaged out to a bill of $62.14 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Nelson Resigns Job With Sorghum Assn.

Bill Nelson, Executive Vice President of Grain Sorghum Producers Association has submitted his resignation from that post, according to A.W. Anthony, Jr., President of the organization. Anthony said that the Association's Executive Committee has named Elbert Harp of Abernathy, past president and long time Association leader, to be Chief Executive Officer after Nelson's departure March 31 in order to assure continuity in the organization's work.

Nelson joined GSPA in September 1957 and during the past 11 1/2 years, he initiated and has administered the Association's widely recognized successful program of Research, Market Development and Service which has taken him into 24 foreign countries and virtually every state seeking better production practices and increased markets for grain sorghum.

In reviewing Nelson's service to the GSPA, Anthony said, "we farmers brought Bill out from Oklahoma State University where he was a grain marketing specialist, to assist us with our production and marketing problems as we switched from dry-land sorghum varieties to irrigated hybrids.

Since that time, our production of grain sorghum has leaped from 204 million to 755 million bushels to a high of 266 million, and domestic cattle and other livestock feed use from 178 million bushels to 620 million. But more specifically", Anthony said, "He has led us from a 'group of individuals with ideas' into an 'organization' with national and international influence."

As to his future plans, Nelson

Electric Co-op Will Sponsor D.C. Trip

Expense paid trips to the nation's capital city will be awarded winners of an oratorical contest sponsored by Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative.

The contest is open to any boy or girl at least 16 years of age but not 18 years of age prior to September 1, 1969. Winners will join those of similar contests sponsored by other electric cooperatives across Texas on the fifth annual Texas Electric Cooperative Government-In-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D. C. All expenses of the 12-day trip, beginning June 5, will be paid for two young people from this area by Deaf Smith County Electric.

Each entrant will be required to give a five to eight minute talk about rural electric cooperatives and answer one or more questions by the judges.

The oratorical contest will be judged on the basis of knowledge of subject, 40 per cent; speaking ability, 30 per cent; poise, 10 per cent; personality, 10 per cent; and appearance, 10 per cent.

Interested young people may obtain an official entry blank from their school or the offices of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative. The deadline for submitting entries will be March 1.

As participants in the Texas Electric Cooperative Youth Tour, local contest winners will travel by chartered bus to Washington, D.C., where they will spend four days visiting places of historical interest and seeing the nation's government in action.

On Wednesday, June 11, the Texas group will meet more than 800 students from other states for a program sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association and the Rural Electrification Administration. The program will feature presentations by officials of these organizations and other Washington personalities and possibly the Presidential staff.

The eventful day will end with a chartered cruise down the Potomac River which will include entertainment and refreshments.

Also included on the 12-day agenda will be visits to the following: George Washington's Mount Vernon Home, Arlington National Cemetery, the U.S. House and Senate, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Smithsonian Institution, the Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest.

son said that they are "very firm but premature to announce since others are involved, but I will be engaged in a new venture related to agricultural business development within the area and internationally. As Chairman of the Board of Agricultural Computing Company, I will also be having increasing responsibilities as that company continues to expand its service into on-line, real-time, computer service to cattle feed yards, rural electric cooperatives and public accountants with farm clients."

In a final word of direction to members of the organization's Executive Committee, the outgoing Vice President said, "In GSPA's first 12 years, you have hit some successful bench marks, but the need for an opportunity to serve grain producers has just begun. In addition to current programs of domestic and export market expansion and legislative service, I would strongly urge expanded programs of (1) service to producer's production needs as insects, diseases, herbicides and water conservation become more important, and (2) involvement in farm labor policy and labor education, training and acquisition."

Harp has served GSPA as a member since its inception and as Secretary, Vice President, and President of the farmer-elected board.

CLASS WINNER. . . Floyd Schlenker of Friona FFA had the top entry in the medium weight division of the steer show with this 800-pound Hereford calf. Schlenker was the only Friona winner in the division, won by Robert Haseloff of Farwell.

Seventh, Eighth Graders Finish Winning Seasons

The Friona seventh and eighth grade basketball teams finished their seasons recently, both enjoying winning seasons. The eighth grade had a 9-6 season record, while the seventh grade was 5-4.

The eighth grade Braves were entered in two tournaments, and won the consolation trophy in both. Johnny Dandy was the leading scorer for the eighth grade, playing all 15 games, and scoring 182 points for an average of 12.1 points per game. Next came James Bartlett, who scored 111 points to a 7.4 average.

The eighth grade Braves scored 504 points for the season, an average of 33.6 points per game, to 498 for their opponents (32.2).

Randall Snyder was the leading scorer for the seventh grade, scoring 83 points in nine games, a 9.2 average. The seventh grade Braves scored 246 points in their nine games, a 27.3 average, to 205 points for the opponents, who averaged 22.8.

These scores may seem low by comparison to high school scores, but the seventh and eighth grade teams play six-minute quarters, compared to eight-minute quarters for the high schoolers. Also, many of the players are in only their first or second years of playing.

Larry Dyess is the seventh grade boys coach, and Jackie Morgan is the eighth grade coach.

TWO POINTS... Pam Turner gets the shot away in spite of close guarding by two Floyd's players in this action shot from last Friday's exciting 59-58 win by the Squaws. The team rallied from eight points back for the win.

THE WHY OF WOOD

All of the nation's electrical utility companies (both public and private) use chemically-treated wood poles for more than 90% of their electricity delivery systems. The reasons: economy, easy serviceability, and good insulation.

These overhead delivery systems represent a total investment by utility companies of more than $26 billion - but that is "petty cash" compared to the $375 billion it would cost to replace this system. Individual poles have an average cost of $35.

Easy accessibility means service is up in the air in cranes - not a costly digging out process. And if there is an emergency, service can be restored without extensive delays.

Wood is known for its favorable "dielectric" properties - which means wood is an excellent insulator. As if that weren't enough, utility poles carry porcelain or glass insulators which make "double" sure electricity won't leak out of the wires.

and eliminates messy, or unsanitary tapes and mats that often mildew or stain. These special surfaces in laboratory and usage tests have been rated at four times safer than ordinary bathtub surfaces.

Safety in the home How Safe Is Your Bath?

Insurance figures readily attest to the fact that bath tubs can be a very major source of injuries ranging from slight to extremely serious. Despite the continued and strenuous efforts of product designers, no one has yet designed an accident-proof tub. There has been some progress, however, toward lessening the dangers. Rubber mats and hand bars were among the early devices employed in an effort to add extra safety to bath tubs. The newest innovation in bathtub safety from American Standard is a slip-resistant, etched tub bottom that offers built-in safety and eliminates messy, or unsanitary tapes and mats that often mildew or stain. These special surfaces in laboratory and usage tests have been rated at four times safer than ordinary bathtub surfaces.

Library Systems Act Due Before Congress

This session of the state legislature will likely see the "Library Systems Act" come up for a vote by our state government. This bill is related to the establishment, operation and financing of a network of interrelated cooperative library systems designed to provide adequate library facilities and services to the public.

This state library system shall be established by the Texas State Library and Historical Commission. The Commission will appoint an advisory board composed of five qualified librarians who serve without a salary but who will be reimbursed for their travel expense. These librarians will establish a "Major Resource System" whose membership in the system is dependent on accreditation of the library by the Commission on the basis of standards established by the Commission. The highest level in this system would be the "major resource center" which is an already existing large public library serving a population of 200,000 or more within 4,000 or more square miles. This "major resource center" would be designated as the central library of a major resource system for referral service from area libraries.

"Area libraries" means a medium-sized library serving a population of 25,000 or more and a "community library" means a small library serving a population of less than 25,000. Membership in the major resource system is not compulsory but rather comes by way of a petition by 10% of the qualified electors in the latest general election of a county, city, town or village that is within the major resource system service area.

The governing body of a major resource center and the Commission may enter into contracts and agreements with the governing bodies of other libraries, including but not limited to other public libraries, school libraries and media centers, academic libraries, technical information and research libraries or systems of such libraries to provide specialized services.

The State Librarian shall administer the program of state grants and shall enforce the rules and regulations approved by the Commission. The Commission may use funds appropriated by the Texas legislature. Libraries and library systems may use state grants for materials, for personnel, equipment, and administrative expenses; for financing programs which enrich the services and materials offered a community by its public library. State grants may NOT be used for site acquisition, construction, or for acquisition, maintenance, or rental of buildings, or for payment of past debts. State aid to any free tax-supported public library is a supplement to and NOT a replacement of local support.

The state aid grants come under the following divisions: (1) system operation grants, to strengthen major resource system services to member libraries, including grants to reimburse other libraries for providing specialized services to major resource systems; (2) incentive grants, to encourage libraries to join together into larger units of service in order to meet criteria for major resource system membership; (3) establishment grants, to help establish libraries which will qualify for major resource system membership in communities without library service; and (4) equalization grants, to help libraries in communities with relatively limited taxable resources to meet criteria for major resource system membership.

"THE LIBRARY SYSTEMS ACT" is House Bill # 260 and Senate Bill #122. The sponsor for House bill # 260 is Joe Shannon, Jr. from Tarrant County. Sponsors for Senate Bill # 122 are A.M. Aiken, Jr., Dist. # 1 (counties in upper north-east corner of Texas) and Jack Hightower, Dist. # 30 (lains area, including southernmost counties of our 26-county area). Our representative is Bill Clayton whose address is House Office Building, Austin.

A NEW

People who need glasses are apt to find the world pretty fuzzy without them. What appears as only a blur without their "specs" swings into sharp focus, once they've put them on.

If only there were glasses we could don quickly when we need to put ourselves, our problems, our successes and our failures into proper perspective! But that kind of lens has yet to be devised.

We all have moments when we seem to be groping and nothing comes clear. We wonder where we are going and, perhaps, why. We have such moments whether or not we go to church on Sundays—for the Church will not give us spectacles, rose-colored or otherwise, with which to view the world. But . . . the Church does teach us of God's world, it does teach us the meaning of Faith, it does show us life in its proper light.

Try going to church. If you do, you may find your "inner vision" getting a great deal sharper.

If Friday's "Big Blow" didn't separate the men from the boys, it surely separated the "oldtimers" from the "new-comers." As you went up and down the street, the new-comers would say, "This is just awful. I've never seen anything worse." Oldtimers would remark, "This is almost as bad as the thirties." Even the optimists had to admit that the weather was on the unpleasant side. However, we all know it could have been worse.

All of us know that unless we get some moisture, this spring will be one we will not wish to have repeated very often.

One day last week a small boy walked into a local grocery store and asked for a banana. His funds were low and he had had difficulty deciding what to buy. The cashier, in an effort to make the would be purchaser happy, offered him the largest banana she could find on the counter where the riper bananas had been placed.

After looking it over good, the young man said, "I would rather have one that isn't so badly burned."

"Burned" bananas are new in my vocabulary. For a long time we've had a family feud going on about the ripeness of bananas. I'm on the side which maintains that over ripe bananas taste better when eaten "as is" or in banana nut bread or fruit salad.

The opposing side nearly always asks the question, "Why did you buy those rotten bananas?" If I've done the grocery shopping. Of course, when someone else does it I always ask, "Why did you buy those green bananas?" Guess it all depends upon which kind one happens to like. From now on, think I'll just buy "burned" ones.

Keys were the cause of much frustration with two Frionans last week. One Main Street merchant had breakfast at a local restaurant early one morning at the same time a salesman from Denver was eating there.

The merchant finished breakfast first and put on a top-coat and went down to open his store. Soon after he got to the store, he noticed he had put on a coat which did not belong to him. He called the restaurant and reported the incident and the Denver man came to the store to trade coats.

After thinking he was fortunate to be able to correct an error so easily, the merchant went on about his usual activities and thought no more about the incident. However, that evening when he started to lock his doors he didn't have any keys. The last I heard about the incident he was hoping the Denver man would find the keys in his coat pocket before he forgot where he got them.

The following morning an employee of the next door neighbor left a night latch on and returned to the place of business a few minutes later to find herself locked out. The merchant had a key for the back door but was out of town. A key which the employee had to the front door wouldn't open it.

If you've ever been standing outside a door trying to unlock it while the telephone on the inside was ringing constantly, you can understand why the employee was frustrated.

When two men with the same name live in a community, there's always confusion. And, when the men's wives have the same name, too, there's more confusion. Gene and Dorothy Ellis live east of Hub and a few miles north of them there's another Gene Ellis, whose wife's name is Dorothy.

The Gene Ellis, who lives east of Hub, recently received a check in the mail from an insurance company with a notation that it was to pay for damages done to a pickup when another driver backed into it. Since Gene has three sons and a number of vehicles, accidents aren't usually a surprise to him but he usually knows about them.

This check came as a total surprise, so he began to ask questions. None of his family seemed to have any knowledge of it, so he checked with the secretary of the insurance agency. As he began to ask questions, the secretary's answers seemed to indicate that Dorothy had been withholding something from him. Not one to give up easily, Gene kept quizzing the secretary.

When the facts were finally put together, this Gene Ellis didn't even own a vehicle of the brand named in the claim which had been filed. The other Gene Ellis probably knew all about the accident, claim, etc. when the check reached him.

A bore has been defined as a person who boasts about his accomplishments or grandchildren when he should be boasting about yours.
