Graduation Slated For Largest Groups

Friona Chamber of Commerce, like those in the cities of Amarillo and Lubbock, are staging a last-minute "Were you counted?" drive to see if several local residents were missed in the annual nose-count.

Chamber of Commerce president Steve Messenger said that two or three families had been mentioned to him in casual conversation this week as having been missed, causing the interest in a local drive. Final deadline for reporting missed people in the census is June 10. The Chamber wants anyone who feels they were missed in the census to call their office at 247-3491.

However, taking a bit of the edge off the local drive was the discovery Tuesday on talking with the county census chairman that at least two new areas in Friona were counted as rural areas and thus won't be included in the city's total when in reality they are bona-fide annexed areas.

One of the areas has only recently been annexed--the Jones Addition--and that's reason enough that it didn't show on census takers' maps as being in the city. However, the other--and more populous area--Friona Mobile Estates, has been in the city for two years now.

The enumerator for this section of town said she would guess that the two areas involved would contain roughly 125 people.

Efforts are being made to get the residents in these areas included in the city's total, as they should be, but it was not known whether an adjustment of this sort could be made or not. If not, then it sort of penalizes a fast-growing city such as Friona, when maps cannot keep pace with city growth.

No population figures have been announced for Friona as yet, as only cities above the 10,000 mark have been given. It was thought that the city's population will approach the 4,000-mark. If it does, then the 1960 to 1970 growth will approach a 100 per cent increase. The official population in 1960 was 2,041.

However, without the 125 or so in the areas mentioned above, we may not make the 4,000 total.

Concerning the accuracy of the census-taking locally, one local worker said no doubt that some few people were missed, but thought that it would be a pretty small number.

Some people who think they were not counted may actually have been counted on a "last resort" form, if the taker knew them personally, or secured necessary information from neighbors, Mrs. Joe Mann pointed out.

"Knowing the people is a big help. If you knew where they work, and when they're likely to be home, it saved a lot of work," she said, indicating that those less familiar and particularly in larger cities, might be more prone to miss people.

Bill Gischler was visiting in Friona last week. It was appropriate that he was here during the season of graduation. Gischler is one of the five members of the first graduating class at Friona High School in 1916.

Two other members of the class, Clyde Goodwine, and Fred White, still live in Friona. The other two are Dempsey Winn, who lives in Amarillo, and Ethel Smith, who lives in California.

Gischler, who is a brother of Mrs. Carl Maurer and Mrs. Viola Trelder, was recalling some events and places in the early days in Friona. He promised to write us a historical sketch, and we're going to hold him to it.

Nervously clearing his throat and assuming a firm stance, the hired man said to his boss, "I've been with you for 25 years and I've never asked for a raise before."

The farmer replied, "Wal, Clem, that's why you've been with me for 25 years."

Graduation exercises for the eighth grade class is set for Saturday, May 23 in the junior high auditorium. Graduation for the Friona High School senior class will be Monday, May 25, at the same auditorium. Both exercises begin at 8:30 p.m.

The Baccalaureate sermon for the senior class will be held on Sunday at the auditorium, also beginning at 8:30 p.m. Rev. Paul Mohr will deliver the message.

The two classes are the largest eighth grade and senior classes in Friona's history. There are 117 eighth graders, and 90 senior candidates for degrees, or a total of 207 prospective graduates in the two classes.

By contrast, last year's senior class had 65 members, and there were 108 in the eighth grade class.

At the eighth grade graduation, Annette Reznik will give the valedictory address. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Reznik, and had a 97.4 average.

Kay Cochran will give the salutatory address. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.A. Cochran, she had an average this year of 95.9.

Also on the program, Trip Horton will give an oral reading, "The Creation." Vickie Pryor, Lisa Taylor and Dorothy Johnston will present a vocal number.

At the high school ceremony, Norman Mohr will give the valedictory address. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Mohr, and was a co-valedictorian in his eighth grade class four years earlier.

Karla Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, will give the salutatory address, and Kay Riethmayer daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Riethmayer, will read the class history.

Class president Danny Kendrick will present the senior gift to the school.

A trio, composed of Risa Howell, Rhonda Garth and Sherrie Shelton will sing.

Professional and recreational will be played by Esther Smith, pianist, and Diane Day, organist.

Board member W.D. Buske will present the high school diplomas. Steve Messenger will perform the task for the eighth grade class.

Pictures of the senior candidates for graduation are found this week on page six, eight and nine.

"Golden Triangle" Sets Pace In Census Growth

The preliminary census figures announced last week by the Amarillo district offices bears out the fact that the three-county area of Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro, often referred to as the "Golden Triangle" in recent years, really is one of the flourishing areas on the High Plains.

The three counties were among only eight of 30 Panhandle counties to reflect population gains over the past ten years.

Deaf Smith County, as expected, set the pace with a population of 18,533, a healthy increase of 5,346 over 1960's 13,187. Castro County grew from 8,923 to 10,292, and Parmer County climbed from 9,583 to 10,374.

The preliminary census figures for the three-county area totals 39,199, a nice gain of 7,506 from the official population figures for the three counties of 31,693 in 1960.

Thanks to the growth of the three counties, Bill Clayton's 72nd Legislative District was able to reflect a population increase, although the three counties to the south of the district experienced decreases.

Clayton's home county of Lamb fell from 21,806 to 17,427; Bailey's preliminary figure is 8,172 from 9,100 in 1960, and Cochran went from 6,417 in 1960 to 5,177. The six-county preliminary total for 1970 is 69,975, compared to the 1960 official census figure of 69,016, a net increase, so far, of 959.

Winners Listed In FCC Partnership Tournament

Johnny Ethridge of Lubbock, former coach at Dimmitt, and Jimmy Fullingim of Petersburg won the Sixth Annual Partnership Tournament at Friona County Club last weekend.

Ethridge and Fullingim shot a 129, to edge the team of John Renner-Max Hickey by a single stroke. Hickey is from Pampa.

Third place in the championship flight went to John Zett and Danny Neese of Amarillo. Winner of the president's flight were Gene Gildewell of Clovis and Jim Harmon of Portales, with a 135. Second went to Ken Bailey and Dave Burson, Amarillo, with a 137. The team of Lewis and Guy Yarborough of Clovis, was third at 140.

The team of Gene Nesbitt-Glen Randolph, Clovis, won the first flight with a score of 138. Dr. B.J. Weaver and Joe Soliz, Hereford, were second at 146. Dwight Whitaker and Jay Beene, local golfer, were third at 148.

Second flight winners were Jack Vaughn-John O. Howard of Clovis, with a score of 144. Clayton Lawrence and John Stockton, Brownfield, were runner-up with a 148. Morris Waters and Jim Malloy, Clovis, were third with a 149.

Ron Davenport, Friona and Lloyd Croslin, Lubbock, won the third flight with a 157. Rex Orman and Tommy Orman of Clovis were second at 158. Billy Wayne Sisson, Hereford and Milton Evans, Friona were third with 158.

Little Leagues Set Schedules

The Friona Summer Baseball program gets underway next Tuesday for Intermediate and Pee-Wee Leagues, for an eight-week run. Complete season schedules are printed inside this issue.

The Senior Little League teams, competing in a league composed of Friona, Farwell and Bovina teams, began play last week.

Four Attend Law Meeting

Four members of the Friona Police Department attended the week-long narcotics school at West Texas State University last week.

Saturday Slated As Poppy Day Locally

"WILL YOU JOIN US... IN REMEMBRANCE?" THIS WILL BE the message of the American Legion Auxiliary to the citizens of Friona on Poppy Day May 23. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 206 and members of Post 206, of The American Legion, as well as volunteers will join in the Poppy Day. As they are stationed throughout our city at numerous places all day offering baskets of Memorial Poppies they will urge their fellow citizens to join them in remembering our Nation's war dead by wearing one of the little red flowers of remembrance.

"We know that everyone in Friona will accept our invitation to join us in remembrance on this Memorial Day," said Mrs. Ethel Bengler, President of Unit 206, American Legion Auxiliary.

The memorial poppies which we will be wearing on this Memorial Day were made by disabled veterans working in hospitals as a part of their rehabilitation," Mrs. Bengler continued. "They are fashioned of crepe paper and wire and the work on the poppy is considered valuable as occupational therapy, in addition to giving the men the encouraging experience of earning money once again. All materials are supplied without cost to the veteran who is paid for his work," Mrs. Bengler proudly stated. "We are a part of the 150,000 volunteers throughout our great Nation who on this Memorial Day will be distributing 25 million poppies. Our greatest satisfaction is from the knowledge that all contributions received are used solely for the rehabilitation and child welfare programs, conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary for veterans and their families." Mrs. Bengler concluded, "Won't you then accept our invitation on this Poppy Day to join us in remembering?"

Census Figures Up, But Miss Estimate

The preliminary population figure for Parmer County for 1970 was announced last Thursday by Robert Butler, district manager of the census.

The county's total was 10,374, compared to 9,583 in 1960. No figures were announced at this time for any of the towns in the county. These figures will be announced at a later date.

While Parmer County was one of only eight counties in the Panhandle showing growth during the past decade, surprise has been shown by some county leaders that the population total was not greater.

Annual Pioneer Day Fete Set In Hereford

The annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day festivities will be held Saturday, May 30, at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Bull Barn. The Pioneer Study Club is in charge of registration. Frank Ball will be on hand to collect annual dues.

Home Demonstration Clubs of Deaf Smith County will serve coffee and doughnuts to guests.

An open house will be held at the Deaf Smith County Museum throughout the day, beginning at 10 a.m. There will be plenty of chairs for visitors, according to a spokesman.

At the annual meeting, highlight will be the naming of the "Pioneer of the Year," a presentation which will be made of Clint Formby of Radio Station KPAN.

Homer Brunley, president of the association, will recognize the senior citizen and persons coming the greatest distance to the program.

Mrs. Bess Werner will give the welcome address. Closing out the activities at the annual meeting will be the election of officers for the coming year.

A basket lunch will be served at the noon hour. Out-of-town guests need not bring food, and are cordially invited to attend the day's activities, according to Brunley.

Chamber Leaders Attend Leadership Workshop

Three members of the Friona Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors attended the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Leaders Workshop last week in Abilene.

Attending from Friona were Steve Messenger, president, Clarence Martin and Ralph Shirley. Martin is also a director on the WTCC board. Keynote speaker for the noon luncheon was F. Ritter Shumway, chief executive officer of Sybron Corporation, Rochester, N.Y. Shumway was recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. His topic was "Responsibility of Business Leadership."

Reagan V. Brown of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, spoke on "Responsibilities of Chamber Committees." Other speakers included Dr. Porter J. Crow, dean of McMurry College, who discussed responsibilities and duties of chamber presidents and other officers; and Leonard Patillo, general manager of the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

The workshop was conducted at the Starlite Motor Hotel in Abilene.

READY FOR BIG DAY. . . . Nora Martinez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gauna, received her cap and gown this week, and is typical of the 90 Friona High School candidates for degrees, who are eagerly anticipating graduation exercises next Monday night. The class is the largest in FHS history.

ON CRUTCHES

Cross-Country Buff Different From Most

A different slant in the cross-country "fad" was seen in Friona last Sunday when 22-year-old David Paul Ryder, of England, paused during his cross-country jaunt.

Ryder is different from most of those who have made previous trips. A polio victim, he is making the 2,830-mile trip on crutches. One of his legs is in a brace.

The walk was undertaken to promote "Riding for the Disabled" as a modern form of therapy, and to give incentive to other handicapped people.

Ryder began his trip on March 30 in Los Angeles. He averages 20-25 miles per day, his biggest day was 33 miles, when he was crossing the desert in California.

"The biggest problem I encounter is wind. It's tough to go against a stiff wind," Ryder told representatives of the Friona Star when he paused near Friona Country Club, having arrived here at about 1:15 p.m. Sunday.

While in Friona, Ryder and the others in his company paused for a dip in the local swimming pool, since it was a balmy day. He then continued his journey, expecting to reach Hereford on Monday morning, and then Amarillo later in the week.

Accompanying Ryder on the trip is his manager, John A. Davies, who is chief instructor at the world's first Riding Centre for the Handicapped, in Chigwell, England, Mrs. Davies, and her brother, Mike.

The three keep ahead of Ryder in a motorized van, which doubles as a camper with sleeping and dining quarters. The party had spent Saturday night in Bovina, and Sunday was to be spent near Summerfield.

During the trip, Davies finds time to give lectures to clubs and organizations describing Riding For the Handicapped and its benefits.

Monday normally is a "resting day," although Ryder still tries to get in 10 or 15 miles, to keep in shape.

Last year the young polio victim walked the length of England, a distance of 858 miles in 59 days, and raised over $2,500 for charity.

Ryder's manager listed the following as reasons for the walk:

1. To bring hope to the many thousands to handicapped people who have too long been denied the pleasure of participating in a recreational activity on an equal footing with the able-bodied.
2. To encourage the recognition and integration of the disabled into a society that is all too often inclined to ignore their existence.
3. To convince the handicapped person that his disability need not necessarily mean a life of seclusion and restriction or of feeling sorry for himself.
5. To raise money to further these aims by giving much needed financial assistance to the pioneers and if possible to build more purpose-built centres to cope with the ever growing need.

"SCHOOL'S OUT!"

AN EDITORIAL

Pickle Packers Pose Pertinent Promotion

By way of celebrating "pickle week"—which, in case you hadn't heard, runs from May 21 to 30—all of the pickle packers are promoting the theme, "Keep our Country Out of a People Pickle," which isn't a bad idea, seeing as how most people get into a pickle every now and then—some more than others. The slogan is to remind us that many of the "pickles" we find ourselves in today are the result of our own making. Air pollution, racial strife, increasing crime, wars, riots, etc., are not necessarily inevitable consequences of men's existence on this planet. Most of these dilemmas (or pickles) can be solved by each individual who has the power to choose just what quality of life he wishes to have.

Hence the pickle packers are calling for a "moratorium on people polemics" during the 10-day period. They are encouraging everyone to "stop practicing the art of controversy and start perfecting the art of cooperation and communication with their fellow men."

As one pickle week spokesman pointed out, the benign little pickle has set an example for the world to follow for some 4,003 years. Pickles are neither inclined to the right or to the left—they usually go right to the middle.

Pause and Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

Diplomacy, rare and valuable commodity that it is, may on occasion be carried to a ridiculous point of no return. In this writer's opinion that was the situation last Saturday when twenty-three Armed Service Posts knuckled under to the threats of anti-war demonstrators.

Such acts of timidity on the part of military commanders and high ranking politicians adds fuel to the flames of rebelliousness.

Percentage-wise the howling mobs constitute only a minute part of the population; too small to represent either public opinion or a large block of votes.

To give way before this boisterous minority and to refrain from celebrating Armed Forces Day is to set a dangerous and unhealthy precedent.

This cancelling out of what has almost become a National Holiday is playing directly into the hands of the world-wide Communist party whose strangle hold on our youth has already reached disastrous proportions.

There is a marked tendency to confuse diplomacy with cowardice.

Every backward step we take calls for another and still another until we are in complete retreat.

What will their next demands include? Will the Anti-Christian movement ably led by Mrs. O'hair deny us the Christmas and Easter holidays?

It is not impossible you know; this one woman, with the help of the Warren court, banned prayer in schools.

Last Christmas there was a demonstration against turning on the lights on our National Christmas Tree in Washington, D.C.

Colleges and universities are being closed at this crucial point in the academic year.

Rather than close, a better plan would be to round up the disruptive element and confine them to quarters—jail if necessary—until the serious students complete the year's work.

As stated in a previous column the deaths of four students at Kent, Ohio was a regrettable affair; however we must bear in mind that they would be alive today if they had been in the classroom instead of on the streets.

Four youths killed is too many, but the war in Southeast Asia has cost us ten thousand times four.

They have given their lives that these Kent students might have the "right to peaceful dissent" but did we hear 10 thousand times as much mourning for them or did their heroic deaths generate 10 thousand times as much publicity?

No, I am afraid not.

They sweat, fight, and bleed to death halfway around the world to preserve our American way of life and at the very instant they are gasping out their last breath of life some of the people they are dying for roam our land, defiling our flag, and shouting obscenities at our President.

Is that the fulfillment of the American Dream? Is that what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they worked out the details of the Constitution?

Is that what Plymouth Rock and the Winning of the West was all about?

Is that why we have Veteran's Hospitals full of wounded half men who themselves had no love of warfare but who had rather live as a free cripple than a whole slave?

To a Patriot all the answers are NO!

And the sooner the riot-spawning demonstrators learn that they are alienating the general public and defeating, rather than furthering their cause, the better off we will all be.

Congrats Seniors!

School Days are at an end for the year, and it's a time for all of us to pause with pride and extend hearty congratulations to all the Seniors.

Their record is distinguished... their honors are many... their accomplishments are a source of pride to all of us. To all of them... from all of us:

CONGRATULATIONS!

If that is your crop, so leafy and green, underneath that ominous cloud... then you may rest assured that they are indeed your hailstones. If you are a farmer in the state of Texas, chances are very high that hail will do some damage to your crops this year. Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I clipped this article from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor column recently. (Sat.) Since Friona is a farming community, I thought you would be interested in this. "A Congressman from North Carolina says he intends to take an official look at policies which permit distortions on the part of publications like the READERS DIGEST."

Rep. David Henderson, vice chairman of the House Post Office Committee, says he is interested in Readers Digest mail subsidies because the magazine in its May issue published a sharp attack on government payments to commercial farmers.

Henderson charged the article, "It's Time To Say No To Farm Subsidies," was full of "outright distortions and mistakes."

"Farmers earn subsidies for cooperating in programs authorized by Congress and designed to guarantee the public an adequate supply of food and fiber at reasonable prices," he said.

"The Readers Digest is supposed to earn subsidies by disseminating fair and accurate information to the public. The size of subsidies to both is determined by how much each contributes to the public interest."

Henderson said, "Readers Digest last year received $9.4 million subsidy in the form of reduced mail rates. He said 'So called slick magazines, 'shared in subsidies totaling $431 million."

If taxpayers are going to pay for the distribution of such information," he said, "the question arises should there be some method of making sure it is accurate and fair."

Henderson said he intends to pursue the matter in the postal rate hearings now in progress.

I, for one, am going to write this man and give him my support.

It was revealed by the Central Illinois Public Service Company that in case you feel sorry for the next hitchhiker you see, don't stop! The results of a year-long study of hitchhikers on the New Jersey Turnpike are likely to change any sympathetic attitudes toward people who try to "thumbrides." The study found that of the hitchhikers encountered, 162 were runaways, 98 military AWOL's, seven escapees from mental institutions, five escaped convicts and 50 persons with criminal fingerprint records. LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT
The Texas Highway Department offered an opportunity for a public hearing to be requested by publication on April 9, 1970 and April 16, 1970, of a notice reporting the proposed improvement of State Highway 214 from Spur 270 (Fifth Street) in Friona, South along Grand Avenue and across the A.T. & S.F. Railroad to present State Highway 214 curve. No requests for a public hearing were received; therefore the District Office of the Texas Highway Department, at Lubbock, Texas, has submitted all the engineering data and information received in connection with the development of this project for approval of the proposed route by the Administration of the Texas Highway Department.

The proposed highway project contemplates the relocation and construction of a two-lane highway with paved shoulders and a bridge over Frio Draw and the A.T. & S.F. Railroad on sufficient right-of-way to provide connections to existing State Highway 214 and county road by the construction of an interchange.

Maps and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected and copied at the Resident Engineer's Office, Littlefield, Texas. 33-tfc

New County Agent Beginning June 1

A joint announcement was made Monday by Bill Grisham, District Agricultural Agent and Archie Tarter, Parmer County Judge, that the Parmer County Commissioners Court had accepted the resignation of Ronny McNutt, Parmer County Agricultural Agent, and had approved of Mack Heald as his replacement.

The resignation of McNutt will become effective May 31, with Heald to assume his duties on the following day, June 1. Heald comes to Parmer County from Floyd County where he has been assistant county agricultural agent for the past two and one half years. He is a 1967 graduate of Texas A&M where he received a BS degree in animal science.

In accepting the appointment Heald says, "I am happy to be coming to Parmer County and plan to continue the good work with 4-H Clubs begun by McNutt as well as to work closely with farmers in the area." Heald is not a stranger to these parts, having lived in the Muleshoe area until reaching the age of seven when he moved with his parents to Jones County. He was an active participant in 4-H Club work and also in FFA as a public school student and also while attending college. Heald is not married.

McNutt will be moving to Childress County to assume his duties of agricultural agent. He will be leaving the Parmer County Office after three and one half years service as county agent. In making the move McNutt says, "I have enjoyed my association with the people of Parmer County and hate to leave, but I feel that this is an opportunity I do not want to miss since I have been looking for an opportunity to move closer to my family at Aspermont, and this seems to be the chance to do just that." Prior to coming to Parmer County McNutt had been in Lamb County for several years.

Mrs. McNutt, who has been teaching in Farwell School for the past year, has resigned her position effective at the end of the present school term.

McNutt will assume his duties in Childress County in June.

NEWLY APPOINTED Parmer County Agricultural Agent Mack Heald, left, and present Parmer County Agent Ronny McNutt, look over some of the plans for future events of 4-H Club members in the county. McNutt tendered his resignation and Heald was appointed to fill the agent's position at last Monday's meeting of Parmer County Commissioners Court.

At Home In Parmer County

By Janice Miller
County HD Agent

Today's senior citizens have seen many innovations in appliances, food, and fabrics to simplify every household task in the home today. Yet, recent research has shown that homemakers spend as much time at homemaking tasks as did the "modern homemaker of 1920."

Minnie Bell, Extension Specialist for aging at Texas A&M University, reports that in 1920 full-time homemakers averaged about 47 hours each week for all homemaking tasks. These included food preparation and dishwashing; shopping; care of the family, house and clothing; and management responsibilities.

In a 1968 survey in Seattle, researchers found that this average was 47-1/3 hours each week. Women spent 13-1/3 hours in 1920 and 18-1/2 hours in 1968 with food preparation and dishwashing. Perhaps less household help or assistance from the children are two reasons for this. However, the reasons will vary for each family and the amount of time the homemaker spends at other household tasks. Have you thought about how much time you spend in doing household tasks?

SEASON UNDERWAY

Senior Little League Teams Split 4 Games

Friona's two Senior Little League teams split their first two games in the Friona-Bovina-Farwell, league which began play on May 12.

Hi-Plains Feed Yard downed Charles Oil in their opening game, but fell to a rally by Shirley Grain last Thursday, and had a 1-1 record after the first week.

Benger Air Park, likewise, won their opener, 11-4 over Security State Bank, Farwell, but couldn't hold on as Charles Oil took a 10-9 lead in the bottom of the sixth. The game was called after six innings by the two-hour rule.

The Benger Flyers had an 11-0 shutout going against the Farwell Bankers in their opener on May 12, with the Bankers scoring all four of their runs after two were out in the seventh. The runs were all unearned, coming on errors.

Benger had a big five-run sixth inning. Clay Bandy and Randy Terry each singled, and Danny Waggoner's double drove in both men. Waggoner later stole home for the inning's third run. Willie Bailey and Weldon Peace singled, and each home on pitcher or catcher errors, giving Benger a 6-0 lead.

Then in the seventh, Grimmsley walked, Eddie Waggoner reached on a fielder's choice and Johnny Bandy slammed a double which narrowly missed being a home run, scoring Waggoner. Clay Bandy and Randy Terry singled, and Bailey's single scored them. He also moved around to score, and the second straight five-run inning gave Benger a commanding 11-0 lead.

In the Saturday game, Benger had a 9-7 lead going into the last of the sixth, but errors and walks were the team's downfall.

After being shut out for three innings, the Flyers sent 11 men to the plate in the fourth, and scored seven runs. Jesse Rando had a run-scoring triple; Johnny Rando had a double which knocked in a run; Clay Bandy scored Rando with a single, and Willie Bailey socked a two-run homer to highlight the inning.

The rally gave the Friona team a 7-5 lead. They added two more runs in the fifth, with Bailey doubling to score Clay Bandy, and then coming in to score, giving Benger a 9-7 lead.

Hi-Plains scored five runs in their last two innings in the opening game of the season to edge Charles Oil, 11-10.

The Feeders got on the scoreboard in the second, as Mike Martin tripled Leonard Wassom home and then scored. They added three in the third, aided by four walks.

Gaining the lead, Hi-Plains scored three more in the seventh. James Sims' double was the big blow. Singles by Wassom and Martin helped the cause.

Against Shirley Grain on Thursday, Hi-Plains started off as if to blow their opponents out of the park, with eight runs in the first inning. The team sent 11 men to the plate. Snyder's home run was the big hit. Terry Thompson, Trip Horton and Richard Bermea had hits in the rally.

The Feeders added two more runs in the second, and had a 10-1 lead.

But here came Shirley Grain. Shirley scored 12 runs in the fourth, sending 16 men to the plate. They were aided by six walks and two hit batsmen, as Friona hurlers gave up 13 walks and three hit batsmen in the game.

NEW TOMORROW

If I had time tonight, I might be a bit frightened. But just now, there's time to feel only excited and happy. It's funny . . . when you're a little kid, it seems as if you go to school forever. Then all of a sudden, it's graduation night, and you know that this is an end and a beginning all at once.

Mom and Dad will be out in the audience, and so will Dan. He sent me these roses. Our minister will be out there too, and I hope he'll notice that the smile I send in his direction will be a particularly grateful one. How often I've gone to him with my childish troubles, only to have him treat them as seriously as if they were of world-shaking consequence. It was he who really taught me how to pray.

He taught me so many of God's lessons. And I am sure that throughout my lifetime I'll be learning them anew and repeating them over and over again. How wonderful to realize that this commencement, this end of an era, is really the beginning of a new tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Graduation time is just around the corner, most local farmers have been busy planting corn, cotton, maize and other row crops, the weather has been in turn "summery" and "wintery" and most things are about as usual. These things are what makes spring a very nice time of year. Then, when you add the flowers blooming, vegetable gardens beginning to come up and beautiful sunsets, you have West Texas at its best.

Of course, we generally have hard rains, spots of hail, high winds and other things we don't especially enjoy, but we do not have to look very far before we find weather conditions which are worse.

It will be a long time before any of us forget the damage done in Lubbock May 11. Those of us who were most fortunate weatherwise that day, are doing our bit to help residents of the Hub City who lost all their personal belongings.

A large amount of money, food, clothing, bedding, furniture and other necessities have been sent from Friona to Lubbock. Is there a better way to express our feeling of gratitude for our blessings than sharing with others when misfortune comes their way? I think not.

For several months Mrs. H.K. Kendrick, who is president of the board of directors of King's Manor in Hereford, has been acting in the capacity of manager. In her zeal for the work and welfare of persons living at King's Manor, Deke has refused to accept a salary.

Deke had put in a lot of hours making plans for Sunday afternoon's Open House and was most anxious for everything to go according to schedule. Can you imagine her surprise when in the middle of a planned tour a voice came over the public address system announcing that there had been a change in plans and a business meeting would be conducted immediately in the reception room.

"I was flabbergasted!" Deke said, "When the vice-president, who has been most cooperative looked straight at me and said, 'I'm going to preside!'"

Not knowing what else to do, I just sat down in the nearest chair."

"After Mrs. Swain Burkett of Dimmitt, who is the secretary, presented me with a citation, Charles Lutrick, the district superintendent, read the resolution announcing that the Kendrick family was to receive an expense paid trip to Hawaii."

"I'm still flabbergasted," she said.

A new service will be available to mothers of pre-school and elementary school age children this summer. Members of Girl Scout Troop 244 will assist with any birthday party for a fee of $5 per party. The girls will plan the party, assist with preparing and serving refreshments and direct games.

To insure proper supervision during game sessions, plans are being made to supply one Girl Scout for each six or seven party guests.

Anyone interested in securing the services of these girls may contact Mrs. W.R. Riedmayer, leader, Pam Wilcox, Jeanine Jarboe or Diane Hamilton.

Someone lost a pair of gold earrings while attending the recital in Friona High School Auditorium Sunday afternoon. If they are yours, call us.

You'll find there is no substitute for newspaper advertising. Remember that whether you need a classified or a full page.

Bovina Feeders, Inc. Holds Open House

New Feedlot Plans Display Of Facilities

Bovina Feeders, Inc., Parmer County's newest cattle feeding facility, will host an open house from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, May 24, so visitors may view the feedlot from the feed pits to the loading chutes. The day will initiate full scale operation of the plant, 4.5 miles east of Oklahoma Lane on FM 145. Because its feeding method is different from most cattle companies of this area, the open house is expected to draw widespread interest. Utilizing the wet grain method, capacity for feeding 15,000 head of cattle is now completed. Pens and bunk space are expected to be expanded to 20,000 head by fall, according to Redge Priest, manager of the corporation. The mill was completed at the location the first of the month. Rations are now being mixed in the mill. Until it was completed, mixing was done in trucks. Visitors are invited to view the office facilities, mill, pens and pits during open house, Priest says. Refreshments will be served. The office, mill and pits are constructed on the east side of a lake at the site of the operation. Pens and bunks line the north, west and south sides of the lake. The mill is completely computerized and automatic, Priest explains. Nothing is left to (Continued on Page 3, Sec. 1)

BIRD'S EYE VIEW --- Bovina Feeders, Inc., Parmer County's newest cattle feeding business, gives this appearance from the air and looking to the northwest. The new feedlot is situated on 240 acres of land and is situated around a lake, which is prominent in the center of this scene. The lot is so designed that all pens have good drainage to the lake. The feedlot is located four and one-half miles east of Oklahoma Lane crossroads on FM Road 145, which is visible between the cultivated land in the foreground and the yard.

BOVINA FEEDERS' MANAGER --- Redge Priest is manager of Bovina Feeders, Inc. He joined the corporation in August of last year just as construction was getting underway and was making plans to receive its first supply of grain and ensilage from area farms. Priest is a native of Florence in Central Texas and has spent a "lifetime" in the cattle business. He joins the directors, stockholders and other members of the staff in inviting everyone to attend the open house at the new feedlot Sunday afternoon from 1 to 6 p.m.

Revolutionary

Wet Grain Method Meets Expectations

Yard Buys Directly From Farmer

"Well pleased" is an understatement of the people involved in Bovina Feeders, Inc. when responding to the question, "How do you like the wet grain feeding method?"

After a little more than five months of feeding at the newest feedlot in Farmer County, Manager Redge Priest says there are many advantages of using high moisture grain.

"We buy directly from the farmers as the grain or corn is harvested. We think the quality is much better," Priest continued. He pointed out that the grain doesn't get hot in storage. Also, while in the pits the high moisture grain goes through a stage which makes the grain more easily digested by the animal.

"Then it's easier for the animal to digest and the animal is thereby able to receive more feed value," explained the manager.

Bovina Feeder's Inc. method is new to West Texas, although it has been tried in other states. Some call the method "revolutionary" to the cattle feeding industry.

The wet grain is bought directly from the farmer and stored in plastic-lined pits. By having a market for wet grain, the farmer may harvest his grain or corn earlier, thereby avoiding risks.

When the grain is received, it is ground by portable grinders and stored in the pits with a moisture content of from 30 to 32. If it is dryer than that, water is added during the grinding process.

After grinding, the grain and corn resemble wet sand. The full pits are kept covered with sheets of plastic.

Ensilage is stored in another pit.

The new feeding method will probably increase corn production in this area, Priest feels. He was more excited last fall with the results of corn received, stating that most had a moisture content of 25 to 28 per cent. The storage pits measure 80 by 400 feet with a grain depth of 16 feet.

Until the mill was completed, feeding rations were mixed in trucks. Now this has been eliminated, with the mixing done in the mill.

The mill at Bovina Feeders, Inc., however, is not a conventional one. In most mills, the grain is processed and also mixed. At Bovina Feeders, the grain is processed by grinders when it is first brought to the feedlot and before it is stored,

The mill serves only as a mixing operation.

Bovina Feeders, Inc. opened its doors to cattle on Dec. 6, 1969, but full-scale operation is now getting underway with completion of the mill early this month.

Priest says the cattle now being fed are about two-thirds steers and one-third heifers, all breeds. By fall, more cattle are expected as pens and bunks will be increased to a 20,000 head capacity.

"About the wet grain feeding method," Priest says, "we feel like we're real competitive."

TIRE BUSINESS? --- Bovina Feeders isn't in the tire business, as such, but the casual observer wouldn't be readily able to determine this after having a look at this tremendous number of tires. Purpose of the tires is to serve as weight to hold the sheet-like plastic over the ground wet-grain which is stored in huge, concrete-floored ground silos until it is needed. The grain is ground wet, as high as 30 per cent moisture, packed and covered until needed. Spoilage of the grain which is prepared in this method is almost nil.

Other major stockholders of the operation, in addition to the directors, include Walt Mabry, Richard London and Lloyd Shackelford. Andy Hurst was an original member of the board, but has since sold his stock. Minor stockholders include Dolph Moten, G. W. Fleming and Troy Christian.

Besides the actual cattle feeding operation, visitors will also be invited to tour the office building. This includes a large reception room, separate MILL BUILDING --- Visitors to Bovina Feeders open house Sunday afternoon will have the opportunity to view the workings of this modern feed mill which is especially designed from the wet-grain feeding process. The mill is different from most of the more familiar feedlot mills in that the feed is mixed here instead of also being processed as well as mixed. After the feed is mixed in the mill, feed trucks are loaded with the rations for delivery to the feed bunks at the various pens.

"HOW'S THE MARKET, WENDOL?" -- Wendol Christian, a director of Bovina Feeders, Inc., studies the information coming in on the teletype in regard to the cattle market. The teletype is located in the lobby of the office building at the feedlot and provides up-to-the-minute information as to what's going on in the beef market. Christian is one of 10 major stockholders who are members of the corporation's board of directors.

In Beef World --

Panhandle May Become Top Producer

Growth Rate In Millions

The Texas cattle feeding industry is one of the most dynamic industries in the nation today, pointed out Lloyd Bergsma, executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders, in a recent speech.

Speaking to a convention of the Panhandle Press Association, Bergsma pointed out that of the cattle-feeding states, Texas has shown a growth of 467 per cent during the past decade, far and away the biggest increase.

In 1960, Texas fed only five per cent of the cattle raised in the top ten states. In 1969, this had increased to 14.2 per cent.

During 1969, according to Bergsma, a total of 2.7 million cattle were fed in Texas, and this number was expected to increase to 3.6 million in 1970, a growth of a whopping 34 per cent.

The number of cattle on feed on April 1, 1970 stood at 1,243,000, and this was a gain of 22 per cent over the past year.

Cattle feeding facilities have grown at a phenomenal rate on the High Plains in recent years, Bergsma said. He pointed out that pen space increased by almost a million during 1969.

Twenty-five new feed yards were constructed, adding 585,000 capacity to the area's total, and 32 feed yards had additions totalling another 400,000 capacity.

The total one-time capacity of all feedlots within 175 miles of Amarillo was 2,000,000 head on May 1 of this year.

Just what the cattle industry means to the High Plains was emphasized in some figures quoted by Bergsma.

The 1970 gross sales in the cattle industry was $1.1 billion. The added value of construction in 1970 is expected to be $450 million.

The industry directly employs more than 2,500 people, and many more in supporting industries.

The expanding cattle-feeding industry has provided a market for five million tons of feed grains, which is the number one farm crop in the region.

Feedlots require 36 million pounds of mixed feed per day. They require $375 million in operating capital every day.

The transportation industry also has benefitted from the mushrooming cattle industry. It must move more than 10 million tons of cattle, feed, beef and supplies each year.

The cattle industry uses some $5 million worth of livestock pharmaceuticals each year.

The growth of the industry has resulted in the addition of the large packing plants to our area, such as Missouri Beef Packers at Friona and the Wilson plant at Hereford.

The packers are expected to go further into the breaking and fabrication processes, providing table-ready cuts for local and extended markets.

Other related industries are expected to come into our region, Bergsma predicted, such as tanneries and dog food companies, two of the major users of packing plant by-products.

The transportation industry is expected to continue to grow, with air freight becoming prominent, Bergsma said. With such countries as Japan as good export markets, it may not become uncommon to see large plane loads of beef from this area taking off daily for overseas markets, he predicts.

Bergsma, in explaining where the cattle industry could go "from here," said we could expect a continued expansion, but at a lesser rate.

There will be larger and more integrated units, he says. Look for new breakthroughs in genetic research, feed additives, animal health and feed processing and animal nutrition, according to Bergsma.

Naturally, any industry this large has some problems, and the cattle industry is no un-

DUAL DUTY SCALES --- These scales, located adjacent to the office building at Bovina Feeders, Inc. are designed to serve two purposes --- for weighing cattle and for weighing grain and feed trucks. Last fall, when grain was being delivered to the feedlot, trucks were weighed on the scales. Since the harvest season, they have been used for cattle weighing. Plans now call for additional set of scales to be installed before another grain harvest season on the opposite side of the office for trucks only. The scales, then, will be used only for cattle weighing.

Parmer County Rates High In Cattle Feeding

Parmer County continues as one of the leading cattle-feeding counties in the state and tri-state region, according to the recently-completed annual survey conducted by Southwestern Public Service Company.

According to the survey, over a quarter of a million cattle were fed in Parmer County during 1969 -- an all-time high of 268,844. This was second only to neighboring Deaf Smith County, which fed 433,400 cattle during the same period.

The number of cattle fed in the county in 1969 represented a 36 per cent increase over the figure of 197,800 fed during 1968, a net increase of 71,044 head.

Feedlot expansion continued at a fast pace during 1969, with such new lots as Bovina Feeders and Cattle Town Feed Lot at Summerfield opening. Existing lots also continued to add to their capacity, and Paco Feed Yard near Hub had its first full year.

According to the electric company's survey, all feedlots in Parmer County had a total of 200,000 capacity as of the first of the year. Deaf Smith County has 264,000 capacity. Both counties gained approximately 50,000 additional pen space during the past calendar year.

Hansford County, on the North Plains, reported a big increase in pen space, to 218,050 as of the first of the year, but only had 51,710 cattle on feed.

At the time the survey was completed, Parmer County had 131,700 cattle on feed; compared to 191,630 in Deaf Smith County. Texas County, Oklahoma, with 117,000 on feed, and Chaves County, New Mexico, with 105,285 are the only other counties in the tri-state region with more than 100,000 head on feed.

Parmer County passed both Texas and Chaves counties for the number of cattle on feed, as opposed to the time the survey was made a year earlier. At that time, the county stood in fourth place in the tri-state area. Presently, it is second only to Deaf Smith County.

The total number of cattle fed in the tri-state area surveyed by Southwestern Public Service Company during 1969 was almost three million -- 2,932,354 cattle. This was an increase over the previous year's figure of 2,142,251.

Likewise, the lot capacity in the region had increased to 2,182,615 from 1,366,901. The number on feed was up from 1,060,638 to 1,365,306.

THOUSANDS OF CATTLE --- This view is looking north from the south side of Bovina Feeders. The new feedlot first received cattle in December of '69 and now has approximately 12,000 head on feed. Present plans call for the lot to have pen space for 20,000 head before construction is halted.

Growth Rate --

financing, pollution, animal disease and public relations. He said in regard to the pollution problem, that new developments and research would some day take care of the offensive odors which are common to feedlots.

"The Panhandle area will become increasingly important as the top beef producing region of the world," he concluded.

Personnel Familiar With Ranch Country Experience Of Work Force 'Runs High'

Many years of experience in the cattle business stand behind the personnel at Bovina Feeders, Inc. which is holding open house Sunday, May 24.

The manager and mill manager have been in the cattle business all of their lives. Redge Priest is manager of Bovina Feeders, Inc. He was born and reared at Florence, in Central Texas and was graduated from high school there. The son of a farmer and rancher, Priest got his start at home. Leasing land in the hill country, Priest raised his own cattle and worked for others as well.

On June 23, 1961, he was married to Mary Robertson of Round Rock. They lived in Central Texas until taking over the management of Bovina Feeders, Inc. and moving here last summer.

The family makes its home in Bovina on Highway 60, including the two Priest children, Regina, six, and Cory, four.

Lynwood Guthrie's mill manager and is in charge of all feeding operations.

He, too, was born and reared at Florence. Guthrie has spent his life in the cattle business, including grain storage and livestock feeding.

Married to the former Donna Fielder, they have one daughter, Tammi, who is seven. The Guthries moved here in September and reside south of Bovina in the Oklahoma Lane Community.

A resident of this area for 18 years, Dick Martin, is office manager. He was born at Vernon, the son of Mrs. Mary Ruth Martin and the late A. M. Martin.

Odell and Littlefield were the towns where Martin attended school before moving to Bovina in 1952 with his parents. He was graduated from Bovina High School in 1954, attended Texas Tech and West Texas State University.

Cattle are not strange to Martin. He was raised on a farm and taking care of the cattle, hogs and chickens were among his chores.

His first job was with the First National Bank in Amarillo. He has also served as cashier at First National in Bovina and was associated with First State Bank of Odessa. In addition, Martin was office manager for Mullins Construction Company in Arizona, Wyoming and Utah, and served as auditor for Title Insurance Co. in California.

He returned to Texas and became associated with Bovina Feeders, Inc. in September. Martin resides on Eighth Street in Bovina. He has two daughters, Kenda eight, and Becky, six.

FEED FOREMAN --- Linwood Guthrie, a Central Texas native, is in charge of feeding the cattle at Bovina Feeders, Inc. Corn Was Early Day Crop In Plains Area

By Nelson Lewis

Today broad ribbons of concrete sweep across the land where not too many years ago a faint wagon track was the only guide to any form of civilization.

The limitless grass met the vault of heaven on a far horizon and hardy indeed were the men and women who dared to cross this vast uncharted sea. Their motives were legion and their story is part of the great western migration that brought about the advancement and the advantages that today we take for granted.

Of major importance to our part of the Panhandle is U. S. Highway 60.

Coming from the west, "sixty" enters the Texas Panhandle at Farwell, county seat of Parmer County.

Straight as an arrow from a Comanche bow, it cuts a path across the southwestern plains county.

Today's traveler, speeding northeastward on Highway 60 passes monument after monument dedicated to Panhandle agriculture. He may not think of them as monuments, and understandably so, for to the casual observer these structures are merely grain elevators. Beginning at Farwell one can not cover too many miles without seeing a group of elevators.

There is something akin to awe in viewing these white towers. They are lone sentinels standing guard over the economy of a wide land.

Against the blue of the sky their white concrete walls are symbols of agricultural strength.

But what of the days before grain sorghum and giant elevators?

In the census of 1880, corn was the only crop mentioned in relation to the Texas Panhandle. Of the 30 counties comprising the greater part of the area, only two were listed as growing corn. Donley with 128 acres and Gray with 46.

The mighty XIT ranch planted some corn at Buffalo Springs in 1885 but it failed as a grain crop.

Farther south at the Yellow House division, the XIT tried again in 1886. Realizing that due to a lack of moisture the crop would never mature, they cut it for fodder two and one half months after it was planted.

The figures for 1890 show 17 counties growing a total of 3632 acres, and by 1896 farmers became aware that corn was more profitable when grown for fodder rather than for grain.

Hope springs eternal and so in 1900 15 counties reported 15,590 acres planted to corn, and by 1910 all 30 counties were growing a total of 179,424 acres.

The latter increase in acreage was caused by a great influx at corn belt farmers migrating to Texas during the decade of 1900-1910. These people had the tools and the know how to raise corn and finding the Panhandle land to be free of trees, stumps and rocks, they naturally expected their experience and hard work to pay off.

Nobody had told them that the land was also "free" of water! It was during 1910 that the State Dept. of Agriculture gave out words of wisdom which must rate as the greatest under statement of the times: "although corn is an important crop there are probably other grains more suited to the semi arid conditions existing in the Texas Panhandle."

While grain sorghum is still the "major" crop of Parmer County farms, corn has proven to be especially advantageous at Bovina Feeders during its first harvest season. In the grinding process, grain sorghum works

"good," but corn is "excellent." This is because corn has a larger kernel and is thus easier to grind. Also, farmers in this area are more interested in harvesting their corn at a wetter percentage than they are grain sorghum. At least these were the findings at Bovina Feeders after one Fall in the business of receiving and processing wet grain.

For years American farmers had been aware of the value of African derived sorghums. Before the turn of the century the XIT had tried sorghum as a forage crop and were reasonably well pleased with the results.

In 1909 three counties, Parmer, Carson, and Collingsworth, were raising sorghum to be used for the production of molasses and sugar. Some thought was given to the creation of commercial sugarmills as an outlet for the sorghum and sugar can produced.

The sorghum grains, these camels of the plant world, proved their worth and by 1914 were as important to Texas as was corn to Kansas.

Since 1919 serious study has been carried on in relation to improving the original varieties of the sorghum family.

Sorghum maize is undoubtedly the king of crops, but he has in his court such nobles as wheat, corn, sugar beets, cotton, and a host of vegetables.

Pasture lands and hay crops also make a valuable contribution to the area's economy.

The first hay grown in the Panhandle was at Old Tascosa, where a Spaniard by the name of Casimero Romero raised a field of alfalfa which he irrigated from a large spring.

The combination of scientific research and hard work is clearly demonstrated during good years when the multi-million bushel storage facilities cannot contain the grain produced.

Surely our crop runneth over.

CLIFF OF CORN --- The high-moisture corn and milo looks like this after it is ground, packed and stored in the pits at Bovina Feeders. Packing of the ground grain keeps the grain from spoiling. Bovina Feeders is one of the first feedlots in this area to use this feeding method.

LOADING CHUTES --- This is where it all begins and ends for the cattle fed at Bovina Feeders, Inc. The modernistic concrete and metal truck loading facilities feature a ramp for "double deck" trucks as well as single and have curved walkways to and from the chutes to aid in the loading process.

County Milo Could Feed 490,700 Cattle

Parmer County continues as the champion maize producer on the high plains, according to figures on the 1968 crop, and if you think the county is getting close to feeding all of its grain, you can breathe a little easier. The county produced a total of 19,628,000 bushels of maize in 1968, which were the latest figures available, or enough grain sorghum to feed an estimated 490,700 cattle.

During 1968, the county actually fed 197,800 cattle, so it would appear that there is enough grain produced in Parmer County to feed an additional 292,900 head over the 1968 figure, an increase of 250 per cent.

Using an estimate for the amount of grain sorghum used in feedlots from Parmer County during 1968, it shows that a total of 7,912,000 bushels, which would leave a total of 11,715,000 bushels not being fed to cattle.

The only Texas High Plains county feeding more milo during 1968 was Deaf Smith County, which is also the only county with more pen space and total cattle on feed than Parmer County. Deaf Smith County fed around 10,120,000 bushels of grain in 1968, and according to estimates, has only 3,771,000 surplus bushels of grain, based on its own county production figures.
