Ford Meets French President

Move To Break World's Energy Impasse On Tap

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique (AP)—Pressing to break a U.S.-French impasse on world energy policy, President Ford told French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing Saturday "cooperation and solidarity among consumer nations" is the best way to blunt rising oil prices.

Exchanging toasts at a formal dinner, the French president in turn indicated a willingness to work out a joint approach to key issues, declaring "it is . . . by concert that we will arrive at a solution to the problem of rising petroleum prices."

Two Days Of Talks

Ford arrived on this Caribbean island earlier Saturday for two days of talks with Giscard d'Estaing. During the flight from Washington a senior adviser told newsmen the President is ready to reach a compromise with France on world energy policy.

Details of an energy agreement remain to be worked out, but the senior official said the move could lead to a major international conference next summer between oil-consuming and oil-producing nations.

It was the first meeting of the two presidents and they reserved face-to-face negotiations for today and Monday.

Senior U.S. advisers indicated that under the proposed compromise, the United States would ease its pressure for France to join the U.S.-sponsored International Energy Agency, while France would soften its insistence for a quick conference between oil-consuming and oil-producing nations.

Such moves would break the impasse between the two nations on how best to cope with the world energy crisis.

But details of any compromise apparently remained to be worked out in a series of face-to-face talks between the two leaders.

U.S. Official Optimistic A senior U.S. official said "with good will on both sides, we can find a solution" to the deadlock on how to approach the energy problem.

But the official made clear that Ford will insist on international meetings between oil consuming and oil producing nations take place until careful preparations are completed.

"We won't go to an unprepared conference," the official declared. If consuming nations sought to negotiate with producers without first reaching a (See FORD Page 3A)

Days To Christmas

Coffee Price Squeeze Next?

PUERTO ORDAZ, Venezuela (AP)—The five Central American countries and Panama agreed Saturday to hold part of their coffee crops off the world market to try to drive up prices. Oil-rich Venezuela agreed to back the countries financially.

The six countries exported $700 million worth of coffee in 1973 and, according to a recent statistic, between 80 and 90 percent of the exports go to the United States. Each country exports an average of 150 million pounds of coffee annually.

The action came 24 hours after major oil producers decided to hike their revenues by 38 cents a barrel.

A declaration signed at the end of a two-day summit meeting here called for limiting the supply of coffee to obtain "just prices."

The national leaders did not say how much would be withheld but said their finance ministers would meet in Guatemala Tuesday to work out arrangements.

Unofficial sources said Venezuela, which expects to have oil revenues this year of $10 billion, would provide about $80 million to finance the scheme.

Coffee prices have been falling on world commodity markets in recent months. Though the wholesale cash price in

New York was just under 70 cents a pound last week, futures contracts for delivery next spring and summer are selling for 60 cents or less. The joint action is intended to halt that decline.

Attending the session were the presidents of Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala and Venezuela and Panamanian strongman Gen. Omar Torrijos.

In the so-called Guayana

Declaration, Venezuela also agreed to finance several investment projects in Central America and the six smaller countries agreed to buy a total of 66,100 barrels of Venezuelan oil a day at current prices.

Under the financing mechanism for the oil-investment swap, Venezuela will set up a fund in its central bank from which the central banks of the six countries can obtain 25-year loans to buy the oil.

Energy Huddle Under Way

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP)—Top federal officials are spending the weekend secluded in the Catoctin Mountains to wrestle with solutions to the nation's energy problems.

The meeting, at President Ford's Camp David retreat, is aimed at developing both short- and long-term energy policies for presentation to Ford.

The discussions may also include quotas in oil imports backed up by some form of limits on the amount of gasoline and fuel oils Americans can use in 1975.

Near the top of the list for consideration will be short-term policies for reducing U. S. dependence on oil imports for the next three years.

In public statements officials have been unanimous in saying the answer to that problem is conservation with the only question being how to do it.

President Ford repeatedly has ruled out the use of a stiff gasoline tax to discourage use. Other alternatives which may be discussed include a return to the type of petroleum allocation used during the Arab oil boycott.

That system amounted to rationing fuel oils and other products but did not ration gasoline to individual motorists.

Ford has also opposed rationing of gasoline to consumers, but this may be considered a standby measure and possibly as a suggestion for an immediate program.

Other Proposals

Other conservation programs considered likely for discussion include:

—Tax incentives or other aid for insulating existing buildings;

—A mandatory program for industries to plan energy conservation and report to the government;

—The possibility of Ford using emergency powers to make sure that steel and other critical materials and perhaps shipyard space as well are made available for energy conservation and production activities as needed.

Electric Power Plants

Still another possibility might be a program to make electric power plants which burn oil or natural gas switch to coal, although officials have indicated there may be serious obstacles to this.

Among those listed by the White House as attending the meeting were Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton, Secretary of Transportation Claude Brinegar, Secretary of Commerce Frederick Dent, Assistant Treasury Secretary Jerry Parske, Federal Energy Administrator Frank Zarb and Council of Economic Advisors Chairman Alan Greenspan.

Twin-Engine Plane Hijacked To Havana

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A twin-engine aircraft was hijacked at gunpoint in Tampa late Saturday and the gunman forced the pilot to fly him to Cuba, federal officials said.

The plane landed in Havana about 10:30 p.m., the officials said.

Witnesses at Peter O'Knight Airport, a general aviation field, said a lone gunman forced pilot Frank Haigney, 30, into the Piper Seneca and made him take off.

Officials in Tampa said the hijacker, using the name Robin Harrison, had called the Tampa Flying Service earlier Saturday to charter a single-engine aircraft.

When he arrived at the airport for the charter, the man pulled a pistol on Haigney and demanded a larger aircraft.

"He just pulled out the gun and said, 'I guess we'll just have to do it this way,'" one airport employee told newsmen.

Everyone Obeys Orders

Paul MacAlester of the Hillsborough County Aviation Authority said the man, described as tall and slender and carrying a blue flight bag, ordered the Seneca fueled up before takeoff.

"Everyone saw his gun and did just what he said," MacAlester said.

John McGinn of the FAA in Tampa said that when the aircraft took off, Haigney activated a special hijack code in his radio transmitter.

This caused a signal to flash on the radar screen at Tampa International Airport, showing that the aircraft was being hijacked, McGinn said.

Car-Motorcycle Crash Kills Youth

JAMES HOWARD JOHNSON, 19, became Midland's second traffic fatality of 1974 when he was killed in a car-motorcycle accident Saturday afternoon.

Johnson's motorcycle and a car being driven by Abel M. Carrasco, 1100 E. Parker St., were in collision just east of the intersection of Butternut Lane and Oak Street at 3:28 p.m.

Johnson, who resided at 1612 E. Magnolia St., was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace John Biggs. Services are pending at Thomas Funeral Home.

Columnist Lippmann Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Walter Lippmann, frequently called the most influential writer on diplomacy and politics of his generation, died Saturday. He was 85 and had long been ill.

Lippmann, a Pulitzer prize-winner, wielded enormous authority through his newspaper column which for years was syndicated by the New York Herald Tribune and later by the Washington Post.

"Lippmann always has his own foreign policy," said the late President John F. Kennedy when told Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev considered the writer the true exponent of American views and government statements only propaganda.

"Sometimes it coincides with ours," Kennedy added.

Lippmann, a ruddy-faced man with twinkling blue eyes, was disturbed by this position and advised Khrushchev, through a mutual acquaintance, to rely on U.S. government sources for the official view and regard his column as merely opinion.

President Ford, on learning of Lippmann's death, issued a statement of tribute.

"With the death of Walter Lippmann we have lost a great American. As a newsmen, political analyst and author, Walter Lippmann played a major role for more than half a century in the development of public dialogue and in shaping a new standard of journalism.

"Mr. Lippmann's contribution to the good society which he envisioned for his country will be long remembered . . ."

Lippmann's opinion had tremendous weight for more than 50 years.

His influence began when in 1914 Lippmann, then only 25, helped found "The New Republic," a magazine which influenced American thinking in social and political affairs.

Lippmann served as an adviser to President Woodrow Wilson at the Versailles Peace Conference in 1918-19. He had already helped to draft Wilson's 14 Points.

Years later, Lippmann said "Wilson made a botch of it. I think he misunderstood what he could do in Europe. "I thought that the general peace that was made at Versailles was a major violation of the commitments we had made in the 14 Points and was bound to lead to war, as we said in the New Republic at the time."

In 1921, Lippmann moved to the New York World and later became its editor. Bright young men and women from all over the country flocked to work in the bubbling, intellectual ferment he raised there.

When the World ceased publication in 1931, Lippmann moved to liberal ideas and all, to the staunchly Republican Herald Tribune. The combination was a success and more than 200 newspapers bought his column, "Today and Tomorrow," which appeared from 1931 to 1967.

At the same time, he poured forth a sheaf of books, such as "U.S. Foreign Policy; Shield of the Republic," lectured widely and made his thoughts known by personal contacts.

Lippmann was a gregarious man and rarely lunched or dined alone. The most distinguished figures of world politics, diplomacy, industry, politics, literature and the arts delighted in "an invitation to his table."

To Believe Is To Make Possible

It is a powerful law that by changing your mental habits so that you can believe, you can at once start bringing everything into the realm of possibility. This does not mean that merely by believing you will get everything you want. Of course not. But it does definitely mean that once you learn to believe, then the seemingly impossible moves into the area of the possible. Things really start going for you.

Dr. Smiley Blanton, distinguished psychiatrist, explained that the primary effort is to develop the "capacity to believe." Everything hinges on one's learning to have faith, so he said.

Some people do not seem able to be believers — either in God, or in themselves, or in their jobs. As a result they never get very far, just go limping along through life. But others have the priceless ability of believing. They are able to have faith in themselves and in their jobs. And so they become the real achievers of this world.

Churchill, one of the great characters of history, demonstrated this belief power. During the second World War, "floating harbors" were desperately needed. He summoned the best engineers in England and outlined how he wanted them to make these floating harbors. They said it could not be done. He replied that, even so, he wanted floating harbors constructed. The engineers became angry, quarreled with him and told him again it could not be done, that what he asked was impossible.

Churchill barked back at them, "Don't quarrel with me, quarrel with your difficulties. Make me those floating harbors. I know you can make them. I must have them. Get busy." And they did make them, and they played an important role in the ultimate victory.

Impossible! Cannot be done! How many times have you said that? Drop the impossibles and think in terms of the possibles — learn to believe — all things will for a fact move into the area of possibility. Everything then shall become different, creatively better.

But how do you learn to believe? Practice believing is the secret; practice believing until you make yourself a believer. Nobody ever learned to master anything except by intensive and persistent practice. So if you want to be a believer, the kind of person who does so-called impossible things, start now to practice being a believer. Simply affirm to yourself, and say it very positively: "I believe!" and then say it again, and still again. Every day many times repeat those two magic words, "I believe, I believe."

William James, father of American psychology, said: "Our belief at the beginning of an undertaking is the one thing (now get that) . . . is the one thing that assures the successful outcome of our venture." Learn to believe and the basic success factor will be present in anything you undertake.

Senate Votes To Water Down Plans Of School Busing Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Saturday to water down a measure sought by foes of school busing as it tried to clear bills that must be passed before Congress can adjourn.

The provision curbing the government's power to halt school desegregation is an amendment to an $8.6-billion supplemental money bill, much of it for the nation's schools. It also includes money for housing programs.

On successive votes of 56 to 27 and 54 to 27, the Senate broke a parliamentary logjam and sent the bill back to the House, which has voted twice for the curb.

However, an effort to force financial action on a measure extending the Export-Import Bank failed on a 49-35 vote that fell 7 short of the needed two-thirds. A new attempt will be made Monday.

The school and housing money bill is one of four remaining appropriations bills that must be passed before the 93rd Congress comes to an end, probably late this week.

Others include foreign aid, military construction and agriculture department funds.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., led the battle to keep the Senate from watering down the House's antibusing amendment sponsored by Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md.

The only question was whether Senate leaders trying to water it down could muster the needed two-thirds vote to invoke cloture and limit debate.

The vote for cloture was 56 to 27, the exact number needed with 83 senators voting.

GOP Leader Robert Griffin favored limiting debate. The Senate then voted 55 to 27 for the amendment of Republican Leader Hugh Scott that, in effect, nullifies the Holt amendment. The Holt amendment, which the Ford administration opposed (See BUSING Page 3A)

Giscard Supporters Beat Men, Woman

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique (AP) — Supporters of French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing kicked and punched two men and a woman Saturday for distributing leaflets protesting the meeting between Giscard d'Estaing and President Ford.

The three, all young leftists, were attacked at St. Marie, a township near Fort de France where Giscard d'Estaing was to visit briefly before welcoming Ford later in the day.

When Giscard d'Estaing's supporters realized the message of the leaflets, they pummeled the three, threw them to the ground and sent them fleeing down a hill where crowds awaited the French leader.

"The presidents are afraid and are trying to hide from the mounting anger of the struggles happening across the world," one leaflet said. Others protested the cost of bringing the two-day summit talks to this Caribbean island, "using police and war equipment."

One leaflet praised the struggle by Arab states "to preserve their natural resources." Ford and Giscard d'Estaing are to discuss how to deal with pricing policies of the countries that export oil.

After stepping from the presidential jetliner, Ford sought quickly to focus the summit talks on resolving U.S.-French differences on coping with the energy crisis.

"We must combine our joint efforts with those of our friends and allies if we are to meet the challenges of the last quarter of the 20th century," Ford said in prepared remarks.

"... The list of challenges is long — including such vital issues as food, energy, finance, and, of course, the fundamental security of our people and the quest for further reductions in international tension," Ford said.

ODESSA—David Michael Milhollon, 13, accidentally hanged himself here late Saturday afternoon. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Milhollon.

Justice of the Peace Jimmie Harris ruled the death was accidental.

The Scott amendment, sponsored also by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield who is in China at present, says the Holt language can be applied except where it hampers enforcement of nondiscrimination provisions of federal law.

That has the effect of protecting the government's enforcement powers under current civil rights statutes.

ODESSA — Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Noel of Odessa have donated their home in the Country Club Estates to The University of Texas System.

The house and grounds are valued at more than $1 million. Regents of the UT System accepted the home donation at their meeting in Austin Friday.

ODESSA—Clark Glen Carter of Rt. 2, Odessa, was burned to death in a house fire here Saturday afternoon.

Odessa firemen said late Saturday the cause of the blaze had not been determined. When they arrived, the entire three-bedroom home was ablaze.

Capt. Robert Cook said Carter's body was found on the floor of the living room.

It took firemen approximately 20 minutes to extinguish the blaze, which caused heavy damage throughout the house.

Negotiations Between TIA, Union Halted By Mediator

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A federal mediator halted negotiations Saturday in Washington between striking ground personnel and Texas International Airlines, a company spokesman said.

The company cancelled service to 23 Texas cities, eight other states and four Mexican cities when the Air Line Pilots Association and its affiliate, Flight Attendants Association, announced its members would honor picket lines set up by the striking ground personnel.

O'Donnell said the airline has decided to accept reservations for flights that could operate Dec. 26. Previously, he said, the carrier planned to accept reservations as of Dec. 19.

It meant a lot to Lippmann for he was the quintessence of the intellectual, mentally curious, well-bred and well-off New Yorker.

He was born here Sept. 23, 1889, the son of Jacob and Daisy Lippmann, and educated privately until he entered Harvard. There he came under the influence of George Santayana, the philosopher, whose purity of thought and polished prose remained with Lippmann throughout his life.

Following what he considered his own straight line in political thinking, Lippmann sometimes looked to others as though he were wandering. For instance, he supported Alfred E. Smith for the presidency in 1928, but had strong doubts about Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 and supported Alf M. Landon in 1936. He was for Thomas E. Dewey in 1948 and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952, but switched to Adlai Stevenson in 1956.

He had a high regard for Kennedy in 1960, but thereafter lost much of his interest in the national scene.

His philosophy of reporting was expressed when the National Press Club in Washington honored him on his 70th birthday.

"The way we interpret news," he said, "is not by fitting the facts to the dogma. It is proposing theories or hypotheses which are then tested by trial and error." Later he added: "I try to say: 'This is what it means.' I try to write about something I understand myself. If I can do that, then I expect anyone can understand it."

He was decorated by France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Norway and in 1964 was awarded the Medal of Freedom, highest American honor for civilians.

Just two months ago, he received the Bronze Medal, New

Sen. Church Of Idaho Pondering '76 Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church of Idaho said Saturday he is considering a race for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination but stressed he is nowhere close to a decision.

The 50-year-old Idaho Democrat, who is a senior member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that "the possibility of my candidacy" was discussed at a Washington dinner Thursday night.

He said the dinner was organized by Bernard Rappaport, a wealthy Texan who was a backer of Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn. Mondale decided last month against running for president.

"I'm simply listening to what they have to say," Church said. "I'm not even close to making a decision and would avoid any premature actions."

Re-elected last month to his fourth six-year term, Church is considered one of the Senate's best orators. He keynoted the 1960 Democratic Convention after winning his Senate seat at age 32.

He has a generally liberal voting record and was an early critic of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. As chairman of a Senate probe of multi-national oil companies, he has been strongly critical of their overseas activities.

With the defeat of Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Church ranks third in seniority on the Foreign Relations Committee behind Sens. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., and Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., both more than 20 years older.

Talmadge Charges FPC Threatens Food Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Power Commission, in an effort to force Congress to deregulate natural gas prices, is threatening the nation's food supply, the chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Saturday.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said FPC refusal to ensure that ample natural gas is available for fertilizer production could reduce the nation's 1975 crop yields by 30 per cent.

"It is obvious to me that Congress can no longer permit Mr. (John N.) Nassikas, chairman of the FPC, and his fellow commissioners to play natural-gas-decontrol politics with our nation's future food supply," Talmadge said in a Senate speech.

He said the FPC has ignored an earlier Senate call for immediate steps to ensure that fertilizer production is assigned the highest priority for receiving natural gas.

Natural gas is a key element in making nitrogen fertilizer.

He has asked that an amendment assuring priority supplies for fertilizer be attached to an energy bill due to be considered by the Senate this week.

Combined manpower and machinery of the Midkiff area farmers made short work of "cleaning out" their neighbor's fields.

Friends Join With Widow To Harvest Midkiff Cotton

By LUANNA CROW
Staff Writer
MIDKIFF — Ernest Braden swiveled his head to survey the land and the people around him. "I've never seen this much activity in my life!" he said.

Nearby, almost 30 Midkiff farmers — men and women — and their hired hands were operating 19 cotton strippers, 2 modules and 15 to 20 trailers. Few of them had ever seen that much equipment working at one time.

They harvested an estimated 100 acres Friday, and the widow of the man who had planted the crop watched from her vantage point in the cab of a pickup truck. Watching the strippers move steadily forward as they stripped the plants of their cotton bolls, Mae Dell Eggenmeyer, Braden's sister, said wonderingly, "Will you look at those things move!"

Forrest Eggenmeyer, her late husband, had been killed less than two weeks earlier in a freak accident on their farm when a piece of his clothing caught in the stripping machinery.

Mrs. Eggenmeyer said her neighbors "made up their mind right away they'd come clean it (the crop) out. We'd have gotten through, but it would have been a long drawn-out affair with just one hand. It would have taken us two more weeks, and they'll have it out in two more hours."

Of the community effort behind the massive operation, she said, "It's just wonderful. You don't know how wonderful they are until a time like this. I knew Forrest was well thought of, but didn't realize."

Her husband had been past president of the Midkiff Gin Inc. and at the time of his death was serving as treasurer of the Midkiff Co-op.

Mrs. Cornelia Brentley is a bookkeeper at the gin her husband Tommy operates. "He was a community leader," she said of Eggenmeyer. She emphasized this was "not a hardship case. I'd call it community love."

Apparently rolling up your shirtsleeves for a neighbor is commonplace in this largely German Catholic community.

Mrs. Eggenmeyer, a small, slight woman who said she was never a housewife but had worked along side her husband, had earlier in the week sought to comfort another woman who had also suffered loss.

And when Forrest Eggenmeyer was killed the week before, her Midkiff and St. Lawrence neighbors brought so much food, that most of it had to be frozen to prevent spoilage.

The food was put to good use Friday, however, when she fed lunch to all the men and women helping to strip her fields. Additional food was brought by some of the wives, and Mrs. Regina "Grandma" Eggenmeyer, her mother-in-law, prepared homemade rolls for the crowd.

The men, grimy from the West Texas sand that raised in clouds as they worked their way through the rows of cotton, straggled in for lunch, still commenting on the rare sight of so much machinery on one field. Mrs. Eggenmeyer had had a hard time stopping them to come eat; they wanted to work straight through.

She said the farmers "all dropped their own work" to clean out her crop. "There's not a one of them that's finished."

Key figures in organizing the operation were her nephews Wilbert Braden and Malcolm Brown, and Jerome Hoelcher.

Once the cotton was stripped, it was taken to the gin for processing the same day. Mrs. Brentley said there was already many loads of other patrons' cotton waiting to be ginned, "but they were in 100 per cent agreement to wait and get the Eggenmeyers' through."

The Eggenmeyers have lived in the Midkiff area 22 years, living at first in a two-wheel trailer. "We started out with seven acres of cotton, or maybe 14, and it froze," Mrs. Eggenmeyer said. "We own 3 1/2 sections now."

She has two sons, Billy and Jimmy, both Texas Tech University students, and a daughter, Sheryl, whose husband Sandy Wilson was among the men out harvesting cotton. Looking out over the fields her husband had planted, Mrs. Eggenmeyer said, "My little family is planning on carrying on just the way Forrest did."

One of 19 cotton strippers moves through the fields to complete a harvest.

Army In Good Shape, Chief Of Staff Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Fred C. Weyand, the Army's new chief of staff, says "the Army is probably in better shape than at any time in its pentecost history."

At the same time, Weyand disagreed with some officers who have complained privately that the requirement to send tanks to Israel and other countries has seriously damaged Army readiness.

Weyand said he didn't think the Army is dangerously short of tanks and other equipment. He said the Army could handle any contingency with its present force, armament and war reserve stocks. Weyand, who became Army chief of staff in October after the death of Gen. Creighton

Delinquent Taxes In Texas Total Top $393 Million

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of the Legislative Property Tax Committee said Friday that delinquent taxes in Texas total at least $393 million.

"A minimum estimate of penalties and interest which have accrued on this amount, and other appropriate adjustments, puts the total outstanding taxes, penalties and interest at between $900 million and $1 billion," said Sen. H.J. "Doc" Blanchard, D-Lubbock.

Blanchard said that if even half this amount had been collected last year, the property tax bills of on-time taxpayers could have been cut by $500 million—25 per cent of the total property taxes collected in Texas last year.

Blanchard, who was defeated for re-election, said he hopes the 1975 legislature would pass laws enabling the state to help local governments collect their delinquent taxes.

Abrams, spoke in an interview before he entered Walter Reed Army Medical Center this week for prostate surgery.

While voicing general satisfaction with the Army's recovery from its Vietnam era difficulties, Weyand said "we still have a lot of work to do."

He said "the volunteer idea is working," but indicated the Army will focus on upgrading the quality of its recruits.

"Intelligence standards will be raised somewhat," Weyand said.

The Army's top soldier also will push the effort, started under Abrams, to thin out the support and logistics personnel and transform that manpower into combat strength.

"We need better balance," Weyand said. "I still feel the Army is not as completely efficient as it should be."

Weyand said he is confident the Army can build an additional three divisions if it needs by reshuffling its manpower and without asking Congress to increase Army strength beyond the presently planned 785,000 men, lowest since before the Korean war nearly 25 years ago.

The Army has been getting by with 13 1/2 divisions.

Weyand said it needs 16 divisions to be in better position to reinforce NATO in event of an emergency and to deal with other crises that may arise elsewhere.

The four-star general said the main reason the Army found itself with a tank shortage is that "we let our production base deteriorate. But, he said, "I have been given authority to increase production" of tanks, antitank weapons and other critical military equipment.

The Army is more than 1,800 tanks short of its current requirement of slightly more than 10,000 tanks.

The Army has said no regular divisions are short of tanks but that many of the armored fighting vehicles have been drawn out of war reserve stocks and from National Guard and reserve units to meet military aid requirements.

Weyand said that if the tank shortage "should get to the point where it would affect training and morale, I would be deeply concerned, but it is not at that point."

Grain-Fed Cattle Total Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — New inventory figures show grain-fed cattle continue to decline and that there is little prospect for adding more to feedlots soon.

As of Dec. 1, the Agriculture Department said Friday, a survey in seven major beef-producing states showed 6,626,000 head were being fattened for slaughter, down 30 per cent from a year earlier and 32 per cent below Dec. 1, 1972.

Further, the department said, during the November feeders placed only 1,168,000 cattle in fattening pens, a decline of 29 per cent from placements during the same month last year and 36 per cent fewer than in November, 1972.

36,600 Samples Of Cotton Classed In Abilene By Agriculture Office

ABILENE — The U. S. Department of Agriculture Cotton Classing Office here processed 36,600 samples during the week ending Dec. 12, a spokesman said Saturday.

This brought the seasonal total to 67,300 samples classed. By the same date last year 367,000 samples had been classed.

Grade 42 was predominant at 42 per cent of the total. Grades 41 and 52 each comprised 20 per cent, and grade 51 accounted for 11 per cent. Thirteen per cent was reduced in grade because of bark.

Staple lengths were: 41 per cent staple, 31; 33 per cent staple, 30, and 15 per cent staple, 32.

Micronaire readings were within the 3.5 to 4.9 range for 83 per cent of the samples. Four per cent was high mike and 13 per cent was low mike.

The local cotton market continued inactive. Some mixed lots were sold for an average price, but no prices for specific qualities were reported to the Agricultural Marketing Service. Cottonseed prices paid farmers ranged from 120 to 130 dollars per ton.

South Korea Ousts U.S. Missionary

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — An American Methodist missionary who worked for the restoration of civil liberties in South Korea was deported Saturday as his wife and children watched in tears at the airport.

"I must obey God rather than men and speak according to my conscience," said the Rev. George Ogle in a written statement issued after he was placed on a Korean Air Lines flight to Los Angeles.

The 45-year-old native of Pittsboro, Pa., was ordered out of the country for criticizing the authoritarian regime of President Chung Hee Park. The plane made a brief stop in Tokyo and had another scheduled in Honolulu.

Mrs. Ogle and the couple's four children followed in cars with other missionaries when immigration authorities picked up her husband and drove him to the airport, but they were unable to say goodbye because he was already on board the plane when they arrived. The missionaries sang hymns. Witnesses said the clergyman shouted, "Long Live the Republic of Korea," and "God be with the Korean People," as he climbed the ramp to the aircraft.

A group of Christians staged a brief demonstration at the Ogle home as he was taken away, and some national church groups petitioned Park to reconsider the deportation.

Shortly before the ouster, opposition and ruling party lawmakers scuffled on the floor of the national assembly after Rep. Chung Il-Hyung, an opposition New Democrat, urged Park to step down.

The Justice Ministry ordered the deportation on grounds that the missionary, who lived 20 years in Korea, had participated in illegal political agitation and demonstrations through his preaching and public speeches.

Rev. Ogle was one of nine American missionaries who aired concerns over alleged suppression of rights by the Park government to an aide of President Ford during Ford's visit to Seoul on Nov. 22-23.

Trade Bill Wins Senate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trade bill containing a historic appeal for human rights in Communist countries has won a surprisingly easy Senate victory, virtually assuring final congressional approval next week.

The bill, which assumed priority status because of economic upheaval brought on by world food shortages and high oil prices, was passed by the Senate 77 to 4 Friday night.

The vote ended a whirlwind debate that provided little opportunity for senators to discuss the measure, which sponsors concede grants the President unprecedented powers in the trade field.

The bill now goes to conference with the House, which passed a similar measure last December. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., second ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee, said, "I see no obstacles to final enactment." Because the two versions are similar, Congress is expected to send the completed bill to President Ford for his signature before adjourning, probably next Friday.

Most of the seven hours of Senate debate on the bill was over its least-controversial section: A provision requiring Communist countries to drop barriers to emigration before they qualify for U.S. trade concessions.

The compromise version of the emigration amendment was approved 88 to 0 and was hailed as a precedent-setting attempt by the United States to use its economic power to insure the survival of human liberties behind the Iron Curtain.

The compromise allows the President to waive the emigration requirement for 18 months. During that period, the Communist countries could qualify for U.S. trade benefits so long as the President was satisfied that emigration barriers had been removed.

The emigration requirement is aimed at aiding efforts of Jews to leave the Soviet Union. The compromise was worked out under an unusual arrangement in which members of Congress negotiated with the White House, and President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger dealt directly with Soviet officials.

As a result of those negotiations, the Soviet Union agreed it will place no undue impediments in the way of free emigration.

The way was cleared for Senate passage of the trade bill earlier Friday when on a 71 to 19 vote senators agreed that no unrelated amendments would be considered. That shut off consideration of dozens of proposals from senators who sought to use the important trade bill as a vehicle for other provisions.

The bill would allow the President to negotiate with other nations in an effort to reduce barriers to free trade. It would authorize economic retaliation against those nations that withhold critical raw materials, such as oil, from world markets.

Also included are federal benefits for workers whose jobs are lost because of imports and for communities and industries threatened by import-related unemployment.

U.N. Security Council Okays Another Cyprus Peacekeeping Unit Extension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations Security Council has approved another six-month extension of the U.N. peacekeeping force that has been on Cyprus since 1963.

The council voted 14-0 Friday night, with China abstaining, for a resolution to keep the force on the Mediterranean island.

It was the first extension of the mandate for the Cyprus force since a coup last July and the subsequent invasion by Turks who now occupy about 40 per cent of the island.

In other U.N. developments: —The General Assembly urged the Security Council "to convene urgently in order to take effective measures... to put an end to South Africa's illegal occupation of Namibia," otherwise known as South-west Africa.

—The General Assembly condemned U.S. importation of chrome and nickel from the breakaway British colony of Rhodesia and called for Congress to repeal legislation permitting the trade.

—The assembly voted to condemn imprisonment of political prisoners by the Rhodesian regime and what it called "intensified" military intervention in Rhodesia by South African security forces.

—The General Assembly expressed deep concern at French nuclear tests held this year in the South Pacific. Only France voted against in the 111-1 vote. The 20 abstainers included the United States, Britain and Japan.

Ford Manages To Oust Saxbe Without Bitterness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thanks to a little luck, President Ford has made his first Cabinet change without the bitterness which high-level upheavals often produce.

Ford managed to lift Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe out of the Cabinet by rewarding him with a job he's always wanted — ambassador to India.

The move, announced Friday by the White House, pleased critics who have urged Ford to replace the Cabinet holdovers from the Nixon administration.

The Indian government approved, Saxbe was happy and his delight quieted grumblings from supporters who had hoped he would continue to run the Justice Department.

Ford took advantage of the coincidence that Saxbe has had a long-time interest in a country where the present ambassador, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was ready to leave. Moynihan, on leave as a Harvard professor, must return by February to preserve his tenure.

At a news conference after the White House announcement, Saxbe said the assignment is "something I've wanted for a long time, and it will be a real adventure for me."

He confessed regrets about leaving unfinished work at the Justice Department but said he did not feel that he had been forced out as attorney general.

Saxbe said he accepted Ford's offer without a second thought and never was told whether the President would have kept him on as attorney general had he refused the diplomatic assignment.

Saxbe said he and Ford have not discussed who should succeed him at the department and that he will make no attempt to influence the President's choice.

"But if I had a recommendation to make," he volunteered, "it would be Deputy Atty. Gen. Laurence H. Silberman, whom he described as 'forceful and direct, a great detail man.'"

But Ford reportedly already has settled on Edward H. Levi, president of the University of Chicago for the past eight years, for the nomination.

Levi, described by associates as a conservative Democrat, refused to say whether the job has been offered. A university source said Levi probably would accept it if Ford asks him.

Saxbe will continue as attorney general until the Senate confirms his nomination as ambassador or until a new attorney general is confirmed, whichever comes first. That means the transition probably won't take place until late January.

Saxbe's diplomatic assignment will give him a pay increase. His salary as attorney general is $85,000, instead of the $60,000 for other Cabinet officers. He had to accept the lower pay because of a prohibition on members of Congress receiving higher pay through switching to an executive branch job during the same congressional term in which they voted pay raises for that job.

Saxbe, who quit the Senate to take over the Justice Department a year ago, will become a diplomat after the next Congress convenes and can accept the ambassador's $80,000 salary.

Canine Distemper Outbreak Spreading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Something called the Center for Short-Lived Phenomena has had news for raccoons and skunks.

Not to mention larch and spruce trees.

The harbinger of these grim preholiday tidings is part of the Smithsonian Institution, and it obviously hopes they will indeed be short-lived.

The Center for Short-Lived Phenomena operates a global environmental network of some 3,000 scientists and institutions in 148 countries to report transient events of scientific interest.

An outbreak of canine distemper is spreading rapidly among racoons and skunks in Massachusetts, the center reports. First cases of the viral disease were spotted in March, and by August it was reported to have afflicted many racoons in the Boston area.

Since then affected animals have been found in other parts of the state. The disease has been found in dogs in the Beverly area.

Canine distemper is marked by uncoordinated movement and aggressive behavior, followed by convulsive seizures and death. The last major outbreak occurred in New York state in 1972.

England's Devon and Stafford counties have a different sort of problem. For several years plantations growing Japanese larch trees have experienced severe and unexplained damage.

Now forestry officials have identified the culprits: African crested porcupines with a penchant for stripping bark.

It seems two of the spiny rodents, whose range is from Africa to southern Europe, escaped captivity in England in 1972.

English Forest Commission officers are trying to trap them live before they cause damage at other tree farms.

A related species, Hodgson's porcupine, has destroyed Norway spruce in Devonshire. A mature pair has been captured but there is concern over how many descendants they may have produced during five years of freedom.

The Indian government approved, Saxbe was happy and his delight quieted grumblings from supporters who had hoped he would continue to run the Justice Department.

Ford took advantage of the coincidence that Saxbe has had a long-time interest in a country where the present ambassador, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, was ready to leave. Moynihan, on leave as a Harvard professor, must return by February to preserve his tenure.

U.S. Industrial Production At Two-Year Low, Fed Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production is at its lowest point in nearly two years and the government says it will continue to decline.

The Federal Reserve Board said Friday that industrial output declined 2.3 per cent in November, the largest monthly drop in more than four years and one of the largest in the last 20 years.

The Fed said the 24-day coal strike made the November slump worse than it otherwise would have been. But it noted that "reductions in output were relatively large and widespread in all categories" of production.

The board warned that further production cutbacks were being made and would be reflected in the December output.

The drop, fourth in the last five months, left total production 4.3 per cent below a year ago and lower than at any point since December 1972.

Production of both durable consumer goods, such as autos and appliances, was down along with nondurable goods such as clothing.

AFL-CIO Slates Media Reception

Zoning Commission To Meet Monday

A request for specific use zoning for on premises consumption of alcoholic beverages heads up a five-item agenda for the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission Monday.

Applicant Gene McCarthy, representing Greater Texas Entertainment, Inc., is requesting the specific use zoning in lieu of present local retail zoning on a proposed site in the Colony Place Addition, on Wadley Street near Garfield St.

McCarthy stated in his application to the city's planning department that the zone change was needed in order for him to serve alcoholic beverages with meals.

E. C. Brannon is requesting a zone change from temporary single family residence to local retail with specific use for utility storage on a two-acre tract of the H. P. Hilliard Survey annexed into the city during October.

Brannon has several storage units located on the property north of FM 868 and west of Midkiff Road. He is requesting the zone change in order to bring the property in line with city zoning requirements. The storage units were located on the property before the city annexed the land north of FM 868.

Warren Fallier is requesting a zone change from office and single family residence to commercial for a six-acre tract of land out of the H. P. Hilliard Survey located west of County Road 1224 and south of Interstate Highway 20.

Fallier is requesting the zone change in order to make the land available for use as an oil field storage area.

The commission will consider a request by the City of Midland for a zone change from local retail to commercial on a tract encompassing the area between New York and California streets on the north and south, and Main and Big Spring streets on the east and west.

The city is requesting the mass zone change because of numerous requests during the past two years for commercial zoning in that area of South Midland.

Frank Welch is requesting consideration for a replat of two lots in the Avaton Addition at North I Street and West Golf Course Road.

Bridge Playing Convict's Escape Real Grand Slam

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Jerald E. Meadows, 34, has pleaded guilty to escaping from a federal corrections institution in Texas.

He told Federal Judge Roger D. Foley that he escaped June 27 after being furloughed to play in a bridge tournament in Las Cruces, N.M.

Finance Committee Okays Assistance For Working Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved Saturday a $600 million-a-year program of special government assistance to the working poor.

The committee wrote into the same bill limits on how far the federal government will go in spending $2.5 billion a year to subsidize state programs for keeping people off the welfare rolls.

A third provision is aimed at increasing federal monitoring of state child-support programs and helping locate parents who desert their children. Immediately after sending the package to the Senate floor, the committee filed a petition designed to prevent a filibuster on the bill and to block addition of unrelated amendments during the closing days of the 93rd Congress.

Come Home For Christmas, Mother Urges Patty Hearst

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. — Catherine Hearst told her fugitive daughter Patricia Saturday that the family will move from its 22-room mansion to get away from memories of Patricia and her kidnapping.

Word of the planned move by Catherine and Randolph Hearst to a San Francisco apartment is in an open letter pleading with the newspaper to come home for Christmas.

The 300-word letter was published in today's editions of the San Francisco Examiner, the newspaper edited by Miss Hearst's father, and read by Mrs. Hearst in recordings broadcast on area radio and television stations.

"How we miss your bright face and the warmth of your company," Mrs. Hearst wrote.

Hours of Daily Prayer "Christmas is almost upon us again, and I'm sure you must realize our agony as we face the possibility of a Christmas without you," she said.

"I spend many hours a day praying that God will inspire you to come back to us, hopefully for Christmas.

"It breaks my heart that you cannot see that you will have no real problems if you will only come in of your own accord," she said. "It is so safe and simple. All you have to do is go to any lawyer, radio or TV station or newspaper."

She also revealed the family's plans to leave the French provincial mansion in this well-to-do community 20 miles south of San Francisco where Patricia spent much of her life.

"Dad and I find it too painful to continue living here, with so many memories of you, and she last was heard from June 7 on a tape recording left at a Los Angeles radio station. In it she vowed to continue fighting oppression. Joining her were the voices of William and Emily Harris, the only other SLA members still at large and known to have survived a fiery May 17 shootout with Los Angeles police.

Today, Miss Hearst is a fugitive wanted by the FBI for bank robbery and by local authorities for kidnapping. "We spent Thanksgiving in the snow," Mrs. Hearst wrote in her letter. "You were always on our minds, and there are no words to convey to you the depths of our misery."

The letter includes the latest news about Patricia's younger sisters. It also mentions that Miss Hearst's grandmother and an elderly aunt both died in the past month.

"We never dared tell them what happened to you," Mrs. Hearst said, "because the doctor was afraid that they were too old and feeble to stand the shock."

Israeli Police Kill Four Terrorists

By The Associated Press

Israeli border police killed four Arab guerrillas who slipped into Israel from Lebanon Saturday, but the Arabs killed one policeman and wounded another before dying, the Israeli command said.

It said it assumed the Arabs were out to slaughter Israeli civilians.

In Beirut, the guerrilla news agency Wafa quoted the Palestine Liberation Organization as saying the four were PLO men operating from inside Israel who "inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and blew up storage installations of military equipment" before the Israeli patrol killed them.

The Israeli command made no mention of damage to storage facilities.

Sixty Israelis have been killed in guerrilla raids so far this year.

continued to let terrorists operate from its territory, but did not elaborate.

The guerrillas, who cut their way through a security fence, carried assault rifles, grenades, commando knives and leaflets signed by Al Fatah, the biggest Palestinian guerrilla group, the command said.

The leaflets said, "The Al Fatah movement is fighting so that Jews, Moslems and Christians can live together in peace without discrimination in Palestine."

It was the latest escalation in Arab-Israeli violence, touched off Tuesday when suspected Israeli agents rocketed guerrilla offices in Beirut, causing heavy damage and slightly wounding five persons.

Wednesday night a terrorist set off grenades in a Tel Aviv movie theater, killing himself and two other persons.

The next day Israeli jets blasted a suspected Palestinian terrorist camp on the edge of Beirut, killing a Palestinian woman and wounding 20 other persons.

New System To Drop Price To Independents

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The price of oil sold to big oil companies will rise but that sold to independent operators and state-run oil companies will drop under the new pricing system adopted by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, a top oil minister says.

Since the bulk of the oil the United States imports is handled by Exxon, Gulf and other big companies, American consumers are likely to pay almost a cent a gallon more on imported oil to cover the 30-cent increase on each barrel of oil.

At the same time, independents and countries like France and West Germany which distribute oil through government-run monopolies will get a 40-cent a barrel decrease, Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said in an interview published Saturday in the Beirut newspaper Al Anwar.

The reduction to independent companies lacking their own production facilities in the 13 nations of OPEC is consistent with the recent indications of several Arab oil countries that they wish to increase direct sales to such operators, bypassing the big companies.

Yamani, who had arrived at the OPEC meeting in Vienna last week declaring that prices must go down, said reports of an over-all price increase were "either a misunderstanding or the desire to create a provocative atmosphere."

However, Iranian oil experts calculated that the new price will add $20 million to Iran's 1975 oil income, which is expected to total $25 billion. The new prices become effective Jan. 1 and are to continue for at least nine months. Yamani said the new base price is $10.12 a barrel for everybody, but that for the big companies it represents an increase of 38 cents while for the independents and others it represents a reduction of 40 cents. Yamani said the major companies have been paying $0.74 and the independents and others $10.59, plus 11 cents for production costs and 30 cents so-called profit margin.

Oil sources said the major companies handle 90 to 95 per cent of OPEC oil sold to consumers, while the other 5 to 10 per cent is sold to independents and government concerns.

The big companies own 40 per cent of the total production on a concession basis but also buy the major part of the average 60 per cent share of production owned by the various governments.

Oil country sources contend that the major companies can absorb most of the increase in their profits, but the companies have indicated that consumer prices will have to be raised to pay the new price.

The report cited total daily receipts during November at $15,443 for the department while $9,490 of the monthly figure was gained on the strength of building permit applications.

Building permit valuations hit the $35.3 million mark during November, more than $2 million above the 1973 figure for the same period.

The month of December started two weeks ago with an average permit valuation figure of $278,817, but last week's permit total made it to only $59,500.

A total of nine permits were issued the second week of December, and a single new residential permit highlighted the permit applications.

The new home application was issued to the Paul Noel Construction Co. at a construction cost total of $40,000. The new residence will be located at 2007 Hodges St.

Commercial alterations total of $3,200 on the strength of two applications. RAM Inc., a Levi sales outlet at 3001 W. Cuthbert St., was issued a permit for the construction of a sign valued at $1,000.

Corncob Pipe Shortage Goes Up In Smoke

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department wants it known that the corn cob pipe has been rescued from the brink of extinction by the development of a new cob.

"Before this discovery, the corn cob pipe business was nearly burnt out when farmers began producing mostly hybrid corn shortly after World War II," the department said Friday.

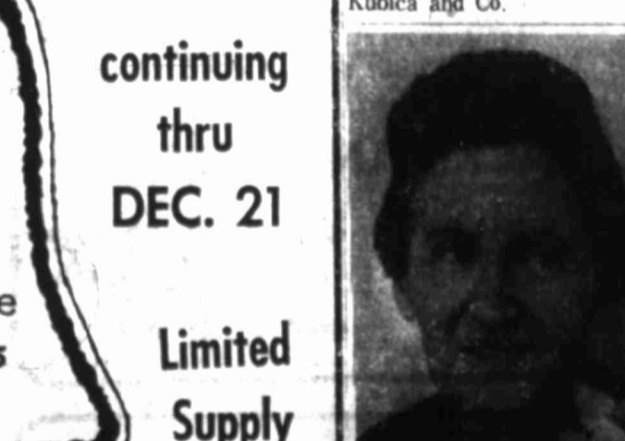

It seems hybrid corn was great for producing more grain but terrible for pipe cobs. For a century, officials said, the corn cob pipe industry has been almost exclusively in the Washington, Mo., area.

First National Votes Dividend

Directors of The First National Bank of Midland have voted to recommend for approval by shareholders a 200,000-share stock dividend.

The announcement was made by C. J. Kelly, president and vice chairman of the board.

The recommendation is subject to approval by the Comptroller of Currency. If approved, it will be voted on at the annual stockholders meeting next February.

The action would increase the outstanding shares to 1.6 million and the capital stock account from $7 million to $8 million, based on the stock's par value of $5 per share.

Under the plan, Kelly explained, a shareholder would receive an additional share for each seven shares owned as of the record date of the stock dividend.

The board also approved an increase in the surplus from $7 million to $8 million. Both increases would be accomplished by the transfer of $2 million from undivided profits.

Fertilizer Supply Crunch, Higher Prices Expected To Continue In '75

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1975 harvest as government fertilizer supply crunch and predicts higher prices are expected to continue next year if farmers plant as many more acres for throughout the world. And world demand for fertilizer is expected to continue.

"New fertilizer plants are under construction — with the industry estimated to be spending $5 billion over the next five years — but on-stream production is still 18 months to three years away," Joseph P. Sullivan, president of Estech, Inc., told this week's National Agricultural Outlook Conference.

Experts in the Agriculture Department said if corn prices are around $4 per bushel next spring, as they may be, then farmers probably will want much more nitrogen fertilizer. The outlook right now, they acknowledged, is very iffy.

Sullivan, who also is chairman of the industry's Fertilizer Institute, said shortages in developing countries are frequently the result of their own production plants not operating at capacities.

"India is a classic example, where it is our belief that nitrogen production did not exceed 55 per cent of capacity in the last year," Sullivan said. "If they could move their present operating rates up to even 80 per cent of capacity, there would be an additional million nutrient tons of nitrogen, and between $700 and $800 million worth of balance of payment problems could be avoided by these countries."

Sullivan also took a dim view of efforts to curb U.S. fertilizer use on lawns, house gardens, golf courses and other nonfarm areas to make more available to hungry nations as soon as advocated.

Some projections show such uses account for as much as 15 per cent of U.S. fertilizer production. Sullivan said that was not true and that where "reasonably accurate figures are available" the U.S. nonfarm use of fertilizer accounts for only 3.5 per cent.

"Thus, the diversion of non-farm fertilizers to the export is not a realistic government move," Sullivan said.

Midland College Offering Numerical Analysis Course

Midland College will offer its first course in elementary numerical analysis this spring semester. Instructed by Dr. Charles Wakefield, computer science department chairman, Dr. Wakefield received his Ph.D. in chemical physics in 1969 from The University of Texas where he was involved in research prior to coming to Midland College. While in Austin, he developed a chemical kinetics numerical integration procedure currently being used at the university and at the Defense Academy in Japan.

His course here is structured to meet a growing demand for a scientifically oriented programming course in the Midland area.

Designed for engineering, science and mathematics undergraduates, the course would also serve as a refresher for persons with industrial jobs whose work requires numerical computations on a digital computer.

The course Dr. Wakefield has designed will derive and analyze solution techniques of numerical analysis proved most useful for the solution of industrial problems on modern high speed computers.

In addition to a mathematical formulation, each solution scheme will be presented in flow-chart form suitable for programming purposes. FORTRAN IV programs will be developed from the flowcharts and executed on an NCR Century 200 digital computer.

Because this is a first course in numerical methods, no attempt will be made to give rigorous proofs of all theorems or to present a compendium of all commonly used methods. Proofs will be given where basic principles are involved which fall within the area of cognizance of the student at this level.

Topics covered will be FORTRAN IV rules for programming, number systems and errors, solution of nonlinear equations, interpolation and approximations, differentiation and integration, and solution of simultaneous linear equations.

It is assumed that the student have a limited background in calculus or be enrolled in a calculus course simultaneously.

The course will be offered from 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesday evenings during the spring semester.

Campus Computers Tell You What To Eat On Good Diet

By TIMOTHY HARPER
 MADISON, Wis. (AP) — If you're eating too much meat or not enough asparagus and don't know it, the University of Wisconsin's computer has some advice for you.

University researchers have programmed the campus computer to tell you what to eat.

Under the program, people fill out computer cards of everything they eat for a day or even a week, says Prof. Nancy Johnson, university nutritionist.

The data is fed into the computer, digested and then returned to the subject with percentages of various common nutrients in the diet for that day or week.

"From this information, we can then tell the person what he needs more or less of," said Mrs. Johnson. "We are very specific."

For example, she will check the computer's assessment of the person's diet and then recommend more asparagus, less meat or other changes in the individual's eating habits.

"We do this with an eye toward the cost," she said. "Many people eat more meat than they need, so we tell them to cut down and spend their money on other less expensive foods they need. When people are short on Vitamin C, we'll often tell them to eat more cabbage because it's a cheap source of Vitamin C."

She said the computer's calculations are based on recommended daily intakes of a dozen nutrients, taking into account the person's age and sex.

Mrs. Johnson said the program is aimed primarily at university research, but has been opened to the public.

"Anybody can do it," she said. "So far we've had about 5,000 or 6,000 diets run through."

Great Man For America

Midland and area residents are well aware, of course, of the very high regard in which Congressman George Mahon is held by his constituents here and throughout his West Texas district.

Some, however, may not realize the great respect and admiration with which he is held by his colleagues in the nation's capital. It is something to behold.

Midlanders attending the unveiling of the portrait of George Mahon, chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, in Washington last week observed this seemingly unanimous feeling toward their congressman by his associates in Congress with a great deal of delight and pride.

This wasn't surprising in the least to West Texans, knowing the type and character of the veteran House member being honored on that particular occasion. But it was reassuring to them to witness first hand his tremendous popularity among those with whom he labors daily on Capitol Hill.

This isn't to say that all of his associates agree with him all of the time. Nothing could be further from fact. But it is to say that they admire him as a gentleman and respect him as a legislator.

The very same condition holds for the congressman's charming wife, Helen, who rated a kiss from the President as he greeted her at the ceremony. George and Helen Mahon make a great team, as one of the ceremony speakers said.

Another speaker termed Mahon "a great man for America," which, as the song goes, "nobody can deny." President Ford, in citing his respect for Mahon, said the congressman "has a hammerlocking grip on unnecessary government spending."

The President added that while serving in Congress, he never met anyone "more decent, honorable, dedicated" than George Mahon.

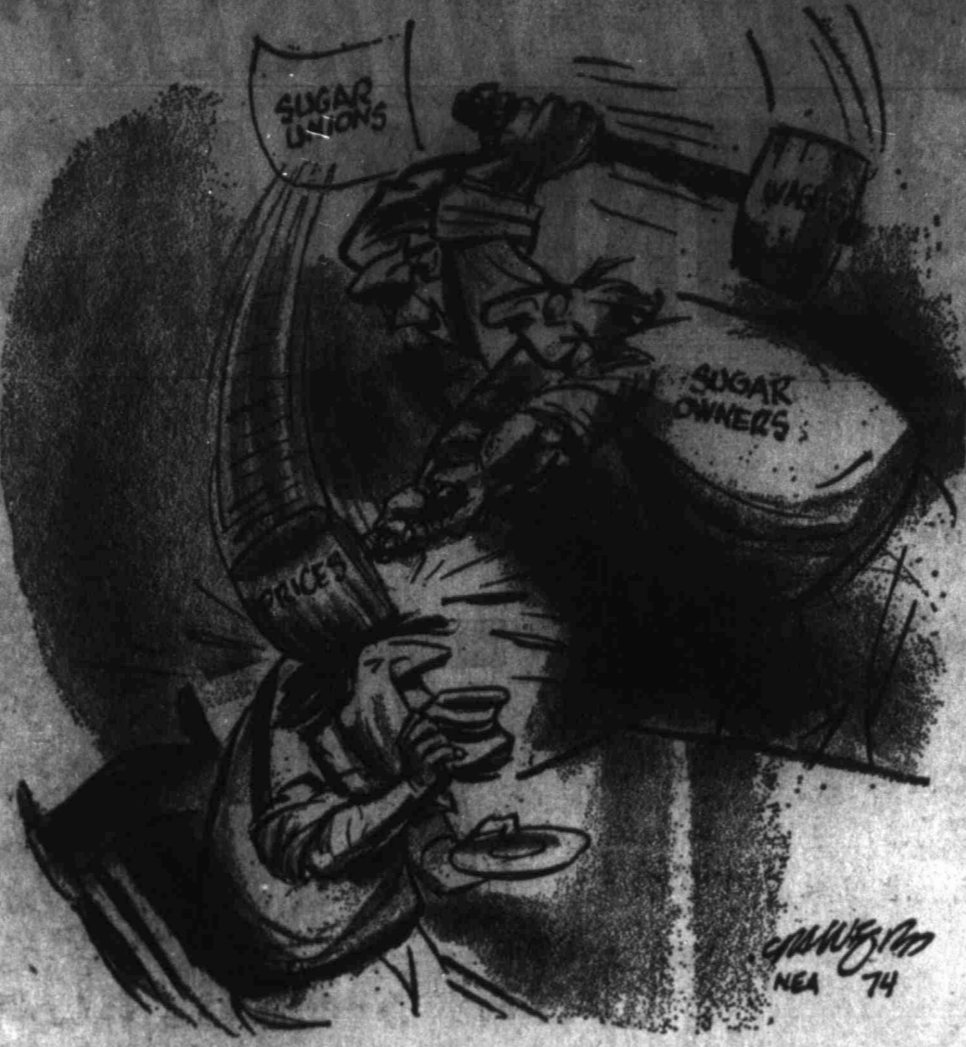

Speaker of the House Carl Albert of Oklahoma termed Mahon "one of the greatest men in government."

Thomas P. O'Neill, House majority leader, lauded Mahon for his "strength, sincerity and stability," while John J. Rhodes, minority leader of the House, said Mahon "is immortalized in the hearts of his fellow workers."

These remarks pretty well sum up what people think of George Mahon in his home district, in Washington and elsewhere.

His West Texas constituents liked what they heard, but they particularly liked Mahon's remark that he plans "to hang around Congress for many years."

'One Lump Or Two?'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—The United States, which has called upon oil-consuming powers to reduce oil consumption by three million barrels a day by the end of 1975, has made little effort to take its own advice.

Now a House study, which soon will be ready for release, gives the United States only five years to cut in half its rate of increase in energy consumption. Otherwise, the quality of life in the United States will erode.

The exhaustive, 19-month study by the House Government Operations Committee concludes hopefully that the energy cuts can be made and, therefore, that the nation's fabled standard of living can be maintained.

But it will take, declares the 133-page report, some sacrifice, enormous ingenuity and decisive White House leadership.

We have obtained a draft copy of the study, which is certain to become a major guideline for congressional action by 1975. It grew out of unusual joint hearings by the conservation subcommittee, headed by Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., and a science and energy subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash.

The study offers no dramatic, one-shot solutions for solving the oil crisis, such as a higher gas tax, strict rationing or sudden deregulation of natural gas. The emphasis, rather, is upon conservation.

"We must reduce the rate of growth of our energy consumption," states the report, from 4.5 to two per cent annually. The alternative will be an energy crisis, which will "inhibit our activities" in every walk of life.

A promising start was made after the Oct. 19, 1973, Arab oil embargo. Largely voluntarily, the nation "succeeded in reducing overall energy demand substantially—probably by more than five per cent."

But as soon as the first scare had passed, frugality gave way to an energy binge that has helped raise U.S. consumption to eight times the world average.

The report cites the example of industrial nations such as West Germany and Japan, which have high living standards yet have adopted everyday energy conservation practices.

West Germany's Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, pointing to a 10 per cent reduction in oil consumption by his country, has called upon the United States to practice what it preaches.

Echoes the House study: "Turning down thermostats during the winter, repairing steam leaks, driving slower, traveling less, putting up storm windows."

TIMELY QUOTES

"The whole Watergate question of sentencing people in high positions has led to a re-examination of the theory that the fall of the 'High and Mighty' is enough—the Fallen Angel theory. What we have to do is treat the criminal offender the same, regardless of rank or position."

—San Francisco District Court Judge Charles B. Renfrew, calling price-fixers no different from skyjackers and warning businessmen that they risk prison terms if convicted to price-fixing.

driving habits," urges the report, "can improve gas mileage by more than 10 per cent in existing cars."

It also calls for innovative ideas, citing the example of Michigan Consolidated Gas, which contracted with its gas customers to put up to six inches of insulation in their homes and add the cost to the gas bill, interest free. The energy savings: 17 per cent for houses more than 35 years old, 10 per cent for newer homes.

The study's industrial proposals are complicated. Taken together, these add up to enormous energy savings, since 57 per cent of the nation's energy goes into industrial and other commercial uses.

"Major appliances can be redesigned... Refrigerators, ovens and dryers could be more adequately insulated... Gas pilot lights for stoves, which consume 30 to 50 per cent of the gas used in cooking, could be replaced in new stoves by electric starters... Substituting fluorescent for incandescent bulbs would result in a 75 per cent reduction in energy for residential lighting," adds the report.

The study endorses the usual conventional solutions but suggests more decisiveness in going ahead with them. Government research funds should also go into such projects as aerodynamic cars, low-energy engines, solar energy, garbage heat and other novel energy research, the report recommends.

The federal establishment must do more to get its own energy house in order, the report insists.

"Reducing the... demand for energy will not only help to resolve many energy supply difficulties," concludes the study, "but also will contribute to reducing the detrimental impact on the environment of energy supply and consumption."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

One of the expressions invented by bridge writers is "rectifying the count." What it boils down to is this: If you two and wrapped up the slam. We have changed the East-West hands somewhat; just enough so that the count rectifier would go down, but not enough so that a really top expert would not make the contract.

Our really top expert wins the spade in dummy and cashes two hearts. West shows out and now our man cashes two clubs. West shows out again and East is marked with 10 hearts and clubs and has shown a spade.

The way to bring home the bacon is now a spade-diamond squeeze against West and South proceeds to develop it by ducking a club to East's jack.

Now South discards two diamonds on dummy's long heart and long club and squeezes West in spades and diamonds.

TOM TIEDE U.S. Military's Most Expensive Bauble Told

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There is a National Guard unit in Daytona Beach which, for the past decade, has been using tax funds for the purpose of remaining proficient in obsolescence.

The unit, an air defense battery, is assigned as its responsibility a Korean War vintage anti-aircraft U. S. Military - DC 24-2 weapon with which it is virtually impossible to shoot down an aircraft. Many members of the unit believe the whole thing is unwise but continue to belong—and why not?—because they are paid up to several thousand dollars a year to keep the worthless artillery oiled.

The example is only one of a lengthy list of similar budget abuses and wastrel extravagance in the U.S. military reserve system, a system that has through the decades defied almost all attempts to modify or eliminate it. Americans spend more than $4 billion annually to preserve a 2.4-million-man reserve apparatus that in the opinion of many military and civilian observers is largely a joke.

Numerous investigations have reinforced this opinion. A recent Brookings Institute study concluded that most reserve units (including Reserve and Guard components) are woefully short of combat capacity; that at least 300,000 of the paid reservists (there are 925,000) could be eliminated without fear of disrupting national security and that, indeed, the state of the reserves is so low that entire new regular army units could be brought to proficiency in the time it would take to whip most reservists into battlefield condition.

The Daytona Beach battery is a ripe illustration of the last point. While it has been shining up outdated AA artillery for the past dozen years, several generations of new air defense guns have come and gone. Says one Florida Guard colonel: "If we could, we'd get the new weapons. As it is, if it came to an emergency, we'd have to completely re-train the men in the new weaponry. That would probably take months. Maybe it would take as much as a year. Even then, remember, they'd be no good against nuclear attack."

Thus it is that rather than add to the national security, much of America's reserve military capacity may be detracting from it. The sheer statistics of the reserves may have lulled us into a sense of false security," says a Brookings staffer. "We say we have almost 2.5 million in the reserve force and that sounds gigantic. Actually, given the probable foe in an atomic age, it is nothing but mathematics. Our reserve bigness is mostly expensive fat."

The situation is nothing new. Critics have worried over reserve excesses and incapacities since the end of World War II. But most tries at modernization, including Robert McNamara's sensible plan to merge the Guard and Reserve into one lean unit, have gone down the drain. One reason is the powerful anti-change lobby within the reserve itself; state governors command National Guard units, leading citizens people local companies, and almost one of five in the current Congress in a proud member of the big fellowship club.

Even now, with Congress casting about for ways to cut spending, nary a word of wonder is raised about the need for a $4 billion-a-year reserve. The armed services committees recognize the reserve deficiencies, but think in terms of increasing outlays to achieve better performance. "Cut the budget?" says an astonished staffer, "are you kidding?"

About half the members of both armed services committees are reservists. Still, in times of inflation, cuts may not be avoided for long. One idea worth considering is a total restructuring of the reserves into cadre units. This, done now on a small scale, would eliminate everyone from selected (paid) status except highly skilled or administrative people who would continue to keep organizational apparatus active toward the day of possible mobilization.

The Country Parson

DAVID POLING, D.D. What Makes Dr. Billy Graham No. 1 On List?

NEW YORK (NEA)—When a group of religion editors picked the most influential Christians in the world today, they naturally included Billy Graham. What no one anticipated was the staggering popularity of the man from Montreal and the rather invisible stature of the remaining list. Just completing his 25th year as an evangelist, Dr. Billy Graham now emerges as not only a leading Christian spokesman but probably a global celebrity known to as many people as Mao or the Beatles (the who?).

Here are some obvious reasons for Graham's soaring success, which has put him in the front rank of world personalities: 1. He is an attractive, articulate speaker in a time when public speaking seems to be a lost art. His message, regarded as too conservative and fundamental by many, is filled with contemporary illustrations, quotes from the New York Times, and saturated with Biblical scenes. This proclamation of the Gospel worked well in Los Angeles (25 years ago in tent meetings) and travels just as well today on television.

2. Graham has a solid ecumenical base. Although strong in his Southern Baptist convictions, Billy has always required interdenominational support for his local crusades. Thus Christians of all brands and persuasions, rank and standing, have shared in the sponsorship of Graham's preaching. Early in his ministry, Billy integrated his staff and his public meetings. For this he enjoyed the rage of racist churchmen but gained the broad public following that now extends throughout the Third World and into Asia.

3. Organizational loyalty. In this world of drift and change and management jumping around, it is amazing to note the number of executives, associate evangelists and business types that have been with Graham for more than 20 years. Furthermore, in spite of small-try criticism of the booming success of the Graham enterprise, there has never been a major scandal in the ranks of this Minneapolis outfit. They account for the money received and the people employed. If only Richard Nixon could have really asked for help before entering that moral swamp called Watergate.

4. Graham knows how to use the media. His films, publications, and books appear all over the map. The massive rally in Rio de Janeiro recently was climaxed by a public meeting of nearly 250,000 people. In Brazil, the Graham team had been working for more than a year; hitting the airways in Portuguese. As part of the Brazilian effort, representatives of the Graham organization set

Bad Guys Lose Ground In LA

By LEE GRANT
ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Crime may be increasing elsewhere, but in this sunny suburb of Los Angeles the bad guys are losing ground, squashed by an unusually zealous police force.

What secret weapon is behind this year's 16.28 per cent dive in Orange's crime rate? Any local officer knows. It's money.

Since January, the city has been rewarding its policemen with pay raises for each drop in the crime rate. The bonus increases have meant as much as $80 a month added to base pay. "It's working indeed," says police Chief Merrill V. Duncan who reports receiving hundreds of letters from departments across the country and abroad inquiring about the innovative program.

Success Dramatic
 The program's success is dramatic compared with the two cities that border Orange. Santa Ana's crime rate has jumped 17.1 per cent in the past year. Anaheim has had 17.6 per cent more crime.

Neither city plans to adopt Orange's wage incentive program, unique in the nation. Duncan says that because of the program from officers from other departments are showing interest in transfers to Orange.

"We're attracting experienced men," the chief says. "There's a waiting list of people wanting to come on the force."

"In a dishonest department there would be cheating," Duncan says. "This is not a dishonest department. I depend on the integrity of our system."

The wage incentive program was born during bargaining with the city over police salaries in 1973.

Salaries Raised
 "They kept telling us how they were the best police force around," says city spokesman Gifford Miller. "We wanted them to prove it."

So the city decided to add one per cent to salaries for every three per cent reduction in rape, robbery, burglary and auto theft — the most prevalent crimes in this middle class community.

With the motivation of increased pay, policemen have devised many preventive measures. Officer Milt Galbraith, a training officer in the community services division, outlined some of the new tactics:

—A program called "The Watchful I" teaches crime prevention to housing development and apartment dwellers through films and lectures by policemen. The officers demonstrate security devices and urge residents to call police whenever they think a crime might occur.

Concept Reinstated
 —The "neighborhood officer" concept has been reinstated, allowing an individual officer to stay assigned to the same neighborhood identifiably. "He learns where his problems are and is able to take precautions," says Galbraith.

—To stop auto thefts, police prowl parking lots looking for unlocked car doors and open windows. In such cars, they drop a flyer reading, "If I were a thief, I would have stolen your unlocked car." A similar practice is employed at unlocked garages. Owners find a flyer reading, "If I were a thief I would have carted away half your garage."

Police departments in neighboring communities suspect that Orange is sending criminals to their cities, but they concede there's no way to prove it.

No Animosity Reported
 "Everybody in law enforcement recognizes that is what's going to happen," says Lt. Woody Williams of Santa Ana. "The burglars are not going to leave California. We know that. Orange knows that, and the burglars know that. We'll just have to try and send the burglars back to Orange." But he says there is no animosity between cities over crime rates.

In nearby Garden Grove, police spokesman Dave Duffey says, "The crime rate is up all over the place. Naturally, neighboring cities will find a lot of bandits from cities such as Orange will move into your city under such circumstances."

Duffey says the wage incentive program has been considered by Garden Grove but "there have been no real suggestions to go that route." Instead, police there are mounting new anti-burglary campaigns and are offering a self-defense course for women entitled "Lady Beware."

Santa Ana and Anaheim have started similar anti-crime programs.

Future Uncertain
 Neighboring cities concede that the wage incentive program has worked splendidly for Orange. But the program's future is uncertain. A new police contract will be negotiated in March, and some officers will press for a straight wage increase with no incentive clauses.

"The program's obviously succeeding," says Hal Ashby, a young detective. "However, I really don't want to see it continue."

"Listen, we've reduced the crime rate about the maximum amount we could. Going incentive or not, it's going to go up. We can't hold it without more manpower. We can't keep up with a booming population. The same program can't keep working."

Ashby said the additional money received by each officer "was hardly anything after taxes."

Reason Unknown
 A young patrolman, Robert Reifeis, believes Orange now has the best police department around. "The criminals know this is the place to stay out of. They know cops here are too good."

But he's not sure wage incentive made the difference. An officer's greatest reward, contends Reifeis, is "doing a good job."

"You don't become a policeman for the money," he said.

Passport Pointers

By GENE BURKE

Los Angeles Passport Office
Distributed By Copley News Service

Dear Miss Burke:
I have photographs left over from my passport issued six years ago, and I don't think I've changed a bit. When I sent them in with my new application they were rejected as not acceptable. Why in the world did you turn them down? I see no reason for spending extra money to satisfy some bureaucrat's whim, when I say I still look the same. Please do something about this.

M.A.D.

Dear M.A.D.:
Sorry, this isn't a bureaucratic whim as passport regulations require that photographs must be taken within six months of the date of an application, in addition to being a good likeness of the applicant. Since passports are valid for five years, you can readily understand that photographs must be current so that they continue to identify the bearer throughout the entire five-year period. Photographs which are now six years old may not identify you effectively throughout the next five years, and you could have problems at borders if the photograph was questioned.

Dear Miss Burke:
I know that a passport is not required to go to Canada as a tourist, but can I apply for a passport anyway? I was born in 1915. My father brought the family to the United States when I was 6 years old, and we all became citizens when he was naturalized in 1926. I have my father's citizenship paper and my baptismal certificate, and a 1930 census record which shows me as 11 years old at the time he was naturalized. I hate to carry all these papers with me for a two-week trip to Canada as it would be tragic if they were lost as I'd never be able to get them again. Will I be able to get a passport with what I have?

J.E.S.

Dear J.E.S.:
The documents which you say you have in your possession appear to be sufficient to establish your citizenship.

When you apply for your passport submit your father's naturalization certificate, your baptismal certificate to establish your relationship to your father, and the 1930 census record as proof of your physical presence in the United States before the age 21. You will also need two passport photos, 2 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches, a current identification document—a valid driver's license may suffice—and the passport fee of $13.

Questions may be submitted to Miss Burke, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

U.N. Assembly Attains Accord On Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly agreed on a definition of aggression Saturday after 25 years of negotiation. The United States and the Soviet Union backed it, but China complained that it contained loopholes favoring the superpowers.

The 500-word definition was adopted by consensus without a formal vote.

The United States and other major powers hailed the compromise.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND" Public Offered 1937 U.S. Gov't. Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened . . . and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 15th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Mantegna, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned in 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937. Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collectors' items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent set "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11" x 14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. 38, P.O. promise definition, though Britain and France added that it was not binding on the U.N. Security Council.

The United States said the definition was "likely to provide useful guidance to the Security Council" and declared that "its adoption after so many years is in our view an historic moment."

The Soviet Union said it would "serve as a . . . deterrent to forces which are hatching plans for new militaristic adventures and planning to take the world back to the days of Cold War."

But China dissociated itself from the assembly's decision, declaring, "If it had been put to the vote we would not have participated."

China Points Out Defects

Chinese delegate An Chih-yuan said the definition "still has serious loopholes and defects on key issues which might be used to justify acts of aggression." He said this was a result of sabotage and obstruction by the two superpowers, meaning the United States and the Soviet Union.

In earlier debate, China had complained that the definition failed to mention subversion and economic aggression. It declared that the way to stop aggression was to struggle against it.

The definition begins by saying aggression is the use of armed force by one state against another and that the one which uses it first in violation of the U.N. Charter is assumed to have committed aggression — although the Security Council could find otherwise.

It lists various acts of aggression such as invasion, occupation, bombardment and blockade and leaves it to the Security Council to find others.

Wayne Osmond, Ex-Miss Utah Wed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "What a beautiful day for a wedding. It's clean. It's white. And it represents everything beautiful," said Wayne Osmond, 23, as he stood in snow and freezing cold after his marriage to Kathryn Louise White.

The new Mrs. Osmond, 21, gave up her Miss Utah crown to marry into the singing Osmond Brothers family. She represented Utah in the Miss America Pageant earlier this year.

A handful of fans leaned against a snow-caked iron fence Friday to snap pictures of the Osmonds in front of the Mormon Temple, where the private ceremonies were performed before a family group, all members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

Peru Nationalizes Telegraph Services

LIMA, Peru (AP) — President Juan Velasco's leftist military regime announced Saturday the nationalization of all privately owned international Telex and telegraph services in Peru, including an ITT subsidiary, effective next March 1.

After that date, all communication facilities will be owned and operated by state agencies, a government resolution and a decree made public stipulated. The transmission of news was not affected.

ITT Included

The nationalization affects Cables West Coast Co., a subsidiary of Cable and Wireless Ltd. of England, and All America Inc., a subsidiary of the U.S.-based International Telegraph and Telephone Corp.

The Peruvian Telephone Co., another ITT subsidiary, was nationalized by the Velasco regime several years ago.

Also nationalized previously were the Swedish-owned National Telephone Co., and the South Telephonic Co., owned by Swiss interests.

Telephone services are now monopolized by Entel, the Peruvian state communications agency, which will also handle all telex traffic — both national and international — as of next year.

The government's department of posts and telegraphs will operate telegraphic services.

Luwana Faye Runyan Bride Of James Randall Howell

James Randall Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Howell of San Angelo, married Luwana Faye Runyan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis J. Runyan, Route 2, in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Rev. Roy Womble officiated for the service in Midessa Heights Baptist Church.

Mrs. Pat Smith was the matron of honor, and Jewan Reneese Runyan was maid of honor. The flower girls were Stacy Leann Price and Shelly Renee Price. Travis Dane Runyan, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Robby Trowbridge was the best man. The groomsmen were Keith Howell of San Angelo, Steve Teichmann and Mike McLeod were the ushers.

The music was furnished by Richard Atchley, organist, and Mrs. J. W. Brantley, soloist.

A large wrought iron candelabrum covered with ivy, boxwood and large blue bows, together with Grecian pedestals holding votive arrangements of blue carnations, camellias and satin bows and fern, decorated the sanctuary.

Mr. Runyan presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white peau satin fashioned with a Juliet neckline and bodice overlaid with lace. The full skirt was trimmed with lace, pearls and sequins and had a chapel train of lace. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a headdress of organza petals edged with pearls and lily of the valley. She carried a cascade of white lilies and roses with blue carnations.

Attendants to the bride wore dresses of blue taffeta overlaid with blue and white lace. The bridesmaids had Juliet necklines and sheer lace sleeves. Their headpieces were butterfly chenille in white with long net and satin streamers. They carried nosegays of blue flowers with blue ribbon streamers.

The reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. Mrs. J. W. Brantley, Mrs. Sam Jones, Mrs. Jim Yardley, Mrs. Keith Howell, Sherry Howell, Mrs. Bill Hukill and Debra Robinson were in the house party.

Following a trip to San Angelo, the couple will reside at 3225 Delano St.

Pep Up Traditional Holiday Fare With Turkey Stuffing

By AILEEN CLAIRE
 Food Editor
 Newspaper Enterprise Assoc.

Turkeys may claim the center ring of the Christmas feasting circus with those who are tradition-oriented. However, there is nothing traditional or old-fashioned about savory stuffings for the holiday bird. A new approach to pepping up the dressing includes pineapple, later chestnuts, ginger, red pepper and sesame seed among the ingredients for a truly different turkey stuffing.

Remember to add to the cooking time when roasting a stuffed turkey and to remove leftover stuffing from the turkey's cavity and store it separately in the refrigerator to preserve it safely.

Combine onion with water. Let stand 10 minutes to rehydrate.

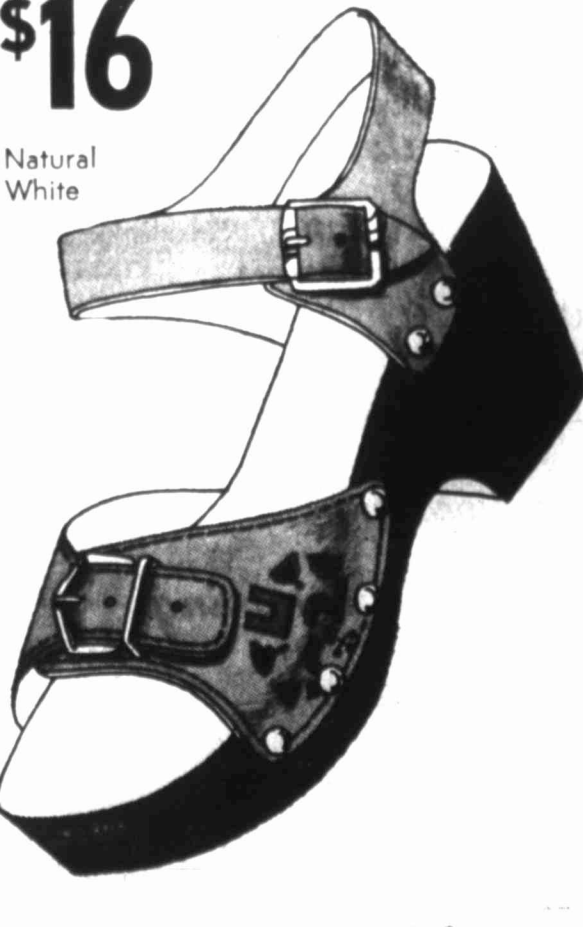

In a medium skillet heat one-quarter cup of the butter. Add rehydrated onion and chestnuts; saute 5 minutes. Stir in soy sauce, 2 tablespoons of the sesame seeds, ginger and red pepper; set aside. In a large bowl combine bread cubes, broth, eggs and mushrooms. Stir in onion mixture; mix well. Turn into a buttered 12x7x1-and-three-quarter-inch baking dish. Melt remaining one-quarter cup butter. Pour over dressing. Sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon sesame seed. Cover and bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 45 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer or until browned on top. To serve, mound dressing on pineapple rings; garnish with a chunk of pineapple. Makes sufficient stuffing for a 12-pound turkey.

Shower Honors Carol Frazier

Carol Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Frazier, 2312 Seaboard St., and bride-elect of Roger Holmes of Lubbock, was honored recently with a display bed and bath shower in the home of Mrs. Duke Jimerson.

Miss Frazier and Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond R. Holmes of Spring, will be married Jan. 4 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church here.

Guests were greeted at the front door where a novel door piece carried out the bed and bath theme in the honoree's chosen colors of apple green, bright yellow and chocolate brown. Festive refreshments were served from a table using brass appointments and centered with an arrangement of yellow spider mums and snowflake chrysanthemums accented with miniature green soaps.

Forty-eight guests registered. Special guests were Susie Frazier of Lubbock, sister of the bride-elect; Mrs. Frazier, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Louise Frazier of San Antonio, paternal grandmother of the bride-elect.

A hostess gift was presented Miss Frazier by Mrs. Jimerson, Mrs. C. Roy Johnson, Mrs. John Godwin, Mrs. Staten Hatchell and Mrs. Earl Whisman.

Butter Creams

To make delicious peanut butter creams easily, thoroughly blend together: One cup peanut butter, one-half cup sweetened condensed milk, one-fourth cup confectioner's sugar and one cup coarsely chopped pecans. Shape into patties, chill two hours or until firm. Makes about 2 1/2 dozen patties.

New York Model Advocate Of Well-Balanced Meals

By BETH MOHR
Copley News Service
Sunny Griffin is a lot like millions of other working mothers—except that her $500-an-hour job as a top New York model is more demanding than most.

Talking about her homelife, she seemed a lot like any other woman on the block, if you closed your eyes to her beauty and forgot about all that money she makes.

Career women with families can understand why Miss Griffin doesn't like cooking dinner at the end of every working day, her determination to spend as much time as possible with her 2-year-old daughter, Kelly, and efforts to share the interests of her advertising executive husband, George Martin.

Along with family responsibilities, Miss Griffin has job homework few other women share.

She must keep her skin, hair and figure perfect. Her energy must be equal to filling five or six assignments a day with no allowance for letdowns during long photographic or television sessions.

Miss Griffin is even different from the other models able to join her on the small pinnacle of the profession. At 34, she says she is three or four years past the starting age.

"I manage on a four-point program," she said. "Proper diet, enough rest, exercise and good skin care make it possible."

No Fad Diets
Her diet isn't in the "get thin quick" category.

"Fad diets are not for me," she said.

"I don't believe in juggling nutrition with plans that suggest such things as cutting out all carbohydrates or eating nothing except protein foods.

"I eat well-balanced meals—in small amounts, making sure I have plentiful quantities of dairy products, meat, fruits, vegetables and carbohydrates."

Miss Griffin won't be convinced that some people need less sleep than others.

"Medical tests have shown that you don't do as well on four or five hours sleep as you do on eight," she said. "If I don't get eight hours sleep, it shows up in my attitude and loss of energy."

"Modeling has changed in the last 10 or 20 years, making energy absolutely essential. Models no longer pose languidly in lovely chairs. We are photographed in action, turning, striding, spinning."

"The pace is frenzied during the shooting and then we run between bookings. We never seem to stand still."

Also Exercise
Then, there is the exercise.

Miss Griffin goes to a gym class twice a week and exercises 15 minutes to an hour every day at home. Her small daughter, Kelly, now joins her.

"The exercises include a little gymnastics, some yoga, a lot of stretching and bending," Miss Griffin said. "I like them because they are graceful. You can do them without a lot of grunting and groaning."

Not only has she been keeping in condition with the exercises for the last 10 years, she says they were an asset when she had Kelly by the Lamaze method of natural childbirth.

"I found the Lamaze exercises very easy and I am sure it was because I was used to regular exercise," Miss Griffin said.

Regular exercise also helped her get back in shape after Kelly was born, despite gaining 32 pounds.

"It didn't take me long to get rid of the weight," Miss Griffin said. "Of course, I stopped the milk shakes I indulged in during that nine months."

Miss Griffin, like most models, also indulges in a holiday from glamor every weekend.

"If you go to a party on a weekend, you can be sure that the least attractive women in the group will be models," she said. "That's not only because we get tired of being absolutely perfect every working day, but because we need to give our skins a rest from makeup."

She explained that makeup is altered, changed or added to with every assignment.

"That means thorough cleansing is an essential at least twice a day," she said.

"When I take my makeup off at the end of the day, it stays off. The same is true on the weekends."

In addition to their Manhattan apartment, the Martins have a country home where they spend most of their weekends.

"That is the only place I enjoy cooking," Miss Griffin said. "During the week, I fix very simple dinners or I will call the baby-sitter and have her put something in the oven that I have fixed ahead of time. In the country, I have a big kitchen and time to fix things properly. Then, I enjoy it."

Working for the family are a daily baby-sitter and a cleaning woman who comes in one day a week. When Miss Griffin is on tour the baby-sitter lives in.

Venison Ideas

Wash selected venison roast with vinegar water several times, then season with salt and garlic and other desired spices. Brown roast in bacon grease in large pan on top of stove. Remove roast to roaster pan; pour about 1 1/4 cups water in pan around roast. Arrange several thick slices of pork over venison. Add onions if desired. Bake for about three hours in 325-degree oven.

Approaching Marriage — Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Slaughter, 4002 Thomason Drive, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deborah Ann Butler, to Steven H. Overstreet, son of S. H. Overstreet of Bowie. The wedding will take place at 7 p.m. Dec. 21 in the First Christian Church of Midland. The bride-elect is employed with the American Cancer Society and Overstreet is employed with OIME at Odessa.

Japanese Have Become Aware Of Western Styles

By KATHRYN TOLBERT
TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese have become increasingly fashion-conscious since Westernization hit on a large scale in the post-World War II years.

Tiny boutiques overflowing with ready-to-wear fashions draped on mannequins and pinned to the walls and ceiling crowd the fashionable side streets of the Ginza and Harajuku sections of Tokyo.

Department stores join the fashion-selling wave by sectioning off floor space and using special lighting and rock music.

As the summer heat ebbs and the rush to escape from Tokyo to beaches and mountains subsides, Japan's fashion work anticipates the change of season. Slim skirts, full coats, helmets just below the knee, tiny hats and long scarves appear in the fall and winter collections here, offering welcome possibilities of coordination and a change from summer's jeans and flared calf-length skirts.

The challenge for Japanese designers is for originality and independence from the fashion dictates of Paris, London and New York. It is not an easy task for a country with barely 30 years of experience in turning out Western clothing.

Hanae Mori, one of Japan's leading designers, is known for her use of Japanese printed material in non-Japanese styles. Her dresses are often reminiscent of the kimono and some, for example, boast designs from the 16th-century Japanese woodblock prints called Ukiyo-E.

Jun Ashida is another Japanese designer and he claims not to be concerned with either a European or Japanese influence.

The exclusive designer for Japan's Crown Princess Michiko, he presented his fall and winter collection in a plush showroom across the street from the Imperial Palace.

Said to be the biggest seller at the higher end of the ladies' ready-to-wear market, he outsells in Japan such foreign competitors as Yves St. Laurent and Pierre Cardin.

His original contribution to this year's fashion scene, he said, is the separate coat or "sepacoat" — a three-quarter-length jacket worn over a below-the-knee skirt of the same material.

The jacket can be worn alone or over the coat-skirt to become a mid-length coat.

An Englishwoman commented after the show that it might be too much coat for the petite Japanese women. But the same was said about the mid-skirt and it has since become uniform.

Another coat ensemble had a short jacket over a sleeveless coat over a one-piece dress. Ashida makes about 200 pieces per design. Prices range from about $100 to $300.

CONCERT—Katrina Cobb, senior student at Howard Payne University, is one of four students to present a Christmas concert at the school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cobb, 2104 W. Michigan St., and is a former piano student of Mrs. Hans Roweck of Midland.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Wife's Ex-Spouse Calls Every Day

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about an ex-spouse who continues to call after the former mate remarries? My wife receives one to three calls every day from her ex-husband who calls to chat with her about minor day-to-day events.

She allows this because they parted the "best of friends" and she says she feels sorry for him because he is so lonely now. I have requested that she terminate the old relationship because I feel it is an intrusion on our privacy, and an obstacle to our building a new life for ourselves.

What do you think?
AWKWARD THREESOME
DEAR THREESOME: I think your wife's ex-spouse is overdoing the friendliness. She could put an end to it if she wanted to. Be more emphatic about your objections. They're legitimate. Your feelings should take priority over his. He had his chance.

DEAR ABBY: Six months ago, my husband's mother died, leaving an adult brain-damaged brother in our care. Abby, these last few months have been physical and mental torture for me. I've tried, but caring for my brother-in-law is too much for me to handle. My husband is gone all day, and the whole burden is on me. This brother is a grown man, but has the mentality of a three-year-old. He's in diapers and is frequently violent.

My husband will not even consider a home for his brother because he says he promised his mother on her deathbed that he would never put this brother in an institution. Money is not the issue. At this point I don't know who I resent more—my dead mother-in-law, my brother-in-law or my husband. Can you help me?
DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: If you can't get through to your husband, get someone whose opinion he values to talk to him. Deathbed promises are usually emotionally charged, and therefore not necessarily binding.

No woman should have to bear the burden of caring for a grown man with the mentality of a three-year-old simply because her husband demands it. No way.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and I had a rather heated argument. Her oldest child is adopted, and we love him as much as we love her two younger children, to whom she gave birth.

I told her that I think she is wrong to immediately tell everyone at parties, at work, at playgrounds, etc., that her oldest child is adopted. It seems totally unnecessary, but she tells this the minute she meets someone.

The boy is nearly six now, and I think it's fine to tell HIM that he's adopted, but who else's business is it? If she went around telling people that her two younger children were natural born, they would say, "so what?" By the same token, why say, "My oldest son is adopted?"
May I have your opinion?
HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree. Children should be told that they are adopted just as soon as they can understand what it means, but I see no point in announcing it to the general public.

DEAR ABBY: In a biology class at Harrisonville High School in Mississippi, we were recently asked the following question: "Where were we when our parents were born?"

After a poll among the teachers was taken, no one was able to come up with a satisfactory answer, therefore we are seeking your expert advice.
J.H. GILMER (TEACHER)

DEAR TEACHER: Where is anything—or anyone—before it (or they) existed? The answer, obviously, is "nowhere."

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Deadline Given For Publishing Wedding Stories

Thinking about having accounts of your engagement and wedding published in The Reporter-Telegram?

If the answer is in the affirmative, brides-to-be should visit the Women's Department of the newspaper and obtain information sheets and wedding forms in order to comply with the R-T policies on wedding stories, photographs and deadlines.

The policy requires that wedding or engagement forms must be submitted before 5 p.m. Wednesday for publication in a Sunday paper.

Another important policy to be aware of is that wedding stories submitted more than five days after the wedding will not be published.

Hospital Paid Past Due Bill

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — St. Joseph's Hospital recently received a letter and a $50 check from a Michigan woman who said she had a baby there 40 years ago.

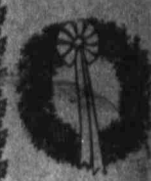

She wrote: "We were so hard up we didn't have the money for rent and very little for food, much less for any other bills. Finally, I found work and managed to support my four children fairly well — no extras. Now they are all married and can manage OK, so I wanted to send you a check. I wish to thank you for waiting so long."

Sister Mary Verona Quinn, treasurer of the hospital, said she sent the woman a thank-you note.

Colonial Williamsburg, Va., Observes Traditional Yule

By JEAN BARNES
 Time seems to have deloured around a certain small Virginia village. Here there has been no evolution of Christmas customs. The Birth of Our Lord is still celebrated with Colonial simplicity and charm.

At Christmas time, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., extends hospitality to thousands of visitors who want to experience a part of our national heritage. Williamsburg was founded as Middle Plantation in 1633 as an outpost against Indian attack. But it is in the years during which Williamsburg served as the capital of Virginia (1690-1780) that you will find the historical luster and rich traditions.

The major historic area of the town runs along the Duke of Gloucester street beginning on the east with the Capitol Building past the Palace green and the Governor's palace situated at a right angle to the north of the street and ending on the west with the College of William and Mary.

This is the setting for many of the Christmas celebrations. The holiday season began Friday, when the Governor's Palace and other buildings on Palace Green were decorated. At noon Saturday, the season was officially welcomed with the Christmas Fife.

Other events include the memorable "tree-tapping" ceremony, the Grand Illumination, Colonial Games Days, special music at the Governor's Palace and the Capitol and candlelight recitals at the Bruton Parish Church, the Beating of the Holiday Drums on Market Square Green, Militia Tattoo and Retreat Ceremony on New Year's Eve. To close the season there is a Fife and Drum Corps parade at noon on New Year's Day.

Perhaps the most dramatic event takes place a week before Christmas with the Grand Illumination of the City. Held at dusk on Dec. 18 the Grand Illumination revives the customs of candles in the windows of homes, shops and public buildings in the historic area, musket and cannon fire in various sectors, caroling, fife and drums and ringing of the city's bells.

There are many special tours planned for visitors. The Garland and Greens tour will be given twice daily Dec. 19 to 31 with the exception of Christmas Day. Guides stroll with visitors through the historic area and discuss materials and

Food Editor Gives Tips On Nutrition

By SANDRA GITTE'S
 AP Newsfeatures Writer
 NEW YORK — "We seriously need to consider breakfast as an important meal again. Really, if you don't have breakfast, by the time lunchtime comes, possibly 18 hours have gone by and you've gone through the most important part of the day underfed."

"If people would make breakfast at least the second most important meal of the day, I think we would all be better off," adds Margaret Happel, author and food editor.

Currently traveling around the country as a nutrition spokeswoman for Quaker Oats, Mrs. Happel in an interview here gave suggestions, clarified trends and explained nutrition for those who are concerned with getting the most out of their food budget.

She stressed the importance of eating breakfast because of its nutritional value and for a more efficient use of food. A wholesome breakfast, she notes, would allow cutting down on lunch and dinner, while at the same time providing an effective use of food.

"I'm not so much of a missionary that I think the world is going to have the best possible breakfast and then maybe less lunch and less dinner," she says. "But I do think that people should at least consider it the second most important meal. For one thing, she says, pointing to current high prices, "if you look at eggs in relationship to the foods you consume at dinner — a pound of hamburger, let's say, can cost you anywhere between 89 cents to $1.29 — whereas, if you look at eggs, the large jumbo size, they are 32 ounces of edible protein selling for 89 cents a dozen. Now I don't think, doing a comparison shopping here, eggs are expensive. I think you have to know that when you say prime protein, compared to other sources of protein, it's a bargain."

Balanced Menu
 Mrs. Happel similarly feels that cereal with milk is an excellently balanced breakfast. And, when breakfast is considered a real meal, one can plan on how to cut down on other meals.

At a time when health foods, natural foods and organic foods are becoming popular, Mrs. Happel wants to stress that "all foods are healthy. It's what we do to them that makes them unhealthy."

She claims that what people generally mean by "health foods" are those foods which are organically grown. These particular foods, she says, are grown in soil which has not been scientifically treated. They have not been sprayed with pesticides, or packaged with artificial preservatives, additives and flavorings.

"You pay premium dollar for these foods," she says of those grown organically. "But my concern is that if your ground isn't treated scientifically, you are going to have less yield coming off that ground at a time when the world food shortage is of major concern and we should be getting the maximum yield out of our land. But natural foods are found, not only in health food stores, but more importantly in supermarkets. And, while they have been grown scientifically, technology has enabled many of these foods to be packaged without the use of artificial flavors, preservatives or colorings."

Budget Stretching
 On stretching the budget with meats, Mrs. Happel suggests buying a minimum quantity and extending it with whole grains, fortified enriched carbohydrates, or vegetable proteins such as split peas, lentils, and beans. "And," she adds, "there's nothing wrong with the old traditional dishes. So many of the common ethnic dishes that we have been eating without realizing or knowing why we're eating them have some of the soundest nutritional elements we could have."

Particularly at this time, she says, traditional dishes are very important when it comes to budgeting. Most take inexpensive meats and extend them with other sources of proteins like cheese and beans, cereals or pasta.

Prime Concerns
 Mrs. Happel says that food is now of prime concern to everyone. During her cross-country tour, she found great consumer awareness in buying foods. She also pointed out that there is a trend towards vegetarianism. "It's interesting," she notes, "that people who cut red meat out of the diet then look to raisins, watercress, or spinach to bolster their iron intake. Another interesting point is that the Food and Drug Administration reports that vegetable consumption is up, particularly in the areas of tomatoes and peas, and meat consumption is down."

Debra Athey, Geary Chadic Exchange Marriage Vows

The Assembly in Christ Fellowship Church was the setting for the exchange of marriage vows at 4:30 p.m. Saturday between Debra Kay Athey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Athey of Odessa, and Geary Chadic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Chadic of Crane. The Rev. Glen McNeilin officiated for the double ring ceremony performed before two altars flanked by French bouquets of assorted blue and white flowers, seven-branch candelabra entwined with greenery and a trinity candelabra.

Mrs. Harvey Oliver, organist, Elaine Hines, soloist, and Dennis Athey, brother of the bride, clarinetist, provided wedding selections.

Maid of honor was Karen Chadic of Crane, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Dennis Athey of Odessa, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Debra Buckles of Midland served as junior maid of honor.

Best men were Larry Moore of Odessa and Dennis Athey, brother of the bride. Greg Chadic, brother of the bridegroom, and Paul Carr were groomsmen. Jay Bob Coleman, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings. Renee Scott of Odessa was flower girl.

Bride's Gown
Mr. Athey presented his daughter in marriage. She was wearing a floor-length dress of white Angel satin styled with Empire waistline, stand-up collar, bishop sleeves and a butterfly train. She wore a gold heirloom bracelet that belonged to her grandmother, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible covered with white lace and seed pearls.

The matron of honor's dress was of royal blue polyester double knit featuring an Empire waistline, stand-up collar and floor-length A-line skirt. She carried a bouquet of light blue and royal blue carnations accented with matching streamers.

Other attendants were dressed identically to the matron of honor, except the maid of honor's dress was light blue and the junior maid of honor wore a dress with a light blue bodice and royal blue skirt. They carried the same flowers.

Reception Held
A reception was held in the church immediately following the ceremony. In the house party were Mrs. Kerry Bob Coleman, Mrs. Larry Moore, Tina Wilson, Candy Moore, Sherry McEwin, Tracy McEwin and Connie Fullen.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School. Chadic, a Crane High School graduate, is employed with Beacon Supply Co. of Crane. Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside at 700 W. 10th St., Crane.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the bride's parents was held Friday at the Sheraton Inn here.

Senate Okays Man For FEA Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nomination of a former oil company executive to be assistant administrator of the Federal Energy Administration has been approved by the Senate despite conflict of interest complaints.

The Senate voted 55 to 35 Friday to confirm the nomination of Melvin A. Conant as assistant administrator for international energy affairs.

Conant received a $50,000 severance payment from Exxon when he resigned as its senior government relations counselor for Europe, the Middle East and Asia.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said Conant's case was comparable to that of Andrew E. Gibson, whose nomination as head of FEA was withdrawn after his $1 million severance agreement with an oil transport firm was revealed.

"Why does this administration always have to look to the industry that is to be regulated for the man to regulate it?" asked Pastore. "We're no better off here than we were with Gibson."

However, Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., said "the circumstances are entirely different," noting that Gibson was to get payments over 10 years while Conant got his in a lump sum before joining the government earlier this year.

Sen. Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo., also defended the Conant nomination, praising "the wisdom of calling upon people who know something about the (energy) problem and something about the industry we are trying to regulate."

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, pointed out that an Exxon official testified during Senate Interior Committee hearings on the nomination that Conant would have received no severance pay if he had indicated Fannin said Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, then head of the Federal Energy Office, approved the payment before it was made.

Metzenbaum also said Conant already has appointed three former industry executives as his assistants.

Events Calendar Deadline Monday

Information for the first quarterly Happenings Calendar of 1975 should be submitted to the Midland Chamber of Commerce office by 5 p.m. Monday.

Clubs and organizations with scheduled events during January, February or March are asked to phone the chamber office, 683-3381, with information as to when the event will take place, along with location, time and other pertinent items.

Particularly sought are those activities having widespread community interest, or which will attract visitors to Midland.

The calendar is used to help avoid conflicts in major events scheduling, and organizations are asked to submit information on activities scheduled through out the year.

All events are listed on a master calendar at the chamber reference library.

The calendar is primarily distributed by members of the Senior Services Center, and is available at local motels, Midland County Library, the Museum of the Southwest, Midland Community Theatre, Midland Regional Air Terminal, car rental agencies and the chamber office.

A limited number of the Happenings Calendars are distributed to various Texas Highway Department Visitor Centers.

State Road Deaths Down For Year

The deaths occurred in 2,384 fatal accidents, a 16 per cent reduction from 1973.

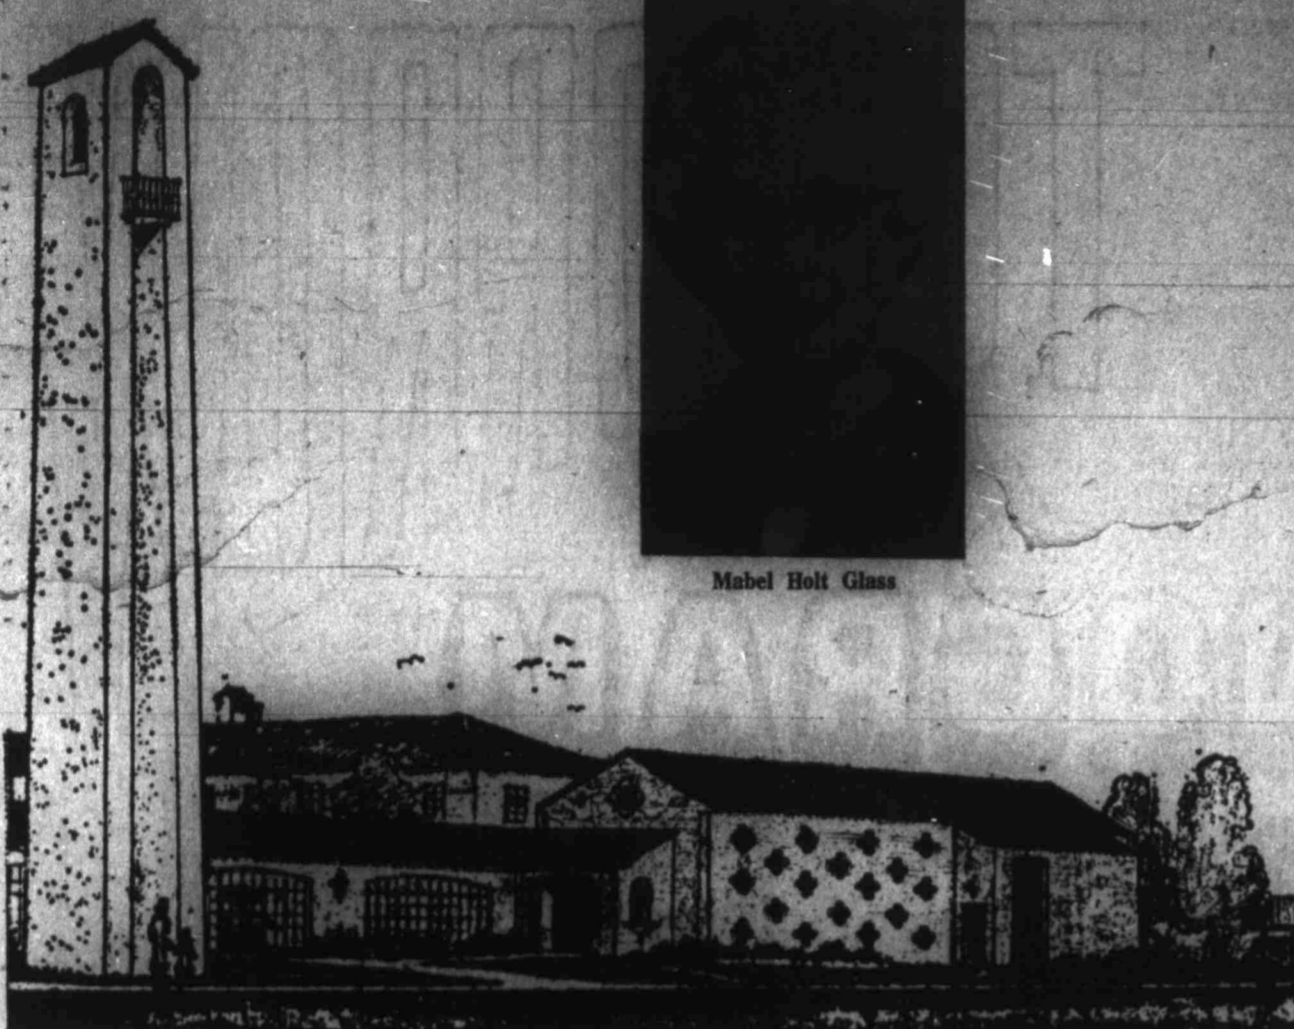

The DPS report on fatalities is the last for the year. A final report on 1974 will be issued some time in January, a spokesman said.

Artist's Sketch Of Planned Mabel Holt Glass Memorial Chapel

Mabel Holt Glass Chapel Planned

The Mabel Holt Glass Memorial Chapel soon will be erected at the corner of Main and Illinois streets where the old sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church recently was demolished.

The stately new edifice, which will be in keeping with the new sanctuary and other buildings on the First Methodist block, will be built and presented to the church in memory of Mrs. Glass by her husband, George W. Glass; her daughter, Mrs. Ted C. (Monta Jo) Johnson, and her son, George Holt Glass, all of Midland.

Mrs. Glass' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Holt Sr., pioneer Midland ranch family, helped to organize the church, and Mrs. Holt was the organist for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Holt also were the donors of a special stained glass window, given in memory of Miss Cornelia Holt, who was a sister of Mrs. Glass. The window, removed from the church building erected in 1907, will be restored and installed in the interior walls of the narthex to the new chapel.

Mabel Holt Glass was born Jan. 19, 1906, in Midland. She joined the church and was baptized on June 6, 1913. She died, Oct. 25, 1972.

She was active in church affairs through the years and was a charter member of the Boone Bible Class and a member of a Bible study group and the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Mrs. Glass was graduated from Midland High School and the College of Industrial Arts (now Texas Woman's University).

She also attended Southern Methodist University.

She and Mr. Glass were married here on June 6, 1928. Prior to their marriage, she had taught school for several years at Stanton and Midland.

Mrs. Glass was a charter member of the L. L. William Brewer Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; Midland Woman's Club; Auxiliary of Midland Memorial Hospital, and the Midland County Historical Society. She was a past president of the Women's Wednesday Club, and had been a member of the American Association of University Women and other groups.

Mrs. Glass has been described as "a religious and spiritual woman, loved by many persons. The chapel being erected in her memory reflects the radiance which blessed those with whom she came in contact. It also reflects her dedication to God, the Bible, her church, her family and her community."

Construction of the old sanctuary which recently was torn down, was started in 1940 and was dedicated "To the cause of righteousness" on May 2, 1943. Mr. Glass served on the building committee of which the late M. C. Ulmer was chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass and Mrs. O. B. Holt Jr. gave the organ which was used in the church throughout its existence, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Holt and O. B. Holt Jr.

Glass has served the church as a trustee and as a member of the board of stewards.

The First Methodist Church of Midland was organized on Aug. 23, 1885, with seven members, six women and one man. A small frame building served the congregation until 1907 when a much larger brick building was erected on the site where the new chapel will be located. That building served until it was replaced with more spacious quarters in the early 1940s.

When the building was dedicated in 1943, the Rev. W. Carl Clement was pastor, and Mrs. Holt Jowell was organist. Charles L. Klapproth was vice chairman of the board of stewards; Mrs. W. Earl Chapman was president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, and J. W. Thorne was the Sunday School superintendent.

The building committee of the First United Methodist Church now is finalizing plans for the proposed chapel. Architect Charles Neuhardt said construction is expected to start early next year.

The new facility is positioned at the south end of the new construction which was completed in 1968 along North Main Street, and is an addition which originally was a part of the master plan developed by Neuhardt & Babb, Architects.

The new chapel will be of cream stone and brick walls and clay roof tiles similar to the church's main sanctuary. It encompasses 3,500 square feet, and will seat approximately 170 persons.

Its use is intended primarily for weddings, funeral services, small recitals, and similar spiritual activities.

The new chapel will blend some of the past with the present. In addition to the stained glass window, seven wrought-iron candelabra sconces, refinished pews, and original stained glass — remade into a mosaic glass from the past — removed from the 1907 building will be installed in the chapel.

Members of the building committee include Oley F. Hedrick Jr., chairman; Mrs. Holt Jowell, Ben Black, Paul Davis, John M. Grimland Jr., Wallace Irwin, Ted Johnson and Dr. Timothy W. Guthrie, pastor.

Thick faceted art glass windows behind the altar will express a "Trinity" theme. Flanking the chancel area will be faceted art glass side-windows interweaving the historic symbols of eight Christian crosses. These windows are being designed by the architects in collaboration with Mrs. Ruth Dunn of Orco Glass Studios, San Antonio.

Carpeted aisles and chancel area, and dimmer controlled lighting are planned to lend a quiet, spiritual atmosphere to the interior. Provision for the future installation of a small pipe organ is incorporated into plans for the new facility.

Covered roof access to the chapel will be possible from a paved parking lot which will be added adjacent to the property.

Odessa Man Leads Rodeo

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Jack Ward, a 26-year-old Odessa, Tex., cowboy took a leading six-ride 421 average into the seventh go-round of the National Finals Rodeo bareback riding competition Friday night.

Ward, who rode all ten head in the 1972 finals, wound up fourth in average and standings last year—and is in position to finish fourth again this year.

The six-foot three-time finals contestant brought a season winning total of $20,117 to this year's NFR.

Ward finished out of the money Thursday night, however, as Joe Marvel, Battle Mountain, Nev., dominated the judging with 90 points on X9. Behind Marvel were Sammie Groves, Ponca City, Okla.; Dennis Reiners, Scottsdale, Ariz., and John McBeth, Burden, Kan.

Newsprint Deal Probe Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department was reported Friday to have begun an informal exploratory investigation into the possible effect within the United States of a recent $125 million Canadian newsprint deal.

An official of the department's antitrust division said it had asked for some information purely on an informal basis in a letter. He said there may be no problem "and we may not have any jurisdiction."

The investigation arises from the takeover fight last November in which San Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd. of Toronto won control of Price Co. Ltd. of Quebec City, making Abitibi the world's largest newsprint producer.

Canadian firms currently supply two-thirds of U.S. newsprint exports, which represented a revenue of $1.3 billion in 1973.

Antitrust officials said should the matter be pursued there are procedures between Canada and the United States for government-to-government consultation before any action could take place.

Oil Firms Indicate They'll Pass Hike On To Consumers

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The world's leading oil exporting nations have adopted a new price system to bring them an extra 38 cents a barrel—an increase of 3.9 per cent.

Oil ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) approved the price hike Friday at the end of a two-day meeting.

OPEC officials said the move was intended to reduce "unjustified" profits by the Western oil companies.

Gas To Go Up

However, the companies indicated they may pass the higher prices on to the consumer. A spokesman for Gulf Oil Co. said the OPEC action could result in an increase not exceeding one cent a gallon for all oil products at the consumer level.

In Washington, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, chairman of President Ford's Energy Resources Council, said the OPEC move means "all nations will pay an additional $4 billion for imported oil and further depress their economic activity."

He added, "This action should remind all Americans that we must conserve energy and find other sources of energy. We must move towards independence."

OPEC announced that the new price will take effect Jan. 1, 1975, and continue for at least nine months. Previous quarterly increases had quadrupled oil prices in the past 18 months.

An OPEC communique said the oil ministers of the 13-nation group agreed to set an average price of $10.12 for a 42.38-cent barrel increase would amount to less than one cent a gallon, compared with the $9.74 previously paid by the oil companies.

The decision brings OPEC into line with three of its Persian Gulf members—Saudi Arabia, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates—who adopted the price unilaterally last month.

OPEC announced the increase in its rates along with the introduction of a new pricing system to replace the posted price—an artificial figure used for assessing taxes and royalties.

Single Price

Under the new system the oil producers charge the companies a single "market price," on top of which the oil companies will add 11 cents for production costs and 50 cents for profit. This will bring the new price to $10.73 a barrel, compared with the current price of $10.35.

OPEC officials claim that because the new system of oil pricing is easier for the public to understand, it will be more difficult for companies to take allegedly unfair profits from the consumer.

But in New York, Exxon Corp., the largest U.S. oil company, said, "If the Arab countries and other OPEC nations raise our cost of crude oil 38 cents a barrel, there clearly isn't enough profit to absorb

A spokesman for Gulf said the competitive situation will determine whether the company will absorb the increase, but he added, "Under Federal Energy Administration pricing regulations, the increase in the cost of crude can be passed to the consumer. The amount to less than one cent a gallon increase in all manufactured products."

Sirica Offers Own Views Of Origins Of Watergate Burglary

WASHINGTON (AP) — John J. Sirica has offered the Watergate cover-up trial his own views on some of the origins of 1952 the original Watergate burglary.

"You collect all this money," Sirica said Friday. "You get a lot of amateur politicians running things and this is the result. Right?"

On the witness stand was defendant Robert C. Mardian, who until Watergate worked with traditional Republican political organizations in California and Arizona.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Mardian said he agreed with the judge that presidential political campaigns should be run by political parties, not special organizations created to support just one candidate.

Sirica, appointed to the bench by the late Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower, asked Mardian:

"What is the genesis, who was the person or persons who thought up this idea of setting up CREEP (the acronym of the 1972 Nixon re-election committee)?"

Sirica wanted to know why those who ran former President Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign didn't work through the Republican National Committee.

Mardian: "I'm an expert on the subject."

Sirica: "This is where a lot of the trouble started."

John attorney general with ultra-conservative political views, said CREEP's origins went back to In that year, Mardian said, Eisenhower set up his own political organization because the Republican National Committee had been captured by supporters of the late Sen. Robert Taft.

Mardian, the fourth of five defendants in the trial to testify in his own behalf, had earlier described his surprise at finding his role in the re-election committee a minor one.

Mardian testified that when director John N. Mitchell asked him to work in the campaign, he assumed he would be Mitchell's deputy.

Instead, Mardian found all key positions except Mitchell's taken by former White House aides.

Mardian is accused in the cover-up indictment in five specific acts of the conspiracy.

He flatly denied all of them on Friday.

Instead, said Mardian, his only involvement was that of a lawyer asked by Mitchell to respond to civil suits filed by the Democrats after the Watergate break-in.

Mardian completes his testimony Monday, leaving defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson the last to put his case before the jury. Besides Mitchell, the other defendants are former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

New Jersey Law Banning, Cars, Bikes, Swimming In Community Is Ruled Void

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — A Superior Court judge has declared unconstitutional a century-old state law that enabled a religiously oriented community on the New Jersey shore to ban automobiles, bicycles and swimming on Sundays and liquor every day.

Judge Merritt Lane Jr. found unconstitutional on Friday the state law that created Ocean Grove in Neptune Township, just south of Asbury Park.

Long known for its wide main boulevard, narrow side streets, quaint gingerbread houses and the complete absence of cars and bicycles on Sundays, Ocean Grove is operated much like a municipality by the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association, a Methodist-based group that was granted a special state charter on March 3, 1870. "We will of course appeal the ruling," said Alfred C. Clapp, a Newark lawyer who represented the association. "We feel it goes too far."

Pending the appeal, Judge Lane stayed his order that set aside the 1870 law, provided that the Ocean Grove News Service, Inc., is allowed to deliver 500 copies of the Asbury Park Sunday Press and 35 copies of The New York Times Sunday edition in the community.

Robert E. Schaad of Alenhurst, owner of the delivery service, filed the suit after Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Dinegar charged Schaad with curfew violations. Schaad said he had to deliver papers between midnight Saturday and 3 a.m. Sunday.

Strip Mining Bill Is Facing Presidential Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A controversial bill to protect the environment from strip mining has won House approval, but faces a presidential veto if it passes the Senate.

The administration announced Friday that President Ford would veto the bill and propose his own strip mining legislation early next year.

It is unlikely Congress could challenge such a veto because Ford can delay up to 30 days before deciding whether to sign it and Congress plans to end its session by then.

The veto announcement by Frank G. Zarb, Ford's new Federal Energy Administration chief, came Friday an hour after the House passed the compromise bill by voice vote, ending a lengthy stalemate.

Backers said they were confident of Senate passage today or possibly early next week. The bill to impose the first national environmental standards on coal strip mining is a compromise between rival versions passed by the House and Senate.

190 Patients At Rusk State Hospital May Be Freed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Approximately 190 "criminally insane" patients at the Rusk State Hospital are being evaluated by a team of experts for possible release from the maximum security unit, it was announced Friday.

Dr. Kenneth D. Gaver, state commissioner for mental health and mental retardation, said the evaluation is in response to recent federal court decisions on procedures covering the release of such persons.

"Every case affected by the court action is being evaluated

Zarb told reporters the bill was vague, open to legal challenges and would reduce U.S. coal production by from 4 million to 141 million tons a year. The claim was denied by the bill's sponsors, who said any reduction in coal production would be slight. They also charged administration predictions that the bill would increase further the price of coal, which has quadrupled over the past year.

Any new increases in coal prices will be passed on directly to consumers in the form of higher electric bills, coal industry officials contend. Electric utilities are the major users of coal.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., called the measure "a sound and balanced bill" and accused President Ford of "selling out" to energy interests that lobbied heavily against it. The bill represents a three-year effort by environmentalists to curb the ravages of strip mining, which accounts for nearly half the nation's coal production.

It would establish stiff national controls, authorize states to set up their own programs, and levy a 25 cents to 55 cents per ton excise tax on coal to support a $180-million-a-year land reclamation program.

It also would require mine operators to restore the land they mine nearly to its original contours, and prohibit strip mining in areas that can't be reclaimed.

by a team of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers and other treatment personnel at Rusk State Hospital," Gaver said.

The team will decide whether the patient at this time is a danger to himself or to others. Those who are not will be released directly or transported to the state mental hospital nearest their home for further evaluation and disposition, Gaver said.

Eight patients already have been released, he said.

"We are not releasing dangerous people on society but are abiding by the court's order in good faith and acting with responsible judgment," he said.

A three-judge federal court ruled Aug. 26 that the state law on commitment of the criminally insane was constitutional but that the requirement of a jury verdict of sanity for release was not.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently refused to stay the federal district court's order. In other action, the MHMR

Sugar Firm Cuts Prices

SUGAR LAND, (AP) — Imperial Sugar Co. of Texas announced Friday it is reducing the wholesale price of sugar lowering it by almost 44 cents for each five-pound sack at retail level.

However, a chain store spokesman said his company had bought sugar on the shelves at prices lower than those now set by Imperial Sugar.

"If we have to buy at the new price, we will have to go up at retail," the spokesman said.

Imperial Sugar said it was reducing the price of a bale by $5.25 to $34.29. It added this meant a retail price of $2.86 for a five-pound bag.

Other sugar refineries also have dropped prices. Amstar, the nation's largest refiner, and DuCrest Corp. lowered prices to $2.09 per five-pound bag, down from $2.29.

Fanne Foxe Is Retiring

CASSELBERRY, Fla. (AP) — Fanne Foxe, the stripper linked with Rep. Wilbur D. Mills in events that hastened his retirement as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says she's retiring.

Miss Foxe, who billed herself as the Tidal Basin Bombshell after she was involved in an incident at the Washington Tidal Basin when Mills' car was stopped by police, made the announcement Friday to patrons at the Club Juara in this suburb of Orlando.

Clad in a sarong that left her uncovered above the waist, Miss Foxe, 38, told her audience of about 250 that she didn't "want to bring any more bad publicity" to the Arkansas Democrat. She called him "a great, wonderful friend."

Miss Foxe was 15 minutes into her first show of the night when she made the announcement. She got a standing ovation as she left the stage, dabbing at her eyes.

"This is such a relief," she later told newsmen in her dressing room. "I hope it will all end now."

Miss Foxe was arrested and charged with indecent exposure Thursday night after officers said she appeared bottomless at the end of her act. A hearing was set for Dec. 20, and she was released from the Seminole County jail on $500 bond.

Honesty Best, And Only, Policy In Future SWC Recruiting

DALLAS (AP) — In landmark decision for intercollegiate athletics, the Southwest Conference announced Saturday its detector tests will be part of any investigations of illegal practices by coaches, athletes or friends of a league school.

"This is the first effort in the collegiate area in this respect with teeth in it," said J. Neils Thompson of the University of Texas, president of the SWC.

"To accomplish it (at the winter meeting) amazes me. Without exception, we had support from all the conference coaches."

Test For Price

On another matter concerning an investigation of Texas track coach Cleburne Price, who was accused of giving money to a sprinter on his team, Thompson said "On information Price will furnish (to the SWC)—he will take a polygraph."

An investigation committee looking into the matter took no immediate action.

On the historic conference legislation, Thompson said "It has some legal bugs in it, but it's a start—a milestone. It's new across the country because no other conference has done it. I think the Big Eight has it un-

The SWC faculty representatives voted in favor of the polygraph tests in investigations to become effective immediately.

The new legislation read: "In the investigation of alleged SWC and NCAA violations, the results of polygraph tests shall be considered by the SWC to be part of the fact-finding process.

"As a provision in the written or oral contract of employment of all coaches, the institution shall require the coach to give full cooperation in any investigation by the SWC or the NCAA in which information is sought from the coach, and if asked to do so by a conference representative submit to a polygraph test.

Guard Changes Dietzel Out, Carlen In As South Carolina Coach

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Former national football coach of the year Paul Dietzel is out as South Carolina athletic director and Texas Tech Coach Jim Carlen is in as Gamecock football coach after a shakeup in South Carolina's athletic department.

Dietzel, coach of the year at Louisiana State in 1956, resigned as South Carolina coach after the second game this season but remained as athletic director.

West Virginia and compiled a 25-13-3 mark.

He said he will probably come to Columbia Sunday and will officially take over after the Peach Bowl. Some of his aides will be at South Carolina next week to begin recruiting, Carlen said. "I hope the players who are leaning toward South Carolina will give me a chance to come into their homes and talk to them."

Hagan Remains

Hagan, 40, a four-year letterman in football and baseball at USC after World War II, was an assistant coach at Georgia Tech and Southern Methodist before joining Jess Neely's staff at Rice in 1956.

Eleven years later he succeeded Neely as coach and athletic director.

He returned to South Carolina in 1971 to take the post under Dietzel.

However, school officials promoted Friday Harold "Bo" Hagan from administrative assistant to the athletic director to the department's top job.

Hagan is a former head football coach and athletic director at Rice University.

University trustee chairman T. Eston Marchant declined to answer specific questions about the decisions the board made, saying "refinements and sophistications" to the announcement would come later. He did say Carlen was the only applicant the board voted on.

Ponders Offer

Dietzel was offered but has not accepted a new position as vice president for university relations.

Marchant said Carlen was selected on the basis of his record, which he said "speaks for itself." The chairman added Carlen's background was checked "in great detail."

Carlen said in Lubbock after signing the contract that he held out for control of the football program. He was named associate athletic director, as was veteran Gamecock basketball Coach Frank McGuire. Both will report to the university president in the new structure.

Carlen added, "I'm not power crazy. Titles don't mean much to me. I just want to have control of my football program."

Dietzel, whose teams have won just more than half their games in his 11 years at Columbia, was not available for comment.

Tech Record

The 41-year-old Carlen has a 37-19 record in his five years at Texas Tech.

His teams there have been to bowl games four times but never to the Cotton Bowl, reserved for Southwest Conference champions.

This fall the Red Raiders opened with a victory over Texas and seemed headed for the conference title. Injuries intervened and the team ended with a 3-4 mark in conference play and a 6-4 overall record. Previously he coached at

Wolfe Tops 'Dogs In Marathon Race

ODESSA — The West Texas Running Club held a Marathon race here Saturday with 61 runners competing. Odessa Periman won the High School division, but all of the runners in all divisions ran together.

Midland High was paced by Boyd Wolfe with a 17th place finish with a time of three hours, 19 minutes and 45 seconds over the 26 mile course.

Wolfe was followed by Robert Wilson, 18th; Ralph Diaz, 19th; Hector Galindo, 20th; Ken Woody, 30th; Mark Ericson, 33rd; Don Harris, 34th; Richard Brown, 43rd; Harold Stewart, 45th; and Shelton Skinner, 46th. Skinner's time was four hours, 23 minutes and 56 seconds. All the others placed in between.

Paul and Pat Darden of Edison Freshman School also participated in the run. Paul finished 41st while Pat was 42nd.

A&I Nabs 4th NAIA

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hard running Ken Hardeman and fleet running back Larry Collins led Texas A&I University to a 34-23 come-from-behind victory over Henderson State Saturday in the 19th annual NAIA Champion Bowl.

The victory gave Texas A&I its fourth national championship. The Javelinas finished the season 13-0. Henderson State of Arkadelphia, Ark., finished the season 11-2.

Texas A&I trailed the Reddies 17-6 after defensive back Lewis Pryor raced 87 yards with the second half kickoff.

It was only Austin's second loss of the season in 14 games.

How Could Anyone Leave WT For Carolina?

It's difficult to see how anyone could swap the sunshine and sinus-cleansing sandstorms of West Texas for stifling magnolia and cypress trees and the dreary dampness of South Carolina for a paltry $10,000 per annum pay raise and an associate athletic directorship, but Jim Carlen did.

Giving him the benefit of the doubt, Jim was raised in that part of the country and apparently five years in West Texas wasn't quite long enough to wean him away from the Deep South.

Facetious? Not really. West Texas grows on you.

Traveling from Abilene to Wichita Falls for Lee's bidistrict date with Rider a few weeks ago, the Mrs. remarked on the monotonous scenery. Nothing but endless flat farmlands. Not an oil pump, derrick or storage tank in sight.

Despite Carlen's success, four bowls in five years at Texas Tech, which established the Red Raiders as one of the consistent powers in the Southwest Conference, all apparently was not as serene as it seemed.

One got the feeling when he was first interviewed by South Carolina that Carlen had already severed his ties with Texas Tech and there was no retracing his steps.

His statement that he would accept nothing less than the dual responsibilities of athletic director and head football coach smacked of an ultimatum to Texas Tech as the price of staying on at Lubbock.

Things started to happen when it was revealed that Tech's acceptance of the Peach Bowl bid in Atlanta included the fine-print stipend that the Raiders guarantee the sale of 5,000 tickets.

Since Tech sold only 2,000 tickets for the more prestigious Gator Bowl game with a team that had compiled a spectacular 10-1 record, it loomed as an impossible mission.

In defense of the trip, it was pointed out that a bowl game is a reward for the foot-

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

So when Carlen interviewed for the Paul Dietzel vacancy there was a divided camp at home. Most of the speculation revolved around not so much whether Carlen would accept or reject the offer, but rather who his successor might be.

The rumors swirling over the South Plains and Permian Basin in the last week or so have mentioned Tom Wilson, former Tech quarterback and press-box director of Tech's offense; defensive coach Richard Bell and offensive coordinator Jack Fligg as possibilities from the current staff.

Outsiders in the picture include former Permian Coach Gil Bartosh, whose rejuvenation of UT-El Paso football fortunes has made the whole state sit up and take notice, and Baylor's Grant Teaff, who worked the Miracle on the Brazos with his last-to-first jump in one year at Baylor and is a former Tech assistant.

Regardless of the sentiments involved over Carlen's departure, whoever takes over will be inheriting a going football program with a solid foundation.

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders' 47-year-old wonder, George Blanda, upstaging starting quarterback Ken Stabler, hit for a touchdown on his first National Football League pass since 1972 and kicked two field goals Saturday night in a 27-23 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

Blanda went in to play quarterback late in the third quarter and on his first play connected with Cliff Branch on a 28-yard scoring play. It was the 236th touchdown pass of Blanda's 25-year pro career, and after kicking his third extra point of the night to give

Javelinas Defeat Henderson

Late in the third quarter, Hardeman took a pitchout from Ritchie and raced 12 yards to give Texas A&I a 19-17 lead. Ritchie's kick was good and the Javelinas led 20-17 with 39 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

With the Javelina Stadium crowd of 12,596 chanting "defense, defense," the Javelinas threw the Reddies for the three straight losses and the Reddies were forced to punt from the back line of the end zone.

On the fourth play following the punt, Collins raced around end for five yards. Ritchie kicked the extra point and the Javelinas held what appeared to be a commanding 27-17 lead.

Reddies Retaliate

The Reddies came right back, with tailback Sylvester Henry racing into the end zone from 11 yards out. Kicker Bob Adkisson added the extra point and Henderson trailed by only four points with 9:33 remaining in the fourth quarter.

The Javelinas bounced back as Ritchie tossed a short pass to tailback David Hill who raced into the clear for an 80-yard scoring play. Ritchie's kick was again good and the Javelinas held a 34-23 lead with 6:47 remaining in the final quarter.

Interception

Henderson linebacker Earnest Rhone intercepted a Texas A&I pass at the Javelina 29-yard line on the second play of game. Blocky then directed the Reddies to the Texas A&I 9-yard line. Freshman kicking specialist Adkisson then split the uprights for a 25-yard field goal.

The NFL: A Money-Grasping Tentacle In Every Pie

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEW YORK (NEA) — "Professional football," said Pete Rozelle once in a moment of philosophic calculation, "is an emotional, highly publicized way of life."

It is also big business, big enough to attract the interest of the United States government. The National Football League is at present confronted by 15 pending federal suits. Nine of them deal with alleged antitrust violations, six involve contract or lost claims. At least a score of other suits have been disposed of in the last couple of years. The NFL, a combined half-billion-dollar enterprise, is in the throes of severe labor problems. It is worried about declining attendance revenues, the inflationary economy and federal intervention.

But it is still a pervasive, tentacled creature which controls every facet of a brilliantly merchandised spectacle that invades almost every American home for six months of the year, building up to peak exposure at $215,000 a commercial minute for this season's Super Bowl IX. The caretaking operation is based in one of those glass cubes which shimmer light down on Park Avenue in the heart of Manhattan.

It is the headquarters for Pete Rozelle, commissioner, and his staff of 37 people, plus functionaries of the various NFL subsidiaries (NFL Films, NFL Properties).

From Control Central, the octopus of the NFL reaches out to the 26 member teams in 26 cities and converts the super-exploitation of the sport to cash flow. By 1976 there will be 28 and maybe 30 teams.

You want to buy a football T-shirt for your kid? The NFL endorses one, and gets royalties. Or sneakers? The NFL imprint is on that, too.

You want to buy a book for Christmas on pro football? The NFL has flooded the market with expensive, self-produced $14.95 (and up) gift items, virtually driving off all competition.

You want to put together a television show on the sport? You've got to come to the NFL for suitable game footage. And most of the time they'll insist on putting the show together.

Even the portentous Howard Cosell can't buck them on this. In a beautiful irony, although they pay roughly $50 million annually for the rights to televise NFL games, the three major networks can't use taped segments of those broadcasts on their own football specials. They have to buy the film, too, from the NFL.

With omnipotence has come a change in attitude of those who own, direct and play the sport. They're pompous guardians of their domain. The owners are millionaires who get gray-faced with anxiety on Sundays, which masks their chortles over tax shelters and writeoffs the rest of the time.

No Langer Fun "The fun has gone out of it," protested Cleveland president Art Modell, who became rich on the sport, "because of lawyers, agents, unions and the drug problem."

"You want to get your name in the paper," said Jim Kensil, executive director and head man of Rozelle's staff, "you sue Rozelle's staff, you sue the affluent players, who presented a package of demands to the owners and then went on strike, now want to be paid for the privilege of being interviewed.

Professional football, until its boom of the 1960s, used to be a boisterous, laissez-faire game. The late Bert Bell, who preceded Rozelle as commissioner, used to take his Philadelphia team on bus trips to bucolic Green Bay and stop at roadside meadows for practice sessions. Legendary Johnny Blood, when he coached the Pittsburgh Steelers, disappeared on a road trip to New York and turned up — disheveled, rolled and broke — a few days later.

Boggles Mind Today it would be a national scandal. Staging a football game now is an exercise in logistics that would boggle minds in the Pentagon. Two years before they'd be played, Bill Granholm of the NFL was already spending weeks in New Orleans and Miami to plan accommodations for Super Bowls IX and X — when he wasn't trekking to Tokyo and Madrid and Frankfurt to explore sites for a projected European spring version of the NFL.

Pro football is lucrative. The NFL admitted last spring that each team averaged a profit of $945,000. The Players Association, using its own economist, countered that each team actually made an average profit of $2.3 million.

National Pastime The NFL hired the Harris Report to survey the country that pro football is indeed the Rozelle.

and produced a report to show national pastime.

It's very slick, very efficient. The violence of pro football has been romanticized by the NFL public relations apparatus, through film and television and the written word, as a simile for American enterprise and gusto.

"Baseball," said Harold Rosenthal, once the publicist of the American Football Conference, "doesn't have enough people in its headquarters to provide the services of the NFL. And it has no direction. In basketball, the owners get up and fire the commissioner every 20 minutes."

Football has the omniscient leadership of Alvin (Pete) Rozelle.

Napoles Keeps Title With KO

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jose Napoles of Mexico retained his world welterweight boxing crown by knocking out challenger Horacio Saldana of Argentina in the third round of their title fight here Saturday night.

It was the 12th successful defense of the title by Napoles, who scored his knockout at one minute and 55 seconds of the third round.

Napoles was in complete control of the fight from the outset, punishing the challenger, who is at least a decade younger at 27 than the champion, with rocket rights, combinations and stinging lefts to the body.

The end came with a clean right cross that set Saldana on his seat after a combination sent Saldana's mouthpiece flying into the crowd.

Napoles, whose official age is 34, is thought actually to be at least 37. The Cuban-born fighter weighed 146½ pounds to 143 for the Argentine challenger.

Napoles, now a Mexican citizen, zen, earned $100,000, while Saldana, fighting for the fight time outside his native country, was paid $20,000.

A crowd of about 15,000 watched the bout in the copper-domed Sports Palace. The fight was carried on nationwide television in Mexico and via satellite to Argentina.

Debbie Shoots For Gal Superstar Finals

HOUSTON (AP) — Motorcycle stunt rider Debbie Lawler hopes to earn a finalist spot here this week in the Astrodome's Women's Superstars competition and if she's lucky she might even get to see her fiance—Houston Aeros hockey player Frank Hughes.

"Last season, Frank and I used to meet in airports," Miss Lawler said. "He would tell me that the Aeros were going to be in Chicago or somewhere and I would think of some reason I had to go there on business and we would spend a few hours together in the airport."

Miss Lawler will be one of 24 women athletes from all sports who will be competing in the Astrodome Friday and Saturday for 12 finalists' spots in the Superstars finals at Rotunda, Fla.

The $83,000 event is patterned after the men's Superstars competition. There will be competition in tennis, basketball, shoot, quarter-mile run, swimming, rowing, bowling, 60-yard dash, softball throw, bicycle racing and an obstacle race.

All events except rowing will be in the Astrodome. Just as in the men's competition, no contestant can enter her specialty.

Five-time Wimbledon champion Billy Jean King will represent tennis in the competition. Other entries are: Jamie Blacklock, golf; Suzy Chaffee, skiing; Laura Ching, surfing; Barbara Cochran, skiing; Kiki Cutler, Skiing; Barbara Ferrell, track; Diane Holm, speed skating; Joan Joyce, amateur softball pitcher; Micki King, diving; Karen Logan, basketball; Lella Lombardi, race car driver; Janet Lynn, skater; Debbie Meyer, diving; Barbara O'Brien, quarterback; Sandra Palmer, golf; Cathy Rigby, gymnast; Judy Soutor, bowling; Robyn Smith, jockey; Paula Sperber, bowling and Wyoming Tyus, sprinter.

The tennis competition will be a one set elimination with participants drawing for positions. The swimming event will be free style and possibly divided into heats. The bicycle race will be a half-mile final and quarter-mile heats.

Overall point winner in the finals at Rotunda will receive $10,000. Second place is $5,000 and third place receives $2,500.

Central Michigan then put the game away with a 68-yard march that included a 43-yard pass from Frankowiak to Matt Means.

The Chippewas intercepted three Zwaan passes and recovered two Delaware fumbles. Hodges wound up with 112 yards in 27 carries, his 11th straight 100-plus game.

It was the worst defeat for Delaware since 1933 and the most points scored against the Blue Hens since 1921.

A defense led by middle guard Rick Newsome smothered Delaware's shifting wing-T offense and put a hard rush on Zwaan throughout the game.

A crowd of 14,137 watched what is expected to be the last championship game here since Hughes Stadium is tentatively scheduled to be demolished as an earthquake hazard.

Nastase, Vilas Clash In Finals

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Ilie Nastase goes after his fourth straight Grand Prix tennis title today against Guillermo Vilas in the final of the $100,000 Masters Tournament.

Nastase defeated Australian ace John Newcombe 6-3, 7-6, 6-2 in one semifinal. And with temperatures soaring to a reported 125 degrees later in the day, Vilas outlasted Raul Ramirez of Mexico 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5 in a three-hour match.

Nastase and Vilas, No. 1 in the Grand Prix standings at the end of a seven-month season, will battle for the $40,000 first prize before a crowd expected to equal the 8,000, a Masters record, that attended Saturday's matches.

BEAT HENS FOR NCAA LAURELS—

Chippewas Romp

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Fullback Dick Dunham boiled off 68 yards for a touchdown on the game's first play and plunged for three more scores Saturday as Central Michigan buried Delaware 54-14 in the Camellia Bowl for the NCAA College Division II championship.

Dunham, a 205-pound sophomore, and quarterback Mike Frankowiak teamed to lead the Chippewas, 13-1, to their 17th straight victory in the finals of the NCAA's eight-team playoffs.

Frankowiak, a second-team Little All-American mixed option runs and pitches with deadly passing as the midwesterners, playing their last game in the small-college ranks, moved the ball at will. He completed 11 of 13 passes for 186 yards and one touchdown, and kicked field goals of 39 and 27 yards.

Dunham tied an NCAA playoff record with his four touchdowns and gained 121 yards in 16 carries. His plunges covered one, three and four yards.

On the opening play from scrimmage, he burst up the middle behind a block by center Wes Gamble and lumbered untouched into the end zone, putting the Chippewas ahead to stay with 16 seconds gone.

A field goal and a two-yard run by Walt Hodges made it 16-0 after one quarter. But Delaware, 12-2, mounted a long touchdown drive early in the second period, ending in a one-yard sneak by Bill Zwaan and a two-point conversion pass to Vern Roberts.

The Chippewas intercepted three Zwaan passes and recovered two Delaware fumbles. Hodges wound up with 112 yards in 27 carries, his 11th straight 100-plus game.

It was the worst defeat for Delaware since 1933 and the most points scored against the Blue Hens since 1921.

23-21 OVER FALLS CITY— Grapeland Gains Finals

AUSTIN (AP) — Grapeland's Jamie Jordan kicked a 27-yard field goal with 6:14 left to play Saturday to give the Sandies a 23-21 Class A football semifinal victory over the Falls City Beavers.

The Sandies earlier had converted a Falls City fumble and two pass interceptions by Howard Brown into first half touchdowns but faced a 21-20 deficit midway through the fourth quarter.

Falls City marched 88, 54, and 62 yards for scores with the last touchdown coming at 8:51 in the fourth period on a one-yard run by Tommy Gawlik. Garrett Jurgajis kicked the go-ahead extra point.

After Jordan's field goal, the Sandies twice stopped Falls City with the last stand at their own 26 yard line with 23 seconds left to play.

Eagles Defeat Mustangs

DALLAS (AP) — Mike Coleman scored 26 points and unbeaten Southern Mississippi erased a 12-point Southern Methodist lead in a two-minute span Saturday, pacing the Golden Eagles to a 91-85 non-conference basketball victory.

Southern Mississippi is now 5-0 while SMU is 1-3. The visitors led for most of the first half until freshman Jeff Swanson's free throw tied the game with 5:26 remaining. The Ponies held the ball for the last two minutes of the half, and Bob Arnold hit a 25-foot baseline shot to give SMU a 45-41 advantage at intermission.

James Palmer keyed the Golden Eagle comeback, scoring seven points in two minutes, and USM pulled away as the Mustangs got in foul trouble.

James King chipped in 18 for the winners. Swanson topped SMU with 21.

Southern Mississippi shot 53 per cent from the floor, and held a big rebounding edge over the shorter Ponies, 59-42.

First At Stake In NFC East Today

(By The Associated Press) Except for the St. Louis Cardinals and Washington Redskins, this is "pride week" in the National Football League. The Cards and 'Skins are vying for the one remaining division championship, the National Conference East, with the loser of the duel settling for the NFC's wild-card playoff berth. But for the rest of the league, nothing is riding on the 14th week of action except perhaps a winning or break-even season, maybe a slightly better position in the final standings, possibly a push toward next year's salary negotiations ... and a lot of pride.

St. Louis and Washington are tied atop the NFC East, each at 9-4. A few weeks ago, the Cardinals appeared to have a lock on the title, leading the Redskins by three games and, as recently as three weeks ago, needing just one more victory to wrap it up.

But the Cards, who blew out to a 7-0 record in the first half of the season, have come upon hard times, losing their last two games and four of their last six. Conversely, the Redskins have won five of their last six to turn a runaway into a dogfight.

The Deciders Now it comes down to today's two major games: The Cards vs. the New York Giants in St. Louis and the Redskins vs. Chicago in Washington.

If the Cardinals win—and they're seven-point favorites—they'll take the title no matter what Washington does since they beat the 'Skins in both meetings this year.

But if St. Louis ties or loses and the Redskins, 10-point favorites, whip Chicago, Washington will take the title.

Oilers Finally Regarded As Football Favorite

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, who have won five of their last seven games, will be favored for only the second time this season when they close out the season in the Astro dome Sunday against Cleveland, a team the Oilers never have beaten.

The Oilers, who enter the game with a surprising 6-7 record after two 1-13 seasons, were favored over San Diego in their season opener and have been underdogs since, including a span where they won four straight games.

The Browns defeated Houston 20-7 in the second game of the season but Browns Coach Nick Skorich doesn't expect a similar score again.

"The Oilers are a much improved team from when we first met them earlier this season, particularly defensively," Skorich said. "Curley" Culp (Houston's noseguard) really has done a fine job of closing up the middle for them.

"Offensively, the return of Dan Pastorini to quarterback has been a key factor."

Which ever team wins the NFC East will open the playoffs Saturday, Dec. 21, in Minnesota against the Vikings, champs of the Central Division. The wild-card team will play in Los Angeles Sunday, Dec. 22 against the Rams, who took the Western crown.

Playoff Setup

The American Conference playoff setup was decided last weekend when Miami took the Eastern title and the Pittsburgh Steelers won the Central Division. The Dolphins, gunning for an unprecedented third straight Super Bowl title, play the AFC Central Division behind the Oilers.

Both teams were losers last week. Cleveland lost to Dallas and the Oilers lost to Denver. Houston's offense has been slowed by injuries to receivers. Ken Burrough is out for the year and Billy Parks was hurt in last week's game.

"We had to open a new can of ends," Houston Coach Sid Gilman said.

One of the ends was ace kick return specialist Billy Johnson, who is second to Cleveland's Greg Pruitt in AFC kickoff returns and third in punt returns.

Pastorini, who got off to a slow start with a hamstring injury, has moved up to fifth among leading AFC passers with a 57.7 per cent completion rate. Kickoff time is 1 p.m. CST.

Houston, Buffalo at Los Angeles, Denver at San Diego and New Orleans at San Francisco. Broncos second.

Denver's Broncos are locked into second place in the AFC West but the standings, in their case, are less important now than their record. They can wind up their best season ever by beating San Diego. The Broncos take a 7-5-1 record into the finale. Last year they finished at 7-5-2; that was their first winning season ever.

The game will also be a showcase for two probable post-season award-winning running backs: Denver's Otis Armstrong, who has all but locked up the league rushing title with his 1,265 yards, and San Diego's Don Woods, perhaps the strongest Rookie of the Year candidate. The Chargers picked him up for the $100 waiver fee from Green Bay when the Packers cut him and he's slashed his way for 1,057 yards.

Newton Expels LaGrange

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — Newton's Eagles took advantage of costly LaGrange Leonard mistakes early in the first quarter and scored two lightning touchdowns in 17-7 Class AA semifinal schoolboy football playoff game.

Newton and Spearman will meet next week for the title.

Mark Walker scored the first touchdown on a one-yard plunge following a fumble recovery at the Leopard 30-yard line. The winner's second touchdown came with seven seconds left in the first period when Kenneth Ferguson fell on an erratic Neal Miller pitchout in the LaGrange end zone.

Walker converted both points after touchdown and added a 26-yard field goal in a driving rain in the fourth period. LaGrange's only touchdown came in the third period when on fourth and one from the nine-yard line when quarterback Miller broke away. The run capped a 73-yard push. Newton is now 13-1 and LaGrange finished the year 10-3-1.

OFFERED TICKET SALES JOB—Dietzel Era Finished

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — The Paul Dietzel era has ended at the University of South Carolina and the onetime national champion football coach remained incommunicado Saturday on his future plans.

Dietzel, who had resigned as head football coach earlier, was replaced Friday as athletic director.

Jim Carlen of Texas Tech was named head football coach and Dietzel's administrative assistant, former Rice coach Harold "Bo" Hagan, was appointed athletic director.

Announcing the changes Friday, T. Eston Marchant, chairman of the university's board of trustees, said Dietzel would be offered the post of vice president in charge of university relations. Those duties were not spelled out but it was understood it would mainly involve ticket sales.

Neither was the salary announced and efforts to reach Dietzel as to whether he will accept the offer have been unsuccessful. A spokesman at Dietzel's home said he was out of town and could not be reached by telephone.

Dietzel came to South Carolina nine years ago from Army with a reputation as one of the brightest coaches in the business. His West Point record was only fair but the luster of being named coach of the year in 1958 at LSU was well remembered.

In nine years at South Carolina, Dietzel compiled a 45-43-1 record. He resigned as head football coach after the second game this year, effective with the end of the season. He said at the time he wanted to remain athletic director. The Gamecocks ended the year with a 4-7 record.

Carlen, 37-18-1 in five years at Texas Tech, signed a five-year contract with South Carolina for an annual salary of $42,000, the same Dietzel received as both head football coach and athletic director.

The shakeup also involved Frank McGuire, the man who has made South Carolina a major basketball power. McGuire had been a candidate for athletic director to replace Dietzel "if the job comes open," but was named instead to the new post of associate director in addition to his duties as head basketball coach.

Contacted in New York, where he was on a scouting and recruiting trip, McGuire said he was not aware he was being considered for associate athletic director.

"No one discussed the arrangements with me," McGuire said. "I wasn't aware of what was going on and therefore I can't comment on something I don't know anything about."

Javelinas—

Freshman running back Collins gave Texas A&I a brief 6-3 lead late in the first quarter when he took a pitchout from Ritchie and raced through and around Henderson defenders for 32 yards. Ritchie's kick bounced off the uprights.

Junior quarterback Terry Blaylock then directed the Reddies on a 70-yard, nine-play scoring drive, sneaking the final two yards.

Highlighting the drive was a 22-yard pass to senior tight end Joe Yancey, a 14-yard scamper by sophomore tailback Joe Smith and a 16-yard pass which split end Larry Thompson caught by leaping between two Javelinas defenders.

Hardeman carried the ball 19 times and gained 121 yards. Collins gained 143 yards on 15 carries for the Javelinas. Smith was the leading ground gainer for Henderson with 122 yards on 21 carries.

to more clearly see a line-backer blitzing a quarterback. The other two proposals, aimed at opening up the passing game, would require four down linemen, eliminating the so-called 53 defense that permits three linemen and five defensive backs, and would prohibit the bump-and-run tactics employed against receivers by defensive backs. The league also will consider an system of mandatory security checks on prospective owners.

MESQUITE IN FINALS—

Cuero Nabs AAA Crown

By The Associated Press
Cuero became 1974's first schoolboy state champion Friday night, bouncing Gainesville 19-7 to win its second straight AAA title and its 20th game in a row.

The Gobblers took a 13-0 half-time lead as Marion Harper ran 15 yards and David Hill 38 yards for touchdowns. Hill finished with 105 yards in the game.

Gery Pickens' 18-yard TD for Cuero balanced Gainesville's only score in the third period, a two-yard run by Glenn Neuhair.

Meanwhile, half of the final pairings in Class AAAA was determined in Dallas Friday night as Mesquite edged Dallas Carter 14-12 in what could be dubbed the "Pea Soup Bowl."

Carter took a 10-7 lead at halftime in the fog-shrouded Cotton Bowl, as John Janosko caught a 25-yard touchdown pass from Marty Morrison and Ray Paul kicked a 27-yard field goal for Carter to overcome a 12-yard touchdown pass for Mesquite from Mike Ford to Randall White.

Mesquite then took the second-half kickoff and drove the field for nearly six minutes, with Mike Enochs blasting 16 yards on a draw play for a touchdown giving the Skeeters a 14-10 lead. Late in the game, an intentional safety by Mesquite helped it hold the margin.

The only other playoff game Friday night saw Spearman whip Bowie 43-6 in a Class AA semifinal.

Nissalke To Consult Attorneys

SAN ANTONIO, Tex (AP)—Tom Nissalke says he intends to let his attorneys talk for him following his unexpected dismissal Friday as coach of the San Antonio Spurs of the American Basketball Association.

Nissalke was fired following a meeting of stockholders of the team during which executive vice president Angelo Drossos asked them to reaffirm his authority over Spurs personnel.

Team president B. J. (Red) McCombs said that after the stockholders reaffirmed Drossos' authority, he said: "One of my first moves is to ask Tom Nissalke to resign and replace him with Bob Bass."

After the meeting, Drossos made his intention official announcing that Bass, general manager of the Memphis Sounds, would replace Nissalke.

The announcement of Nissalke's dismissal was made by a team spokesman who termed the reason "conduct detrimental to the franchise."

McCombs said some of the stockholders were caught by surprise when Drossos said he intended to fire Nissalke.

Nissalke, who is reported to have two years left on his contract with the Spurs, has called for a news conference here Monday morning.

Nissalke had taken over the Spurs before the start of last season shortly after the Spurs moved here from Dallas where the team had failed to stir the fans.

Under Nissalke, the Spurs finished last season in third place in the ABA West. When the Spurs moved from Dallas to San Antonio they acquired Sven Nater and George Gervin from the Virginia Squires.

Dolphin Trio Ponders WFL Future

MIAMI (AP) — Even if the World Football League doesn't survive its financial problems, Sunday's game with New England may be the last home game for Miami Dolphins Larry Csonka, Paul Warfield and Jim Kick.

All three have talked of retiring if their contracts to play next year with Memphis in the WFL are wiped out by a league collapse.

Kick will likely be the only member of the threesome—who signed a joint $3.3 million WFL contract last March—who will play against the Patriots. Warfield and Csonka are being re-signed for the National Football League playoffs because of injuries since the game is meaningless for playoff purposes.

Unless Miami beats Oakland in its first playoff game and Pittsburgh loses to wild-card Buffalo, Miami will not return to the Orange Bowl this season. Buffalo, as wild card, cannot host a playoff.

Halfback Kick, 28, unhappy because of limited playing time the past three seasons, said last month, "If I hadn't signed with the World League, I would have demanded to be traded at the end of the season. Or I would have just retired."

Fullback Csonka, 32, has been bothered by foot injuries the past two seasons and will miss rushing for 1,000 yards for the first time in four years. He has 789 yards.

Csonka has made over $1 million in the past year. Besides earning over $100,000 with the Dolphins, he received a $600,000 advance from Memphis owner John Basset to sign with the WFL and made a reported $400,000 in the off-season with endorsements and personal appearances.

He said it would "take a lot of thought" for him to remain in football if the WFL doesn't make it.

Wide Receiver Warfield, 32, also has been bothered by injuries. He said family considerations would be a big part of his decision if the WFL folds. He has moved back and forth from his home in Cleveland to Miami since being traded by the Browns in 1970.

"Sanja will be starting school," Warfield said of his 5-year-old daughter. "She'll be in kindergarten next year. All the moving certainly is not an ideal situation for her or for my wife."

"That will affect a major part of my decision whether to continue playing football or not."

Warfield, who will receive a degree in telecommunications from Kent State University this June, received a $300,000 cash advance from Basset to sign with the WFL.

BOXING

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Third-ranked heavyweight Ron Lyle struggled to a technical knockout at 1:43 of the fifth round over a weary, out-of-shape Al Jones Friday night, moving closer to a possible bout with world champion Muhammad Ali.

Despite flooring Jones six times, Lyle, who weighed in at 216½, appeared sluggish, and the 212-pound Jones' frequent trips to the canvas seemed due more to exhaustion than to Lyle's blows.

In the dressing room after the fight, Lyle maintained he fought a smart fight.

"I knew he (Jones) had a strong right hand," said Lyle.

Bryner Returning To Broadway

EDITOR'S NOTE: Yul Brynner is returning to the Broadway stage after 20 years, lured by the role of Odysseus, a warrior who spent 20 years just getting home from Troy. Brynner's last stage role was in "The King and I," and he believes "Odyssey," the new musical, will have similar success.

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — The once and future king, Yul Brynner, spoke. And there was no puzzlement.

"Nothing is just by chance. I believe in miracles when they are done very deliberately."

"Life is immediately, not tomorrow."

"I reject the sex symbol — and shaving your head isn't going to make you sexy in any case."

"I've never been frustrated, at all."

He seals each terse avowal with a majestic chuckle.

After an absence of 20 years, Brynner is returning to the stage for what he hopes will be another extended tenure.

"Nothing has changed," he offers assurance to the faithful. In between there have been 36 films "and when they took my measurements for the latest, everything was exactly as in 1962 — I still weigh 180 and my coat is still size 46. It's all here." He thumps the massive chest and shoulders which began developing when he became a circus gymnast at age 12 in Paris.

The project wooing him away from movies is "Odyssey," a musical based on the Homeric saga of the Trojan War hero who, just coincidentally, also spent 20 years getting back to his royal home.

Albert Marre, who directed that sleeper hit about Don Quixote, is directing and his spouse, Joan Diener, enacts steadfast wife Penelope to Brynner's Odysseus.

"I insisted on her," Brynner smoothly squelches any hint of nepotism. "At first they said it would be totally impossible for her to take part."

The star, with the shiny-pale reports that a dozen years passed following "The King and I," which won him a Broadway

Opened Too Soon

"I wanted an extensive pre-Broadway tour," Brynner declares. He has always felt "The King and I" premiered too soon. "Once you open on Broadway and are a hit, a show tends to congeal."

As Odysseus, he has five songs, more than in any prior excursion, so a coach arrived in France soon after Stevens "to teach me how to place my voice comfortably — for a month we really worked."

Brynner stresses the importance of staying in character while singing. "If you change sound, it's like taking off your hat in a Western movie — suddenly you're not a cowboy any more."

The role requires a lot of pantomime and the star gives high praise to the show's choreographer, Billy Watson, for activating long dormant skills.

"He gave me the kind of open doors I needed to wake up all kinds of old things that were in my baggage of pantomime," says the actor with Byzantine ardor.

Although show business hasn't been conspicuously successful recently with such fare, Brynner is sure "audiences are always ready for entertainment with truly romantic, marvelous moments like 'Odyssey.'"

Travels With Family
Wife Jacqueline and Mia, their 15-month-old daughter, are going along on Brynner's tour — "I travel with everybody, life is now, not when I finish a job."

Wherever he goes, the star knows people are going to ask inevitably some questions. And being a man who "likes things to be done more or less deliberately — I don't like accidents, even happy accidents" — he is an Eagle Scout ready with replies.

Always A 'Weirdo'
On badness: "I went through two difficult phases. Before I shaved my hair, it was very long like what's fashionable now, but then I was regarded as a weirdo. Then I shaved my hair and became a weirdo again and listened to the endless jokes."

"I just don't give a hoot. It's the most comfortable way to have it, that's all there is to it."

'Mr. Scrooge' To Delight All Ages

Ebenezer Scrooge, along with all the more lovable characters of Charles Dickens' beloved "Christmas Carol," comes to Theatre Centre this week to delight young theater-goers — and older ones, too.

A musical adaptation, "Mr. Scrooge," will have public performances Thursday and Friday afternoons as well as Saturday morning and afternoon. Seat reservations for the four presentations may be made through the theater box office, 682-2544. Admission is 75 cents.

"Mr. Scrooge" is presented by the Pickwick Players, the young people's producing and performing company of Midland Community Theatre. The production is made possible by a grant to MCT from the Mobil Foundation Inc. It's one of a series of special grants from that foundation to museums, community theaters and other arts organizations in 30 cities throughout the nation.

The Pickwick's musical is directed by Gary Sullivan, new assistant director at MCT, with Ange Dickson as the stage manager. Cherry Jones has choreographed the production and Elliott Gould is its music director. Costumes are by Vivian Gillaspia.

Heading the cast of "Mr. Scrooge" is Biff Taylor as the miserly Ebenezer. His faithful employe, Bob Cratchit, is played by Clay Guthrie and Scott Morriss will be seen as Tiny Tim. Janet Orem has the role of Mrs. Cratchit, while Jill Hawley, Mary Leonard, Salome Watson and Kateva Dellis will be seen as the Cratchit daughters.

The ghosts of Christmases past, present and future, vital forces in the Dickens classic, will be portrayed respectively by Cindy Crow, Dick Vivion and Leslie King, while David Kiesel has the role of the ghost of Jacob Marley.

David Smith will be seen as Ebenezer Scrooge as a young man and Lisa Petion will portray Isabel. Other cast assignments have gone to Brent Seewald, Judy Youngblood, Jim Anderson, Lisa Staires, Jan Darwin, Greg Hanks, Eric Barker and Craig Stanford. The chorus in the musical is made up of Mark Andrade, Cecile Davis, Jack Tomlinson, Paul Philip, Judi Anthony and Kim Whitaker.

As a result of the funding of "Mr. Scrooge" by the Mobil grant, MCT is able to provide free admission to performances of the musical for groups of youngsters who otherwise could not attend. Organizations wishing to arrange for groups of children to attend a performance are invited to make the arrangements through the theater office.

Surfaced Photo Of Will Rogers May Be His Last

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — What may be the last photograph ever taken of Will Rogers and aviator Wiley Post has surfaced here.

The yellowed Kodak snapshot shows Post, with a patch over his left eye, at the door of a plane. Rogers, in the picture, is about to shake hands with an Alaskan bush pilot.

The picture was taken in 1935 by Vern J. Faneuf and a friend who were prospecting near Fairbanks and hiked about 20 miles to the Fairbanks airport to see the famed humorist, newspaper columnist and rodeo entertainer.

Rogers and Post were in Alaska on a hunting trip.

The picture now belongs to Earl Taylor, an evidence and property officer with the Vancouver Police Department. Faneuf is his stepfather.

Faneuf, now in a Vancouver nursing home, said Rogers and Post made a brief flight with the bush pilot Aug. 14, the day before they crashed near Point Barrow in a plane piloted by Post.

"My stepfather gave me the picture in 1960," Taylor said. "He said it was the last picture taken of Rogers and Post. I think he's right."

Six Reading Performances Of 'A Christmas Carol' Set

HOUSTON—A series of six reading performances of "A Christmas Carol," Charles Dickens' beloved story, will be a special holiday feature of Houston's famous Alley Theatre.

The readings are by Alley Theatre resident actor William Trotman.

The script for the traditional holiday tale, which features such characters as Scrooge, Bob Cratchit, Tiny Tim and the ghosts of Christmases past, present and future, has been adapted from three different reading versions of the immortal story. The most famous and oldest rendition is that of famous Shakespearean actor and teacher Frederick Koch, who toured his version throughout the Southeastern U.S. from the late 1920s to the mid-'40s. The tradition is still being carried on by Samuel Selden and Earl Winn, the latter recently taping his version for the Public Broadcasting System. Perhaps the most famous gentleman to read Dickens to audiences was Dickens himself, who toured England and the U.S. during the latter portion of his life. He was followed by actor Emlyn Williams, who assumed the character of Dickens to such an extent that he had a reproduction of Dickens' own brass-knobbed reading desk built for his tour.

Initial presentations of the Alley's "A Christmas Carol" were given Friday and Saturday. Additional performances are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. today, 8:30 p.m. Friday, 5 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. next Sunday. Tickets are priced $3 for adults, $2.50 for children under age 12 and $2 per person for groups of 10 or more. The tickets are on sale daily at the Alley box office, 615 Texas Ave., or at ticket centers in all Foley's stores in the Houston area.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS
Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

Favorable weather for harvesting prevailed over the area for most of the week and Midland County reached about 25 per cent of the cotton harvested compared to about 60 per cent last year at this time. The adverse weather in earlier weeks reduced production prospects and the amount harvested to date. Grade reductions have been significant too, as compared to last year, also because of the weather.

Usually a major step toward the Christmas season is the purchase of a Christmas tree. There are several pointers to remember when making a selection and then caring for the tree, says Charles Green, Midland County extension agent.

It's important to get a tree that isn't too large for the allotted space, is well filled-out, and has a good triangular shape. Check to see if the tree is fresh by shaking it. If only a few needles fall, you can be assured of its freshness and the tree will maintain its appearance longer. As soon as you get home, cut off about an inch from the butt end of the tree to facilitate moisture intake. This will help the tree maintain a fresh appearance. Put the butt end of the tree in a container of water and store it in a cool, shady place until you're ready to bring it indoors.

Before bringing the tree inside, find a location where it will be away from heating vents, radiators, fireplaces, stoves and television sets. Use a tree stand that holds water. Because of the low humidity in moist heated homes, the tree will need to be watered every day to keep the foliage fresh. It's important to check the condition of electrical cords and lights before putting them on the tree. A short in the wiring could cause a serious fire. So, proper selection and care of your Christmas tree can help insure a safe Christmas. For safety's sake, don't leave the lights on when no one is at home or when retiring.

It's that time of the year to make out the Christmas gift list. And what better gift to give than something produced in Texas that can be enjoyed by everyone on your holiday list. Gifts of Texas meat, poultry and dairy products should have a special place on your gift list this Christmas.

Such items are available in grocery stores and supermarkets throughout the state in a wide variety of choices. In addition to giving actual products, gift certificates are also available through major retail food stores and banks.

The beauty of a fire in the fireplace during the upcoming holiday season can be made even prettier with the addition of multi-colored flames. Chemical treatment of the material to be burned can result in green, red, blue, orange or purple flames instead of the usual yellow flame from wood. Calcium chloride can be used to produce orange-colored flames. Copper chloride produces blue flames and potassium chloride causes purple flames. Other chemicals and the colored flames they produce are stontium nitrate, red lithium chloride, carmine, and copper-sulfate, emerald green.

Dry pine cones, small chips or blocks of wood can be soaked in these chemicals for multi-colored flames. Most of the chemicals can be purchased from chemical suppliers or drug stores. To treat the cones or wood, a plastic pail and an onion or mesh sack are needed. The cones or chips are placed in the sack and immersed in a solution containing one pound of chemical dissolved thoroughly in one gallon of water. The bag must be weighted, so that all of the material is covered completely and the cones and wood should soak at least 10 minutes.

The Black Experience: "In recent years," states the late Lqcius H. Pitts, ninth president of Paine College, Augusta, Ga., "we have filled out thousands of questionnaires and report forms for all kinds of research. What seems to be the conclusion in the minds of many people as a result of these studies can be summed up in phrases such as 'black higher education is an academic disaster', or 'the degrees from black colleges are hollow symbols', or 'why should black colleges continue to exist in view of the desegregation of most of the white colleges in America'."

"We have been treated as neglected children in the higher education system in this country. We have been counted out time after time, but got up before the count of 10. We have been urged to limp along on inadequate budgets and encouraged to become pre-college institutions for the predominantly white colleges and universities. Most of the white colleges and universities are simply not prepared to deal with the psychological or educational needs of black high school graduates. The grants being provided now by funding agencies to predominantly white colleges for the disadvantaged, neglected, poor, and black are being used to seek out the most advantaged black high school graduates and college freshmen in black colleges who are going to make it into the mainstream anyway."

Ridiculous!
"The claim being made that these white schools are serving the disadvantaged blacks is ridiculous and administrators know this. The idea that the predominantly white college can or will service the kinds of people that we have serviced for a hundred years and continue to serve in our black colleges, is nothing less than an impossible and improbable rhetorical statement."

"Has America designed a leaderless black community for the future? . . . What I am really asking as a black college president is: Does America really intend to let Cinderella come to the ball undisguised? Is there a conspiracy in America to allow black higher education to starve, to be murdered, buried, and forgotten?"

"Nonetheless, nobody is giving the answer needed for massive funding of the 'gut' operation of the black colleges, particularly the private-church-related ones. . . . Should I say to

Black Towns Way Up or Out?

Three of the best known all-black towns in America today are located in the state of Oklahoma. They are about 98 to 99 per cent pure black and are Boley, Taft and Langston. Boley first gained national and international publicity in the '30s when George Birdwell and his gang (members of Pre-ty Boy Floyd's notorious gang of bank bandits, attempted to hold up one of Boley's two banks and were killed or captured. The bank's president, D. J. Turner, was killed also, but the robbery attempt was foiled.

Langston is a town best known as the home of Langston University, a predominantly black institution battling to keep its doors open in spite of the fact that it is state supported, while Taft is the location of a state supported deaf, blind and orphan facility and a home for delinquent girls. Boley has a state supported home for delinquent boys and now is integrated.

Taft recently gained national publicity when Redd Foxx, star of television's Sanford and Son donated some $40,000 for the town's first modern swimming pool and was elected the town's chief of police. Said Foxx: "I intend to help put this town on the map and make it something." A basketball court, a football field and other recreational facilities are also planned for Taft in the future, according to Chief Redd Foxx. Mayor Lella K. Foley, 32-year-old widow and mother of five (formerly on welfare) says that plans are for a benefit performance with such personalities as Flip Wilson, Dionne Warwick, Frank Sinatra and Mark Spitz appearing. Mayor Foley of Taft has received many awards including Outstanding Young Woman of the Year, it was reported.

Boley is best known for its annual rodeo and homecoming celebrations each year around Memorial Day when thousands from over the state and nation come to Boley to "observe and celebrate," states one Boley belliger. "We could easily become the black playground of the Southwest, if we had the facilities," the belliger added. Any black investors around?

Consortium Formed For Oil Shale Leases

SALT LAKE CITY — Schio Petroleum Co., Sun Oil Co. and Phillips Petroleum Co. have announced jointly the formation of a new organization called the White River Shale Project to direct the development of oil shale leases acquired in Utah as part of the federal government's prototype oil shale leasing program.

Key personnel named to head the project are Earl H. Ramsey of Sun Oil Co., program director; Charles E. Doney, Phillips Petroleum Co., manager of engineering, and Ross Madson and Merrill L. Littlewood, Schio Petroleum Co., environmental affairs coordinator and manager, community development, respectively. Project headquarters will be in the University Club Building, Salt Lake City. A field operating office has been established in Vernal, Utah.

Leases to be mined are located in northeastern Utah near the Colorado border.

It is anticipated that the recently acquired leases will be developed jointly to produce 100,000 barrels of petroleum products per day from the shale. The scope of the project includes the development of the largest underground mine in the world to produce over 150,000 tons per day of shale, plus retorting and refining facilities.

The development of a new community and the resolution of environmental considerations are major parts of the program.

Southland Royalty Co. has appointed M. Carroll Stalon as district geologist in the company's office here, with duties in West Texas and New Mexico. Southland is an oil and gas exploration and production company based in Fort Worth.

Stalon's 19-year career has included positions in the West Texas-New Mexico region for several other oil companies, as well as experience as an independent.

A native of Brownwood, he received his B.S. degree in geology from The University of Texas at El Paso in 1955. Stalon is a member of the West Texas Geological Society and the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, which honored him as an outstanding geology major when he was in college.

Domestic Oil Refiners Mothball Billions In Planned Expansions

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic oil refiners have mothballed plant expansion projects costing billions of dollars.

Factors being blamed range from price controls to uncertainty surrounding proposed mandatory energy conservation measures.

"Significant energy savings, whether voluntary or legislated, are bound to exert a considerable impact on the amount of additional refining capacity needed in this country," says Wait W. Walker, Continental Oil vice president for refining.

Walker said economic incentives for such costly projects have disappeared.

"The free market place has been replaced with a controlled one and there is a cartel governing foreign crude volumes and prices to the United States," he said.

"In today's climate, the refiner no longer builds for his requirements; he builds for the requirements of others."

Continental is among the companies mothballing, having postponed further development of plans for a $2 billion, 250,000

ARCO's Canadian Unit Pulls Out Of Project

CALGARY — Atlantic Richfield Canada Ltd. has announced it has notified the Provincial Government of Alberta, the Canadian Federal Government and the participants in the Syncrude Canada Ltd. Athabasca Oil Sands Project that Atlantic Richfield Canada has taken action to withdraw from participation in the construction of a 125,000 barrel-a-day production plant and related facilities.

Atlantic Richfield Canada's estimate of the cost of the project has escalated from $1.2 billion 14 months ago to a current estimate of over $2 billion, the spokesman said. Approximately $100 million has been spent to date by the group since construction began in 1973. The participants in the syncrude project have been actively evaluating and testing various approaches to the technology of producing synthetic crude from the Athabasca oil sands since 1958.

Atlantic Richfield Canada, Imperial Oil Ltd. and Canada-Cities Service Ltd. each have a 30 per cent interest in the project, and Gulf Oil Canada Ltd. has a 10 per cent interest.

An Atlantic Richfield Co. spokesman stated that presently estimated net consolidated write-off will amount to about $20 million after income taxes.

He noted that the company still views the Athabasca oil sands as an important supplement to conventional crude oil sources and will continue its research aimed at improving technology for in situ recovery of oil from oil sands.

Positive Plans On Energy Crisis Seen In Future

By CLYDE LA MOTTE
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent
WASHINGTON — John C. Sawhill, the departing administrator of the Federal Energy Administration, is of the opinion that the Administration, Congress and the general public are for the most part now in a mood to do something about the energy situation.

Sawhill, who will be succeeded by Frank Zarb as soon as the Senate votes confirmation of the latter, anticipates that some positive programs will evolve in the near future.

He indicated some concern that such moves, especially those made by Congress, may lean heavily toward conservation and may not go far enough in stimulating increased production of domestic energy resources.

Sawhill has been a strong vocal advocate of conservation measures, including a gasoline tax hike, but he has also vigorously stressed the need for more incentive to encourage increased domestic energy development.

In an interview with this reporter, Sawhill ticked off several examples of the type of incentives needed to spur domestic output: a higher price for natural gas, expanded leasing of offshore federal areas, and government support for building plants to demonstrate new technology, such as coal gasification.

As for the present two-tier system under which new oil is allowed the marketplace price while old oil is kept under a price ceiling, Sawhill said that this type of price discrimination should eventually be ended, too, but that it simply was not politically possible to remove the lid on old oil prices at this time.

On the conservation side, Sawhill's ideas include incentives for reducing demand as well as incentives for increasing supplies.

This could be done, he believes, through tax deductions for insulation of homes, mandatory efficiency standards for new buildings and, perhaps, a tax on gasoline. The latter could start at, say, 10 cents a gallon and be increased gradually to 20 cents.

Sawhill appears to be a bit uneasy that upcoming action may be primarily limited to such moves as a mandatory reduction of oil imports. He said this could create chaos in the marketplace, including a revival of long lines at service stations.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new spokesman for Texas energy interests in the nation's capital started his work here late last week.

Alvin C. Askew was administrator of the Texas Emergency Fuel Allocation Office, which supervised fuel distribution in Texas during the fuel crisis last winter before taking the Washington post.

He is assigned to the Texas state office here.

"We believe that if an excise tax is to be placed on only one industry, then all subsidies being paid should be stopped," Dean said. "We have made all these points clear in the letter to the President, members of his cabinet and the congressmen."

"We believe that if depletion is to be eliminated from the domestic petroleum industry, it should be killed for all the 113 other extractive minerals," Dean said.

He also pointed out that if so-called oil tax loopholes are to be eliminated then all so-called loopholes should be cut out, including tax exemptions of all types.

Car Leasing At Erskine's Not Difficult

There's a guy who makes $20,000 a year, has money in the bank and a top credit rating, but he doesn't own the car he drives. He leases instead. Why does he lease? He wanted to put the down payment on a new sailboat instead of a car. Also, he can project his total car expenses for the next two years and keep accurate tax records at the same time. Leasing gives him all the advantages of ownership, without the responsibilities. Leasing is neither difficult nor sophisticated. It is simply another way to get the car of your choice and, for many people, it is the more convenient way. In a recent survey by Automotive Fleet it was found that intermediate, compact and middle priced car sizes showed a gain in preference by lessees while low priced cars dropped 10 per cent in popularity with high priced cars down by one percent. Ten years ago compacts made up to 10 per cent of leasing company fleets; low priced cars, 47 per cent; middle priced cars, 27 per cent; and high priced cars, 16 per cent, according to survey responses. When asked whether the leasing firms were new car dealer affiliates, 39 per cent of the survey responses were 'yes' and 60 per cent were 'no'. The average lease-rental car dollar value jumped $477 over the previous figures. Yearly mileage figures were averaged 22,244 miles for leased cars; 14,424 miles for rental cars; 37,150 miles for leased trucks and 28,148 miles for rental trucks, a gain over previous survey-recorded yearly vehicle mileage averages. Is this your year to lease, too? Talk it over with the men at Erskine Motor Leasing Co., 223 E. Illinois. Phone S. M. Erskine, Truman Blair or S. E. Mickey at 683-3395. You may decide leasing your car or fleet is for you, too.

consumer, it must lead the way in reducing consumption. All in all, he thinks the big need at this time is for positive leadership. "The public is ready to do something," he said. "It has heard enough rhetoric but has seen few positive solutions acted upon. It's time we got down to specifics." Sawhill thinks a realistic approach is to set specific goals for controlling demand and specific targets for increasing supply, such as establishing a target for the number of wells to be drilled next year, the number of refineries to be started, and so on. In such a setting, he said, he is confident that the public will respond. This, in turn, will encourage Congress because Congress naturally reacts to public opinion. The administration, too, would be in a better position to seek and get cooperation in attaining national objectives. The only alternative is to let things slide, doing little or taking only half-measures. Sawhill warns that this could only mean higher prices and shorter supplies in the months and years ahead. Study Group Sets Meeting Monday

The Midland Operations Study Group of the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE) of AIME, will meet at 11:30 a.m. Monday in the American Legion Hall. The luncheon will be catered by Johnny's Barbecue. The speaker will be Roland Blauer of Minerals Management Inc. at Denver. He will give a presentation on the process of fracturing with foam. Of the nearly 100 wells which have been fractured by this method, about 30 are in the Permian Basin. Blauer has been associated with Minerals Management since his graduation from the Colorado School of Mines, and much of the research on foam fracturing has been done by him. He has supervised the field development of the new hydraulic fracturing procedure.

Orloff Subsidiary Wins Contract

TULSA — Tulsa Pro-Quip, a subsidiary of The Orloff Corp. of Midland, Tex., has been awarded the contract to design and construct a major natural gas liquids extraction plant for Lone Star Gas Company near Trinidad, Tex.

The plant will produce a total of approximately 2,860 barrels per day of ethane, propane, butane and natural gasoline. These products will help supply the feedstock short petrochemicals and fuels industries.

Detailed engineering design and the procurement of long delivery equipment for the project has been initiated. Tulsa Pro-Quip and Orloff will use their expander cryogenic process techniques to provide a high efficiency ethane recovery plant.

Tulsa Pro-Quip's specialized talents in the field of packaging will be used to fit the modular construction concept desired by Lone Star.

Plant start-up is scheduled for the fourth quarter of 1975.

Production was through perforations at 7,222-7,383 feet, which had been acidized with 4,000 gallons and fractured with 56,000 gallons and 54,000 pounds.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 6, block 21, H&TC survey, 13 miles southwest of Sterling City.

Wallace Observes 30th Anniversary

Menta F. Wallace Jr., professional geologist in the Southwestern Exploration division, velocity project, in Midland, has observed his 30th anniversary of employment by Exxon Co.-USA.

He joined the firm in Houston, later working in seismic field assignments in Lake Charles, La., and transferring to West Texas and New Mexico locations in 1950 as a seismic computer.

He was named geophysicist in the Midland division office in 1961 and was promoted to professional geophysicist in 1968.

He was presented a service award by geophysical manager H. J. Noble, at a luncheon held recently in his honor.

Refiners—Gillie To Address Oil Field Haulers

"Now, with the Federal Energy Administration regulations coming in, they have distorted the income and cost and profit situation to the degree that the downstream operations in refining and marketing are no longer making any money in a great many companies. In fact, in a great many companies they are losing money."

Walker also is chairman of the American Petroleum Institute's refining division. He says the annual growth rate for domestic capacity in recent years has been five to six per cent but currently is lower because of higher fuel prices, conservation measures, and numerous other uncertainties.

"If we fall to as low as a two per cent growth rate, which I believe is a minimum figure but a realistic one, the current refining capacity of 14.5 million barrels a day would increase to 17 million by 1982."

Wright says all the factors, including demand, must be translated to a percentage growth rate.

"By aiming too high, there will be overcapacity as a result; by aiming too low, we will in effect export refining capacity to foreign shores," he said.

Supply Facility Added By Bovaird

LAFAYETTE, La.—A full service supply facility for offshore drilling and production has been opened at the port of Galveston by the Bovaird Supply Co.

The new facility includes four buildings located on a 26,000-square-foot site.

Gillie To Address Oil Field Haulers

DENVER—Delegates to the annual National Oil Field Haulers Conference—to be held here March 3-5, 1975—at the Regency Inn, will hear an address by Jim Gillie, an executive of Phillips Petroleum Co. at Bartlesville, Okla.

Gillie will speak on a luncheon March 4. The event will be hosted by International Harvester Co. His subject will be "I'm Agin the Aginners."

He is a former writer for the United Press International and a radio commentator, and is now assistant to the manager of the public affairs department of Phillips.

Some 400 persons are expected to attend the conference.

Many U.S. Plants, Equipment Obsolete, Fall Survey Shows

By SAM BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — American businesses would have to spend almost $200 billion to fully modernize their operations, according to economists at McGraw-Hill, Inc.

Their fall survey of capital spending plans led the economists to report: "A significant share of plants and equipment is ancient, of obsolete design and incapable of attaining the efficiency that is made possible by modern production techniques."

Inflation has driven up the cost of modernization along with everything else.

After surveying larger companies in varied lines of business, the economists said replacing outmoded facilities would cost $196.69 billion. The report estimated that the same work could have been done for $149.1 billion at the close of 1972.

The industries said to be furthest behind in updating facilities were: railroad equipment manufacturing, shipbuilding, rubber and iron and steel.

Those the report said were replacing outmoded equipment at the fastest rate were: textiles, electrical machinery, fabricated metals, stone clay and glass and chemicals.

Evaluating economic factors that affect the stock market, researchers at New York City's Chemical Bank report: "The environment in which the stock market will be operating in 1975 will at least be not quite so poor as during the recent years of deterioration."

In line with predictions of many other economists, they report that inflation should ease later in 1975, while the Gross

National Product and economic indicators should remain weak early in the year with an upturn in the spring and summer months.

The economists look to the sidelines for much of the financial impetus needed in the market. They see a large potential volume of new stock issues — if and when the market revives. And they look toward financial institutions that have been accumulating cash as they leave the market for buying pressure that would boost the market.

The researchers predict renewed consumer confidence and a strengthened dollar will provide psychological boosts next year.

In the all-important area of political activity, though, the economists see "dangerous potentials," but make no predictions.

Textbooks No Longer Antiseptic And Sterile But Controversial Now

By W. ROBERT WELER
Associated Press Writer

Mentioning school textbooks used to be a good way to end conversations. "They were antiseptic and sterile. They had Dick and Jane running into their middle class homes," says Kenneth Donelson of Arizona State University, a nationally known educator. That was before controversial contemporary writers made their way into public school textbooks, helping to set off a running protest in Charleston, W. Va.

Schools there have been fire-bombed, school buses fired at and two persons seriously injured. Protesters claim the textbooks in the Kanawha County school district are immoral, sacrilegious and un-American. Elsewhere in the nation, many of the same textbooks are read by millions of public school students without major problems, although the Charleston dispute might be the beginning of a wider controversy. There are 300 different books involved in the West Virginia struggle. They include Scott Foresman Co.'s "Galaxy" and "Man in Literature" series, Houghton-Mifflin's "Interaction" series, McDougal, Littell Co.'s "Man" series, Webster McGraw-Hill's "Themes in Literature" series, Allyn & Bacon Inc.'s "Breakthrough" series, Harcourt Brace & Jovanovich Inc.'s "Quest" and "Right On" journalism books, and D.C. Heath's "Communicating" series. These new language arts books and others like them, read in the nation's schools since the late 1960s, recognize the role of minorities and women in America, and deal with a variety of contemporary moral issues. They are the New Classics of secondary school education — and they are becoming controversial. The books include excerpts from such controversial writers as Eldridge Cleaver, LeRoi Jones, Yusuf Iman, Felix Polak, Malcolm X and Lawrence Ferlinghetti. A passage in a high school text about poet Allen Ginsberg's college days illustrates what the Charleston parents object to:

"A tall, red-headed chick. She had been mainly a whore, actually, with very expensive Johns, who would pay her a hundred dollars a shot. And she was a very lively chick, who took a lot of pot. Really a remarkable, beautiful, good-hearted, tender girl. I had a special regard for her from years before because she had really put herself out to straighten me out and here she was like a big, expensive whore."

A third-grade text, from D. C. Heath's "Communicating Series," follows a story about a little boy who cheated and felt bad about it with this question: "Most people think that cheating is wrong, even if it is only to get a penny, which is what Shan did. Do you think there is ever a time when it might be right?" While educators say that type of question stimulates children to think, some in the Kanawha County School District see it as immoral and permissive. "They will have to lock up everybody in Kanawha County before we stop this battle," says Phyllis Harmon of St. Albans, W. Va. She has kept her two daughters out of school since September. The initial reaction of many to Charleston was critical of the parents and in favor of the textbooks. But since the Charleston dispute began last summer:

—The "Communicating Series" — which deals with moral issues at the elementary school level — was rejected by Texas and Georgia school officials. Oregon and Oklahoma approved it, however. —An Indiana school system voted to limit the use of McDougal, Littell's "Man" series — also involved in the Charleston dispute. The "Man" series includes black writers Malcolm X and LeRoi Jones; Jean Paul Sartre, the French existentialist; and Eldridge Cleaver, living in exile, a fugitive from criminal charges in this country. In conservative Utah, on the other hand, the "Man" series has been used for several years at Cottonwood High School, without problem. Teacher Lois Green says, "I've had the greatest success with this series. When I began using it, it was about the only literature which gave minority groups any sense of identity at all with literature and scholarship."

The "Man" series also is used widely in San Francisco schools — again without complaint. Donelson, an authority on ownership in schools, says most anti-schoolbook campaigns in the past have been directed against a novel or some other work used only as supplemental reading. That's changing now, he says. "Parents can't fight tv, books or movies, which they think have dirty material, but they can sure fight a teacher. You are going to see more protests. There's going to be a parental revolt."

A group calling itself Guardians for a Traditional Education protested the use of allegedly offensive materials in Prince George's County, Md., a year ago. There were similar disputes in Bernington, Va., and Roanoke, Va. All were settled in favor of the educators, although in Roanoke students who don't want to use a controversial textbook can leave the classroom and go to the library. How do schools select textbooks? One thing is clear — parents usually have very little to do with the selection process, says Carl Marburger, former New Jersey Commissioner of Education and now senior associate of the National Committee for Citizens in Education. Marburger says they should be involved. He believes the Charleston controversy might have been milder if parents had helped select texts. But Kenneth Underwood, Charleston-Kanawha County school superintendent, says school officials must have the responsibility of choosing the books.

ANGLED — An unusual pattern was formed by high-tension power lines being erected in Fort Worth recently. The lines were put in place by a cherry-picker. (AP Wirephoto.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Sunday, Dec. 15, the 349th day of 1974. There are 16 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1791, the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution — the Bill of Rights — went into effect with ratification by Virginia. On this date: In 1836, the U.S. Patent Office in Washington was destroyed by fire. In 1890, the Sioux Indian chief, Sitting Bull, was shot and killed in South Dakota after warfare with Federal troops. In 1916, the French defeated the Germans in the World War I Battle of Verdun. In 1919, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the National Prohibition Act. In 1961, the former Nazi, Adolf Eichmann, was sentenced to death in Jerusalem, Israel. In 1967, 46 persons were killed in the collapse of a suspension bridge at Point Pleasant, West Virginia. Ten years ago: The Pentagon said all National Guard divisions would be spread out over more than one state in a proposed reorganization of Army reserve forces. Five years ago: President Richard Nixon announced that 50,000 more American troops would be withdrawn from South Vietnam by mid-April. One year ago: Congress passed and sent to President Nixon emergency legislation he had sought to put the nation on year-round daylight saving time. Today's birthday: Billionaire J. Paul Getty is 82 years old. Thought for today: The strongest man upon earth is he who stands alone — Henrik Ibsen, Norwegian writer, 1828-1906.
