JEFFERS SPEAKS

Second Place to Miss
Ches Thorp With
87.8 Mark

"I urge that you be worthy men and women but that you always remember that the truly worthy man or woman after all is the one in whose veins flows the greatest number of drops of the milk of human kindness."

In this manner Leroy Jeffers, young San Antonio attorney, concluded his address to the 1934 graduating class of Sonora High School as they ended the round of activities which has marked their leaving the institution in which they have been enrolled for four years.

Built around the theme of "The Worth or Value of a Human Being," Mr. Jeffers outlined in his address the various factors that go into the composition of the true man or woman. Breadth of mind, length of vision, size of heart and depth of soul were named as essential qualities by which a man's worth is determined.

"By breadth of mind I mean to refer to one's mental faculties in the sense of intellectual honesty," Mr. Jeffers explained. "Open minds are necessary. Minds governed by passions, hatreds, prejudices and intolerance are not responsible for achievements in industry or in the scientific world."

"Achievements are accomplished by men with breadth of mind who have a love of truth. They fight step by step for what they accomplish. Outstanding examples are Pasteur, Marconi, Einstein and Woodrow Wilson. The world cries for men who are intellectually honest and I hope you will always love the truth and search it out."

Vision Needed Now
The "fashioning anew" of government today was pointed to by Mr. Jeffers as an example of the need for a far-sighted vision. Social, political and governmental changes, he declared, demand that the youth of today look to tomorrow and be able to visualize the future and see what lies there.

Although the time may come when natural resources of a country are at low ebb or exhausted human resources can never be at an end, Mr. Jeffers declared. The development of the mind and body, he emphasized, is a field in which there is never a surplus production.

"In conclusion," Mr. Jeffers said, "I urge you to be the best of your field in the community where you live. But be the straightest thinker and the most courageous and the kindest friend. Acquire the largest fortune if you like but not on the broken bodies of other

The name of Carl Runge of Mason, former district judge of the 33rd Judicial District, will be found in the announcement column of this paper as a candidate for congress.

Requested to Run

A petition bearing the signatures of 223 McCulloch county ranchmen, farmers and business men was presented Judge Runge requesting him to make the race for congress. McCulloch county is not in the 33rd Judicial District where he was judge. The petition set forth that Judge Runge "has always been closely identified with the livestock, farming and business interests of this section and has an adequate and sympathetic understanding of the legislative and economic needs of this section. He has been an outstanding civic leader in the development of this section."

COACH GRIFFIN TO WORK IN SHERMAN NEXT YEAR

An advancement in his chosen field and the opportunity of living in the town where he was reared were given by H. S. Griffin, high school principal and coach, as reasons for his not returning to his present position next year. Mr. Griffin who resigned last Friday will be a high school teacher in Sherman and will also direct ward school athletics.

Mr. Griffin is a graduate of Austin College, Sherman, and before coming here last September was a member of the Childress, Texas, teaching staff. There he was assistant coach for two years and coach for one year.

Mr. Griffin will spend part of the summer as a student in a coaching school at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and the remainder with his wife and son, born recently, in Sherman.

LOUIE TRAINER ONE OF TWO TO LEAD TRACK TEAM

Louie Trainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Trainer, will be home Thursday or Friday next week. He has been a student in his sophomore year at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth. During the last few months he has done well as a member of the track squad of his school.

Tuesday he was elected co-captain, with George Kline of Gregory, of the 1935 track team that will represent Texas Christian University.

Step Upward Taken By Counter Hops During Last Week

With It Time For Exchanging of Players

TODAY'S GAME
Lions vs. Highway

STANDING OF TEAMS
(Inc. Wed. May 30)

	W.	L.	Pct.
Lions Club	8	5	.617
Counter Hoppers	6	6	.500
Highway	6	6	.500
High School	5	7	.417
Independents	5	6	.455

Progress was shown during the last week by the Counter Hoppers when these exponents of the price system stepped up from fourth place in the league to a tie with the Highway team for second place. Each has an average of .500.

The first six weeks of play ends today. All managers are required to hand in the names of men they will expect to play on their teams for the rest of the first half of the season. No more exchanging of players can be done after this week.

The Lions garnered eleven tallies Wednesday while the High School team, with several new faces in its line-up, could secure only four. F. T. Jones, H. S. Griffin and N. S. Patterson, instructors, have left town. Ten errors were made Wednesday by the High School and seven by the Lions. C. Taylor of the Lions led in runs made with a total of three for the evening.

Nor could the Independents do anything last Thursday with the Lions who have been snarling their way fiercely through all competition in recent days. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of the civic club. Only two errors were made by the Independents and three by the Lions.

Double Plays a Feature

Fast work by the Highway men Friday accounted for three double plays which added zest and flavor to the contest. G. A. Smith was a party to two of the doubles and added to his day's performance the feat of going to bat five times, securing as many hits and scoring each time! One hit netted a home run!

Twelve errors by the High School were responsible in large measure for the poor showing of the team which went down in defeat by a score of 19 to 5. H. S.

Bank Employees Pay Tribute to Memory of W. L. Aldwell

Portrait Hung Over Desk of Son,
Roy Adwell, Who Assumed
Father's Position

Seven employees of the First National Bank honored the memory of the president under whom they served for many years, W. L. Aldwell, last week when they hung an oil portrait of their one-time chief over the desk of his son, Roy Adwell, who succeeded him.

The seven employees who served a total of nearly sixty years under the elder Mr. Aldwell conceived the plan of securing the picture several weeks ago. M. J. Seaton of the Seaton Studio, San Angelo, was commissioned to paint the picture. He used as a guide a picture of Mr. Aldwell which appeared on the cover of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Magazine in 1931 when he died.

The portrait is eighteen by twenty-eight inches and is encased in a gold finished frame. A bronze nameplate gives the name of the man who directed the institution from 1911 to 1931 and the inscription, "President, 1911-1931." The picture is of the same type as the one of the first president of the bank, Ed R. Jackson, which hangs in the lobby. Mr. Jackson was president from 1900 to the time of his death in 1911.

Employees who made the picture possible are Jack Neill, cashier, C. H. Allen, Mrs. Maysie Brown, Mrs. Pearl H. Smith, E. B. Heinze, Miss Audrey Rankhorn, Jesus Urias.

Players From San Angelo Softball Teams to Be Here

Game Sunday at 4:30 Will Be With Picked Group From Teams of Sonora League

A challenge for a softball game with any team in the United States, made Wednesday in the San Angelo Morning Times by Cecil Allen, secretary-treasurer of the Sonora softball league, was accepted promptly.

A team of "all stars" from the softball league in San Angelo will play here Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The team representing Sonora will be picked by Roy Aldwell, who will serve as manager, from the five teams that make up the league here.

The players selected by Mr. Aldwell to play Sunday are: John McClelland, George Smith, S. Dukes, Bill Fields, M. Huling, B. Hamilton, Arthur Carroll, Carlton Leatherwood, John Fields, Jodie Trainer, Nolan Kennedy, W. C. Warren, H. Hale, Bud Smith, Beans Lancaster.

The challenge which appeared in the San Angelo paper was as follows:

"Sonora is situated about 65 miles south of San Angelo and has a population of about 2000.

"Sonora Lions Club sponsored a softball league a month or so ago and so far there are five teams constituting this league. The balance of the 2000 (1950) population may easily be seen congregated around the ball park each afternoon, with every person (over 10 years of age) eager for someone to get put out of the game, for any or no reason, that they may substitute.

"The teams are: Lions Club, High School, Highway, Counter Hoppers and Independents.

"Frankly speaking, I believe that a Sonora softball team can win over any soft ball team in the world, (please do not release this over an AP or UP wire), but we challenge ANY softball team in these United States or foreign country, for a game here in Sonora."

Griffin, high school principal, delivered a parting gift in the form of a home run.

Five players borrowed from other teams and spectators on the sidelines were used Monday to bolster the High School team's ranks—depleted recently by the departure of the teachers. The Counter Hoppers defeated them, however, by a 7 to 4 score. Jodie Trainer knocked a homerun.

Six men put out by William Fields, jr., manager of the Independents, marked the Tuesday game as outstanding. McClelland's batting also made his day's performance a stellar attraction. The Independents came out victorious with 13 runs to their opponents' (the Highway) four. G. Archer was forced to leave the game in the third inning when he was knocked out as he slid into home. He was not seriously hurt but could not play the remainder of the game.

Herbert Fields continues to lead in the batting averages although his percentage of .543 is below that of last week. Huling, Griffin and Trainer trail him as they did last week. Pittman advanced around Dukes when his batting average showed .467 and Dukes could only show .457. Leatherwood, not present in the "Big Ten" last week, is in eighth place this week with a percentage of .441. J. McClelland and Roy Aldwell rank ninth and tenth with averages of .431 and .417.

Condensed scores of the games played during the last week are:

Lions Talk Plans For State Meeting

Ten or Twelve Members May Go to Mineral Wells

A master key was presented Tuesday noon by W. E. Caldwell to H. V. (Buzzy) Stokes, president of the Lions Club, as a means of signifying that he has secured ten new members for the club.

A humorous reading, "At the Baseball Game," was given by Mrs. W. C. Warren. J. M. Puckett was selected to serve on the parks committee in the place of R. S. Covey, who will not be in Sonora for several weeks.

Plans for the attendance by local members of the sessions of the state convention in Mineral Wells Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were discussed. Ten or twelve members will probably go from here. Registration is Sunday afternoon and the general convention session starts at nine Monday morning.

Vincent C. Hascall, first vice-president of Lions International, will speak at 11:15 Monday morning. Hon. Roy Miller, Corpus Christi, president of the Intra-Coastal Canal Association, will speak Tuesday morning.

Among those who have definitely decided to go to the convention are C. H. Jennings, H. V. Stokes, W. E. James, J. M. Puckett and W. C. Gilmore.

H. F. Templeton, San Angelo contractor, was a guest at the luncheon.

Because of the absence from town of many of the members next week and the work being done by many of the members who are ranchmen it was decided there would be no luncheon of the club next week.

Students Home for Summer

Miss Dorothy Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Baker, and Miss Pauline Turney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turney, both students at the University of Texas, will return home Monday afternoon.

DAIRY BUILDING TO BE MODERN AND FIREPROOF

Floor space of 1008 square feet will be available for the business of the Fields Dairy when the sheet iron and concrete building started this week is completed in about twelve working days. It will cost about $1000.

The building which is a fireproof one being erected by T. L. Benson, San Angelo commission man, will replace the one destroyed by fire May 19. It will be twenty-four by forty-two feet and will comply in every detail with requirements of the state board of health. The building will have a concrete floor. Twelve cows may be milked at a time when the structure is completed, according to W. J. Fields, proprietor of the dairy.

J. T. McClelland is the contractor.

SONORA LIONS GROUP IS VICTORIOUS OVER OZONA

In a game made interesting by the social spirit in which it was played ten softball players from here, representing the Lions Club, defeated a team representing the Ozona Lions organization Saturday by a score of 11 to 1.

Despite the fact that softball is not as highly developed in the Crockett county capital as in Sonora the host team made only six errors. Three were chalked against Sonora.

Frank Knapton, scorekeeper, stated after the game:

"Aldwell was the starting pitcher for Sonora but after pitching three innings found that he could not get his 'knuckle ball' working so replaced himself with Warren who allowed only one hit from the fourth to the seventh inning. P. Taylor then held Ozona hitless the rest of the game."

FUNERAL FOR SON OF DOCK JOY FAMILY FRIDAY

Funeral services were conducted Friday for Edwin Joy, 31, who died in a San Angelo hospital Thursday as a result of injuries received when he fell from a windmill May 19. Burial was in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers were B. W. Hutcherson, Clay Holland, E. W. Preston, Howard Reeves, Alde Garrett and Johnny Graham.

Barbecue Plans Are Rounding into Shape

Two Candidates Have Accepted Invitation to Speak

Acceptances by Culberson Deal and E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo, candidates for congress, were a high spot of plans during this week for the Camp Allison Barbecue and Celebration at the head of North Llano river June 12 and 13.

Acceptances are expected from other candidates within the next few days, according to Alfred Schwiening, who is in charge of the affair that is known all over this section as an essential of every political year.

Mr. Schwiening is urging people who want to do Llano fishing to come several days ahead of time, enjoy their sport and then take part in all the activities of the celebration. Eighty goats and a number of beeves have been arranged for to feed the people at the free barbecue the second day.

Dancing on a platform under leafy pecan trees to music of a first-class orchestra will be the order of each evening. Ball games will be arranged for each day. An effort is being made to bring together a picked team from Station A and Station B, Humble Pipe Line groups, and the McCamey team. Entries are being received now for goat roping and horse racing. Race ponies and goats are expected to be entered by many owners.

Sporting events of many kinds are being arranged and Mr. Schwiening is confident that he can assure everyone that the event this year will be on the best, if not the best, for many years.

Dayton Stockton Graduated

Olie Stockton and brother, Lewis, of Eldorado left Monday for Kerrville where their brother, Dayton, was graduated Tuesday from the Schreiner Institute. He has been a student in the high school division of that institute for four years.

Trainer Brothers in Louisiana

Clifford Trainer, son of Mrs. Rena Trainer, left Wednesday for Lake Charles, La., where he will spend the summer. He has a position with a construction company of which his brother, Fred, is foreman. J. C., Jack and Johnny Trainer are also in Lake Charles.

tion and we recommend him as an honest, capable and efficient representative to the people of the 21st Congressional District."

Not Professional Politician

This is his first race. He has never before run for public office, but twice the voters of Mason county wrote his name on the ticket for county attorney and he held that office for two terms. Shortly thereafter upon the death of Judge McLean, he was appointed district judge of the 33rd Judicial District, and although apparently assured that he would have no opposition he was not a candidate to succeed himself.

Educated in Texas

He is a graduate of the Mason High School and attended the University of Texas from 1909 to 1912 and from 1913 to 1915, graduating from the academic and law department of the university, receiving both the B. A. and LL. B. degrees. While at the university he helped defray his expenses by working in the Co-op Book Store, doing student assistant work in the academic department and being a quiz master in the law department. He also played on the football and track teams.

Services As a Lawyer and Citizen

He was admitted to the bar in 1915 and is a member of the state bar association and is licensed to practice before all the courts of Texas, the United States Supreme Court, Inter-State Commerce Commission and several other departments and bureaus of the federal government. He organized the Mason Farm Loan Association so that farmers and ranchmen could secure loans from the Federal Land Bank and continued to practice law in Mason county until 1917 when he enlisted in the signal corps and became an instructor in the air service. After the war he re-engaged in the practice of law in Mason in 1919.

As county attorney he helped prosecute numerous cattle, goat and sheep theft cases. He has always been a booster for good roads. With Elgin O. Kothmann, owner of the Premier Ranch and producer of registered Hereford cattle, he is the builder and owner of the Fort Mason Hotel, a modern 54-room fireproof structure in the town of Mason.

He was chairman of the Mason county relief work until he announced for congress and with his assistants rendered splendid service in behalf of the unemployed of Mason county. He is a past president of the Mason Chamber of Commerce and of the school board. He is a member of the Fort Mason Post of the American Legion.

Boy and Father in Demonstration

Groom, Texas, May 31.—Walter Britten has the honor of completing the first 4-H club demonstration in Carson county with a baby beef which he exhibited and sold in Amarillo recently. Young Britten has now started a balanced farming demonstration with the help of M. P. Leaming, county agent. He will grow his own wheat as a cash crop, produce his own feed and pasture crops, and feed out six calves. Mr. Leaming says it is a toss-up between this 17-year-old lad and his father, Mike Britten, as to which has more enthusiasm for the new demonstration.

STRONGER BUSINESS AND STRONGER BANKS

By F. M. LAW
President American Bankers Association

DURING the crisis when confidence was shattered, bankers were properly concerned in liquidity. Their main thought was to prepare to meet any demand for withdrawal of funds. They were more interested therefore in collecting loans than in making them. For this they cannot be justly blamed. It was a proper procedure.

Now that confidence has been so largely restored banks will naturally resume a more normal lending policy. This does not mean that they will or should extend loose or unsound credit, but that in the utmost good faith bankers will perform their proper part in recovery by a sympathetic and constructive attitude in the making of sound loans. Nor should commercial banks make capital or long time loans, for the reason that their loans are made from funds derived from deposits payable for the most part on demand.

When the return of confidence is further on its way, business men will find need for credit in making their plans. Then good borrowers, who for the most part have been so conspicuously absent from the market, will return. They will be warmly welcomed by the banks.

Business Men's Fears

Business men have not yet laid all their fears. They worry about what Congress may or may not do. They concern themselves about a trend toward control of business by government. They fear taxes beyond their power to pay. These are real sources of worry and when they are reassured along these lines they will be more inclined to take a fresh look at the future and to make plans to go forward.

As a matter of fact there are tangible evidences of recovery. The Federal Reserve Board officially has stated that prices, wages, business activity and production were back to the highest peak since early in 1931. Commercial failures in the United States are being cut almost in half as compared with the same period last year. It has been reported that the decline in export and import trade was definitely checked in the middle of 1933 and replaced during the last half of the year by a substantial recovery movement.

Among favorable factors is the improved condition of the banks. It is doubtless true that the banking structure of the country has never been in a sounder, stronger and more liquid condition than it is today. My authority for that statement is the Comptroller of the Currency. No longer is their any fear or thought of bank runs. Depositors once more know that their money is safe and the banker, trice armed in the knowledge of his own strength, is looking forward.

Training for Bankers

The American Bankers Association has been active for many years training young men and women in order that they may be duly qualified for the business of banking. Standard courses are furnished with able and experienced teachers. This work is done under the direction of the American Institute of Banking Section of the association. Over two hundred chapters, or local banking schools, are in active operation throughout the country and thousands of the younger generation of bankers are being graduated each year. These students are taught not only banking practices and policies, but they are also well grounded in the highest ideals and standards of business ethics. A proposal is now under consideration to establish a central school, which will offer advanced or graduate work to a selective list taken from those who have completed the standard courses.—F. M. LAW, President American Bankers Association.

Banks Repaying Loans From R. F. C.

Although banks and trust companies have been the largest borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, they have exceeded all other classes of borrowers in the rapidity of their repayments. Since the inception of the R. F. C. in February 1932, loans have been authorized by it to 7,080 banking institutions in the amount of $1,995,000,000. Of this sum $442,000,000 was not taken by the borrowers, the actual advances being $1,553,000,000. Repayments against these advances through April 30, 1934, aggregated $925,000,000, or about 60 per cent. The ratio of repayments for all classes of borrowers has been only about 37 per cent. These rapid repayments by the banks are taken by competent observers as a strong indication of returning normal financial and banking conditions.

THINK NOW OF CONTINUED EDUCATION IN 1934-35

With high schools and colleges dismissed for the summer boys and girls look forward happily to three months of pleasure—in many cases—before it is time again to turn to the securing of an education.

Parents in a position to send children to an institution of higher learning certainly should give them the advantages of advanced education. It is assumed that the young person has an inclination to that advanced education. If he—or she—does not, and many do not, just as certainly they should not be subjected to it.

Both children and parents could well spend considerable time selecting the right school and the right type course of instruction. The three summer months rather than the last week in August might well serve as a discussion period for such an important subject.

Thought given to the subject when both parents and child are at leisure in all probability will be well worth while both in selection of the school best suited to the type of individual and the training desired.

Sheep and Goat Knowledge Acquired By Both Experience and Study of Industry

John Ashton
(Courtesy, Progressive Farmer)

Before leaving Rocksprings for the Sonora Round-Up last August it had been arranged that I should visit several of the prominent goat and sheep ranches in that vicinity, so on returning to the county seat of Edwards county I was first taken in hand by Len A. Clark, owner of one of the best small ranches where Angora goats and Merino sheep are bred.

Clark's ranch is 2½ miles from town. As soon as we entered the spacious yard where the outbuildings are located I knew at once that here lived a man and his wife who stressed order, thoroughness and neatness in their daily life and ranch operations. Here is a ranch, at any rate, where the question of winter feed for the stock is not left to chance. Here is a real barn (something which is all too scarce in Texas) 50x70 feet, with a very commodious loft for feed.

Another convenience well worth the money on this ranch and one which should be copied by most ranches for economy's sake, is a blowfly hospital. It is practical but not elaborate; just what is needed for results. "It's been worth an awful lot to us," says Len Clark.

Hospitalization Cost Small
There is a period of the year when losses are apt to be heavy from screw-worm or blowfly. A sharp lookout is kept on the Clark ranch for goats and sheep with external injuries of any kind. They are brought to this small building of frame, 14x16 feet, screened to a height of about four feet, so that the air can circulate freely, but no flies can enter. Feed racks permit the proper handling of the stock. There is a brief period between sundown and dark when the fly does no damage. The animals are turned out at this time for exercise. They come back later in the evening. They are doctored well, and under this system make a quick recovery. A small building like this can be made by most ranchmen. The cost is negligible compared with the money saved in curing valuable breeding stock.

Everything about the Clark place indicates thrift, industry and a do-it-now policy. "Don't be caught napping," would be a good motto descriptive of the Clark place. A well 450 feet deep supplies an abundance of water. An overflow tank eight feet high and 40 feet in diameter provides a surplus of 90,000 gallons. The original tank holds 12,000 gallons and the house supply comes from this container. "Let us show you our kitchen garden," said Mr. Clark, "but," he said ruefully, "it's about all dried up or blown away now." But the chief reason why he mentioned the garden, I assume, was to show me the relatively small space in which his wife grew the hundreds of cans of vegetables and fruit which she proudly displayed on her pantry shelves.

A Student of Industry
Mr. Clark is well and favorably known in the sheep and goat country of West Texas. His type is worth backing. One only needs to see the interior of his home and to note the kind of books he has on his library shelves to conclude that here is a man who desires to better his position and improve the place where he lives. He was born in Hallettsville, Texas, in 1889, and has been in the West Texas country since 1898. He removed to his present ranch of 2,540 acres in 1917.

Besides his select flock of Angora goats, Mr. Clark has gone in more for sheep than most of his neighbors. He specializes in breeding registered Delaine Merinos and has one of the finest flocks in that region. His foundation stock came from some of the most prominent breeders in Indiana, Ohio and Iowa. Mr. Clark aims to breed and rear the C type altogether, for the demand is much better for that type, he says. He is a member of the American Angora Goat Breeders' Association and at present is president of the Texas Angora Goat Breeders' Association.

It is when the conversation turns on sheep, however, that Len Clark comes out of his shell to say what is on his mind. He is enthusiastic when it comes to the question of Delaine sheep, and he will tell you about their hardy constitutions, their natural herding instincts and their heavy shearing fleeces of the finest quality wool. When bred to C type rams, he says, the resulting lambs are strong in the most desirable qualities looked for by the butcher.

Visits Hampton Ranch
From the Clark ranch we retraced our route through Rocksprings and out on the Uvalde road for several miles until we came to a gate on the left of the road leading into the ranch lands of Thos. C. Hampton.

More than one person, including Len Clark, had told me that I could not leave Edwards county without having seen and talked to Mr. Hampton—that is, if I wished to obtain an intelligent notion of what Angora goat breeding and mohair production meant to the people of the West Texas counties.

Yes, indeed, a few men like Tom Hampton and one is assured that an industry will thrive. What Len Clark is to the Delaine sheep breeding industry, Tom Hampton is to the Angora goat and mohair production industry. I have been in many regions and many countries, and have made inquiries into the breeding of many varieties and categories of livestock. I am impressed with the knowledge that every breed and every category of domestic animals which are bred and reared for profit depend primarily on such breeders as Len Clark and Tom Hampton, guardians of the breed's nursery, you might call them. So long as the breed has men like these who are in possession of the blood lines—the foundation stock on which the type of that particular region or district is based—just so long is the success of the breed in that section assured.

From Wheat to Goats
How Mr. Hampton graduated into a breeder of Angora goats in the wilds of West Texas is a story in itself. And he came to Rocksprings rather late in life, at that. He was born at the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains in North Carolina but evidently there was something that drove Tom Hampton from his native heath, for he came to the piny woods of East Texas when he was 23 years old and became a log contractor. Then he went to Foard county, Texas, and for ten years he farmed 600 to 1,000 acres, growing wheat on a rather extensive scale.

One day he made the acquaintance of a man who had been in Edwards county and this man kept telling Hampton of the land where they had goats to sell, sheep to sell, where they sheared twice a year. On top of that they had kids to sell and grade lambs for the butcher. In fact, they had about six pay days a year instead of one where he was then living. Wool and mohair, it was pointed out, pay running expenses of the ranch, and lambs and kids pay the profit.

That sounded very nice to Mr. Hampton. He knew, however, that it is an extremely rare occurrence to find a successful instance of a man changing his occupation after he is 40 years old. He had been told also, and he believed it, that 65 per cent of breeders of pedigreed livestock (as distinct from the ranchman or farmer who breeds grade animals) were failures. This applied to all classes of pedigreed livestock, he understood. The same authority had told him that 25 per cent manage to break even, while about 10 to 15 per cent made money.

Only Fine Stock Wanted
Naturally, Tom Hampton was most desirous, if he made a change, to get in the latter class and he went about it in a very shrewd and practical manner. It is true he was a greenhorn at first. He knew nothing about breeding registered Angora goats when he went to Edwards county, but he knew enough of human nature to appreciate the fact that some men were smarter than others. If he bought a ranch at all, he wanted to buy one where good stock could be reared—had been reared in the past. And if he bought such a ranch, he was determined to buy the seed stock.

Picturesque Review of Hawaiian Division

Motorized units of the Eighth, Ninth, Eleventh and Thirteenth field artillery regiments make impressive spectacle as the parade takes place in the shadow of Hawaiian mountains at Schofield barracks, Honolulu, America's largest military post and home of the army's only complete division.

To Continue Flood Control
Official approval necessary month-by-month for the continuation of the flood control work on Lowrey Draw was received this week by R. E. Taylor, county relief administrator. The official approval was given by E. A. Baugh, chief engineer of the state relief commission.

Tom Hampton will tell you that he knew nothing about goats at first. But he found out that everywhere he went around Edwards county the people talked about Pepper's goats. He went to see the C. A. Pepper ranch, and it so happened that Mr. Pepper (awarded Master Farmer honors by the Progressive Farmer in 1929), who had interests elsewhere and could transport his flock nearer to a large city, would sell his ranch if the conditions were favorable. Mr. Hampton positively insisted, however, on buying the registered goats—all he could afford to take. But Mr. Pepper didn't want to sell them. Hampton won out in the end, bought 100 nannies and 60 kids, the tops of a flock of about 1200 goats. He got the cream of the foundation stock which had brought fame to Mr. Pepper as a breeder, and it was up to Hampton to make the best use of the material.

Plenty of Work Required
How well Tom Hampton realized his responsibilities is now an open book to the goat and sheep breeders of West Texas. For five years Mr. Hampton pursued the even tenor of his way; he attended all the shows he could get to; studied keenly the prevailing type among the winners, and altogether made the best possible use of this "probationary" period. Then he exhibited his goats at Camp Wood, winning the grand championship.

The pundits and critics among the goat breeders sat up at once to take notice. Here was something they had not bargained for; something contrary to all accepted dicta, for a stranger, a mere "farmer" mind you, as distinct from a stockman, to invade the hill country and breed and rear goats better than his neighbors. This stranger knew what he was about; he had the original seed stock, it was known, but he was utilizing it to the best advantage. Soon orders for Angora bucks came pouring in to the Hampton ranch. "I could not supply the demand," said Tom Hampton, "until the depression hit us."

Ranch Strictly Modern
Wells, 450 to 500 feet deep, provide stock water on the Hampton ranch. Sixty of the 2260 acres is in cultivation.

I visited the ranch house. I found a radio and a light system and refrigeration facilities.

"Two years ago I put in 200 registered Rambouillet ewes. It looked like the goat business might need a little help," said Tom Hampton. "Texas," he said, "is the only state in the Union which has taken care of its wool. Some other states have put too much mutton into their she stuff and ruined their fine wool."

"I am a mile from the highway and seven miles from town, and have never had a key to my place. We have the finest climate in the world, and we live in a county where there has been no murder in 22 years. I have been here 13 years and have never lost a kid or a lamb from varmints."

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager American Bankers Association

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say without reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not be there, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other types of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conceptions of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychological distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with rational consideration of the facts.

EXAMINATIONS FOR TRUST INSTITUTIONS

New Move by Federal Banking Authorities Welcomed by Banks and Trust Companies, Says Bankers' Organization

FEDERAL examination of trust departments is the latest development in banking supervision and trust companies and banks operating trust departments are welcoming this development because it fills a long-felt want, it is stated by the Trust Division of the American Bankers Association.

Despite the growing importance of American trust business in recent years examining officials have never given to trust departments the attention paid to commercial banking departments, this authority points out. Now the Federal Reserve System, in conjunction with the Comptroller of the Currency, has undertaken to bring the examination of trust departments up to the level of commercial bank examinations, it says.

Experts in trust work are being employed by the various Federal Reserve Banks. These experts will head the special staffs of trust examiners in the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. Special staffs are already at work in some of the Reserve Districts, including Boston, Atlanta, Richmond and Chicago. The Federal Reserve will examine the trust departments of state-chartered members of the System.

Uniform Supervision

Meanwhile, the Comptroller of the Currency has built up over the past two years a staff of special examiners for the trust departments of national banks. All national banks are members of the Federal Reserve System. Since nearly all state-chartered trust institutions are members the new plan will bring about what amounts to Federal examination of the trust business.

State examining authorities probably will follow Federal supervisory policies to a considerable extent. Hence, coordination of the procedure of the national banking system and the Federal Reserve System is expected to result in a uniform system of examinations for trust departments in all banks. This in turn should produce considerable standardization in the operation of trust departments.

Oldest University in the World

The mosque of Al-Azhar in the city of Cairo supplies Egypt with its ministers of religion and its exponents of Moslem law, and is the oldest university in the world. Centuries before Oxford and Cambridge became the centers of learning the Sheikhs of Al-Azhar were expounding the principles of law and religion for pupils who were to hand them on in all the territories where the sword of Islam was victorious. Since then it has always remained the fountainhead of orthodox Islamic doctrine and the true head of literary Arabic.

Worship Mountains at Home

There have been cults of mountain worship in China for centuries, the pilgrim clubs connected with the mountains being of two kinds, "traveling" and "stationary," the former sending out representative delegates to a peak at stated intervals, the latter, also called the "Squatting and Fattening Society," for instead of making the actual pilgrimage, they limit activities to the worship of a paper mountain at home, with convivial accompaniments on a liberal scale.

O. HENRY HOME GOES ON "VOYAGE TO NEW SITE"

Austin—The home of O. Henry is being moved in a manner that would appeal to the fancy of Sidney Porter, could he return to Austin to witness its 300 foot voyage to a permanent haven.

Mules tow it like a barge. Huge hewn timbers balance it upon the broad rollers. The mules leisurely slope one hip and rest as new stakes are driven to hold pulleys which they will propel further.

Built in the millwork era of American architecture, the house has a gable decoration like a flag staff which heightens the resemblance to a vessel under way.

The short trip of the "O. Henry House" as Austin now proudly labels it, will place it on a small city park.

The bank where he worked has become a drug store. The jail where he awaited transfer to the penitentiary has been torn down. The stenographer's notes of his trial are lost.—McCamey News.

Rare Mice Discovered by California Expert

Sequoia National Park, Calif.—A rare species of mice, equipped with pockets in which they carry food, was discovered here by Prof. Joseph Dixon, University of California mammalogist.

Professor Dixon found the little animals on Yucca Point at an altitude considerably above that normally sought by mice.

He described them as part of one of the most interesting "triangles" in nature. Seeds of the yucca plant are scattered by white Yucca moths, picked up by the pocket mice and carried to their burrows, where forgotten, they take root and grow.

Display at Chicago Fair Is Stupendous

Thirty Million Candlepower Used In 24 Searchlights

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—What is described as the greatest electrical installation ever made in a single building—a lighting, power and amplifying system which will require 100 miles of electric wiring—is now in use at the Ford Exposition Building in Chicago, the largest individual exhibit at the 1934 World's Fair.

One of the most sensational lighting effects ever achieved will be a torch of light 200 feet broad at its base, which will spring from the parapet of the open court on the building, rising under proper atmospheric conditions to a height of one mile. The powerful beam will be developed through the use of 24 thirty-six inch projector searchlights, resulting in a 30,000,000-candlepower display.

The building is 900 feet long by 215 feet wide. A mammoth lighting scheme is being constructed in the outer edge of the court, designed to develop tints and shades never previously produced with electric lights. One lighting effect will show how pure white light can be produced when blue, green and red lights are all turned on at full intensity.

The entire Ford project, extending over eleven acres will require a load of 6,000 kilowatts, or more than a third of the total electric capacity of the entire World's Fair in 1933. Engineers estimate that 4,000 kilowatts will be required for lighting and 2,000 kilowatts for the power loads. More than 225 electric motors will be required to handle the power for the building and the 21 exhibitors allied with Ford who will present displays in the mammoth Ford Building.

With all the modern enterprise in electrical effects at the Ford Exposition Building, a contrasting display will be some of the earliest experimental models from which were developed the electrical devices of today. These models will be brought from Henry Ford's museum at Dearborn, where they were placed by Thomas Edison, life-long friend of Mr. Ford.
