

Gardens Will Be Most Important For This Year

Shortage of Food in World Markets Be Felt in U. S.

AGNES M. MARRS,
County Home Demonstration Agent

Gardening will be just as essential this year to produce enough food to feed ourselves and suffering people of war-torn countries as ever before. Many who got a real taste of the satisfaction of growing their own vegetables will continue to grow gardens. Others who let the weeds and insects lick them will be discouraged. For those, there is a brighter picture since insecticide will be more plentiful this year. Gardeners in this area cannot predict the amount of rainfall which they will get and gardens have failed for this reason. Hot winds do more damage than most people realize, so we must plan to produce in spite of these. Many gardeners have produced food in spite of these two enemies—and insect pests. Heavy fertilization with well decayed barnyard manure will produce a soil which is more fertile and has a greater water-holding capacity. Heavy mulching with grass cuttings, cotton burs, straw, hay, leaves or similar material will help to conserve moisture, hold down weeds and grasses and reduce the soil temperature near the surface.

Vegetable seeds which need to be in the ground now are english peas, lettuce, radishes, spinach, onions, beets and carrots. Legume vegetable seeds such as beans and peas should be inoculated in order to place nitrogen gathering bacteria in the soil. These bacteria take nitrogen out of the air and place it in the soil for plant use. This is a practice peculiar to legumes. Response to this inoculation process varies, but its use is good insurance every season.

Asparagus is easy to grow and care for, yet few home gardeners ever attempt it. In late fall or early spring—there is still time—place the one-year-old roots 15 to 24 inches apart in rows that are three feet apart. The roots are put in a trench one foot deep and as the plants start to grow, soil is pulled around the young shoots until the furrow is completely levelled off.

Asparagus needs lots of plant food which can be furnished by plowing manure into the furrows, and by heavy application (two to four pounds per 25 row feet) of a 5-10-5 fertilizer. Repeat these applications every year.

Shoots should not be cut off at all the first year during the first growing season and for only three or four weeks the second year. In the third season, they may be cut for a period of ten weeks or more. Cut shoots just below the surface of the ground, cutting off all the shoots every day or every other day during the harvest season to force out new ones. At the end of the season the tops should be cut and diced under, using them as green manure. Six to ten crowns per member of the family is considered adequate. The easiest and most satisfactory way to start asparagus is to buy the crowns from a reliable nursery.

Surplus asparagus from your garden may be canned or frozen for use when it is out of season. Beet seeds should be rolled and soaked before planting for best results. Rolling cracks the hard

Burlington Puts Sleeping Cars in Service Again

After a wartime absence of seven months, Burlington Lines' overnight sleeping car service between Dallas-Fort Worth and Amarillo will be restored for both ends of the run Friday evening, February 15th, it was announced today by Robt. L. Hoyt, general passenger agent, Fort Worth and Denver City Railway Company, Fort Worth.

The cars formerly in this service were removed from regular daily operation on July 15, 1945, and placed in a pool of Pullman equipment which was established under Office of Defense Transportation General Order ODT53 to speed up troop movements. Presently, the homeward movement of men from overseas has progressed sufficiently for the return of a portion of this pool of sleeping car equipment to the use of the traveling public.

Northward from Dallas-Fort Worth to Amarillo this sleeping car service will operate out of Dallas at 9:30 PM and Fort Worth at 10:45 PM, with a morning arrival in Amarillo. Southward from Amarillo to Dallas-Fort Worth at 9:30 PM and Fort Worth at 10:45 PM, with a morning arrival in Amarillo. Southward the cars will be placed for occupancy in Amarillo at 9:30 PM and moved on the Texas Zephyr which leaves at 12:25 AM, arriving in Fort Worth and Dallas the same morning.

"This is a long step toward normalcy in railroad passenger service," Hoyt pointed out. "One of the most gratifying results of the rapid reconversion to peacetime railroad operation is the present opportunity to offer sleeping and chair car accommodations for the travel convenience of the public," he said.

RICKELS TO OPEN SOON

M. A. Rickels will open the Rickels Motor Co. soon in the former Chandler Funeral Home building next to Jones Drug on Burlington. He also bought the lots across in front of this building and he and his associate will erect a building there soon. He expects to handle Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles and also farm machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Labay spent the weekend in Lubbock.

Highest Price In 22 Years Reached By King Cotton

NEW YORK, March 4—Broad demand for cotton for future delivery lifted the price today to the highest level in 22 years.

The market closed $1.15 to $1.95 a bale higher. At the close of trading 26.94 cents a pound was bid for March delivery and May sold at 27.04.

Cotton dealers said two dominant factors boosted prices: The scarcity in the supply of actual cotton and the widely held belief that OPA price control in the industry would be relaxed.

Nancy Beth was born January 7, 1945 in Spur. The family moved to Carlsbad, New Mexico, during the same year.

Olive Home at Girard Destroyed by Fire Monday

The Spur Fire Department was called out Monday afternoon to a fire in Girard, which, due to lack of water available, almost completely destroyed the Olive home there. It was possible to save some household effects, it was stated.

The fire was said to have caught from a brooder house near her Olive home.

IN MEMORIAM

In honor of Mrs. Ben F. Smith who passed away Feb. 22, 1946, at her home in Crosbyton, Texas. She was mail carrier from Crosbyton to Roaring Springs about eleven years.

One of many that learned to love her

As she served the public well A kind word for every body As among them she did dwell Through sunshine, rain or snow All her thoughts were to please us As we would see her come and go.

Now she's gone, for God has called her Saying it's enough.

Five great sons went into service Of the good old U. S. A. As she stayed home and prayed She would see them all again some day.

They all came home to greet her And her happiness was so sweet But God said you've done your duty

To the world, come home, it is complete.

Weep not dear ones, that she is gone

We know there are none other Can fill the place in your heart The memory of Mother.

The sympathy of the entire Communities she served is with Her family and loved ones.

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

Building a new country was no easy job. But there were men and women willing to tackle it—to turn their backs on the government managed way of life and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." It's the basic American principle of vision and private initiative. Just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed—for government in business enjoys special privileges that are denied the people.

Take the case of government-owned power plants, for example. They pay no taxes; get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies—owned and operated by millions of folks like you—are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, and they pay fair interest on loans.

The same forethought and experience which furnished electric power for a global war will assure America dependable—and cheap—electric service for a post-war world. There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And business men can do the job better than bureaucrats.

RED CROSS DRIVE
March 4 - 31

One of the principal characteristics about our country has been our willingness to help others. Americans are known the world over for their generosity, the whole-hearted manner in which they have helped people in time of disaster.

The Dickens County chapter of the American Red Cross has a big job ahead of it. The function of the Red Cross has not decreased because of war's end. As a matter of fact, the work will be heavier than in wartime, because most of the hefforts then were spent on our servicemen, many of whom the Red Cross helped in time of emergencies. But most of the servicemen are civilians again and many of them are having problems. The Red Cross aids in seeing about their claims, their pensions, their insurance and many other matters. The Red Cross will need the help of all of us.
