Fourth Oiler In Eddy Area Is Potential

The Dagger Draw, North (upper Pennsylvanian) field of Eddy County, N.M., gained its fourth current producing well and a 3/4-mile southeast and a 3/4-mile southeast and southwest extension with completion of Roger C. Hanks, Midland, No. 4 Barbara-Federal.

The well gauged a 24-hour pumping potential of 256 barrels of oil, with gas volume of 200,000 cubic feet per day. Gravity of the oil and the gas-oil ratio were not immediately available. Originally drilled by Yates Petroleum Co. of Artesia as No. 1-AO Kincaid-Federal, it was plugged in March, 1966. The cleaned-out depth at the 8,070-foot project is 7,930 feet. Hanks set 4 1/2-inch casing at an unreported depth.

Completion was effected through perforations at 7,736-7,816 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 17-19-25e, eight miles northwest of Lake Wood.

The field has two shut-in wells about 1 1/2 mile to the south of the current producing area.

Crockett Test Develops Oil

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 2 Parker Ranch Co. (Ltd.-State, 3/4-mile northwest stoptout to the lone Strawn well in the Bouscaren field of Crockett County, eight miles north of Iraan, reversed out 20 barrels of oil and 4,000 feet of gas-cut oil, gravity 35, along with a trace of drilling fluid, on a drillstem test in the Strawn.

Tool was open an unreported time on the test taken from 7,664-7,814 feet. Gas, gauge not reported, surfaced in 15 minutes.

Drilling continued below 7,814 feet in shale and lime. The project is scheduled to 9,000 feet for tests of the Ellenburger. Location is 1,601 feet from south and 5,388 feet from east lines of section 52, block HH, GC&SF survey.

The Strawn discovery, Gulf No. 1 Parker Ranch Co., was completed Jan. 16, for 692 barrels of 43.9-gravity oil per day, through perforations at 7,678-7,684 feet.

Howard Region Gains Producer

The Modesta, South (Cisco) field of Howard County gained its second well and a location north extension with completion of Tom Rasmussen, Midland, No. 1-A Wright, 20 miles northwest of Big Spring.

It gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 165 barrels of 41-gravity oil, no water, with gas-oil ratio measuring 620-1. Production was through an 18-64-inch choke and perforations at 2,846-3,854 feet, which had been acidized with 250 gallons.

Wellsite is 1,120 feet from north and 965 feet from west lines of section 32, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey.

The discovery, Apache Corp. No. 3 G. G. Wright, was completed in April, 1967, for 181 barrels of 42.3-gravity oil, daily. (Continued On Page 3A)

Cong Reject Cease-Fire Offer

U.S. Plans To Evacuate 60,000 South Vietnamese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders said today up to 60,000 South Vietnamese refugees will be brought to three military installations in the United States.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he and other congressional leaders were notified of the plans in telephone calls this morning from Ford administration officials.

House Democratic Whip John J. McFall said the refugees, now in four different locations in Asia, will be brought to Camp Pendleton, Calif., Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, and Fort Chaffee, Ark.

The announcement came as U.S. officials said South Vietnamese pilots "dropping a few bombs" caused a temporary suspension of evacuation flights from South Vietnam.

At least one and possibly two planes bombed the Tan Son Nhut air base on the edge of Saigon, triggering panic in the city. The airlift from Tan Son Nhut was temporarily closed.

At last State Department count there were 954 Americans left in Saigon, only 11 of them dependents. A total of 128 Americans were evacuated in a 24-hour period ending at midnight. A little more than 6,000 South Vietnamese were rescued at the same time.

The administration had set a target of reducing the American presence in South Vietnam to below 1,000 by the weekend.

This goal was reached some eight hours before the Saigon outburst.

Congress expects to complete action this week on what may be its last legislation on South Vietnam in the foreseeable future when it votes on a $327 million humanitarian aid bill.

The House is expected to give Congress' final approval Tuesday to the bill and also to give President Ford limited authority to use U.S. forces for evacuation of South Vietnamese as well as Americans. The Senate approved the bill Friday 46 to 17.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, is considering whether to approve $50 million humanitarian aid for Cambodia.

American Indochina Policy Failure, Spokesman States

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a Communist takeover seemingly inevitable in Vietnam, a senior State Department spokesman says that the United States' Indochina policy was a failure.

The statement by Robert J. McCloskey, assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, went beyond judgments rendered by President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on the deteriorating situation of the Saigon government.

"... I think it is fair to say that so far as Indochina is concerned — Vietnam specifically — the policy that had been pursued for so many years by different administrations has failed," McCloskey said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

"It failed for a variety of reasons, but I do think that... we can master these problems, that we have not suffered permanent setbacks in all of those other areas (of foreign policy), despite the denouement in Vietnam which we are now witnessing," he added.

McCloskey, who holds ambassadorial rank, said the United States generally fulfilled its commitments to South Vietnam, but could have helped the military situation by providing more arms aid.

In an assessment April 16, Ford said the United States' over-all foreign policy has been successful, but added: "Of course there have been some instances in which we have not achieved what we sought... In a few instances... I think we self-inflicted some problems which helped bring that unfortunate result."

Kissinger has characterized the impending takeover of South Vietnam as "this whole tragedy," and he says the debate over Vietnam is over. Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Sunday that the collapse of South Vietnam represents a defeat for America because "it is the first time this country has ever been in the position of violating an agreement." He apparently was referring to reports that President Richard M. Nixon had promised the Saigon government to rush American aid if there was any massive violation of the Paris peace accords by the North Vietnamese.

Meanwhile, former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford said Vietnam signals the failure of Kissinger's policies there and around the world. Clifford, who helped shape U.S. policy in Vietnam during the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson, said in an interview that Ford should replace Kissinger.

Clifford said Kissinger is "wrong when he suggests that every part of the world has the same importance of some other part of the world." Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Americans' attitude (See POLICY Page 2A)

Tan Son Nhut Base Bombed, Triggering Panic

SAIGON (AP) — President Duong Van Minh was inaugurated today and proposed an immediate cease-fire and negotiations to end the war. But the Viet Cong rejected his overture and imposed a new list of demands on Saigon and Washington.

Ultimatum Forced Thieu From Office

NEW YORK (AP) — Lack of support from his troops and a threatened Viet Cong attack on Saigon forced South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's resignation, according to Time and Newsweek magazines.

The attack warning was delivered to Thieu personally by U.S. Ambassador Graham Martin while Thieu was in a meeting with his generals who were urging him to resign, according to this week's issue of Time.

The ultimatum, which had originated with Viet Cong representatives in Paris, gave Thieu 48 hours to relinquish his seat or Saigon would be razed.

"Thieu accepted the verdict on the spot," Time said.

Newsweek quoted friends of Thieu as saying rebellious marines and rangers, the president's favorite troops, demonstrated a humiliating repudiation of Thieu by bulldozing his family's burial grounds at Phan Rang.

A Viet Cong statement demanded the abolishment of the Saigon administration and its army. Western analysts interpreted the statement as an attempt to wrest still more concessions out of the Minh government as fighting swirls to the capital's outskirts.

Reports Unconfirmed

The most consistent reports said the bombing was carried out by a disgruntled South Vietnamese air force pilot, but they could not be confirmed. Other reports said it was done by North Vietnamese pilots flying South Vietnamese A37 fighter-bombers captured when the Communists took over South Vietnamese air bases in the northern and central parts of the country.

The bombing touched off a rash of anti-aircraft and small-arms fire in Saigon as people in the streets dashed for cover. Rumors raced through the city, but authorities and persons touring the streets agreed that Communist-led troops had not yet launched a ground assault on Saigon and that there was no street fighting.

City In Flames

Fifteen miles northeast of Saigon, North Vietnamese gunners blasted Bien Hoa with an artillery cannonade that left the city of 500,000 in flames. The population fled, strung out as far as the eye could see on the six-lane highway to Saigon.

A spokesman for the Viet Cong's delegation to the Joint Military Commission in Saigon rejected Minh's cease-fire proposal in a three-paragraph statement read to newsmen.

It called for "an end to the Saigon administration, a tool of American neocolonialism, and an end to the machinery of war and oppression against the population of South Vietnam."

Three Articles Cited

"In this case," the Viet Cong said, "the most exalted aspirations of the population of South Vietnam will be realized in a more favorable manner under the Paris agreement on Vietnam."

The statement said the United States must strictly and completely apply Articles One, Four and Nine of the 1973 Paris agreement and must respect the fundamental rights of the South Vietnamese people.

Article One pledges the United States and all other countries to "respect the independence, sovereignty, unity and territorial integrity of Vietnam as recognized by the 1954 Geneva agreements on Vietnam."

Article Four declares "the United States will not continue its military involvement or intervene in the internal affairs of South Vietnam."

Article Nine states three basic principles: (See VIET Page 2A)

Six U.S. Convicts Stuck In Saigon Prison

BY GEORGE McARTHUR The Los Angeles Times

SAIGON — Behind the forbidding walls of Saigon's Chi Hoa Prison, six American convicts have a real problem. What happens to them if the Americans evacuate South Vietnam?

Right now, no one knows. The six prisoners are bound in red tape as confining as the prison walls. The U.S. Consulate is trying to get the men out of South Vietnam but with the North Vietnamese armies knocking at the city gates the case of six convicts gets low priority.

If the six Americans are turned over to American custody and flown out, of course, they will be free men — and two are doing 10-year sentences — as the charges on which they got in trouble in South Vietnam could not be binding in the United States.

The South Vietnamese government is officially willing to let them go — and good riddance. The government has privately informed the U.S. Embassy as much.

The problem is the Amnesty Board. And even with the government on the virtual edge of disappearing, bureaucrats are concerned with such things. The Amnesty Board corresponds roughly to an American parole board and it seems it has ceased to exist.

When the American evacuation began quietly some weeks ago, President Nguyen Van Thieu signed an order directing that the six Americans in Chi Hoa be turned over to the U.S. officials. In effect, Thieu's order was based on a recommendation of the Amnesty Board that then still existed.

The President's order in due course filtered down to the prime minister and from there it worked its way to the minister of justice.

It was dutifully noted that the proper procedure was to convene the Amnesty Board to approve the presidential order (which, officially, had originated with the Amnesty Board).

Unfortunately, the Justice Ministry was unable to convene the board. Since the South Vietnamese offensive began on the first of the year, all members of the Amnesty Board had resigned.

Without an order from the Amnesty Board, the Justice Department will not act: The Interior Ministry refuses to do anything without an order from the Justice Ministry.

American consular officials have maintained contact with the six prisoners in Chi Hoa (where they live in a separate area and receive special treatment not accorded other prisoners. Money will buy almost anything. Reportedly they are confident they will be evacuated along with the other Americans if that moment comes.

The American Consulate is also reasonably confident the men will be turned over to American authorities if anyone in the South Vietnamese government can be made to take the time. South Vietnamese officials are bypassing their own regulations every day in freeing Vietnamese prisoners.

The two prisoners with long terms are Joseph Berger, convicted on a drug charge, and Russell Smith, convicted in a case involving brass smuggling with some ranking Vietnamese customs officers.

Both men received 10-year sentences in trials about two years ago. Of the other four prisoners, three are serving relatively short sentences and one is awaiting trial on a relatively minor charge.

Ford, Regulators To Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford said today he shortly will call what he termed an unprecedented meeting of the commissioners of the 10 major independent regulatory agencies.

Together with key members of Congress and the administration, Ford said, the commissioners "will discuss the imperative need to foster greater competition in the public interest and the equally imperative need to consider the inflationary effects of all proposed new regulations."

Ford announced the meeting to the 63rd annual convention of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He also said he opposed creation of a federal consumer protection agency because "it would be unsound to add another layer of bureaucracy."

"I do not believe we need yet another federal bureaucracy in Washington with its attendant costs of $60 million over the next three years and additional federal employees," the President said.

His Constitution Hall audience interrupted his 30-minute talk 13 times, with the loudest applause coming when Ford said he had asked Congress to postpone action on legislation that would set up an agency for consumer advocacy.

The President said the government should not be stampeded into writing new federal regulations on such social issues as job safety, the environment and consumer protection.

"The question is not whether we want to do something about noise and safety — but whether making changes in our regulations would make sense in terms of costs and added benefits gained," Ford said.

"For example, is it worth as much as $30 billion a year of consumers' dollars to reduce the level of occupational noise exposure by approximately five decibels?" the President asked.

"Have airbags been proven sufficiently cost-effective for us to require their installation in all cars at between $100 and $300 for each?" he asked.

"All too often, the federal government promulgates new rules and regulations which

Terrorists Seize Israeli Consulate

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Six terrorists fought a running battle with police marksmen who surrounded the building and returned fire as authorities tried to clear thousands of onlookers from the area.

A journalist, Frank Fainer of the Jewish Herald, said that his office received a telephone call saying that Arab terrorists had taken over the consulate. But there was no confirmation of the identity of the terrorists. One of the hostages shouted from a window for police snipers to stop firing about two hours after the attackers seized the Israeli offices.

She said there were wounded men in the offices and asked for ambulances to carry them to a hospital.

Police using megaphone then started negotiating with the gunmen, asking to send up ambulances to take away the wounded. A rope to pick up a first-aid kit was lowered from a window and when it was hauled up newsmen saw that a walkie-talkie also was attached.

Police sent for the Israeli ambassador, J. Unna, in response to a shouted request from the gunman.

A woman shouted from the building: "We are not coming out. We want Mr. Unna." There were also shouts from other women. "Don't shoot! Don't shoot!"

Viet Cong Reject Minh's Request For Cease Fire

(Continued from Page 1A) "and fight energetically for the people's sufferings, I propose the realization of these demands, that we stop immediately our reciprocal attacks." "I hope you will accept this proposal and the negotiations will begin at once, after the government is set up, so that peace will be restored soon in our beloved country." Minh indicated he would accept the Communist demand for an end to U.S. military aid and intervention in South Vietnam, saying: "Vis a vis our army and the soldiers' and the government of the Republic of Vietnam wants to maintain friendly relations and welcomes any help on the economic and humanitarian planes, without political conditions. This government is also ready to establish diplomatic relations with all countries, regardless of their ideologies, on a basis of equality, equal rights and without interference into another's internal affairs." Tens of thousands of panicky refugees stampeded toward Saigon as North Vietnamese tanks rumbled to within 17 miles of the capital. Highway to the east and south of the city were cut by Communist troops. AP Special Correspondent Peter Arnett reported that 20 or 30 Viet Cong sappers — demolition men — occupied sections of the U.S.-built port complex at Newport. The complex is about three miles from Saigon, where the main highway north to Bien Hoa spans the Saigon River. Arnett said South Vietnamese paratroopers pushed the sappers back into a fuel depot, then shelled the depot and set one big tank afire. The Viet Cong dug in on the other side of a bridge across the river, and as government forces closed in on them from both sides, helicopter gunships attacked them with rockets and set a U.S. aid warehouse afire. It was the closest fighting to the city since the signing of a cease-fire agreement in January 1973.

Sources close to Minh said he would name former Senate President Nguyen Van Huynh, a Roman Catholic politician, as his vice president. "in charge of peace negotiations," they said. Sen. Vu Van Mau, a Buddhist, would become prime minister of a broad-based cabinet. The 51-year-old retired general, who has been in exile or on the sidelines throughout the entire Thieu administration, was unanimously endorsed by the South Vietnamese National Assembly on Sunday to take over the presidency from Tran Van Huong, the 71-year-old vice president who moved up briefly when Nguyen Van Thieu resigned the presidency a week ago. The Viet Cong said repeatedly that they would not negotiate with Thieu or any member of his regime. Sources close to Minh said he was doing all he could to put together a new administration that would be acceptable to the Communists.

Sweltering Refugees Waiting For Word

By LINDA DEUTSCH
AGANA, Guam (AP) — Displaced and stunned, thousands of Vietnamese refugees clustered in sweltering tents today in Guam waiting for word of their fate. "My wife just doesn't know what happened to her," said one Vietnamese. "Suddenly we have no home." The mood of the dusty, sun-scorched "Tent City" where more than 1,900 now live is a state of shock. "My little girl just cries and cries," said a Vietnamese mother. "I try to tell her the freedom life will come soon. But in Saigon she had so many toys. Here she has nothing. We have nothing." Inside a steaming tent a 7-month-old baby wearing only a diaper, swung in a make-shift hammock. "In Saigon, he had his own air conditioned room," said his mother. But the baby gurgled and smiled. He was adjusting. The adult tenants of "Tent City" do

The President said he has several bills pending for forthcoming which are intended to reform some rules of federal regulatory agencies. He said that among them is a proposal to remove federal price controls on new natural gas sold in interstate markets. He said the present "artificially low price" of gas has curtailed exploration and development and has forced some users to either curtail operations or depend more on oil.

Three Roman Catholics Killed In Northern Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police believe Protestant terrorists were responsible for the killing of three middle-aged Roman Catholic men and the wounding of a fourth in a darts club Sunday night. "The gunmen kicked in the door and let fly, spraying the people inside with bullets," police reported. Police said although a few Protestants also belong to the club, "as far as we can tell, only Catholics were in the club playing darts when the terrorists struck." The attack occurred in Bleary, a village 20 miles southwest of Belfast. The killings raised the confirmed death toll from violence in Northern Ireland to 50 since the Irish Republican Army declared a cease-fire on Feb. 10 in its guerrilla war

The Miss Ela (Canyon) oil pool of the panhandle sector of Tom Green County gained its second well and a 2,900-foot northeast extension, with completion of John L. Cox, Midland, No. 2 (formerly filed as No. 1-B), Miss Ela.

It gauged a daily pumping potential of 145 barrels of 40-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 910-1. Production was through perforations at 7,231-7,251 feet, which had been fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Scheduled as an 8,000-foot well, it was amended as a steep to the field. Total depth is 7,885 feet, and the plugged-back depth is 7,456 feet. Operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 7,456 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,960 feet from east lines of section 53, block 7, H&TC survey, 30 miles north of Barnhart.

The discovery, Cox No. 1 Miss Ela, was completed Feb. 19, for 169 barrels of 40-gravity oil per day, through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,233-7,399 feet.

Exxon Corp., Shell Oil Co., Amoco Oil Co. and Atlantic Richfield Co. said installation of the required vapor recovery systems would "create a real and present danger of catastrophic explosions."

Joining the oil companies were the Texas Chemical Council, a trade association of petrochemical companies, Harris County, Tex., and the Harris County Hospital District.

The Environmental Protection Agency said the firms "would interpret a stay of mandatory emissions during unloading and loading of ships and barges in the 13-county Houston-Galveston air quality control region."

Drilling Log New Pipelines To Hike Oil Flow Into Oklahoma

By DAYTON BLAIR CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—Two new pipelines, one built and the other scheduled, will bring a half-million barrels of additional oil into this area by the middle of 1976.

The Texoma Pipeline from Beaumont, Tex., to Cushing is due to be finished about Aug. 1 of this year and will carry an estimated 250,000 barrels of oil per day. Its southern end is at Nederland, Tex.

The Seaway Pipeline, not due to be completed until Aug. 1, 1976, will extend from Freeport, Tex., to Cushing. It will have an initial capacity of 225,000 barrels per day, increasing later.

The Texoma line has been completed and tested from Cushing to Winnsboro, Tex., about half of its 472-mile length.

The line is being built by Sun Pipe Line Co., a subsidiary of Sun Oil Co., at a cost of $122 million. Its initial capacity will be 300,000 barrels per day and, like the other, will be increased later.

Ten companies are taking part in the line and will use the crude for their refineries or to move through their transmission system.

They include Kerr-McGee Oil Corp., Lion Oil Co., Skelly Oil Co., Sun Oil Co. of Pennsylvania, United Refining Co., Western Crude Oil, Inc., Mobil Oil Corp., Rock Island Refining Corp., Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and Vickers Petroleum Co.

Construction in recent months has been slowed because part of its route goes through swamp and marshland and wet weather has made work difficult. Five river crossings are involved, three on the Neches River.

Oil to move through the line will be unloaded at a Sun terminal at Nederland. A second dock has been built there to handle vessels up to 130,000 tons.

Capability will be increased by 50 per cent with an additional at six 250,000-barrel storage tanks and two of 150,000 barrels each.

At Cushing, a 16-inch lateral line will tie in to the Kerr-McGee refinery at Wynnewood. Two tie-ins are planned at Longview, Tex. One will be with Mid-Valley Pipe Line to move crude to Arkansas and the other will be with West Texas Gulf Pipe line to carry approximately 40,000 barrels of West Texas crude daily.

For the other pipeline—the Seaway—pipe is on order and steel mills in Houston have begun to roll the pipe.

"We have all the major items on order," said Dean Taylor, president of Phillips Pipeline Co. "It should be operational by Aug. 1, 1976."

The company has an 80-acre tract near Cushing for the terminal facility and is negotiating for facilities near Freeport. The Freeport facilities will be for storing oil unloaded from supertankers in the Gulf of Mexico.

Cost of the pipeline is estimated at about $200 million. Companies participating in the Seaway line are Continental Pipe Line Co., Phillips Petroleum Co., Phillips Investment Co., Apco Oil Corp., CRA, Inc., Diamond Shamrock Corp., Midland Cooperatives, Inc., and National Cooperative Refinery Association.

Quints, Mother Said Doing Well

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Levy quintuplets and their 28-year-old mother were reported "doing well" today, according to officials at General Hospital here.

The three girls and two boys, born last Tuesday, are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Levy's first children. They were reunited with their mother for the first time Saturday afternoon.

The quintuplets, as yet unnamed, are not expected to leave the hospital until late this week.

Midlander Hurt In Car Accident

Steven Holiday, 20, 606 S. Tilden St., was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital this morning and released after being injured in a two-car crash about 1:15 a.m. today. Police said Holiday was injured when the car he was driving collided with a parked car belonging to Richard Lewis, 505 S. Tilden St., in the 500 block of South Tilden Street.

Horace W. Kading

Reservoir Group Meets Thursday

The Midland Reservoir Study Group will hold a luncheon meeting Thursday at the Sheraton Inn.

Horace W. Kading, president of Worth Well Surveys, Inc., will be the guest speaker. His subject will be "Applications of Temperature Profiles in Waterflood Operations."

Kading is the author of several technical papers on production logging and temperature survey techniques. He has been in the logging business 26 years, and helped develop the original interpretation techniques and temperature logging applications for water injection wells, fracture evaluation, log acid evaluation and gas entry in ultra-deep wells.

Kading is a member of the American Petroleum Institute and Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME.

New officers for the study group will be elected at the meeting. Reservations for the luncheon should be made by Wednesday by telephoning 682-5574.

Terrariums Topic Of Program For Altrusa Club

Mrs. Russell Sexton presented a program on terrariums for a recent meeting of the Altrusa Club of Midland, Inc., in Sheraton Inn. Mrs. John J. Carter presided.

Evelyn Levisay, chairman of the vocational services committee, introduced the speaker, who discussed the procedure for planting terrariums and their care. Mrs. Ada Phillips was the winner of a terrarium prepared by the speaker. Mrs. Phillips presented the arrangement to the Haley Research Library.

Mrs. W. E. Stirman, chairman of the community service committee, announced plans are complete for serving sack lunches to "Christmas in April" volunteers. The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary will furnish the soft drinks for the lunches.

Mrs. Loretta Guffey, chairman of the international relations committee, reported plans are nearing completion for the committee's program in May. A Grants-In-Aid graduate student and Dr. Norma E. Porres, District Nine chairman of the international relations committee, are expected to attend. Youth for Understanding students also will be on the program. The program will be presented May 22 at Midland Country Club.

Mrs. Lottie Stuart, a new member, was presented an Altrusa pin and work kit by Mrs. Guy Saunders. Mrs. Madge Wallis also received a pin and kit from Mrs. John Culver.

Mrs. Dorothy Herzer was a guest.

Mrs. Carter announced the club's board of directors will meet at 12 noon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Guffey.

Millions Of Dollars Are Thrown Away

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—South African families and businesses throw away about two million tons of waste a year with a potential value of $19 million excluding industrial and demolition waste, according to Johannesburg city engineer Val Bolitho.

Bolitho told the biennial congress of the Institute of Public Health here that South Africans throw away one million cans, one million glass bottles and millions of dollars worth of plastic containers a year.

He said more would be achieved by limiting the quantity of wastes produced than by using expensive methods of recovering waste materials.

University Women Schedule Scholarship Fund Benefit

The Midland Society of University Women will have a "Spring Solstice" scholarship fund benefit from 7:30 p.m. Friday in the home of Mrs. Preston Lea, 205 Club Drive.

Proceeds from the sale of art work by Midland artists, Mrs. John Long, Mrs. Alicean White and Mrs. James Rasmussen, will be used for scholarships.

The MSUW was organized to promote and support civic, cultural and educational interests and to provide service in these areas to the community.

The society has incorporated a permanent fund to provide aid to deserving young women to Florida and Texas. She has a further their education. The scholarship fund has been granted a state charter as a Texas non-profit corporation and has studies of happy children. She has been approved by the Internal Revenue Service as a charitable organization. All contributions are tax deductible.

Mrs. Long has a degree in home economics and education from Texas Christian University. She learned the basic technique of jewelry making at the Natural Science Center at Austin. Both Mrs. Long and her husband, John, minister of Memorial Christian Church, design and make jewelry. She uses the "lost wax" method of casting jewelry in creating individual designs of gold and silver. Precious and semi-precious gems are used in the jewelry. Rev. Long works with brass and steel and uses some polished stones in his designs. Both have exhibited at Tumbleweed and at the Museum

Mrs. White, artist and sculptress, was born in Nice, France and studied in Vermont. She has a studio in Midland. Her "Happy Children" sculptures are created individually and are original studies of happy children. She has studied pottery with Mrs. Charles Henderson and is making pots on the wheel from small size to large wedding punch bowl size. Mrs. White has been represented at the Texas Arts and Crafts Fair at Kerrville, the West Texas Fair at Abilene and the Texas State Fair at Dallas.

Mrs. Rasmussen has a bachelor of arts degree in applied arts from Iowa State University. Her work is in watercolor, oils, acrylics and pastels, and her subject matter is mostly landscapes, children and flowers which are executed in realistic to semi-impressionistic style.

HOROSCOPE
by Carroll Righter

(Apr. 29) GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to make important decisions and then to enlist the support of your associates. You can now have prosperous results from your efforts. An excellent time to make long-range plans.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Once you have all the information and figures needed, you can approach a higher-up for the backing you need. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Come to a better understanding with persons in the business world. Engage in favorite hobby with friends tonight. Be poised.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Strive for more harmony with associates early in the day. An important civic matter requires your handling it quickly and well.

MISS YOUR PAPER?
If you miss your Reporter-Telegram, call 682-5311 before 6:30 p.m. Weekdays and before 10:30 a.m. Sunday and a copy will be sent to you by a special carrier.

When Paying Your Newspaper By Check
Please make all checks payable to the Reporter-Telegram.

MOON CHILDREN (June 23 to July 22): A civic matter needs your full attention early in the day. Evening is fine for checking up on your wardrobe needs.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23): Discuss your aims with associates and then get busy with the work required to gain them. Take no chances with a prevaricator.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Showing more than usual affection for family members at this time is wise. Don't neglect to take needed health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Make appointments early in the day and be sure to keep them. Shopping and errands should be done before sundown. Be thrifty.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Plan how to add to present income and then contact key persons who can give you the support you need. Relax at home tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Make your plans early in the day and then apply your talents to put operations across well. Improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): You have private anxieties that logical thinking can quickly remove. The evening can be enjoyed visiting good friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): If you discuss business matters with a trusted friend, you can gain the advice needed to make your operation a success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Handle any "optional" activity wisely and then make the right decisions with others later in the day. Attend the social tonight.

TAMU LIBRARY—Mrs. M. F. Driscoll of Midland has been elected president of the Friends of the Library, an organization which supports the University Library at Texas A&M University. WHAT IS THE TRUTH?
"Thy Word is Truth" (John 17:17)
by Bryan Best

To neglect to worship doesn't make sense. Since we are created in God's image, we naturally seek him to praise his name. To worship God is to ascribe complete worth and value to God, to praise and adore him. To neglect to worship is to fail to acknowledge God's supremacy over us. Neglecting worship leads to the humanistic conclusion that we have all the answers in ourselves.

Worship is a central theme of the Bible. The idea of worship is found on page after page of the Old Testament. The early church emphasized worship. These verses from the last Psalm summarize both the reason for and the attitude of worship to God:

Praise the Lord!
Praise God in his sanctuary;
praise him in his mighty firmament!
Praise him for his mighty deeds;
praise him according to his exceeding greatness!
Let everything that breathes praise the Lord!
Worship with the church this Sunday.

HINTS FROM Heloise

What To Wear After Mastectomy

Dear Gals:

This is for women only. For those of you who have had a breast removed I want to have a little chat with you today.

So take two minutes off to read this column. The day just might come that you will remember it and want to use this little hint...

First let me say thanks to our President's wife and our Vice President's wife for making all of us gals conscious of medical checkups! It's those two lovely women who have made the words "breast cancer" household words. Bless them both.

Now down to brass tacks: Fifteen years ago I wrote a column about a woman who went through this. She was tired of wearing the usual "fill-up" in her bra. Her complaints were:

They were beastly hot in the summer.

They were uncomfortable. Some were heavy...

Others broke out in rashes with the fill-in because they were allergic, etc.

So we two got together and she figured out a way to really up-soup all the gadgets you could buy!

And you'll never guess what the answer was, would you? Nylon stockings, gals. Really. Here's how it's done:

First, take a brassiere which you have worn before, but that fits you well and is broken in. Do NOT buy a new one for this as the elastic and shoulder straps on your older one are already fitted to you.

Grab all your old nylon stockings and snip them into about one inch rings. This means to cut across the leg part only. That is the softest part, honey-pots.

Snuff these into that cup. After you put on your bra, stand before your mirror and keep stuffing until they match.

OK?

Now, wear it around the house for awhile. As it packs (and it will from the heat of your body, and the weight of your clothes; I know), stuff a few more in at a time. Eventually, you will get the right packing that pleases your fancy.

When you get one that is packed just right, and fits correctly, sew it into the bra cup itself!

Just take another piece of nylon stocking and make a cover that will keep the pieces of nylon from falling out of the cup and hand sew it to the bra cup of your bra.

Eventually, as you ruin more these bras can be put in any washing machine and any dryer, gals.

They may be massaged to re-shape as soon as they are taken from the dryer, or hung on the line to dry, but we did not find this so.

Also, it was learned that they did not sour, and will not mold or mildew, can be dusted with bath powder which gave a luxurious feeling and there was no weight or false-feeling problem.

Here is something else that might snicker you gals: When you dance, no man knows the difference. It "gives" just like the other one. Also, if you will try to learn to wear a long-line bra, it will do wonders. Most of the time it holds the bra down and keeps it from giving and slipping.

Love forevermore,

Heloise

P.S. I just got so many letters of love after this column 15 years ago, that I thought you newcomers should know about this, as it's still the best substitute I know of for regular breast forms.

However, breast-form design has improved since then and forms do wonders for one's morale, but you gals who don't like to wear them all the time might give this a try.

Makes a nice change, especially around the house. And, best of all, it's FREE.

Midland Musicians Club Meets In Matthews Home

"The Art Song and a Larger Form" was the program topic for the recent meeting of the Musicians Club, Texas Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. Jerome Codington, program chairman, announced the 1975-76 program outline, an in-depth study of American composers, continuing the club's two-year Bicentennial celebration. Members were given a list of 87 composers for performance selection.

Mrs. Robert L. Wise announced plans for a special club display at Midland County Library, as a feature of National Music Week, sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs, and scheduled May 4-11.

Assisting Mrs. Matthews as hostesses were Mrs. A. J. Evans Jr. and Mrs. R. Donald Jansen.

Illustrations were presented by Mrs. James E. Huddleston, soprano, singing "I'm Treibhaus" from Wesendonck Lieder by Richard Wagner, accompanied by Mrs. Harold W. Heckathorn at the piano; Mrs. Howard W. Parker, soprano, and Mrs. Ray Bristol, piano, with "A Memory" by Rudolph Ganz; and Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Hans Roweck, playing "Piano Concerto in C, Opus 15," Allegro con brio, Ludwig Van Beethoven.

Mrs. Manton P. Jones, president, welcomed guests, Maggie Hinton, Ruston, La., Mrs. Jim Crawford, and Mrs. Earl K. Moore of Odessa.

During the business session, plans for the annual Musicale to be presented May 13 in the

Dear Abby Don't Put Monkeys To Work

— By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read in the newspaper that a group of people in Milwaukee, Wis., organized a "Free the Apes" movement, also known as the Ape Liberation Movement.

They want to take all the apes, monkeys and gorillas out of the zoos and cages, and put them to work in factories and on farms. They claim that monkeys can be trained to handle certain jobs as well as people—like picking berries or cotton and working on assembly lines. They could even be trained to tend bar. (No complicated mixed drinks—mostly just pouring beer.)

Abby, with so many people out of work, I think it's a crime to consider putting monkeys to work instead of people.

What is your opinion?

UNEMPLOYED IN W. VA. DEAR UN: Don't worry. Even though monkeys would be glad to work for peanuts, until they can read, write and vote, the labor unions will see to it that people get preference.

DEAR ABBY: I've never written to you before, but there was a letter in your column that really threw me. It was from "Bone Tired," the young mother who wasn't able to get all dolled up in the morning because she'd been up half the night with a sick baby. And when she served her husband his breakfast in her bathrobe, he gave her the dickens because he likes to see his wife all prettied up at breakfast.

Now I've heard everything! I'm a working woman myself, and I say, "Let the guy make his own breakfast."

Furthermore, if he expects to look at Elizabeth Taylor in the morning, his wife should lay out a magazine with the food.

I'll bet she never made Richard Burton breakfast!

LINDA DEAR LINDA: Probably not. Do you suppose if she had, they'd still be together?

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this letter in hopes that it will help some other drinking housewife who won't admit that she has a problem.

For the past seven years, I was slowly becoming an alcoholic, and I wouldn't face it. I gave myself all the possible excuses: The kids were getting on my nerves; my husband worked too many hours; I needed a few drinks to "relax" me in the evening.

I kept the house neat and managed to take care of the kids long enough to get them into bed, but then Mommy would pass out with a "headache."

Finally, my husband gave me a choice. The bottle or my family.

First I went to a mental health clinic. They referred me to Alcoholics Anonymous. It was a big step to admit that, at 28 years of age, I was an alcoholic. It was painful to realize how much it affected the lives of the people I loved the most.

They say that most alcoholics don't go for help until they reach rock bottom and have lost their jobs, families and homes. I was lucky. I didn't have to fall that far.

I haven't quite made it yet. But I am trying with all the strength I have to stay away from alcohol just one day at a time. I don't even mind telling people I can't drink. It seems that everyone knew it long before I did.

D. IN NEW BRITAIN, CONN.

DEAR D: Thanks for an inspirational letter. I think you're going to make it!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

AARP Chapter Holds Meeting

The Midland Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons met recently for a regular meeting in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church.

Following a supper, the group was entertained by Dewey Thornton at the guitar singing a medley of Western songs and hymns.

Mrs. August Wenck gave a short talk on a Defensive Driving Course, stressing the importance of the course.

62 members and five guests, Helena Caine, Ann Anthony, Alpha Donabo and Mr. and Mrs. Thornton, attended.

Shower Honors Debbi Bearden

Debbi Bearden of Lubbock, bride-elect of James Alan Henry, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Tom Stoy, 8 Fairfax Court. Henry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Henry.

The co-hostess was Mrs. Jack Hauke, and assisting was Mrs. Charles Cary.

An arrangement of blue and white flowers, to carry out the honoree's chosen colors, were used in the decorations. Corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Don Bearden of Lubbock, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Henry.

The couple is to be married at 7:30 p.m. May 24 in the Church of Christ in Lubbock.

Tap Dancing Popular Again

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Tap dancing is making a comeback.

"Tap dancing is more popular now than it has been any time since the 1940s," says Rose Ann Tyler, who has been teaching dancing in this area for 29 years. "We have had 40 new tap students in the last two weeks. I've never had that happen before."

Mrs. Gladys Gairaud, manager of the Menlo Park Academy of Dance, has 129 women and three men taking tap lessons there.

"We're in hard times, looking for things to give us a good time, some body conditioning and a chance to walk away feeling happy," says Mrs. Gairaud. "We're going back to the era of the '30s."

"That's Entertainment," a film collection of highlights from movie musicals, is believed to be partly responsible for the tap dance making a comeback.

Michael Brown, 17, of East Palo Alto, has seen "That's Entertainment" four times. "The artists in that movie were total entertainers, Fred Astaire and all of them. Tap is a means of becoming a whole entertainer. It always has been," Brown plans to continue with his lessons.

U.S. Air Fares To Rise Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of coach-class air fares will rise on short domestic flights and decline on long domestic trips while all first-class fares will climb Tuesday as the result of a Civil Aeronautics Board decision.

The changes in coach fares will range up to an increase of $4 on very short flights to a decrease of $11 on transcontinental trips.

First-class fares will increase

KOYL Presents Personalities, Music 24 Hours

Country music has come a long way in the past twenty years, and KOYL AM & FM in Odessa are proud to have been among the pioneers in the development of this giant industry. When KOYL AM went on the air in 1957, it was one of only a handful of radio stations in the United States playing exclusively country music. Shortly thereafter country music experienced some lean years, thanks mainly to the appearance of Elvis Presley on the music scene and the ensuing rock and roll craze.

It would have been the easy way out for KOYL to abandon its all country music format, but Ross the Boss stuck to his guns, rode out those lean years and today is proud to be looked on as one of the pioneers in what is now the fastest growing field of music.

Since the late 1950's, more than 1,000 other radio stations have joined KOYL in playing country music exclusively.

KOYL FM came on the scene a few years later and today its static free frequency, 96 Mc, compliments KOYL AM perfectly. When KOYL AM goes off the air at sundown, country music enthusiasts, and their numbers are growing by leaps and bounds, can turn to KOYL FM for all night country music.

Thus, KOYL AM & FM are the only stations in the Permian Basin providing 24 hours of country music.

Ross the Boss, who has the longest continuous running radio show in Midland or Odessa, is proud of his line up of air personalities.

Country Bill has long been a favorite and presents the best in modern country each day on KOYL AM from 10:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. Bill has been a favorite of West Texas fans for 15 years. A native of Nashville, he's personally acquainted with many of the stars whose records he spins daily, so he knows where he speaks when he comments on the records he plays.

Jeff Davis has more than 20 years experience playing country music. He's featured on the all night show on KOYL FM, blending a mixture of today's current hits, his personal picks of the new records, and favorites from the past.

Ross the Boss says the personalities and the programming are the two keys to the success of KOYL AM & FM. "Many of our listeners feel like these guys we have on the air are personal friends, and they just have that charisma

Chinese Rebuff Israeli Approach

Agence France-Presse JERUSALEM — Israel has made an unsuccessful diplomatic bid to try and persuade China to change a "totally negative" attitude towards it, Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin has revealed in an interview to be published here.

The bid was made several months ago through the head of state of a socialist European state, who was asked to approach the Chinese leadership. Rabin told the Israeli journalists' association.

The head of state was thought likely here to be Rumanian President Nicolae Ceausescu. Rumania is the only socialist bloc country which maintains diplomatic relations with Israel.

Rabin said the Chinese leaders replied that "the aspiration of a people to return to its ancestral land after 2,000 years of exile was likely to provoke an example which would completely overturn the order of things in world history."

Chinese Prime Minister Chow En-lai, Rabin said, added that it was "as if the Indians of the United States were to claim the possession of America." Contacts did not continue, Rabin said.

Prince Emerges From Hole In Ice Wearing Bowler

RESOLUTE BAY, Northwest Territories (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, emerged from a hole in the thick ice of Resolute Bay, smiling and doffed a dripping black bowler to freezing newsmen.

The prince had just completed a half-hour dive in minus 28-degree weather, and his host, Dr. Joseph MacInnis, had slashed the hat and an umbrella on the seabed 30 feet below the ice as a surprise.

Earlier Saturday, as part of his tour of Canada, the prince donned a new parka and pants of hand-sewn caribou skins for a three-hour dog sled ride through the mountains of Ellesmere Island, the nation's northernmost point, about 800 miles from the North Pole.

Ross the Boss says the personalities and the programming are the two keys to the success of KOYL AM & FM. "Many of our listeners feel like these guys we have on the air are personal friends, and they just have that charisma

HELP PREVENT HITCH FAILURE—With a Mindymark ball pin safety trailer hitch, marketed by Chancellor Enterprises, 206 West Texas, you will help prevent or safely control hitch failures. The steel pin core is a simple but complete secondary system that comes into play only if the primary one fails.

Chancellor Markets New Trailer Hitch

Chancellor Enterprises, 206 W. Texas Room 109, will market the new Mindymark ball trailer hitch made and patented by Edgar Green, Shelbyville, Texas.

The new safety trailer hitch is a steel pin core, a simple but complete secondary system that comes into play only if the primary one fails.

The Mindymark ball-hitch satisfactorily passed all the tests of the Southwest Research Institute, San Antonio, Texas, with a wide margin of safety and appears to offer a considerable safety factor for people using trailer hitches on the various vehicles pulled on the highways.

The new safety trailer hitch may solve the tricky question of trailer safety chains that plagues Texans. State regulations in Texas do not require safety chains between the trailer and the towing vehicle, but the laws of 37 other states do and in six of these states double chains are required.

There are good arguments on both sides of the issue and there must be some reason so many states require safety chains. There also must be some reason several states, including Texas, don't.

Apparently a state study comparing the safety aspects of towing a trailer with and without

Edelin To Seek Sentence Reversal

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin returns to court this week to ask a judge to declare him innocent of his manslaughter conviction last February in the death of an aborted fetus.

In a brief scheduled to be filed today, the Boston City Hospital obstetrician will ask Suffolk Superior Court Judge James P. McGuire to overturn the jury's guilty verdict, saying it went against the weight of the evidence.

McGuire has scheduled a hearing for Wednesday on the motion, brought under a seldom used state law that allows a judge to declare a jury verdict incorrect.

If the motion fails, Edelin's appeal will proceed before the state Supreme Court.

Thailand's Premier Expects No Invasion

BANGKOK — Thai Premier Kukrit Pramoj is positive that Khmer Rouge rebel forces will not invade Thailand "because they are busy with developing their own country," it was learned today.

The prime minister expressed that view while visiting the northeastern province of Korat on Sunday. As reported by the mass circulation daily, Thai Rath, Prince Kukrit told reporters "I am sure the Khmer Rouge will not invade Thailand because they are busy with developing their own country."

PLANNED SUB BASE CONTESTED—

Trial Begins Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawsuit by some environmental groups opposed to the Navy's plans to build a $500-million Trident submarine base is pitting ecological considerations against national security concerns.

The plaintiffs in the U.S. District Court trial that begins today hope to block construction of the base near Puget Sound, Wash., where the Navy wants to station 10 new Trident submarines. The boats would patrol the Pacific and each would carry 24 nuclear missiles. The environmentalists contend that the Pentagon and the Navy illegally skirted the law in selecting the site and then wrote the required environmental impact statement to justify the selection.

They argue the Navy should have explored several alternative sites in the impact statement and examined other weapons systems.

The Navy argues that it has met the requirements of the law in writing the six-volume environmental statement. The Navy also asserts that national security requires that the new submarines be put into operation on schedule next year.

Jordan Says ERA Dead This Year

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., says that although opponents of the federal Equal Rights Amendment have "defied logic and common sense" they apparently have killed the issue for this year.

Rep. Jordan predicted, however, that the amendment to the U.S. Constitution probably will pass next year.

"I believe the ERA is consistent with the country's alleged commitment to fairness and equality for everybody," she said.

Cut In Bell Request Recommended

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas City Council will consider a proposal that would cut $3 million from a $23 million rate hike sought in the city by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

And, Bell officials in Fort Worth say an audit just completed bolsters their argument for a rate hike in that city.

The new Dallas plan, prepared by Public Utilities Director Tom Taylor's staff and submitted to the council by City Manager George Schrader, would trim proposed revenues from service connections and business and residential monthly rates.

Under a special plan of calculating the need for rate increases, Taylor said Bell could justify a $14.9 million increase in annual revenues.

He recommended that the giant utility be directed to put $5 million of its increased revenues into a special reserve fund until the city can devise an adequate plan for calculating rates.

Taylor's report differed from one offered by the Stanford Research Institute (SRI) which recommended that all but $464,000 of the original $23 million increase be granted.

The city paid SRI $60,000 for the study, which some critics have said was inadequate. Councilman Gary Weber said he may introduce a motion to force Southwestern Bell to bear the cost of the study.

The telephone company meanwhile said over the weekend it had a return of only 1.6 per cent on the fair market value of its investment in the Fort Worth area last year, according to an audit.

Division manager Bill Serault said the company had expected a return of 2.2 per cent when it filed a rate increase request with the city council.

He said the new figures strengthen Bell's need for a rate hike proposed earlier. Bell is seeking an $11.5 million hike to bring its rate-of-return to 5.5 per cent.

Coquina Oil Honored

The Midland Wildcat Committee scores again . . . this time in arranging and staging a reception honoring officers and directors of another Midland-based company—Coquina Oil Corp.

The host organization again has used excellent judgment in this regard.

Coquina Oil has met with tremendous success in its operations, and it is due special recognition for the part it has played and is playing in the building of a bigger and better Tall City of Midland.

The reception is scheduled from 5 to 7 p.m. today in the Midland Petroleum Club.

The guests of honor include Pomeroy Smith, chairman of the board; George T. Conly, president and director; Tracy P. Clark, vice president-exploration and a director; James Taylor, vice president-production, and Jerry Hudgeons, secretary-treasurer, all of Midland, and other directors including Charles D. O'Connor of London, England; Roger Crandell of Summit, N. J., and Boyd Laughlin, William Hickey and Murray Fassen, all of Midland.

It is well that other executives in the firm's Midland offices also will be guests at the social event. They are James Harben, exploration manager; Art Custer, exploitation manager; John Berry, superintendent-production, and Ferrell Davis, land manager.

All Midlanders join with The Wildcat Committee in wishing Coquina Oil Corp. and its officers, directors and personnel continued success in the future.

'... Business Day'

The United States Senate, without a dissenting vote, has passed a resolution authorizing President Ford to proclaim May 13, 1975, "American Business Day" as a nationwide tribute to the private enterprise system.

It is said that if the House acts with equal swiftness, the initial observance can be held this May. It would not be a legal holiday.

It is doubtful if the House will approve the measure unanimously. But who would have thought the Senate would have acted as it did, considering some of its actions recently.

The proposal originated with the Harrisonburg-Rockingham, Va., Chamber of Commerce. It is backed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

President Arch Booth of the U.S. Chamber declared it "most fitting and appropriate for the Congress, the President and the nation to recognize officially American business and the role of private enterprise in the development of the United States through its history."

It is hoped that prompt action will be taken in order that fitting ceremonies and programs may be arranged to celebrate the occasion.

And just in case you are wondering why May 13 was selected, well, it is because the date marks the founding of Jamestown in 1607, as a private enterprise undertaking.

INSIDE REPORT—

President Ford: Vietnam And Detente

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Policy decisions two weeks ago by President Ford in the wake of the Vietnam debacle, made in an offhand manner despite grave misgivings high in his own administration, now seem to have worsened what at best was an impossible situation for him.

The President's State of the World address April 10 contained two basic decisions: asking $722 million in Vietnam military aid, and blaming the U.S. fiasco in Southeast Asia on Congress rather than Moscow and Peking. That speech and remarkable events since then are viewed by some important Ford supporters as further undermining his shaky presidency.

The blundering last-ditch struggle for huge, new military aid unnecessarily added another chapter to the domestic political saga of Vietnam, delaying a fresh start. More complicated but more important was the President's insistence on detente-as-usual, dimming Republicans inside and outside his administration.

Everybody inside the administration agrees that niggardly military aid allowed Saigon by Congress the past two years hastened the disaster. The disagreement came over the point of no return—when no further aid could possibly help. The overwhelming consensus was that the South Vietnamese army (ARVN) was beyond salvation after its northern divisions collapsed last month.

But Gerald R. Ford was not part of that consensus. "The President is a politician and a former football player," one adviser told us. As a politician, he did not want publicly to concede defeat. As a former football star, he felt no game—even the deadly game of war—was lost until the final gun.

Evans

Thus, the President dispatched Gen. Frederick Weyand, the Army's estimable chief of staff, to Vietnam as both fact-finder and seeker of a winning game plan. As a fact-finder, Weyand's assessment of military ruin was deadly realistic. As a game winner, his $722 million proposal to re-equip four ARVN divisions to stabilize the military situation was wildly optimistic.

Returning to Washington, Weyand ran into skepticism from Pentagon civilians including Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger. Feeling Weyand's plan had only a minuscule chance to work, these skeptics wanted the President to propose a smaller sum for military aid, but high enough to persuade Saigon the U.S. had no plan to cut and run. This would "buy protection" for thousands of Americans trapped in Saigon, and would be quietly sold to Congress as such.

But by the time Mr. Ford got back from Palm Springs, he had bought the Weyand plan in full. Whereas Weyand privately viewed his chances as marginal at best, the President had convinced himself it was a sure game winner. It went into the State of the World address without internal debate (most presidential advisers viewing it useful for psychological effect on Saigon).

But Congressmen home for Easter had encountered passionate voter opposition to one more cent for Vietnam. The President reacted to this hostility by cranking up a hard-sell campaign, declaring his faith in what his experts perceived as hopeless—Saigon's military revival. In sum, Mr. Ford committed his prestige to a program which could neither work nor be enacted.

The decision on detente was reached even more informally. Schlesinger, a backstage critic of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's detente policies, was not a principal. White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld is known to have cautioned Kissinger about exaggerating the fruits of detente.

But during hectic speech-writing before the State of the World address, Rumsfeld proposed, unsuccessfully, one small change about detente. Accordingly, Mr. Ford blamed Congress instead of the Communist superpowers for Vietnam, presumably to save detente.

The result: sharp private criticism by Republicans, including some old Ford advisers. To no avail. Questioned before the American Society of Newspaper Editors April 16, the President pronounced Moscow and Peking guiltless. Yet, when shown an advance text of Kissinger's remarks to the editors for April 17 castigating the Communist powers for violating detente, the President called it "excellent."

Did Mr. Ford not appreciate the gulf between what he and Kissinger were saying? Some administration officials think not. Moreover, they regard the President's kid-glove treatment as expressing the true Ford-Kissinger position, choosing to write off Kissinger's warning to Moscow and Peking as a tactic, not a strategy. The end result: growing Republican dissatisfaction with detente.

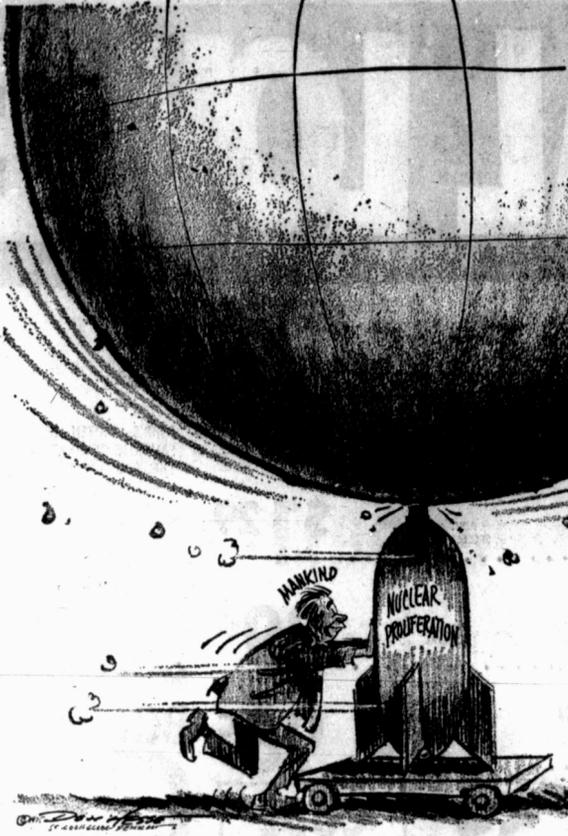

To some worried officials inside the administration, Vietnam shows detente has not brought world stability. They feel the administration now faces a choice between worldwide re-engagement of U.S. power or tacit accommodation with alarming Soviet power-growth under the umbrella of detente.

But no great internal debate is expected. "The President has his mind made up, and there's no use carping about it," one high official told us. That suggests the same disorganization in foreign policymaking which prevailed this month, deepening the melancholy in official Washington.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON
With LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — With the collapse of his policies in Southeast Asia, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger may follow his friends Lon Nol and Nguyen Van Thieu into premature retirement.

White House sources tell us that President Ford hasn't lost confidence in Kissinger. But almost everyone else in the top policy-making councils has.

The ink hardly was dry on the Jan. 27, 1973, Paris peace accords before the Joint Chiefs warned, in effect, that Kissinger had delivered Vietnam to the Communists.

Under the terms Kissinger accepted in Paris, the North Vietnamese army was granted a foothold in the South.

The Joint Chiefs predicted precisely what now is happening in Vietnam. Their secret estimate, as we reported on Feb. 1, 1973, was that President Thieu would not survive and that the Communists would win the final struggle for Vietnam.

While the joint Chiefs looked upon this as a disaster, some policy-makers have contended that a Communist triumph actually would benefit the United States.

Not only would this stop an enormous financial drain, they argued, but also the rival Communist powers would wind up squabbling among themselves over Indochina. The United States could enjoy the luxury of standing back and watching the developments.

The best available intelligence indicates that the Khmer Rouge, who now are taking over Cambodia, distrust the North Vietnamese and want to keep their country independent of Hanoi.

The Chinese also are reported to be wary of North Vietnam, which could develop into a rival Communist power on their southern flank.

The Russians, on the other hand, are trying to bolster Hanoi as a counterweight to Communist China.

The United States would have been better off all along, in the opinion of many experts, abandoning Indochina to the rivalries of the divided Communists.

But meanwhile, the opinion is almost unanimous in the backrooms that Kissinger has mishandled the Vietnam issue and that his policies have badly damaged the United States.

Footnote: Leading Democrats quietly urged the White House to replace Kissinger with Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield. They believe Mansfield, out of patriotism, could be persuaded to serve as secretary of State. He would have the prestige, they argue, to restore bipartisan unity to foreign affairs. Our White House sources insist, however, that the President is satisfied with Kissinger and would prefer to see Mansfield work in the Senate for a bipartisan foreign policy.

DIXIE'S DEEDS: Strong-willed Dr.

KEVIN P. PHILLIPS—

Morton, Bush, Others '20th Century Whigs'

WASHINGTON (KFS) — You hear kinder words about the Ford administration some conservative quarters these days. But for those who see evidence of rekindling conservative fidelity in administration foreign policy, energy and budget rhetoric, I can only suggest a parallel in the way Gertrude Stein once described Oakland, Calif. The problem with the city, she said, is that "there's no here there."

If the administration now believes it useful to nominate conservative former Wyoming Gov. Stanley Hathaway for secretary of the Interior, not so long ago they fought it clever to elevate Charles Gable and Nelson Rockefeller. They have no inhibitory ideology one way or the other.

Much the same problem presented itself during the Nixon administration, which roughly zig-zagged like a World War II fleet in submarine-infested waters. "We don't want to be locked into any particular philosophy or constituency," John Erlichman said back in 1970-71 and the Ford people have been saying the same thing.

Moreover, it's extraordinary how many of the same people still are involved. Five years ago, I wrote a column criticizing Nixon for insulating himself from Middle America with advisors like Donald Rumsfeld, George Bush, Rogers Morton and Clark MacGregor — political peas from the same upper-middle-class suburban pod. All of these men, I argued, were former Republican congressmen, three of them from prosperous suburban districts. And they are all non-ideological middle-the-road Ivy Leaguers . . . None of them have any commitment worth mentioning to Farm Belt, Southern or blue-collar America (or, indeed, to much of anything)."

Five years ago, these people were important, but still subordinate to Richard Nixon's Haldeman-Erlichman palace guard. Today, Donald Rumsfeld is Gerald Ford's chief of staff and Rogers Morton has been slated as Commerce secretary and 1976 campaign fundraiser and strategist. George Bush, our U.S. envoy to China, was considered for vice president last August. In social and cultural terms, yesterday's White House insulation has become today's essence!

To sum up their politics (and Gerald Ford's) in a quick phrase, these people are the Whigs of the Twentieth Century. They may talk about adding a few blacks and women to the thinning, depleted ranks of the Grand Old Party, but what they are really trying to do — like the Whigs of the 1850s — is keep an exhausted coalition alive. In their hearts, they don't want a "New Majority" coalition in which they lose control to the New South Boston-Alabama-Idaho "populist conservative" element.

Consequently, I don't believe that there is any way that they will pursue an ideological new coalition-oriented politics. Instead, like the Whigs of the 1850s, they will try to avoid widening cultural and ideological chasms, minimizing ideology except for zig-zag tactics dedicated to keeping their element in power for as long as possible. (And like the circa 1852-54 Whigs, their numbers are melting away.)

There is even a certain geographical logic. In the 1850s, the last Whig strongholds were states like Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky where politicians feared the emerging North-South polarization because it threatened to tear the border states apart. Today's "border" (and focus of Ford GOP Whiggery) is the Great Lakes region lying betwixt and between the Liberal Establishment of the Northeast and the insurgent "conservative populism" of the South and West.

To some conservatives, such Whiggism is indeed the essence of conservatism — genteel compromise. But for those of us who want a serious politics of new issues, new cleavages and new majorities, the Ford administration must be viewed with great historical and cultural skepticism. Almost by definition, Whiggery is a politics without a long-range future.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MON., APRIL 28, 1975-13A

Israeli Leader Visiting France

By The Associated Press
Foreign Minister Yigal Allon today began the first visit to France by an Israeli cabinet minister in eight years in an attempt to ease the French government's anti-Israeli policy.

"I hope my visit will write an additional page in the history of Israeli-French relations which have been very good in the past, but strained since 1967. This was not Israel's fault, but by French initiative," Allon said in a departure statement to newsmen.

France was Israel's main arms supplier until the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, when President Charles de Gaulle swung French policy behind the Arabs and cut off shipments to Israel.

Allon said the visit to Israel last November by French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues had brought "a slight shift of improvement" in relations, but he warned against expecting too much from his own trip.

The Israeli government announced Sunday that it was going to review its policies toward an Arab-Israeli peace agreement, and that was taken as an indication it might be considering new peace proposals to the Arabs. There is mounting U.S. pressure on Israel for a new peace initiative, and Allon met last week in Washington with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Meanwhile, Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy criticized the Soviet Union for its continuing reluctance to resume military aid to Egypt. Fahmy, who last week returned from a visit to Moscow, told the Cairo magazine Rose al Youssef.

The magazine said Fahmy did persuade the Soviets to resume economic aid to Egypt and the two countries will sign an agreement covering this after next week's visit to Moscow by Egypt's industry minister.

The West Point Museum has one of the largest known flag collections. The Israeli government announced Sunday that it was going to review its policies toward an Arab-Israeli peace agreement, and that was taken as an indication it might be considering new peace proposals to the Arabs.

Permian Civic Ballet company dancers and guest artists provided an altogether satisfactory conclusion—a fine coda, if you please—to the current ballet season in Midland with the traditional Spring Gala in Lee High auditorium Saturday night.

Susan Ford Joins Rocking Marathon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Susan Ford joined 17 Georgetown University students in a rocking chair marathon over the weekend to raise money for children of servicemen missing or killed in action.

The President's 17-year-old daughter forgot to rock as photographers crowded around to take pictures, but Washington Redskins running back Larry Brown rescued her by pushing her rocker into motion.

Joining the rockathon throughout the day Sunday were Art Buchwald, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Lynda Johnson Robb and several members of Congress. The cast of the Broadway musical "Grease" also rocked — and rolled — providing dancing entertainment.

Hope's Son's Home Destroyed By Fire

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Anthony J. Hope, 34-year-old son of comedian Bob Hope, suffered slight injuries when fire struck his exclusive seaside home here. A fire department spokesman said Hope, an attorney and film producer, was alone when the fire broke out Sunday.

It wasn't an overwhelmingly large audience—certainly not as large as Permian Civic Ballet might have hoped for—but it was unusually responsive, and definitely appreciative, as ballet audiences tend to be.

As far as the season is concerned, Permian Civic concluded the year in better shape financially than it had begun it—and if that's not a sign of success for a performing arts group, what is?

So every happy indication is that Permian Civic Ballet will be back at the same stand next season.

Dipping into repertoire, Permian Civic offered the second act of the classic "Swan Lake," which it had presented with success last spring. It was just as successful this time, although at the outset it seemed that some of the ensemble work might not be up to that in last year's presentation. Difficulties seemed to resolve themselves as the act progressed, however, and the work

Ford-Brezhnev Meet Said Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans for a meeting between President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev "are proceeding quite normally," according to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. He said Saturday night that no date had been set for the meeting, but The New York Times said it had been postponed from late June or early July until September because of a conflict with a 35-nation summit meeting concluding the European security conference in July.

was its usual mesmerizing blend of movement with the hauntingly beautiful Tchaikovsky score.

Permian Civic's artistic adviser, Bill Martin-Viscount, and Anne Burton of the Atlanta Civic Ballet were Prince Siegfried and the Swan Queen and, as expected, provided some fine moments in their solo and duo work. Miss Burton's pas de deux was exceedingly well done.

Another guest, Mark Borchelt from the Memphis Civic Ballet, was in the role of the sorcerer. The big swans were danced well by Julie Hall and Jeanne King, and performing with expertise as the Cynets, or little swans, were Cheryl Jes, Sandra Huxman, Keilke Shaw and Teresa Turner.

Permian dancers Mary Motter and Cheryl Jones, joined by Borchelt, provided the pas de trois from the first act of "Swan Lake," drawing very favorable response from the audience.

The showpiece this year was not the short but spectacular "Spring Waters" astounding audiences in several past Spring Gala productions, but the "Esmeralda" pas de deux, with music by Drigo and choreography by Yermolayev. Granted, it is a bravura work in much the same way that "Spring Waters" is, but at the same time it is longer, less abrupt and far better for showcasing balletic technique. "Esmeralda" is nevertheless adequately spectacular, and the featured dancers, Martin-Viscount and Miss Burton, were superbly skilled in their movements and brought great artistry to the piece. The costumes were visually a delight. The final work of the evening, "Etudes," was one which might have been expected to draw least response from the audience but this was not the case: It proved one of the favorites of the crowd. "Etudes" is a simple work, staged without sets and with dancers in simple black rehearsal garb. The work shows (and very effectively, at that) the rigorous training which a student of ballet must undergo from earliest training until the time he or she has mastered the complexities. It is quite convincing, really, and the Knudage Riisager score, based on the etudes of Czerny, contributes importantly to the impact of the piece.

In its presentation here, the work utilized junior dancers of the Permian company in segments showing students in warmup exercises at the barre, while older members of the company performed in the virtuoso segments.

Miss Motter and Borchelt were featured in a splendid adagio and the pair, joined by

Cost Of Farm Bill Estimated To Be Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm prices of wheat and corn are expected to continue dropping through 1977, thus triggering billions of dollars in federal farm subsidies under the farm bill now before President Ford, according to an analysis prepared for the White House.

The study was drafted last week by the Agriculture Department to gauge the impact of the one-year farm bill approved by Congress in the face of a veto threat by Ford. This bill calls for increases in government price supports for major grain crops, cotton and dairy products.

Gandhi Says Ford Will Visit India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi says President Ford plans to visit India this fall despite speculation that the trip might be canceled because of India's criticism of the lifting of the U.S. embargo on arms shipments to Pakistan.

"We are told he will be coming and we have heard nothing to the contrary," she said Sunday before leaving for Kingston, Jamaica, for a commonwealth prime ministers' conference this week.

Sheinwold On Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Be Prepared For The Worst

Bridge players know that suits often break badly, finesses go sour, unexpected ruffs defeat seemingly unbeatable contracts. In short, the true bridge player must always reckon with the possibility that Fate has dealt him a kick in the pants.

Should Underlead
After drawing one round of trumps with the ace, South should lead a low trump instead of the king. If both opponents follow suit, South can regain the lead and draw the last trump with his king. This is just as good as leading the king of trumps first.

If South underleads a trump, West steps up with the jack of trumps but cannot afford to lead a third trump.
South sees the bad trump break and switches to diamonds before touching any more trumps. West can get two trumps, a heart and a diamond, but nothing else. South is down only one instead of four.
Even in the most prosperous times it pays to save 300 points when you can.

Military Officials Investigate Crash Near Fort Stockton
FORT STOCKTON (AP) — Military authorities are investigating the crash of an Army U-21 Mohawk aircraft which killed five Ft. Hood soldiers on their way back to the base following training maneuvers.

The plane plunged to the ground Saturday evening one-half mile east of the Fort Stockton airport. It was en route to Ft. Hood from El Paso, where the soldiers had participated in Operation Galant Shield.

The dead were identified as Lt. Col. Alton R. Kieschnick, 43, a chaplain, survived by a son, Gregory Kieschnick of Austin; CWO Larry L. Kniep, 41, survived by his widow, Marie, of Ft. Hood; CWO Richard Littell, 25, survived by his father, William L. Littell of New Orleans, La.; M.Sgt. Jackie D. Freeman, 44, survived by his widow, Aiko, of Ft. Hood; and Spec. 4 Norman L. Banks, 23, survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Banks of England, Ark.

The twin-engine aircraft apparently lost power in the left engine, rolled upside down and crashed, hitting a parked Army tractor-trailer truck. Witnesses said a ball of flames shot 100 feet upward. The wreckage was scattered over a square mile area.

Shriver's Arm Easy To Twist

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
 WASHINGTON (AP) — R. Sargent Shriver, the Kennedy in-law who was the 1972 Democratic vice-presidential nominee, says some significant high-level political support "would be extremely persuasive" in convincing him to seek the presidency next year.

But Shriver conceded in an interview here that, except for a statement of possible support from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, "I haven't had any parade of officials coming in here and telephoning me to say,

"Why don't you consider running?" Shriver said he gets five or 10 letters a day asking him to run, that some friends and law associates think he should run and that a lot of people who worked for him when he ran the Peace Corps and the antipoverty program would be willing to help.

"But there's a huge step between that and being a candidate," said the 59-year-old brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and the late John F. and Robert F. Kennedy.

"If there was any reason to believe that significant practical down-to-earth people in the world of politics, if there was any reason to believe they really wanted me to run, then that would certainly cause me to give it the utmost consideration," Shriver said.

"But in fact, the reality is that there is no indication that's true," he added. "Unless people who are experienced and competent ask you to do it, I just think it's unlikely that anything would happen."

Covering a wide range of political topics during the hour-long interview in his Washington law office, Shriver also —He thinks the Democratic party "is in grave difficulties, first of all in getting a candidate who will unify the party and secondly a candidate who's got a program that can unify the country."

—He sees "no set of circumstances that could persuade" Kennedy to run at the present time but that, if there is pressure to draft him at the convention, "the circumstances at that time are really going to be tremendously influential in what Sen. Kennedy does or does not do."

—President Ford will be hard to beat in 1976 because, in addition to the problems being faced by the Democrats, "anybody sitting in the White House starts out with 40 per cent of the vote."

Shriver said: "I don't think any of the candidates who are now contesting" for the presidency "appear to be saying anything or doing anything that touches the intelligence or the spirit or the emotions of Americans."

Rutz Named Outstanding Toastmaster

Warren Rutz, a member of Midland's Pop-Up Club, Saturday night was named outstanding toastmaster of Area III of District 44.

In the speech competition, Andy Wilson of Big Spring won first place and Jeri Carson of the Tall Town Club here was runner-up.

George Horst of Tall Town won the tall tales competition, and the Pop-Up Club was the winner of the membership award for 1974 and also named the top club of Area III.

Wilson and Horst will represent Area II at the District 44 contest at Lubbock May 17.

The Saturday night competition was held in St. Nicholas Episcopal Church.

Moderate Portuguese Parties Expected To Move Cautiously

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The two moderate parties that won last week's election are moving slowly and cautiously despite their massive victory.

The Communist party, which ran a poor third with less than 13 per cent of the vote, warned the first-place Socialists that an alliance with the "bourgeois" Popular Democratic party, which ran second, would put them in conflict with the radical military officers who dominate the ruling Revolutionary Council.

Socialist party chief Mario Soares, whose forces took more than 37 per cent of the vote in the election Friday for a constitutional assembly, said his party would join forces only with parties of the left. But he said it would not make "an exclusive alliance with the Portuguese Communist party."

Soares also said the Popular Democrats, a centrist party who got 26 per cent of the vote, should remain in the provisional government.

The six major parties agreed before the election to a draft constitution providing for four more years of military rule. But officials of both the Socialist and Popular Democratic parties said they felt the outcome of the election promised a genuine parliamentary democracy, although it would be some time arriving.

The radical officers running the country gave every advantage to the Communist party in the belief that the people were in favor of a "revolutionary process." They were stunned when the people, voting in record numbers, repudiated their policies and humiliated the Communists.

"We, who have spoken in the name of the people, must now listen to what the people have said," said a moderate member of the military leadership. "But some of my colleagues on the left will have to be convinced," he added.

The leader of the military's dominant radical faction, Premier Vasco Gonçalves, said the election result would have no "decisive" effect on the "revolutionary process" he has been directing. However, civilian politicians said Gonçalves' position had been fatally weakened, and they forecast that he would be replaced within a month.

Bad Weather Forces Postponement Of Meet

AUSTIN (AP) — Bad weather and other meetings prevented a Senate committee from getting enough members together today to hear a measure to publicize Texas' first proposed new constitution in nearly 100 years.

About six months remain before Texans will vote on the proposed charter Nov. 4.

Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, is sponsoring a proposal to spend $511,350 to tell the voters what is in the document approved by the legislature earlier this session.

His proposal includes a tabloid in English and Spanish which would be distributed by mail at least 30 days before the election.

Sihanouk's Mother Dies At Peking

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Queen Kossamak of Cambodia, 71, mother of Prince Norodom Sihanouk, died of cancer Sunday in Peking, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported from the Chinese capital.

Queen Kossamak remained in Cambodia after the 1970 coup which ousted her son but left in 1973 for China.

Da Nang Children Back In School

Agence France-Presse

HANOI — Tens of thousands of children went back to school in some 30 public and private schools in Da Nang, second city of South Vietnam, five days ago, the North Vietnamese News Agency reported here today.

The agency quoted a correspondent from Gai Phong, the news agency of the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam, as saying that on April 23 "the entire city of Da Nang was sparkling white with the new clothes of crowds of children going joyously to school."

Searchers Hope Two Still Alive

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — When their plane hit the choppy water of Lake Ponchartrain Wednesday night, the six members of the Del Real family paired off in hopes of floating to safety, the only known survivor has told relatives.

Rescuers continued their search across the 24-mile-wide lake and a swamp on the north shore today on the theory that Dr. Ricardo Del Real and his 5-year-old daughter Lisa managed to float and swim ashore.

Nine-year-old Ricardo Jr. was pulled from the lake Friday night, delirious after 40 hours in the water.

The bodies of his mother, Roselyn, 35, sister Carmen, 12, and brother Anthony, 4, were found in the same area.

Thomas Ward of Savannah, Ga., a brother-in-law of Mrs. Del Real, said young Ricardo told him that "the plane floated for a while, and the parents paired them off, and the father told him to swim and then to float on his back."

Roy Katz, a cousin, said after talking to Ricardo that Dr. Del Real instructed the children to trap air in their clothing to help them float. Katz said he believes that Ricardo and Carmen were alive together for at least a day after the crash.

"We're now going on the hard and fast belief that Dr. Del Real did make it ashore somehow," a Coast Guard spokesman said Sunday. "After all, he did teach his son to float and stay alive — and if he can teach his son, he can do it himself."

Ricardo was in a hospital Sunday, recuperating from exposure, dehydration and exhaustion, aware that his mother and sister were dead and his father missing, the Coast Guard spokesman said.

"It's looking pretty dim now," he said. "Ricardo is still clinging to hope, though. And frankly, we are too."

Female Escapes From Oklahoma Prison Captured

AMARILLO (AP) — Two women escapees from the Oklahoma State Prison were jailed on kidnaping charges after they were arrested at the end of a high speed chase east of this Panhandle city.

Gloria Robinson, 27, of Oklahoma City, and Dora Jean Brown, 19, of New York City, were arrested about 50 miles east of Amarillo in Carson County early Sunday morning, police said.

Authorities said they escaped Friday from the Oklahoma prison at McAlester. Amarillo police said they kidnaped an Amarillo man at gunpoint Saturday night, but the man escaped and alerted police.

The two women were taken before Carson County Judge Clarence Williams and charged with kidnaping. He set bond at $50,000 for each woman.

Stock Market Trading Mixed After Early Rally Falters

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed and hesitant today after an early rally attempt faded. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 3 points in the early going, was down 3.45 at 808.35 by noon. But gainers held on to a narrow lead over losers in the over-all count at the New York Stock Exchange.

One evident dampening influence on the market was the government's report this morning that its index of leading economic indicators dropped in March after an upswing the month before. The index is designed to detect likely future trends in the economy, and thus the March figure was evidently a disappointment to the investors looking for signs of a developing economic recovery.

Commonwealth Oil refining was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 1/4 at 11%. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index managed a .26 gain to 84.44.

The NYSE's composite index, by contrast, was off .21 at 45.74.

Brokers also reported some caution on the interest rate outlook, with more than $1 billion in new proposed borrowing plans by corporations looming over the bond market in addition to the Treasury's continuing moves to finance the federal budget deficit.

Champion Home Builders rose 1/4 to 4 and Anixter Brothers slipped 1/4 to 8 3/4 among the volume leaders on the Amex.

Midland Youth Dies At Houston

Cody Lee Pinkerton, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Pinkerton of Midland, died in a Houston hospital Saturday.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Stanton Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, with interment at 4:30 p.m. in the Dunn Cemetery at Dunn.

Midland arrangements were directed by the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel.

The youth was born Aug. 9, 1969, at Lubbock.

A sister, Sherie Kay Pinkerton of the home, also survives.

The family requests memorials be made to the Leukemia Society of America, South-Central Texas Chapter.

Economic Indicators Take Chilling March Downturn

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government index designed to anticipate future trends in the economy turned down by five-tenths of one per cent in March, reversing a February increase, the Commerce Department said today.

The drop was more moderate than the 14 per cent decline over the six months before February, but it chilled any hopes prompted by February's increase of six-tenths of one per cent. The latest February figure represented a downward revision of a one per cent climb originally reported.

The latest figures indicated the economy is still deteriorating, although less rapidly. At the same time, there was no firm signal of a recovery expected by administration economists this summer or fall.

In past recessions, the figures, called the index of leading indicators, have anticipated recovery by as much as six months or moved in step with recovery.

But the index gave off misleading signals at the start of the current recession because of its tendency to be distorted by inflation. Initial reports of monthly trends are sometimes subject to substantial later adjustment, as well.

Exerting a downward pressure on the index were a shorter workweek for laborers, decreased orders for the long-lived durable goods which are the backbone of manufacturing, a drop in the number of building permits issued, a cutback in borrowing by consumers and a drop in the price of goods in terms of the cost of labor needed to produce them.

These downward pressures overcame upward pressures which came from a lower number of new claims for unemployment insurance, a bigger volume of business spending on factories and equipment, higher prices on the stock market and higher prices for materials used in manufacturing.

Davis Child, 3, Dies; Rites Slated

Sandra Rene Davis, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Davis of Belton, died Saturday in Belton. She was the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Clifton and Mrs. Frances Hart, all of Midland.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Newmie W. Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Frank Johnson, pastor of Kewview Heights Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

THE TEXAS PERSUADER

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY
UP TO $300
CASH BACK
FROM CHRYSLER CORPORATION.

Everything about Texas is BIG! And Chrysler Corporation wants to be BIG in Texas. That's why we're introducing the Texas Persuader. Here's how the Texas Persuader works. You make your best deal with your dealer and then Chrysler Corporation will give you...

$300 CASH BACK

when you lease or buy a new 1975 Plymouth Gran Fury, Dodge Monaco, Chrysler Newport, New Yorker or Imperial.

$200 CASH BACK

when you buy or lease a new 1975 Dodge Dart, Plymouth Duster or Valiant.

$200 CASH BACK

when you buy or lease a new 1975 Plymouth Fury or Dodge Coronet.

And $200 CASH BACK

when you buy or lease a new 1975 Dodge Pickup Truck, Sportsman or Ramcharger and Plymouth Voyager and Trail Duster.

AND FOR THE CLINCHER!

The Texas Persuader is just one good reason to buy a new Chrysler Corporation car or truck. Your Dodge and Chrysler-Plymouth dealer can show you a whole lot more. Like a great selection of cars in every size and style, all with advanced engineering features. And for the real "Clincher," an unlimited mileage warranty for the first 12 months of ownership. In a big state like Texas, that's important. All you take care of are normal maintenance items, the "Clincher" covers the rest. See your dealer right away, but be prepared to be persuaded!

For the first 12 months of use, any Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer will fix, without charge for parts or labor, any part of our 1975 passenger cars we supply (except tires)* which proves defective in normal use, regardless of mileage. Of course, the owner is responsible for normal maintenance like changing filters and wiper blades.

*Tires are covered by their own manufacturer.
