Lions Have Good Meeting at Noon Luncheon Monday

Two Regular Members Received—
Two Teachers Made Honorary Members

Lions luncheon Monday was characterized by the word "extra good," as applying to the program, attendance of members and visitors, and the luncheon served by the Methodist ladies. The meeting was full of pep and enthusiasm. Possibly the addition of one new member and one transfer member had something to do with the prevailing condition.

Twenty-nine Lions answered roll call, with the following visitors: Robert Hughes and C. D. Proffitt, San Aneglo; W. C. Warren, John L. Nisbet and William Fields, jr. New members were W. C. Warren, who transfers from Junction, and Wm. Fields, jr.

The program, which was pronounced of unusual merit, consisted of a vocal duet by Misses Petmecky and Joiner, with Miss Francis at the piano; and a saxophone solo by Troy White.

During an intermission in the program Lion W. E. Caldwell proposed that Misses Petmecky and Joiner be elected honorary members of the club, which was carried by unanimous consent.

Lion Covey called attention to the pending clash between Sonora and Junction grid teams here on next Saturday (tomorrow) at 3:00 o'clock at the high school grounds. Lion Neal took occasion to commend the Sonora boys for the manner in which they held Kerrville to

Warren Becomes Cameron Manager

Junction Man Replaces Snodgrass Who Goes to Angelo

W. C. Warren, for the last nine months manager of the Junction yard of Wm. Cameron & Co., Inc., this week became manager of the Sonora yard, replacing Frank Snodgrass.

Mr. Snodgrass, with his family, will move about October 1 to San Angelo, where Mr. Snodgrass will be connected with the company's yard.

Mr. Warren attended the Sonora Lions luncheon Monday and transferred his membership from the Junction club to the local club.

Personals

Izzy Leaman spent the week-end in San Angelo.

George Allison was a Sonora visitor Wednesday.

Tom Bond was in town from the ranch on Wednesday.

Pete Garvin was a business visitor in San Angelo Tuesday.

Mrs. Birdie Rutledge spent Tuesday in San Angelo on business.

Mrs. Fred Simmons was in town from the ranch Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wardlaw were in town from the ranch Thursday.

W. D. Reddock, of Cherokee, is visiting his son, C. W. Reddock, here.

Frank Sweden, a Rocksprings ranchman, was in Sonora Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stuart and little son, Lynn, were in town from the ranch Tuesday.

The Rev. J. O. McMillon made a business trip to Austin Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Earwood were in town from the ranch Monday and Monday night.

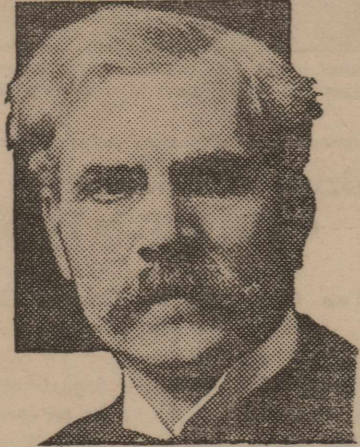

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Blanton and their daughter, Mary Sue, spent Saturday in San Angelo.

The Misses Margaret Barton and Marie Harrison spent Saturday in Eldorado, visiting friends.

Miss Gertrude Babcock left Saturday for Denton, where she entered the College of Industrial Arts.

J. D. Westbrook left Tuesday night for Lockney on a business trip, and will be gone several days.

Deserts Old Bosses

Ramsay MacDonald, English prime minister who has formed a new cabinet from all the big parties, has been read out of the Labor Party which made him great.

TOM DAVIS GETS 13 BIRDS IN ONE SHOT

Tom Davis broke records for this season recently when he made a record kill of doves.

Mr. Davis shot once and killed 13 birds. The doves were drinking at a water-hole.

Tales of single-shot bags of thirty or more birds are told in Sonora of days before a bag limit of 15 birds was set, but Mr. Davis' shot was one of the luckiest in recent years.

R. A. Steen Takes Over Sonora Cafe

Former Druggist Buys Fixtures and Business

R. A. Steen this week purchased the fixtures and business of the Sonora Cafe from G. P. Hill, J. M. Puckett and J. D. Eaton.

Mr. Steen, formerly a druggist in Sonora, spent the major portion of the week in cleaning up the building, and had the walls repainted on the inside. He opened for business this morning, in a completely new location.

Mr. Steen will manage the business personally.

The San Angelo-Del Rio bus line will still maintain its station in the cafe.

Frank Knapton was in charge of the painting.

Sonora Placed in Western Division

Football Title of District to Be Decided in Play-off

Sonora high school will be a member of the western division of District 12 of the Texas Inter-scholastic League, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the district held in Mason Saturday. R. S. Covey, superintendent of the Sonora schools, attended the meeting and was named as committeeman from the western division.

Other teams falling in this group are Eldorado, Ozona, Rocksprings, Junction and Menard. The eastern group will be composed of Mason, Fredericksburg, Llano, Burnet, Bertram, London and Marble Falls.

Divisional titles will be decided according to present schedule, in both divisions by the 15th of November, with a game the following week between the champions to determine the winner of the district flag. The district title winners will then play a bi-district game with the winner in an adjoining district, likely number 11. San Saba and Lampasas in the eastern division and Coleman and Winters in the Western end, are expected to be the strongest contenders for honors in that district.

The executive committee chosen Saturday, of which Mr. Covey is a member, and which is headed by C. W. Feuge, Fredericksburg school chief, will have jurisdiction in all matters in the district.

Mrs. Ira Shurley and her son, J. T., and daughter, Guyon, accompanied by Mrs. Shurley's mother, Mrs. J. M. Choate, of Big Spring, spent Sunday at the Dee Gibbs ranch, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dee Gibbs and their son, Leonard.

Sonora and Kerrville Tie in Hardfought Grid Battle

Broncs Working to Overcome Injuries

Archer Out for Junction Game—
Spirit Good, Though

With co-captain G. W. Archer on the sidelines this week suffering from a leg injury sustained in the Saturday game with the Tivy Reserves from Kerrville, Coach A. L. Smith has had a busy week re-shaping his backfield. Fields, Archer's understudy at the quarterback berth, is working hard to practise this week.

In addition to Archer, Smith is nursing Pharis, a tackle who has a bad knee, and Robertson, who has been doing good work at guard. Robertson is troubled with an ankle.

Archer's left leg was hurt in the Saturday game, and as yet the seriousness of the injury has not been determined. It was at first thought that a bone had been cracked, but his rapid recovery tends to disprove that.

The boys were sent through a stiff work-out every afternoon this week, with a scrimmage on Tuesday. Following the scrimmage Tuesday a number of the boys practised goal kicking. Jesse Green Barton, George Ory, Ikey Krings and Herbert Fields took turns at booting the ball, with Barton and Ory showing particularly good form.

One member was lost to the team with the withdrawal from school of French, who had been showing good form at guard.

Although somewhat handicapped by injuries the Broncs are showing plenty of fight in practise and will enter the Saturday game with Junction fighting hard.

JUNCTION TEAM WORKS HARD FOR SONORA GAME

The Junction Eagles, under Coach Earl Bowers, are working hard for the game with Sonora here on September 26, according to a statement in the Junction Eagle.

Though they suffered a humiliating defeat at the hands of the Del Rio team last week, the Junction boys are not discouraged, and are whipping into shape for the game with Sonora.

August Luedecke Dies in Eldorado

Former Schleicher Sheriff Succumbs Ater Illness

August F. Luedecke, 55, for 14 years sheriff of Schleicher county, died Sunday Morning at 7:07 o'clock at his home in Eldorado, where he had lived with his mother. Recently Mr. Luedecke had served as Tom Green county jailer, but resigned about four months ago due to ill health.

During his long career as a peace officer, Mr. Luedecke gained an enviable reputation as a law enforcer and gentleman. He was active in county and civic affairs during his life. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and of the Masonic Lodge.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Eldorado Baptist Church at 3:30 o'clock. The Rev. Guy Davis, San Angelo, and Dr. W. B. Gray, pastor of the Eldorado Presbyterian Church, conducted the services. The burial service was in charge of the Masonic Lodge.

Surviving Mr. Luedecke are his mother, three brothers and two sisters. The brothers are W. J. and J. H. of Eldorado and Sam of Fort Davis; the sisters: Mrs. Clara Boyle of Dalhart and Mrs. Eva Benson of Stamford.

Miss Mae Cauthorn, accompanied by Miss Ada Word, of Ozona, left Sunday for Waco, where the two girls will attend Baylor University. They went part of the way with the group of A. & M. boys taken to College Station by E. E. Sawyer and Roy Aldwell.

Kring and Hill Star for Broncos—Game Crowd Good

Before a good sized crowd of Sonora football fans the Sonora eleven fought a heavier Kerrville high school team to a tie here Saturday afternoon. Neither side made a serious scoring threat. Kerrville was never inside the Sonora 20 yard line, while the Sonora boys came no nearer their opponents' goal than the 12 yard line.

Kring played a powerful game for the Bronchos, getting through the opposing line for a number of substantial gains. Wes Hill, star end, showed up well on the defense, breaking through the Kerrville line to spill the opposing ball carrier for a big loss on two different occasions. Friess played a good game in the Sonora backfield, making a number of nice gains. Ory and Archer, the other backs, did good work in blocking and on the defense.

Wright, diminutive halfback for the Kerrville team did virtually all of the ball carrying for his team. He made a number of nice runs during the game and was particularly adept at returning punts, getting nearly every kick back for 5 or 10 yards.

Kring showed up well in every phase of the game, and in addition to his powerful line plunging intercepted one Kerrville pass for a gain of ten yards.

With a strong south wind, both teams enjoyed periods of advantage in kicking and passing.

Penalties were rather frequent, with the Kerrville team drawing most of them. A number of five-yard penalties were assessed both teams for offside plays. Kerrville was given two 15 yard penalties, one for holding and the other for tackling Archer, Sonora safety, after he had signalled for a fair catch of a punt.

Ory got off a number of good kicks for the Bronchos, some of

Robert Halbert Sells 600 Lambs

Plainview Feeder Pays 4 Cents; Lambs Weight 68 Pounds

Robert Halbert sold 600 lambs this week to W. C. Cox, Plainview man who plans to feed the lambs. The price was reported at 4 cents a pound, with the lambs weighing out at a 68 pound average.

The lambs were shipped to Plainview Tuesday in two cars.

Other shipments were three cars of cattle shipped at different times during the last week by Ed Roe, who bought them from local ranchmen and shipped them to the Fort Worth market.

Tennis Club Is Organized Here

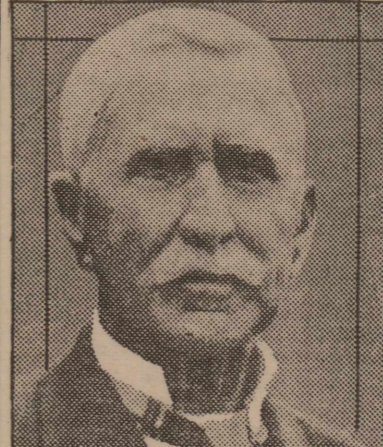

Miss Allison to Coach High School Group

A tennis club was organized Tuesday at the high school, with Miss Johnnie Allison named as coach, and four boys and nine girls coming out the first day. Tuesday and Wednesday were spent by the club in cleaning the tennis courts and putting up nets preparatory to practise.

Sonora was represented last spring at the interscholastic meet at San Angelo and tennis players from here reached the semi-finals. It is the goal of the present club to have winners in the meet next spring and to that end the members plan to practise every day this winter that the weather will permit. Officers of the club have not yet been elected.

Mrs. H. C. Cooper had as her guests last week her nephew, Chayes Heffnain, and Mrs. Heffnain, of Kerrville.

Forming New Party

"Coin" Harvey was one of the national political giants of thirty years ago. He nearly elected Bryan and now, at 84, is forming a new party.

FIRE-FIGHTERS HERE TURN DUST FIGHTERS

Citizens of Sonora returning to town about eleven o'clock Monday night were startled at sight of the fire boys, headed by fire marshal Bud Smith, dragging the city fire hose along a water-soaked street in the business district.

Anxious inquiries revealed the fact that the local fire-fighters were not, as presumed, winding up a fire run, but were contributing their efforts to the dust fight which has been waged vociferously and otherwise by housewives and merchants all week, by settling the dust with a generous sprinkling.

W. J. Fields, Jr. Is In Dairy Business

Has 10 Cows for Operation of Plant Here

W. J. Fields, jr., this week announced that he has entered the dairy business in Sonora and will furnish milk and milk products. Delivery has already been started.

The new plant will begin operations with the cows, increasing the size of the herd as business justifies. The cows will be run in the Fields' pastures, just south of Sonora.

Mr. Fields was voted a member of the Lions club Monday.

DRAMATIC CLUB IS WORKING ON COMEDY

The Thirteen Dramatic Club held a combination business, social and rehearsal meet at the school building Monday evening. Plans for publicity for "Laff That Off," the play which will be given October 9th by the club, were discussed, advertising copy being inspected. All members who were in town were present, including Miss Lena V. Stokes, who returned from San Antonio Monday. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gilmore served refreshments of sandwiches and coffee.

Most of the evening was spent in working on the play, with club members who are not members of the cast acting as audience. Excellent progress is being made on the amusing comedy. Two changes in cast were announced as follows: Bill Gilmore will replace Roy Baker in the part of Tony, the ice-man, and Hazel Edwards will replace Mrs. Roy Baker in the part of Tubby Valentine.

Faculty Having Outing

Members of the school faculty will enjoy an outing at the Joseph Vander Stucken ranch this evening. They will leave shortly after the close of school and have a barbecue supper at the ranch.

Five Boys to A. & M.

E. E. Sawyer and Roy Aldwell took two carloads of boys to enter the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas at College Station, Sunday. Boys in the party were Pat Cooper, Lea Roy Aldwell, John Hull, Edwin Sawyer and Sam Logan. The Sonora group was joined by two boys in San Angelo who accompanied them to College Station where they, too, entered college.

Mohair Will Be Held Two Weeks Seeking Disposal

Committee Working to Sell Entire Pool Before Next Warehouse Meet in Kerrville

The seven millions pounds of mohair on hand in the pooled storage of the Texas Wool and Mohair Warehouse association will remain in the pool until October 3, in order that time may be given to arrange a satisfactory sale for the holding. The warehouse men, meeting in Kerrville last Saturday, heard a favorable report from Charles Schreiner, Kerrville, C. C. Belcher, Del Rio, and Fred Horner, Uvalde, who represented the association in conferring with the Federal Farm Board and with mills in the east.

The committee's report was entirely favorable. It was promised the support of the Farm Board and was given encouragement by mill interests.

The original penalty of one cent a pound for withdrawal was hiked to five cents for the next two weeks. C. H. Evans, manager of the Sonora warehouse, was the author of the original proposal to attach a penalty for selling out.

A third meeting of the association will be held in Kerrville Saturday, Oct. 3, to hear the results of the effort to sell the crop. In case it has not been sold the pool will be dissolved and the penalty removed.

The pooling is designed to increase the price of both types of mohair to ten cents above current market prices.

HUMBLE WAREHOUSE IS ENTERED; NOTHING GONE

The warehouse of the Sonora wholesale agency of the Humble Oil Co., of which O. A. Carr of San Angelo is agent, was entered sometime during the week-end and a desk drawer removed from the desk, though nothing was missed.

Discovery was not made until Monday morning when the place was opened. The burglary occurred either Saturday night or Sunday. In the opinion of J. E. Grimland, who made fingerprints for the sheriff's department, it occurred Sunday night.

Sheriff B. W. Hutherson was notified immediately Monday morning, and officers in his department have been working on the case, though no arrests have been made.

Local Briefs

Visiting in San Antonio
Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McCormell, jr., of the Humble B. Station, accompanied by Mrs. McCormell's mother, Mrs. Josie McDonald, are spending the week-end in San Antonio, having left Thursday morning.

Eldorado and Rankin Tie
Eldorado and Rankin high school football teams fought to a 6-6 tie in Eldorado Saturday afternoon. Sonora plays two games with Eldorado this season, one there and one here.

Bring Back Nice Catch

R. E. Steen and S. R. Hull returned Sunday night from a fishing trip in Mexico, 200 miles north of Santa Fe, in the Chama and Brazos Rivers, bringing with them about fifty fish. They travelled over 1,700 miles on the trip, and report a splendid time. Mr. Steen stated that he was slightly affected by the high altitude, but to no great degree.

Goes Fishing Again

R. A. Steen seems to have gotten the fishing bug since his trip to New Mexico. No sooner had he returned from a successful fishing trip on the Brazos and Chama Rivers and treated his friends to the catch, Wednesday morning, alone he went to the Llano River and returned at noon with a ten-pound string of fine bass, several cat, and a few perch, all pulled in within a very short period.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The pastor has misplaced a book, "My Church," by J. B. Moody. Anyone who has the book or knows where it is, will do the pastor a favor to tell him. It may be that I have let someone have the book to read and have forgotten who has it.

Last Sunday our Sunday school increased over the Sunday before, and we are hoping that it will still increase next Sunday. You help us to make it do so.

Last Sunday night we organized a B. Y. P. U. with a large beginning. I am hoping that by next Sunday night we may have several new members. Some feel that just because they are too old. Well, you just come on, we won't ask for your age.

Our Sunday school at 10, and preaching at 11 and 8. We have a seat for you.

THIS WEEK

Special to The News.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—Senator William E. Borah's name will come before the Republican National Convention next summer as a candidate to succeed President Hoover, judging by recent indications. The latest of these is the announcement that a "Borah-for-President" club has been formed by a group of Virginians, the first of its kind in the impending campaign.

Senator Borah was officially notified of the formation of the club at his home in Boise, Idaho, and greeted the news with a smiling countenance and the remark that "he was glad he had so many good friends in Virginia." His reception of the news was evidence that he is not unwilling to be regarded as an opponent to Mr. Hoover for the nomination. It is expected that many more similar clubs will be formed as a consequence of his attitude. His main reply to the notification was a plea to his friends to support his movement for a five-year naval holiday, which he indicated would form the basis of his appeal for votes if he gets out and campaigns.

Borah feels that a naval holiday program, with all its ramifications covering the World Court, opposition to war and its more immediate financial savings, is a large enough platform on which to corral votes. It is known that Borah has been sounded out by some of the leading Progressives regarding his candidacy and they assert he invariably has expressed pleasure whenever the suggestion has been made that he accept the nomination for President.

These same Progressives are known to be opposed to reviving the third party and want their standard bearer to oppose Mr. Hoover for the regular republican nomination. Borah is too astute a politician to believe he can wrest the nomination away from the President and his office-holding cohorts, a feat that is almost impossible, politically, in the United States. Instead, they feel that if Borah can center enough activity behind him he can make a deal before the convention meets by which his ideas can be incorporated in the republican platform and his ends achieved.

Many politicians here view Borah's possible election as President in a humorous vein. They say Borah is only himself when he is opposing the government. If he became the government himself he would be a ship without a rudder, they say. In this connection, President Coolidge's reputed remark is recalled anent Borah's penchant for horseback exercise.

Borah maintains a stable in Washington and knows every bridle path in Rock Creek Park. Anyhow, when Mr. Coolidge is said to have learned about Borah's exercise he is quoted as saying: "I don't see how Borah can reconcile himself to going in the same direction as the horse!"

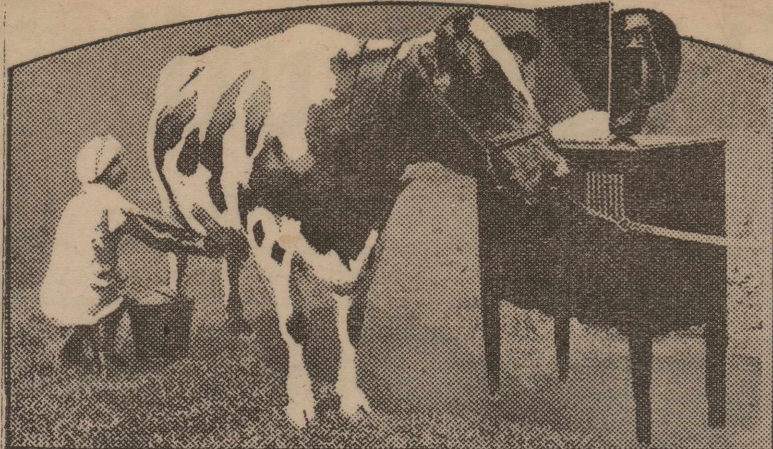

Whether Borah's candidacy will be taken seriously by the Republican National Committee is a question. After all, a candidate must have the treasurer of the party with him and it is doubtful if the monied men of the country will support a man who has shown such radical tendencies in the past.

There seems to be little question but that additional taxation will be levied by the next Congress. Even with the President firmly committed against the national government's aiding its unemployed citizens with any plan that parallels the British system of doles, the government is going to find itself short by at least another billion dollars next year. Even by paring down all expenses the gap cannot be bridged, largely because the incomes of the big taxpayers have been cut into so deeply that payments into the national treasury have been heavily reduced.

To tax the farmer any more would be a political crime and result in alienating his vote. As a consequence Congress is faced with a hard problem of raising more money. It appears certain that a system of luxury taxes will be devised. In addition there is a growing feeling that the larger aggregations of capital will be asked to pay more, even the Wall Street crowd being convinced, it is said, that they should pay heavier taxes.

No party likes to impose taxes on the eve of a national election. It begins to look as though the democrats will be in a majority in both

DISTRICT OFFICER VISITS SONORA MASONIC LODGE

District Attorney Weaver H. Baker, of Junction, District Deputy Grand Master of the Masonic Lodge, made his official visit to the Sonora lodge at its regular meeting Thursday night, Sept. 19.

The visit was a periodic tour of inspection, and Mr. Baker addressed the local lodge on points of Masonry.

Remorse: Why go to Long Island for ducks when Manhattan is swarming with chickens?—"Laff That Off."

Houses of the next Congress and, if taxes are raised, that party will have to bear the onus of the action. Those in close touch with the trends of the time, politically, claim that new taxes must be levied and that no blame will attach to either party that has to pose as the sponsor of such an action.

Many industries, like the automobile line, have formed a lobby to work against a proposed sales tax, and threats from them can be expected. Political observers do not feel that these threats will ever be carried out and believe that Congress will go right to work next December to balance the budget, as the British Parliament and other European legislatures have been forced to do in recent months to overcome the depression in general business and lack of employment.

the construction of the bridges will be let at the meeting of the Highway Commission Sept. 22.

The Hackberry creek bridge calls for nine 28½-foot spans, concrete girders; and the Cayansa bridge calls for nine 40-foot steel spans, concrete floor. There will be a half mile of approach roadway to construct also.

In addition to the above contract the Highway Commission has announced that 13.7 miles of the O. S. T. east of Fort Stockton will be let at the next meeting also. This is the first section of the highway cast.

Mrs. Maysie Brown spent Saturday in San Angelo on business.

ROWENA RIDES THE RUMBLE

COPYRIGHT 1931 BY THE AUTHOR

by ETHEL HUESTON

Twelfth Installment

"Why, here he's written me two whole letters, page after page, all about college and the boys and such nonsense, and never a word about money." She marched to the telegraph desk and Peter followed her guiltily. He had to know what she was going to do.

"But, Buddy, darling, don't you need some money?" she wrote.

"There was no bad news, I hope," said Peter, as they went up in the elevator. "Nobody bothering him—or anything like that."

"Why, no," said Rowena wonderingly. "Nobody ever bothers Buddy. He isn't that sort."

"How—nice," said Peter.

The boy who took them to their rooms did a very unusual thing, although neither Rowena nor Peter noticed it at the time. Instead of unlocking the door at once, he knocked, and it was opened from within. They noticed that, of course, and framed in the open door was Bobby Lowell.

"Where in the world did you come from?"

"What are you doing here?"

Bobby was crying, but they were too amazed, too disconcerted, to offer either greetings or condolence.

"I've been waiting four days," said Bobby. "I nearly died of loneliness. You were due two days ago. I had a notion to kill myself."

Peter turned to the boy quite savagely. "Why didn't they tell us at the desk?"

"I told them not to," dimpled Bobby tearfully. "I wanted to surprise you. I told them to show you right up."

Rowena marched into the room, took off her hat and gloves and tossed them upon the bed. Then she got out her lip-stick and powder and concealed the stains of travel in a most efficient manner.

"All right," she said cheerfully. "Come on in, Peter, and don't stand gaping. Constantine, shake hands with one of the Boston Lowells. All right, Bobby, give us the lowdown. Now, Carter Wellman—"

"It's all his fault," sobbed Bobby, ignoring Constantine's black and white paw. "You know that telegram he sent you, Peter? It was a lie. He didn't mean a word of it."

"Will you sue him, or shall I horsewhip him?"

"How do you know? You haven't had time to get to New York and quarrel with him this time," objected Rowena.

"I had plenty of time in Albuquerque, and I called him up. I asked him what I should get for the wedding? He said 'What wedding?' I said, 'Our wedding. That you wired Peter Blande about.' Rowena—Peter—he went on something awful. He said if I thought less about clothes and more about my immortal soul I'd be better off."

He said what did I mean by telling strangers—and low-principled characters like Peter, at that—the private details of our love-affair. In fact, he said he wasn't going to marry me until New York had a new insane asylum where he could control me by the latest improved methods."

Rowena and Peter screamed with laughter.

"Rowena," said Peter, "I take it all back. I won't punch him in the nose. He's a great old scout."

"What did you say, darling?" inquired Rowena.

"I said," announced Bobby with dignity, "that while perhaps he had never been in jail as Peter had, and had never toured the country under false pretenses and that sort of thing, Peter could teach him a whole lot about handling women."

Rowena rolled back on the bed helpless with laughter.

"What did he say to that?" asked Peter.

"Nothing. He hung up the receiver on me—and me paying for a telephone call clear from Albuquerque!"

So Rowena retired with Constantine to her rumble seat and they continued swiftly east. Bobby no longer did all the talking, Peter showing up as something of a conversationalist on his own account.

"You've made a great mistake, Bobby," he told her over and over, speaking in a slow and impressive voice. "I know men. Carter meant just what he said in that telegram, but he resented your taking up such a sacred subject by long-distance telephone. The telephone is such a sordid, mechanical, diabolical device. Naturally he would not wish to make plans for the tremendous romantic experience of life by telephone at so much a minute. He wanted to have you in his arms."

Bobby was impressed—even a little frightened. "But he used to make love to me over the phone in New York," she said defensively.

"That was different. He was seeing you every day then and the calls were from house to house. It's not like shouting 'I love you' over three thousand miles of farm and factories. I don't blame Carter. I'm like that myself."

"But I didn't know what to wear—"

"That cut him to the quick," said Peter. "Men don't think about clothes in their emotional moments. And to know that instead of every pulse and every vein and every—er—corpuse—singing aloud, 'I am going back to Carter!'—you were wondering what to wear. Well, I'm just like Carter. It would wound me to the heart."

By the time they reached Sonora, and after they had spent a pleasant night at the Hotel McDonald, Bobby was completely convinced, entirely repentant and asking Peter's advice—he being "one of the men" and knowing how they were apt to feel about things.

"If I were you," said Peter, with the heavy air of one who weighed his words, "I should take the first fast train for New York. You can get a good train at Houston."

"I'll do it," declared Bobby. "I'll take the first train from Houston and I won't breathe a word to Carter. Then if I do change my mind along the road I can call him up somewhere."

So in Houston, Peter put her on the train and went straight to the conductor, pointed Bobby out to him, and gave him the location of her berth.

"She's not very well," he explained in a fatherly manner. "Not really bad, you understand, but has queer little aberrations once in a while. Gets odd notions about traveling and wants to get off the train. Cooks up any sort of wild excuse for getting off—wants to send a telegram—wants to call up New York—no end to the silly nonsense she can trump up. Now I want you to see that she goes straight thru to New York. Her doctor will meet her at the station; I'm depending on you to see that she gets safely into his hands. She'll be no trouble at all, one of the sweetest girls that ever lived, but just will get that odd notion about travel."

Peter gave the conductor ten dollars, who said he could safely promise that she would reach her doctor without misadventure.

"You'll know him all right," said

"Why
My Next Car
will be A FORD"

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life.

Here's an interesting letter from a Ford owner in North Carolina:

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures.

"The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.

"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

A REAL ECONOMY MOVE

While economy and measurers seeking to reduce the operating expense of government are the order of the day in every governmental administration, from the civic to the federal systems, we might be given a permanent plan of expense reduction in lessening the number of our legislative bodies.

Texas needs more statesmen and fewer figure-heads to make her laws. One-fourth of the number of men now sitting in Austin could work to the advantage of every part of the state. They could work faster. They could enact needed legislation with less friction and costly bickering.

Many taxpayers would like to see the legislature and the senate comprised of about half their present number, and with pay for the smaller group increased enough to make the offices attractive to men of outstanding ability, rather than to men who have lots of time and very little to do with it.

Texas is a large state, it is true, but it is not so large but that its several geographical sections and its industrial groups could be adequately represented by one-fourth the number of men who now do the job. With one-fourth the number of men, the wage could be doubled for each position, and still the state would save one-half, or more. An added saving could be effected in speedier work, with less red tape and senseless argument about trivial points.

A reform in a legislative system is hard to effect, however, for such a change would have to go through the bodies which we now have, and since it would react to the disadvantage of the majority of members, would get a very cold reception.

But it's up to the people; only when they insist on having fewer statesmen and better statesmen will something be done.

(By W. E. James)

Man wants but little here below—
With a little water on the side.

DID NOT WANT TO TELL ALL

Sonora has just recently acquired a good citizen who is fast endearing himself to the public at large. We won't endeavor to list all his good qualities for this column is limited to just 7 and 5-8ths inches and it would take a great deal more space to enumerate them all. However, we will say this much, he is ever ready with a good story, especially about school life. And on this point, we want to bet the professor a wrinkled pancake that here is one story he has never heard, which is an echo of the dim, distant past:

It was an evening school. There was a class of restless, dirty newsboys and bootblacks on the front seat trying to see how much they could annoy the teacher. Finally the teacher called up the class and put them through the catechism of U. S. History.

"Who discovered America?"

Nobody seemed to know and the teacher, a long suffering student from the university, lost his patience. Shutting the book with a bang, he dismissed the class with these sarcastic remarks:

"Well, when one of you boys gets to the point where he needs to have some one vote for him as governor or president, he will be ashamed to think he doesn't know who discovered America."

One of the wickedest looking of the boys raised his grimy paw.

"Well, Tom, what is it?"

"I know who discovered America."

"Why didn't you tell, then?" asked the teacher.

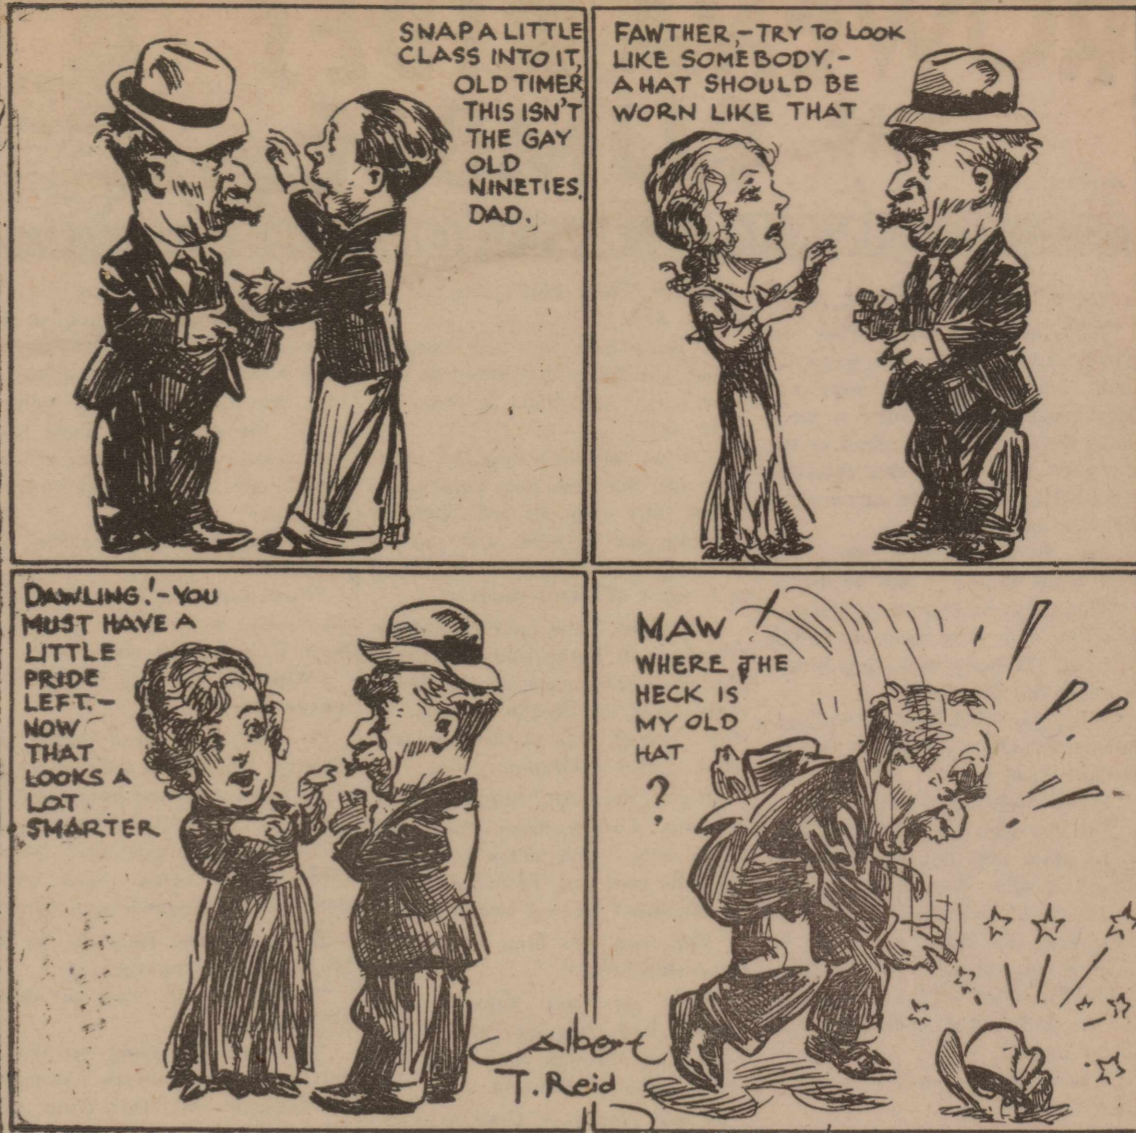

"Cos I didn't want to tell all I know," said Tom.

Sonora had three distinguished guests the forepart of the week. Peter Blande, his wife Rowena, and their traveling companion, Miss Bobby Lowell, passed through Sonora Monday enroute to Houston. The party is on the last lap of an advertising tour of the United States. They are in the employ of the Rackruff Motors, Inc., and were driving one of the company's latest model roadsters—with a rumble seat.

Two-Gun Ike says he doesn't believe in long engagements because the young lady is liable to find out too much about a feller in the long run. And besides he has to buy too many birthday presents.

Dad Buys a New Hat

By Albert T. Reid

35 YEARS AGO

The Devil's River News published on September 5, 1891, carried a number of interesting items on its front page relative to topics of the day. Anecdotes, dissertations on the relative amount of soil deterioration caused by running sheep and cattle, treatments wool undergoes in the mill—these and other topics were touched on. One article told of the mysterious death of R. J. Spencer, county clerk of Uvalde county, who was found dead in the jail of that county, and had supposedly died from the effects of a blow on the head with a jug, received in an altercation with a negro prisoner. A story reprinted from the San Antonio Express told of an interview granted an Express reporter by Mike Murphy, publisher of The Devil's River News, who had been in San Antonio. At that time the paper was less than a year old. The county had been organized the preceding November, although the town had been started two years previous.

Other smaller news stories are reproduced here: Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McDonald of Juno were in Sonora Thursday. D. B. Cusenbary sold to Tom Birtrong 10 bucks at $20. Geo. Allison, sheep, horse and cattle raiser of the Stockman's Paradise was in Sonora Thursday. He sold 10 bucks to F. M. Sanders at $10.

Sol Mayer, partner and able manager of the ranch business of F. Mayer & Sons, cattle, horse and sheep raisers of the Stockman's Paradise, was in Sonora Monday buying bucks.

In this issue will be seen the ad of Morris & Birtrong, dealers in wines, liquors and cigars. Tom Birtrong the new member has full charge of the business and has ordered a large and first-class assortment of whiskey, brandy, beer, etc., and you will be treated white by Bill Thomason, the head bartender.

Going to Big Fair

"Three Little Girls" Contest Is Drawing Many Entries

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 9.—Special costumes and make-up will not be considered in the judging of entries in the "Three Little Girls" contest to be held at the State Fair of Texas, to select the three prettiest girls in attendance at the opening day of the exposition, it has been announced here by Herbert B. Carpenter, assistant to the president. Instead natural beauty, carriage and personality will be judged by the committee.

Many entries are being received from all parts of the state. The out-of-town entries are being sponsored by newspapers and chambers of commerce in the respective towns. More than one entry will be received from any town which desires to send more.

The winners of the "Three Little Girls" contest will be introduced at the opening performance of the Shubert Operetta, which will be attended by a large number of newspaper men of the state, as the contest will be held on Press Day.

The only requirements for entries are that they be between the ages of 16 and 21. The three girls in an entry can all be of the same type or can be three different types. Names of entries should be mailed to Mr. Carpenter at an early date.

Sheep and Goat
Raisers Set Date

Convention to Be Held in Del Rio
December 16-17

The executive committee of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas, meeting in Kerrville Thursday, Sept. 3, set December, 16 and 17 as dates for the annual convention of the association, which will be held in Del Rio. The changing of yearly conventions from summer to winter will be marked by the December meeting. Provision for such a change was made at a meeting of the organization in San Angelo in July.

Oscar Appelt, of the ranch south-east of Sonora, was among the members of the executive committee attending the meeting at Kerrville.

In the absence of President T. A. Kincaid, of Ozona, whose wife was seriously ill, Judge J. A. Whitten of San Angelo, president of the Wool Growers' Central Storage Co.,

World's Largest
Fly Trap Located in Menard County

Two Million Flies Caught in 40 Days—Will Hold Horse or Cow

The largest fly trap in the world is stationed four miles northwest of Menard. The carcass of a dead horse or cow could be placed within the trap with ease. According to H.E. Parish, entomologist in charge of the fly trapping experiment now being conducted in north Menard county 2,000,000 flies were caught in the one trap during a forty-day period.

Almost 700 smaller traps, besides the large one, are placed uniformly over an area including 300 square miles. This area is bounded by the Eden road on the east, the McKavett road on the south, the Concho county line on the north and the Schleicher county line on the west.

The experiment, which is being made by the U. S. Bureau of Entomology, is an effort to determine the value of trapping flies that cause screw-worm in sheep, cattle, other livestock. A comparison of records will be made each year, using records which are being kept on an untrapped area equally as large in the southern part of Menard and northern part of Kimble counties, in an endeavor to determine the value of fly trapping. The estimate will be made on the basis of per thousand head of livestock.

A noticeable decrease of flies has already been observed in the trapped area, Mr. Parish said, though records of the catch are not to be divulged until the experiment is more complete.

The traps are baited every ten days and the catch is measured every twenty days. The Bureau is also working on an experiment with the blow-fly parasite. Different styled traps are also being used to determine which is the most effective fly catcher.

A Lamb county dairyman, under test, produced butterfat for seven cents per pound during July by using sudan grass pasture and a concentrated ration on a one to five basis.

of San Angelo and member of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, acted as chairman of the executive committee. Sixteen new members and one associate member were taken into the organization through previous application.

on Sunday Night

Fifteen in Group Headed By Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong

The young people of the Baptist church organized a Baptist Young People's Union Sunday night at the church, with fifteen present for the election of officers and outline of plans.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Armstrong are acting as joint sponsors of the organization, Mrs. Armstrong being elected president and Mr. Armstrong, Bible readers' quiz leader. Other officers are Miss Exa D. Meckel, vice president, Miss Mora Lee Meckel and Delbert Martin, group captains, Miss Audrey Rankhorn, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Allen Adkins, corresponding secretary, and Miss Mary Louise Gardner, chorister.

The B. Y. P. U. will meet at the church each Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

Bogus Currency
Appears on Border

Del Rio Merchants Watching for Counterfeit $10 Bills

A flood of bogus money has been circulated through Northern Mexico and at various border points recently, according to merchants of Del Rio and Villa Acuna last week, who were on guard against the counterfeit money.

A large number of spurious $10 notes have been circulated at various border points from Juarez, south, within the past two weeks, it was stated.

Several arrests have been made at Tyler and Dallas within recent weeks, but despite this fact, another batch of bad money has entered circulation and the search for the source is on anew, it was stated last week at Del Rio.

Arrests were made recently at Plainview of a man and a woman who are said to have had in their possession a quantity of assertedly illegal money. In the Dallas arrests U. S. agents took from their prisoners $1,950 in counterfeit bills.

Border towns along the Rio Grande are being watched closely, and authorities of Mexico are assisting in an effort to smash the counterfeit ring.

A $20,000 school building was recently completed in the Graham district, seven miles south of Post, Texas.

Rook Baxter, who has been working this summer at the Ranch Experiment Station, left Sunday for Stephenville, where he will enter school for the year.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Jones and little daughter, Kathryn, spent Friday and Saturday at the Humble B. Station, the guests of Mrs. Jones' cousin, Mrs. W. P. McConnell, jr. Mrs. Ben Martin and her little son, Ben Edward, of Eagle Pass, left for their home Friday, after a several days' visit here with Mrs. Martin's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Blanton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McConnell, jr., of the Humble B. Station, brought George McDonald, brother of Mrs. McConnell, to Sonora Tuesday, after he had made a week's visit with them at the station.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Searcy, jr., and their little daughter, Faye, left Sonora last week-end, Mr. Searcy going straight to Oglesby, where he will assist his father on the latter's farm for a few weeks until a business opening in Waco which he is considering is ready for him, and Mrs. Searcy going first to San Antonio for a few days.

Mrs. Charles Evans, accompanied by her daughters, Miss Jessie Louise and Mary Jane, and her son, Charles Harold, returned Tuesday night from San Antonio where they went with the intention of spending the winter. They have changed their plans, and Charles Harold will attend the Sonora High School this winter. Miss Jessie Louise will be at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stuart and their little son, Lynn, returned Sunday from San Antonio, where they made a week's visit with friends, seeing Mrs. Bryan Hunt and her baby son, James Theodore, while in the city. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Stuart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Keeton, of Jewett. Mr. Keeton returned Monday, but Mrs. Keeton remained for a short visit.

W. M. U. in Monthly Mission Study

Mrs. Love Given Gift for Service as Sec'y-Treasurer

The Woman's Missionary Union of the Baptist church met for its monthly mission study and social meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Cauthorn. Mrs. Ban Odom led the Royal Service program, and Mrs. W. M. Armstrong entertained with a lovely piano solo. Mrs. Gus Love, outgoing secretary-treasurer of the union, was presented by the group with an attractive sandwich tray, accompanied by a bouquet of flowers, in token of the society's appreciation of her faithful services while in office the past year. Mrs. W. R. Nisbet, newly-elected president, presided at the meeting. The hostess served delicious refreshments of punch and angel food cake to thirteen members of the union.

Collingsworth county, Texas, is building a $150,000 courthouse at Wellington.

Miss Turney Has Vari-Game Party Saturday Evening

Miss Pauline Turney entertained a large group of young people at her home Saturday evening with a party at which the entertainment consisted of a variety of interesting games which were played progressively, so that all of the guests might enjoy a period of play at several of the games. Bridge, dominoes, Pit, Flinch, "Lindy," and other games were played by eight tables of guests. At the end of the very entertaining evening, the hostess served delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and lemonade.

Mesdames Jack Stockley, of Uvalde, E. E. Sawyer and Rose Thorp assisted Miss Turney by filling in, and the other guests were the Misses Alice Sawyer, Ches Thorp, Nina Roueche, Lily Margaret Lehne, Doris Ray, Allie Halbert, Dee Trainer, Myrtle Hill, Clovis Neal, Stella Archer, Babe White, Annella Stites, Edythe Carson, Guyon Shurley, Marie Harrison, Margaret Barton and Mary Louise Gradner, and Harold Friess, V. HUMAN BONES FOUND IN CAVE NEAR OZONA

A part of a human skull and jaw bone found in a cave in Howard Well, near Ozona, were brought to Ozona for exhibition recently by Royce Brownrigg and were put on exhibit there. It is thought that the bones had lain in the cave for many centuries.

Brownriggs said that many bones, thought to be those of humans, were scattered about the floor of the small cave, and the size of some of them indicated that they were those of children. The condition of the bones led to a belief that they were those of Indians or dwellers in the region even before the Indians.

Peter. "He's red-headed and kind of square-jawed."

The conductor, who was pretty square-jawed himself, promised to see to it. Peter passed on the same word, and a five-dollar bill, to the porter on the Pullman, and then sent a telegram to Carter announcing the exact moment of her arrival and advising him to get in touch with the conductor of the train. Then he hurriedly rejoined the girls.

"Good-bye, darling," said Rowena cheerfully. "See you in New Orleans."

"Oh, no you won't" said Bobby. "You won't see me again till you get back to New York."

At the hotel in Houston they found another fat letter for Rowena and a telegram which she opened nervously. But it was only Buddy's answer to her inquiry from El Paso.

"No," it stated briefly. "If I needed money, wouldn't I ask for it?"

And hard up as she was, Rowena gave herself the satisfaction of wiring back the one word: "Yes."

There was also a telegraphic money transfer for Peter, to the amount of fifty dollars, and with it a short cold message: "You go to hell."

It was from Roland Rostund.

Rowena was wrong about it. Buddy needed money a great many times after that but never asked for it again. He accepted a job in a haberdashery where he worked two hours every afternoon and all day Saturday. Rowena didn't like that because it kept him away from ball games, but all Buddy said to her objections was, "I've seen a ball game."

Rowena was quite uneasy about it all.

Peter wanted to write again, tried many times to put his friendly feelings into phrases, to say cheerio and tell him he was quite the stuff. He would even have apologized for his meddling. But somehow the kindly thoughts would not be written down, for he had no Rowena's facility with words and it was only in the pressure of deep emotion that Peter turned to the pen. And so, months later, when the two met for the first time, there had been no interchange of opinions between them after Buddy's lucid wire. But when Rowena, with a hand of each in one of hers, said brightly:

"Oh, Peter, this is Buddy!" they shook hands heartily and Peter said, "Well, hello!"

"Hello, hello," said Buddy.

And they both laughed a little, and each knew exactly what the other had in mind.

They had looked forward to New Orleans as one of the high spots of the entire tour. They had heard enthusiastic friends rave over its quaint charm, had seen exquisite etchings of its thousand odd little crooks and corners, had sampled its time-honored recipes. Peter had his heart set on doing something really worthwhile in New Orleans—two really worthwhile things—one for the Rackruff Motors, Inc., and one for Peter Blande and his future.

It was his idea to pick out the most picturesque and typical corner, with just a small portion of the roadster showing, and with Rowena peering out mistily into a shadowy street—a new Rowena, shimmery and shadowy herself behind a Spanish veil. Rowena, on the other hand, thought it would strike a more telling note to have the quaint old shop and the quaint old street with a strictly modern Rackruff and a strictly modern Rowena standing out in bold relief.

Rowena and Peter never had the same idea about pictures, and Rowena wouldn't admit for a minute that Peter was always right. Certainly, whether right or wrong, he would have his own way when it came to pictures.

It was in vain Rowena argued she wasn't the type to do a native daughter peeping out—she was strictly a New Yorker, looking fascinatedly in.

This Woman Lost
64 Pounds of Fat

Mrs. H. Pierce of Woodside, L. L., writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 yrs. old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat with speed take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—don't miss a morning—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.—Ad.

ANTHRAX QUARANTINE LIFTED IN KIMBLE CO.

The blanket quarantine for anthrax in Kimble county has been released, according to a circular letter from the Livestock Sanitary Commission in Fort Worth. Ranchmen and farmers have for some time been permitted to move livestock except in infected sections. This release does not apply to any premises which are under special quarantine.

Livestock men are relieved to be released from the quarantine which has been in force for two months.

J. W. Doran, Del Rio, Dies; Buried There

West Texas Pioneer and Indian Fighter Was 83

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the Doran Funeral Home at Del Rio for J. W. Doran, 83, pioneer Indian fighter and resident of Del Rio 15 years, who died Thursday morning at the Del Rio hospital, where he had been seriously ill for several weeks. He had been in ill health for a year or more.

Mr. Doran was for 13 years engaged in the grain and flour business in Del Rio, and for several years before that in San Angelo, but had retired from business two years ago. His wife died in 1926.

Coming to Texas from Jackson county, Ala., as an infant, Mr. Doran grew up here, and was an Indian fighter, going "up the trail" twice—once in 1896 when he helped drive a herd of cattle to Roswell, N. M., and again in 1873 when he helped drive a herd to Kansas. He engaged in several skirmishes with Indians when the Comanches raided around the San Saba section as late as 1875.

A natural gas distribution system is under construction in Santa Anna, Texas.

Origin of Texas University Song Is Told By Quartet Member—"The Eyes of Texas" Started as Joke

"The Eyes of Texas," the official Texas University song, began as a joke, according to J. R. ("Jim") Cannon, Amarillo business man, who was a member of the male quartet that sang the song for the first time 28 years ago. "It was all a joke," he said, when commenting upon its popularity. "We did not know what we were starting."

Mr. Cannon displayed a yellowed program on which a split down the middle had been reinforced with a strip of paper pasted over it. On the program the song that is dear to the heart of every Texan was listed as "A Parody in Song." The program, which was given as a benefit for the University of Texas glee and mandolin clubs, was a negro minstrel with a few special acts included.

According to Mr. Cannon, the program was staged in the old Hancock opera house, just a block off Congress avenue on West Sixth street, Austin. The opera house was then the talk of the state and the governor had a special box. Twenty-eight years ago—in the fall of 1903—the university was small enough for benefit programs such as the one given that night.

Dr. Lambdine Prather, who was president of the university in 1903, had brought to Texas an idea which he had received from General Robert E. Lee when the latter was president of Washington and Lee University which Dr. Prather had attended at the time. General Lee was said never to have made a speech to the student body without bringing in the remark, "the eyes of the South are upon you." Accordingly, Dr. Prather, who thought well of the statement, quoted it, confining it only to Texas. Thus there was a standing joke concerning the president's all-seeing eyes and the ever-watchful state of Texas. John Laing Sinclair of San Antonio went into conference with the college quartet with some half-formed words and the famous old tune, "I've Been Working on the Railroad," running through his head; and straightway the present Texas U song was born. But Laing didn't know it.

Before a house packed with students and Austin citizens, including, of course, President Prather, the quartet stepped forth, when the program was well-advanced to give their parody. Before the end of the first verse, the house was in an uproar. By the time "till Gabriel blows his horn" was reached, the audience appeared, according to Mr. Cannon, semi-hysterical. They pounded the floor and shouted for an encore, which was willingly given again and again.

Joined, at length, by the students in the auditorium, the quartet sang till it was so hoarse that it became necessary for it to sing in a whisper, "We're tired out." Next day the band had learned the tune and words and was marching up and down the campus playing "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You!"

Cannon sang second-bass in the quartet. Other members were J. D. Kivlehen of Miami, first tenor; R. A. Porter, Dallas, second tenor; W. D. Smith, San Antonio, first bass.

The director was D. A. Penick, present tennis coach at the university, who has developed some of the world's famous tennis players.

New Mohair 'Fur' Designed By Mill

Material Expected to Be Popular in Coat-Making

A New England textile manufacturing plant, Sanford Mills, has announced that it has succeeded in process, which resulted from the hair. In the face of the decline of consumption of mohair in the last five years, with the dropping from 75 cents (in the grease) to 15 cents, this announcement comes as a pleasant surprise to the goat owners of Texas.

Announcement of the man-made fur process was made through the Mohair Institute of Chicago. The making a man-made fur from goat development of new types of weaving, reassembles the shorn Angora hair into its naturally erect position on fabric, and this is the first time that a genuine animal fibre "fur" surface has been produced without killing the animal.

The "fur" which resembles coon-skin, will be initially used for making overcoats and other apparel. It has been styled "Koongora," because of its appearance and content. As the new looming methods are developed, "Koongora" will probably be supplemented by other types of "fur."

For the best HOME-ROLLED cigarettes ever... try this

OPEN a tidy red tin of Prince Albert... sniff the delightful fragrance of the tobacco. It's the grandest aroma that ever floated out of a package of smoking tobacco. Then spread a cigaretteful in a paper and see how quick and easy it rolls into a trim cigarette that burns evenly and stays put. No fuss or muss or spilled tobacco... because P.A. is crimp-cut. That's why it rolls so smooth.

Now light up!

You'll have to admit that no other home-rolled cigarette ever had so much to recommend it. Prince Albert is simply better tobacco, Gentlemen.

Have you tried a pipe lately? Men who thought a pipe was not for them have changed their minds after the first load of P.A. This friendly tobacco just wouldn't think of biting your tongue or parching your throat. Take my tip... get out the old pipe and give it a new deal.

2 full ounces in every Tin
No other tobacco is like it —AND THE PAPERS ARE IMPORTANT, TOO. The perfect combination for home-rolled cigarettes: P.A. for filler and OCB for wrapper. The world's finest papers, made at the famous Bolloré mills in France expressly for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Book of 150 leaves for 5¢. "SPARE" TEETH LOCKED UP IN CLOSED BANK

Closing of the First National Bank at El Paso resulted in a minor tragedy for Paul Boland, United States customs inspector, whose extra set of false teeth are locked inside in a safety deposit vault.

Boland says that years ago his dentist made him a set of false teeth and took the precaution of making him a duplicate set in the event of his breaking the first one. After the closing of the bank, in which Boland had deposited his precious extra teeth, he broke his regular pair, and pleas to the bank receiver have not prevailed upon him to open the safety deposit box containing the "spares."

Dentists can't repair the broken set of teeth with the proper color.

MICHIGAN GAME LAWS STRESS HUNTING SAFETY

Hunters in Michigan must be true sportsmen, according to a requirement adopted by the 1931 legislature to the effect that before hunters can procure a license to shoot deer in Michigan this fall they must go before a notary and swear they have not violated a deer law of the state in the past three years nor shot a person while hunting during the past five years.

A bulletin of the American Game Association announces this new regulation, which was adopted to make the sport of hunting safer.

O. S. T. Shares in Highway Contracts

Pecos County and Kimble County Get Awards—Kerr Delayed

The Old Spanish Trail came in for a number of highway improvement contract awards earlier in the week during the September meeting of the Texas Highway Commission in Austin.

Contracts were awarded for the improvement of 13.7 miles on the highway east from Fort Stockton in Pecos county. The Hannah Construction Company and Fred and Dan Hall will grade and place drainage structures on the stretch for $34,313.

Four hundred seventeen feet of bridge structures over Hackberry and Casanova Creeks in the west edge of Pecos county will be built by Sandera and Hurlburt, Three Rivers, for $23,654.

The North Llano River will be bridged in Kimble county at a cost of $59,419 by the McClung Construction Company of Fort Worth.

Action on a seven mile stretch of the highway lying between Kerrville and Ingram in Kerr county was delayed by a temporary injunction granted Monday on the petition of Ingram merchants, who objected to a new routing of the highway and want it to follow the present course.

With Daughters to San Angelo
Mesdames R. A. Halbert and C. E. Stites accompanied their daughters, Allie and Annella, respectively, as far as San Angelo Monday when the girls left for school. Miss Halbert is to attend Southern Methodist University at Dallas and Miss Stites goes to Sam Houston State Teachers' College, Huntsville. Miss Victoria Jones, of Eldorado, joined the group there, and accompanied them to San Angelo. Mrs. Halbert, Miss Allie, and Miss Victoria visited Mr. and Mrs. Homer Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Petty, and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Halbert in San Angelo. Miss Halbert and Miss Jones left for Dallas Monday night.

Lion Stokes, club traffic manager, gave out the information that he had wired the highway commission relative to Sutton county's interests in road matters, and expected contract on the Sonora-Czona leg of the O.S.T. to be let at the next meeting of the commission.

A proposition to place a guide sign at the Ranch Experiment Station gate, directing travelers to Rocksprings, was postponed pending outcome of highway survey to be made from Rocksprings to Sonora.

them going for fifty yards and better. Hill's brilliant work started with the first play from scrimmage, when he broke through and threw a Tivy back for an eight yard loss. He also covered a fumble behind the line and gained possession of the ball later in the game.

The Bronchos clearly outplayed the Tivy team in the matter of first downs, getting 5 to Kerrville's 1. The starting line-up for the game follows:

| Sonora | Position | Tivy |
|------------------|----------|-------------|
| Holland | l.e. | McElroy |
| Barton | l.t. | Richards |
| Robertson | l.g. | Crates |
| Smith | c. | Gaines |
| Glasscock, V. J. | r.g. | Woelfmuller |
| Pharis | r.t. | Love |
| Hill | r.e. | McElroy |
| Archer | qb. c. | Wayland |
| Kring | fb. | Sandal |
| Ory | hb. | Wright |
| Friess | hb. | Morgan |

The same line-up for Sonora started the second half, although during the game substitutions were made as follows: French for Roberson; Logan for Holland; Allison for V. J. Glasscock; James Glasscock for Holland.

The officers were: Trainer, referee; Stokes, umpire; McClelland, head linesman; Frank Jackson, timekeeper.

PEOPLE INVITED TO USE LIBRARY HERE

Sonora people are asked to remember that the free public library in the Woman's Club house is open every Tuesday afternoon, as it has been all summer, with Mrs. Joe Brashier as librarian. The return of fall brings reminders of long winter evenings ahead, which may be greatly enjoyed if spent in reading good fiction. No charge is made on books loaned except a small fee for books long over-due. The shelves contain a number of very good books which, though not entirely new, are excellent reading material. The librarian stated this week that some new books have been added to the collection.

A $332,000 theatre is under construction at Amarillo, Texas.
