1931 Class Reunion Set During Jubilee

The Sonora High School Senior class of 1931 has planned a class reunion during the Diamond Jubilee celebration. A family no-host dinner and reunion has been slated for Friday, August 20.

The 1931 class will also participate in the Jubilee parade with a float. Many students and teachers of this class will ride on the float and will be costumed in 1890 clothes.

Those class members still residing in Sonora include Mat Adams, Lea Roy Aldwell, Mrs. Vestel Askew, Mrs. Pat Cooper, Edwin Sawyer, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Miss Annella Stites, and Louie Trainer. Mrs. Palmer West of Eldorado is also a member of the 1931 class and will assist with the reunion arrangements. Mrs. H. V. "Buzzie" Stokes was class sponsor.

Present addresses of teachers who taught from 1920 through 1931 are being sought by Mrs. Palmer West, reunion committee woman, and may be sent to her in Eldorado.

Vacant Lot Fire Flares Twice Tues.

A fire broke out twice Tuesday on a vacant lot across the street from Dr. J. F. Howell's home.

When the Sonora Fire Department was called the first time at 3:30 p.m., reported Lee Patrick, fire chief, the firemen were able to extinguish all the ignited grass on the lot. They were not able, however, to completely extinguish all of the smoldering trees, he added.

As a result, a tree ignited again that night at approximately 9 p.m. and the Sonora Fire Department was called again, Patrick said. At this time the firemen were able to gain control of the fire and completely extinguish it.

Patrick added that there were no serious damages.

Mrs. Vicars Retires from Sonora Abstract

Mrs. Bob Vicars retired as manager of the Sonora Abstract and Insurance Company Wednesday, June 30. She had been employed by that company continuously since 1928.

Sonora Abstract Company must have been started at about the same time Sutton County was organized.

In 1900 the company belonged to James Cornell and S. G. Tayloe, who were then partners practicing law here. Possibly W. B. Silliman had been an earlier owner or partner.

By 1910 Judge Tayloe had moved to San Antonio, and the Sonora Abstract Company belonged to John Lowrey, James Cornell, and L. J. Wardlaw. Cornell and Wardlaw also had a law firm, while Lowrey was county clerk and managed the abstract company, positions he held until 1950.

Mr. Lowrey's daughter, Guila (Mrs. Vicars), became manager of Sonora Abstract Company in 1950. She had worked part time for her father from the time she was in high school, and she worked full time in 1922 and 1923. On graduation from Howard Payne College in 1928, she returned to the abstract company.

James Hunt purchased Sutton County Abstract Company from F. L. McKinney in June, 1964, and it was combined with Sonora Abstract Company. Earlier he had acquired the Cornell interest in Sonora Abstract from the Cornell Estate, and Bryan Hunt acquired the Wardlaw interest.

Prior to Mrs. Vicars' retirement James Hunt became the sole owner of the company by purchasing Mrs. Vicars' and Bryan Hunt's interests.

Louis Perez Is Delegate To Mexico

Louis Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perez Sr., will be part of a summer delegation to Mexico to study student life and community living in Mexico until August 20.

Perez is the San Angelo College Newman Club president. The Club is part of the North American Commission of Pax Romana, an international movement of Catholic students.

The commission, in cooperation with the Mexican Catholic Student Federation, is sponsoring the delegation which will spend three weeks living with a Mexican family, doing student work at the University of Mexico, and working with Catholic-action groups in Mexico.

The students will study the morality, ideology, economics, politics, culture, and education of Mexico. Perez will have a four-day briefing in Washington D.C. before beginning his study.

Before leaving for Washington July 6, Perez visited here. He is a 1963 graduate of Sonora High School and at SAC he is majoring in history with a Spanish minor. He will be a junior student in September and is working toward a teacher's certificate.

He was religious council representative and vice-president of the Newman Club his freshman year, and was elected club president in May.

A member of the Math Club last year, he was also chairman of a religious study group during SAC's Religious Emphasis Week.

City Pool Lighted For Night Swimming

Bob Painter, one of the managers of the new city municipal swimming pool, announced recently that the city has installed mercury vapor lights around the pool, lighting it for night swimming.

As a result of the installation of the lights, there has been a change in the public swimming pool hours. On Mondays and Fridays there will be two public swimming sessions: the pool will open at 2 p.m. and close at 6 p.m., and will open again on those days at 7 p.m. for a night swimming session and close at 9 p.m.

Hours for public use of the pool on Sunday will be from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., and on all other days, pool hours will be from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m.

On all evenings other than the scheduled night session evenings, the pool may be rented for private parties. Painter and Jerry Hopkins may be contacted for further information concerning parties.

Painter says that everyone should take advantage of the new modern pool, as the water is really pleasant.

THE SQUARE

Square! Another of the good old words has gone the way of love, and modesty and patriotism. Something to be snickered over, or outright laughed at. Why, it used to be that there was no higher compliment you could pay a man than to call him a square shooter. The ad man's promise of a "square deal" once was as binding as an oath on the Bible. But today, a square is a guy who volunteers when he doesn't have to. He's a guy who gets his kicks from trying to do a job better than anyone else. He's a boob who gets so lost in his work he has to be reminded to go home . . .

Some of the old squares were Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry, George Washington, Ben Franklin. Some of the new squares are Glenn, Grissom, Shepherd, Carpenter, Cooper, Schirra. John Glenn says he gets a funny feeling down inside when he sees the flag go by; says he's proud he belonged to the Boy Scouts and the Y.M.C.A. How square can you get!

A square . . . tells his son it's more important to play fair than to win. Imagine!

A square is a guy who reads scripture when nobody's watching, and prays when nobody's listening . . . He believes in honoring Mother and Father and "Do Unto Others," and that kind of stuff. He thinks he knows more than his teenager knows about car freedom and curfew.

So, will all you goony birds answering this description please stand up; you misfits in this brave, new age; you dimly disorganized, improperly apologetic ghosts of the past . . . stand up! Stand up and be counted. You squares who turn the wheels, and dig the fields and move mountains, put rivets in our dreams; you squares who dignify the human race; you squares who hold the thankless world in place.

Pile tuna or salmon salad lightly into avocado halves sprinkled with lemon juice. Serve with a garnish of cucumber slices, carrot curls and candied pickle slices.

Pancakes are a taste-tempting dessert for supper when they're made thin, spread with sour cream, chopped dates, brown sugar and then rolled.

Frying onions? Give them variety by adding some green pepper slices to the onions.

Add lemon rind and juice to melted butter for vegetable variety. For more variation add to lemon butter one of the following: 1 teaspoon paprika or ½ cup shredded Parmesan cheese.

Beef stew takes on a glamorous air when it's spooned into individual casseroles, then ringed with fluffy rice.

J. A. Tries To Divert Attention from Roof

Editor's note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitterweed ranch on Devil's River tries to explain away a leaky roof this week.

Dear editor:
The last time it rained out here, well not only the last time but every time before that for a long time now, my roof leaked.

It's not a bad leak, I mean, it's mostly in one spot and a man with any forethought can place his chair where he won't get splattered, and if he's not forethoughted he can move after the first few drops hit him on the head or stay there and get wet, that's his business, around this place, you've got to be not only smart enough to come in out of the rain but to move away from it after you're in.

Anyway, I've been getting some static about it, little hints from my friends like, "When in thunderation are you going to fix that leak?" but I don't let it bother me.

"Look," I said, "you ever heard of the astrodome in Houston, Texas?" That's the air-conditioned football and baseball field covered with a plastic dome. Well, I hear it's really something.

But, I added, those big shots spent 30 million dollars building that thing and what happens? The roof leaked. Despite all the engineering skill they could hire, the first time it rained the roof leaked.

My house is at least 100 years and 50,000 miles from costing 30 million dollars, but if it and the astrodome both leak, it seems to me the owners of the latter sure went the round-about way to get to put a pan under a drip.

Or take the New York's World Fair, put on by some of the best brains in this country's biggest city. It and this bitterweed ranch are both a desperate long way from showing a net profit.

I discovered long ago, you don't have to have brains and money to have a leaky roof or go in the hole.

I'll fix that roof when I get around to it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Poison Ivy Flourishing in State Parks

Tremendous vegetation growth in Texas from abundant rains has alerted state parks staffs to some unwanted thriving species, mainly poison ivy.

W. M. "Mark" Gosdin, assistant director for parks of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said while poison ivy and a few such perilous plants are not a major parks problem that personnel are vigilant to guide guests away from the pestiferous foliage.

"Of course, we don't have a copyright on this little problem," said Gosdin, "because parks comprise a tiny fraction of Texas. We simply recognize the pest and try to avoid it."

He said all park rangers are trained to identify ivy and do succeed generally in protecting visitors.

Gosdin said the experienced outdoors type readily recognize poison ivy if for no other reason than the old saying: "Leaflets three, let it be." In other words, the leaves of poison ivy are always divided into three leaflets, and the plant is more frequently found along streams and in shady places.

The most widespread variety is the common poison ivy having glossy green leaves with smooth margins. Other varieties have lobed or toothed leaf margins which resemble oak leaves. Poison ivy can be a vine, shrub or small tree.

Not all state parks downgrade the rich, green growth. For example, at Palmetto State Park, near Luling all wild growth prevails in profusion, with good and bad flourishing as nature dictates.

Gosdin said park staffers who do everything but "baby-sit" as the visitation peak brings the uninitiated out in the open, invariably advise patrons exposed to poison ivy, or oakleaf poison ivy, to wash the endangered areas thoroughly with old fashioned soap and to get medical care if substantial irritations develop.

Symptoms include small clusters of blisters and skin eruptions plus intense itching and burning.

DPS Needs 70 New Uniformed Patrolmen

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced this week there are 70 vacancies in the uniformed patrol services with increased salaries going into effect September 1 and another raise scheduled for one year later.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. said that under the biennial appropriation bill salaries will range from $453 up to $484 per month, depending on branch of service. In addition, he pointed out, patrolmen receive longevity pay of $10 per month for each five years of service up to a maximum of $50 per month. Promotions are given on the basis of competitive examinations.

"Here is an opportunity for qualified young men to join the ranks of dedicated career officers in a proud organization whose purpose is to serve and protect the people of Texas," Garrison said. "It is also an opportunity for men to further their education while in training."

He pointed out that student patrolmen receive some 800 hours of study in 95 subjects, such as highway law, accident investigation, first aid, professional driving, care and use of firearms and many others.

While in training at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, they receive $375 per month. The training course lasts 16 weeks, after which trainees become commissioned officers.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 35; not less than five feet, eight inches tall; not less than two pounds nor more than three pounds per inch of height; sound physical condition, 20-30 vision without corrective lenses; must not be color blind; must have a high school education or the equivalent; and must be a United States citizen and a resident of Texas for at

ACCENT ON HEALTH Water Sports Hold Several Dangers

Today people are taking to the water like ducks, but unfortunately, they don't swim anywhere near as well.

A generation or two ago water sports consisted chiefly of leaping into the old swimmin' hole or rowing around the lake.

But today, more people than ever before are seeking their summer pastimes in an aquatic setting—and literally dying from it.

Several hundreds will drown this year in Texas, according to a projection of previous records. On a nation-wide scale, 6,000 persons are predicted to drown from a variety of aquatic sports and activities.

Scuba and skin diving, surf-boarding, water skiing and high-power boating have added to the hazards of conventional swimming, diving and boating. And the proliferation of municipal and private pools and public beaches have further compounded the opportunity for injury, infection and death.

Let's take a look at the type injuries that accompany the various sports.

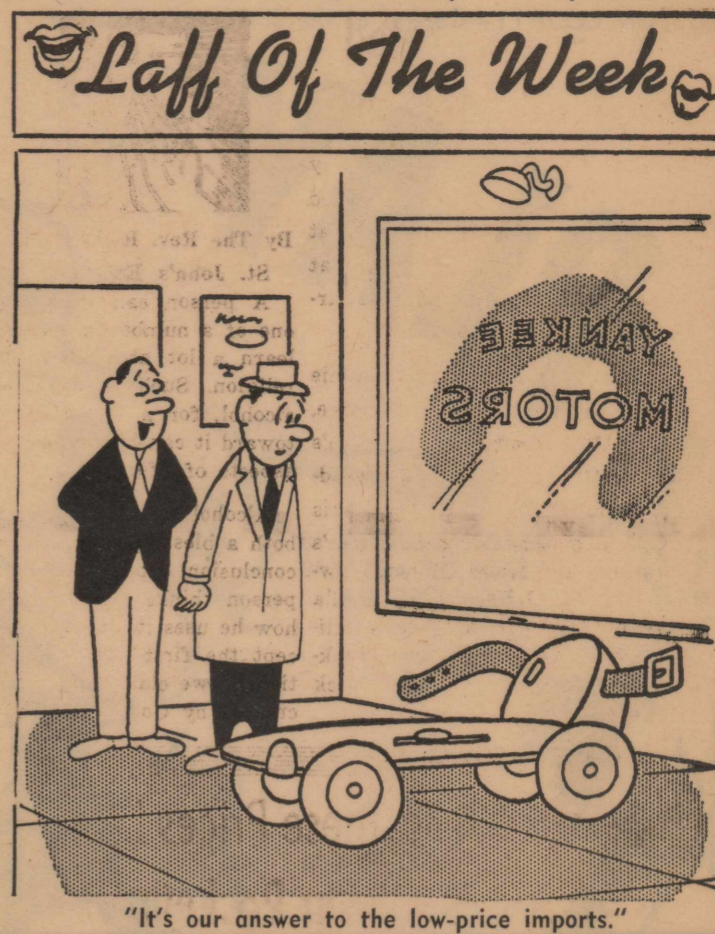

Sailing accidents often are head injuries from a swinging boom. Power-boating accidents are frequently lacerations and amputations from motor boat propellers and collisions.

Common injuries among water skiers are finger, wrist, nose and face abrasions or fractures, mostly occurring from falling on to the skis while in motion.

Some of the dangers of skin diving and underwater swimming include hyperventilation, malfunctioning scuba apparatus, face mask squeeze, middle ear squeeze, water pressure, and the threat of underwater life such as sea urchins, coral, the Portuguese man of war and others. (A feature of the Texas State Department of Health.)

Earliest recorded biological or germ warfare was waged in 1347 at Caffa in the Crimea, where the besieged Tartars catapulted over the city's walls corpses of men who had died from the plague.

YOUR MINISTER SAYS

By The Rev. Rollin Polk, Rector St. John's Episcopal Church

A person can start with any one of a number of subjects and learn a lot about the Christian religion. Such is the case with alcohol, for a Christian attitude toward it can be applied to many aspects of life.

Alcohol has often been called both a blessing and a curse. The conclusion depends upon what a person thinks about alcohol and how he uses it. In fact, if we accept the first doctrine of Christianity, we claim that everything created by God (and that means the universe) is good. A thing or a person cannot be evil in and of itself. And so with alcohol, which is a boon and a blessing to mankind. Even with many new medical discoveries, alcohol is a fine antiseptic and anesthetic. It can be used for heat and light and power. It can also be used to kill and destroy.

We are thinking, of course, about the use of alcohol in beverages such as beer, wine, and whiskey. Man can kill himself and others with a continued and overabundant use of these. He can, on the other hand, benefit greatly from the moderate use of these drinks in the company of others.

While they never solve any of the problems of life, alcoholic beverages can bring joy to social gatherings. When Christ attended a marriage, he saw that the host ran out of wine. He showed his approval of its use at such a happy occasion by turning water-pots of water into wine.

Our knowledge of scripture tells us also that Christ does not sanction drunkenness or over-indulgence. Nor would he approve of over-indulgence in anything.

After the lead, South cleared trumps, then led the king of diamonds. West won the trick with the ace and returned a diamond. South then played his remaining diamonds, sluffed his two losing hearts to make six.

Comment: The slam bid was not there and as East asked his partner after the play, West would surely have led a heart after winning the diamond trick if the bid had been six.

STILL WATERS

Who would guess that just out of sight there's a six-lane turnpike! Thousands of people drive past this peaceful place every day, and never know it exists. Occasionally, through a break in the sheltering trees, someone glimpses shining water and green pastureland in the distance... then the road curves, and the lovely scene is forgotten.

Many travellers hurry along life's road with empty hearts and unseeing eyes, never realizing what the transforming beauty of the Christian faith could mean to them. Because they always expect to find happiness around the next bend, they overlook the still waters of spiritual peace.

In the quiet, hallowed atmosphere of the Church, God answers man's deepest needs. Through prayer and worship, our souls are strengthened and restored. And when we continue our journey, we are not alone. God is with us.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

An Idle Mind Column

By Della King

What are your plans for the Diamond Jubilee? It has really been amazing to me the number of people who are making plans for the celebration.

Mrs. Collier Shurley is working on a display of antiques which will be held in the vacant building next to C. G. Morrison Variety. She will appreciate any additions you might make.

Jo Neville is making plans for some old pieces for the department store window, and Boyd Lovelace is collecting an old-timey kitchen.

And the old cars and wagons are coming in to town, and the beards are still sprouting.

If you want some more ideas about costumes, Mrs. Vernon Marion is letting us display a page of pictures from the 1941 celebration, when Sonorans really dressed up to beat the band.

Roe-ving Around

By Grady Roe

Secret agent 6% here bringing you another one of my adventures. Remember that number—6%—you may need it. It's a good number. It stands for my code name, hat size, and IQ.

The boss called me in at noon one fine Tuesday. I was in the middle of a Chinese Checkers game and was winning, but as much as I hated to leave I had to. That's part of being a secret agent. Oh, my name? Horace Bond, sometimes called by my nickname, Savings Bond.

"Horace", the boss said, "we have a tricky assignment for you this time. It will be harder than the last case you had working undercover as a bearded lady in a circus. Or the one where you worked disguised as a bearded rancher in Sonora's Diamond Jubilee. This one is big. You are to prevent Joe Fingers, that international jewel thief from his next planned job. Bond, he plans to steal Madison Square Garden and hold it for ransom. He is determined to carry this one off right, since you prevented his last job from going off as planned by hiding Fort Knox in Sonora Caverns."

Instantly I knew I had to keep Joe Fingers from carrying out his plan. "Boss," I said, "what does he want with the Garden besides ransom money? Do you think he's going to become a farmer?" The boss looked at me and sighed.

The next day I went to pick up my special equipment. I was given a Volkswagen which, when I turned a wheel, turned into a side street. Also, I was given a tiny radio that fell apart two days later when I dropped it. I never did find out what it was for.

Then, I was ready to make my first contact with Joe Fingers. I learned by the grapevine (Sue Grapevine) that Joe Fingers was planning a vacation trip to Roosevelt, Texas, before the job and decided to start there. As I packed, I felt nothing but grim determination as to what I had to do. I've got to go now. A lovely blonde just came in and needs help. Heh heh. But, I'll continue my tale next week. This is 6%, secret agent, signing off until next week.

TEEN SCENE

By Margaret Bundy

About the middle of the summer each year, the time rolls around for rodeos. The highlight of the past week seems to have been the Rocksprings rodeo. Carl Teaff drove his car in the parade with a sign advertising the Sonora Diamond Jubilee.

Larry Shroyer hasn't been seen much this summer, but he has been roping and swimming down on his ranch.

Eddie Sawyer was home from San Marcos this weekend. He brought a couple of friends with him. They were Kelley Smith of Dallas, and Howard Bush of Houston.

Dick and Bill Karnes have been getting around a bit this week. Dick was in Laramie, Wyoming, and Bill was in Pecos at a rodeo.

Wade Stokes was down from Midland this week.

Teddy Wheelis was home from school for the weekend.

Martha Love left Tuesday for Lubbock where she was visiting her brother and going shopping.

Kaye Ellis returned to Camp Capers Sunday.

Susan Prugel is going to bring her horses into town soon to start practicing for the barrels in the Junior Rodeo in Sonora.

Everybody is looking forward to the rodeo in Ozona this weekend. We will find out more about it next week.

Since all that has happened lately has been rodeos, I feel that I should end this appropriately. We shall all now jump on our stick horses and ride away into the fading sunset. (Ooh, that's corny!)

"One Alcoholic Can Affect Five Other Persons' Lives" will be the topic at the Uvalde Alcoholics Anonymous public meeting in Central Power and Light Auditorium Saturday, July 10, at 8 p.m. in Uvalde.

John Sullivan, State director on alcoholism in the San Antonio area, will be the speaker and master of ceremonies at the meeting. The Rev. Charles Isbell will give the invocation.

AA reports that the American Medical Association has recognized alcoholism as the fourth ranking disease in America today, and also that it can be arrested.

Members of the Uvalde AA urge everyone to attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Specific Fungus May Cause Destruction Of Live Oak Trees, Researchers Believe

There has been much destruction of live oak trees in Texas in the last 35 years by what researchers at Texas A&M believe to be a specific fungus, reveals Dr. R. S. Halliwell, assistant professor, plant sciences department, Texas A&M University.

Halliwell goes on to explain that live oak decline was first observed in the vicinity of Austin in 1933. Since then it has spread to include most of the live oak habitats of Texas.

He says that occurrence of the "disease" in many new areas during the past year has caused growing concern among tree owners and researchers alike.

The disease has little preference as to locality or environmental conditions. It has been observed to affect cultivated as well as forest trees, young as well as old trees, trees on both acid and alkaline soils, trees on sandy and heavy clay soils, and trees in humid and dry climates. Yellowing of leaves is the first outward symptom of an infected tree, Halliwell says. Leaf yellowing may occur on certain branches or on the entire tree. If the whole tree is affected death

Splitting Hairs

Would a man be justified in shooting his wife because she wore curlers at the breakfast table? There are more than 1,000,000 books in the Harvard Law School Library, but not one of them even considers that question.

The reason is that the answer is so obviously "No." There simply is not enough room for argument. A question can become a legal issue only if it is close.

For example, suppose the husband claims that the shooting was accidental ("I didn't know the gun was loaded"), or that he fired in self-defense ("She hit me first with a rolling pin"). Then there are, indeed, legal issues—issues close enough for the lawyers to really argue about.

Is this due to a sheer love of hairsplitting on the part of lawyers? Not at all. Law is like that because life is like that. Anyone who has watched a Little League baseball game knows that it is the "close ones" which start the squabbles and test the mettle of the umpire.

And the world of law is, largely, a world of close ones. It is a world where ifs and maybes abound, and yeses and noes are few and far between. The law, willy-nilly, must provide answers to questions like these:

At what point does "indifference" shade into "mental cruelty"?

How much wear and tear is "reasonable"?

How fast is "with all deliberate speed"?

When does a man cross the line between "high" and "drunk"?

No wonder one harassed judge said that deciding such questions is like deciding "when a young lady gets to be an old maid."

Perhaps the questions are closest of all in the cases that reach the United States Supreme Court. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes once estimated that at least one third of the Court's cases are so close that unanimous decisions are humanly impossible.

So why shouldn't hairs be split in the pursuit of justice?

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

Keep Burlap Bag Handy
If you're in a fishing tournament and catch a fish you think might win a prize, wrap it in a wet burlap bag for transport. A fish can lose as much as 10 per cent of its weight drying out.

Use for Cheese Cloth
Fresh beef liver makes a good catfish bait. But it is difficult to keep on a hook.

Try wrapping the liver in cheese cloth. Fibers absorb the blood and blend with the liver but hold the bait together.

Ready-Made Grate
A shelf from an oven or old refrigerator makes a fine campfire grate.

Waxed Line Works Smoother
Run your spinning line over a block of wax if you want to make it skim through rod guides much easier.

Save on all your sporting goods when you buy at the Gulf Restaurant and Discount Center.

occurs within one to two weeks; otherwise, the decline takes from one to two years.

The heartwood of infected trees has a brown discoloration and a faint odor resembling acetic acid.

It is from heartwood of infected trees that researchers at A&M have isolated the pathogenic fungus which they believe is responsible for the live oak decline. This fungus was found in the heart of every infected tree examined. However, it has never been located in the dying terminals of infected trees.

The absence of this fungus in dying branches, combined with difficulty in isolating the fungus, led early researchers to the conclusion that the disease was caused by a virus.

"The apparent absence of the pathogen in dying terminals indicates that yellowing of leaves on dying trees is caused by an interference of the flow of nutrients within the tree and/or the presence of a toxin produced by the fungus," Halliwell states.

No satisfactory control for live oak decline has been developed to date. However, Halliwell says that live oak tree owners can reduce the chances of their trees becoming infected by removing all infected trees immediately after detection, and by maintaining the trees in a healthy condition by supplying sufficient amounts of moisture and plant nutrients.

Flu Immunization Necessary for Some

Dr. Charles F. Browne, city health officer, announced recently that an increased prevalence of influenza may be expected in the coming winter season, involving both Type A and Type B influenza viruses.

In view of this, the city health officer urged immunization for persons in groups who experience high mortality from epidemic influenza.

He explained that such people include (a) persons of all ages with chronic debilitating disease; (b) persons 45 years of age and older, especially those over 65; (c) pregnant women; (d) patients in nursing homes, chronic disease hospitals, and other similar institutions.

Individuals not vaccinated since 1963, the date of the last major change in the vaccine, should receive two doses of polyvalent vaccine two months apart, said Dr. Browne, with the first dose being given about September 1. Individuals vaccinated after July 1963, need to receive a single booster dose of vaccine, he added.

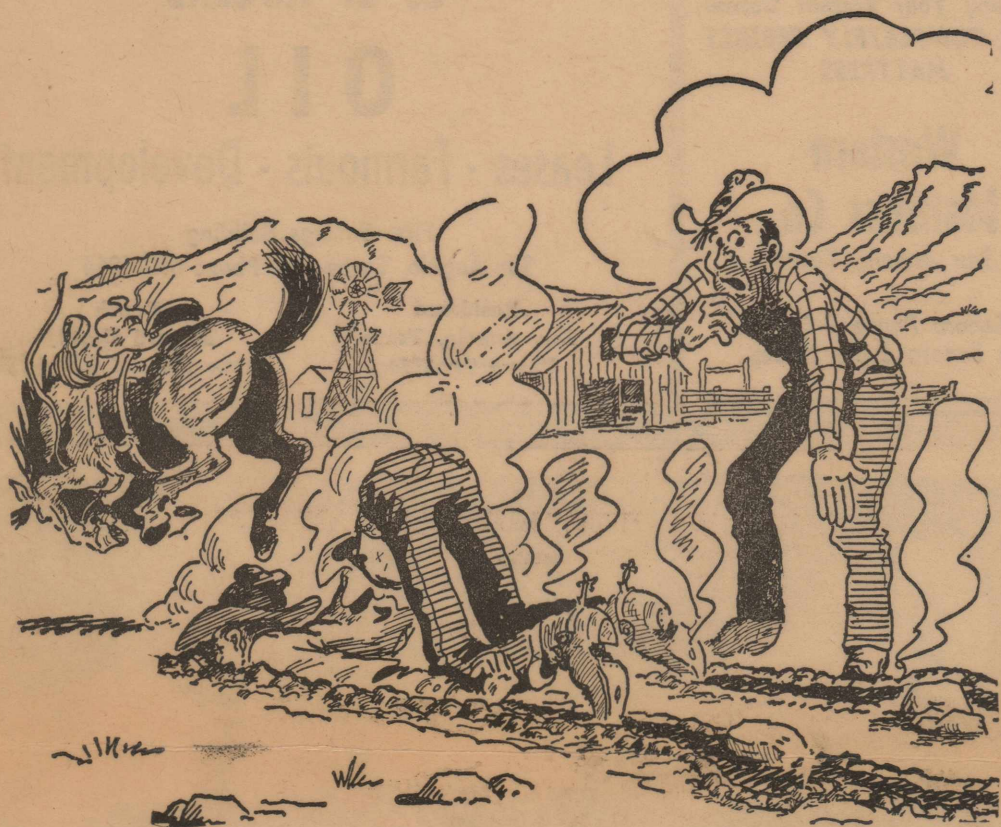

DOWDYS TO REPORT SUN.
