

Connally calls trip sensational

HOUSTON (AP) — John Connally's initial excursion into the Republican political stratosphere is over, and the presidential candidate says the trip was "nothing short of sensational."

The 62-year-old Houston attorney wrapped up a week-long campaign swing through 22 communities with a birthday reception in his home city Tuesday that included about 3,700 friends who paid $25 apiece to attend.

Campaign officials said their candidate spoke to about 27,000 people in his 3,000-mile odyssey around the state.

"There is no question in my mind that we can carry Texas on any basis," Connally said.

A mostly white, middle-class crowd downed free cocktails in an attempt to get its money's worth and discussed politics while waiting for the festivities to begin.

The party-goers cheered when Connally blew out the candles on a detailed cake replica of the White House, but continued chattering while others on the program spoke. They hushed, however, when Connally strode to center stage.

In the forceful, colorful "Big John Connally" style that won him three terms as Democratic governor of Texas before he switched parties, Connally engaged the people, telling them what they wanted to hear and asking for their support.

"We went off the high board on Jan. 24, and we're hoping you'll man the fire hoses and fill the pool before we land," he said. "It'll be a crash landing for us if you don't."

To intermittent cheers, he launched into a litany of problems facing the country and criticism of the Carter Administration for failing to deal with them.

"The government doesn't have anything to give you other than what it's taken away from you," said the obviously tired, but buoyant candidate.

He said inflation, foreign affairs and the energy crisis were the three main issues worrying the American voter.

In a news conference earlier, Connally told reporters gasoline shortages will trigger double-digit inflation, and predicted gasoline rationing and huge price increases this year.

He said the shortages were "nothing short of tragic and so unnecessary," and he attacked President Carter's handling of the situation.

Rather than follow policies encouraging expanded oil exploration and development, nuclear power and coal development, Connally said, Carter has asked the American people to "share the shortages."

"What kind of policy is that?" he asked. "The strength of the United States is an ever-expanding economy, not a sharing of shortages."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The program director for the Houston Interfaith Hunger Coalition told legislative committees Tuesday the state has a duty to feed the poor.

"It is an act of violence by the state to allow its people to go hungry," said Sister Pearl Ceasar.

She urged the Senate Finance Committee and House Human Services Committee to accept budget proposals by the Department of Human Resources for the food stamp program. The department is asking for $123.7 million in 1980-81, compared with approximately $67.7 million in the current two-year fiscal period.

In Houston alone, Sister Ceasar said, 60,000 persons a year need emergency assistance in obtaining food.

"These people cannot wait," she said. "They have no food in their homes. They and their children are hungry."

"In short," she said, "we believe that the state has the duty to insure that the right to food is guaranteed."

The department's budget includes enough money for 850 additional workers to determine Texans who are eligible for food stamps, she said.

The average caseload per worker is 180, Sister Ceasar said, and the new funding would cut that figure in half.

In separate testimony, 10 groups urged the same two committees to raise the monthly average state grant for poor children by nearly $8 a month.

They said the basic grant for Aid to Families with Dependent Children is $32.58 a month and has not been raised since 1969 despite an inflation rate of 74 percent. They urged that it be raised to $41.39.

The basic grants are based on 75 percent of what is considered the minimum amount to care for poor children, the groups said.

"This Legislature may give no clearer indication of its concern for people than it will give in response to this issue," said a statement.

The statement was presented by the League of Women Voters; Texas Catholic Conference; National Association of Social Workers; Christian Life Commission; Texas United Community Services, Inc.; Texas IMPACT; Texas Conference of Churches; Levi Strauss; Texas AFI-CIO; and Texas Child Care '78.

Appointment stirs debate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Joe Bishop has been described by some as a onetime 365-day-a-year college fundraiser and dedicated administrator but by others as a fast-talking lobbyist and poor money manager.

What Bishop, a Dallas investment officer, wants to be is a regent of the University System of South Texas.

His appointment by Gov. Dolph Briscoe has turned into one of the most controversial of the Legislature.

After three hours of hearings Feb. 20 and Tuesday, the Senate Nominations Subcommittee voted unanimously to send Bishop's nomination to the full Senate without a recommendation.

"We decided to fight it out on the floor," said

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena.

Professor J.D. Phaup of Texas A&I University — a part of the South Texas system — renewed a faculty attack Tuesday on the qualifications of Bishop, 38, former executive director of the A&I alumni association and former vice chancellor.

Seventy-seven professors, approximately one-third the faculty at A&I's main campus at Kingsville, have signed a petition opposing the appointment of Bishop, who left A&I in 1975.

Sen. Carl Parker said Bishop's opponents "have not documented one iota of wrongdoing by Joe Bishop. All they did was raise questions. It's a cowardly way to attack someone — it's dishonest."

Depot to serve as museum

By MARVIN MORGENSTERN
Pampa News Staff

MIAMI — Recent warm weather has allowed preparations to continue at the site for the new Roberts County Museum here.

When Santa Fe closed their depot here, residents wanted to save the historic building from destruction. There also was a growing need to preserve the deteriorating Judge J.A. Mead collection in the basement of the county courthouse.

The problem was solved by buying the depot, moving it to a prominent location downtown, and using it to preserve the Mead collection and artifacts donated by area residents.

Roberts County received notice in November that it had won the bid on the depot and was given until Jan. 31 to move the building. Icy weather prevented preparation of the new site so a 60-day extension was granted.

Leveling at the site is almost complete and installation of sewers and the foundation is to begin soon.

Cecil Gill, chairman of the museum committee, expects the museum to be in operation by June 2, the day National Cow-Calling is held.

"Cow-calling is the big time of the year for Miami and a lot of the old-timers will return to Miami for the Old-Timer's Reunion. We would like to have the museum open for their enjoyment when they return," said Gill.

Museum work committees have been organized to prepare the building for opening. All work and much of the materials needed are being donated to the project.

A museum fund has been started at the First State Bank of Miami, but $11,500 is needed to reach the $15,000 goal set by the committee.

Anyone who wishes to make a donation is encouraged to contact Gill at 868-2061.

Nursing center to be dedicated

A dedication ceremony followed by an open house will be held at the Thomas Nursing Center in McLean on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Eddie Melin of the Panhandle Health Care Regional Planning Committee will be the guest speaker.

Construction of the 59-bed facility at the corner of Seventh and Cedar streets began in October 1978. The intermediate health care facility employs a staff of 22, including two registered and five vocational nurses.

Facilities at the center include five private rooms, dining room, activities room, beauty shop and a large foyer with a fireplace. Three wings are designed for patient care.

Bill Thomas is the administrator. Thomas Nursing Center Inc. owns another health care facility in Wellington and is a family-owned business.

Pat Rudy, head nurse, said that ten patients have already applied to live in the facility which is expected to begin operations Monday.

Although Rudy said she expects most of the residents to be older people, the facility is open to those over 16 who need regular nursing care.

"The community support (of McLean) has been unreal," Rudy said.

Bible study set

The first session of Dr. Alvin Hiltbrunner's Noon Bible Study will take place on Thursday at the Central Baptist Church at Starkweather and Browning from 11:45 a.m. to 12:55 p.m.

The sessions will be held at the same time every Thursday. A fellowship luncheon also will be held. The church will provide the meat and drinks while members are asked to bring vegetables and salads.

Dr. Hiltbrunner, church pastor, will begin the studies by featuring the Book of I John. Everyone is welcome.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has seized from entertainer Jerry Lee Lewis nearly a dozen vehicles — including a Rolls Royce — along with furniture and stereo equipment.

Eve Miller, public information officer for the IRS in Nashville, said a lien was filed Tuesday against Lewis for $160,000 in personal income taxes. A seizure order followed.

Ms. Miller said IRS special agents, accompanied by U.S. Treasury Department agents and DeSoto County, Miss., sheriff's deputies, removed the property from Lewis' Nesbit, Miss., home.

Among the articles confiscated were the Rolls Royce, two tractors, a Corvette, a Cadillac, two antique cars, a motorcycle, a jeep, farm equipment, furniture, stereo equipment, television sets and an organ.

It may be Tut's revenge

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Ed Koch and the meteorological chaps will never admit it, but the freak blizzard that buried New York last week has got to be King Tut's revenge.

No good has come to any city that mucked about with the gaudy trinkets found in the boy king's burial vault. Look at the record of where the exhibit has been:

Washington, D.C. just had its worst snowstorm in anybody's memory.

Chicago this year would make the Polar Ice Cap look like a Caribbean resort.

New Orleans has had its biggest tourist attraction, the Mardi Gras, crippled by a police strike.

Los Angeles has been cursed with mud slides, earth tremors, forest fires and a baseball team that fell apart in the World Series.

The weather, the fishing and real estate prices have all gone berserk in Seattle since the mummy's ghoulish playthings were unveiled on the old World's Fair Grounds. Freakish winds, a cold wave and a rare snowstorm have all visited the queen city.

London has been plagued with strikes and storms.

The Egyptologists at the Metropolitan Museum should have known that making a public show of Tutankhamen's inlaid gizzard box, his three-fold nest of coffins, the gold mask and the other unsavory bric-a-brac rifled from the cemetery in the Valley of the Kings by grave robber Howard Carter would only invite a counter-invasion against the body snatchers from the spirit world.

Let's face it. New York has been going downhill ever since they erected Cleopatra's Needle in Central Park 100 years ago.

Jury backs Dallas officer

DALLAS (AP) — A state district court jury has awarded a Dallas police officer $4,000 after ruling that the officer had been libeled as a result of statements made by a man who accused the officer of misconduct.

In a 10-2 ruling, the jury awarded $4,000 to police investigator Barry Anderson, who had filed the suit against Robert Putter, asking for $75,000 damages. All 12 jurors agreed Anderson had been libeled, but two said later they could not decide the cash value to be awarded to Anderson.

Anderson said Tuesday he was satisfied with the outcome although he did not get the amount he sought. He said he believed the verdict would discourage people from making "false and malicious" complaints against officers.

Putter, who said he will appeal the verdict, said he believes the trial's outcome will prevent others from making complaints about police misconduct.

The suit was filed as a result of a series of letters written by Putter to the police department claiming Anderson assaulted and harassed his 16-year-old son during two arrests in 1976.

After the trial, Putter argued that the verdict ignored his right to freedom of speech and will inhibit others from speaking out if they believe their rights have been violated by police officers.

In his instructions, District Judge James McCarthy told the jurors that Putter's statements were libelous.

Senators suffer growing pains

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senators with growing pains voted Tuesday to bounce virtually all of the secretary of state's staff out of the Capitol so senators can have more office space.

The Senate Administration Committee overrode the protests of Secretary of State George Strake in voting 5-0 to take over all but two of his 11 rooms for Senate offices.

The committee decided to leave Strake only his personal office and anteroom on the first floor of the west wing.

Sen. Bob Vale's resolution now goes to the full Senate. It also would have to be approved by the House to become effective.

"We put out the word we were trying to consolidate, but we didn't intend to eliminate the entire office," Strake testified.

"It would isolate me from the governor's office and from my people," he said. "I don't see how we could remain effective with them spread out all over the Capitol grounds."

Strake, the state's chief election officer, said he uses a private elevator two to four times a day to visit with Gov. Bill Clements and staff on the second floor.

Strake estimated that one-fourth of the 4,807 square feet he now has is occupied by vault storage. The remainder of the space is occupied by some 30 employees, he said.

Another 160 employees are in a nearby building.

The resolution would leave Strake only 625 square feet.

"My office would be rather useless by itself," he said. "I mentioned it to the governor, and he was against it — strongly against it." Strake was appointed by Clements.

"I feel strongly about losing those spaces and just picking up and moving around," said Strake. "It would be a costly affair and decrease our efficiency. I would hang in there as strong as I could to keep it."

Vale, D-San Antonio, said Strake would still have more working space than Vale does in his fourth floor Capitol office.

Dear Abby

by abigail van buren

DEAR ABBY: There are two sides to the lament voiced by DON'T DRIVE IN OMAHA.

I am a "Do Drive" living in a retirement community in Arizona, surrounded by "Don't Drives." When I moved here I invited some "Don't Drives" to ride with me to shopping centers and various civic affairs. No doubt this was a welcome gesture to them, but it later became such a headache that I quit offering.

There is the "Don't Drive" who, when invited to go to a shopping center, asks to be driven all over the city on her little errands.

There is the "Don't Drive" who shows up with two or three of her friends, unknown to me, whom SHE has invited to go along—each with their own little errands that will take "only a minute."

There are the invitations extended to me solely because I drive and can provide transportation for five or six of my hostesses' "Don't Drives."

Just most of all, I resent the "Don't Drives" who have never driven—because they're "too nervous," but are the world's most unnerving backseat drivers!

DO DRIVE IN ARIZONA

DEAR DO DRIVE: You must be living in the wrong retirement community. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I live in an area with a large population of senior citizens, many of whom do not drive. (My eyes are poor, so I can't drive.)

However, I've never wanted for transportation anywhere. Two or three neighbors call me daily, offering to drive me wherever I want to go.

Perhaps it's because I keep a record of all the rides I get. I mark down the approximate amount I would have paid had I hired a taxi. Then, periodically, I give each person who has driven me a box of groceries whose cash value equals the cab fare I saved.

DON'T DRIVE, DO PAY

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of relatives you never hear from unless they're drunk?

SHIRLEY

DEAR SHIRLEY: It could be worse. You could have relatives you never hear from unless they're BROKE.

DEAR ABBY: I am still laughing about something that happened this morning. The character who gave me that laugh sounds like someone who'd write to you.

I am a switchboard operator for the telephone company. When I answered a call this morning there was no response on the other end of the line. After I had said, "Good morning, this is the Pacific Telephone Company" for the third time, I heard a somewhat embarrassed little female voice say, "Is this REALLY the telephone company?"

I assured her it was, and asked her to whom she wanted to speak.

She replied, "Nobody, I guess. I found this telephone number in my husband's coat pocket and my curiosity was killing me."

DORIS IN L.A.

by lawrence lamb m.d.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know common salt can be dangerous and I have been reducing my use of it in cooking and on the table. However, what about sea salt? Is it dangerous, or would it be all right to use it?

DEAR READER — Salt isn't necessarily dangerous. It depends upon whether or not you need it. If a person suffers from salt depletion, as a heavy laborer might with excessive sweating, then it might be useful to replace the body's normal salt content. We all have salt in our blood and tissues and it is essential to our health. Without an adequate amount of it, we would go into chemical imbalance and die.

Most people do use too much salt or certainly more than they need. There are a variety of medical problems, such as heart failure, that are associated with retention of fluid and are adversely affected by salt.

Common salt, as we use it on the table, is sodium chloride. In that pure state, it has nothing else added. When pure salt is obtained from an area without anything else, trace amounts of iodine are added so people will not have iodine deficiencies. Impure salt may contain a variety of other elements besides iodine. That's true of sea salt.

It is still sodium chloride, and if you had a medical condition that meant you should restrict salt intake, you certainly should not use it. If you're a normal, healthy person and want to use sea salt in reasonable amounts, then it should not harm you any more than the ordinary salt you buy at the grocery store. Don't expect any miracles from it because there are no real beneficial effects from sea salt that you should not be able to get from ordinary salt.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 29-year-old male. After undergoing two recent exploratory operations, I was informed that I could never have children. It seems that although my testicles do produce a normal amount of sperm, the passage that carries the sperm from the testicles to the penis (vas deferens) is not there. I would like to know if my chances for reproduction are completely hopeless at this time. If so, is there any hope in the near future?

DEAR READER — The answer to your question depends a lot on what was really found during the exploratory surgery. Men who have had their vas deferens surgically severed can sometimes have the sterilization operation reversed. Of course, the less damage done to the vas deferens, the easier it is to accomplish this.

The vas deferens is just a tube. A vasectomy literally cuts and blocks the tube to dam up the sperm cells.

I would think your best bet for reconstruction to provide a tube or passageway might be with one of the new microsurgical techniques. It's worth a consultation with such a urological surgeon. Since you've already had exploratory operations, I presume that there ought to be quite a bit of information that he could use to determine whether there is anything that could be done now.

Furniture coverings that are taken 'off the wall'

By ELAINE Q. BARROW
AP Newsfeatures

Some wall coverings are literally "off the wall."

They can be furniture coverings, too. Try wall coverings on sofas, coffee tables, chair seats. Even built-in furniture and wall units can be given new identity with the distinctive patterns available in wall coverings.

"It's utterly, 100 percent washable, even more, scrubbable," says Thomas Harshman, a designer and consultant to Kassel Corporation. "It will not fade and you can take a brush to it. Who wants to deal with fingerprints?"

New ideas for gaining the most dramatic impact with wall coverings were staged in model rooms at a recent showing, with special consideration for the younger consumer who must reckon with limited space.

"There's a whole new market out there," says Harshman. "The new man who isn't afraid to be fashionable, the new woman who knows she is somebody — they are being themselves with a vengeance."

"Sense appeal" is the approach Harshman believes will win acceptance.

"This is the age of touch, feel, experience," he explains. "There are textures for every personality and every sensation — from caressable moires to sensuous straws."

His newly-introduced collection interprets these sentiments in embossed and laminated vinyls and printed mylar-polyesters.

Prominent are a rough-sawn wood design, an embossed mosaic and a treatment of rough-woven jute. And the colors are clove, toast, espresso, butter, cream, silvery grays, misty blues, spring greens and ruby reds.

In another exhibit, Katzenbach and Warren take a cue from the conservation fervor to style an entire collection on the American wilderness theme. It is called "Winds and Wilds." As an added concession, it is printed on recycled paper.

Woodlands, birds, the sea, florals and animals dominate the patterns on strippable paper.

In the collection, "Marshland" is composed of densely designed flowers and plants. Squirrels, raccoons, birds and bears cluster in a woodland scene in "Wild Life," and "Sanctuary" depicts egrets and herons standing amidst grass and ponds.

Exotic birds and flowers, framed in medallions, are featured also by Greeff in its Carlisle II collection. This rendering, however, was derived from an ancient Indonesian batik and is compatible with provincial furnishings.

Acknowledging a renewed interest in Oriental themes, the firm also presents a Chinoiserie wallpaper in blue and natural, with human figures forming an overall pattern. An example was displayed in a study with country furnishings, accented by brilliant red upholstery and draperies. Another wallpaper, taken from an antique scroll, is highlighted by a feathery bamboo design.

Photographic wall murals, especially those featuring outdoor scenes, have escalated in popularity.

A spokesman for Naturescapes attributes the enthusiasm to "increased interest in photography as an art form, a trend toward realism in painting and sculpture, and the great improvement in printing technology and materials."

He cited "Eagle Creek" and "Canoe Country" as two of the firm's best sellers. These, too, are washable and completely dry strippable.

Should you decide you'd like to put up wall covering yourself, but are not sure how to make a selection, here are some pointers from Con-Tact designers:

You can push back your walls, optically, with light colors and subdued patterns. By contrast, warm colors are likely to make a room look smaller. Cool colors gave it a more spacious air, as does the gleam of metallics — possibly why they are often used in small bathrooms.

Bold designs on a short wall will make a room appear better proportioned. Stripes will make a low ceiling seem higher. Tall ceilings will "come down" if you use a patterned border near the ceiling on a plain wall. Another way requires a dado with wall paper above it and paint below

A slanted ceiling will "disappear" if covered with the same pattern as the walls.

There's an exception to the general rule about the optical effects of patterns. Ordinarily, a small pattern makes a room look larger — but not if the design is strongly repetitive. Conversely, a large pattern — if it is airy and three-dimensional in feeling — may broaden your vistas considerably.

NEW USES FOR WALL COVERINGS. Scrap pieces of wallcovering can be used in many ways. They can make a pretty shade to give life to an old lamp or can be used to liven up a child's room.

Arturo Toscanini, Italian-born symphony conductor of the New York Philharmonic, died in New York in 1957.

DEAR POLLY: Use a muffin pan as a bed tray for a sick child. Each section can hold a different food and there is less chance of spilling than with separate dishes.

My bandaged finger was too large to pull a rubber glove over so I wrapped masking tape around the bandage and not only did it stay clean but dry as well. I found this much more satisfactory than a badly soiled bandage when the doctor said it was not to be removed for several days. - L.A.W.

Meat will stay on school lunch menus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite soaring prices, the Agriculture Department says it has no plan to reduce or eliminate meat from school lunch menus.

According to one administration source, who asked not to be identified, some officials in the White House's Office of Management and Budget as early as a year ago talked seriously about suspending meat purchases for donation to schools as an economy measure.

The source said meat price increases since then could kindle further support to suspend purchases until livestock production increases and prices level off.

Since USDA began buying meat for schools last summer for the current 1978-79 term, about 80.6 million pounds of ground beef has been ordered at a cost of $93.1 million, an average of about $1.16 a pound wholesale.

In the previous year, USDA bought 93.9 million pounds for $67.8 million, an average of 72 cents a pound.

Sen. J.J. Exon, D-Neb., raised the school lunch question Tuesday during Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland's appearance at the National Governors' Association meeting here. Exon is a former governor of Nebraska, a leading beef producing state.

Bergland indicated he was not aware of the details involving the meat issue in the lunch program.

Exon and Rep. Virginia Smith, R-Neb., have questioned USDA's plans for altering school lunch menus and have expressed concerns that a move is afoot to reduce the amount of meat served to children.

Exon said in the Congressional Record of Feb. 9 that he wrote to Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman "to express my outrage" at proposed regulations he said would "allow for the substitution of 50 percent of the protein which is provided our children through the school lunch program to come from plant sources."

Ms. Foreman said she had not seen Exon's letter before or after it was published in the Congressional Record.

At the request of a reporter, she provided a copy of a letter to Exon, dated Feb. 21, in which she expressed "surprise" at seeing his letter to her in the record.

Ms. Foreman said Exon's statement "continues an entirely inaccurate barrage of criticisms begun prior to last year's elections."

The school lunch and meat issue was first brought up, she said, by Rep. Smith in a letter Oct. 23.

Ms. Foreman said she could "emphatically state" that Exon's concern over eliminating meat from school lunches is unwarranted.

"The department has not made any proposal to reduce or eliminate the purchase of meat, particularly red meat, from the school lunch program, or to replace meat with plant protein. Nor does the department intend to make any such proposal," Ms. Foreman told Exon.

As outlined by Ms. Foreman in her letter to Exon — and one earlier to Mrs. Smith — changes were proposed 18 months ago to update school lunch menus in line with changes in food consumption, eating patterns, food preferences and nutritional needs of children.

Interim regulations designed to do this are being tested in some schools, she said.

The meat requirements in the interim regulations, announced last August, are "essentially the same as the requirements that have been in effect for the school lunch program since 1946," Ms. Foreman said.

In addition to cash grants to states, the department buys dozens of commodities — including meat — for donation to school cafeterias.

Ms. Foreman said that schools submit their food preferences to the department, which then buys what they want "within the limits established by the money available" for those commodities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New polite, plain language has been used by the government to help low-income families apply for food stamps.

For example, instead of the printed commands such as "fill in" and "list," the new forms say, "we would like you to" and "ask that recipients 'please' provide the information needed," the Agriculture Department said Tuesday.

The revised application forms have been in the works for months, including their design and field testing.

Seeking to balance the budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a while there, every politician wanted to be a tax cutter. Now there are new buzzwords: balance the budget.

There is little disagreement on the desirability of that goal. There is little but disagreement on the way to achieve it.

The count of budget balancing bills and resolutions introduced in Congress is pushing 80. In 28 states, legislatures have adopted resolutions calling for a constitutional amendment to require balancing federal budgets. They want a constitutional convention to make the change if Congress won't act.

President Carter opposes an amendment, but says he wants a balanced budget. The administration guardedly projects that federal spending will break into the black in 1981, but says that depends on economic conditions and on the need for new programs or tax reductions.

An AP-NBC News poll showed 68 percent of the people favor a balanced budget even if it requires cuts in federal programs they like. That survey of 1,600 adult Americans, conducted Feb. 5-6, showed that 70 percent favor a constitutional amendment that would require balanced federal budgets.

But the same number say they don't think the politicians who are publicly committed to balancing the budget will actually work to do it. And by 49 percent to 45 percent, people say they don't think it is going to be possible to balance federal spending and income in the next few years anyhow.

There's a political issue there, but nobody seems quite sure how to handle it. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. advocates a constitutional amendment, by convention if Congress doesn't approve one and submit it to the states. He lost in his own legislature, where the Ways and Means Committee would not approve asking for a convention. Instead, it urged Congress to balance the budget.

Brown tried again Monday at a meeting of the National Governors' Association, and fared no better.

Byrne wins in Chicago

By The Associated Press
Democratic upstart Jane Byrne stunned Mayor Michael A. Bilandic and the once mighty Chicago party machine with a primary victory Tuesday night, while in Kansas City, Mayor Charles B. Wheeler lost a bid for an unprecedented third term.

Meanwhile, Cleveland voters gave their financially pressed city a boost by overwhelmingly passing a payroll tax increase. But voters followed the recommendations of Mayor Dennis J. Kucinich and rejected a proposal to sell the city-owned electric utility.

With 96 percent of the vote counted in Chicago — 2,990 out of 3,100 precincts — Mrs. Byrne had 398,742 votes, or 50.96 percent, to Bilandic's 383,715, or 49.03 percent.

"We are going to get the city working again. We are going to get it moving again," Mrs. Byrne told jubilant supporters late Tuesday.

Earlier, Bilandic had declined to concede defeat but he told his followers in a brief statement: "If the present trend continues it appears that Mrs. Byrne will be the nominee of the Democratic Party, and Heather (his wife) and I extend our congratulations."

Mrs. Byrne, a one-time Democratic regular and city official who was fired after criticizing the mayor, capitalized on the city's bitter winter and its problems to gain support for her effort to unseat Bilandic from the office he inherited from the late Richard J. Daley.

Wallace Johnson, an investment banker, won the Republican primary over Ray Wardingly, a taxi driver. Mrs. Byrne and Johnson will meet in the general election April 3.

Tabulations from 639 of Cleveland's 645 precincts gave the proposal to increase the city's payroll tax from 1 percent to 1.5 percent a 73,648-34,717 lead. The proposal to sell the Municipal Electric Light System trailed 69,302 to 38,363. Kucinich and many of his political foes supported the tax increase to help the city stave off bankruptcy, but the mayor bitterly opposed selling the utility.

In Kansas City, with all votes in, Bruce Watkins led with 23,853 votes, Richard L. Berkley was second with 22,897, Joel Pelofsky was third with 18,870 and Wheeler fourth with 18,536. Watkins and Berkley will meet in a runoff March 27. If elected, Watkins would become the first black to hold Kansas City's top office.

Mrs. Byrne, 43, was a member of the Daley and Bilandic Cabinets before she was fired last year after accusing Bilandic of illegally facilitating taxi cab fare increases. A federal grand jury, which investigated her allegations, returned no indictments.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Many of the junior officers and noncoms in Iran's 430,000-man armed forces are demoralized, bitter and fearful because of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's purge of their senior officers and talk among leftist revolutionaries of a "people's army."

Amin, Uganda are in trouble

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Ugandan President Idi Amin said Tuesday that forces loyal to him have recaptured the key southern town of Masaka from "invading Tanzanian aggressors," but fierce fighting was still going on.

Meanwhile, The Los Angeles Times reported Tuesday in a dispatch from Nairobi, Kenya, that Western diplomatic sources said Amin had evacuated his family to Libya, foreigners were fleeing from Kampala and the Ugandan army was in rebellion.

The official Uganda Radio, monitored in Nairobi, quoted Amin as assuring the commander of a "suicide battalion" based in Masaka that reinforcements were on the way.

Amin said Sunday he had lost control over Masaka, a provincial administrative center 80 miles south of Kampala, the Ugandan capital, and 50 miles north of the Tanzania border.

It appeared to be the deepest penetration of enemy units into Uganda since the two countries went to war four months ago.

The city located at the highest altitude in the United States is Leadville, Colorado, more than 10,000 feet above sea level.

Corner Drug of Perryton topped the Pampa Independents 69-50 for the consolation trophy in Monday night's other game.

Saied's will take on the Pampa News for third place in the 7 p.m. preliminary game Wednesday, making it an all-Pampa affair for first through fourth places.

Bass group to open season

Division V of the Texas Poor Boys Bass Association will open its season March 25 at the White River Lake near Crosbyton. The tournament is sponsored by the White River Marina, located on the west side of the lake.

the entrant is not already a member of the association.

Pampa area fishermen expected to compete include R.L. Orth, Roy Alderson (of Lefors), Darrell Crofton, Wendell Maxie, Bennie Barbour, Mike Hardin and Don Hinton.

Entry blank copies are available at the Pampa News. This is the association's only tournament in March, with the next event scheduled for April 22 at Ft. Cobb Lake in Watonga, Okla.

Harvesters at Dumas Thursday

Baseball team to open year

By JOE BLOBAUM

Pampa News Sports Editor Pampa High's baseball team opens its spring campaign with what normally would be considered a killer schedule, but Coach Steve Scott says the Harvesters have the experience necessary to play — and win — five games in three days.

"We started building this team two years ago," he said Tuesday afternoon as a brief rain interrupted his team's preparations for Thursday's opener at Dumas. "We had a lot of good young players then. We have a lot of good young players this year, but it's going to be hard for them to break in."

The '79 Harvesters boast no less than three 3-year starters, a pair of two-year starters and a batch of other returnees who helped the team to the district batting title last year.

"We led the district in hitting last year and plan to again this year," Scott noted. "Hitting is one of our potentially strong points, and I think the hitters will be above the pitchers this early in the year."

But Pampa won't lack pitching experience. Scott said all of his pitchers will be in at least their second year with the varsity, giving solid support to his team's threat to overtake tradition-rich Amarillo High in the District 3-A AAAA race.

"Our defense will be as good as Pampa's been in the last five or six years," he added.

Thursday's lineup against the Demons — and the pitching rotation through Friday's Pampa Tournament and Saturday's twin bill with Borger — is even more evidence of the team's depth and experience. Right fielder Brett Atchley will lead off, with three-year starter Richard Wuest batting second. Wuest hit .384 with 28 RBIs last year and will man center field. Second baseman Mark Jennings, a 370 slugger in '78, will bat third, with three-year catcher Rick Daugherty (.323 last year) in the cleanup slot.

Keenan Henderson, who hit at a .324 clip last year, will handle the first base chores, while three-year regular Greg Koch (.417 hitter last year) will be in left field. Jeff Copeland will be the designated hitter for pitcher Julian Clark, third sacker Greg Quarles will bat eighth and returning shortstop Joe Jeffers will fill out the lineup.

In Friday's 10 a.m. opener in the Pampa Tournament, Daugherty (3.4, 4.71 ERA last year) will get the nod on the mound as the Harvesters take on Canyon at Optimist Park. Hereford and Dumas will play at noon, with the third place game set for 2 and the championship tilt at 4.

Steve Stout, with a .400 batting and 3-2 (3.73 ERA) pitching year behind him, will start Pampa's second game of the tourney.

John Davis (2-2 last year) will open Saturday's twin bill (also at the Optimist diamond) at 1 p.m. against Borger, with Henderson (1-0, 3.33 ERA last year) to start the nightcap. Sophomores Mark Qualls and Leroy Kuhn and senior Layne Clark will be ready for relief duty.

Longhorns open spring drills

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas, which closed its season with a 22-0 triumph of Maryland in the Sun Bowl, opens spring training Friday.

Although 38 of 50 lettermen will return next season, linebacker Lance Taylor will miss spring practice because of a knee injury, and split receiver Johnny "Lam" Jones is not in school this semester.

Next fall Texas should have eight offensive and nine defensive starters returning from the 1978 squad, which finished 9-3, including Coach Fred Akers' first bowl victory.

Texas tied for second in the Southwest Conference.

The major losses are All-American kicker Russell Erxleben and quarterback Randy McEachern and Mark McBath, who quit a year early to concentrate on getting into medical school.

The top contenders at quarterback are freshman

Donnie Little and redshirts Jon Aune and Sam Ansley.

The returning redshirts include All-American safety Johnnie Johnson.

Texas will work daily Monday through Saturday, except for spring break March 11-18. The final intrasquad game is scheduled for March 31.

THE PAMPA HARVESTER baseball team will open its schedule Thursday afternoon with a 4 o'clock game at Dumas. The team will be back in Pampa Friday morning to kick off its own tournament in a 10 a.m. game against Canyon and will take on Borger in a Saturday double header, giving it five games in the season's first three days.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Larry Bird is hard to start and hard to stop.

Not always one to get off to a flying start in a game, Indiana State's supreme forward usually finishes fast. And the result this season has always been a sudden demise for the opposition.

On Sunday, Indiana State's Birdman didn't score a point for nearly seven minutes, but finished with a career-high 49 as the Sycamores routed Wichita State.

And Tuesday night, Bird didn't take his first shot until 11:38 remaining in the first half, but finished with 29 to lead the nation's top-ranked team to a 94-84 victory over West Texas State in an opening-round game of the Missouri Valley Conference playoffs.

Bird's latest performance seemed to reflect the general tenor of the Indiana State team, which according to Carl Nicks "were motivated" at the start of Tuesday night's game.

"At halftime, the coach (Bill Hodges) told the guards we're going to have to work some more, and then we got into the game a little more," Nicks said. "I think it was because we were up so much for last Sunday's game and we had beaten West Texas State very easily the last two times."

In their first-round MVC playoff games, Southern Illinois defeated Creighton 71-67; Wichita State edged Drake 70-69 and New Mexico State stopped Tulsa 82-79.

The Big Eight and Eastern-8 conferences also opened tournament play Tuesday night, with tourney winners assured of a berth in the NCAA playoffs.

In the Big Eight, Oklahoma defeated Colorado 77-57, Kansas stopped Iowa State 91-70, Missouri turned back Oklahoma State 92-70, and Kansas State nipped Nebraska 61-60 in double overtime.

In the Eastern-8, Rutgers took a 67-57 decision over Penn State. Pitt beat George Washington 85-80, West Virginia whipped Duquesne 73-59 and Villanova trimmed Massachusetts 78-73 in overtime.

Elsewhere, 10th-ranked Marquette whipped South Carolina 83-64 and No. 15 DePaul defeated Alabama-Birmingham 88-77.

Along with his 29 points, Bird also contributed 15 rebounds to the Indiana State cause. West Texas State, sparked by the shooting of Eddie Harris — who scored 27 points — led for most of the first half and trailed only 55-54 with under 16 minutes left in the game.

But the Sycamores then took command with an eight-point streak and outscored West Texas State 14-2 in the next three minutes. The victory was the 27th straight for the unbeaten Sycamores.

"We just ran out of people," said West Texas State Coach Ken Edwards, who had four players with four fouls early in the second half.

Hodges agreed: "The fouls got them into trouble. If not, the game might still have been as close in the second half."

Gary Wilson led Southern Illinois to the lead late in the first half and the Salukis held off several Creighton rallies to beat the Blue Jays.

The Gray County Courthouse is one of the community's most important buildings—even if you never enter it. In its vaults are stored the vital statistics of our community—the birth certificate containing the community's first recognition that a human life has joined the community; the marriage certificate stating the community's recognition that two people now live as one; the tax records, litigation records, and finally, the death certificate which is the recognition that a life has finally left the community. The funeral is also a public record—sort of a certificate given by the entire community that a person has lived, had worth and meaning, has loved and was loved, and now has died. At Duenkel-Smith Funeral Home, the funeral—the community's death certificate for an individual—is handled with care for the same reasons valuable records are placed in carefully protected vaults.

FOCUS

And Baby Makes 220 Million

When the federal government conducted its first census in 1790, fewer than four million people lived in the United States. Earlier this month, the Census Bureau reported that the country's population had reached 220 million. The Census Bureau conducts a survey of the population every 10 years, in years ending with zero. For the years in between, the bureau records population growth on a special clock, which takes into account the birth rate, death rate, and movement of people into and out of the country. The clock adds a person to the population every 19 seconds. The Census Bureau is now preparing for the next population survey in 1980.

DO YOU KNOW - What ancient country used a census to help collect taxes?
