Carter fulfills campaign promise

By JOHN PRICE
Pampa News Staff

ELK CITY, Okla. — Jimmy Carter fulfilled a 1975 campaign promise to the residents of this small western Oklahoma town by returning here late Saturday for an overnight visit.

Carter's motorcade through Elk City was greeted by the cheers of supporters and the jeers of protesters of the American Agriculture Movement, who had tractors parked at every corner along the downtown motorcade route.

Among the numerous American flags and window signs reading "Elk City Loves Jimmy Carter" were occasional signs urging voters to dump Carter.

Excited spectators from throughout the area, wearing green buttons commemorating the president's visit, began lining the motorcade route, hours before Carter's arrival.

Carter arrived in town from a nearby airport at about 7 p.m. and was driven to the local high school, where he spent an hour speaking and answering questions at a town meeting of 11,000 persons. Those attending had won tickets to the meeting in a lottery earlier in the week.

"None of you can know how good it felt for me to come back to Elk City," Carter told the audience in the packed school gymnasium. "As a Baptist I'm not very enthusiastic about gambling but I modified my views when I heard they had a lottery."

Before answering questions, Carter made an opening statement about the "battle against inflation."

"I believe in a few weeks we shall begin to see the results of that battle," Carter said. "I need your support."

Referring to the most recent cost of living index figures released by the government, Carter called the inflation level "unacceptable."

Those figures are a warning," the president said.

Carter noted that "crucial" labor negotiations are coming up and added "I expect restraint."

President said he has already identified some companies that have violated his voluntary wage price guidelines, and "we will identify more within the next few days."

Acknowledging the role government plays in inflation, Carter said "we cannot tolerate increases in federal spending."

"I am committed to a balanced budget. The difficult job of inflation is not beyond our control."

Carter compared the problem of inflation with the problem of obtaining a Middle East peace and received a standing ovation when he noted Israeli Prime Minister Begin and Egyptian President Sadat will be in Washington Monday to sign a peace treaty.

"With courage, cooperation and determination success is now within our grasp," Carter said. "We need the same qualities to fight inflation."

Asked about the soundness of a peace treaty built on $5 billion "inflated American tax dollars," Carter replied "The costs will run a little over a billion dollars a year for three to four years" to help Israel and Egypt implement the treaty.

"I think it is an excellent investment," Carter said. "The cost of war would be much greater."

Responding to another inflation related question concerning labor, Carter said "I think it is accurate to say that so far labor has complied with the guidelines."

He said he hoped to persuade the Teamsters, rubber workers and auto workers unions to stay within his guidelines during their upcoming wage contract negotiations.

After the meeting, Carter met with the Oklahoma Democratic Party Executive Committee and then spent the night at the home of the Elk City mayor.

This morning the President was scheduled to attend services at the first Baptist Church and afterward fly to Dallas where he will give the opening address to a national convention of broadcasters.

Pampa youth killed in mishap

A Pampa youth was killed Friday night after reportedly falling from the driver's side of a moving pick-up truck a half mile south of town on Highway 70.

Frank Kempa, 17, of 421 Purviance St., was dead on arrival of head injuries at Highland General Hospital shortly before 11 p.m.

Kempa was driving south on Highway 70 with two companions, Ricky Cates, 16, and Greg Williams, 15, both of Pampa, when the accident occurred about 10:20 p.m.

After falling from the vehicle the youth was struck by a southbound car driven by Jerry Harris of Letors.

Cates and Williams told officers that Kempa slowed the truck and opened the driver's side door without warning. Although the two reportedly did not know if Kempa jumped or slipped from the vehicle, Texas Department of Public Safety officer Steven Eastley, speculated that the youth was "playing a practical joke with his friends." Eastley said the youth was carried about 100 feet under the Harris auto.

Harris told officers he saw the truck slow down and the door open but did not see the youth fall from the vehicle.

Eastley said the youths had not been drinking or using drugs.

Kempa was a junior at Pampa High School and a member of the school marching band. He was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at Carmichael-Whitely Colonial Chapel with the Rev. Claude Cone officiating. Burial will be in the Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Kempa was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kempa of Pampa.

Silkwood drama should begin to unfold soon

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The personal story of Karen Silkwood and her concerns about nuclear fuel plant working conditions was expected to begin unfolding this week in federal court here.

Testimony so far in the $115 million Silkwood plutonium contamination suit has shed little light on what sort of a person Miss Silkwood was.

Her survivors are suing the Kerr-McGee Corp. and its subsidiary, the Kerr-McGee Nuclear Corp., alleging the firms were negligent in allowing Miss Silkwood and her Edmond, Okla., apartment to become contaminated with plutonium.

Kerr-McGee contends she contaminated herself, possibly to dramatize her accusations about unsafe working conditions.

On Friday, jurors got an unusual opportunity to form an impression about Miss Silkwood when they listened to tape recordings of an Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union workshop she attended about one month before her death in a Nov. 13, 1974, auto crash.

An emphatic voice, identified as that of Miss Silkwood, can be heard on the tapes urging Kerr-McGee employees to complain about working conditions. She also described what she believed were shortcomings in the plant's health and safety system.

Only one witness, James Noel, has testified in any detail about Miss Silkwood and her state of mind before her death. He said she was very distraught when she called him to discuss problems at the plant about a week before her death.

The night she was killed, Miss Silkwood was en route to meet with a New York Times reporter and an OCAW investigator. She allegedly had in her possession documentation of Kerr-McGee safety lapses and alleged falsification of quality control records. The papers witnesses said she was carrying disappeared after her fatal wreck.

Some nuclear industry critics believe the crash wasn't an accident. They claim Miss Silkwood may have been run off the road.

The union investigator she was going to meet, Steve Wodka, 30, of Bethesda, Md., was on the witness stand briefly Friday to establish the circumstances under which the 1974 OCAW workshop tapes were made.

He was expected to take the stand again Monday and undergo lengthy questioning and cross-examination about his dealings with Miss Silkwood. Lawyers for the Silkwood estate have said Wodka asked her to gather documentation about problems at the plant.

Prosecution rests in Gene Hart case; defense begins

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) — The prosecution rested its case against Gene Leroy Hart Saturday after testimony linked Hart with a northeastern Oklahoma summer camp where he is accused of murdering three Girl Scouts in 1977.

The defense opened its case by calling five witnesses before court adjourned until Monday. Hart's trial on three counts of first-degree murder is expected to conclude next week.

Hart's attorney, Garvin Isaacs, said the prosecution held no significant surprises. Isaacs told district Judge William Whistler after the state rested he was considering not calling any defense witnesses.

Karen Mitchell, a former Girl Scout counselor now a freshman at Oklahoma State University, was the last of the state's 32 witnesses called in six days of testimony.

She said she had placed items — reportedly recovered from a cabin where Hart was captured in April — in her trunk following a camp skit on June 8, 1977, five days before the three Girl Scouts were murdered at the camp.

She identified a small mirror and a small pipe as items she had at Camp Scott.

Miss Mitchell said she next saw her belongings two weeks to a month after the three girls were killed. She said the pipe and the mirror were missing from her trunk.

Earlier, Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation agent Roger Chrisco testified that agents recovered the pipe and mirror on July 12, 1978, from the cabin where Hart had been captured three months earlier.

"You don't know who had access to the contents of that trunk before it was returned to the Magic Empire (Girl Scout) Council, do you?" Isaacs asked Miss Mitchell.

"No, sir," she replied.

Isaacs has insinuated throughout the trial that investigators could have planted items of evidence.

State agents did not explain why they waited three months to recover the items from the cabin where Hart was captured.

Judge Whistler turned down Isaacs' request for a directed verdict of innocent and Isaacs' renewal of several mistrial motions.

Whistler ordered Saturday's court session because jurors, who are sequestered, had asked to work on Saturday.

Major points of the state's case against Hart include:

—Hairs recovered from the body of one of the victims and from the bloody tent floor of the victims' tent are "exactly the same" as hairs collected from Hart, a state chemist testified.

—Examination of sperm taken from the victims' bodies and from Hart's underwear showed "very definite" similarities, a fertility consultant testified.

—Masking tape on a flashlight found beside the bodies came from a partial roll of tape found at Hart's isolated boyhood home site, a state expert said.

—Crumpled photographs found at the home site two miles from Camp Scott, where the slayings occurred, had been printed by Hart about 10 years earlier while he was a Granite State Reformatory photographer's assistant.

—Hart was seen at his mother's home, within a mile of the camp, on May 28, 16 days before the slayings. Hart was a fugitive at the time and had been since a September 1973 escape from the Mayes County jail. He owes the state 305 years on kidnapping, rape and burglary convictions.

Teamsters poised for strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A worried Carter administration is quietly drawing up contingency plans for handling a national emergency it hopes won't occur — a nationwide trucking strike on April 1.

The chances of a walkout by 300,000 drivers and warehouse workers depend on the outcome of contract talks between the Teamsters union and the trucking industry, who are bargaining under intense pressure from President Carter's inflation fighters.

Within this chilly climate, workers are voting at local union halls this weekend on whether to authorize union leaders to call a walkout if a settlement is not reached by midnight next Saturday, when the current master freight agreement expires. Vote totals won't be known until later this week.

As they approach the deadline, bargainers are far apart over economic issues because of Carter's insistence that the nation's largest union settle within his "voluntary" 7 percent wage guidelines. Industry proposals are within that range, but the union wants about double that.

Government, union and industry officials say it is too early to predict the outcome. They continue to express hope, at least outwardly, that a strike will be averted. But if there is a walkout, the effect on the economy will be swift and devastating, according to industry estimates.

"After two weeks there would be a very serious crisis in the economy," said one official, who asked not to be named. The first shortages would occur among auto parts, clothing, drugs, machinery and processed foods, he said.

Government officials refuse to discuss details of their contingency plans, other than to acknowledge that Carter almost certainly would invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to order striking Teamsters' back to work for an 80-day "cooling off" period.

But the union anticipates such a move. Consequently, some Teamsters' sources say, union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons might call for work slowdowns or regional strikes rather than a national walkout.

In that way, says one government source, Fitzsimmons could create economic chaos without causing the national emergency required for Carter to use Taft-Hartley.

The fallacy of balanced budget

With all the current talk about a possible Constitutional Convention, the truth is beginning to surface. The politicians are scared. They don't want such a congress to assemble. Most particularly, they are frightened of any restraint that might prevent them from spending money as they see fit.

Naturally there are a few who seek to win popularity by taking the minority position. But there is real apprehension among the majority of both major parties.

I find myself suddenly in a position which is unfamiliar. I see little merit in an amendment to the Constitution which would demand that Congress balance the budget every year. So, strangely enough, I am with the majority in this case, but for reasons which I don't believe have been expressed.

If a convention were called and an amendment approved which would compel Congress to annually balance the budget, I believe, we would lock ourselves into the current fiscal deficit and forever prevent a return to fiscal sanity.

Having had a brief acquaintance with government financing during my years in the Army Air Corps (WWII) I found the army operating on the grounds of balancing its budget every year.

When funds were appropriated, even though they might not be needed, the order invariably went out. "We've got the money. Spend it." And spend it we did. I was personally in charge of several appropriated funds, including the one for the purchase of athletic equipment. Every year I found it necessary (by order from the commanding officer) to buy new athletic equipment and to get rid of old athletic equipment. Some of the "old" athletic equipment might never have been unpacked. But it was old since it was from an earlier purchase. And we got rid of the old and bought the new, which also might never be unpacked.

This is only one example but it will serve. Every agency, department and bureau in the federal government has a budget. Assume that the general federal budget is to be balanced each year. Then you can be absolutely certain that no government agency will ever curtail its spending.

In the past, although it has happened only rarely, some agencies have reduced spending and, in fact might even have been discontinued. Thus, there have been times when federal spending has been reduced. If we have a constitutional requirement for an annually balanced budget, a reduction in federal spending will never occur again.

What we will see, in fact, is a gradual increase in taxes with no reductions ever possible. I will concede that in the past, but any possibility of a retrenchment will become increasingly less likely and, finally, it will be impossible.

In terms of the national economy we will have good years and bad years. That has always been true, despite all government efforts. The laws of supply and demand continue to function and goods and services invariably move in the direction of the highest bidder. Thus, in good years, government will increase its activities.

Bear in mind, there is nothing in a balanced budget to prevent increased spending. There is only the requirement that income match expenditure. So in a good year, government income will rise; government will undertake new programs and projects; more federal funds will be obligated and allocated, because the funds are available and must be spent. Then comes the bad year. But the Congress, in anticipation of just such an event, will have written its legislation on a mandatory basis respecting the number of years a given program is to survive. When tax revenues decline, due to economic slowdowns in various sections of the economy, there will be only one recourse for the government. It must now increase taxes to cover the shortfall. Thus, in bad years, taxes will rise. In good years more money will be spent. And the American economy, already on a treadmill, will find its future pointing into a bottomless abyss.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy." Chief Justice Marshall once said while smacking his lips over the powers he could use. And the problem here is that the American people, as with Proposition 13, haven't yet done their homework.

If we really wish to get the government into a position where it will do as we wish it to, there is only one method that works successfully over the long haul. Let those Americans who wish a particular good or service pay for it. And let those who don't want or can't afford such service or good go without. At this time, don't compel them to underwrite it. This is the only method which will harmonize with reality.

You and I, as ordinary human beings, understand this. We, too, have good years and bad years. And we have to accommodate our spending to our earnings. If income goes down for me, I must tighten my belt and do without. That is never a happy thing to do, but I have to do it. I have to be realistic or go broke. So does everyone and everything else.

Politicians invariably seek to defy reality. But the only tool they have is a loaded gun. When they want more money they take it, or they borrow it or they print it. You and I pay for their addiction to prestige and power.

So, you want to get government off your back? Then take away the government's power to tax. Let the government receive income from those who want the particular good or service. Let those who don't want it refrain from paying for it. On that basis, and that basis alone, the people themselves will run the show and the government becomes what it was supposed to be: the servant and not the master.

Several states have some very strange laws on their books — Laws created by bureaucrats to fit their own needs at the time. These laws remain on the books in several states and people today are subject to live by them should local officials want to enforce these outdated pieces of legislation.

I thought that some of you would enjoy hearing a few of these laws that govern our fellow Americans.

Here they are:

In Pine Island, Minn. a man must remove his hat when meeting a cow.

It's against the law in Pocatello, Idaho, to go around looking peeved or dejected.

Whoever peels an orange in his hotel room in California is breaking the law.

It is prohibited in Minnesota to hang male and female undergarments on the same clothesline.

In Arkansas it is illegal to blindfold a cow on public roads.

Wives in Kentucky must have their husbands' permission to move their furniture around in their homes.

A law in Florida requires keeping your clothes on while bathing even in the bathtub.

Every animal out on the streets in Berea, Ohio after dark, must wear a taillight.

Crocodiles may not be tied to hydrants in Michigan.

Falling asleep in the bathtub in Detroit is unlawful.

It is illegal to wear a mask in Denver. Leaning against a public building in Clinton County, Ohio, is punishable by law.

New York prohibits card playing on trains.

Tickling a girl in Norton, Va., is illegal. If two men drink from the same bottle in Cleveland, they are breaking the law.

In Waterville, Maine, it is against the law to blow one's nose in public.

Elephants in Natchez, Miss., are not permitted to drink beer.

Taking a bath in winter breaks an Indiana law.

Every taxi driver in Washington, D.C., is required to carry a dustpan and broom in the car at all times.

Buying a sack of peanuts after sundown is against the law in Alabama.

If a woman wants to buy a hat in Owensboro, Ky., her husband has to try it on first.

Women in Oxford, Ohio, are forbidden to undress in front of a man's picture.

Liberty and justice for some

By REED LARSON
The United States Supreme Court has struck half a blow for liberty.

In early January, it let stand a lower court decision that an employee whose religious beliefs prevent him from joining or paying forced fees to a labor union cannot be fired from his job.

In other words, you may now - for certain religious reasons - be a conscientious objector to forced union membership.

The pivotal High Court case involved Duane Terrell "Terry" Burns, a brakeman - conductor for the Southern Pacific Railroad and - more importantly - a Seventh Day Adventist.

In 1974 after 18 years on the job and in the union, Burns told his superiors that because of his "sincere religious belief," he simply couldn't continue to contribute to a labor organization.

As a Seventh Day Adventist, Burns explained he is committed to abide by the Golden Rule: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." According to the church doctrine, this rule of love prevents members from associating in any way with an organization that uses force to achieve its ends.

Characteristically, the union bosses were unmoved by Burns's religious reasoning. The loss of his dues money ($19 a month) would cause them "undue hardship" they snorted. And besides, if Burns got away with his ploy, workers all over the country would flock to the Seventh Day Adventist Church to get out of joining a union (an ironical indictment of compulsory union membership).

Burns, of course, battled through the courts for five full years and finally vindicated his religious beliefs. All of which is good for the nation's 500,000 Seventh Day Adventists and great for Terry Burns, who "fought the good fight" and deserved the hard-earned victory.

But - even while "rejoicing with those who rejoice" - one can't help but wonder about the rest of us.

What does the Court intend for those whose religious articles don't specifically mitigate against union membership? And what about those who by conscience alone find compulsory unionism a deprivation of individual freedom and a cancer on the face of America?

Are they condemned to continue under the yoke of compulsion merely because they worship on Sunday rather than Saturday - or because they choose not to worship at all?

Eighty years ago the Supreme Court greatly broadened the grounds on which draftees can conscientiously object to military duty. Now, those who don't wish to serve their country may refuse for deeply personal as well as religious reasons.

Then - and only then - will the nation's highest court have truly fulfilled the Biblical charge Terry Burns and tens of millions of other Americans hold dear: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land to all the inhabitants thereof."

Retire by choice

The national ban on mandatory retirement before age 70 took effect Jan. 1. But for many months, the pros and cons about its impact on the work force, economy, national psyche and the like have been discussed and analyzed.

The Conference Board surveying top corporate personnel offices of a group of major U.S. firms, reports a consensus: The most significant aspect of the new retirement law is that it is likely to be of little significance to current retirement patterns.

In short, the trend toward early retirement is expected to continue. For some firms, the average retirement age has declined in recent years to below 60. For most responding to the survey, it is under 65.

A number of factors are probably at work, but the primary ones appear to be pensions and health. The combination of company plans and government programs can make delayed retirement economically disadvantageous for an employee. The benefits at hand often are worth more than paychecks continuing into the future.

Health problems can make the right to continue working an academic one for many individuals. Failing health is an important consideration in decisions to take early retirement.

In the long run, there is expected to be little impact on promotion opportunities. Advancement will not be blocked by large numbers of aging incumbents staying on in key positions.

Nor are corporate equal opportunity programs likely to be significantly affected. Normal retirements should continue at a rate sufficient to accommodate special efforts to hire ethnic minorities and women, although some firms foresee the possibility of an eventual "white male backlash."

But if negative consequences initially foreseen for delaying mandatory retirement turn out to have been exaggerated, so may a hoped-for advantage.

The primary intent of the law is to prevent individuals from being forced into retirement at arbitrary age levels, regardless of personal desires and physical capabilities. Should delayed retirement encounter widespread acceptance, a not inconsequential secondary effect would be relieving the Social Security system of a considerable load.

Of approximately 17.6 million individuals now drawing benefits, 10.4 million retired before aged 65. Early retirement has been a significant contributor to the system's strained finances in recent years.

If the present forecasts are correct, delayed retirement is going to be little help in providing the sought-for relief. Still, the freedom-of-choice aspect of the change is worthwhile.

Briefly noted...

A world half ice, half rock and so cold that a natural process known on earth may be reversed - snow may come up rather than down, oozing out of buried slush to crystallize on the frozen surface.

Another world resembling, in the irreverently memorable description of one scientist, a pizza.

A never before suspected ring around the solar system's largest planet.

These and many other wonders and mysteries have been recorded by the Voyager I spacecraft in its brief flyby of Jupiter. Brief because although the discoveries radiated back to earth have been making news for weeks, this is no time at all compared to the almost two years the 400-million-mile journey required.

It was a long way to go for something, but precisely what scientists may require a much longer time to determine.

What is immediately apparent from the mission, however, is that the more we learn about our immediate celestial neighborhood, the stranger place it becomes. No two worlds yet scrutinized are precisely alike.

The Jupiter revelations suggest that no matter how fanciful may be our earth-based speculation on what lies out there, the actuality is likely to be even more dramatic. With the spacecraft now on the next leg of its journey into infinity, the 20-month, 528-million-mile flight to Saturn, expected to yield an even richer scientific harvest, we can only ask:

What now, Voyager?

Winter of 79

by paul harvey

With similar euphas history will remember the Gold Rush of '49 and the Great Depression of '29 and the Winter of '79.

Hopeful that the worst of this unprecedented winter is now behind us should we prepare for more of the same? After all, Greenland, which once had a temperate climate, is now buried under 5,000 feet of ice.

But this is Chicago.

Chicago can handle seven inches of snow, but this year we got more than seven feet.

If we had it to do over again, if we could have prepared in advance, we'd have built our houses with steeper roofs and no gutters. We'd have built no flat-top garages.

We would have prepared more city vehicles for conversion to snow removal.

Had we known for certain that such weather was in store for us we would have prepared mentally for the long days and nights of ice-olation as an athlete prepares for any test of endurance.

Chicagoans were not prepared.

When it kept snowing and the roof kept leaking day after day after day, the emotionally weak lapsed into depression and even the psychologically strong began to get strung-out.

One exhausted snowplow driver ran amok, rammed dozens of vehicles before they could catch him, stop him.

An organization which aids a thousand elderly shut-ins in any normal month received 4,000 calls for help in January.

For the snowbound there were all degrees of frustration ranging from "cabin fever" to overt violence.

In 45 days, there were 90 murders.

Fighting over parking places was pandemic.

Prolonged stress resulted in aggression - or depression. Chicago newspapers printed hot-line numbers for people with emotional problems, listing hospital-based mental health clinics.

Economically, it was a costly seven weeks. Airports were paralyzed; airlines lost millions.

Otherwise, because of employees who could not get to work or customers who could not get out, the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry computes the business loss at $5 billion.

Nobody yet will hazard a guess at how much we'll have to pay from now on in higher insurance rates.

Mayor Bilandic was almost the first mayor ever to be "snowed out of office."

Heating bills doubled. Most every roof that did not cave in leaked. Parked cars were buried for the duration on residential streets. And the mayor's political opponents blamed him.

And despite the durability of the entrenched political machine which he inherited, a woman challenger sold voters the notion that the late Mayor Daley, with his connections, would never have permitted a winter like this!

Flight system recognized

HOUSTON — In honor of the service rendered by Hermann Hospital's Life Flight medical air transport system, Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed March 26 through April 1 as "Life Flight Over Texas Week".

During "Life Flight Over Texas Week", friends and employees of Hermann Hospital and other Texans across the state will celebrate the theme of "Ole Hermann Hospital Viva Life Flight".

The theme features Life Flight's expansion across the Texas border into 15 surrounding states, Mexico, Central America and South America with the addition of Life Flight LD, a Merlin-II A turbo jet plane, in June to the present fleet of three helicopters.

"Life Flight plays an important role in our commitment to the people of Houston. We will continue to provide this unique air ambulance service to keep up with our city's growing needs as we expand the program to meet the needs of all Texans and surrounding neighbors," says William F. Smith, executive director of Hermann Hospital.

Numerous activities are planned for the week, including Administrative Coffees for Hermann employees of March, an "Ole Hermann Hospital Viva Life Flight" Fiesta on March 28, and Doctors' Appreciation Day for the Hermann medical staff on March 29.

A special feature of the week will be the showing of the Life Flight display at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel March 26 through March 28 during the 40th Annual Texas Safety Conference and Exposition.

Smith will speak to the participants of the conference and exposition about the Life Flight service at 10:15 A.M. on March 27. A Life Flight slide show will be given during the program.

Since 1976, Life Flight has flown over 3,200 emergency air ambulance missions for residents within a 130-mile radius of Houston. A crew of one pilot, one specially-trained flight nurse and one physician are on board each flight.

As the Life Flight program expands, various communities within the service of the System have enlisted support of Life Flight through the construction and planning of helipads for landings of the helicopters outside the city of Houston. To date, 14 helipads have been built near hospitals of outlying areas.

Baytown's San Jacinto Methodist Hospital are among those with completed helipads for Life Flight landings. Conroe, Brenham and Bellville are among other Texas towns where various individuals and civic groups are raising funds for future Life Flight helipads.

A FLIGHT NURSE will be on board each mission of the Hermann Hospital Life Flight transport jet in order to treat patients in-flight. (Special Photo to Pampa News)

is quality
you can taste . . .
from the first bite
to the last.

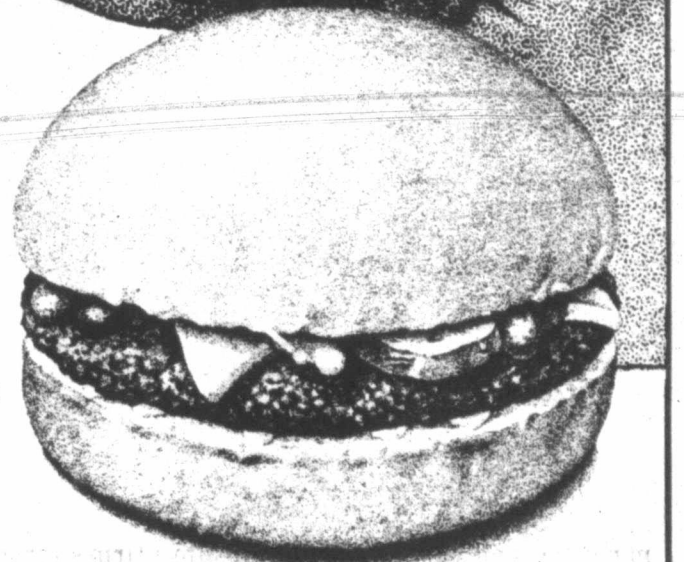

Quality is 100% pure lean beef. Ground beef that's leaner than most people buy in the store. With no filler added. Quality is fresh buns made with golden brown spring wheat. Quality is brand-name trimmings. Quality is something you don't have to talk about. Not when you can go to McDonald's® and taste it.

THE HAMBURGER

100% pure lean beef, cooked up just right. Garnished with pickle, ketchup and mustard; served on a freshly toasted bun. Taste delight!

THE CHEESEBURGER

Mellow golden cheese melted over a 100% pure beef patty. Topped with only the best pickle, ketchup and mustard on a golden toasted bun. You'll smile with every bite.

THE BIG MAC™

Two all beef patties, special sauce, lettuce, cheese, pickles, onions on a sesame seed bun. That's the word. Big Mac for a meal disguised as a sandwich.

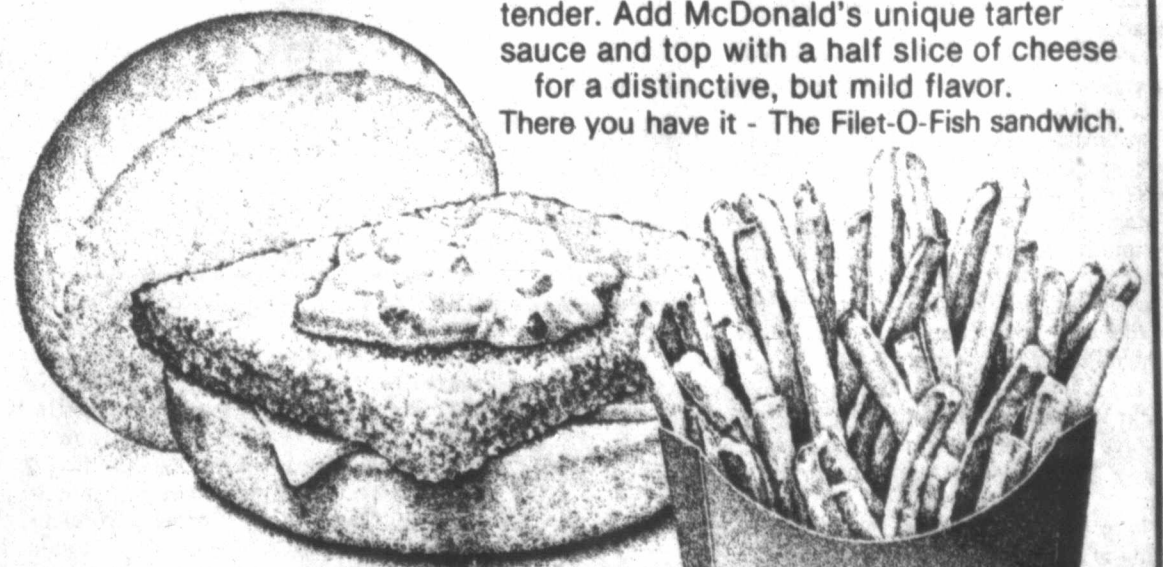

THE QUARTER POUNDER® . . . WITH OR WITHOUT CHEESE

The big, honest hamburger started off with a full quarter pound of U.S.D.A. inspected, 100% pure beef. Cooked up just right with nothing but the very best trimmings added. Served up on a toasted sesame seed bun. Delicious hunger quencher plain, or with two slices of melted, golden cheese.

*Wt. ¼ lb. before cooking.

THE FILET-O-FISH™ SANDWICH

A 100% fish filet from the North Atlantic, breaded and cooked up flaky and tender. Add McDonald's unique tartar sauce and top with a half slice of cheese for a distinctive, but mild flavor. There you have it - The Filet-O-Fish sandwich.

We do it all for you.

Robbers surrender to police

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Two robbers who held hostages in a Managua bank for three days after an abortive holdup surrendered to police Saturday morning. Their nine remaining hostages, all bank employees, were released unharmed.

The robbers' lawyer, Aquiles Centeno Perez, who helped negotiate their surrender, said the man and the woman, whose identities were not immediately disclosed, were taken to police headquarters, where they were booked on preliminary charges of armed robbery.

The two claimed to belong to a previously unknown guerrilla group called the People's Military Organization, dedicated to the overthrow of the authoritarian regime of President Anastasio Somoza. Managua Police Chief Col. Nicolas Valle Salinas promised the pair that in return for their surrender their lives would be protected and they would not be tortured. Amnesty International and other international human rights groups claim police in Nicaragua often mistreat prisoners.

Groundbreaking held for elderly housing project

By JOHN PRICE
Pampa News Staff

Groundbreaking for PAM Apartments, a housing complex being built for elderly persons in Pampa, was conducted Friday morning at the construction site at the intersection of Kentucky Avenue and Sumner Street.

Among the persons attending the brief ceremony were U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, D - Vernon; Mayor R.D. Wilkerson; Luther Robinson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Ronald Friedman, president of Friedman and Associates, the Houston firm developing the apartment complex. The groundbreaking was followed by a luncheon at the Pampa Country Club.

Friday's events capped months of activity by Friedman and Associates and the city, which worked together to gain state and federal approval for the project and bring it to Pampa. The apartments are being financed by revenue bonds issued by the Panhandle Elderly Apartments Corp., a non-profit housing corporation formed in November 1978 by the city commission.

The apartments are to be subsidized by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under its Section 8 program. Eligible tenants will pay no more than 25 percent of their total income for rent, and the difference will be made up by HUD.

Friedman and Associates is developing the apartments for its subsidiary, PAM Apartments Associates Ltd., owners of the apartments. Construction will start soon and is expected to take 12 months to complete under the general contractor, the Herman

Bennett Co. of Brownwood.

"Cooperation is one thing that's really outstanding about this community," Ronald Friedman told a small group at the luncheon Friday. Noting that the "much-needed apartment complex" has a 30-year mortgage, Friedman said "I hope we will earn our welcome."

Friedman "has demonstrated the very great attributes of determination and perseverance" in developing the project, Wilkerson said. He expressed "my appreciation for Ron and his company, and all they're doing for Pampa."

"They say you ought to plan for tomorrow, and actually, that's what we're doing," Hightower told the audience. "These complexes make it possible for people to continue to be individuals, to have their own places and be near to those who are dear, but also have access to health care" at little cost. Tenants, he said, will be "insulated against inflation."

"There are a lot of things the federal government does that I think are wasteful," Hightower said. "But this is an investment that you are making in your community and your future."

The complex will contain 96 unit one-bedroom apartments, 10 of which will be designed specifically for the handicapped. The other 86 units are for persons 62 years of age and older.

The 325 square-foot apartments are designed to be energy efficient, Friedman said. Each apartment will have individual heating and air conditioning, emergency call buttons in both bedroom and bath, smoke detectors, deadbolt locks and peep holes at the entry doors.

The one-story apartments, each with its own front porch, will surround series courtyards. A community building of 2,100 square feet, containing a general purpose room, an office, a laundry and mail facilities, will be part of the complex and for use by residents.

The apartments will be managed by National Living Centers Inc. of Houston, owner and operator of the Pampa Nursing Center. Prior to completion of the project an office will be opened to take applications, either at the Chamber of Commerce in the Hughes Building or in a trailer at the building site.

"Applications are on a first come, first serve basis," said Robert Caplan of Friedman and Associates. "We aim occupancy at moderate-income senior citizens, those under the median income."

PAM Apartments Associates Ltd. will screen applicants according to HUD guidelines, Caplan said.

"Actually, I hate to use the word 'screen' because it's really not applicable," he said. "We hope to provide apartments to those with the greatest need."

Pre-applications for the apartments are now available from the Pampa Senior Citizens Inc., Caplan said.

"Sixty days prior to actual occupancy, we will take the completed pre-applications, contact eligible persons and have them fill out applications," he said.

Barron to return to Fort Worth for Davis trial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Judge John Barron and Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry have called off their feud, and Barron has agreed to return to Fort Worth Monday to continue hearing the divorce trial of Cullen and Priscilla Davis.

Barron was incensed last week when prosecutors burst into his civil courtroom to subpoena trial records.

A retrial of Davis is still pending on conspiracy to commit capital murder charges. A Houston jury failed to reach a verdict earlier this year in the case in which Davis was accused of trying to have Judge Joe Eidson killed. Eidson was the judge presiding over the stormy divorce. He stepped aside, and Barron was called out of retirement to hear the case.

Barron left Fort Worth last week and said he would go home to

Bryan "to hunt rabbits."

Mrs. Davis is arguing that most of Davis' multimillion dollar financial empire should be considered community property, but Davis says their community estate is less than $1 million and does not include any of his business interests. The divorce suit was filed nearly five years ago, and the current trial has been going on for five weeks.

State Judge Charles Murray said he got Barron and Curry to agree jointly they would exchange no further barbed comments. Curry promised he would not attempt to get any more divorce trial records until the end of the trial.

Murray, who as administrative judge played a major role in the appointment of Barron as the divorce judge, said Curry promised

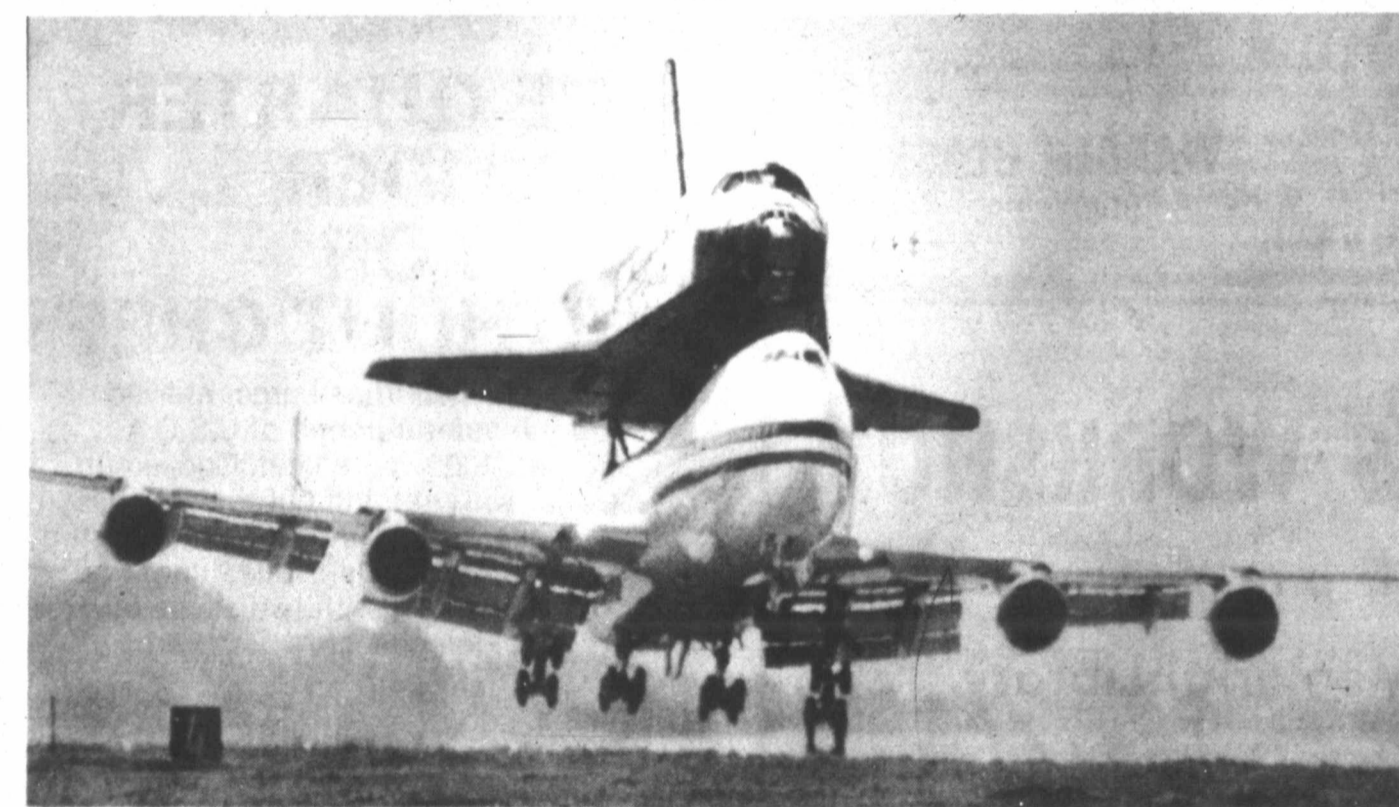

"that he would certainly do nothing until the case is over."

Murray said Joe Greenhill, chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, called Barron Thursday "because of the large amount of time and expense involved," and Barron agreed to stay on the case.

One of Curry's assistants, Jack Strickland, armed with a subpoena, came to Barron Wednesday and seized divorce trial records for use by a grand jury.

Strickland's actions angered Barron so that he said he was withdrawing from the case and planned to declare a mistrial.

Barron blasted Strickland as "arrogant" and a "wet-eared fool prosecutor." He returned to his home in Bryan, leaving the future of the divorce trial in doubt. Strickland and Curry responded by criticizing Barron's conduct.

Fuel costs soar

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer group favoring government lids on energy prices said Saturday that decontrolling crude oil could cost consumers $68.5 million a day in higher fuel costs in 1980.

Energy Action said an oil deregulation proposal like the one being considered by President Carter would only put a higher price on oil which would have been produced anyway.

The president, expected to address the nation Thursday on energy issues, reportedly is considering taking steps to allow U.S.-produced oil to rise gradually to world-market prices.

Pampa PD receives grant

Governor Bill Clements has approved a $28,737 grant to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission which will allot to the Pampa police department for the purchase of an additional memory bank for the city police station.

The department applied for the grant through the PRPC in February.

The added computer bank will enable police to file additional data on individual offenders and to more quickly coordinate data on criminal activity and citizen complaints from various parts of the city.

The grant was among 124 approved statewide by Clements through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Robbers surrender to police

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Two robbers who held hostages in a Managua bank for three days after an abortive holdup surrendered to police Saturday morning. Their nine remaining hostages, all bank employees, were released unharmed.

The robbers' lawyer, Aquiles Centeno Perez, who helped negotiate their surrender, said the man and the woman, whose identities were not immediately disclosed, were taken to police headquarters, where they were booked on preliminary charges of armed robbery.

The two claimed to belong to a previously unknown guerrilla group called the People's Military Organization, dedicated to the overthrow of the authoritarian regime of President Anastasio Somoza.

Managua Police Chief Col. Nicolas Valle Salinas promised the pair that in return for their surrender their lives would be protected and they would not be tortured. Amnesty International and other international human rights groups claim police in Nicaragua often mistreat prisoners.

Groundbreaking held for elderly housing project

By JOHN PRICE
Pampa News Staff
Groundbreaking for PAM Apartments, a housing complex being built for elderly persons in Pampa, was conducted Friday morning at the construction site at the intersection of Kentucky Avenue and Sumner Street.

Among the persons attending the brief ceremony were U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, D - Vernon; Mayor R.D. Wilkerson; Luther Robinson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Ronald Friedman, president of Friedman and Associates, the Houston firm developing the apartment complex. The groundbreaking was followed by a luncheon at the Pampa Country Club.

Friday's events capped months of activity by Friedman Associates and the city, which worked together to gain state and federal approval for the project and bring it to Pampa. The apartments are being financed by revenue bonds issued by the Panhandle Elderly Apartments Corp., a non-profit housing corporation formed in November, 1978 by the city commission.

The apartments are to be subsidized by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under its Section 8 program. Eligible tenants will pay no more than 25 percent of their total income for rent, and the difference will be made up by HUD.

Friedman and Associates is developing the apartments for its subsidiary, PAM Apartments Associates Ltd., owners of the apartments. Construction will start soon and is expected to take 12 months to complete under the general contractor, the Herman

Bennett Co. of Brownwood.

"Cooperation is one thing that's really outstanding about this community," Ronald Friedman told a small group at the luncheon Friday. Noting that the "much-needed apartment complex" has a 30-year mortgage, Friedman said "I hope we will earn our welcome."

Friedman "has demonstrated the very great attributes of determination and perseverance" in developing the project, Wilkerson said. He expressed "my appreciation for Ron and his company, and all they're doing for Pampa."

"They say you ought to plan for tomorrow, and actually that's what we're doing," Hightower told the audience. "These complexes make it possible for people to continue to be individuals, to have their own places and be near to those who are dear, but also have access to health care" at little cost. Tenants, he said, will be "insulated against inflation."

"There are a lot of things the federal government does that I think are wasteful," Hightower said. "But this is an investment that you are making in your community and your future."

The complex will contain 96 unit one-bedroom apartments, 10 of which will be designed specifically for the handicapped. The other 86 units are for persons 62 years of age and older.

The 525 square-foot apartments are designed to be energy efficient, Friedman said. Each apartment will have individual heating and air conditioning, emergency call buttons in both bedroom and bath, smoke detectors, deadbolt locks and peep holes at the entry doors.

The one-story apartments, each with its own front porch, will surround series courtyards. A community building of 2,100 square feet, containing a general purpose room, an office, a laundry and mail facilities, will be part of the complex and for use by residents.

The apartments will be managed by National Living Centers Inc. of Houston, owner and operator of the Pampa Nursing Center. Prior to completion of the project an office will be opened to take applications, either at the Chamber of Commerce in the Hughes Building or in a trailer at the building site.

"Applications are on a first come, first serve basis," said Robert Caplan of Friedman and Associates. "We aim occupancy at moderate-income senior citizens, those under the median income."

PAM Apartments Associates Ltd. will screen applicants according to HUD guidelines, Caplan said.

"Actually, I hate to use the word 'screen' because it's really not applicable," he said. "We hope to provide apartments to those with the greatest need."

Pre-applications for the apartments are now available from the Pampa Senior Citizens Inc., Caplan said.

"Sixty days prior to actual occupancy, we will take the completed pre-applications, contact eligible persons and have them fill out applications," he said.

Barron to return to Fort Worth for Davis trial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Judge John Barron and Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry have called off their feud, and Barron has agreed to return to Fort Worth Monday to continue hearing the divorce trial of Cullen and Priscilla Davis.

Barron was incensed last week when prosecutors burst into his civil courtroom to subpoena trial records.

A retrial of Davis is still pending on conspiracy to commit capital murder charges. A Houston jury failed to reach a verdict earlier this year in the case in which Davis was accused of trying to have Judge Joe Eidson killed. Eidson was the judge presiding over the stormy divorce. He stepped aside, and Barron was called out of retirement to hear the case.

Barron left Fort Worth last week and said he would go home to

Bryan "to hunt rabbits."

Mrs. Davis is arguing that most of Davis' multimillion dollar financial empire should be considered community property, but Davis says their community estate is less than $1 million and does not include any of his business interests. The divorce suit was filed nearly five years ago, and the current trial has been going on for five weeks.

State Judge Charles Murray said he got Barron and Curry to agree jointly they would exchange no further barbed comments. Curry promised he would not attempt to get any more divorce trial records until the end of the trial.

Murray, who as administrative judge played a major role in the appointment of Barron as the divorce judge, said Curry promised

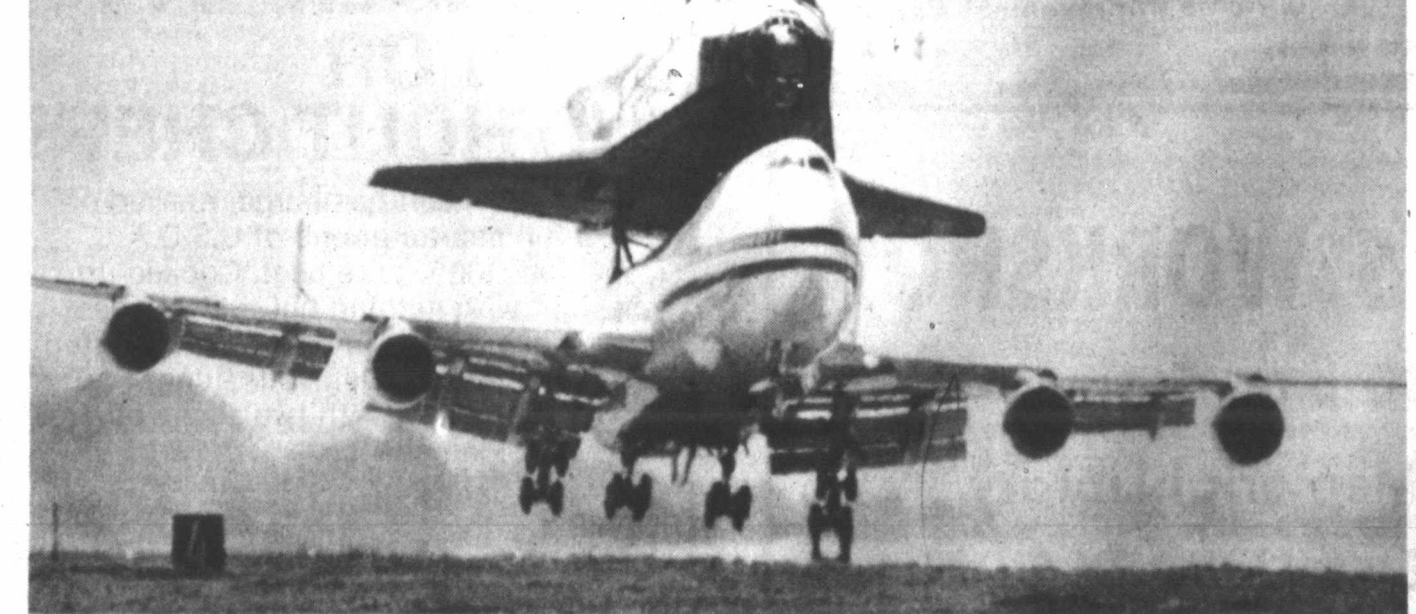

"that he would certainly do nothing until the case is over."

Murray said Joe Greenhill, chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, called Barron Thursday "because of the large amount of time and expense involved," and Barron agreed to stay on the case.

One of Curry's assistants, Jack Strickland, armed with a subpoena, came to Barron Wednesday and seized divorce trial records for use by a grand jury.

Strickland's actions angered Barron so that he said he was withdrawing from the case and planned to declare a mistrial.

Barron blasted Strickland as "arrogant" and a "wet-eared fool prosecutor." He returned to his home in Bryan, leaving the future of the divorce trial in doubt. Strickland and Curry responded by criticizing Barron's conduct.

Pampa PD receives grant

Governor Bill Clements has approved a $28,737 grant to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission which will alloted to the Pampa police department for the purchase of an additional memory bank for the city police station.

The department applied for the grant through the PRPC in February.

The added computer bank will enable police to file additional data on individual offenders and to more quickly coordinate data on criminal activity and citizen complaints from various parts of the city.

The grant was among 124 approved statewide by Clements through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Rains boost small grains in West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Spring has arrived on a wet note over most of Texas, boosting small grains and pastures in West Texas and the Plains, and bringing further planting delays in much of the rest of the state, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton, corn and sorghum planting was about 90 percent complete in the Rio Grande Valley before the rainy spell, Pfannstiel said. In the Coastal Bend, corn and sorghum planting was 75 percent complete and about 85 percent of the cotton had been planted. Corn planting had also been active in Southwest Texas (Uvalde area), and corn and sorghum planting had been making good progress in the Central Texas Blacklands, South Central Texas and in parts of East Texas. Also, some corn, sorghum and rice planting had begun in Southeast Texas.

The National Weather Service reports the following four-inch soil temperatures: Weslaco, 72; Corpus Christi, 68; Uvalde and Dilley, 64; Austin, Beaumont and College Station, 61; Eagle Lake, 62; Lufkin, 55; Overton, 59; Stephenville and San Angelo, 60; McGregor, 59; Marfa, 56; and Lavon Lake (near Dallas), 57. Recommended minimum planting temperatures are 50 degrees F. for corn, 55 for sorghum and 65 for cotton.

Grazing is improving in most sections, particularly on wheat, Pfannstiel said. Much of the wheat in the plains will be grazed out rather than harvested for grain due to the strong cattle market.

The gardening season is off to a slow start because of the rainy weather, but onions and potatoes have been planted in many locations. Fruit trees are in full bloom, and a good fruit crop is in prospect, said Pfannstiel.

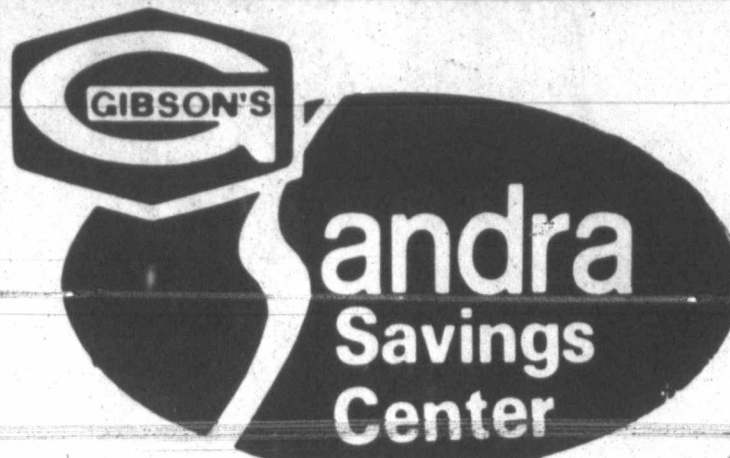

Reports from district Extension agents showed these conditions.

PANHANDLE: Rains will boost grazing conditions and wheat crop. But more moisture is needed in western counties. Some wheat is being irrigated and preplant irrigation is starting. The spring oat crop has just been seeded. Stocker cattle are moving off wheat that will be harvested for grain. Calving continues.

SOUTH PLAINS: Good rains over parts of the region will help the wheat crop and planting conditions, but have slowed land preparation. Preplant irrigation continues. Some onions and potatoes are planted. Grazing remains below average.

ROLLING PLAINS: Rainfall should boost the wheat crop and provide planting moisture. Alfalfa is growing well. Kleingrass is being planted in Throckmorton County. Onions and potatoes are being planted. Cattle are improving but feeding continues.

Drama suffers from auditorium

The school board will be deciding Monday on alternatives for the drama program, which has been a part of the system since Pampa High School's first days.

The Long Range Planning Committee has had the condition of the auditorium drawn to its attention and wanted the other board members to help with this decision, said Alfred Smith, a member of the committee. Other members are Daniel Orr and Paul Simmons.

The drama students started practicing and having class in the auditorium when the 1978-79 school year began and despite conditions have fared well in competition.

This semester, they have received a superior rating for their performance at a recent U.I.L. contest and was selected to out of the state to perform at a conference meeting.

Now, the students, who are interested in the class, may be disappointed if the school board decides to discontinue the class - one alternative given by the committee.

Renting M.K. Brown Auditorium for about $7-10,000 is another possibility that the board will review.

Trustee Bill Arrington suggested that the auditorium at Middle School be used - another choice.

Total renovation of the auditorium would cost an estimated $256,000, which would include stage equipment, stage lighting, sound equipment and new seating, as well as a capacity for 400 people.

This project was given the lowest priority of the large spending considerations of the committee.

Improving a large number of windows of Pampa Middle School and the grade schools to prevent leakage, heat loss and glare were at the top of the list.

Landscape betterment of all the district education grounds and the enlarging of the art room were also rated above the remodeling of the auditorium. The auditorium, erected with the original building in the Depression days through a WPA project, shows the friction of time.

The ceiling has large sagging, water spots over the top rows of seats. The electrical system has caused some safety problems, said Smith.

Smith indicated at the last meeting that the conditions were pathetic and needed considerable attention.

The facilities are also outdated, according to the "Theatre Check List," made by The American Theatre Planning Board, Inc.

All entrances to the stage floor should be wide enough to provide easy passage for large props.

The Pampa auditorium has one two-door entrance that is located at one end of the high school's hall.

The theatre board considers the closet, in which paints, dyes, and other chemicals are stored, as a prime fire hazard. Therefore, planning a lockable, well-lit, and well-ventilated paint closet is suggested.

The drama crew stores their material in the space around the stage floor and underneath it, an area the students have named hell because of its poor circulation, causing extreme heat from the pipes located there.

The area also flooded at the first of the year, forcing the drama students to move supplies from the mud and water.

The principal Paul Payne said that the leakage was caused by a hole for a heating pipe.

He also said the only other problems there were maintenance problems.

Fire rehearsal and performance area should have good lighting and unobstructed space that is equal to the equal to the width of the stage, according to the guide.

The high school uses stripper lights, which new theatres avoid. Independently operating lights have been the standard for new constructions.

Most of the space around the stage area has been cluttered with materials and props.

The wall, says the list, should be free of all protrusions. A pipe runs along the back wall of the stage.

Rehearsal rooms should be equipped with clothes lockers, bulletin boards, showers and toilet facilities.

The drama group shares a dressing room, in which they have built a makeshift locker. The other dressing room is used for storage space.

The American Theatre Planning Board has set guidelines to show the possibilities and dangers inherent in theatre structures.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rosalynn Carter says she and the president worry that the spotlight on the presidency may have precipitated crises for friends and family.

In an interview published Friday in the Philadelphia Bulletin, Mrs. Carter spoke of family problems and criticism of the president and herself.

"I think people can overcome their problems better without a lot of publicity. Yes, I'm talking about Billy," Mrs. Carter said. "I'm sure Bill has additional pressures because Jimmy is president."

Carter's brother, Billy, was admitted to an alcoholic rehabilitation center in California two weeks ago.

"What especially bothers me are the really good friends who have been persecuted unjustly. I'm talking about Bert (Lance). He's such a good person," Mrs. Carter said.

Local drama

The Pampa High School Drama Department presents three one-act plays 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on Family night at the PHS auditorium.

The productions, costing 50 cents, will be topped with the students' U.I.L. entry, "The Little Foxes" which won a "superior" rating at the drama festival at Portales, N.M.

The winning play, written by Lillian Helman, portrays a family whose main incentive is to become wealthy.

A boy and girl try to get acquainted in the park by acting out different characters in "Where have all the lightning bugs gone?"

A landlady is caught in her trickery - renting out the same room to two men, one who works days and, another who works nights.

School menu

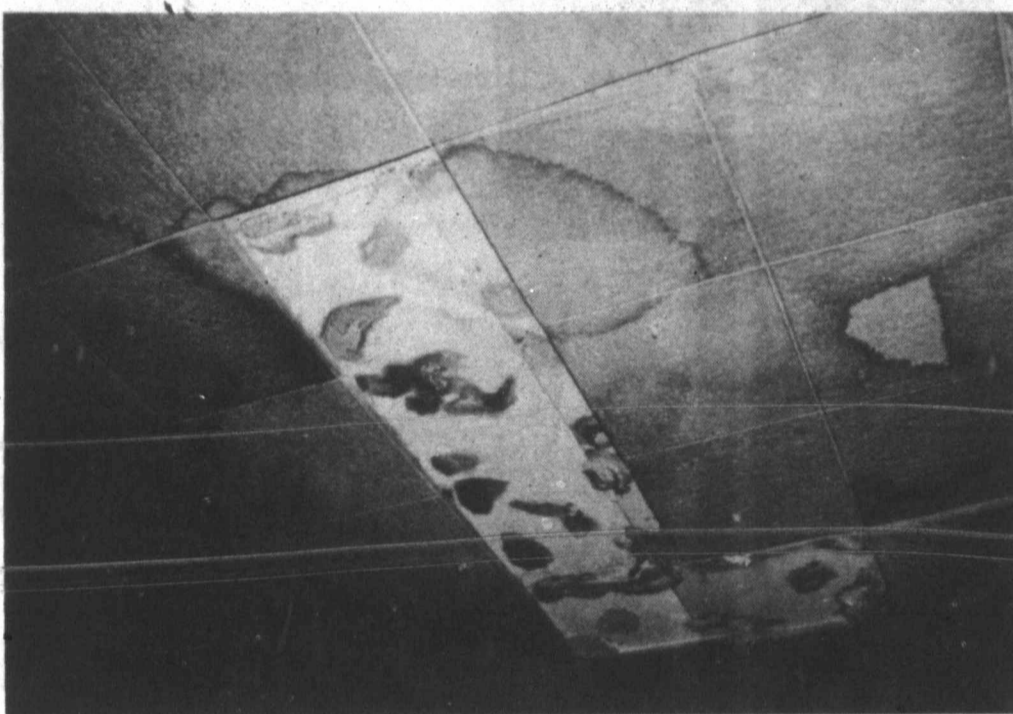

Monday - Cheeseburger, peanuts and fruit salad.

Tuesday - Fried chicken with gravy, mashed potatoes, jello salad and roll.

Wednesday - Burrito, salad, pinto beans and lemon pudding.

Thursday - Hot dog, pork and beans, french fries and pear half.

Friday - Pizza, green beans, cole slaw and apple sauce.

Show to help students

The Twentieth Century Cotillion Club will be raising funds today at its 17th Antique Show to help young people pay for higher education.

Donatable funds will come from ticket sales with the money collected for the antique dealers' rented spaces covering additional costs.

Dealers, who have travelled from all over the state, Kansas and Oklahoma, will sell their antiquated goods, from which they will render a profit.

The funds, collected by the club, will be given to the Opportunity Plan, Inc. in Canyon, which will distribute loans among local and other students.

The Plan spends the money as the donating group or division designates, said Minton Morris, executive vice president loan program, and we handle some 87 divisions from the Panhandle area - three in Pampa.

The club at last year's show accumulated $28,436.50 to add to their past loan money.

The Cotillion division has had $148,936.97 loaned to 66 students since it began the antique shows.

Most of the students attend West Texas State University, said Morris, however the organization that started in 1953 is a separate entity from the school. The program began when Gene Quest of Lubbock donated $500.

Some of the students, funded by the Cotillion division, have attended six other schools, including two out-of-state schools, he said.

A minimum donation of $100 allows an interested party to distribute loan money through the Plan, which does the service for free.

Endowment funds of interested people and of a group of students, who were on the Plan, add to the revenue from service and membership fees, said Morris.

Students owe the Canyon office about $600,000, which is combined with $100,000 in endowment funds, $150,000 for the building and its equipment and $50,000 in cash to make the total capital.

The money from the show, he said, goes directly to students, as does the reimbursements of loans.

The Cotillion is putting seven students through school and may be adding another to the list.

Morris said that he was to speak to a young lady about attending school.

The watchwords for qualification of a loan are integrity, honor, ambition and dependability, he said, and we have to be satisfied that students meet these standards.

Recommendations from area people are well regarded, he said, however loans are sometimes made when the uncertainty of it is hard to measure.

The loan, he said, profits the middle class student because he does not have to be underprivileged, poverty stricken or scholarly to receive a loan.

The Plan also directs students to other funds that may be available.

The Plan is also emphasizing vocational programs of which the student may be unaware by sponsoring Open Houses at Amarillo College, Texas State Technical Institute, Clarendon College and Frank Phillips.

Pampa college climbs upward

Clarendon College - Pampa Center enrolled 35 students into the new disco class to surpass the spring semester enrollment of the main school in Clarendon.

The Center had 346 students to attend academic and community service or adult continuing education courses.

The Clarendon school has enrolled 365 full-time academic and vocational students with the exception of 25 who are taking one short course.

The center will hold a real estate seminar that will have about 100 participants to further increase the head count.

The academic degree programs of the center have 262 students enrolled while the non-degree or short courses show a total of 284.

Some of the short courses include Emergency Medical Technicians with 21 enrolled, Emergency Care Attendant (being taught for Cabot Machine Division employees) with 24, Slimnastics (three classes) with 99 and Watercolor with 12.

Other classes adding to the large enrollment are Pottery, 12; Photography, 34; Income Tax Preparation, 10; Tole Painting, 13; Needlepoint, 6; and Duplicate Bridge, 14.

WHEAT IRRIGATION:

The very timely rains have replenished our soil moisture. The prospects for a wheat crop are improving, that is if the army cutworms haven't wiped out your wheat.

I suggest farmers hold off on irrigating wheat for a few more weeks. About all we get from an early spring irrigation is increased forage production. Producing the most wheat per acre - inch or irrigating water can probably be made this year with one or two timely irrigations. For one irrigation, I would suggest an irrigation in late April. For two irrigations, I would presently think it would be best to water around mid-April and around mid-May.

With irrigation costs up and low wheat prices with adequate moisture in the ground, I certainly think it is wise to hold off irrigating wheat until mid to late April.

SWINE SHORTCOURSE IN PLAINVIEW:

Two noted Extension swine specialists from Minnesota and Indiana will join scientists and producers from Texas, Arizona and Iowa to conduct the annual Texas A&M University Swine Shortcourse Wednesday, April 4th at the Hale County Agricultural Center, south of the city beginning at 8:00 a.m. and adjourns at 4:15 p.m.

The course is designed to bring pork producers in West Texas and neighboring states up to date on the latest research and ideas in management and production.

PORK PRODUCERS HANDBOOK:

About two years ago pork producers of Texas were offered by subscription the Pork Producers Handbook. Since then there have been considerable interest and requests for additional subscriptions. A decision has been made to once again make this Handbook available to pork producers and those interested in pork production on a subscription basis. The cost will be $15 per copy and checks should be made payable to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Handbooks will be printed and distributed to subscribers during June and July. Those wishing to subscribe should do so between now and May 1, 1979. Contact the County Extension Office, Courthouse annex for this handbook.

LOVEGRASS MANGEMENT:

This winter moisture should give grass an early start this spring. Lovegrass is just beginning to show a little green. Now is the time to go over all Lovegrass pastures with a brush beater, stalk shredder or mowing machine and get all of last year's remain growth cut off. This will enable cattle to graze the grass more efficiently as they tend to not graze grass growing in old stubble.

Also, a spring application of fertilizer is needed now. A general recommendation for Weeping Lovegrass in the area is an application of about 30-20-0. This may not give the maximum amount of total grass, but it should give the biggest return on your fertilizer dollar. A soil test would give you a more exact recommendation to fit your individual situation.

Some stockmen like lovegrass pastures and some don't. The viewpoint depends on the individual's experience with lovegrass. Results obtained from lovegrass pastures are highly dependent on the level of grazing management.

Grazing management is a key factor in satisfactory production from lovegrass. Intense grazing during periods of lush growth usually results in good beef production and satisfied cattle producers. On the other hand, light grazing during these periods results in low production and dissatisfied producers.

Lovegrass forage becomes low in digestibility and unpalatable to livestock as it gets older and taller pastures allowed to accumulate large amounts of excess forage (as in the case of light grazing) become undesirable to livestock. Forage digestibility and protein levels decrease along with livestock production.

Onion harvest delayed month

AUSTIN - Though the January freeze has delayed the spring onion harvest by a month, the crop is expected to be a big one - 345,000,000 pounds.

According to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, onions should start moving out of the Rio Grande Valley in volume by April 1, a month behind the crop's normal schedule.

The delay is the result of the freeze in early January that covered all the onion-producing areas in South Texas. Valley onions received leaf burn, but recovered without interruption except for a brief cool spell in February that may have increased the possibility of seed stems.

This year's crop is expected to be three percent bigger than last year's when 334,500,000 pounds were harvested. Twenty-three thousand acres have been estimated for harvest - 19,800 in the valley, 2,600 in the Winter Garden area and 600 at Laredo.

The freeze destroyed many fields in Winter Garden that had to be replanted. According to Brown, some growers were still transplanting in early March. Onions from this part of the state will be smaller than usual.

The freeze may actually have had the greatest effect on the High Plains' summer onion crop. Brown said High Plains' onions are transplanted from Winter Garden area sets which were severely damaged by the freezing temperatures. Though transplanting is usually underway by early March, only a few fields had been set by then. Many growers were still awaiting further plant development in Winter Garden.

AUSTIN - The Texas - Federal Inspection Service inspected 492,416.921 pounds of Mexican produce which crossed the border for sales in the United States and abroad in 1978. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown announced.

Fees collected by the self-supporting state - federal agency amounted to $283,334.37. Produce is inspected for quality and size. It included 88.5 million pounds of onions, 31.9 million pounds of honeydew melons, 120.4 million pounds of cantaloupes and 98.9 million pounds of watermelons.

"This program represents our continued good relations with Mexico," said Brown. "As trade possibilities between our countries continue to expand, we expect to work more and more closely with the Mexican government."

"Mexican produce does not represent a threat of U.S. growers," Brown continued. "It is imported seasonally to insure plentiful supplies for our consumers. When U.S. crops begin harvesting, packers turn to the domestic market."

Brown added that Texas commodity groups are actively seeking to expand their trade with Mexico.

Mexico exports citrus to points outside the U.S. through the Port of Brownsville because Mexican ports are too shallow to accommodate large ships.

The inspection service inspected 850,000 40-pound cartons of grapefruit and oranges going to Japan and Europe. It also inspected 300,000 40-pound cartons bound for China.

Hearings set for Farm Workers Union

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The vice president of the Texas Farm Workers Union says he feels less "in limbo" about the chances of a legislative hearing for a collective bargaining bill after a meeting with House Speaker Bill Clayton.

Union members met last week with Gov. Bill Clements, who said he had little influence over House committees.

Rep. Forrest Green, chairman of the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee, attended the supporters' meeting with Clayton on Thursday. Green told the group he has tentatively scheduled a hearing on the bill before his committee on April 25.

"I think he (Green) had left himself a catch-22 clause," said Alfredo Deavila, the union vice president, after the meeting.

Deavila said he was disappointed Green would not move up the date.

"We would still like it to be earlier, but at least it's set," he said.

The bill that would allow farm workers to bargain collectively with their employers has failed in past legislative sessions. The union recently staged a 600-mile, 6-week march from West Texas to the Capitol to dramatize the issue.

Green, D-Corsicana, said he had already told his staff to set up the hearing and the only remaining hitch was checking with committee members.

"If I say it's going to be the 25th, it's pretty certain," Green said.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Tony Garcia, D-Pharr, said he was afraid the late hearing date might keep it from reaching the House floor before the session ends May 28.

Green said that would not be a problem since Garcia had chosen the bill as his top priority item.

Clayton explained to the farm workers' supporters that each representative is able to choose one bill to bypass the powerful House Calendars Committee.

The calendars committee schedules bills to be considered on the House floor and can effectively keep a bill from being heard.

"This priority number says, Calendar committee, you can't do that," Clayton said.

Green added the bill would not have been granted a committee hearing without Garcia's intervention.

"I don't think the bill has a chance," he said. "I doubt that it can even get out of committee. If he can get it out of committee, it's not too late."

Those meeting with Clayton included Ruben Bonilla, state director of the League of United Latin American Citizens; Dr. Hector Garcia, founder of the American GI Forum; Dr. Jim Suggs, executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches; and the Rev. Carl Siegenthaler, chairman of Texas IMPACT.

Rabies epidemic feared in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Worried health officials in El Paso and sister-city Juarez are trying to hold the reins on what they say could be another explosive rabies epidemic.

Officials said 10 Juarez residents and seven El Paso residents have undergone a painful series of shots after they were bitten by rabid dogs. The latest victim is a four-year-old El Paso boy who was bitten by a puppy on Sunday. The dog later was found dead and the El Paso Animal Shelter confirmed it had rabies.

In El Paso, animal control officers are patrolling the streets 24 hours a day while Juarez officials have called out the Mexican army to search for stray and rabid animals. Both cities are pleading with residents to have their pets vaccinated, but admit they are overwhelmed by the sheer number of animals along the border.

"There has been some resistance to the anti-rabies campaign (in some parts of Juarez) ... because much of the population is moving in from rural areas where there never was any question about the health of their dogs," said Dr. Boris Velimirovic, director of the Pan American Health Organization.

He said 7,500 dogs have been vaccinated in Juarez and his goal is 40,000. But he admits that figure only dents the overall number of dogs in the area - estimated at 80,000.

He said the problem seems to be under better control than the 1973 outbreak which reached epidemic proportions when 140 cases of rabies were reported in El Paso over a two-year period.

But Jack Luck, director of the El Paso Animal Shelter said the problem may just be beginning.

"I think it may be just getting ready to blossom out," he said, noting there is not enough manpower to cover the affected areas.

"Right now, we are just having to concentrate on where the problem is the worst."

Air Pacific, the Fijian government-controlled airline, says it made a record profit of $626,747 (Fijian) for the 1977-78 business year, the first profit after five years of losses totaling $3 million.

Harvesters collect two baseball wins

By JERRY GUNTER
Pampa News Sports Editor
 Pampa's baseball Harvesters grabbed two wins over the weekend as they won a pair from Altus, Okla. Friday, before bowing to Canyon in a single game Saturday.

In Friday's battles, the Harvesters won the first contest, 6-2 and then came back to take the sweep, 2-1. But the Harvesters weren't quite so fortunate Saturday as Canyon banged out 12 hits enroute to an 11-6 triumph.

So after the three games over the weekend, the Harvesters now will take a record of 8-3 into Tuesday's non-district battle with Hereford at Optimist Park at 4 p.m.

In the first game on Friday, things did not start out too pleasantly for coach Steve Scott's squad as visiting Altus jumped out to an early 2-0 lead in the top half of the first inning.

But that lead was short lived as Pampa came roaring back with three runs of its own in the bottom of the frame to take the advantage for good.

Greg Koch got the Harvesters going in the first as he singled to right to score two runs. Koch then came home on an error to give Pampa a lead of 3-2.

From that point until the sixth inning, the contest turned out to be a battle of the pitchers. Pampa's Steve Scott, who picked up his third win against no losses, went the distance giving up only three base hits for the day, two of which came in the first inning.

Pampa upped its lead to 4-2 in the sixth as Scott walked with the bases loaded. Steve McDougall then singled to center to chase another tally home. Finally, Mark Jennings walked with the bases full to make the score final.

And while Altus had trouble in hitting the ball, so did the Harvesters as they managed only four hits for the day. Getting hits for Pampa were Koch, Stout, Rick Dougherty and Steve McDougall.

Again in the second game, it turned out to be a pitchers game. Though the Harvesters won the game, they only picked up three hits in the nitecap. Meanwhile, Altus scattered five hits.

Pampa wasted little time in getting started in the second game as the Harvesters scored both of their runs in the first frame.

Wuest was the first Harvester to reach base as he got on by way of an error, before Jennings moved him to third on a double to right field. Then both base runners came home thanks to a single to center by Rick Dougherty.

Dougherty held Altus in check for the biggest part of the game as he picked up his third win of the year. Altus did not get a base hit until the third when Johnny Blankenship doubled to left.

Altus then cut the deficit to 2-1 in the fourth as Greg Hamel singled to left to chase home the only run of the day for the Bulldogs.

Altus threatened to score in both the sixth and seventh frames, but each time the Harvesters' defense came to the rescue to halt the attack.

All three of Pampa's hits came in that all-important first frame. Both Dougherty and Koch got singles, while teammate Mark Jennings got a two-base hit.

But Saturday was a different story as Canyon jumped out to an early lead and was never headed as the Eagles defeated Pampa for the first time in three tries.

Canyon took advantage of four base hits and two walks to take a comfortable 5-0 lead after the first-half inning of action.

The Harvesters did make a comeback in its half of the first as they scored three times. The first tally came in as Koch walked with the bases full to cut the lead to 5-1. Then designated-hitter Jeff Copeland smashed a single to center to chase home two base runners as the Harvesters cut the deficit to 5-3.

That lead held up until the third when Canyon scored once again on a wild pitch by Pampa pitcher Julian Clark. That put the visiting Eagles out in front 6-3.

Pampa cut the lead to 6-4 in the third as Koch came home on a sacrifice fly by Copeland.

Canyon got one more run in the fourth and then added four more in the seventh to put the game out of reach.

The Harvesters did start to rally in the seventh as they scored twice, but it was not enough as Canyon walked away with the win.

Wadkins leads TPC golf

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
 JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — On a windswept course where Jack Nicklaus shot 82, weary Lanny Wadkins retained a 3-stroke lead with a struggling, 4-over-par 76 Saturday in the third round of the $440,000 Tournament Players Championship.

The howling, shifting wind, that gusting to 35 mph, and a course that Nicklaus earlier had described as awkward, combined to turn into a golfing horror show the event that is billed as the annual championship of the touring pros.

It was a mockery.

"Let's just say I did not have the ability to handle the conditions," Nicklaus said. "Do you know I only put the ball on the putting surface in regulation four times? And I actually hit the ball fairly well. I had 26 putts."

"It was murder," said Jack Renner, the skinny youngster who was the only man in the field able to break par 72 on the 7,083 yards of the Sawgrass links. "Basically, you just tried to survive." Renner finished with a birdie-par-birdie for a 71.

Wadkins had made only one bogey through the first two rounds, but was over par on 7 holes Saturday. Still, the conditions were so severe that he retained the same advantage that he'd had at the start of the day's play. He had a 54-hole total of 211.5 shots under par.

Lee Trevino birdied the last hole to gain a tie for second at 214 with Renner, George Burns and Bill Kratzert. Trevino and Kratzert shot 75s, Burns 76.

The conditions made it all but unplayable. There was Ed Flori, well among the leaders until he played the 18th, a par-5 with the green jutting into the water. He made 9 on the hole, took a 79 and a 219 total.

Tom Watson, Player of the Year for the last two seasons, was challenging for the top spot until he reached those tough finishing holes. They punished him with a bogey-double bogey-bogey finish and a 75 that left him at 217.

"It was a guessing game," said Burns. "I just wanted to get out of there without getting hurt."

"The only nice thing you can say about a day like today is that I'm glad it's over," said Kratzert.

LUBBOCK - For the first time since the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department started stocking antelope in 1938, out-of-state animals have been brought in and stocked on three northwest Texas ranches.

Fourteen P&WD personnel went to trap surplus antelope on the F.E. Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyoming, and they came back with 87 animals to be stocked on traditional antelope range.

"A helicopter from Provo, Utah, was used to round-up the antelope and drive them into a ring trap where they were caught and transported to a ranch near Claude in the Panhandle and two ranches near Wichita Falls and Abilene," said George Litton, antelope project leader.

"The Safari International Club of Amarillo picked up the $2900 tab for the cost of the helicopter which was an essential part of the trapping sites did not seem to hinder the operations.

P&WD biologists noted that the Wyoming antelope are larger than the Texas antelope. Several of the antelope actually jumped over the traps while being herded by the copter.

Over 5,200 antelope have been trapped and restocked back onto traditional antelope range since 1938. Studies about the fleet animals have show that Texas once had large herds of antelope numbering into the millions. The introduction of barbed wire was the determining factor in the continuing decline on the antelope range in the Panhandle, Permian Basin and Trans Pecos regions.

CHIDRESS - A thorough study of wildlife management and conservation was presented to 17 area hunter safety instructors by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department during a recent workshop held in Childress.

Hunter safety instructors from Amarillo to Odessa to Wichita Falls were in attendance while P&WD personnel presented the status of conservation in Texas today.

Astros stop Minnesota

COCO, Fla. (AP) — Julio Gonzalez' squeeze bunt scored Rafael Landestoy from third base with the winning run in the seventh inning Saturday as the Houston Astros edged the Minnesota Twins 5-4 in exhibition baseball.

Landestoy singled and Terry Puhl advanced him to third with a one-out single before Gonzalez delivered his second successful squeeze bunt in a week to snap a 4-4 tie.

The Twins had taken an early 4-0 lead against Houston's starting pitcher James Rodney Richard. Home runs by Roy Smalley in the third and Ken Landreaux in the fourth inning made it 2-0. Five straight singles accounted for two more runs in the sixth.

Golfers finish second

AMARILLO—The Pampa High School boys golf team finished second in a triangular meet held Saturday at the Amarillo Air Force Base.

The Pampa team finished with a total of 347 to finish just ahead of Caprock. Amarillo High won the triangular with a 326. Caprock's third place finish saw the Longhorns get a 445.

Individually for Pampa, Barry Terrell led the way with a 82. Getting the second best score of the day for the Harvesters was Gary Cudney. He finished with a total of 87. At 88 was Chad Darce, while coming through with a 90 was Bob Phillips. Finally, the score that was dropped was a 92. That score was achieved by Paul Beck.

Getting the top score of the day in the triangular was Steve Russell of Amarillo High. Russell finished the course with a score of 77.

There was another triangular held at the Air Base and in that meet, Tascosa nipped Borger for the title.

The Rebels got a 333, while Borger was next at 37. Palo Duro was a distant third at 367.

The next action for the Harvesters will be next Friday in the first round of the District 3-AAAA tournament to be held at the Pampa Country Club. That event will start at 9 a.m.

Netters come home ahead

BORGER — The Pampa Tennis Team was gusted by winds Friday and Saturday at the Borger Invitational Tournament, but returned home with a second place overall win for the women's team and several individual victories.

The ladies' team volleyed for a total of 36 points, leaving them short nine of Memphis while the men had 17, compared to the 49 of first-place Vernon.

Kris Douglas cleared her side of the bracket for 15 points and fell in the finals to Sanja Hutcherson of Memphis (6-0) (6-2).

"Kris is playing better than she has all year long," said Harvester Netter's Coach David Martin. Douglas defeated a girl from Hereford (6-0) (6-1).

Estacado (6-2) (6-1) and Vernon (6-3) (6-3) before the final's match against the Memphis girl who won state in District 2-A last year.

The doubles' team of Laura Johnson and Susan Lane took their first two matches in straight sets for 12 points, defeating Memphis (6-4) (6-4) and Estacado (6-0) (6-2), but dropped the semi-finals match (6-2) (6-0) to Dunbar's Hamilton-Fleweller.

Pampa's Kathy Wall and Cheryl Kessel lost in a two setter (6-0) (6-3) to a Memphis team in the second round after winning a long match against a Lubbock-Estacado team (7-6) (4-6) (6-3).

Playing singles for the Harvester racketeers, Julie Colier fell in her first three matches, but left the courts with a win against Memphis' Terri Callahan (6-1) (6-4).

For the men, Kurt Krause pounded hard to take his first match against Memphis' Mark Simmons (6-2) (6-0). He was later hit hard by the play of Dunbar's Kevin Bryant (6-2) (6-2).

However, Krause regained his poise to win the consolation bracket in two matches against Brad Rehnick of Borger and Kevin Downing of Hereford.

The Harvester men picked up a couple of points when Jack Redus put away one match in the second round of the consolation bracket to later lose to Estacado's Johnny Carr (7-5) (1-6).

The men's doubles teams had little grip on the court action and lost hold of six of seven matches.

Kevin Gantz and Sean Johnston were beat twice in straight sets in matches with Borger's Able Willard and Memphis' Vacca-Kehr and had to default the last match because Johnston became sick.

Pampa's Greg Trollinger and Mark Spence out-rallied Floyd-Jones of Memphis (6-7) (6-0) (6-2) and were later overpowered (6-3) (6-0) by Estacado's Green-Darby.

The team was playing well, said Martin, but they could have played better.

However, the coach said he is expectant about Tuesday's dual meet with Borger and the Amarillo Relays Friday.

Tennis continues

HOUSTON (AP) — An international singles final and a fight-to-the-finish in the team race mark Sunday's competition in the 21st Rice Invitational tennis tournament.

Second-seeded Kevin Curren of South Africa and the University of Texas meets unseeded Arjun Fernando of Sri Lanka and Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, while Southern Methodist and Trinity battle to the wire in other matches for the team title.

Fernando, who defeated top-seeded Eric Iskersky of Trinity en route to his appearance in the final, beat Pan American's Alfonso Gonzales 6-2, 6-3 in a quarterfinal match Saturday morning.

He then stopped SMU's Tom Cain, the tournament defending champion, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5 in the afternoon semifinal.

Curren edged Fernando's teammate, Juan Farrow, 6-3, 6-7, 6-2 in their quarterfinal match Saturday, then knocked out Trinity's Ben McKown 6-4, 6-3 in the other semifinal.

In doubles semifinal action Saturday, Tony Giammalva and John Benson of Trinity stopped teammates Larry Gottfried and Mike Davidson 6-4, 6-4, while SMU's Cain and Mark Vines defeated Texas Christian's Rick Meyers and David Zimmerman 6-3, 6-1.

A total of 12 track men and women teams were entered in the competition, which suffered from cold temperatures and winds.

The women's varsity placed fifth with 73 and the JVs earned third place with 63, which was 90 points behind second-place Tascosa.

The final leg for the mile-relay team of the men's junior varsity crossed the finish line first, clocked at 3:41.6.

Cindy Whitson ran the 220-yard dash at 27.3 to win third place in the varsity event.

Second place in the junior varsity event was earned by Julie Ellis, who ran the mile in 6:53.

In the field events, Carmella Cardwell threw the shot the farthest in the varsity competition - 37 feet - 4 - in the varsity competition and Dorinda Gray shoved it 28 feet - 8 1/2 to win second place for the junior varsity while Tammy Minyard took third with a 28 feet - 2 1/2 toss.

MICHIGAN STATE'S Terry Donnelly cries out in agony after being injured during NCAA tournament action against Penn at Salt Lake City. Holding the ball is Penn's Jay Vincent (31). However, Michigan State went on to record a 101-67 win to advance to Monday night's finals.

Indiana State, Spartans win

By DOUG TUCKER
AP Sports Writer
SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Unstoppable Larry Bird poured in 35 points and miracle man Bob Heaton scored the winning basket in the final 45 seconds, boosting No. 1-ranked Indiana State past DePaul 76-74 in the NCAA semifinals Saturday.

Bird, tossing in points from all over the court, led the Sycamores, unbeaten in 33 games this season, into the NCAA final Monday night against Michigan State, which routed Penn 101-67 in Saturday's other semifinal.

Indiana State held a 67-59 lead with 9:16 remaining when the Blue Demons, paced by Mark Aguirre and Gary Garland, staged a 14-4 spurt and took a 73-71 lead when Garland sank a 10-foot jumper with 4:33 left.

Heaton, with an assist from Bird, knotted it at 73, then with 1:37 left, Garland hit the front end of a one-and-one, making it 74-73 and bringing venerable DePaul Coach Ray Meyer within 90 seconds of a trip to the championship.

Heaton, whose off-balance, last-second shot lifted the Sycamores over Arkansas in the Midwest Regional final, took a pass from Carl Nicks under the basket and laid it in for a 75-74 lead. DePaul then called time out with 36 seconds left.

The Blue Demons worked the ball down court, carefully angling for their best shot. But Aguirre, letting fly from the wing, missed and Indiana State gathered in the rebound.

Leroy Stealey hit a free throw with one second left for the final margin.

Michigan State, led by spectacular Earvin Johnson and steady Greg Kelsner and a tough zone defense, overwhelmed Penn's Ivy Leaguers 101-67 Saturday in the semifinals of the NCAA basketball championships.

Michigan State, 25-6, had the game sewed up in the first half, when the Spartans looked like a pro team toying with a college squad.

The Spartans pounded out an embarrassing 50-17 halftime lead behind their two superstars as the gifted Johnson scored 15 points, handed out eight assists and collected five rebounds and Kelsner scored 14 points and pulled down seven rebounds.

The Spartans went on a 19-point scoring streak midway through the first half, with Johnson and Kelsner doing most of the damage to rush into a 32-6 lead with 7:09 left before intermission.

Penn, 25-6, was not able to score a point for nearly nine minutes during one stretch, and didn't break into double figures until 3:06 was left in the first half. The Quakers' problems were compounded by early foul trouble to Ivy League Player of the Year Tony Price, who was saddled with three fouls and had to sit down with nine minutes left in the first half.

Johnson, scoring almost at will from inside and outside, was the game's high scorer with 29 points, while Kelsner contributed 28 for Michigan State, which led by as many as 42 points in the last five minutes.

Price, who fouled out with 3:43 left in the game, led Penn with 18 points.

Houston triumphs twice

WACO, TEXAS (AP) — Bobby Hollas smacked a two-run single in the ninth inning as Houston came from behind to defeat Baylor, 5-3, sweeping a Southwest Conference double-header Saturday.

Houston won the first game, 7-2, behind the strong relief pitching of David Minelli.

But the second contest looked like a Baylor victory until the end. The Bears took a 3-1 lead into the ninth inning when starter Andy Beene walked one batter and was relieved by Bill Eady, who was tagged with the loss, could do no better, walking the next two batters and setting up Hollas' two-RBI single.

Houston scored two more runs on a ground out and a single before Baylor could retire the side.

The first contest was never close as Houston jumped to a two-run lead in the first inning and never trailed.

Clarendon captures meet

LEFORS — Clarendon captured five first place finishes Friday as the Broncos won the high school title in the Top of Texas track meet.

Clarendon finished with a total of 112 points, which was 36 points better than second place Wellington. The Skyrockets had 76 to finish as the runner-up. Groom was third with 63, while Miami followed with 55.

The Broncos had the top time in the 440 relay with a 45.7 clocking and then came back with four other first place finishes enroute to the title.

Other top finishes for Clarendon came in the 100, shot put, high jump and long jump.

Stage set for peace treaty signing

By The Associated Press
 An "extremely happy" Anwar Sadat flew from Egypt to Washington Saturday for the historic signing of a peace treaty with Israel. Syria, meanwhile, called angrily for "revolutionary violence ... to strangle the Sadat regime," but said it does not favor an oil embargo against the United States.

In Washington, Egyptian, Israeli and U.S. negotiators met to complete final details of the peace accord, but American officials said no last-minute problems jeopardized the treaty.

The Carter administration prepared for a lavish treaty-signing ceremony Monday at the White House, ending 30 years of hostilities between the two nations.

"I am happy, extremely happy," a Sadat smilingly told reporters before boarding his special jetliner for the 14-hour flight to Andrews Air Force Base near Washington.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was already in the United States, meeting Saturday with friends and American Jewish leaders in New York and preparing to help wrap up the final minor issues in the negotiations.

In other Mideast developments Saturday:

—Arab LEAGUE FOREIGN MINISTERS MET IN Mogadishu, Somalia, in a plenary session expected to be dominated by discussion of the treaty. Iraq has scheduled an emergency meeting of Arab foreign ministers in Baghdad for Tuesday, 24 hours after the Washington ceremony, to approve political and economic sanctions against Sadat.

—Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat criticized President Carter's offer to work with his Palestine Liberation Organization if the PLO recognizes Israel, but Arafat stopped short of rejecting the proposal.

—In Jerusalem, Arab protesters threw rocks at Jews holding an unauthorized prayer service on Temple Mount, sacred to both Jews and Muslims. No injuries were reported.

In a statement issued after Sadat's departure, Egypt's leftist Progressive Socialist Unionists deplored the treaty as a move to "preserve American national security interests and not to solve the Arab-Israeli conflict."

The party claims a following of 100,000 among Egypt's 40 million people.

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam, in an interview with the conservative Kuwait newspaper Al Wattan, urged "all Arabs, especially in Egypt, to mount the highest degree of revolutionary violence in order to strangle and overthrow Sadat's regime."

The anti-treaty Arabs demand return of all Israeli-occupied Arab lands and freedom for the Palestinians to form their own independent state in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

The treaty returns only the Sinai — to Egypt — and sets the stage for a vaguely defined autonomy for the Palestinians short of full independence.

Democrats interested in Carter luncheon

DALLAS (AP) — The public highlight of President Carter's brief visit to Dallas was an scheduled address Sunday afternoon to the opening session of the National Association of Broadcasters Convention. But Texas Democrats were more interested in the private 45-minute luncheon thrown by trade ambassador Robert Strauss at his north Dallas home.

Strauss estimated the guest list at more than 100 persons. "Ninety-five percent of the group will be Democratic officeholders of Dallas County and statewide officeholders," Strauss said.

The only exceptions, he said, were some of his personal friends, and his brother, banker-businessman Ted Strauss, head of a bipartisan committee working to bring the 1980 Democratic National Committee to Dallas.

However, Ted Strauss called the lunch a "social" occasion, adding, "it would be improper to bring it (the convention) up."

The "small talk" theme was echoed by Democratic National Chairman John White, former Texas agriculture commissioner.

White, co-host of the affair, said it started as an iced tea and fried chicken brunch with about 30 to 40 people.

The guest list grew, though, to include former Texas Attorney General John Hill, a Carter energy policy critic who lost last year's gubernatorial election; Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, another enemy of administration energy ideas; Texas Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg of Houston and State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, who was state co-chairman of Carter's 1976 campaign.

Also invited was the Dallas County congressional delegation.

The White House said Carter was to arrive at 12:30 p.m.

STEFAN SALTER, a 71-year-old blind amputee attending the University of Missouri, has won his battle against what he says is the cynicism of a state agency. The Missouri Division of Family Services had cut off Salter's transportation money but he appealed for help and the state finally listened. (AP Laserphoto)

Companies keeping eye on supplies

HOUSTON (AP) — The Iranian situation has oil companies keeping close watch on crude oil inventories.

April normally marks the start of spring-summer period in which refiners replenish inventories.

L.A. Ramsey, executive vice president of Gulf Oil Exploration and Production Co., is among those expressing concern.

"Although Iran has started to export small amounts of oil, we cannot be certain exports will continue or in what volumes, much less at what cost," Ramsey said.

In the normal cycle of crude oil demand, he added, the first and fourth quarters of each year are generally periods of peak demand.

"A drawdown of crude stocks usually begins to occur during the fourth quarter and continues until the beginning of the second quarter the following year," Ramsey said.

"Stocks are usually rebuilt during the second and third quarters. However, refiners have been forced to draw down more heavily on crude stocks during the first quarter and, depending on the availability of crude, may or may not be able to build up inventories during the summer months."

Ramsey said the temporary loss of Iranian crude, to date, has not created an absolute shortage of oil in the world but an approach to crisis conditions could begin as early as October if substantial Iranian supplies are not available.

Ramsey said that prior to the shutdown of Iranian production Gulf and others had assumed the OPEC nations had spare producing capacity approximating 5 million barrels a day.

"However, having lost nearly 6 million barrels per day of Iranian production, we find we are 2 million short on a current world-wide basis," he said.

Conservation alone, Ramsey added, could cover such a shortfall in that 2 million barrels a day world wide out of normal demand of a little over 50 million barrels a day equates to a 4 percent shortage.

"If we assume Iran will produce about 700,000 barrels per day for its own internal consumption, the shortage is closer to 1 million barrels per day or 2 percent of demand," he said.

"The International Energy Agency has called for a voluntary 5 percent reduction in demand in all countries, but it has left the administration of oil supply logistics in the hands of the oil companies for the time being."

The United States should have learned by now, Ramsey said, that serious conservation does not occur without the persuasive factor of higher prices.

Ramsey said the higher OPEC prices of recent months are beginning to show up at gasoline stations across the nation.

"But, due to domestic crude oil and gasoline price controls, the new prices do not reflect the real world. They still fail to telegraph the conservation imperative to the consumer," he said.

"Demand for gasoline, of all the major petroleum products, should be reduced through the pricing mechanism, because demand for products from the lighter end of the barrel is far outstripping demand for heavier products."

Ramsey said higher prices which occurred following the four-fold OPEC increases of 1973 and 1974 did result in conservation.

"Annual demand growth for petroleum in the more developed consuming countries decreased from age of 4 to 5 percent per year to a more modest growth of 2 to 3 percent annually," he said.

"There is no question that prices can be used as an effective conservation incentive. Neither should there be any doubt but that higher returns to the oil industry will stimulate energy production here at home where we know it will be available when we need it."

People in the news

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP) — It's taken him most of his 65 years, but Dr. Christopher Morris can finally say he's been in every one of the 3,067 counties in the 48 contiguous states.

By crossing the border from Wisconsin's Dane County into Rock County this week, Morris ended a quest that began when he was 2 years old and entered Birk Coun. N.D., from Canada.

Morris began counting counties in 1952. During vacations, he drove, walked and swam across county lines, even landing a plane on a county road and taking off again so he could put that county on his list.

In 1976, the Philadelphia psychiatrist planned six trips to complete his goal.

Wood-carvers from Pampa and Nottinghamshire

A WOODEN TABLE and carved goat is presented by John Matthews (center) to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. The work was commissioned by the County of Nottinghamshire as its gift to Her Majesty on the occasion of her Silver Jubilee. The mayor of Nottingham looks on.

 and Buddy Palmer

Hands across the ocean

John Matthews is a wood-carver who lives in Nottinghamshire, England. He was in Pampa last week staying with his good friend Buddy Palmer, a fellow wood-carver who owns the Black Gold Motel. On a kitchen cabinet in Palmer's house at 1009 Terry Road, there is a wood carving depicting a buffalo hunt. It is called 'Buffalo Falls' and it won the prestigious Golden Hammer, the International Award for Western Art presented at the National Canadian Exhibition in Toronto, Canada. Although he has won many silver cups and ribbons for his carving, Palmer says "I treasure this award more than anything else I've got."

Explaining the theme of his prize-winning carving, which shows three mounted Indian warriors driving nine buffalo, Palmer says that he based the piece on a combination of legend and fact. "The Indians drove the herds over a precipice because their bows and arrows were not strong enough to bring them down," Palmer said. "In this piece of sculpture, the precipice is Palo Duro Canyon."

Matthews is well-known in his own country as an author, lecturer, and artisan. He developed Toronto's National Canadian Exhibition and brought the Golden Hammer to the United States to present it to Palmer.

Matthews travels a lot. Last year he was in nine European countries and made four trips to North America.

He is a member of the National Wood-Carvers of America, and last year he arranged for a group of 54 American wood-carvers to go to England. They gave eight exhibitions and were guests of the Duke of Devonshire as well as Lady Chaworth Musters at the 11th century Priory in Nottingham. "They didn't spend a penny on accommodations," Matthews said. "Everything was provided for them."

Matthews says that when the Church of England decreed 1978 would be renovation year for the 10th century Southwell Cathedral, he was asked to help with the restoration. They set out to raise $8,000 and raised $650,000 instead. "It's enough to keep the Cathedral in repair for the next 1000 years," Matthews says.

What Matthews would really like to do is get an exhibition arranged here and take it to England. "They have never seen any typical western art over there," he says. "There are at least 700 wood-carvers in Texas and some of the best wood carving is done here."

He would like to find a sponsor and bring wood carving from around the world into the Southwest. "There is so much work being done and nobody knows anything about it," Matthews comments.

Just so he wouldn't run out of anything to do, Matthews compiled, wrote, edited and printed one book a year for the past 18 years. One of his books "How to Become One" deals with the art of whittling and sculpting. In the book is a picture of Marion George, a former Pampa resident, and her wood-carving of St. Matthew, which hangs in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pampa. Her work came to Matthews' attention when he took a survey of wood-carvers in the United States.

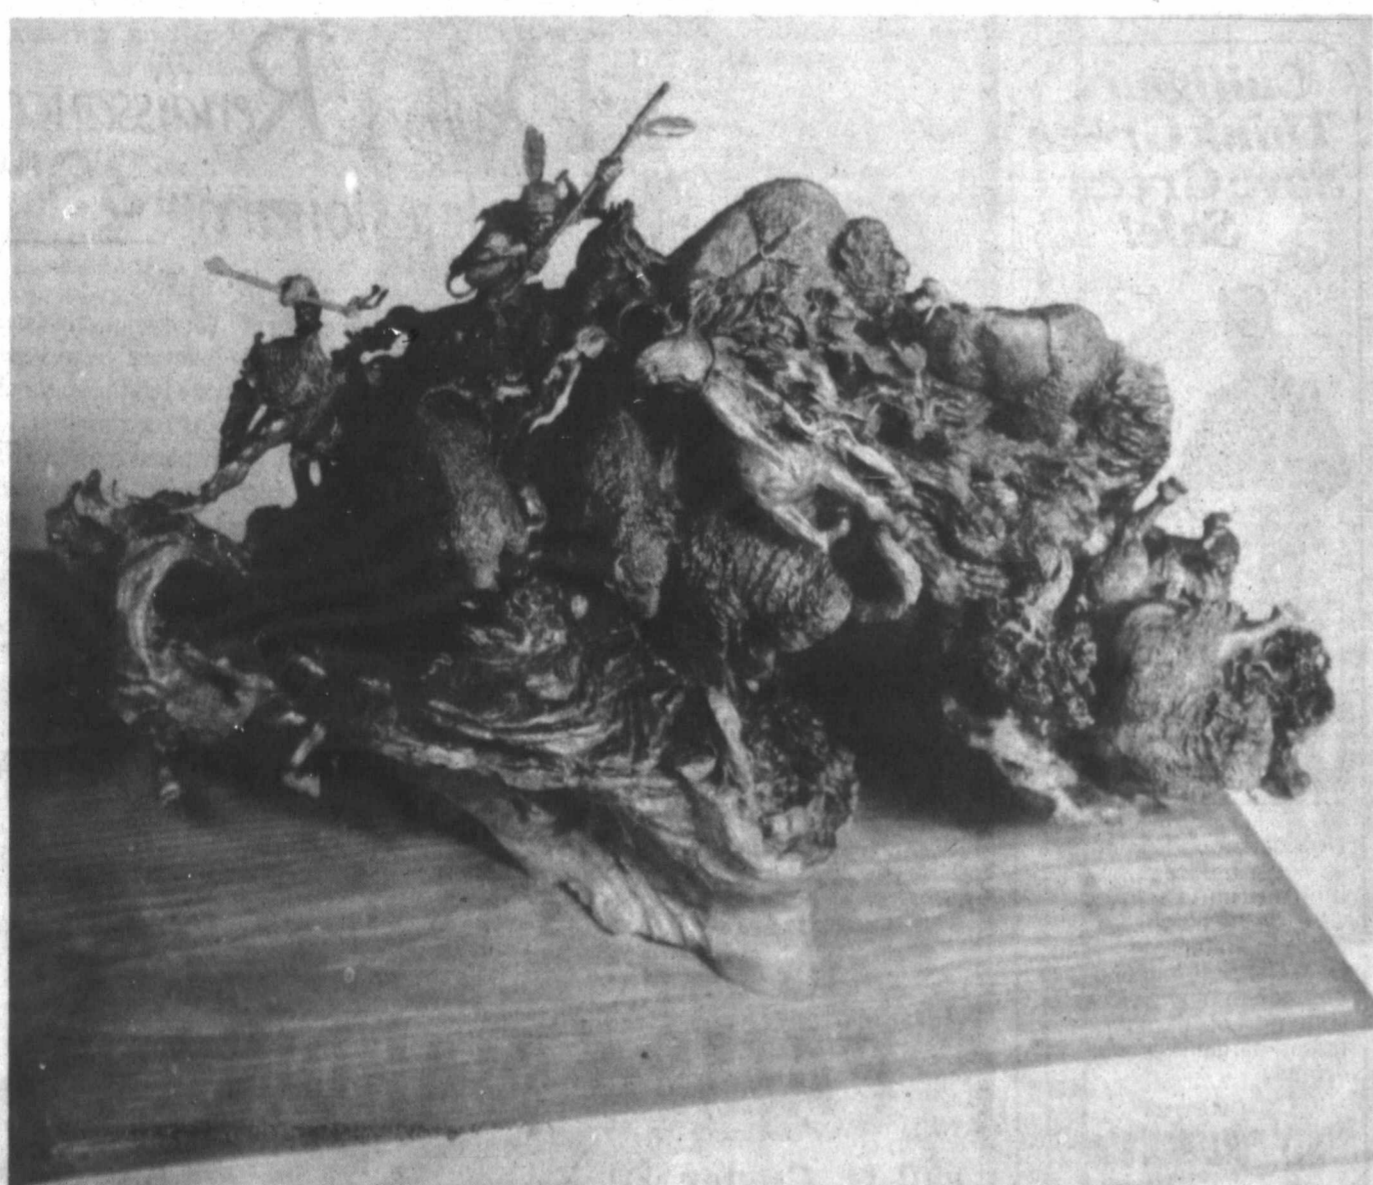

Matthews left Pampa on Friday for New York, but maybe he can be back on April 7-8 when the Pampa Fine Arts Association will sponsor an exhibition of wood-carving and jewelry making. One of the exhibitors will be Buddy Palmer.

WOOD SCULPTURE of a dog presented by John Matthews to Bob Hope at one of his performances at the 1977 National Canadian Exhibition, Toronto, Canada. The piece of sculpture was made by gluing sheets of plywood together to form a block and then carving according to the lamination. This gives the effect of stripes and colors in the wood.

Planning can help put color into blue Monday

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Ever wished you could get rid of Mondays?
You're not alone if you'd give a lot to be able to leapfrog over the day that straps you into that job harness again, says Carol Loganbill of the University of Iowa Counseling Service.
"Blue Monday is nothing to joke about to some people," Dr. Loganbill says. "Actually, there's a very logical explanation for the dampening effect Monday can have — we chafe at being locked into routine again after being our own boss for the weekend.

"Most jobs have a lot more structure than weekends do. Saturday and Sunday may be turned upside down as we sleep late, change our eating patterns and stay up partying or just watching a late movie."
Getting back into the groove on Monday is bound to be a shock to some people, Dr. Loganbill explains. She offers these suggestions for easing into the week:
— Fatigue is apt to be a mafor dampener of Monday morning spirits. If you're bushed every Monday, better tool down your weekends. You shouldn't expect to make a thousand-mile auto trip, for example, on a weekend, and be able to function adequately on the job Monday.

— A reasonably full weekend offering a nice change of pace from your work is most likely to bring you to Monday morning relaxed and ready to go. Outdoor sports could be the answer if you have a desk job — maybe a play and a good book to read if you're on the go continually at work.

— Study what works best for you. If you've plowed through a lot of work by Friday, probably a low-key, lazy weekend without any set timetable or deadlines will offer the best safety valve.
— On the other hand, when you've had a week when nothing pleased the boss and you weren't able to reach any of the goals set for your job, the best way to take the sting out of your frustration could be a weekend producing something you can see. Maybe refinishing an antique. Or cleaning out the attic.

— Make a special effort to look your best Monday morning. Wear a favorite suit, colors that give you a lift. You'll feel challenged to live up to the way you look.
— If your job has flexibility at all, don't take on any of its drudgery on Monday morning. Schedule something you enjoy that will let you see results.

Bury dull tasks in the middle of the week.
— Figure out your attention span for various tasks of your job. Then shift to a new task before it's time to become bored. Find the parts of the day you work best. If you're a morning person, for example, schedule your most challenging tasks before noon. Any steps you can take to make the most of your own peak periods will brighten not only blue Monday, but every other day in the week.

Getting a lefthanded grip on things

By Ellie Grossman

NEW YORK (NEA) — Janey (not Nancy) Campbell and her father, Dean, a distributor in Topeka, Kan., are putting on the screws.
Nicely but counterclockwise. And with help.
The executive director and founder of Lefthanders International — and their 4,000 national members — are quietly campaigning for their rights.
Actually, though, Ms. Campbell had hers to begin with.

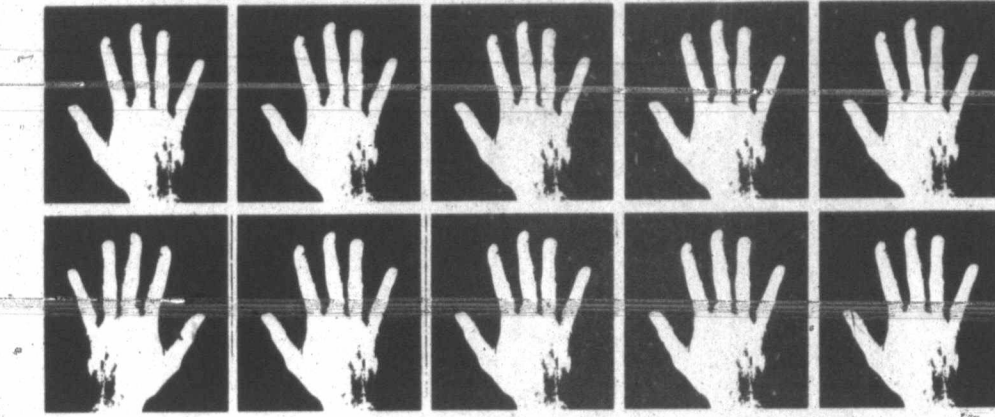

"Both my parents are left-handed, but all four children are right-handed," she confessed during a phone conversation. "But they taught us things left-handed so it was like growing up in a left-hander's world."

In other words, she saw extremes the world at large never notices: TV controls on the right instead of the middle of the set; the telephone cord uncoiling from left to right; a right-hander can take messages without serious entanglement; untenable corkscrews, etc., etc.

"Finally, in January, 1975, my father started this organization to promote the good life of left-handedness," she said. "We're informative, though not militant. We work with school systems and manufacturers to show them what left-handers need and that there's a market for it."

Left-armed school chairs, for example. A high school in Texas, for one, didn't have any until a member of Ms. Campbell's organization wrote and asked for some. "Then the school agreed to order 10 percent of their writing desks with the arm on the left side," she said happily.

With luck, the students seated there write like the others simply by slanting the paper to the right instead of curling and crimping their left hands — providing the teachers have learned that's often all it takes. If not, Lefthanders International hopes to set them right. "And after we accomplish that, we'll tackle school coaches about left-handed ball gloves and golf clubs ..."

And manufacturers of power saws and overseers of assembly lines where left-handers are unwelcome. After all, she asks, why should an estimated 10 to 25 percent of the population ("brain researchers' figures") be thwarted simply because their motor capabilities took up residence on the right instead of the left side of the brain?
Which is all left-handedness is, the folks in old Salem notwithstanding.

They said it was witchery and merited a short, hot stay at the stake.
"Today it has become a profitable condition for 20 or so of the nation's shopkeepers."
New York's The Left Hand, 10 years old, claims to be the country's first store listing entirely to the left. It was modeled on one in London and does such a healthy mail order business that "We don't advertise," says product manager Gray McKee.

"People hear about us by word of mouth or free publicity, and orders pour in. Mostly from housewives because they're the ones with time to leaf through the catalog." (Yours for $1.00 he added.)
First, Housewife scans the 300 items in the catalog, then quickly cuts back to the scissors: 30 varieties designed for hair, nails, cloth, the bodies of chickens and paper dolls, and all made with the cutting blade on top so the cutter can see how he's cutting. "Scissors out-sell everything else two to one," McKee says.

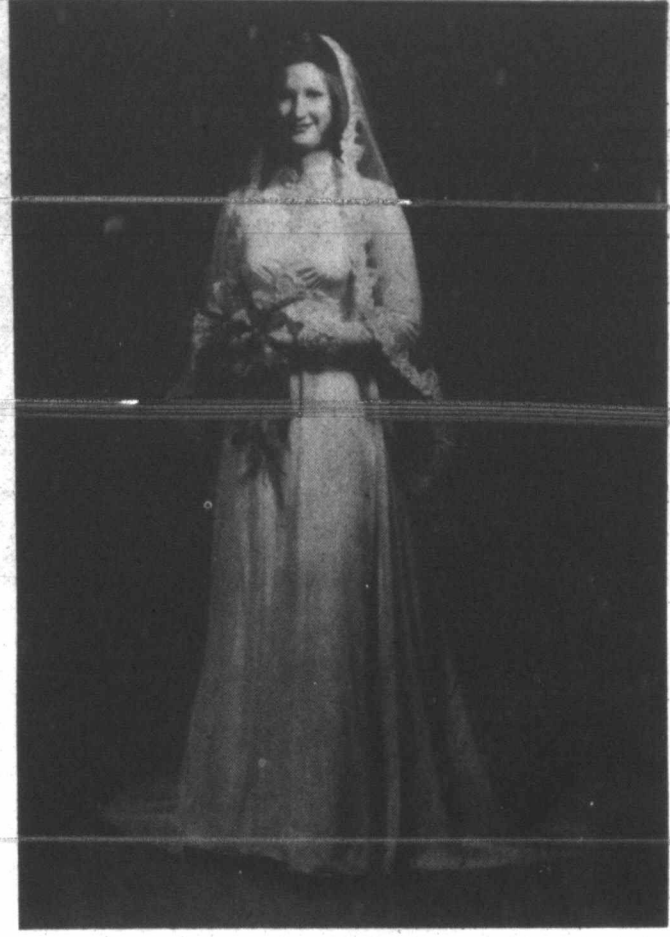

Next, Housewife circles kitchen utensils: the metal spatula angled so a right-hander comes up with air no matter what; the counterclockwise corkscrew that will drive that right-hander to drink because he can't get it to work; the soup ladle with the spout on the right, and measuring aids that read from right to left, like the rulers and left-handed address books do.
As for the rest of the merchandise, the range is unbounded. There are democratic playing cards numbered in all four corners so everyone can use them and left-handers can see the ace — bottom left — without contorting.

And watches with the stem on the other side, plus "how to" books on embroidery, needlepoint or knitting, and mustache mugs ...
Enough, in short, to satisfy the denizens of Detroit and Philadelphia, among others, after the holidays.
"Our best selling month is January," McKee said. "That's when follow-up orders from the pre-Christmas catalog come in. And since there's a high concentration of left-handers in Detroit and Philadelphia, we're usually inundated with orders from there."

Why? McKee couldn't say, so he left that up in the air.

At wit's end

by erma bombeck

I have never known a woman who can look at a mound of leftover food in a bowl or on a platter and throw it away — the first time around.
It has nothing to do with being frugal or having imagination. It has to do with genetics. When a woman is born she possesses a leftover gene that is fully developed by the time she is 25. Then, there is no amount of food too small to save.
A peach pit in 1/2 cup of juice, half a wiener, two egg yolks (unbroken), a heaping spoonful of apple sauce, a turkey carcass, 1/2 cup gravy, a wedge of tomato or an asparagus spear are given shelf space.

The leftover ritual is practiced by every woman in this country. No one has to tell her how to do it. She knows. First, the leftover is placed in a leftover dish and covered by a lid that is burped a piece of aluminum foil or put in a pan with a lid. It doesn't matter what the container is just as long as you cannot see the contents.
During the next few weeks, the leftover goes through its rotation syndrome. The first few days it occupies the first row, the second week the second row, and by the third week it is relegated to the back row.

This does not mean that it is ignored. Every time the refrigerator door is opened, someone will pull back the lid or the foil and engage in the original game show of all times called, "What IS this?"
The object of the game is never to throw away a leftover as long as it can be recognized. It is not thrown away until it recognizes you. No fair cheating.

Men do not understand the anatomy of a leftover. They think the process can be hurried by taking food that is left over right from the table and dumping it into the garbage, thus eliminating the ripening process.
They do not understand why there are 36 thimble-sized containers of taco sauce that are left over from take-out Mexican food emporiums. Or why there is more food saved in the name of vegetable soup and you haven't had vegetable soup in six years.

I surveyed my leftover domain the other day while my husband looked over my shoulder and said, "It's getting a little restless in there, isn't it?"
The only thing I recognize is the box of soda on the top shelf. How long have you had that in there and when are you going to get rid of it?"
He just answered his own question.

Young - Butler announce their engagement

MR. AND MRS. Billy Ray Young, Clovis, N.M., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joy Lynne, to Stephen Scott Butler, Altus Okla. The bride-elect graduated from Belen High School, Belen, N.M. in 1977 and is a student at West Texas State University. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Butler, 1101 S. Sumner, Pampa. He graduated from Pampa High School in 1974 and from West Texas State University in 1978. He was a member of Alpha-Kappa-Psi. He is employed by J.C. Penney Co., Altus, Okla. The couple plan a June 8 wedding in Hobart Baptist Church, Pampa.

p.s. Eleanor Margaret McFtridge received her nickname in an unusual manner. It seems that when she was in the hospital nursery, the nurses amused themselves by giving names to all the babies, and she was dubbed Puz.

p.s. Bob and Faucine Mack have bought the old Elks Club building and are moving it to their acreage north of the city. They are going to completely renovate it before moving in. Faucine has planted 500 trees as a windbreak and she intends to plant 300 more.

p.s. Margaret Thompson cancelled her long awaited trip to Hawaii. Her mother became ill and Margaret elected to stay behind and take care of her. We should all have such dutiful daughters.

p.s. Icie Jones has a new Tennessee walking horse.

p.s. A Pampa business man recently flew 2000 miles to get from Dallas to Amarillo. Foggy conditions necessitated circling Amarillo until the fuel was so low the plane had to fly to Albuquerque to refuel. It then flew to Dallas where the passengers spent the night. The next morning they finally arrived in Amarillo. I think I'll take the bus.

Roby Laycock has a new granddaughter, Erin Rae, born Mar. 5 in Amarillo weighing 9 lbs. 11 ozs. Chrissy is fine and Roby reports that Erin Rae is beautiful.

p.s. Bill and George Arrington's father, the late 'Cap' Arrington is the subject of a new book 'George Washington Arrington,' by Jerry Sinise. The book deals with Arrington's varied careers as Civil War spy, Texas Ranger, sheriff of Wheeler County, and Hemphill County rancher.

p.s. A number of Pampans were recently at The Wigwam, a resort west of Phoenix, Ariz. Availing themselves of the golf, tennis and swimming were the Tom Prices, the Frank Kelleys, the Leonard C. Hudsons, the Ed Myatts, the Jim Chases, the Malcolm Browns, the Bill Monroes, the Charles Cooks and the MacField McDaniels. The Tom Abrahams from Canadian joined the group.

p.s. Pampans certainly want more recreational facilities. Every postcard I have received stresses a municipal golf course, ball diamonds, more tennis courts, or a better swimming pool. It would be neat if we could have a recreational park that included 'em all.

p.s. "It is well for the heart to be naive and for the mind not to be." - Anatole France.

MR. AND MRS. Boyd W. Thurman, 2132 N. Zimmers, announce the engagement of their daughter, Becky, to Tommy Smith, Childress. The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Pampa High School. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd N. Smith, 232 Canadian St. He is a 1975 graduate of Pampa High School and is employed by Palo Duro Pipeline Co., a subsidiary of Perry Gas Transmissions, Childress. The couple plan an April 20 wedding in the Lamar Full Gospel Church.

Nearly half of married men are 'emotionally divorced'

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A researcher at the University of Wisconsin-Madison says nearly half of the married men in America are "emotionally divorced" from their mates.

Professor Mary Anne Fitzpatrick of the communication arts department says interviews with some 2,000 persons indicated nearly all marriages fall into one of four categories: — Traditional, in which people enjoy having a companion and sharing their time with someone else.

— Separate, with husband and wife emotionally divorced, not much togetherness and a sense of coldness.

— Independent, with couples who fight, a good deal of sharing, and both partners having many friends. — A combination, in which the husband is separate and the wife is traditional. In this case, the wife's perception of the marriage is one with a great deal of sharing and openness, while the husband views the marriage with disinterest, according to Miss Fitzpatrick.

Her research indicated traditional marriages are the happiest, according to the professor.

Dear Abby

by abigail van buren

DEAR ABBY: I teach a Bible class for adults and was told that you had written a set of "Ten Commandments for Husbands" and also one for wives. Will you please run them again?

M.B. IN PASADENA

DEAR M.B.: Although I've published these "Commandments" three times, and have granted literally hundreds of reprint permissions for church publications (always without charge), here they are again:

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR HUSBANDS

- 1) Thou shalt put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.
- 2) Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.
- 3) Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.
- 4) Forget not the virtue of cleanliness.
- 5) Make not thy wife a beggar, but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.
- 6) Forget not to say, "I love you." For even though thy love be constant, thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.
- 7) Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her and forsake all others.
- 8) Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it come the joys of thy old age.
- 9) Forgive with grace. For who among us doth not need to be forgiven?
- 10) Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

P.S. Next Sunday, Ten Commandments for Wives.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with this guy for five months. Both of my parents liked him a lot until he grew a beard. When he showed up at my house with his new beard, my parents were actually rude to him.

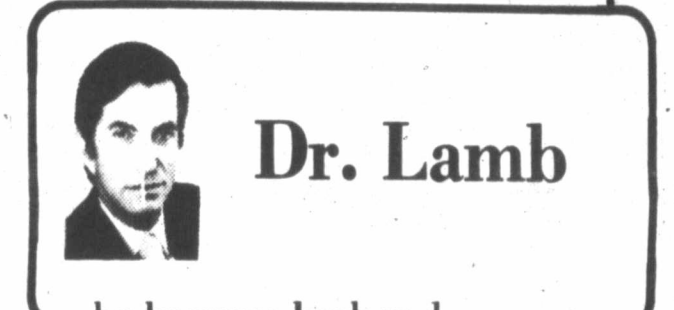

They said he looked like a bum or someone who was trying to overthrow the government. Abby, I think his beard looks great and told him so. It's not shaggy or neglected-looking—it's carefully cropped and really looks neat.

I was so embarrassed when my folks put this guy down, I didn't know what to say or do.

Abby, how do you feel about beards?

PAM

DEAR PAM: If they're neat and well-cared for, I think they're great. Some of the most important men in history had beards: Moses, Jesus, Abraham Lincoln and Sigmund Freud, to name a few. And don't forget the Smith Brothers, who coughed up a fortune.

by lawrence lamb m.d.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a noise in my ears with every heartbeat. At night when my head is on the pillow, it sounds like small thunder. At other times it has a swoosh tone, sometimes very faint, but it can then become a mild roar, particularly if I'm the least bit active.

My doctor thought I had a clogged artery in my neck and a specialist discovered this was true. The artery was cleaned out and I was back to work in a month, but the ear sound did not go away. In fact, the last few months it has become more annoying. The doctor who operated on the artery says I may have a clogged artery at the base of the brain, but it would be dangerous to operate. About two months ago I had a brain scan and it was normal.

An ear doctor says he doesn't know what the problem could be. I have noticed that I can take three to four deep breaths and the noise will stop for about five seconds. Then it starts again. It is sure causing many sleepless nights. Do you have any idea what this could be?

DEAR READER — It's a symptom and you're doing the right thing to have it investigated. It's quite true that an obstruction of one of the arteries in the neck (carotid artery) can produce sounds from the circulation as you have described. If this is the origin of the sounds, it will go away if the doctor presses upon the artery enough to obstruct the blood flow momentarily.

The fact that you have had an operation in the neck to relieve the obstruction doesn't mean that the turbulence to the blood flow to the neck has been totally eliminated. It depends a lot upon what kind of operation was done. The circulation makes noises as the blood moves along, just like a stream coming down a creek bed. If its smooth even flow is interrupted for any reason, turbulence occurs and that creates noise.

A common surgical approach is to put in a graft to reroute the blood. I think the first thing to do would be for your doctor to press on the arteries in the neck one at a time to see if the sound goes away. You should not do this yourself, as sometimes pressure on diseased arteries in the neck can cause strokes and other problems. Talk it over with your doctor.

There are many causes for noises in the ear, aside from diseases of the arteries. I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-10, Help For Tinnitus: Noise Or Ringing In The Ears. It will give you a more complete discussion on causes as well as what can be done. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it.

Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. As The Health Letter explains, there may be a way to get some relief that would help you sleep at least. All you would need to do is take an FM radio and set it close to your bed.

Tune it between stations and then turn up the volume to create a fairly loud noise. This noise may drown out these sensations of noise you're having and enable you to be more comfortable. Many people with your problem, that causes inability to sleep, get relief in this way, at least to the extent that they can have a good night's sleep for a change.

DEAR POLLY — To keep refrigerated vegetables fresh and crisp for a prolonged period of time I use small brown paper bags rather than the usual cellophane or foil wraps. I have had things stay fresh for as long as a month because the brown paper absorbs any moisture while the other wraps do not. — HOWARD

LOCAL 4-H SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS DUE

The Gray County Extension Homemakers Council 4-H Committee is taking applications for the 1979 4-H Scholarship. EASTER EGGS BEFORE AND AFTER:

Eggs become an important holiday food with Easter just around the corner. In ancient times, eggs were sacred symbols and later, were glorified in paintings and sculpture. Today, eggs are honored around Easter and can be dyed, painted and trimmed. Be imaginative - use paper, lace, buttons, even ribbons - there is no end to the fun of decorating.

Before decorating, cook the eggs properly following these steps:

- First, select top - quality eggs - Grade A or AA
- Place selected eggs (not too many) in a medium size saucepan.
- Add enough cold water to come at least one inch above the eggs, and heat to boiling.
- Remove from heat, cover and let stand 15 to 20 minutes.
- Cool immediately in cold water for about 20 minutes.

TIP: To prevent an egg from cracking, while cooking, add a few drops of vinegar or lemon juice to the water.

To properly dye Easter eggs, follow these steps:

1. Prepare the egg dye as directed on the package.
2. Or, use a few drops of food coloring in custard cups or muffintins.
3. Dye only uncracked eggs.

4. Cover the eggs fully with hot water while dyeing, and spoon dye over eggs with a tablespoon.

5. Let stand, turning occasionally, until evenly colored.

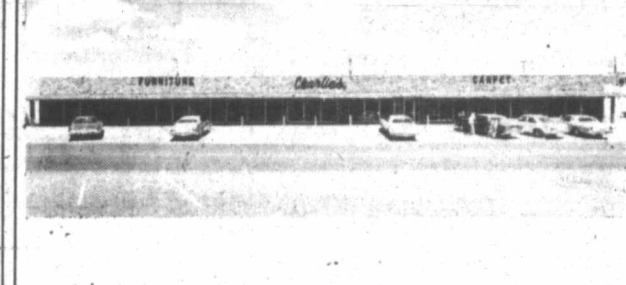

6. Spoon out eggs, and place on paper towels.

For some economical variations in dyeing eggs, cut designs from cellophane or adhesive tape. Paste on eggs before dyeing. Remove tape when dry for white designs. Refrigerate Easter eggs promptly after dyeing - use the eggs within a few days. Discard all cracked eggs after the Easter egg hunt or use immediately - exposure to harmful bacteria can be dangerous. Here is a quick - and - easy recipe for those after - Easter eggs:

- SIMPLE DEVILED EGGS
- 6 hard - cooked eggs
 - 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - 2 tablespoons hot dog relish
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - paprika, if desired
- Remove shells from hard - cooked eggs, and slice eggs in half lengthwise. With a teaspoon, remove egg yolks and place in a mixing bowl. Mash egg yolks with mayonnaise, relish and salt. Fill center of egg white with egg yolk mixture. Sprinkle paprika over egg, if desired. Chill and serve. makes six servings.

NATURE'S COLORING BOOK

With the coming of spring and earth's awakening to a new season of color, we can learn a great deal from Nature about how to use color with fresh effect inside our own homes.

One of Nature's lessons is that we do not have to worry as much as we once thought about "too much color." How many gardeners complain about Nature's abundance and rich variety of colors? Nature tells us, too, that we do not have to be rigidly bound by rules saying what colors go together.

But there are other lessons, too. The gardener does learn how certain flowers, anthurus even more when they are used together to complement each other... how a subdued background can be brought alive by one vivid splash of color... how well we can live for long periods with "natural" hues, the basic browns and reds, blues and greens of sea and sky, forest and garden.

Perhaps the most important lesson is not to be afraid of color. Nature accepts them all, and you can feel just as free to choose the colors (and combinations of colors) that please you.

And if new furniture is in your spring plans, be sure to see our beautiful collection of colorful fabrics in a rich variety of tones and textures... quality name brand furnishings that will mean pride of possession.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

March 26, 1979

Some very unusual opportunities will be coming your way this coming year. Take the time to analyze their merits, but also don't let them slip through your fingers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Some information you'll be receiving today is better kept to yourself, or you could get caught in the middle of an intrigue you'd be better off avoiding. Like to find out more about yourself? Send for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10009. Be sure to specify birth sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone isn't being completely honest with you today. However, you'll get to the truth through a pal who spontaneously volunteers the answer.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A sudden shift in conditions after an ally has let you down turns things about again and gives you the opportunity to set it right.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unless you break the routine of things today, you'll not be productive. Look around. See what you can do about it, then make the changes.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) The truth could surface today in a situation that has had you confused. Once you understand the underlying factors you'll cope effectively.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Quick insights should be heeded and acted upon today. Otherwise, you could talk yourself out of some pretty nifty ideas that would bring you happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have time to think about things today you'll decide everything is too much work. The best way to get the job done: Jump in with both feet.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your whims and fancies won't be satisfied if you lock yourself into present plans today. Leave room to make quick changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's a good day to go off by yourself and do what your mood dictates. What's happening around home will bore you. You could make others uncomfortable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A defeatist outlook will be yours today unless you attempt to get out with active, positive-thinking friends. They can turn your head around.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) An opportunity to replace something that has been lost to you will present itself today. It will have material worth.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Those ideas you've been toying with are worth bringing to light today. In fact, they could get you off the hook with authority figures.

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Many residents hung out windows to escape a blaze that raced through one floor of an apartment house, injuring 14 and forcing the evacuation of more than 80 people, fire officials said Saturday.

Two persons were hospitalized in serious condition at Swedish Medical Center's intensive care unit suffering minor burns and smoke inhalation, a hospital official said. Another man was hospitalized in satisfactory condition. Eleven others received treatment and were released, officials added.

The blaze Friday night gutted a first-floor apartment, damaged five other apartments and caused smoke damage on upper stories, officials said.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Two executives of offshore oil construction companies have pleaded no contest to charges stemming from a federal antitrust crackdown.

Edward L. Tallichet, 55, senior vice president of Brown & Root Inc. of Houston, pleaded Friday to one count of conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act and one count of mail fraud. Hosea Ware Bailey, 56, executive vice president of J. Ray McDermott & Co. of New Orleans, entered pleas on the antitrust count, two charges of mail fraud and one of wire fraud. Sentencing was delayed until April 25.

They can receive up to three years in prison and a $100,000 fine on the antitrust count and five years and a $1,000 fine on each of the other counts.

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — More than 600 weapons have been confiscated in a month-long lock-up-and-shakedown operation aimed at breaking up inmate gangs at Stateville Correctional Center, State Corrections Director Gale Franzen said Saturday.

The operation, which could be completed this weekend, has involved a special 15-man tactical unit, a search-dog team and almost 200 guards and officers from other state prisons. About 500 weapons were handmade knives. One loaded revolver and several bomb-like components were recovered from cells, officials said.

BYRON CENTER, Mich.

(AP) — An armed kidnapper evaded a statewide search Saturday after his hostages escaped and he apparently couldn't locate a $35,000 ransom left for him, police said.

"The money was never picked up," said Kent County sheriff's Lt. Jack Christensen. "I feel he (the gunman) went to another location... I don't think this was very well planned. It was kind of amateurish."

The kidnapping Thursday involved three relatives of a local bank president who were bound with clothesline, but escaped soon after while the gunman traveled to the drop-off, police said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A liberal group implored the Carter administration Saturday to immediately institute mandatory wage and price controls.

The board of Americans for Democratic Action expressed concern over the release of government figures showing prices rose by 1.2 percent in February, representing an annual rate of inflation of about 15 percent.

It said the voluntary wage and price program has been unsuccessful, adding that "the nation will hold President Carter responsible for this failure if he dallies longer with uncontrollable voluntary action."

Carter has voiced strong opposition to the use of mandatory controls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has joined with human rights groups in condemning "continuing gross violations of human rights" by the Argentine government of President Jorge Rafael Videla.

In a Senate floor speech to be delivered Monday, the Massachusetts Democrat will recall that he and two other senators criticized President Carter's decision last fall to approve a $270 million Export-Import Bank loan to Argentina.

"The human rights situation in Argentina has not improved since then," Kennedy said in the speech. An advance text was made available Saturday by the senator's office.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a split decision, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has approved the sale by the United States of enriched uranium to India.

In the 3-2 decision here late Friday, the AEC approved the sale of eight tons of enriched uranium, thus reversing the position it took nearly a year ago.

Commissioner John Ahearne, voting with the prevailing side, said while India has not agreed to allow the United States to inspect all of its nuclear facilities, talks are underway that could lead to such a development.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authorities in the nation's capital are expressing concern about figures showing the city is again losing ground in its battle to curb street crime after two years of relative progress.

In Saturday's editions, the Washington Star reported a substantial increase in the number of rapes, murders, robberies, aggravated assaults, burglaries, larcenies and auto thefts. It said these crimes soared by 33 percent in January and 18 percent in February, adding that the trend is continuing in March.

Overseas

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's population gained one million in the year ending last September, reaching a total of 115.1 million, with women outnumbering men by 1.7 million, the Statistics Bureau reported Saturday. The growth rate of 89 percent was the lowest since 1966.

The 1966 rate of 77 percent was attributed to the superstition that females born that year, the Year of the Horse, may kill their husbands.

Japan is the world's sixth most populous nation after China, India, the Soviet Union, the United States and Indonesia.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cosmonauts are watching live television programs beamed from Earth, a first in the history of Soviet space technology, the official news agency Tass said Saturday.

Previously, Soviet spacemen have watched variety shows and other programs on television cassettes they carried into space with them.

Cosmonauts Vladimir Lyakhov and Valery Ryumin, who have been aboard the Salyut 6 space station since Feb. 26, said the picture quality of the TV transmissions was good.

MACAO (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded in the plush Hotel Lisboa casino in this Portuguese colony Saturday.

slightly injuring one woman, police said. Witnesses said the blast rocked the casino and sent gamblers rushing for exits.

The injured woman was identified as a resident of nearby Hong Kong. No one claimed responsibility for the blast immediately, and no arrests were made.

TOKYO (AP) — China said Saturday it will revamp its building plans to increase long-range efficiency and correct imbalances in the economy, the official Xinhua (Hsinhua) news agency said.

Movie enjoyable on two levels

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer
"REAL LIFE" can be enjoyed on two levels: As a frequently hilarious comedy and as a social document about the media gone mad. Albert Brooks, who also directed and co-wrote the script, plays a comedian named Albert

Brooks, who leads a research crew exploring the lives of a seemingly normal Phoenix family. The presence of the cameras shatters everyone's life. Charles Grodin and Frances Lee McCain are ideal as the bewildered husband and wife. Brooks can be excessive — the inflammatory ending doesn't quite work — but most of the time he maintains a skillful balance between the absurd and the possible. He is a welcome addition to the growing fraternity of comedy film makers. Rated PG, with a handful of expletives.

GOLDEN ERA

by Thomasville.

At the turn of the century, American furniture designs exhibited a special ambience of livability and charm. The ideal of comfort and tranquility was seen in the late Victorian, even Edwardian designs. These designs illustrate the perfect blend of sophistication and cultural history that brings the warmth and beauty of nostalgic furnishings into the mainstream of today's eclectic room settings. Mirror accents on these pieces are etched for authenticity. Several cast aluminum pieces are finished in a matt black tone to achieve the look of wrought iron so popular for ornate fences and balcony trimwork in earlier times. For this Golden Era collection, Thomasville chose rustic pecan veneers and oak solids. The mellow fruitwood finish is distressed to provide the look of prized antiques. Hardware includes a white knob with brass finished backplates, a period brass ball design and finger-grip pull. Here are exciting designs of yesterday, yet beautifully stated for today's life styles.
