Vandalism reward is doubled

Acts of vandalism at the two cemeteries have decreased somewhat since a $500 reward was offered last year. However, when it was discovered the light at the entrance of Lima Cemetery had been shot out last week, the reward was raised to $1,000.

Shooting out the entrance lights are as much acts of vandalism as destructive acts inside the gates, and the $1,000 reward is offered for both kinds of vandalism.

Girl Scout fund drive to begin here next week

El Camino Girl Scout Council will hold its annual Girl Scout Fund Drive May 14-18, 1979, in Ozona. Mrs. Charolett Judd is serving as Campaign Chairman. Girl Scout leaders and friends of Girl Scouts will be canvassing the town during these five days. The Kick-off Meeting and Training was held at Mrs. Thelma Janes home April 5.

Once again, the community is called upon to help support the Girl Scouting program through its voluntary contributions. All communities that have Girl Scouting or who want to make the program available, share the responsibility for providing financial support.

The work of El Camino Council is funded in part by the United Way federated towns within its eighteen county jurisdiction. No financial aid comes to the council from the national organization, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Communities without United Way federations are responsible for their share of the costs of Girl Scouting. When a community does not make its fair share contribution to the annual Girl Scout Fund Drive, it is receiving a product and services paid for by the citizens of other towns.

The famous Girl Scout Cookie Sale is another source of income for the Girl Scouts. Each year hundreds of Girl Scouts earn money for their troops and can earn part or all of their way to summer resident camp by selling cookies. The Council's share of the cookie money helps to build, maintain, and repair camp properties.

The Board of Directors of El Camino Council believes that money earned by the girls should go for things that girls themselves can use directly while the adult community provides the funds for operating the Council.

Ozona's goal for the 1979 Girl Scout Fund Drive is $2640. In order to reach this goal, workers will be calling on the community during the drive, asking for their support of Girl Scouting.

The contributions received in Ozona will be used by the Board of Directors of El Camino Girl Scout Council to provide services that make Girl Scouting possible for the 150 Girl Scouts of Ozona and the surrounding area.

FOR THE PRESS:
A HATCHET JOB

By Edwin Feulner

My colleagues in the media are incredibly naive to believe that the public is going to support them in the current controversy involving the rights of reporters versus the rights of a person claiming to have been libeled.

The case already has traveled to the Supreme Court. On April 18 the Court decided by a margin of six-to-three that lawyers for the allegedly injured party in a libel suit do have the right to probe the "state of mind" of reporters in trying to establish the facts.

The U.S. media establishment immediately raised its usual loud cry, claiming that subjecting the editorial process to such review would have a "chilling effect" on the Fourth Estate.

Be that as it may, for those journalists who have never heard the term before, I would like to put the libel issue in perspective by discussing a very venerable journalistic tradition: The Hatchet Job.

The Hatchet Job, as its name implies, is the journalistic equivalent of a scalping.

And any journalist who claims not to have participated in, or at least had prior knowledge of one, is either a saint or a liar.

Usually, the victim of a hatchet job is a "public figure"—a candidate for some office or other, a well known personality, a public office-holder, someone whose position or activities makes him or her newsworthy.

As in any human endeavor, there will be those who will disapprove of the activities or beliefs of such public figures, including critics within the news media.

When this disapproval becomes laced with hate, or some other perverse but very natural instinct, the hatchet is wielded. And with grand old journalistic flair, the public is told more than they ever wanted to know.

Now I don't want you to think for even one minute that the hatchet is never deserved. Most of the time it is. That is where the journalist's defense comes in; if a journalist can show that the article or broadcast is factual, the journalist is in the clear.

In fact, when this is the case—when allegations against a person are true—it is no longer a hatchet job; it is, as in the case of the small California weekly newspaper that recently won the Pulitzer Prize for exposing certain shenanigans at the Synanon drug rehabilitation complex, darn good journalism.

The trouble begins when the journalist can not prove the report was factual.

In the absence of fact, the odds increase that the injured party was, indeed, the victim of a hatchet job. Either that, or the victim of very sloppy reporting.

That is why I support the court's decision. While still clouded by certain legal complexities involving the pre-trial "discovery" process, I am one of those individuals who believes a person's reputation is perhaps his most important possession next to his health.

If the media publish or broadcast falsehoods about a person it is absolutely necessary for the courts to be able to establish whether or not the reporters 1) knew that the material was false, and 2) having established that, whether or not they felt any "malice" towards the injured party.

For all its legal complexities this is what the court's decision was all about: fairness.

It is too easy to excuse the wrong-doings of reporters in the name of press freedom. I don't think the public is going to buy it any more.

I do not know and do not care who is right or wrong in the controversial case ruled on by the court.

But I do know why the public is not nearly as concerned as the media; it's because they know we are not above using our baser instincts, on occasion, against those with whom we disagree.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Almost three weeks ago, Gov. Bill Clements said he saw no "compelling reason" to raise the state's interest rate ceiling and vowed to veto any legislation designed to do just that.

Luckily, the governor left his options open, saying he would keep his finger on the pulse of the housing industry and if he felt a drop in activity, he wouldn't hesitate to call a special session if that was the action needed to remedy the situation.

When Clements arrived at his press conference this week, he had just received the news that the Federal National Mortgage Association—better known as Fannie Mae—was backing off from accepting low-interest VA and FHA home loans offered in Texas. Clements said he was numb from the news.

The effect of Fannie Mae's announcement—a tighter money market—was soberingly clear to the governor, lenders and people looking to buy or sell a home.

What Fannie Mae feared was purchasing VA and FHA loans in Texas that might exceed the state's legal interest rate of 10 percent. Home buyers had been turning to the cheaper VA and FHA loans after finding the conventional money market all but dried up.

Lenders normally add points (one percent of what is borrowed) to get VA and FHA interest rates up to conventional money market levels. But when VA and FHA interest rates went up last week to 10 percent that meant lenders charging points on those loans might be in violation of the state's usury law.

Later in the week, Clements met with Sen. Bill Meier of Euless and Rep. Jerry Donaldson of Gatesville, the sponsors of legislation raising the usury limit from 10 to 12 percent, and said he was "reassessing and rethinking" what actions he might take in light of Fannie Mae's announcement.

After his meeting with Meier and Donaldson, Clements said he was evaluating a new twist to Meier's bill that would tie interest rates to those charged on long-term government loans.

Twelve percent would still be the ceiling but lenders could let rates "float" up or down according to the conventional money market.

Sen. Bill Patman of Galveston, a long-time foe of bumping the usury limit, and Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard felt it was just more than an odd coincidence that Fannie Mae's announcement came on the heels of Clements' statement that he would veto a hike in interest rates unless something happened to change his mind.

Patman and Hubbard charged "collusion" between Fannie Mae and Texas lenders to "pressure the Legislature into raising the usury ceiling." FNMA officials vehemently denied such charges and said Fannie Mae's actions came as the result of vagueness over whether or not VA and FHA loans were exempt from state usury law penalties.

In the wake of Fannie Mae's announcement, it appeared that those with homes on the market were bearing the brunt of the tighter money market as lenders continued to offer VA and FHA loans with points charged not to the buyer, but the seller.

The Budget
While Clements was announcing his support this week for the repeal of the prevailing wage law, he was softening his stand on another key issue—teacher pay raises.

In the past, the governor has said flatly that he would veto any teacher pay hikes that exceeded 5.1 percent. But this week, Clements changed his tune, saying he had never pledged to veto pay raises of more than 5.1 percent.

The House appropriations bill bumps teacher salaries by seven percent in each of the next two years. Clements said that was unacceptable but believed it would be remedied in a conference committee. First though, the Senate must act.

Step One in that process was finished this week as the Senate Finance Committee completed work on its version of the 1980-81 state budget. That plan will cost the taxpayers $600 million more than the House appropriations bill.

THE END OF SCHOOL
by Stacy Chapman

The students are restless in their seats and summer-time is near. Cause the end of school is here!

The bells are ringing their Final rings and the chapters are being finished, The erasers and chalkboards are being cleaned, And the chalk is being replenished.

The grades will be averaged and Written down in the square of the last report card. The students will dream while the teachers are talking. Wondering if next year will be hard.

Maybe it will and maybe it won't But the Seniors they don't care, For they'll be free until college of course, And not a dime to spare.

But then there's the freshman, we can't forget The freshman, with many more years it seems With long days of high school and sitting in classrooms cluttering up their dreams.

But sooner or later those days will pass And we'll all be wishing for more, But with new goals to reach (and maybe even children to teach) we'll open new and finer doors.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: Let's say I'm driving down a freeway and want to change lanes. Do I have to use my turn signal?

A: According to the law, a driver must signal each time there is a change in directions. Even though you give a signal, you are still required to make the turn or maneuver safely without interfering with other traffic.

Q: How far in advance must I give the signal?

A: You should signal at least 100 feet prior to the turn or lane change. In rural areas or on expressways, the signal should given for a longer period of time to give adequate warning to other drivers. By the way, these rules apply only in the event that other traffic is affected.

Q: My neighbors tree limbs overhang and damage the roofs on my carport and garage. The limbs are so low I can't build a small hot house in that part of the yard. Can I trim these limbs back even with the fence on the property line?

A: Common law property rights give the owner of land the ownership of the land beneath the property and the space above. A neighbor's tree limbs extending onto your property may be cut at the point where the limb crosses the property line. However, your neighbor has a legal right to require that his permission be given before you can trespass on his property in removing tree limbs.

Q: My daughter recently purchased one of those new bathing suits called a "Thong". It's cut very high on the leg revealing almost everything from the back. It can also be worn topless. She intends to go topless in it because, she says, there's no law against it. Is that true?

A: Since January 1, 1974, when the new Penal Code of Texas went into effect, there has been no statute which would seem to make it illegal for a woman to go "topless". However, if a person wears a swimsuit such as you describe, your daughter might run into trouble with the statutes covering Disorderly Conduct and Indecent Exposure.

Q: I just made a business investment. Am I liable for any delinquent state sales taxes run up by the previous owners?

A: The State Comptroller's Office says, "Yes". The law actually requires the new owner to withhold the amount of any delinquent taxes from the purchase price of the business. As a practical matter, though, many deals are already closed before the new owner finds out about the back taxes. The Comptroller's Office urges every potential buyer of a business to contact the nearest Comptroller's field office early during purchase negotiations to make sure there are no unpaid taxes. It ought to be as automatic as checking for clear title when buying a new home.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

May is one of the most important months to get gardens and your landscape in good condition and growing well before severe heat starts.

It is very important to keep all plants well watered now, especially newly planted ones. Since we have had no deep soaking rains, the soil dries out very quickly. Instead of several light sprinklings, a thorough soaking is recommended, as it allows water to reach the roots. Continue to water every 10 rainless days throughout the summer months.

Because of the decline of flower quality during hot summer months, gardeners often lose interest in caring for their roses. But time spent in the rose garden during this season will pay big dividends later this year and in following years. Roses, being heavy feeders, require applications of a balanced fertilizer throughout their growing season. Use about 1/4 cup of rose or 8-8-8 fertilizer per rose bush. Be sure the soil is moist at this time. Spread fertilizer over the surface, and work it into the top inch of soil, then water thoroughly. Repeat every six to eight weeks until late summer. Frequency of watering depends up on soil type, climatic conditions, location, and growth stage of the plants. Use a soaker hose to water plants; this will keep moisture off the leaves and discourages disease. Soak the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. A 2-inch layer of organic mulch will conserve moisture, reduce weed growth and protect the roots from excessive heat. Remove all spent flowers so that food and energy will not be wasted on useless seed production.

One of the most rewarding may bloomers is the Confederate Jasmine, which is versatile as well as attractive. It grows fast but is easier to control than most cultivated vines because it twines and does not attach itself to the structure. It combines the evergreen qualities of honeysuckle, the fragrance of wisteria and the usefulness of English ivy. This jasmine can be used for screening, as an arbor, trellis, for cascading over a wall or a bank. Also, it can be grown on trees without the risk of killing the tree. Confederate jasmine prefers partial to deep shade, will grow in almost any type of soil, but prefers a moist and drained area. New plants require support in order to climb and is not bothered with insects. If young leaves of ornamentals are yellow with green veins, iron deficiency may be the cause. This problem occurs mainly in alkaline soil which causes iron to be locked up in compounds with other elements, which makes it unavailable to plants. Spraying with iron chelate or iron sulfate is the most rapid and effective way to correct this problem. Apply at the rate recommended on the label. This may be applied to the soil but results are much slower.

HEIRLOOM QUILT donated to Crockett County Museum for the permanent collections. Mrs. Beth Davidson Garver made the donation of this quilt which belonged to Mrs. C.E. Davidson, wife of the first county judge of Crockett County and mother of Mrs. Garver. The pattern is "Baby Blocks," done in shades of green and white. The quilt is quite large and made so in order to make a dust ruffle unnecessary.

Mrs. Sessoms to lead bellringers

Linda Sessoms of Ozona will lead Bellringer workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month.

"As a voluntary agency, the association works on behalf of the mentally ill and to promote mental health. The association is not a state agency and relies on private contributions such as the money raised by the Bellringer campaign," said Dick Fredrick, state president of the Mental Health Association.

Since it is not a governmental agency, the association speaks as an advocate for the consumer, representing citizens who need mental health services.

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Whitaker spent the weekend in Dallas where they attended a lumberman's convention.

A look at life

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"

The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.

Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth... the Church?

It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.

Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun, time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.

Goat News

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association's annual meeting in San Angelo will offer several special features that should attract considerable interest.

Leading the schedule of events will be an industry trade show and a seminar by Rhodesian range specialist Allan Savory. Both will kick off the three-day event running Thursday through Saturday, July 19-21.

The trade show opens briefly from five to seven in the evening Thursday and then runs through Friday and Saturday.

Savory's seminar, concentrating on the "hub" system of rotation grazing, will start with a lecture session beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday in the San Angelo Convention Center. On Friday morning a seven-member panel representing the Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Forest Service, Soil Conservation Service, Texas Extension and Experiment systems and private livestock producers will respond to the "hub" program. There will be a small registration fee for the Savory program.

The TS&GRA meeting properly begins with registration from 10 to 4:30 p.m. Friday, followed by the committee meetings that afternoon.

A reception and western dance are scheduled at the Holiday Inn Friday evening.

The Association business session will run all day Saturday, followed by a reception and the annual awards banquet.

TS&GRA's Women's Auxiliary will hold an art show and coffee from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday at the Association office. Artists actively involved in the wool and mohair industry or whose work is representative of the sheep and goat raising area have been invited to attend.

Also on the Auxiliary schedule is a Saturday morning program on copper enameling by San Angelo area artisan Sharon Templeton with assistance by Betty Templeton and Nancy Hall. Another auxiliary function will be a showing by San Antonio hand weaver Debbie Daniell, who not only works entirely in such natural fibers as wool and mohair, but follows through with her fabrics by incorporating them into designer fashions. Her finished products are distributed through such large markets as the Dallas Apparel Mart.

Compliments of Ozona TV System

Crockett County Care Center News

By Joan Nicholas
Activities Program Director

Grateful thanks and appreciation go to the following volunteers serving over the past week: Velma Marley, Grace Dorsey, Veva Vargas, Glenda Winkley, Alda De Hoyos, Mickey Arredondo, Blanche Walker, Georgia Kirby, Sophie Kyle, Doris Karr; and Phillis and Tasha Light (Juniors).

Thank you also for the following gifts: Doris Karr for hair curlers and indoor horse shoe game; Nikki Easterwood for lipsticks, Ann Mayo for plaques for decoupage and Juanita Harris of Big Lake, for hospital gowns. In addition, our Auxiliary has purchased a card table which we have put up in the lobby for an on-going jigsaw puzzle. This is affording a challenge for any resident passing by to rest awhile and add pieces to the puzzle.

In crafts last Tuesday morning, we got to work with Mod Podge decoupage. Some of us painted the plaques first in bright colors, and others applied the Mod Podge to form a natural finish to the wood, then added pictures of choice. By the way, if anyone has some scrap pieces of board, such as plywood, etc., that could be smoothed and used for pictures, we would really appreciate receiving these as I believe we could turn them into something quite attractive, and would save the cost of buying the ready made plaques.

In Bible class, Wednesday, we continued the study of Paul's Epistles to the Corinthians; this time concerning the Lord's Supper. We looked into ways in which, no matter to what denomination we may belong, this can be very meaningful in our lives each time we participate in the celebration of communion. We then studied some history of the Bible, placing it in perspective, chronologically, as to when, in time, the various parts of the Bible were written.

Eleanor Bradford won the weekly bingo gift certificate and Eunice Graham and Frances Borrego tied for second place and received prizes.

On Friday afternoon, we had our usual reading and discussion session. Again we looked back into the past for some reminiscing and discussed the merits of the "good old days" and whether, in fact, they were so good, making comparisons with life as it is today. Everyone decided that they preferred the modern conveniences of today over the time when they chopped wood and cooked on wood stoves, washed on scrub boards, and so forth. On the other hand everyone decided that they preferred the days when folks had happy get-togethers and made their own entertainment instead of depending on TV and radio.

We again referred to one of the "Good Old Days" magazines (loaned to us by Winnie Harvey), and read about an East Texas farming family and the daily routines at various times of the year. We stopped many times during the reading to swap experiences in such things as fattening up the hogs for slaughter—they needed to be good and fat for all the rendering of lard and such—my friends also explained to me what hogs head cheese was, and Verna Talley claimed that she had rendered many a pound of lard in the old wash pot, which pot had multiple uses and, she told us, she still had it and it is now well over one hundred years old.

A good rabbit used to be a delicacy during the Hoover era, but no one present owned up to having eaten baked 'possum. Later, when chatting with Pop Bonnell who hadn't been present for the group meeting, he said his mother had an excellent recipe for 'possum. First she boiled it with lots of seasoning and herbs to make it tender, then turned around and baked it—he swears it was delicious if a person knew how to fix it like his mother did! 'Possum, anyone?

There were some schools of thought that frowned upon reminiscing, but now psychologists tell us that a certain amount of this is very healthy and good for us providing we accept the reality of the present as well.

The group really had my mouth a-watering when they chatted about the making of syrup (from cane) at the syrup mill, and Paul Canin remembered well the making of soap with fat and lye for household use.

Monday, Paul and Verna tied for first place in dominoes at table No. 1 and Mike Pena was second. Table No. 2 winner was Ola Mills, with Ruby Cooksey in second place. Juana Hernandez was at another table making imaginative pictures with our "Fuzzies" set.

Our heart felt sympathy and thoughts are with Casiana Fierro and family, in the loss of her husband, Chon. Casiana is one of our longtime, faithful Auxiliary volunteers.

Next week is National Nursing Home Week. We don't have anything specifically planned, but as always, we extend a welcome to anyone wishing to come and visit, look over the Care Center, or sit in on any of our activities.

County draws locations for two wildcats

Crockett County drew locations for two wildcats and a producer was assured.

J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, will drill the No. 1 Harrell "D" a 9,000-foot Ellenburger gas wildcat in Crockett County, two miles southeast of the opener and lone producer in the Parker-Harrell (Ellenburger gas) field, 1 1/4 miles northwest of Strawn and five miles west of Ellenburger production in the Crockett portion of the Ozona, Northeast (Strawn, Canyon and Ellenburger gas) field and six miles northeast of Ozona.

Location is 1,320 feet from the south and west lines of 56-GH-GC&SF.

The discovery, his No. 1 Parker "A", drilled to 8,806 feet, was finished June 13, 1977, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2,025,000 cubic feet of gas daily from open hole at 8,757-787 feet, the plugged back depth.

S&R Petroleum Corp., Odessa, will drill the No. 1-B Helen Carpenter, et al, a 460-foot oil wildcat, in Crockett County, one location east and slightly south of an 8,010 foot failure, 2 1/4 miles northeast of the north portion of the shallow Yates field and the same distance east-northeast of the Hanson (Grayburg) field and nine miles northwest of Iraan.

Location is 667 feet from the north and 950 feet from the east lines of the south portion of 85-1-I&GN.

The failure, Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-J Carpenter, was abandoned Feb. 26, 1971.

Great Western Drilling Co., Midland, 1-3 Sutton, wildcat and Devonian test in the Ingham (Devonian and Canyon gas) field of Crockett County, 25 miles west of Ozona, has assured production from the Devonian and indicated production in a detrital zone with the flowing of gas from both zones.

Devonian production was assured with the flowing of gas at the rate of 1,650,000 cubic feet daily on a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 8,285-378 feet, which had been acidized with 3,000 gallons.

Detrital production was indicated with the flowing of gas for an unreported time at the rate of 570,000 cubic feet daily on a 3/4-inch choke and perforations at 8,167-173, 8,179-185 feet, 8,117-119 feet and 8,110-115 feet, which had been acidized with 1,000 gallons and fractured with 8,250 gallons. It then flowed an unreported time on the same choke making gas at the rate of 650,000 cubic feet daily and increasing to 720,000 cubic feet daily.

It is 3/4-mile southwest of a Devonian producer, Jake L. Hamon and Claud B. Hamill No. 1 Sutton, finished June 14, 1977, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.5 million cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 8,160-212 feet. Potential was filed as a Pennsylvania detrital discovery, however, the Railroad Commission assigned it to Devonian production.

The only woman who was wife of one president and mother of another was Abigail Smith Adams.

Family pets often neighborhood pests A&M developing peanut cheese

Those oft-treasured family "pets" are unleashing a new dimension to city problems--becoming neighborhood "pests" which are costly and a growing threat to human health and safety.

And it's spilling over into rural areas, too.

"Dogs and cats, particularly in urban areas, are going to have to be dealt with, sooner or later," assures Dr. Archie I. Flowers of Texas A&M University's College of Veterinary Medicine.

He said dogs and cats are a problem that's not going to stray away--but will get bigger, before it gets smaller.

About 60 percent of people in the U.S. have one or more pets, or companion animals, and "somewhere between 6,000 and 10,000 puppies and kittens" are being born every hour.

That's four times the rate of population growth of humans.

"Some cities have an ordinance, or dog law; others don't. If they do, they don't enforce it until there's a rabies outbreak," the veterinarian said, "or when people get fed up on the litter, such as happened in New York City."

Flowers cited the outbreak in Houston in the 1950's which labeled the city as "Rabies Capitol of the World," and in El Paso where an epidemic of rabies occurred in March.

"The uncontrolled pet problem, particularly dogs, is invading rural areas as feral (wild) dogs mate with coyotes," Flowers added.

"This is not only 'bad news' for livestock producers but all owners of cats and dogs because of rabies."

He said that city ordinances should become county-wide to become effective, as dogs are not respecters of city limit signs.

"We are not advocating complete animal control. That would be next to impossible," Flowers concluded. "But, what we are recommending will reduce potential dangers of mad dogs, health and nuisances."

Peanut cheese, with its bland flavor, should appeal to cheese fanciers, and even more to their pocketbooks.

Present cheese analogs are made from sodium caseinate obtained from milk. Protein from peanuts can replace a part or all of this scarce and increasingly costly material and help hold down prices.

This new food product is still under development at Texas A&M University by scientists with the Agricultural Experiment Station and Engineering Experiment Station.

Various amounts of peanut flour and protein isolate are being used to make "peanut cheese analogs."

It's called an "analog" because even though it's cheese-like, the food has ingredients other than the usual animal milk.

Milk protein and peanut protein are blended to make the peanut cheese.

The new food, and several commercial cheeses, are being compared in casseroles, pizzas, and sandwiches for their performance and acceptance.

Peanut cheese analog is just one of many new food products being developed from a variety of crops at the Food Protein Research and Development Center at Texas A&M.

Expansion of food supplies and development of new markets for farm products are the goals of this cooperative research with Agricultural Experiment Station scientists. This peanut research is partially funded by the Texas Peanut Producers Board.

"Though still in the development stage, our peanut cheese analog compares favorably with several of the processed cheeses now on the market," says Dr. Khee Choon Rhee, project leader on this research for the Agricultural Experiment Station.

"In fact," Rhee says, "the peanut isolate cheese analogs had the most desirable flavor of all the analogs tested."

"When the same group of cheese analogs and mozzarella were tested in a pizza food system, the peanut protein cheese analog gave the most cheese-like appearance."

"However, it was slightly dry, with minimum amounts of stretchiness. Increasing the oil content has made the product slightly juicier."

For cheese sandwiches, the same group of cheese analogs, mozzarella and club loaf were tested.

Initially, peanut cheese analogs did not melt evenly. But increasing the oil content produced products with similar surface oil characteristics to the commercial cheeses.

Rhee and his associates, Susan Anderson with the Agricultural Experiment Station, and Dr. Peter J. Wan and Shio-Ling Chen with the Engineering Experiment Station, caution that the peanut cheese won't be in the supermarket tomorrow.

However, this new product has so many good qualities that they're confident it will find ready acceptance with consumers when it's perfected.

Comptroller rep. to visit Ozona

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on May 17, 1979 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer, Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 9:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

Select efficient cooling

Select an air-conditioner that fits the room--and enjoy a cool summer, says a family resource management specialist, Bonnie Piernot.

An air-conditioner does two things to make a room cool and comfortable. It cools, and it dehumidifies, she explains.

A unit too large for a particular room will cool the room quickly, then the compressor will cycle off.

Since dehumidification occurs only while the compressor is operating, an oversized unit may not dehumidify sufficiently, Mrs. Piernot points out.

On the other hand, a slightly undersized unit will operate the compressor more and thereby control humidity more effectively.

In the past, the capacity of many room air-conditioners was determined by estimating the size of the area to be cooled, and then adding a bit more for "good measure."

As a result, many units in service today are larger than necessary.

Forty or fifty years ago, the electric bill was most often called the "light bill". In thousands of homes, Mr. Edison's illuminating invention wasn't the only electrically powered appliance, but most people associated electricity with the most visible benefit -- light.

Today, with the help of electrical energy and the appliances it powers, our tasks become easier and our lives more enjoyable. At West Texas Utilities we're working to provide you a continuing dependable source of electrical energy now and in the future.

Remember Reddy supplies the energy, only you can use it wisely.

Here's a baseball record that just doesn't seem possible, but it's true...The entire Chicago White Sox team of 1908 hit only 3 home runs ALL SEASON! Just think, there've been times in baseball history when one player hit 3 home runs in one game--but imagine, here's a whole team that totaled only 3 homers all year--and they still finished in 3rd place that year!...It's hard to believe, but it happened. ****

How long does it take you to change a tire on your car?...Did you know that during the Indianapolis 500-mile race, pit crews are trained to change all four tires on a car in the phenomenal time of about 20 seconds! ****

Ever wonder why left-hand pitchers in baseball are called "southpaws"?...Ball parks are usually laid out so the batter faces east to avoid a setting sun shining in his eyes...So, if center-field is east, the south end of ball parks parallels the first base line...A left-hand pitcher's throwing hand is on the first base side of the diamond...Thus, he's a "southpaw". ****

I bet you didn't know that L-B Motors is the place to go to buy your car or pick-up.

County to receive hwy.money

U.S. 190 and FM 1973 in Crockett County will receive an estimated total of $837,300 under the 1979 Rehabilitation and Improvement Program recently approved by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

The special program under which the work will be done is part of a $238 million statewide plan to bring state highways up to satisfactory condition. The program exceeds normal maintenance, but does not include any project that would require additional right-of-way.

The Crockett County project on U.S. 190 from 4.0 Miles West of Schleicher County Line to State Highway 163 for a distance of 7.8 miles will widen drainage structures and reconstruction base and resurface, $806,500.

FM 1973, from 5.0 miles South of SH 163, South for a distance of 5.0 miles will receive a seal coat, $30,800.

District Maintenance Engineer James R. "Bobby" Evans of San Angelo says "the program is very definitely needed to improve and repair damage to our highways."

Other Counties in District 7 to receive rehabilitation and improvement work under the program are Coke, Concho, Glasscock, Kimble, Reagan, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling and Tom Green.

Cosmetic surgery popular

For better or worse, today's society places much emphasis on youth and beauty. With this emphasis, cosmetic surgery is becoming both more acceptable and popular. A few years ago, it was considered frivolous.

Cosmetic or aesthetic surgery is one branch of plastic surgery, the Texas Medical Association says. One of the best known examples of this type of surgery is the "rhytidectomy" or facelift. This operation involves lifting loose skin to eliminate wrinkles and restore its tightness and firmness. After excess tissue is removed, the skin is stitched usually along a hair-line incision. "Rhinoplasties" or nose jobs, and hair transplants are also popular. Apart from performing this type of surgery, the cosmetic surgeon focuses much of his attention on repairing deformities resulting from Cancer, burns and congenital disorders.

Reconstructive surgery, another branch of plastic surgery, attempts to correct severe deformities, natural or accidental. Protruding eyes, abnormally jutting jaws, and sunken foreheads and cheeks receive the surgeon's skilled attention. Some cases require the combined efforts of specialists from the fields of neurosurgery, orthodontics, and plastic surgery. In operations lasting up to 12 hours, breathing passages can be restored, jaws and teeth can be properly realigned to improve speech, and the eyes can be repositioned to enhance sleep and vision. Additional corrective operations are often necessary.

Microvascular surgery, an exciting facet of plastic surgery, is receiving increasing emphasis. These surgeons work to restore vital circulation to victims who have had fingers or other bodily parts severed. Performed under a microscope, this surgery uses sutures and needles finer than human hair to join detached vessels. Successful grafting of large areas of skin on burn victims can sometimes be done in one operation rather than several with this type of surgery.
