Museum library discussed

Preliminary investigations into the need for a Museum-Library in Ozona began last week when three invited specialists met with a number of local citizens.

Ms. Carol Cline, Museum Specialist and Consultant, from Canyon, Texas, met with the group in the P.L. Childress home on Monday and Tuesday. On Thursday Mr. Bill Gooch, Assistant Texas State Librarian from Austin, and Ms. Ada Howard, Director of the Big Country Division of Texas Libraries, from Abilene, spent the day assessing locations and needs.

All three agreed that there is a real need for such facilities in Crockett County and that projection into at least the next 20 to 30 years should be made when determining sizes for each building. Certainly both would enhance the fine educational facilities in Ozona.

Many citizens have expressed desires for both an adequate Public Library and Museum. It is to be hoped that the Crockett County tradition of meeting public needs as they arise will continue as further consideration of these projects develops.

Board approves by-laws

The Crockett County Hospital board met Monday evening and approved a new set of by-laws, which they hope will meet with Medicare approval.

Under threat of removing Medicare service from the hospital, the board, the administrator and the medical staff are trying to remedy the several deficiencies cited by Medicare examiners.

Approval of the new by-laws should take care of one of the deficiencies. The board passed on the by-laws after lengthy discussion with a full quorum present.

The removal of Medicare service would effectively close the hospital. Although the hospital was notified early last month Medicare services were going to be suspended, officials feel that action will not be taken as long as the deficiencies are being corrected.

Incumbents re-elected to school board

The three incumbents were returned to the Crockett County School Board in the election Saturday. Due to the holiday, figures were not available. Every effort to obtain the vote count failed for this newspaper.

However, Cecil Buckner, George Ybarra and Joe Couch were re-elected, while the challenger, Van Miller, fell short by a few votes.

Pre-schoolers to register

Pre-registration for pre-schoolers will be held Tuesday, April 26, from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 and from 1:00 until 4 p.m. at the Ozona Primary School.

All boys and girls who will be five years of age on or before September 1, 1983 should pre-register. Parents need to bring birth certificates and shot records

STORM DAMAGE-This is typical of the damage caused by Friday's wind storm. Trees and utility poles were uprooted or snapped from their moorings. This tree was torn from the ground in the yard of the Jackie Womack home at 106 Ave. J during the morning hours Friday.

Dusty windstorm wreaks havoc in Ozona area

Winds gusting to 78 miles per hour battered Ozona and surrounding area Friday from shortly after sun-up until dusk. The high winds were accompanied by dust which cut visibility and made traveling hazardous.

Many Ozona homes lost some shingles, but entire roofs vanished from some ranch homes in the county, and barns were demolished. The most severe damage seemed to be toward Sheffield. However, windmills were blown down county-wide.

Falling limbs and flying debris wreaked havoc with electrical lines and all parts of the city were without electrical service at some time during the day. Residents west of the Johnson Draw and businesses were without electricity for the better part of the day. Local WTU repairmen were joined by two crews from San Angelo, and with re-setting uprooted poles, plus repairing lines, service was not restored completely until 9 p.m. Friday.

Cable television was damaged extensively also, and lines were down all over town. Residents returning from Easter vacations found themselves without television, and cable repairmen worked through Monday restoring service.

Large trees were uprooted and many signs were just blown away. A six-foot square of plate glass was blown out at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post.

H.O. Hoover received a severe electrical shock and was burned on his hands when he attempted to go through a gate where an electrical line had fallen and electrified the fence. He was hospitalized briefly, but sustained no real injury.

Insurance agency staffs were surprised at the small number of claims turned in, mostly roof damage. However, Jack Baggett of the Baggett Agency said he expected an increase the first time it rains, for much of the damage will be undiscovered until that time.

The winds, deemed cyclonic in nature, just inflicted damage throughout the town and left it under several inches of Panhandle dirt. Numerous portable storage buildings were demolished or upended, including the metal building at Skains Garage, where bus freight is stored.

The day before the storm, Thursday, the temperature climbed to 92 degrees. After a fairly balmy March, the Friday wind storm was like nature's April Fool joke and April 1, 1983, will be well remembered by Ozonans and most of the rest of West Texas.

March exited this year with the decent rainfall-record of 1.01 inches, most of which came in the form of afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Wells scheduled for drilling in Crockett Co.

J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, will drill the No. 1 Childress "F", an 8,500-foot wildcat in Crockett County, one mile south of Canyon gas and 1 5/8 miles south of dual Canyon and Strawn gas production in the Crockett portion of the Kama field and 13 1/2 miles northeast of Ozona.

Location is 1,320 feet from the south and west lines of 16-1-GC&SF.

The Kama field produces from the Strawn at 8,362 feet and from the Canyon at 8,430 feet.

TXO Production Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Amacker "C", a 6,420-foot wildcat in Crockett County, between the two Pennsylvanian detrital oil producers and 3/4-mile southeast of Ellenburger production in the Tripoli field and seven miles southeast of McCamey.

Location is 1,700 feet from the southeast and 1,650 feet from the southwest lines of 22-36-H&TC.

The Tripoli field produces from the Pennsylvanian at 6,464 feet and from the Ellenburger at 8,210 feet.

TXO Production Corp. will drill the No. 2 Amacker "C" as a location south and very slightly east stepout to the two-well Pennsylvanian detrital oil area of the Tripoli field, seven miles southeast of McCamey.

Location is 1,050 feet from the southwest and 660 feet from the southeast lines of 22-36-H&TC. Contract depth is 6,800 feet.

The Ozona multipay field gained its current tenth Canyon sand oil producer with reclassification of J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, No. 1 University 30-3, former Canyon sand gas producer, 21 miles west of Ozona, to pump 2.63 barrels of 47 gravity oil, plus three barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,901-1.

Production was through perforations at 6,777-7,489 feet, which had been acidized with 6,000 gallons.

It was finalized June 18, 1982 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 880,000 cubic feet of gas daily, through the above perforations.

Location is 1,355 feet from the north and 914 feet from the west lines of 3-30-University Lands.

Mr. Tutor's services here Thurs.

Funeral services for Thomas Alfred Tutor, 59, were held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Ozona Church of Christ with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery, with Ralph Anderson, minister, officiating.

Mr. Tutor died March 29, in the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville, following an illness.

He was born Dec. 2, 1923, in Millet. He married Gabriella Miller Sept. 22, 1942 in Mineola. He was a veteran of World War II, and a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife of Ozona; one son, Thomas A. Tutor, Jr. of Roswell, N.M.; two sisters, Louise Keen and Clara Haley, both of Carlsbad, N.M.; and two grandchildren.

Lion tracksters get third in 4-A meet

The Ozona Lions moved out of their classification and challenged Class 4-A teams in Monahans over the weekend and found the going tough, losing their first track meet in several outings.

The Sand Hill Relays was aptly named, the sand blew and the winds gusted to 48 miles per hour, but the Lions, battling without one of their stars, Marcelo Hernandez, managed to win three events and four second places, to show power even in the 4-A class.

The Lobos of Monahans and the Fort Stockton Panthers topped the Lions, but the Pecos and Snyder squads trailed the Purple and Gold, and the Lions wound up with the third place trophy.

"Character is tested ever so often in life and the Lions were sorely tested last Thursday at Monahans," Coach Sewell said. "Mostly, we prevailed at the test but as a complete team we still have some character building to accomplish," he said. The district opponents will test the Lions to the fullest, so maybe the lesson will be well learned, according to Sewell.

Saturday the Lions will regroup in Brady for the tough Bulldog Relays, in their final meet prior to the district meet April 22, in Ozona.

Point-getters for the Lions Thursday were as follows:

Harvey Huereca, first, Discus, 148'2"; Mark Vallejo, 110 high hurdles, first, 15.01; 1600 relay team of Shannon Southern, David Badillo, David Delgado and Mark Vallejo, first, 3:27.68.

Huereca got a fifth place in the shot and Rowdy Holmesley placed sixth for three points. David Tijerina placed fourth in the discus to add some points.

David Badillo got a sixth place in the pole vault to round out the field events. Second places went to the 400 relay team of Carlos Borrego, Robert Flores, David Badillo and Willie Payne.

David Delgado placed second in the 800 meter dash; Greg Fierro in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, and Robert Flores in the 200-meter dash.

Third places went to Robert Flores in the 100-meter dash and Shannon Southern in the 400-meter dash.

Willie Payne placed fourth in the 100-meter dash. Gino Tambunga placed fifth in the 800-meter dash and Shannon Southern got a fifth place in the 200-meter dash. Paul Tambunga placed sixth in the 3200 meter run to round out the scoring.

Discovery finalized in county

Jem Petroleum Corp., Midland, No. 1 Shannon "B", Crockett County un-identified oil discovery, 1/2-mile south of the Fusselman area and one mile south of the Ellenburger area of the Escondido multipay field and 22 miles southwest of Big Lake, was finalized for 206 barrels of 44 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,262-1.

Production was natural through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,356-70 feet.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,574 feet: Strawn lime, 7,102 feet; Fusselman, 8,696 feet; Sylvan, 8,718 feet; Simpson, 8,766 feet; Joins lime, 9,063 feet; and Ellenburger, 9,107 feet.

Drilled to 9,414 feet, where 4 1/2-inch casing was set, it is plugged back to 8,660 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of 35-1-GC&SF.

Senior citizens camp planned for May 9-12

The fourth annual Concho Valley Senior Citizens Retreat is scheduled for May 9-12 in the H.E. Butt Foundation Camp in the Texas Hill Country 13 miles north of Leakey.

The retreat is sponsored by the Tri County Nutrition Project, based in Junction, and is partially funded through a grant from the Concho Valley Council of Governments.

Reservations for the camp will be accepted on a first come, first served basis until April 25 by the Tri County Nutrition Project, Kimble County Senior Center, 404 College Street, Junction, Texas 76849. Reservations must be accompanied with the $15.00 fee for the camp.

The retreat will be in the Echo Valley campsite which accommodates 200 campers. The facility includes 12 cabins, three pavilions, two tennis courts, and a waterfront and playground area.

Camp activities will include fishing, boating, swimming, games, devotionals, nature hikes, musicals, horse shoe pitching, cards and dominoes. A more detailed schedule of camp activities will be available at the welcoming and orientation set for 3 p.m. on May 9.

Campers are responsible for arranging their own transportation to and from the camp and must bring personal toilet articles, bedding, informal clothes, fishing gear and bait, flashlight, hiking shoes and cameras. These articles will not be furnished at the camp. Pets, firearms, and alcoholic beverages are not allowed.

Assistance with registration and with arranging car pools for transportation will be offered by the Senior Center Personnel in San Angelo, Brady, Menard, Mason, Sonora and Junction and the nutrition personnel in Eden. Aging Service personnel in Mertzson and Bronte-Robert Lee will also have information on the camp.

TOPPLED BY THE WIND was this heavy portable building Friday. This is among a group of portable buildings for sale on a lot on 11th St. The others escaped the gust, but buildings like this all over town suffered the same fate or worse.

IS THIS ANY WAY TO RUN A RAILROAD?

By Edwin Feulner

"America is getting into training...training the Amtrak way" is the catchy jingle of America's government-subsidized railroad company. In reality, America has gotten more into spending than training with Amtrak—which over its ten-year life span has cost the economy more than $12 billion and more than 125,000 jobs, according to a recent study.

In 1981 alone, the study notes, the system lost 900 million dollars; not a single route on the Amtrak system produced revenues in excess of cost. Even the Postal Service has a better record.

Rather than throwing more money at this government-sponsored fiasco, Congress should get on the right track and scrap the system, selling its routes and equipment to the highest bidder.

According to John Semmens, Senior Economic Analyst with the Arizona Department of Transportation, Amtrak management is pushing for a massive "second wave" of federal subsidies for capital investment aimed at extending the national rail service. But if Amtrak consistently lost money during its first ten years, why should we think there won't be more of the same in the future?

In a free enterprise economy, every product or service is, in theory, unique. Semmens says "Some products are budget items. The quality may not be the highest but the price is right. Other products offer top quality, but at a price." But Amtrak, he argues, occupies a unique position—providing low quality service at a high price. Which, he says, may be why its market share is a paltry 0.3 percent of intercity travel.

Gov. Mark White has proposed an $800 million increase in "sin taxes" (on alcohol, tobacco and amusement machines).

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby favors temporarily increasing oil and gas severance taxes to finance a $2 billion endowment to state universities and colleges. Comptroller Bob Bullock favors a nickel increase in the gasoline tax which would raise $850 million.

Two other proposals, to raise $100 million by raising fees for state services and licenses and $518 million—one time only—by speeding up tax payments, are already working their ways through the legislative process.

Special Session

The action of the House in the next few days is all-important because only the House can initiate a tax bill.

Speaker Lewis so far has been adamant against raising taxes, opting instead to try and cut $1.5 billion out of the budget.

While some lawmakers fear that even major legislation will be sacrificed while they struggle to get a tax increase, others are predicting quietly that it's already too late. A special session will be needed to finalize the state budget.

As if matters weren't complicated enough, Bullock is expected this week to lower the state's revenue estimates even more, triggering either more cuts or more taxes.

Bullock said last week the real crunch for state government will come in 1985.

His gloomy predictions have prompted a good many lawmakers to consider delaying approval of the budget or approving only a one-year budget to buy time. If in time his predictions prove too low, they can avoid raising AUSTIN—With less than two months left in 140-day legislative session, lawmakers are openly discussing raising taxes to replace dwindling state revenues.

And House Speaker Gib Lewis, who seems to step into a new flap weekly, is taking criticism for a growing sentiment among legislators that the House is unorganized and moving at a snail's pace.

As of last week, Lewis was way behind on referring bills to House committees and senators are concerned the traditional end-of-the-session logjam will reach historic proportions within a few weeks.

The Senate is pushing to get important bills out early to facilitate House action.

With the session more than half over, only one bill passed by both chambers was originated in the House, the rest began in the Senate.

Last week, senators publicly jibed Lewis and his leadership team. "As I recall it, we (the Senate) sent a committee to the House several months ago to tell members the Senate was organized and ready to do business," Sen. Carl Parker said. "Do you think we should send a committee to inform them again?"

"We could call it a search committee," echoed Sen. John Traeger.

Severance, Fuel Taxes

The lawmakers' dilemma is deciding whether to raise taxes to make up for a $2.3 billion revenue shortfall or cut the state budget. The recession, the recent drop of worldwide oil prices and the loss of federal funds have all contributed to the problem.

Gov. Mark White has proposed an $800 million increase in "sin taxes" (on alcohol, tobacco and amusement machines).

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby favors temporarily increasing oil and gas severance taxes to finance a $2 billion endowment to state universities and colleges. Comptroller Bob Bullock favors a nickel increase in the gasoline tax which would raise $850 million.

The House

Last week a House committee voted to add a $10 million surcharge to employers' taxes and allow the state to continue to borrow federal money to pay unemployment benefits to 650 thousand unemployed Texans.

The five percent surcharge on 1982 unemployment taxes would finance the interest on the borrowed funds, and would equal about $1.80 per employee for the average Texas business.

The bill was backed by a coalition of major business groups.

The House also passed a proposed constitutional amendment giving state banks the same privileges and rights as national banks.

It would include the authority to open branch banks in Texas if federally-chartered banks are given that power, as financial experts predict.

Opponents of branch banking argue the system removes money from community banks where it is deposited so it can be loaned at higher interest rates elsewhere.

Q: I have read about the 30-day provision in the Texas divorce laws. What I would like to know is—when did this law go into effect?

A: A Texas statute in effect since January 1, 1974, provides that for 30 days following a divorce, the parties may marry no one except each other. A marriage to a third person that begins during this 30 days is "voidable, not void," which means it may be challenged, but it is effective unless someone questions it. The law further states that the later marriage is deemed valid in case of a conflict between the two marriages, unless, again, someone proves the second marriage void.

Q: I bought a car last year on credit but I still haven't received any paper to show that I own it. Isn't the car lot, by law, supposed to give me a copy of the title?

A: Yes, you should have received a duplicate copy of the title. Texas law requires that anyone who sells, trades or otherwise transfers a vehicle shall also deliver the current license receipt and a properly assigned Certificate of Title. This document will show you as the owner, with the lender holding a first lien against the car.

Q: I would like to adopt my wife's children now that the natural father has consented. What are the general requirements in Texas for doing so? By the way, the children were born in another state, although we have lived in Texas over a year.

A: Unless your wife's divorce decree has a contrary provision, the children are under the jurisdiction of the Texas court after you have lived in Texas this long. If the natural father's rights to his children are terminated by court decree, you can then move to adopt them. The natural father's consent to this "termination" must be shown to the Court by affidavit before you can become their father.

passed legislation which would: —Allow creation of local employment commissions to handle hiring discrimination complaints. The bill would also create a state commission to oversee local action, thereby moving the federal government out of the picture.

—Make it tougher for a defendant accused of a violent crime to be found innocent by reason of insanity. The defendant would be required to prove he was suffering mentally and did not know right from wrong at the time.

—Allow prisoners the opportunity to earn extra time off for good behavior.

College Desegregation

Two weeks ago a federal district judge threatened to cut off Texas' federal funding for state colleges because the state had reneged on a promise to eliminate racial segregation from higher education.

In response, Gov. Mark White resubmitted a two-year-old plan to desegregate Texas colleges and avert loss of $300 million in federal aid.

The judge gave Texas 45 days to negotiate a settlement with the U.S. Department of Education.

A Taste Of Spring . . .

Fresh asparagus is one of the signs that spring is really here again. The season for fresh asparagus is short, so enjoy it often.

Look for those fresh green stalks that are crisp, yet tender with compact, pointed tips. Fresh asparagus should be kept cool—below 45 F—and moist. Wrap the base of the asparagus in a damp paper towel, and store in the coldest part of the refrigerator for two or three days.

To use, wash the tips carefully to be sure all traces of dirt and sand are removed. Pay special attention to the scales, too. These are favorite hiding places for sand to hide. Break each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Steam or simmer the asparagus in a small amount of water just until tender, about 10 minutes. Season as desired.

Tips For Gardeners Child safety to be mandatory

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since I'm writing this before Easter I dare not predict a freeze, but we very often have a severe one about this time. Every shrub, tree and plant seems to have burst forth with its new foliage, so I'm hoping our area will escape this year. The foliage is never as beautiful after a killing freeze.

Chrysanthemums are sprouting now so its time to divide crowded clumps. Save the smallest plants on the edges of the clumps, as these will be the strongest, discard others. Replant in a sunny location, placing the plants 6 to 12 inches apart, depending on selection.

Morning glories are old favorites for quickly shading a porch or covering a fence with flowers. Good selections include Heavenly Blue, Scarlett O'Hara (crimson) and Pearly Gates (white). For white flowers and a pleasing fragrance try mixing the night-blooming morning glories known as moonflowers with other types.

Keep the summer heat in mind when choosing annuals for your summer garden. Marigolds are sure to produce cheerful color and demand little attention even through the hottest months. Make successive plantings for a continuous display. Janie, a dwarf selection of marigold, thrives in Texas and so does Orange Fireworks, a 14-inch tall bright-orange selection.

Ageratums also prosper in full sun, the selection Blue Danube grows low. Another vigorous heat-tolerant creeping annual is Polka Dot. They are a periwinkle which have white flowers with a bright red center.

I notice the roses have new growth so to help prevent blackspot, powdery mildew, and rust, spray plants with Funginex according to label directions. If aphids are present on tender new growth, or thrips on flower buds, also apply Malathion.

Be grooming your horticulture plants for the April 21 Flower Show. The Garden Club Workshop will be held April 11 at the Civic Center at 1:00 p.m.

Miss Mayfield engaged to Mr. Brooks

Mr. and Mrs. John Carter Mayfield Jr. of Juno, Texas announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Irene to Mr. Terry Dane Brooks of Sonora, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger I. Brooks of Burnet.

Miss Mayfield is a graduate of Central High School in San Angelo. She attended Angelo State University and is now employed as a Medical Records secretary at Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville.

Mr. Brooks graduated from Sul Ross University with a Masters Degree in Animal Science. He is employed at the Texas A&M Experiment Station out of Sonora.

The wedding is to take place in June.

Womens softball to meet

The Ozona Women's Softball League will be holding a meeting April 11 at 7:00 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce building.

All team representatives must attend. Fifty dollar entry fee is due on this date.

In 1981, 68 children under age 4 died as a result of traffic accidents in Texas. Safety leaders across the state are urging mandatory child safety seats to cut down those numbers which represent personal tragedy for all involved," said George R. Gustafson, executive director of the Texas Safety Association.

Mandatory child safety seats was a key recommendation of the Texas Task Force on Traffic Safety, a 17-member group chaired by Colonel James B. Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Legislation mandating child safety devices for children under 4 passed the Texas Senate and is being considered in the House. "Although there is no doubt that people of all ages will have a better chance of surviving crashes if they are wearing occupant protection devices, restraints for young children are crucial because of anatomical and physiological reasons," Gustafson said.

Dr. Dale Coln, director of the Pediatric Trauma Center of Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, has explained those factors in testimony during this legislative session.

According to Coln: "An unrestrained child in an auto accident is more likely to be seriously injured than an unrestrained adult. Because of his smaller body mass, the unrestrained child is catapulted through the car as an 'unguided missile' upon impact. The risk of serious injury is age related, with a disproportionate number of deaths occurring in infants under one year of age."

"The anatomic differences of young children in part explain their predisposition to serious injury. The relatively large head of a child and the high center of gravity result in a higher percentage of serious head and chest injuries than occur in adults. Muscle mass, which offers some protection in adults, is less well developed in children. The flexibility of the rib cage predisposes a child to greater risk of injury to the chest and upper abdominal organs. The relatively large size of the head, the thin skull, and the less well protected spinal column increase the risk of central nervous system injury," Coln said.

Gustafson pointed out that

Ladies golf winners

Weekly winners in Ladies Golf at the Country Club were Billie Gene Baggett, low gross and low putts and Sherry Bailey, low net.

A new trophy was started and will terminate Sept. 1. Winner will be the golfer that pars number 3 and 9 the most times on golf day. Sherry Bailey paled number 3 for the day.

Other golfers were Jonesy Williams, Katy Jones, Jeanette Bailey, Monte Sanker, and Bobbie Fatout.

unrestrained children are not only a great risk during accidents, but also in sudden stops.

"It is easy for parents to assume that a child is safe riding in an adult's arms. Unfortunately, that is not true. The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety reports that an adult's body often becomes a battering ram, crashing the child into the instrument panel and windshield," Gustafson said.

He pointed out that most child safety seats accommodate children up to 40 pounds and 40 inches.

"Legislation now under consideration assumes that many 4-year-olds have reached those limitations, and indeed many have. The important thing, however, is for parents to be guided by their own children's needs. Because the seats are designed to distribute the force of an impact over a large area of the body, a child in a safety seat is better protected than one of the same weight category riding in a safety belt. Parents would be well advised to keep buckling their children into safety seats until they have exceeded the weight and height recommendations of the manufacturer, regardless of the age," Gustafson said.

"Twenty-three states and the District of Columbia have child passenger protection laws; two others have passed legislation which is awaiting their governors' signatures. That means Texas has the opportunity to become the 26th state to ensure safer traveling for its young children," Gustafson said.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Buck Mitchell spent the Easter weekend at the ranch where they entertained her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis of Pecos, spent the weekend here with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moore and Misty Dawn.

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories — and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million sanctuaries bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for all men eternal life — at the price of His Own Blood!

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Tuesday was the first day of a series of Easter parties for our Care Center residents. Girl Scouts from Troops 129 and 91 (first and second graders) came and brought Easter baskets, pictures, a program, and refreshments. Twenty-three Scouts, six leaders, nine brothers and sisters, three mothers, and two grandmothers were all in attendance. These little girls, and their leaders, really worked to make this a fine program.

Ceramics was held earlier in the week so that an Easter party, presented by Big Lake's W.M.U. ladies of the First Baptist Church, could be held in its time slot. They brought baskets, entertainment, our Bible study for the week, and lots of cookies, some of which were enjoyed following the evening meal. Thanks goes to this group also.

Wednesday afternoon we had our annual Easter parade of hats. (The ones that were decorated on Monday) Easter music was provided while residents jokingly displayed their funny hats. Nila Turnell was chosen for the prettiest award, Johnny Henderson the funniest award, Max Schneemann the craziest award, and Maude Pettit the best model award. Awards were Easter bunnies made in ceramic class.

Friday afternoon the Patten family brought a program of dance and song, complete with an Easter bunny and Easter baskets.

Easter Sunday services were held by members of the United Methodist Church. Maxine Henderson furnished Easter flowers to add to the days events.

There were several bingo winners this week. Jesus Hernandez won the Baker's Jeweler award for March and Minnie Karr for April. Ramona Lugo won the El Chato dinner for two, Maggie Crawford won the first place gift certificate from Clayton's Village Drug and Ola Mills won the second place prize.

The United Methodist Church furnished a film for our use this week, our ladies hair was fixed on Thursday, and Thursday afternoon all residents had an opportunity to color some Easter eggs

Conservation-conscious lawn care is urged

Conservation-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the water and energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn standards.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by high requirements for water and energy," says Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Mowing, watering, fertilizing, controlling pests and disposing of leaf clippings are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months, watering the lawn and collecting and disposing of grass clippings place a heavy burden on cities for water and trash collection services. Grass clippings account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in some cities during spring and early summer," notes Duble.

He offers several lawn maintenance practices to help homeowners reduce these requirements.

Reducing fertilizer applications to maintenance levels--2 to 3 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn per year--will go a long way toward reducing water and energy demands. (That's 20 to 30 pounds of fertilizer containing 10 percent nitrogen.) Applying only maintenance levels of nitrogen to lawns can reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high water and energy demands for lawn care," contends Duble.

Another lawn care practice to reduce energy demands is returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not composted, says the specialist. Regular mowing at weekly intervals will reduce thatch accumulation caused by grass clippings.

Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy.

Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy-saving practice.

Duble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted, low-maintenance turfgrasses to reduce water and energy demands. Centipede grass is ideally suited to East Texas while buffalo grass is adapted to much of West and North Texas. Both of these grasses have low maintenance requirements, yet provide a satisfactory turf cover for lawns.

In some situations, ground covers such as Asiatic jasmine, English ivy or Liriope can reduce maintenance requirements effectively without sacrificing the benefits of a plant cover. In heavily shaded areas and on steep slopes, use these ground covers in place of grasses, suggests the specialist.

"It is possible to enjoy the luxury of an attractive lawn and landscape," contends Duble, "without excessive use of water and energy. In fact, the net water and energy balance for a lawn can be in favor of conservation."

Beef conference and show set in Odessa

The first Permian Basin Beef Conference and Trade Show has been set for April 16, at the Ector County Coliseum Complex, Barns A&B.

The conference is designed to serve the livestock and agri-business community of West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico with up-to-date developments in the cattle industry, said Jim Mazurkiewicz, Ector County Extension Agent. "We feel we have gathered a top slate of speakers for the program from several different facets of the beef cattle industry," he said. "We also expect a good turn-out for our trade show which will give cattlemen a good idea of some of the new equipment which is now available to them in the industry."

Following an 8 to 9 a.m. registration in the barn, the morning session will kick-off with introductions scheduled to be delivered by Ector County rancher and Beef Committee Chairman, Buster Cole. Following Cole, President of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Frates Seelison has been designated to speak on the challenges facing the cattle industry today. At the completion of Seelison's address, Dr. Nelson Adams, Extension Livestock Specialist at Fort Stockton is set to present a talk on the selection and form involved in beef cattle selection.

At the completion of a 10 a.m. trade show visit and coffee break the group will reassemble to hear Gary Smith of Texas A&M University speak on feeder cattle types. The assembly will break for a barbecue lunch on the grounds at the conclusion of Smith's presentation.

The afternoon session will start at 1:15 p.m. with Jim Theech of the Brenham based Mayfield Ranch presenting a live animal demonstration on the selection of replacement heifers. Cow conditioning and calving performance is next on tap with Frank Litterst, Extension Beef Cattle Specialist from Texas A&M University presenting an illustrated talk on the subject.

Winding up the afternoon session following a second coffee break and trade show visit is Rod Bowling with Monfort of Colorado speaking on the cattle business today. Bowling's talk will also recap some of the problems and solutions which are to be presented at the conference during his summary.

Following the completion of the formal portion of the program participants will receive the chance to unwind and socialize during the "Cowboy's Social" which will complete the conference.

The conference is being sponsored by the Ector County Beef Committee, ranchers, agri-businessmen and Extension personnel.

Pre-registration forms and further information may be obtained by contacting Jim Mazurkiewicz at the Ector County Extension office, 200-C West 3rd Street, Odessa, Texas, 79761 phone 915-332-6262 or Dr. Nelson Adams, Extension Livestock Specialist, Box 1298, Fort Stockton, 915-336-8585. Cost of the conference for those pre-registering prior to April 1, is $10.00 per person. Those registering at the conference will be charged $15.00.

Fiber optics important in medicine

Fiber optic endoscopy has become an important medical procedure for looking deep within an ailing person to identify problems, says the Texas Medical Association.

Treatment sometimes can take place simultaneously--while avoiding an incision or an x-ray. Because there is little pain or discomfort, only a mild sedative is used. The doctor might release the patient immediately after the procedure if all goes well, avoiding a hospital stay and extra cost.

Fiber optic endoscopy involves inserting a flexible tube about a half inch in diameter into a natural or surgical opening in the body. The procedure is particularly effective for checking the digestive tract. To do this, the tube often is inserted through the mouth or rectum, avoiding surgery.

The tube includes bundles of thousands of fine, flexible, glass-coated rods or strands called fiber optics. These strands are important because they transmit light by internal reflections within each fiber along its entire length, producing an image in the doctor's eyepiece. With the endoscope's hand controls, the doctor guides the tube through the innards by negotiating sharp angles. The fiber optic endoscope (which literally means "to examine within") also can take pictures. Through the tube, liquid can be injected and suction applied to flush and clean the endoscope lens for clear viewing. Suction can remove mucus, blood, food particles and other soft materials, including bits of tissue for biopsy.

The doctor also can insert a small, thin wire noose through the tube to remove non-cancerous tumors of the digestive tract called polyps. This is done with a high-frequency electric current that helps sever the polyp and minimizes bleeding.

Product safety lawsuits increase

The safety of products sold in America's marketplaces continue to grow in importance and attention, according to Dr. Gary Nelson, a safety specialist with the Texas A&M University System. The terms "unreasonably dangerous" and "failure to warn of product hazards" are becoming more commonplace.

Injured parties are increasingly turning to the courts with their complaints about product safety. According to Nelson, a reflection of the tendency for Americans to sue has been noted in the number of product liability lawsuits filed in federal courts. Although the number remained about the same in 1982, there have been increases of 17 percent in 1981, 27 percent in 1980, 40 percent in 1979, 7 percent in 1978, 10 percent in 1977, and 28 percent in 1976.

Nelson points out that the number of product liability lawsuits commenced in Texas federal district courts in 1982 increased 39 percent from 745 cases in 1981 to 1,039 cases in 1982.

Product safety hazards can be prevented according to the engineer. Hazards can be identified during product design and manufacture and either eliminated or controlled through the use of safety engineering and safety management techniques.

"Manufacturers should learn all they can about product liability law, how to identify product hazards before they cause injuries, new safety engineering techniques to eliminate product hazards, and recommended techniques for preparing safety warnings and operator's manuals," says Nelson.

If you damaged someone's car in an accident would you have enough money to pay for the repairs? Or, if you injured someone with your car would you be able to pay all the medical bills? Could you pay your own medical bills if you were involved in an accident? What would you do about the damage to your car if it collided with another car? Or, if a tree fell on it? Or, if it caught fire? Would your family be able to meet its financial obligations if you were killed in a car accident? Did you know that a Farmers Auto Policy can protect you from the financial burden of these losses? Can you afford to be without it?

Discontent causes more G'vt. rules

If today's frustrations are tomorrow's legislation, business is in for more, not less, regulation, says a Texas A&M University marketing professor.

"If business wants to keep consumers and government off its back, then it's simply going to have to keep its own front yard clean," said Dr. Steve McDaniel of Texas A&M College of Business Administration. McDaniel has just completed a survey of more than 200 consumers in the Bryan-College Station Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area.

"Consumer discontent appears to be rather widespread," McDaniel said, "and in some areas, particularly advertising, discontent appears to be growing." McDaniel's study looked at marketing malpractices, such as deceptive advertising, misleading warranties, deceitful credit practices and unsupported product claims, which are already heavily regulated.

Notes from the locker room - -

By-Ross A. Alexander

It all comes down to the meet in Colorado City for this year's Lionette track team. Lilly and Irma have only their last hurrah, as their glory days at OHS reach a zenith of sorts.

"I feel very optimistic about the future of girl's varsity track here at Ozona High," Jana said to me recently. There is just so much talent coming up...people like the Cervantez kid who is posting some fantastic times in the 200...Diana (Donna's little sister) is looking real good...and of course Vanessa...she is so very talented...no, multi-talented." Jana, who has been called the most important single element as far as team leadership is concerned, seems quite confident of her team's chances in Colo. City.

"We should have a great chance to take it all if we can just manage to score a minimum of 12 points in the field events. We've got what might be the fastest 800 relay team in the entire region. I really expect to see some great individual performances at this meet."

Irma knows the frustration of being set back by illness and injury. She spoke with a strong accompanying sense of spunky tenacity.

"We won't fall on our face...we know how good we are capable of performing and I feel pretty good myself...so I fully intend to give one of my very best performances of my athletic career. I feel that we will take home the hardware when we leave Colorado City Thursday."

Pete Maldonado smiled and listed his ideas about how OHS will do it. "The secret isn't really so very secret...we've got sufficient depth to get points and I'd be mighty surprised if we don't score well, considering the sheer numbers of excellent point-producing performers. I'm expecting some stiff competition from Coahoma, Sonora and even Colo. City, but as far as depth in point-producing individuals, I feel that we hold a considerable edge over our competitors. We can do it...I am convinced that no more than 5 or 6 points will separate the top two or three teams in Colorado City Thursday."

Pete could have mentioned the marvelous talents of Ida Munoz, who has run hurt all season, and has nonetheless posted the best times in the district time and again. One coach from a primary Lionette opponent said that Ida runs so effortlessly until she

TOMI offers info

TOMI (Telephone Outlook and Market Information) is a service provided by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, to help farmers and ranchers stay abreast of commodity markets and other information for use in planning and managing their operations.

April topics will include updates on the wool and mohair, cotton, dairy and soybean situations as well as the agribusiness outlook, Washington roundup, cattle on feed report, and the outlook for wheat and meat supplies.

Information on these topics is available by dialing 409/845-TOMI, points out Billy Reager, county Extension agent. The telephone system operates seven days a week, 24 hours a day.

Messages are prepared by Extension Service economists, using the latest available information.

The April schedule for TOMI is as follows:

April 1-4, Wool & Mohair Situation-Ernie Davis; April 5-7, Dairy Situation Update-Bud Schwartz; April 8-11, Agri-business Outlook in View of PIK-Forrest Stgelin; April 12-14, Washington Roundup-Ron Knutson; April 15-18, Cotton Situation-Carl Anderson; April 19-21, Quarterly Cattle on Feed Report-Ed Uvacek; April 22-25, Wheat Outlook-Ed Smith; April 26-28, Soybean Situation-Johnny Feagan; April 29-May 2, Meat Supplies-Ernie Davis.

TOMI can help you with your decision-making, Reager says.

just have to be excellent college track material.

"I feel that Ida will do well if she pursues a college track career," says Pete Maldonado. Should she make up her mind to go to college, she will be an undeniable asset to some college's track program...she couldn't miss."

Ida's times have been affected by her nagging injuries. She has said over and over how her thigh muscle tear or pull has bothered her. Yet she continues to run and post such superior times.

Donna, who can push Ida past the pain threshold, will play a crucial role in whether or not the two of them make it to the regionals. "The top two finishers in each event will advance to the regional meet," Maldonado stated with a confident glance toward his super pair.

"Ida doesn't work out with Donna and usually they don't compete head-to-head...but they should push one another so significantly Thursday, until we may see not only a new record, but these two fine athletes may go eventually to state...they have no external limitations. They can go all the way if they want to." Pete softly added "Ida's working harder now than ever. It's a positive sign it seems to me."

Ida and Donna are both in the top seven in this region. Enough said?

Look for the OHS relay team to do well in the sprint event. Irma leads a fine aggregation of Martha Hernandez, the talented Missy Fierro, and the speedy little Lynn Lozano. That promises to be the sleeper of the meet.

Buckner, Zeldia, Lydia and Vanessa will probably do it right in the 1600 relay. Sherri can do it all...hurdles, relay, and she has leaped 5'2" this season...something no one else has touched. Zeldia is multi-dimensional also...she double as the best triple jump specialist. Irma and Jana are capable of doing well over 30 feet in the triple jump. Deneil and Vanessa should score points in the shot and discus respectively.

Look for Jana to top her 15.8 in the 100 hurdles...with Ybarra pushing Buckner and French. It can't help but be a really excellent track meet. Go Lionettes!!!

Willard's Water claims not based on facts says TMA

From the Texas Medical Association

Distributors of Willard's Water for years have been touting it as a treatment for all sorts of illnesses and disorders.

Advertisements commonly have claimed that this "catalyst altered water" is effective against arthritis, acne, anxiety, nervous stomach, high blood pressure, ulcers, digestive problems, psoriasis, colds, strep throat infections, stress, burns and sore muscles.

But that's not all, warns the Texas Medical Association. According to the claims, the water also is useful for growing hair, preserving foods, caring for fish, treating houseplants, improving cooking and facial beauty, cleaning clothes, and treating cancer in cows and leukemia in cats.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration became interested in the medical claims attributed to Willard's Water and began an investigation in 1980 after the television show "60 Minutes" included a segment about the water. Products sold for these uses are considered drugs under the law. And before they can be marketed, the manufacturer must show that they are safe and effective for the uses intended.

The FDA found no such proof. A statement signed in April by William J. Willard, president of CAW Industries (and son of the founder, Dr. John Wesley Willard), acknowledges that there is no scientific basis for medical claims made over the past 20 years for Willard's Water:

"As the manufacturer and bottler of Dr. Willard's Water, CAW Industries, Inc. of Rapid City, S.D., does not endorse any claims that its Catalyst Altered Water products are effective in the cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of any diseases in man or animals. Dr. Willard's Water has not been approved as a 'drug' by the Food and Drug Administration, and CAW Industries, Inc. does not have available scientific proof that its Catalyst Altered Water products are effective in the cure, mitigation, treatment or prevention of any disease in man or animals."

CAW Industries also agreed to take action against distributors who make medical claims. The FDA noted that it has not received reports of adverse reactions from Willard's Water or any other catalyst altered water.

Natural fish baits best

A walk down the aisle of any fishing tackle shop will make most novice anglers weak-kneed at the vast array of artificial lures and baits available. Most are designed after a natural food item of sportfish species. Some are even better at catching fishermen than fish.

Despite the choices of artificial lures and baits, many anglers still prefer live bait, according to Dr. Ken Johnson, fish disease specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The choices are many, but among the front runners are worms, crickets, minnows and crawfish.

Most anglers find it more convenient to buy live bait rather than dig or seine for it.

In fact, the culture of live bait for sportfishing is a multi-million dollar business annually in the United States. However, the catch-your-own-bait philosophy adds to the fun of the outing.

Worms are one of the most popular live baits because of their success in taking sunfish and catfish. Earthworms are readily available and can be raised at home for convenience.

Crickets and grasshoppers are also popular live baits, especially for bream fishing. Another insect that is a proven producer is the roach, however, it is seldom used any more.

Live baits such as minnows and crawfish are readily available from commercial sources or by seining in ponds and streams. Johnson says to obtain permission and check regulations before seining water other than your own.

Minnows should be hooked slightly through the back to insure longer life. Depending upon the size of minnow utilized, species from bluegill to bass to giant flathead catfish are all suckers for this type of bait.

Cane poles catch a lot of big fish

Although most of the high technology anglers of today wouldn't be caught dead using a cane pole, many fish are caught with this simplest of fishing rigs, says Jim Davis, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The cane pole is especially efficient for catching crappie, bluegill and redear sunfish during nesting activity. Using a cane pole, positioning a minnow, cricket or earthworm into small openings in brushy areas becomes easy with a little experience.

Flipping, a bass fishing technique using a long rod and fairly short line, copied a time tested cane pole fishing method.

Fishing with a cane pole is not as complicated as other methods. This characteristic surely accounts for its immense popularity, Davis says. There are, however, certain methods that can enhance fishing success with a cane pole.

The length of a cane pole should be two to three times as long as the anglers height. More length makes the pole too cumbersome and less length may not provide the desired reach.

Several types of line are available for cane pole fishing, with monofilament the most popular. When selecting a line, buy the smallest pound test that will hold the biggest fish you expect to catch, Davis advises. Also, the lighter the line used, the less likely the fish are to detect it and the more life-like the bait will appear.

The end of the line should be tied securely about two-thirds of the way up the pole, then additional knots tied at one foot intervals to the end of the pole. If a large fish is hooked, the terminal end of the pole may be broken but the additional knots may assist in landing an otherwise lost fish.

Perhaps the most important item for cane pole fishing is the hook. Although hooks come in a variety of shapes and sizes, a good rule of thumb is to match the hook size to the mouth size of the fish. Proper hook style selection can also account for more fish and prolong bait life.

Floats and sinkers are optional equipment utilized by cane pole enthusiasts. Floats assist in signalling a bite and also in suspending the bait at the desired fishing depth. Sinkers are used to carry the bait down and hold it in the fishing area.

Cane pole fishing is easy to learn and a good way to master the basics of a great pastime. Under many conditions, the cane pole can catch more fish than more sophisticated tackle. Don't look past this technique when fresh fish are needed for the table, Davis concludes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Perry spent the Easter weekend in Austin with his parents, where they were joined by their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Perry and Brian.

Quality day care centers needed in state of Texas

"The need for child day-care centers in Texas is greater now than ever," says Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Texas has over 900,000 children from infants through age 14 whose mothers work. Yet in 96 Texas counties, state-regulated day-care centers are available for fewer than 100 children.

"The greatest concern of most parents is how to find a quality day-care center for their children," says Stegelin.

A safe environment and appropriate equipment are obvious necessities for any day-care center. The center should display a sign indicating that it has passed state and local licensing standards, which insure a safe building and equipment.

In addition, Stegelin advises parents to check the amount of space available per child. A quality center will contain 40-50 square feet of indoor space, and 100 square feet of outdoor space for each child.

Day-care facilities should include a cot and a private place to nap for each child, as well as child-sized furniture and bathroom equipment. The center should also provide nourishing lunches and request nourishing snacks for the children.

"But the most important sign of a quality day-care center is the staff," states Stegelin. Two or three adults should be available to care for each group of eight to ten children.

According to Stegelin, a philosophy of parent involvement is an important indicator of staff quality. The day care director and teachers should want parents to be a part of the daily routine and learning activities.

Most successful day-care directors will welcome parents into their centers, and will be eager to answer questions and discuss their concerns, says Stegelin.

"Visit several day-care centers to observe the daily routine before making a choice," advises Stegelin. Parents should look for a cheerful atmosphere, where children enjoy their daily routine and smiles are typical.

Parents who place importance on quality day-care may have to pay more for nutritional meals and snacks, well-trained teachers, and spacious, clean facilities and equipment, notes Stegelin.

"A quality day-care center can provide rich learning experiences for children, but it's up to parents to make sure their children receive that kind of care," she adds.

D.A. on unlawful weapons in state

The following article is a public service by the Ozona Stockman through the cooperation of Bill Mason, District Attorney, and Tom Cameron, County Attorney, and your local law enforcement authorities. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Crockett County and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems. The following article is the second in a series of three articles which deal with the possession and carrying of weapons in Texas.

Unlawful Carrying of Weapons in Texas (Part II)

The Texas Penal Code makes it unlawful to carry a handgun, an "illegal knife," a club, except under specific circumstances. This article will cover the definitions of these items and explain when carrying them is illegal. The next article will discuss when it is legal to carry them.

A handgun is defined as a firearm made or adapted to be fired with one hand.

An illegal knife is a bladed hand instrument designed for cutting or stabbing and with a blade more than 5 1/2 inches long. Included in this definition of "knives" are machetes, swords, bayonets, daggers, bowie knives, throw knives, and spears.

A club is defined as an instrument made, designed, or adapted for the purpose of hitting or striking. This specifically includes blackjacks, and nightsticks. Additionally Texas law against the unlawful carrying of weapons covers devices constructed or adapted for the purpose described. Therefore, if one cuts off an ax handle or stick to a satisfactory length and fills the end with lead bound with a piece of cord or leather, then the device is adapted for use as a club under Texas law. Accordingly, it would be illegal to carry such a weapon, except where the law may permit it.

The possession of the listed weapons is legal. However, Texas law prohibits the carrying of such weapons on or about one's person. Generally, this means that a person may not carry a handgun, an illegal knife, or a club on his body or in immediate proximity to himself or in a place where it can be easily reached. The handgun carried under the front seat of an automobile, or in the glove compartment, is being illegally carried under most circumstances. If, however, it is carried in the trunk, in a locked tool box, or in some other place where it cannot be easily reached, then it is usually being carried lawfully. Nevertheless, there is no law against carrying a rifle or shotgun on or about one's person. Consequently, the rifle or the shotgun carried in a rack in the back window of a pickup truck, or even on the seat or on the floorboard, is being lawfully carried.

There is also a common misconception that it is against the law to carry a "concealed" weapon. There are laws to that effect in other states, but there is no such law in Texas.

However, if one carries a handgun, an illegal knife, or a club on or about one's person, then that individual is subject to prosecution whether the weapon is concealed or not. An interesting point is that it is not illegal to carry a concealed shotgun or rifle on one's person in Texas, although practical circumstances might certainly make it difficult.

There are certain premises on which the possession of weapons is specifically outlawed by law and extra penalties are imposed. For example, it is a felony to have a handgun, an "illegal knife" or a club in one's possession where alcoholic beverages are served or sold. This law does not apply, however, to the owner of such an establishment. It is, in addition, an offense to carry any firearm on the premises of a public or private educational institution or school (There are some exceptions to this law for peace officers and security personnel). It is also illegal to carry a firearm on the premises of a polling place on the day of an election.

The next article in this series will discuss when it is legal to carry these weapons.

This article is provided by Bill Mason, your local District Attorney.

Ozonan among art winners

Thanks to the talents of students in the Art and Advertising Departments at the University of Texas at Austin, has won the 1983 trophy as "best school" in the recent Dallas Society of Visual Communications Student Creative Competition.

Among the fifty-nine graphic and advertising works selected for exhibition was that of Kevin Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mason of Ozona. Kevin's work won a Certificate of Excellence.

Dr. and Mrs. Jim Montgomery of San Angelo spent the holiday weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Montgomery.

Extension office news

Add a big bonus to your food dollar by shopping for ground beef. Special sales on ground beef are important money savers. Before buying, review how to get the most for your money.

Consider which lean to fat category of ground beef will be the best buy. The three categories of leanness are stated on the label:

Not less than 70 percent lean—lower price.

Not less than 75 percent lean—medium price.

Not less than 85 percent lean—higher price.

One recent USDA study compared 75 percent lean to 85 percent lean ground beef. Both lost about the same amount of weight, but the 75 percent lean lost more fat and the 85 percent lean lost more water. The 75 percent lean patty, or least costly one, was judged the more juicy and flavorful.

Also anticipate how you will be preparing the ground beef. If you are using the meat in a recipe without browning first, or in a low calorie recipe, then you'll prefer the 85 percent lean ground beef. Leaner meat creates a firm product which cooks slower than the one with higher fat content.

The 75 percent lean ground beef is also recommended for recipes in which the meat does not have to be browned before adding other ingredients. It reduces the cost of preparing meat loaf, meat balls, or ground beef casseroles. You get a firm product (at a lesser cost) with this type of ground beef.

Use ground beef with high fat content in recipes where the meat is browned and the drippings poured off, such as tacos or chili. This will provide a moist and juicy product which cooks faster.

Make note of the amount of ground beef to be purchased. One pound contains about four (3 ounce) servings after it is cooked. Buying in large economy packages usually provides more meat for less money. To repackage a large amount of beef into smaller servings, re-wrap in moisture proof freezer paper and freeze immediately. If you will be preparing the ground beef in patties, shape the patties prior to freezing them.

Think of the nutritional value of ground beef when you buy. You want the most nutrition you can buy for your money. Ground beef provides complete protein which helps maintain growth and repair of body tissues. Beef is a good source of the B-complex vitamin which helps change food to energy and aids in digestion.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert White spent the Easter weekend in Odessa with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ogilvy and children.
