Ozona's favorite spectator sport last week seemed to be housewatching. After weeks of thinking the Tambunga house just east of the courthouse and annex would be moved any day, moving day finally came.

Avid housewatchers all had their theories as to the best way to remove the building from the lot bought some months ago by the county. Wagers were made as to whether the house would come off the hill in one piece. It did, and it didn't, part of the back wall was pulled off.

Not a lot of work was accomplished in businesses around the square during the two days the house was coming off the hill. People were too busy looking out windows or standing outside. Cars surrounded the square as people came to watch the event. A lemonade stand would have cleaned up.

After spending the weekend in the street at the base of the hill, late Monday the structure built by Andy Nelson was wheeled away to its new location on lots formerly owned by Dr. Fussell in the east part of Ozona.

I'm a saver. (Voices from the past keep telling me "You'd better keep that. You might need it some day.") But when I began looking for an article I'd had since 1975 on rules for teachers in the 1800's, I couldn't find it. I had hoped to use the information for a companion piece for the following tidbits.

Anyway, before the school year gets totally gone, here is the 1995 version.

Joyce and Garland Young brought back a copy of The South Texas News, the paper published in Pearsall, after some of their summer travels. One of the stories of interest was a dress code for teachers adopted by the school board.

Most of us are familiar with the concept of dress codes for students, but rarely do we hear of one for teachers.

After several months of formulation, the following minimum standards were recommended by a committee and accepted by the board.

1. The length of dresses, skirts and shorts should be no shorter than a line drawn immediately above the knee.

2. Walking short suits are allowed provided they are no shorter than a line drawn immediately above the knee.

3. Jeans are allowed only on Fridays and on special occasions.

4. No tank tops are allowed.

5. No warm-ups are allowed except for coaching staff when performing athletic duties.

6. Although canvas/leather tennis shoes are allowed, no high tops are allowed except for coaching staff when performing athletic duties.

7. Sandals are allowed, but flip-flops are not.

8. No leggings or shorts or spandex are allowed.

The principal shall make final decisions and judgement calls on compliance with this code.

In Sonora this fall, a large number of parents became upset over rumors of a stiff student dress code and went to a school board meeting, gaining the town television coverage on the evening news. Turned out that the codes had been in existence for some time. The new administration just decided to enforce them.

TIME CHANGE OCT. 29

It's time to turn clocks back one hour this weekend. Remember before going to bed Saturday night to change your clock so you'll get to church at the right time Sunday morning.

Band Earns First Division

The Ozona High School Lion Marching Band traveled to Brady on Saturday, Oct. 21, to participate in the Region VII U.I.L. Marching Contest. The judging panel of Warren Thaxton, J. B. Perry and Don Theode each gave the Lion Band a Division I or Superior rating for the contest. This is the 13th consecutive Division I trophy for the Lion Band and the 14th in the past 15 years the band has received a superior rating. Comments from the three judges were very complimentary of the band's style of marching and the mature musical sound the band produced on the field.

Band members and their directors would like to thank the band parents for the support displayed at both the contest and along the road to Brady. They would also like to thank the sheriff's department and all the parents who met the band at the "Y" and gave them an escort into town. It was a perfect ending to a terrific day.

In odd numbered years, Class A, AA and AAAA bands who earn a Division I rating at Region Marching Contest are eligible to advance to the area level of competition. This year the area contest will be held at Pennington Field in Bedford on Saturday, Oct. 28. A total of 17 Class AA bands from this area will compete for the right to advance to the state marching contest. The Lion Band will march at 4:49 p.m. and is the last band in the class to compete. At the area and state levels of competition, bands are not given division ratings as they are at region, instead, they are ranked from first to 17. Only the top two bands at area will advance to the state marching contest on Nov. 6 in Austin. The Lion Band is no stranger to the state contest, as they have marched in Austin on two previous occasions.

Tambunga House Moved Successfully

Neal Ulmer, Stockman Reporter

The Cruz and Edna Tambunga house located at 909 Ave. D between the Crockett County Courthouse and the courthouse annex was successfully moved last Monday to its new location on the corner of Ave. B and 12th Street.

Many Ozona people and those traveling through Ozona have stopped to look, take pictures, and just ponder about the house. Many questions have been raised as to why someone would want to move their house. One simple answer might be "it is their house and they would like to continue to live in it". Like most people, we tend to be comfortable in a house we have lived in for a long time. I know that I probably would feel the same under the same conditions.

Mrs. Tambunga said, "For me, it has a lot of memories. I raised all three of my children here and for me, it's worth it."

Trustees Reach For Building Solutions

In their regular monthly meeting that was held on Tuesday, Oct. 17, members of the Ozona School Board reviewed and discussed a feasibility report on Ozona Middle School that was prepared and presented by district architect Larry Harvey of Green Harvey Associates Inc.

Harvey began his presentation to the board by emphasizing that the material contained in the feasibility report was composed of data gathered from parents, students, teachers, administrators, maintenance personnel and engineering firms on the building itself. He also explained that this data-gathering phase is the first step in any consideration of improvements to a building.

In presenting historical data on Ozona Middle School, Harvey said: "The classroom building was originally constructed as an elementary school, and around 1977 it was renovated to house the middle school. This occupancy has continued ever since.

The original building was constructed in 1947, and about 1950 the first of many additions were added.

"This first addition was oriented east-west, built to the north limits of the property. The next renovation, about 1955, was a two classroom addition to the west end of the 1950 wing, followed by six more classrooms in 1957 that continued to the west. This west wing addition has reached the west limits of the property. The exact dates of these additions cannot be verified, but the information stated is from both retired and current staff members who have been employed by the district.

"According to available drawings, the free-standing gymnasium and the attached cafeteria were built prior to 1977. These renovation drawings include work to these two portions of the building. The classroom building

Mohair Producers May Take Guaranteed Price

Wool and mohair producers who have not sold their 1995 wool or mohair clip have an option to take a guaranteed minimum price so they can file for their 1995 wool or mohair incentive. The option is available during this period of depressed market conditions. This option allows sales documents to be issued without disbursement, and the producer will be paid at least the guaranteed minimum sales price at a future date. The guaranteed minimum sales price must be finalized by Dec. 31, 1995. Producers will be required to provide acceptable documentation of the minimum price guaranteed dated on or before Dec.

31, 1995. What this means is if a producer still has wool or mohair to sell, he can work out a guaranteed price with the warehouse. The warehouse will make out a sales document that is stamped, "guaranteed minimum sales price". The producer can bring this to the Farm Service Agency office to file for his 1995 incentive. The money does not have to be in the producer's hand by Dec. 31, 1995, as it had to be in the past.

This is an option, you do not have to do this. Marketing can be done as it has in the past. If you have any questions, please contact the FSA office.

San Angelo Service For Mrs. Mitcham

Mary Elizabeth Childress Mitcham died Thursday, Oct. 19, 1995, in San Angelo at the age of 90.

She was born Dec. 11, 1904, in Ozona, the eldest child of Pleas and Nellie Henderson Childress. When Elizabeth was 13, she was shot in the knee with a deer rifle while hunting with a group on the Childress Ranch. Following many months of recovery, she left Ozona to attend Hockaday School in Dallas, graduating in the Class of 1923. While at Hockaday she was president of the Senior House and became a lifelong friend of Miss Ella Hockaday. She went on to New York City to Scoville School and Parsons School of Design, and later to Sealy School, graduating in 1924.

On Jan. 11, 1927, the 24th wedding anniversary of her parents, Elizabeth married F. Grady Mitcham. Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, they made their home in San Angelo where he was a widely known civic leader and vice president of Hemphill Wells Company for nearly 50 years.

Mr. Mitcham died Jan. 1, 1972. Mrs. Mitcham was also preceded in death by her parents and a sister, Mrs. J. Neil (Ethel) Smith. At the time of her death, Mrs. Mitcham continued to hold ranching interests in Crockett County and dearly enjoyed returning to the ranch until declining health prevented her from traveling.

She is survived by her daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Wayne Ulrich of San Angelo; two granddaughters and their husbands, Mary Elizabeth and Rick Gambol of Midland and Karen and Stacy Elms of Dallas; two brothers and their wives, Pleas L. Childress and Geniece, and John W. Childress and Eileen, all of Ozona; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Graveside service was held Monday in Fairmount Cemetery conducted by Rev. Ellen Schulz, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Angelo.

The family requests memorials to the Shrine Burns Hospital, 815 Market St., Galveston, TX 77550, the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo or a favorite charity.

MEDICARE TRAINING

Crockett County Public Library has just received a video from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Texas, Inc. that I know will be of interest. As the Medicare carrier in Texas, Blue Cross and Blue Shield is reaching out to educate and inform individuals covered under the Medicare program. They have developed a series of videos, each covering a different topic relating to Medicare.

The first video in the series is Medicare and You, which contains two short informational stories about Medicare and is closed captioned for the hearing impaired. The first story is titled Basics of Medicare, and gives a brief overview of the benefits available under the Medicare program. The second story is titled Visit to a Non-Participating Doctor, which covers the responsibilities of the patient as well as the physician in conjunction with their visit to this type of physician's office.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield are providing this series of videos free of charge to the patrons of our public library. This video is the first in line of a series which will be made available during the upcoming year. Each video will cover a different topic on Medicare training. Come check it out.

It Used To Be Safe At The Movies

By Gloria Fisher

Today parents cannot allow their small children to go into a movie theater alone. In fact, it is very dangerous for children to be out of the sight of their parents for even a minute today because of the possible threat of child molesters and kidnapers.

Life, however, was much different for me at ages four and five. In the small west Texas town of Ozona, where I lived, the movie theater was not only a safe place for me, but also proved to be a source of learning - of learning to trust adults in general and of learning to feel peace, safety, and security from many of the adults of the community.

The center of my life in 1951 and 1952 was a strip of street in Ozona, Texas, where my house sat on a corner of one of the main streets downtown. Next to my house sat Cox's Drugstore where my boyfriend, Robert Doyle Cox, and his parents lived upstairs. They also ran the movie theater, which sat next to the drugstore. And my parents owned Smith's Jewelers next door to the movie theater. These businesses, the Ozona hotel, and my house comprised a large portion of downtown Ozona.

One advantage to loving Robert Doyle Cox at ages four and five was being able to wander in and out of his parents' movie theater anytime I chose. My mother frequently worked in the jewelry store with Daddy, so she didn't mind if I visited the movies on Saturday afternoons as long as she knew where I was.

So Robert Doyle and I spent quite a bit of time in the movie theater together, watching a movie for the hundredth time, exploring the projection room or simply wandering up and down the aisles to see whom we knew.

In those days the audience at the theater was not integrated. Instead, seating was divided for the races by an aisle down the center and a balcony up above. The right side of the audience was Mexican-American seating, and since my mother allowed me to sit wherever I wanted, most of the time I sat in the lap of Gabriella, a Mexican friend of my mother's.

Whenever I wasn't in Gabriella's lap, I was either sitting with Robert Doyle close to the front, where it hurts your neck to look up at the screen, or I was sitting in the lap of the Sheriff. Sheriff Law was his real name and frequently he would slip into the back of the theater on slow crime afternoons to catch a quick movie. Sheriff Law wore a white, ten-gallon cowboy hat just like Hop-along Cassidy, the movie star, and sometimes he let me wear it in the theater as long as I sat on his lap and was quiet and still.

Whoever had possession of me, when the movie ended, simply toted me next door to the jewelry store and deposited me with my parents. It never occurred to anyone that this practice was unusual or potentially dangerous.

I also learned to read in the movie theater. Of course, Robert Doyle did the teaching because he had begun the first grade. He could pick out enough letters to read a few words, so when we sat together, I would whisper to him during the credits and ask him, "What does that say?" and "What is that word?". He whispered back to me, "That word is Sue or Jim. That letter is a W or an L." I was simply amazed that he was so smart.

Sometimes, however, he gave up on the hard words and would say in frustration that he hadn't gotten to those words yet. That's the first remembrance I have of learning to read - there in the dark from the movie screen.

My only scary experiences in the movie theater during that period of time was when the Tarzan movies were showing. During those movies I was reduced to sitting with my mother and new baby brother in the "Cry Room". Just going into the Cry Room was a humiliating experience in itself, since that was the room for babies.

The "Cry Room" was a small room at the back of the theater. A large picture window stretched from one side of the room to the other. Mothers could sit in this room and feed their babies and never miss any of the movie. The babies could scream their heads off, and no one outside was disturbed.

The Cry Room was designated for mothers and babies, so the only times I sat in the Cry Room with Mother was when the lions and tigers on the screen were seemingly ripping Tarzan to shreds. This terrified me so much that I would duck down below the picture window and sit on the floor covering my eyes with my hands, where I felt safe until Mother would tell me it was okay to look again.

The 1950's seem like a very innocent time in this country compared with what we live with today - crime in the streets, teenage violence and general lawlessness. Yet, in west Texas in the 50's, a cute little brown-haired girl played in and out of a dark movie theater and never worried about being kidnapped or molested.

Adults could be trusted not to harm me when I sat on their laps or when they carried me to my parents. Everyone in town, it seemed, looked out for each other and for each other's children. Nobody worried that anything bad could happen to their children in a dark movie theater in town - except occasionally for me, who would be sitting on the floor of the Cry Room - waiting for the lions and tigers to leave.

4-H Food Show Saturday

Crockett County 4-H members will exhibit their nutrition knowledge on Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Crockett County Civic Center in the annual 4-H Food Show.

Thirty-three youth and 17 adults have been involved with the project this year. 4-H'ers have been attending a variety of workshops and lessons to qualify for the event, which is an optional activity in the project. Three evening workshops and a one-day Saturday workshop were followed this past Saturday by a come-and-go individualized workshop for final questions and work on menus and project records. Workshops were taught by County Agent Tedra Ulmer, adult leaders and 4-H members.

To participate in the food show, 4-H members make a dish at home and bring it to the show. There, a panel of judges will interview the 4-H'ers, testing their nutrition knowledge, communication skills and poise. 4-H'ers must be able to identify the main nutrient in their dish, list the major food groups and the number of servings required each day, and explain how their dish was made. Older 4-H members must also include knowledge on food safety, economics of their dish and menu planning.

Three age groups will compete at the show. They include junior (grades 3-5), intermediate (grades 6-8) and senior (ages 14 and up as of Jan. 1, 1996). Seven food categories are available in each age group, including fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, main dish, nutritious snacks and desserts, beef, pork and lamb. Senior contestants in the first four categories can advance to state competition from district.

First place winners in each category will receive a $50 savings bond and advance to district competition. Runners-up will receive rosettes and other awards. Every participant will receive a small gift and a participation ribbon.

The food show begins with contestant registration at 9 a.m. Judging begins at 9:15 and continues until 11 a.m. Public viewing is from 11 a.m. to 11:30, and the awards ceremony will begin at that time. A tasting tea for all guests and participants follows the awards program.

All interested persons are welcome to attend, and there is no charge to do so. A cookbook will be provided with all the recipes included.

For more information about the 4-H foods project, contact Tedra Ulmer at the Crockett County Extension Office, 392-2721, or go by the office, located on the second floor of the courthouse annex. Educational programs such as 4-H are open to all persons, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Halloween Isn't As Safe As It Was Back Then

Halloween has always been one of my favorite holidays because the weather is reasonably nice, you get to eat all the candy you want, and because I always liked dressing up as someone else.

I'm now surprised I survived to adulthood. For instance, in the eighth grade my huge five-member class - "The Barrow gang" - had a particularly exciting holiday. Led by the principal's son, Pat (think "Fonzie"), our class conned the principal into leaving us at the movies in Stephenville while the rest of his family went on to a basketball game (our original destination).

Pat then convinced us we should eat many, many bags of popcorn to empty the bags (they were a nickle apiece - why we didn't dump them out is beyond me) so he and one of the boys could run outside, go around the neighborhood and bring back candy. We would split the loot among ourselves and bring it for school the next day.

I might mention we were all strictly forbidden to leave the movie - it was cold and rainy and several of us were either sick or just getting over colds. Considering we made up half of the girls' and boys' basketball teams, the principal - who was also our coach - was not willing to take chances with our health.

Needless to say, while three of us made ourselves completely sick on popcorn (picture large chipmunks stuffing popcorn with both hands), the other two ended up drenched and muddy. They had several adventures with large, angry dogs and slick pavement, but made a considerable haul after numerous trips in and out of the theatre. We secreted the candy in our pockets, inside our shirts, purses, etc. to smuggle into school the next day.

We were immediately nabbed - because Pat's rotten little sister squealed on us when we wouldn't share our candy - and had the opportunity to stay in the classroom and copy the dictionary (from the letter "A") for a week during recess. The worst punishment was having to share our candy with the rest of the classes (we had three grades in one room).

We were so lucky - no pins in the candy, no poison, no abductors lurking in the shadows - but as parents it's our critical job in this day and time to consider safety first when Halloween rolls around.

The first thing parents can do is make sure their child's costume is safe, and there's something new this year to help with spotting those ghosts and goblins as they flit around in the dark. Special new "glow in the dark" trims are made to absorb light and glow in the dark for 15-20 minutes after lights are turned off. They can be washed in cold water and dried on a low setting. They can even be ironed over.

It's also important to consider using light colors to help motorists see trick-or-treaters better, and to make sure the fabric is flame-resistant. Avoid costumes with baggy sleeves or billowing skirts because they're more likely to come in contact with exposed flames or candles - and cause tripping going up stairs or curbs.

Also, little goblins should wear well-fitting shoes and not carry props like swords, arrows, etc. unless they are very soft and flexible.

One good trend is toward headpieces instead of masks. Masks decrease visibility and make breathing difficult. If your youngster does wear a mask, make sure eye and mouth holes are big enough to see and breathe through. A better option might be face paint or makeup - which you probably have around the house.

Other tips for safety include attending the community Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Senior Citizens this year, instead of going house-to-house. If you do trick or treat, go only to homes of people you know. Make sure all treats are wrapped and inspect thoroughly before eating.

Never let youngsters go out alone. Remember, even though we live in a small town, we have two major highways going through - and the characters that go through our community on those roads make the movies' Freddy Krueger look harmless.

Good luck and good eating - see you at the carnival.

For more information on safety, contact the Crockett County Extension Office at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

It is extraordinary to what expense of time and money people will go in order to get something for nothing.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the volunteers from the Fire Department who took the time from their busy schedules to come and talk to the children about fire safety on Friday, Oct. 13th, and for the fun ride on the fire truck.

On Monday, Oct. 16th, Mr. Keith Olive, from the DPS, came and talked to the children about the jobs of troopers and the importance of maintaining highway safety. The children really enjoyed the flashing lights and siren.

On Tuesday, Oct. 17th the class went to the public library where Mrs. Louise Ledoux gave the children a tour of the library and showed them how to find certain books. Each child was given the opportunity to check out a book for themselves.

On Thursday, Oct. 19th, the children, along with some of the parents, got to go on a tour of the post office. They were given a tour by Post Master Ernest Jones. The post master showed the children the many different jobs of each of the postal workers and also gave them the opportunity to deliver letters they had to their proper boxes. Among doing all that, Mr. Jones also treated the children to refreshments.

On behalf of all the children and myself, we would like to send out our great appreciation and thanks to all those who made our tours possible. We could not have done any of this without their help. To all of those who helped, you are a very special tool in the education of all our children. Keep up the good work!

Thank you,

Wonder Who Those Witches Are?

Monday, Oct. 23, Carla Green, Cynthia Hokit, Sally Roane and Shannon Hunnicutt hosted the Xi Sigma Omega Fall Couples Party at the Hitchin' Post Restaurant. As guests arrived, the name and brief description of a famous witch was pinned to their backs, then they had to ask questions to try and find out Which Witch they were.

The prize for "Quickest Witch" went to Barbie Myers (Aunt Clara from the TV series Bewitched), while the prize for "I'll Never Figure It Out!" went to Jimmy Hokit (Winnie Sanderson played by Bette Midler in the movie Hocus Pocus).

During dinner, many Halloween door prizes were awarded, and the following guests went away with a much greater knowledge of famous witches: Diane and Tom Anderson, Shannon and Rick Hunnicutt, Sally and Art Roane, Cynthia and Jimmy Hokit, Carla Green, Martha Weant, Janet and Mark Smith, Susan and Rory Buchanan, Peggy and David McWilliams, Barbie and Ray Don Myers and Robin and Doug McNeely.

Casey Artist Of The Month

By Neal Ulmer
Stockman Reporter

Local artist Wendel Casey is exhibiting two original paintings in oils at the Crockett County Public Library. His exhibit started Monday, Oct. 23, and will continue through Nov. 10.

The two paintings located in the reading room show the imagination and insight of the artist. The painting over the fireplace mantel is titled "Harmony", which shows Indians living with nature and others: The second painting is a scenic titled "Serenity". Both of the paintings were completed in 1994.

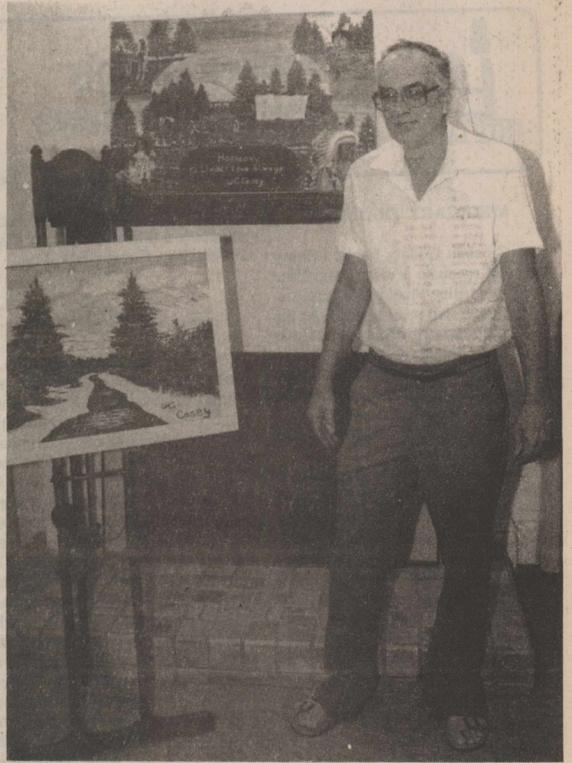

A self-taught artist and originally from Houston, Casey first started painting in 1973. He has a total of seven paintings and only recently renewed his interest in painting in 1993. He is still working on two of the paintings at his home. A back condition prevented him from painting for about a year.

Generally with most artists there is a desire to draw or paint. Casey said, "I just had a desire to paint scenes, wildlife and historical eras."

He works mostly in oils but has done some pen and pencil works. He first started working in pen and pencil, then switched to working with oils.

Casey is married to Linda Casey, a freelance writer. They have four children. Marvin, 28, lives in Ohio, and Terry, 26, won a Presidential National Arts Scholarship Award in Crockett, Texas, and now resides in Arizona. Elaine Casey, 25, lives in Houston, and Wendy Quiroz, 23, makes her home in Ozona.

God Wants The Absolute Very Best For You

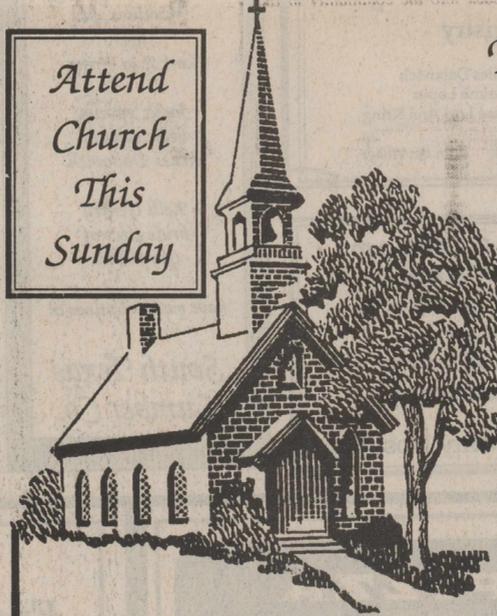

I spent part of my life growing up on a farm outside of town. Lots of fond memories there. I remember the road that wound through the woods all the way to the river and how we used to love to go down there and swim off the sandbar. The highway that ran in front of our house had a huge hill on it near us and we used to ride our bicycles down it. We thought that hill must have been the largest in the world, at least it looked that way when you were going down it. I recently went by that old place. Somehow that hill wasn't as big. It was kind of a let down for me, but I realized that some things are better left in the past.

I believe that if we're not careful, we can let memories keep us from succeeding in the future. For all of us, our past should be a learning experience, whether good or bad, and not a place to dwell. I hope that you are working toward your future and that you have a dream. Without goals and dreams, we simply exist and not really live. The Lord gives us dreams and those goals and even a way to attain them. He said in His Word that if we delight ourselves in Him, He would give us the desires of our heart. My prayer for you today is that you would realize that God wants the absolute very best for you!

Most folks never realize that God wants them healthy and successful and most of all, happy. We have somehow developed an idea that the Lord takes some of these things away from us: He said in His Word that if we as parents want to give good things to our children, then how much more does He want to give good things to us! Remember John 10:10 in which Jesus said, The thief (Satan) comes to steal, kill, and destroy, but He came that we might have life and life more abundantly. I hope that you're experiencing that abundant life.

The Bread Of God

By Dennis J. Prutow

A prophet in the Old Testament of the Bible exhorts, "Do not eat the bread of men" (Ezekiel 24:17). What is the bread of men? We equate bread and money. "Give me my bread, man." We love money. Money, we think, alleviates our present problems and assures our future. The Bible warns, although not harmful in and of itself, "the love of money is a root of all sorts of evil" (1 Timothy 6:10). So it is.

The alternative to the bread of men is the bread of God. Jesus Christ tells us this. "For the bread of God is that which comes down out of heaven, and gives life to the world" (John 6:33). This bread, like earthly bread, gives life. The bread of God, however, gives superior life, eternal life. "This is the bread which comes down out of heaven, so that one may eat of it and not die" (John 6:50). Who is this bread? Jesus responds, "I am the bread of life" (John 6:48).

Unfortunately, even people within the visible church of Jesus Christ cling tenaciously to the bread of men. For example, "the leaven of malice" (1 Corinthians 5:8) is prevalent within and without the church. Strange, many men and women would rather bear hatred in their hearts toward others than follow Jesus Christ and eat the bread of God.

Museum Notes From Mary

The Crockett County Museum is a good place to visit - you can breeze through all three rooms in five minutes. Or take some time and learn why the things displayed are important to our county. The history begins in this area about 10,000 B.C. when the experts figure the early (Paleo) Indians arrived. One room in the museum is devoted to the history of these Indians and thereafter to about 1900 A.D.

The first recorded settlers to set up a ranching business within Crockett County was the W.P. Hoover family in 1881. The museum has a "Ranching Room" with things displayed that had belonged to many of the early ranching families. It's good to look at these things and think about the sturdy folks who used them. The food grinder we have is very old, but they're still produced and used today; they haven't changed design at all. We also have several old coffee grinders, but they sure don't resemble those we can buy today.

Do you know what a skirt-pleater is? A coyote gun? A branding iron (well, some folks don't know about brands!)? We have side-saddles, a treadle sewing machine, butter churns, a Victrola, horse hobbles and the bi-centennial quilt, made in 1976. All of these things are in the museum for you to see. Some visitors identify with lots of things we have.

Come in and test your memory - or learn about days gone by. I'll look for you.

FCE Members Tour Idea House

Five members of Crockett County Family and Community Education clubs toured the 1995 Southern Living Idea House in September at Barton Creek in Austin.

Dean Allen, Roberta Schoenhals, Carolyn Moore, Blanca Castro and Lupe Longoria, along with County Extension Agent Tedra Ulmer, visited the house to learn about the latest in housing trends, materials and techniques.

The home, built of native Texas limestone, was featured in a summer issue of the magazine. Each year, three homes are built for public visiting and reflect the most up-to-date materials and ideas. Visitors may photograph, video or sketch ideas they like, and they receive a special booklet with all materials and furnishings listed in case they want to duplicate some idea.

The FCE group also toured several shops in Fredericksburg on their way to Austin to see furnishings and fabrics which were included in the house. They also enjoyed a special lunch at the Peach Tree Tearoom.

Family Community Education clubs meet monthly and provide an opportunity for leadership development, fellowship and educational experiences for women of all ages. The next program, in November, will feature unique recycling ideas for clothing and home decor. For more information on FCE or their monthly programs, contact the Crockett County Extension office at 392-2721. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Booths are set to open at 5:30. Some of the action will include a cake walk, panning for gold, climbing the greased flag pole, bean bag and ring toss, putting green, grab bags and the pumpkin toss.

There will be several food booths including Halloween standbys of cotton candy and candy apples.

Booths may be reserved up until Oct. 31. Cost is $25 per booth, but $10 of this is refundable if the area is left clean. To reserve a booth, call Janet McDaniel at 392-5026 or 392-3039.

Bazaar Features Barbecue, Special Foods

Let Ozona Woman's League help with holiday baking. It's as easy as picking up a phone to order mouth-watering goodies ranging from cakes to pies, cobblers to cookies, candies to quick breads and dinner rolls to meat casseroles...not to mention a carry-out barbecue dinner with all the trimmings.

Every year League members prepare Crockett County's favorite holiday foods in their own kitchens. By ordering baked goods and casseroles prior to Friday, Nov. 10, you can assure your family and guests will enjoy the tasty favorites they've become accustomed to.

Nov. 10 is the cut-off date for custom food orders, and to ensure you get the items you want, League food committee members urge you to order ahead. "We have so many members who are employed full-time outside the home now, we must concentrate on baking for ordered items," said Peggy Dickerson, committee member.

The items you've ordered can be picked up at the civic center on the day of the annual bazaar, Monday, Nov. 20, beginning at 5 p.m. and lasting until 6:30. That's another great opportunity to select from the craft and other food items available that day, including a few extra gift copies of League's acclaimed cookbook, "Diamonds in the Desert."

In addition to the tasty custom-baked items, weary homemakers can take an evening off thanks to League's delicious barbecue dinner at 5 p.m. on the 20th. Generous take-out plates, at the tantalizing price of only $5, will feature tender brisket, spicy sausage, beans, potato salad, bread and the trimmings.

Tickets for the plates can be purchased ahead of time from League members, reserved when you call to order other food items, or may be purchased at the bazaar. In addition, barbecue meals can be ordered on the mail-in form printed in The Ozona Stockman. The dinners are usually a sell-out, so reserve early to get your hot and tasty meal.

Why order food from Ozona Woman's League? Besides the quality of the home-baked items, it's important to remember that the money made from bazaar and from sales of the Diamonds in the Desert cookbook go back into the community in the form of scholarships, community service and charitable projects conducted by League each year.

Items and prices for special-order foods include the following:

Cakes - Fancy Cakes (Italian Cream, German Chocolate) $20; Red Velvet Cakes $16; Pound Cakes (Rum, Buttermilk, Million Dollar, Sour Cream) $10; Chocolate Sheet Cakes $10 plain and $11 with nuts

Ulmer Attends National Conference

Tedra Ulmer, Crockett County Extension Agent for Consumer and Family Sciences, attended the 61st Annual Conference of the National Association of Extension Home Economists in Dallas this past week. By participating in the educational sessions presented during the conference, Ulmer was able to obtain professional development units needed to continue her certification as a Family and Consumer Science Professional and to update her technical knowledge base. She attended programs on nutrition, food safety, family life education, leadership development and economics. "I was able to bring home a number of ideas for programs which would be beneficial in Crockett County, as well as numerous free and low-cost resources for educational programs and materials," she stated, noting the conference is basically like an in-service workshop which teachers attend. Ulmer, a 12-year member of the association, was coordinator and director for a Texas natural fibers fashion revue at the conference which showcased mohair and wool as well as cotton. Forty-three Extension agents from all parts of Texas modeled original garments, including items from Ol' Sonora Trading Company, Mohair Designs of Comfort, Unique Mohair Designs of Camp Wood and Dishman's of Uvalde. "This was a wonderful opportunity to educate the 1,072 Extension home economists registered for the conference about our West Texas mohair and wool," said Ulmer, who noted that the mohair garments created quite a stir. "One agent reported that no less than 40 persons asked her where to get a coat like the one she modeled," said the agent, adding, "We need to get our products out to people who are currently unaware they exist." Ulmer also served as a voting delegate from the Texas Association and took part in the Texas Association of Extension Home Economists' state meeting on Saturday. She has served this past year as public policy chairman, historian and District VI association director. She was named professional improvement committee chairman for the 1995-96 year, and will continue her duties as district director until August of 1996.

Better Business Service Explained

Dick Rowland, president of the Better Business Bureau of the Permian Basin, presented a program Tuesday, Oct. 17, for the Ozona Woman's Forum at the civic center. Program coordinator was Martha Gries. Mr. Rowland explained that the Better Business Bureau is a non-profit organization and is funded by businesses. The organization's goal is to foster good relationships between businesses and consumers. Around 80% of their calls are from consumers needing referrals. The other 20% of the calls received are consumer complaints.

Jewel Bailey, Marolyn Bean, Louise Bunker, Crystelle Childress, Sue Cosper, Elizabeth Dudley, Beverly Evans, Martha Gries, Benny Gail Hunnicutt, Lu Ingram, Pauline Johnson, Katie Jones, Georgia Kirby, Luetta Kost, Lucille Littleton, Barbara Malone, Dorothy Montgomery, Willa Perry, Katharine Russell and Margaret Tabb.

For information you can use, read The Stockman want ads. Buy, sell or trade through The Stockman classified pages.

The Better Business Bureau is a third party and is neutral until an issue is checked out. Arbitrations are handled by them such as with a faulty vehicle, and their decision is binding by law. He explained there is always mediation before arbitration.

Mr. Rowland said the bureau checks out advertising and any questionable telephone solicitors reported. He cautioned against giving out personal information to telephone solicitors. If you call a business, you know who you are talking to, but when they call you, they may not be the business they claim to be.

In closing, Mr. Rowland told members if they have concerns or questions they would like answered, they can call the Better Business Bureau. The number is 1-800-592-4433. If you do not have the telephone number convenient, call the 800 operator and they will give you the number.

Roy and Charlotte Harrell were pleased to have their daughter Elizabeth of Fairfax, VA. spend her vacation with them. After retiring from the Foreign Service, Roy and Charlotte are at home at the Harrell South Ranch. Betty Elledge is returning to her birthplace of Owensboro, K. Before leaving, Betty enjoyed a visit from friends, the Henry Patricks of Mountain Home. Best wishes go with you, Betty. We'll miss you.

Some interesting places seen were the Saint Louis Gateway Arch, the Upper Peninsula in Michigan, Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Sault Ste. Marie (where they rode through the locks), Mackinac Island (where there are no cars). They went to Niagara Falls where they rode on the Maid of the Mist. They saw Valley Forge and Gettysburg Park. They also enjoyed the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. Shirley said they saw lots of beautiful colored leaves on the trip.

Rick Bird, accompanied by children Jared and Kara, and their grandmother, Bobbie, enjoyed a trip to Cloudcroft, NM, recently. Rick, who was also there for pharmacy school, remarked of the beauty of the turning aspen. The family went to the Sunspot Solar Observatory, the International Alamogorda Space Museum, the Omnimax Theater and enjoyed a planetarium and space exploration show. Sounds like a great trip, and Rick gained hours in pharmacy school.

Satellite Conference Discusses Over-Medication Of Elderly

The statistics are alarming: Nationwide, nearly one-third of all medications prescribed for the elderly in 1994 were unnecessary, according to recent research done by the University of Houston.

The research also found that 51 percent of all deaths and 39 percent of all hospitalizations of people 60 years and older were caused by adverse reactions to medications.

Crockett countians may find ways to reduce the alarming statistics at "Prescription for Senior Health", a satellite program airing the morning of Oct. 26, said Tetra Ulmer, Family and Consumer Sciences Agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Crockett County.

The satellite program has targeted an audience consisting of but not limited to pharmacists, directors of senior citizen centers, Area Agency on Aging staff, American Association of Retired Persons leaders, Family Community Educators and Retired Senior Volunteer Program staff, according to Ulmer.

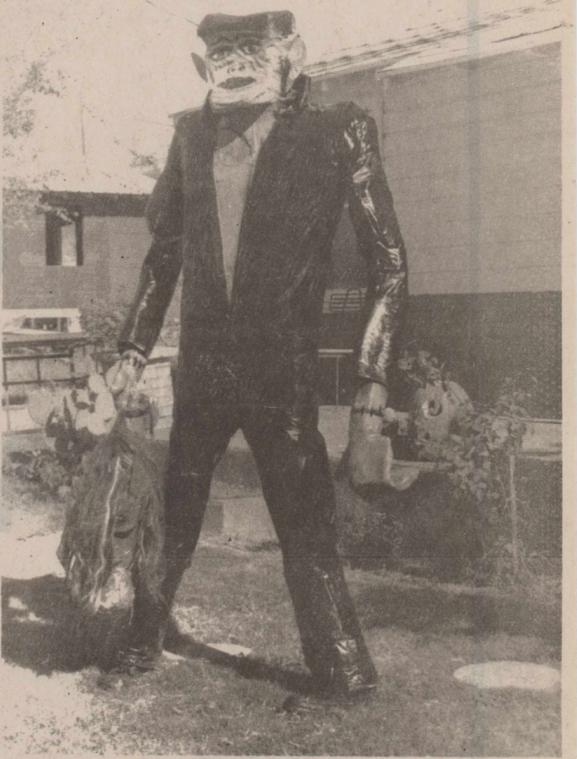

ample, will review a health education and wellness program for seniors. The program includes a pharmaceutical review of individual's medications record, checking for inappropriate prescriptions or possible dangerous interactions of drugs.

Another program, "Project Meds", is similar to "Safeguard for Seniors", but uses a computer program instead of an interview process.

The third program, "Substance Abuse and Senior", will review an education program for seniors on drug and alcohol abuse.

Mark Stratton, professor with the College of Pharmacology, University of Houston, will give a presentation on how to prevent over-medication and inappropriate-medication of the elderly.

Free and open to the public, the satellite program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Department of Aging, the Texas Pharmacy Foundation, the Texas Medical Foundation, the Health Care Financing Administration.

More Revisions Of Revisionist History Standards

Almost a year ago, you may recall that I told you about a form of thought control which threatened our children's education. Using grants paid for by your tax dollars, the National Center for History in the Schools was developing national standards for U.S. history courses. The problem is, those standards did not even resemble traditional American history.

Take, for instance, the fact that in those revisionist history standards, there was not one mention of the U. S. Constitution. And, you might remember, George Washington made one brief appearance but was not even recognized as our nation's first president. The eggheads writing those standards through the founding of the Sierra Club was more noteworthy than the first meeting of the U. S. Congress. Some standards.

Completely missing from the revisionists' version of history were Robert E. Lee, Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, Albert Einstein and the Wright brothers.

To sum it up, the national history standards had a tendency to criticize American culture, society, government and U.S. citizens whose achievements helped build our country. That group wanted to impose a new version of history on schools in your community and across the country.

There was quite an uproar after parents and their representatives in Congress found out what was brewing. Responding to the outrage, the National Center for History in the Schools asked a liberal arts advocacy group, the Council for Basic Education, to review the history standards. The results were released last week.

The review panel had some revisions for the high-brow revisionists. The panel suggested: "Eliminate the biased language..." "Strengthen the standards in regard to the treatment of science, mathematics, technology and medicine..." "more attention should be given such presences as Washington and Jefferson and seminal documents such as the Bill of Rights and the Constitution." Interesting.

The lesson is that so-called "intellectuals" should not be allowed to run our education system. It's clear to most of us that our children - the future of this nation - should learn the full history of the United States which reflects our achievements as well as our difficulties. Only with a good understanding of where our country has really been can future generations take our country where it ought to go.

"Any leader of a senior citizen organization is welcome to attend. Individual senior citizens are welcome, too. They can take a leadership role, too," said Judy Warren, associate professor and gerontology specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The issue is important both in terms of the health of Texas senior citizens and their economic well-being, according to Warren.

The satellite program will review three Texas programs designed to reduce inappropriate use of prescription and over-the-counter medications by the elderly.

"Safeguard for Seniors", for ex-

Thirty sites across Texas are scheduled to receive the program and make it available for public viewing. The sites are located in Abilene, Amarillo, Angleton, Austin, Beaumont, Brownwood, Bryan, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Edna, Fort Stockton, Fort Worth, Houston, Longview, Lubbock, Lufkin, Midland, Overton, Prairie View, Richmond, San Angelo, San Antonio, Stephenville, Temple, Texarkana, Tyler, Uvalde, Vernon, Waco and Weslaco. Tentative sites include El Paso and Wichita Falls.

Eagles Soar, Lions Lose 42-0 Eighth Cubs Lose Close One To Eagles

By Neal Ulmer

The Ozona Lions were stunned last Friday night as the Eldorado Eagles amassed six touchdowns and extra points to defeat the Lions 42-0 in Lion Stadium. Eagle junior running back Clay Butler led his team in rushing for 113 yards.

The Eldorado win improved their overall record to 3-4 and their district record to 1-1. The Lions fell to a 1-6 overall and 0-2 in district.

"We got ourselves in a hole early, and things snowballed on us," said Coach Walter Hargrove. "We are not discouraged. We know that we can play, and they (the boys) know that. We just have to cinch our belt and get after it."

Eldorado received the opening kickoff and returned it to their own 31-yard line. The Eagles took 11 downs to cover 69 yards for a touchdown with 6:05 remaining. The first of six successful extra points by Jason Clark was good, giving the Eagles an early 7-0 lead.

The Eagle drive, which included two fumbles and recoveries, was climaxed by an 18-yard touchdown pass from sophomore quarterback Casey Snelson to tight end Joe Rocha.

The Lions opened their first drive on their own 35-yard line. Sophomore quarterback Justin Browne got things rolling with a quick 17-yard pass to Pete Castaneda. A second play later he hit Jason Stuart for an 11-yard pass completion. The drive fizzled after a 6-yard pass completion to Jon Sanchez was short two yards. The Lions were forced to turn the ball over on downs to the Eagles on their own 28-yard line.

The Lions stopped the next Eagle drive when they reached the Lion 16-yard line. The third of five Eagle fumbles and a pass broken up by freshman David Gutierrez foiled the Eagle drive. An Ozona fumble on the next play and recovery by Eldorado set up the second Eagle touchdown. It took four plays for the Eagles to reach the end zone with Butler scoring on a 1-yard plunge with 6:46 left in the second period. The PAT was good, increasing the Eagle lead 14-0.

A couple of minutes later (4:06), the Eagles added to their lead again, starting on the Lion 27-yard line and culminating with a 21-yard touchdown run down the right sideline by Michael O'Daniel. The PAT by Clark was good, expanding the Eagle lead and halftime score to 21-0.

According to Coach Hargrove, the Lions had to do some things offensively they didn't normally do, like go on fourth downs in their own territory. "We had some good offensive plays," he said. "Offensively, we kept shooting ourselves in the foot. We had 150 yards throwing, and take off the quarterback sacks (44 yards), we had some yardage."

Lion junior and strong end Jason Stuart had five passes for a total of 60 yards. Jackson, the Lion leading runner, had only 29 yards on 12 carries.

"Defensively, in the second half, we played a lot better. We gave them some pretty easy ones (TD's). They drove from our own 20, 28, 30 and 16 yards," said Hargrove.

Leading the Ozona defensive attack was Albert Flores with nine tackles followed by Justin Browne and Darin Jackson with six each, Lalo Guadarrama, Stephen Montes, Lance Jamerson and Ray Fierro with five each, and Jon Sanchez and Bryan Mendez had four each. Nine other Lions had a total of 19 tackles.

The third quarter stayed scoreless with both teams moving the ball some, yet neither was able to score.

Eldorado's fourth touchdown came in the fourth period with 9:08 on the clock. The Eagles scored on a 31-yard pass from Snelson to senior wide receiver Randy Adame. The PAT by Clark was good, enlarging the Eagles' lead 28-0.

In less than one and a half minutes, the Eagles recovered a Browne fumble on the Lion 19-yard line. They scored on a 7-yard run by senior running back Tim Lemons with 7:43 left in the quarter. Clark was true again on the PAT, boosting their score to 35-0.

The Eagles' last touchdown started with a drive from their own 41-yard line. Lemons picked up a 33-yard run on the way to the end zone, and running back Johnny Joe Arispé scored on a 24-yard touchdown romp. Clark's last PAT was again successful, and the Eagles finished the night with a 42-0 victory.

The Lions will play the Anthony Wildcats in Lion Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 27. Coach Hargrove never hesitated when he said, "Anthony is very good, and they have a lot of speed. They run a wing-T offense and a split-6 defense with a lot of 6-2 defense."

Challenging the Iraan Braves for the district title, the Wildcats are 6-1 for the season and 2-0 in district play. Major players to watch include wide receiver Adrian Lopez, who according to Hargrove, "is the best receiver we've seen all year - he is fast." He is their main return man on the kickoff receiving team and the punt return team. David Longoria is a fast running back who ran for 1,019 yards in '94. Aldo Gonzales is a fullback/linebacker and is tough. Wildcat quarterback Gilbert Martinez is fast, throws real well, and executes the offense extremely well, Hargrove reported.

The Lions' pep rally will be at 3:40 p.m. on Friday in Davidson Gym. Keep the faith and football spirit by backing the Lions.

The Ozona Eighth Grade Cubs came close to scoring in the last quarter but ran out of downs and time in their 20-14 loss in last Thursday's contest with the eighth grade Eldorado Eagles. The seventh grade game was not as exciting as the Cubs fell to the Eagles 24-0.

The eighth grade's season record is 2-3, and the seventh grade's record is 1-5.

If the eighth grade Cubs had a little more time, eight more points would have won the game. But there are no "what ifs" in football.

"The kids played their best game against their toughest opponent," said Coach David Delgado. Coach Bachman chimed in and said, "That was the best game Ozona has played all year, defensively."

Eldorado received the opening kickoff on their own 35-yard line. In three plays, the Eagles fumbled the ball which was picked up by Cub defensive player Miguel Rios and run 40 yards for a touchdown. Matt Castaneda ran the ball in for the conversion to give the Cubs an 8-0 lead.

An Ozona fumble and an Eldorado recovery on the Cub 37-yard line set up the first Eagle score. Six plays later the Eagles scored on a 5-yard run. A pass completion on the conversion was good to tie the game at 8-8.

The Cub offense was led in the first half by Ross Crawford and running backs Tim Maldonado, Matt Castaneda and Randall Borrego.

In the latter part of the second quarter, good thinking by Crawford on a low hike for a punt turned into a first down for the Cubs. A 16-yard pass completion to Cade Clark placed the Cubs on their own 36-yard line. Two plays later, Matt Castaneda broke two tackles and ran for a 64-yard touchdown. A run by Borrego failed, but the Cubs went up 14-8 at halftime.

"Offensively, we moved the ball well against the best defense we've faced all year. In the first half, we played evenly with them and gave us a chance to win the game in the second half," said Delgado.

An Ozona punt against the wind in the third quarter gave the Eagles the ball on the Cubs' 22-yard line. Six plays later the Eagles scored on an 8-yard run around the left side. On the conversion, a pass was completed, but the player was stopped short for the score. The third quarter ended with the score tied 14-14.

The second half Cub offense was led by quarterback Bobby Cervantez with the running duties going to Peter Rodriguez, Miguel Rios and Casey Jamerson.

The Cubs had difficulty moving the ball on their next possession and were forced to punt. The Eagles received the ball on their own 48-yard line.

Two good tackles were made by Ronnie Tippie and Maldonado but to no advantage as the Eagles scored in the fourth quarter on a 20-yard run down the right sideline. A run up the middle for the conversion was stopped short, but the Eagles took a 20-14 lead.

The Cubs thought they had the Eagles in a hole after a good punt with the wind by Bobby Cervantez placed the ball on the Eagle 3-yard line.

The Eagles slowly started getting out of their hole with short gains until an Eagle player ran for a 42-yard gain. Another 2-yard run placed the ball on the Cub 28-yard line. On the next play, a 2-yard run turned into an Eldorado fumble and an Ozona recovery.

Starting from their own 26-yard line, the Cubs quickly moved the ball with a 17-yard pass from Cervantez to Rodriguez. Cervantez began picking up short yardage by running with the ball. A few more plays with a completed 8-yard pass to Rios and a 5-yard run by Jamerson placed the ball on the 10-yard line. A couple of plays later with two incomplete passes and a fumble and recovery by the Cubs caused them to run out of downs and time on the Eagle 5-yard line. The Cubs came close, but the Eagles won 20-14.

"Defensively, we played well, and we scored off a turnover. In the second half, we did an excellent job on defense and stopped a long drive," said Coach Delgado. "Offensively, we put our best drive of the year together with a minute and a half left. We drove all the way to the 5-yard line, kept our composure, and ran out of downs."

In the seventh grade game, a larger and faster Eldorado team won 20-0 over a very determined Cub team in earlier action.

"The kids never gave up and played tough up to the final tick," said Coach Rick Bachman. "We tried to get something going. We had some bright spots both offensively and defensively."

Eldorado received the opening kickoff on their own 20-yard line. It took them 10 downs to cover the 80 yards for the score. The Eagles scored on a 3-yard run down their right side. The conversion try was stopped by the Cubs, but the Eagles led 6-0.

The Eagles tried an onside kick, but the Cubs covered it on their 47-yard line. Three plays later a Cub coughed up the ball, and an Eagle recovered it on the Cub 43. The first quarter ended with the Eagles leading 6-0 and in possession of the ball on the Cub 38-yard line. The Eagles scored on a 35-yard romp to the end zone. A pass was completed for the conversion, and the Eagles topped their score 14-0.

The Cubs had trouble moving the ball in their third possession, and punted the ball against the wind with the ball coming to the Cub 10-yard line. An Eagle back scored on the second 5-yard run around the left side. A fumble on the exchange for the conversion run failed, but the Eagles led 20-0 at halftime.

"Offensively, we couldn't get anything going. We stuttered in the first half and didn't execute well. The Eldorado kids were big, fast, stunted well, and messed up our rhythm and timing," said Bachman. "In the second half, we picked up their blitz a little better. We made some adjustments. We had one good drive and fumbled."

The Cubs were led by quarterback Stephen Tarr in the first half and Dustin Faught in the second half. Running backs in the game were Chris O'Bryan, Chad Flanagan, Chase Adams, David Arjon, Leon Garcia and Jose Mata.

The Cubs continued to have trouble with the big Eldorado boys, especially the linebackers who came up and put a lot of pressure on them. The Eagles made one last push to score starting on their own 20-yard line. They reached the 4-yard line before time ran out in the game with the final score Eagles 20, Cubs 0.

With the Ozona varsity playing Anthony on Friday, the JV Lions and the Cubs will play the Iraan Warriors a second time on Thursday, Oct. 26, starting at 5 p.m. The Cubs will play in Ozona and the JV team will play in Iraan. On Oct. 12, the eighth grade team beat the Warriors 42-28, and the seventh grade lost 24-0. Go and watch some exciting action and "Back the Cubs".

JV Lions Beat Eldorado Eagles 8-6

By Neal Ulmer
Stockman Sportswriter

An excellent goal-line stand in the second quarter by the JV Lions propelled them to an 8-6 victory over the Eldorado JV Eagles Oct. 19 in Eldorado. With the win, the Lions increased their season record to 2-4.

"It was a great win," said Coach Dane Vickers. "We were pleased with the effort, the execution and the intensity throughout the game. These kids grew up a lot in this ballgame. They worked hard and played hard, and I take my hat off to them."

The Eagles started with their claws ready to grab all the yardage they could get. But they were not prepared for a determined Lion team.

The Lion defense dug in, and some good tackles were made by Matthew Galindo and Donnie Bullard. Ozona's Steven Martinez recovered an Eagle fumble at the Lion 20-yard line to stop their first drive.

The Lions' first possession started from their 20-yard line, and they moved the ball swiftly up field. A beautiful 33-yard pass completion from Anthony Ortiz to Galindo put the ball in Eagle territory at their 47-yard line. The Lions got the ball down to the Eagle 20-yard line before they fizzled out.

Late in the first quarter, the Eagles started their second drive from their own 20-yard line. They speedily moved the ball up field, getting to the Lion 3-yard line. Again, the Lions' defense attended to business, dug in and made a great galena stand. "The goal-line stand that we had in the second quarter provided us with a tremendous amount of momentum," said Vickers.

The Lions moved the ball out from their 2-yard line, but were not able to make a first down. They punted the ball back to the Eagles where they received the ball at the Lion 35-yard line.

Good defense by the Lions prevailed again with some good tackles made by Luis Hernandez and Martinez. Again, the Lion offense took the ball but could not gain yardage. Time ran out in the first half with neither team scoring.

An Eagle fumble recovered by Lion Armando Flores on the Eagle 19-yard line set up the Lions' touchdown. Anthony Ortiz broke through the lines for an 18-yard run down to the Eagle 1-yard line. Galindo plunged over the goal line for the Lion score with 5:48 left in the third period. Galindo also scored the 2-point conversion on a run, and the Lions took an 8-0 lead.

Proud of the improvement of the Lion team, Coach Vickers said, "The offense executed the option like it was supposed to be done, and the defense was able to make some adjustments in order to shut down Eldorado's offense."

The Eagles were able to get on the scoreboard late in the fourth quarter, giving the Lions a scare. With about one minute left in the game, the Eagles started from their own 32-yard line. They moved the ball quickly up field and scored with 38 seconds left on a 32-yard one-hand touchdown pass caught by Kyle Hunter.

The Eagles thought they would try to fool the Lions with a fake extra point. The holder flipped the ball to the wingback who came around the left side to score. He was tackled by the Lion defense one yard short of the goal line. With the conversion failing, the Lions retained the lead and won the game 8-6.

The Lions will get another chance to beat the Iraan Braves as they will face them Thursday, Oct. 26, at 6 p.m. in Iraan. The Braves won the Oct. 12 game 14-8. Watch the JV Lions continue their comeback and beat the Braves.

House

In an interview before the house was moved, she said, "I've really liked living up here, no neighbors, and a lot of privacy."

Originally a two-story house, it was due to be removed from the lot on Sept. 5 which was 49 days overdue. Crockett County bought the lot from the Tambungas in May of '95 for $100,000.

After many days, hours, and minutes of preparing the house for the move, professional house mover Gilbert Martinez from Del Rio finally had his chance to do his job.

Martinez, two helpers, and Tambunga started the actual moving of the house at 9 a.m. on Oct. 18. A total of four steel girders was placed under the house after many, many hours of digging rock. Two steel girders were placed length-wise and two cross-wise. One steel girder was connected to the two length-wise girders so a truck could pull the house. Martinez's small moving truck was attached to the cross girder.

At the rear of the house was a 1972, 25 ton wrecker attached to the two steel girders by the truck's cables. This truck would be used to keep constant back pressure on the house to prevent it from going down the hill at a high rate of speed.

The Kenworth diesel truck is owned by Rio Trailer Shop & Wrecker Service of Del Rio. The wrecker was driven by 40-year old and part owner Ruben Acquirre of Del Rio. He was assisted by one helper, also from Del Rio.

When the truck first started to pull the house, a weld broke on the girder causing the men to stop. A welder was called in to repair the breaks and reinforce the girder. The repairs were completed about mid-afternoon and about 10 pieces of some 4-5 inch pipe was cut into three-foot lengths to be used as rollers.

Again, they were ready to starting moving. The truck began the pull again, but only a few inches were gained before they had to stop, use jacks to lift the back end up and to reposition the rollers.

Actually, this process took longer than anything, as the workers had to use jacks to position railroad cross ties and blocks of wood under the steel girders. Also, the set of tires (8) towards the north side of the house were in a hole and had to be raised.

At the end of Wednesday afternoon, the house was closer to the edge. Interest grew in watching the house come off the hill and a faithful few turned into a larger crowd as the day progressed. Martinez drew applause from the crowd at the end of a long and interrupted day of breakdowns and delays.

Also, at the first of the moving of the building, it was found that Martinez's truck was not strong enough to pull the house. He and Tambunga left to get another truck. About 45 minutes later, a larger Ford truck arrived and Martinez was cheered by many faithful observers. He went inside the annex to purchased new tags with a big smile on his face. He purchased the vehicle from Alice Lopez, the widow of Lonnie Lopez, who had several trucks.

Six county employees and others watched the progress at 8 a.m. on Thursday morning. Curiosity started spreading as 12-25 people observed the actions from mid-morning until noon. It is amazing how many people left when it became lunch time.

Progress in movement of the house improved with the larger truck, going from inches to feet, as it was moved about 20-25 feet just before noontime. Sometime after the truck started making some progress, the cable pulling it began to unravel.

One of the interested bystanders was Mike Glover, a salesman for Frac Tank Rentals-Permian Basin. He offered the use of his truck and driver, Mike Larsen to pull the house. It took another 30-45 minutes for the truck to arrive.

Martinez met with Glover to sign a contract for the use of the truck and a waiver for release of liability in case some thing happened to the house. Earlier in the morning, Acquirre had also signed similar papers which were notarized by Kala Longoria of the county judge's office.

Not wanting to miss anything, a few of us continued to watch and even ordered pizza to be delivered to the roof of the annex building. Several people brought lawn chairs, set them up on the roof of the annex building and watched the proceedings.

In the afternoon, real progress was made, but again it took time as the house moved from 25 feet to about 40 feet. One of the other problems involved was the extra weight of the north side of the house. The house had been stuccoed on that side, adding the extra weight. This added weight caused the steel girder to bend, which in turn started dragging the ground.

Martinez's smallest truck was used to hold up the north side of the house as it was being dug.

With the extra drag of the house and the cable caught in a bind, it broke. Again, another delay had caused a pause in the action for the cable to be repaired. Rollers and cross ties were again repositioned. From mid-afternoon to 5 p.m. interest in the house had enlarged from 25 people to about 70 people.

By the end of the day the house had moved to the edge of the wall, taking most of the day to complete.

The steel girders were needed to stick out about 10-15 feet from the rock wall. With the north side of the house dragging into the ground, the cross piece to which the front truck's cable was attached broke.

After about a 30 minute delay a large pipe about eight inches in diameter was chained to the cross piece. After it was attached, the climax of the house to be moved off of the hill was about to happen.

Cross ties had been stacked up in a staircase fashion against the wall for the tires to come down on. Little by little the tires on the south side started to come down. All this time the larger wrecker in the back of the house was keeping the cables taut.

Between the dragging and the holes and rough rocks underneath the house, this was taking its toll on the tires. One tire had blown out and two other tires were flat. Time was again taken to air up what tires were needed. By now, the wrecker had done its job and came around to use its air compressor to air up the tires.

Sometime after 10 p.m. the house was finally completely on the courthouse parking lot. It was then decided to take the truck closer to the edge of the park.

At the end of the move towards the edge of the park, both of the trucks rented to pull and hold the house were paid off.

Friday and the rest of the weekend were used to take off part of the back-side that had already started breaking. Also, tires had to be replaced and aired up and the steel girders had to be repositioned to take the house down the street. The debris from the house had to be picked up.

Late Friday afternoon, Mike and Monika La Badie had crippled in with a broken block on their 1956 Ford car. He immediately went over to the park where a lot of people were standing and inquired about any available jobs. He approached Martinez and asked him if he needed some help. Martinez replied that he did need some help and he would hire La Badie.

By Monday, Oct. 23, the house was again ready to move toward its new location. Extra employees for WTU and GTE were brought in to help lift or take down their lines. The Circle Bar Cable Television Co. was also there to move or take down their lines.

At 4 p.m. Martinez's new (used) Ford truck started slowly going down Ave. D. WTU used long poles to move the lines higher but the cable company's lines were too low, and some of them had to come down.

By this time, the strain on the truck was causing it to smoke, but Martinez had started something he needed to finish now. He continued slowly down the street with the lines being lifted up and some cables being taken down.

He reached the end of the street that intersected with 14th Street or the I-10 service road. At that moment they took about a 10 minute break because the truck ran out of gas.

Boards had to be placed down for the truck to pull up on the service road's grassy right-of-way in order for the house to make the turn.

With this done successfully, they proceeded down to Ave. B. After making that turn it was only a block away from its new location. In about one hour it was at the new location.

Martinez had to pull up on the curb. By this time several tires had blown out on one side and it was going on the rims. The smaller truck was used to pull the larger one as more power was needed to pull the house on the lot.

They reached the edge with the ruined tires but could not get the house on the lot due to the rear ending dragging the ground. At approximately 5 p.m. they decided they would need to change out the tires. This involved a lot of raising the height of the steel girders with the use of the large jacks.

At about 9 p.m. the house was successfully delivered to its new location.

During the time of the changing of the tires, Mrs. Tambunga said, "It has been a nightmare, and it still is! I'm appreciative of all my relatives' prayers and concern. I've had relatives from California, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Fort Worth, Dallas and all over show up to support us."

Tambunga added, "I'm glad everybody is safe except for the minor injury to Mr. Martinez. I appreciate all of the help of people pitching in. I'm glad that it's done."

In response to any doubts of the house making it to its new location, he said, "I knew it was going to be hard and a challenge for Mr. Martinez. I'm glad it's over, because he is tired!"

Well, a lot of Ozona people thought it could never be done, and the house would break up, but it didn't. A lot of work will be needed to get it back in living condition. But the worse is over and after all, "tomorrow is another day".

The words to the song America the Beautiful were written by Katherine Lee Bates in 1893.

Landowner's Rights Week Oct. 21-27, 1995

There's gold in Texas. The gold is in its landowners. In just 150 years property owners have turned Texas from a wilderness to the third-ranking state in population in the United States and its economy to 11th in the nations of the world.

Landowner's Rights Week Oct. 21-27 is the time for everyone to reflect on and celebrate the bounty the nation enjoys because of landowners. Every acre of foodstuff, small business, and high-rise complex begins with a piece of land someone owns.

Texas comprises 130 million acres and more than 97% of these acres is privately owned. Johnny Jones, past president of Texas & Southwestern cattle Raisers Association, said, "Property rights are a cornerstone of the free enterprise system. Our property rights are linked to economic growth and environmental quality." Attorney Mark Poilat in his book, "Grand Theft and Petit Larceny: Property Rights in America," puts it this way, "The Constitutional framers believed protection of property rights to be one of the primary purposes, if not the sole justification, for government." The nation's second president, John Adams, stated, "The moment the idea is admitted into society that property is not as sacred as the laws of God, and that there is not a force of law and public justice to protect it, anarchy and tyranny commence. Property must be sacred or liberty cannot exist." Property rights create a vested interest in the preservation and improvement of resources. It is the unowned bird, animal, or other species in the wild that are in danger of extinction.

The central importance of private property is its linkage with the individual's exercise of liberty. There is nothing else upon which you can base a concept of freedom. Arizona Governor Symington, in signing the Arizona Private Property Act of 1992, wrote, "The right to hold and enjoy private property is as fundamental to ordered liberty as any right enumerated in the American Constitution. The right to property is a civil right, no less than the rights to freedom of speech and worship, and the rights to due process and equal protection under the law."

The rights of landowners has been compared to a bundle which is made up of the many rights possessed by those landowners. The most basic of this bundle is the right to pay taxes. Owning property begins this taxation process - it is paying their fair share for the common good. Another right in this bundle is the right to call the land "Private Property", to put a fence around the boundaries, and place signs on this fence telling anyone desiring to enter that permission must first be granted by the landowner. The landowner can expect the law of the land and the courts to support this right. When private property is taken or the value is compromised for public use or the "common good", the United States and the Texas Constitutions require that just compensation be made to that property owner.

The Texas Department of Agriculture reports that Texas is first in the nation in the production of cattle, sheep, goats, wool, mohair and cotton. The basics of life - food and clothing - are provided for the citizens of Texas, the nation and the world from these products.

The Private Property Rights Act of Texas was passed by the 74th Legislature of Texas and signed by Gov. George Bush. All Texans join with the state's leaders in government as they salute Landowner's Rights Week. Citizens are thankful for a state with leaders who value the contributions of private property owners and thankful for landowners who, in owning and using their piece of Texas, recognize they are but stewards and that land ownership is a cherished right to be guarded constantly.

Texas is a giant among the states because of the vision and work of its landowners - and because Texas has leadership in government and business helping landowners do what is best for Texas.

Man lives by affirmation even more than he does by bread.
—Victor Hugo

Disaster Loans Available For Small Businesses

Businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in Crockett, Irion, Reagan, Schleicher and Tom Green Counties can now apply for low interest economic injury disaster loans from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster. Drought which occurred June 1, 1995, to the present caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse economic effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for this loan program, but may be eligible for disaster assistance through other Federal agencies. However, nurseries that are victims of drought disasters can apply.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call the SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired. The deadline for filing applications is May 13, 1996.

Due to the drought, many producers experienced crop losses and were not able to purchase goods and services at normal levels. Businesses that are dependent upon these producers may have experienced decreased sales, reduced gross profit margins, increased accounts receivable or difficulty in moving inventories at normal levels. To the extent these problems have caused the business difficulty in meeting its normal obligations, these loans may be of assistance. The loan can help a business meet installments on long-term debt, accounts payable and overhead expenses that would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Refinancing of long-term debt, however, is not eligible under this program.

The loan is designed for those businesses with substantial disaster-related needs and is intended to supplement monies the business owner can provide from other sources.

Loans may be approved for up to $1,500,000 for actual disaster-related financial needs of the business. Interest rates are four percent, and terms may extend to 30 years, depending upon the repayment ability of the individual applicant. To qualify, businesses must be small by SBA's size standard. Businesses which can meet their financial needs through other sources are not eligible.

Loans Available Through FmHA

Irion, Reagan, Crockett, Schleicher and Tom Green Counties were declared eligible for Rural Economic and Community Development disaster emergency loans on Sept. 11, 1995. Generally, that means that farmers who have lost at least 30 percent of their production due to the drought, which occurred from June 1, 1995, through present, are eligible for FmHA loans. Proceeds from crop insurance and the PIK program are taken into account when determining eligibility.

RECD County Supervisor, Fred Greenway, is urging farmers who are interested in receiving an emergency loan to get their applications into RECD as soon as possible. Greenway said, "We hope farmers will get their applications in early rather than waiting until near the deadline which is May 13, 1996. The longer they wait, the more chance there is for long delays in getting their checks. If the applications come in early, we can avoid backlogs and speed up the process."

The RECD office is at 3524 Devonian Dr., Suite B, San Angelo, TX 76904. The telephone number is 915-655-5518.

currently has 22 teaching stations within approximately 28,160 square feet. The gymnasium is approximately 10,000 square feet. There is also a 540 square foot athletic equipment storage building west of the gymnasium.

"The classroom structure is of load-bearing masonry partitions, with brick and stucco exterior finishes. All of the exterior walls and the corridor walls are load bearing. The interior classroom partitions do not appear to be load bearing. The roof-ceiling structure is a combination of steel and wood ceiling joists with wood roof rafters. Above the original ceiling is an attic space with a seven foot clear head height from the joists to the under side of rafters. The attic allows access to most of the building. In the attic, portions of the original roof shingles and roof deck are still visible.

"The floors are concrete slabs on grade with vinyl floor tile. The office area has carpet over tile. Portions of the original building floor slab are settling with as much as a two inch difference from the corridor floor elevation to the lowest points of some classrooms.

"The interior wall finishes are glazed tiles, plaster, and some wood paneling. The only noted fractures in the load bearing partitions are between the original structure and the first north addition which is the north wall of the entrance hall."

Harvey then presented the results from a facility questionnaire that was given to each district employee working on the campus. "Since the best source of information concerning any problems with the campus is from those who use it everyday, the facility questionnaire was given to campus employees as well as to those who have a special interest in this facility, including school board members, parents, and students who were asked to serve on the Middle School Improvement Committee," he said.

On school site (image, entrance, parking, safe access and outdoor safety), four of the five questions were answered positively, with positive response percentages ranging from 61% who thought that the school's entrance was easily located to 78% who thought that outdoor areas were safe for students. The only question with a negative answer was the one that addressed parking; 83% of the respondents felt that parking was not adequate.

On comfort (outdoor contact, space for tasks, lighting, winter/summer comfort, privacy, storage, display space, finishes and campus safety), the questions with the highest negative responses were: storage space, colors and room finishes, pin-up space and bulletin boards, space to do assigned tasks and privacy and noise control.

On building efficiency (room space arrangement, access to co-workers, and availability for non-public use), 75% of the respondents felt that their work space was not efficiently arranged due to the physical restrictions of the room and not because teachers did not know how to arrange their space.

Harvey then presented the results of a facility assessment appraisal completed by administrators Larry Taylor, Ted Cotton, Charles Floyd, maintenance supervisor Ray Don Myers and himself. The purpose of the appraisal was to evaluate many specific items in six categories: school site, structural and mechanical, plant maintainability, school building safety, educational adequacy and environment for education.

On the school site, there was an overall approval rating of 80.6%, placing it in the satisfactory category. The points lost in this section were due to limited site expansion for any future growth and limited available space for special instructional needs.

On structural and mechanical features, there was a borderline rating of 57.8%. Points were lost due to the lack of a barrier free campus, inefficient student traffic flow, high energy consumption, limited variety of class sizes, outdated electrical service, drinking fountains not meeting the needs of the occupants, toilets not meeting Americans with Disabilities Act criteria, minimal or non-existent fire protection, poor intercom system, and few electrical outlets in classrooms.

Plant maintainability received a 73.8% score, placing it in the satisfactory category. Points were lost due to problems with the floors, built-in equipment that was difficult to maintain, floor materials that were difficult to clean, outdated toilet fixtures and limited electrical outlets in all areas of the building for maintenance equipment.

School building safety received a 70.12% score, which was just barely a satisfactory rating. Points were lost due to poor student loading and unloading areas, lack of an emergency lighting system, exterior doors that are difficult to open, use of a wood roof structure, outdated fire protection and detection systems, and limited areas for student safety in the event of natural disasters.

Educational adequacy received the lowest ranking (53.9%) of the survey. Points were lost due to lack of classroom variety, lack of privacy for individual students, lack of storage for students and teachers, poor special learning areas, poor library environment, no media storage, outdated science labs, limited technology instructional areas, outdated marker boards, limited display boards, poor teachers' work area, no privacy for counselors or administrators, and no suitable gathering area for students, teachers or visitors.

The environment for education section had a 61.5% total, which places it in the low range of the satisfactory category. Points were lost due to outdated classroom color schemes, poor year round comfort, lack of adequate common areas, congested student traffic flow, poor acoustics and outdated furniture.

Harvey then presented a report from Trinity Engineering Testing Corporation concerning portions of the original building floor slabs which are settling along the east wing of the building with as much as a two-inch difference from the corridor floor elevation to the lowest points of some classrooms. The report states: "Three hand-auger holes were drilled beneath the existing concrete slabs: two on the east and one on the west side of the corridor. All tests were under the original building, where damage is present. The floors that have settled are settling along the perimeter and crowning in the center. The crowns appeared to be slightly higher than the corridor floor; the original floor elevation.

Soil under the slabs is Fat Clay and gravel. This is not the most desirable soil material under building slabs since it has a high swell and consolidation rate when exposed to moisture. It appears that damage is caused by water entering under the building slab and the utility tunnel under the corridor helps to separate water from the east reaching the west. We request that spot elevations be taken at the site to confirm settling and crown theories."

He also presented a report from Higgins and May Incorporated, consulting engineers from Lubbock, on plumbing, air conditioning/heating, lighting, power, fire alarm/clock and bell, and public address systems. The report concludes: "Existing plumbing fixtures do not meet current handicapped requirements. Existing plumbing fixture sizes do not meet the current occupant criteria. The science facilities do not comply with current TEA guidelines. Current hot water supply needs to be distributed to include all toilet facilities. Existing air conditioning systems are excessively noisy and high energy consumers. Current air distribution provides uneven air temperatures in rooms. There does not appear to be an outside air supply to each room. Current exhaust fan air exchanges in toilet rooms and lockers do not meet current code criteria. Current electrical service to the building is in violation of National Electric Code. Fire alarm system needs to be upgraded to meet ADA criteria. Current public address system is obsolete."

Following this lengthy report, the board asked Mr. Harvey if he had any preliminary estimates on the cost of remodeling the present facility. "At this point, I can only give you a very, very rough figure of approximately 1.3 to 1.6 million," he said. Several questions were asked regarding the price of a completely new structure. "Again, roughly figuring, I would estimate somewhere in the neighborhood of 2.1 to 2.3 million," Harvey remarked. "One other consideration on new construction would be whether you wanted to use the existing land for a new facility or build on another site."

Following additional board discussion concerning renovation versus a new building, the board members thanked Mr. Harvey for his report and requested that he obtain more accurate cost projections for remodeling or building a new school and make a report at their next regular meeting on Thursday, Nov. 16.

The members also discussed other program and facility needs presented by the district programs and facilities committee this past spring, and these included: remodeling and upgrading science labs at Ozona Middle and Ozona High School, purchase of new computer hardware and software for the four libraries in the district, installing of erasable marker boards in all classrooms in the four schools, classroom storage needs at Ozona Intermediate School, installing new seating in Davidson Gymnasium, replacement of wood boards with aluminum seating at Lion Stadium, replacement of lighting and fencing at the school tennis courts, a weight room with storage for track, football, tennis and stadium maintenance equipment at Lion Stadium, new classroom furniture, remodeling the girls' fieldhouse, and the need to make Davidson Gym ADA accessible.

Jeffrey Stuart, president of the Ozona Athletic Boosters Club, appeared before the board to express his group's willingness to contribute one-half the cost of installing a public address system in Davidson Gymnasium. Stuart presented a proposal from Electronic Specialties of San Angelo for an installed system price of $7,849 and a list of references from the company which included installed systems in Ozona (Fair Park Convention Center and Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church), San Angelo, Ballinger, Big Lake, Sonora and other area towns. Following discussion with Mr. Stuart, the board thanked him and the organization for its assistance and voted to purchase the sound system.

The board also approved an agreement with several property owners of land originally deeded to the district that is located south of Gurley Draw behind Ozona Primary School. Ownership of the property has been in question since E. M. Powell donated the land to the school system in 1912, and after the deed was recorded, portions of the property were sold by Mr. Powell's descendants to Ozona residents. Under the terms of the agreement, the school district will pay for a property survey and will give the occupants of the property six months to reimburse the district for their proportionate cost of the land, survey and the recording of their deeds. The price of the land will be at fair market value.

The members approved environmental science textbooks recommended by the district's textbook selection committee, a bid from Glasscock Chevrolet of Big Lake of two new school cars and a suburban vehicle, and an agreement to purchase attendance credits for the 1995-96 school year.

Superintendent Larry Taylor reported on the district enrollment and how it impacts the University Interscholastic League's district classification and re-alignment for the 1996-97 and 1997-98 school years. He said that this year Texas high schools will report student enrollment in grades 9, 10 and 11, and this total will be multiplied by a 1.33 factor to arrive at an average daily membership for 1995-96. Using Oct. 11 attendance figures results in an average daily membership of 295.26 for this school year and coupled with a 266.138 membership figure last year, the average for the two years will be around 280.699.

"In 1988-89 and 1989-90 the highest average daily attendance to remain in Class AA was 299; in 1990-91 and 1991-92 it was 284; in 1992-93 and 1993-94 it was 284; and in 1994-95 and 1995-96 it was 294; therefore, I feel we have a good chance to remain in Class AA for the next two years, but we will not know for certain until Feb. 1," he said.

Taylor also outlined procedures for delay or dismissal of school due to weather conditions. "If there is a question concerning possible weather conditions, Mr. Maldonado (school bus transportation supervisor) and I will begin at 4:15-4:30 a.m. driving the roads in and around Ozona and contacting the Texas Department of Public Safety and/or the Department of Public Safety to determine road conditions. Our decision must be made between 5:00-5:15 a.m. so we can contact bus drivers and our cafeteria personnel.

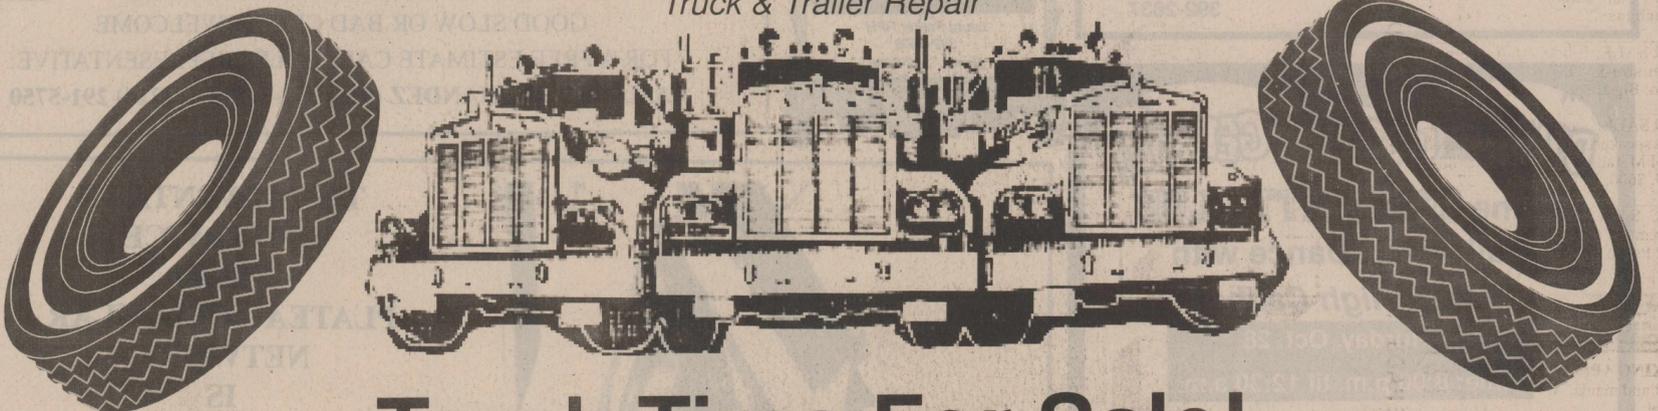

If the roads are dangerous due to ice and/or snow, I will then decide to either delay school anywhere from 30 minutes up to two hours. The amount of time school is delayed is based on our driving of the roads, information from TxDOT and/or DPS, and weather reports. If school must be delayed longer than two hours, I will need to cancel school for that day. We can delay up to two hours and still be credited with a full day of instruction.

If school has to be delayed or cancelled, I will call the radio station, the San Angelo television station, the Parent-Teacher Line, the Circle Bar Cable TV and The Ozona Stockman's Talking Newspaper; therefore, if there is any question concerning whether or not school will be delayed or cancelled, we ask all parents, staff and students to listen to KHOS on the radio, the weather channel on Circle Bar Cable TV, KLST television out of San Angelo or call the Parent-Teacher Line or the Talking Newspaper rather than calling the school. For school to be cancelled, the weather conditions will need to be very dangerous. Icy roads are the main concern. No one will be counted tardy on days that we delay the start of school, so they can take time to be cautious," Taylor explained.
