Lions pluck Owls

Ozona wins by extra-point kick

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

The Ozona Lions came away with a homecoming victory by a kick Friday night.

The Lions defeated Reagan County 7-6, picking up their second win of the season.

"Friday was another great example of how our kids will never quit. The team did an excellent job of continuing to play through the very last whistle and overcoming some adversity," said Coach Edward Perez.

Reagan County would score on their first possession with a one-yard run by L.J. De-Leon in the first quarter. The Owls' kicker missed the extra point, an error that would help the Lions later in the game.

The score would remain 6-0 until five minutes left in the game when quarterback Jadon Perez found Tommy Fay in the end zone on a 26-yard touchdown pass.

It was then up to kicker Francisco Rivera who nailed the extra point to give the Lions the one-point lead.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Town hall meetings to discuss the proposed new wellness center and the proposed new jail will be held next month.

A bond election will be held Nov. 3 for a new jail and wellness center.

The wellness center public meeting will be at 6 p.m. Oct. 13 at the Crockett County Civic Center.

The Crockett County Wellness Center Bond will be $4 million.

The proposed wellness center site is located across from the current Family Health Center of Ozona and the Crockett County Care Center. The land was donated by the J. Cleo Thompson Family. The proposed center will have a 2,486 square-foot indoor pool, locker rooms, three multipurpose rooms, an open gym area and walking trail.

The jail public meeting will be 6 p.m. Oct. 20 also at the Crockett County Civic Center.

This will be the second public meeting on the new jail. The first one was held in July.

The Crockett County Jail bond will be $6 million.

The proposed site for the 24-bed building is between the south softball field and the cemeteries.

For Crockett County taxpayers the increase in county tax will be $.063 or $.034, depending if the county chooses a five or 10 year payout. The monthly impact of tax rate increase on a county homeowner with a house at $50,000 market value is $1.13 to $2.11.

However, he was appointed to the position of county judge, due to a vacancy, before he was sworn in.

Murr was appointed to the Texas Judicial Council August 2015. The Texas Judicial Council, created in 1929, is the policy-making body for the state judiciary, studies and reports on the organization and practices of the Judicial Branch of Texas to state government.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thank you to everyone who contributed to the Nepal mission trip

Dear Editor,

This October I am traveling to the country of Nepal to fulfill one of my bucket list adventures to help others in need since after the devastating earthquake. This was a mission I was going to take on myself financially along with the students I host in Nepal but as soon as the word spread among my friends, businesses, churches and social media I now have over 200 plus folks and businesses that have donated to the cause. When I asked why my mission was important to them over hundreds of others taking place throughout the U.S. and their answer was because we know every penny we give you Terry will end up helping these folks with no office space to rent, no administration to pay and no salaries. I have lived here my entire life and can't say enough about the generosity of San Angelo, and the surrounding area, as of the end of September more than $10,200 has come in through the mail and the give forward website I have set up for this mission.

During the Nepal earthquake I, like many of you, could not believe the destruction that occurred in Kathmandu and the surrounding villages. In the days, weeks and months thereafter I became overwhelmed by how people did their very best to survive and pull through this tragedy including the students I host. I watched the stacks of bodies burn every day as the government ordered to do to avoid a wide spread of disease, the ATM machines, western union, money gram outlets were down for weeks so I could not even sent $100 to help the kids get home on their 14-hour bus ride to their family. For years these kids have been wanting me to visit but due to the 35 plus hours travel time I have hesitated until now. When talking to most of the students I had relationships with, I asked that if I come to visit I want to come make a difference even if its a small one so I asked the students what type of help could they most desperately need right now and they told me the help is needed in the outlying villages since most of the volunteers and support from around the world was being focused on the city of Kathmandu. The most immediate need was a way to cook food because they had all lost the rice pots they typically cooked with when they lost their homes made out of stone, mud and tin, many were sorting through trash cans just to find an empty can to cook some rice for the family. This took to my heart

New EPA rules threaten the Texas fracking boom

The American economic system has made the United States the world leader in abundant and low-cost energy, thanks in no small part to contributions from Texas. But new rules from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency pose a direct threat to our oil and natural gas revolution. Even worse, they are largely a Washington-designed solution still searching for a problem.

Thanks to technologies like hydraulic fracturing that were perfected in North Texas, America is the world's largest producer of oil and natural gas. By some estimates, the fracking boom has given America more than a 100 year-supply of low-cost natural gas.

Fracking, by unlocking enormous new supplies of clean-burning natural gas, helped the electricity-generating sector replace older coal-fired plants, reducing carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions to their lowest level in 20 years (on average, natural gas emits about half as much carbon as coal). The United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change has also credited fracking with reducing emissions in the U.S., which has led the world in reducing CO2 in recent years.

Simultaneously, technological innovations and enhanced regulations by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality have allowed more produced gas to be captured, reducing emissions of methane, another greenhouse gas.

According to the EPA's own data, natural gas producers have reduced methane emissions by 35 percent since 2007, even as production increased by more than 20 percent over the same period. EPA data also show methane emissions from fracking have fallen 73 percent from 2011 to 2013.

Instead of allowing these accomplishments to continue, EPA has decided to arbitrarily insert itself, unleashing a trifecta of unnecessary and costly regulations that drive up the cost of energy and slow new job creation. These include new mandates on methane emissions, ozone and carbon dioxide.

Regarding methane (the main component of natural gas), it is in the interest of the oil and natural gas industry to capture as much of it as possible. That's why EPA data show methane emissions declining. The industry's ability to continue reducing emissions. Financial analysts have already said that EPA's methane rule could wipe out smaller drillers, the same family-owned businesses that drill a significant number of wells here in Texas.

EPA is also pursuing a new mandate on ground-level ozone that is so extreme it has been called the most expensive regulation in history. Under this rule, some national parks would be out of compliance. People who want to invest in areas that don't meet EPA's standard - including the Metroplex, which is still struggling to meet the existing standard set in 2008 - will face tougher permitting and may have to provide offsets for any emissions.

Even though oil and gas development is only a minor contributor to ozone, EPA's rule would restrict drilling further, preventing us from producing our own energy. Curiously, the EPA is also moving forward with the Clean Power Plan to regulate carbon dioxide, which puts a bulls eye on the manufacturing and energy-driven economy of Texas. EPA has admitted cheap and abundant natural gas is critical for compliance, but if the EPA's methane and ozone rules restrict drilling, natural gas will be less available and more expensive, making compliance much harder.

Translation: higher energy bills for Texas families. Methane emissions are declining. Ozone levels have fallen by 17 percent since 2003, and carbon dioxide emissions are at a 20-year low. We all support cleaner air and smart regulations, but the EPA would do better to pursue a more balanced approach, and certainly one that doesn't threaten to undermine the significant progress already underway.

I hear that architects are putting porches back on houses these days, although they have no idea why. Mostly for decoration I'd say.

Country folks know why, because when the day is worn out...and so are they...the porch is the best seat in the house. You don't have to buy a ticket or a new dress to see a sunset.

I'm not sure that porches will work in the big city, it's just too darn noisy.

Besides, you're a better target for a drive-by shooting.

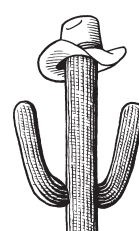

Sunset is supposed to be the hour of calm but city sounds are so unsettling. Car alarms go off constantly, grating on the nerves like a chain saw on a pipe but nobody pays any attention and so the burglars are free to do their after-hours shopping under cover of darkness. Back fire, gun fire, a scream in the dead of night.

When the rural sun sets at least you can see it. In the city when the sun and moon trade places a clear moonlit night may be obliterated by big buildings and bad air that's not fit to breathe. Better go hide in the house.

Good Night

IT'S THE PITTS

nature makes the music if there's any to be made. A calf calls for its mom, she answers back and you can almost hear them pairing up. If only it were so in the city. Country stillness is audible.

Wind rustles through the trees, hoot owls give a hoot, lambs bawl and bugs buzz. Crickets chirp, not talking heads on television. Inside a weather man warns about the "threat" of rain while outside the coyote's report is more reliable. If he wails it's going to pour, a shout and it will be dry. But you have to be wise enough to know the difference.

The rocking chair is still the best place to fall asleep during the decline of the day.

But urban bedclothes are not made for the city the night can actually be more stressful than the day.

Citified sunsets are filled with sounds of neighbors fighting, planes landing, beepers beeping, phones ringing, cars leaving rubber and trucks leaving town. Blaring boom boxes belt out music that would drive a wolf to commit suicide.

Beyond the city limits padding around on the porch. Thirsty mosquitoes find perfume and night gear from Victoria's Secret very enticing, even if your husband doesn't. Which brings up another point: evening porch time used to be for courtin' but we have somehow skipped that phase of falling in love. Too bad too, for those were some of the best hours of our lives.

City folks are always worried about their "night life." But it really isn't necessary to be doing anything as the air is being let out of the day. Evenings were made for solitude, cud chewing, swatting bugs, whittling, crocheting, cooling off and winding down. Conversation is usually limited to grunts and yawns. We just naturally know when it's time for bed, we don't need a curfew.

Missing sunsets is not city folks fault I guess. They have to live where there's a living. But sometimes I wonder if inner peace wouldn't be just as good as a bigger piece of the pie. When the sun and moon are trading places and tomorrow is turning into today the sun going down reminds us all that this day is gone forever. We take it for granted that the sun is shining on the other side of night but we ought to be enjoying life like this was our last sunset.

Go sit on the porch. Someday it will be.

Lawmakers get input on jails, suicide prevention

AUSTIN — The July 13, 2015, death of Sandra Bland, a woman arrested and jailed after a traffic stop in Waller County, has prompted meetings of Texas House and Senate committees. Bland, whose body was discovered in her jail cell three days after she was put in custody, was ruled a suicide.

Charged by the lieutenant governor to conduct an interim study, the Senate Criminal Justice Committee met for more than four hours on Sept. 22. The panel listened to invited testimony and discussed jail safety and inmate suicide prevention in county jails.

Under direction of Committee Chair Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston, the panel received input on how inmates are assessed and processed at intake, how inmate populations are grouped and managed based on risk category and mental health condition, and how jailers are trained.

Texas Department of State Health Services Assistant Commissioner for Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services Lauren Lacey-Lewis was one of many people to testify.

Lacey-Lewis said, of the entire county jail inmate population, you would expect some 30 percent to have a mental health illness, or about 20,000 inmates on any given day.

Each of Texas' 254 counties is within the catchment of a local mental health authority, Lacey-Lewis said, and those authorities provide inpatient and outpatient services and crisis intervention under contract or simply at the request of county jail authorities. She said the state health department is working to increase access to mental health crisis services across Texas.

A week earlier, on Sept. 15, the House County Affairs Committee met under the direction of Chairman Garnet Coleman, D-Houston. The panel received expert input on jail standards and procedures concerning the treatment of mentally ill inmates and on suicide prevention.

In a news release, Paxton said the case stems from a 2012 complaint by the Freedom From Religion Foundation against Kountze High School for allowing cheerleaders to print Bible verses on run-through banners at football games.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cody Hunnicutt

Ashley Nicole Wallace and John Cody Hunnicutt were married September 19, 2015, at the Hillery Phillips, Jr. Ranch, 40 miles southeast of Ozona, with Judge Brock Jones officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wallace of San Angelo. The bridegroom is the son of Ms. Carol McAlexander Hunnicutt of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. John Richard (Rick) Hunnicutt, Jr. of Ozona.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Courtney Mahaffey, Ms. Monin Ilaraza, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Regina Hartnett, and Mrs. Carolyn McCrea, all of San Angelo. Groomsmen were Mr. Cole Crenwelge of Ozona, Mr. Steve Mahaffey of San Angelo, Mr. W. C. Foster, of Del Rio, Mr. Will Hartnett, and Mr. Tanner McCrea, both of San Angelo. Serving as drivers and attendants were Mr. Drew Simmons and Mr. Trent Simmons, cousins of the groom from Austin. Serving as usher was Corbin Crenwelge. Ring bearer Guthrie McCrea, carried the rings on a beautiful crosscut tree slice, lovingly crafted by the bride's father. The rings were held in place by a black satin bow. Helen McCrea served as flower girl, meticulously placing red rose petals down the green grass aisle.

The bride wore a full length ivory Allure gown, in a gorgeous mermaid shape with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, and Swarovski crystal accents. The entire design was adorned with delicate lace applique on English net. She wore a classic pearl and diamond drop necklace with matching earrings, a gift from the groom. In addition to the beautiful bouquet of red roses, held with red satin ribbon and a round rhinestone pin, the bride held a handkerchief that was carried on the wedding days of the groom's grandmother, Benny Gail Phillips Hunnicutt, his mother, his aunt, and his sister.

The bridesmaids wore floor length black chiffon gowns in various designs, that fit each young woman's personal style. They carried bouquets of white roses held with red satin ribbon and matching rhinestone pins. The flower girl wore a red empire waist dress with a black satin sash, and carried a fancy white basket of red rose petals.

The groom, groomsmen, usher & ring bearer wore black tuxedos with suspenders and bow ties. The groom wore a full bloom red rose boutonniere; the others full bloom white rose boutonnieres. The groom also wore a striking watch, a gift from the bride. Drivers and attendants wore red checked shirts and khaki pants.

The ceremony took place on the lawn of the Hillery (Buddy) Phillips, Jr. Ranch Headquarters. This ranch has been in the groom's family for over 105 years, and is currently owned by Ms. Hope Phillips, cousin of the groom. Originally it included what is now the Hunnicutt ranch, located just up the road. Guests arrived to a string trio playing classical music, along with the calming sound of water coming from a waterwheel, hand-made by Buddy Phillips, great-uncle of the groom. The trio continued to play as the ceremony began. Lush barrels of flowering plants decorated the altar, as the wedding party made their way onto the platform. Vintage doors, original to the ranch, set the stage for the bride's entrance. Escorted by her father, she walked through the doors, and the groom's eyes never left her. Cody and Ashley stood in the presence of God, their family and friends, and declared their vows. The ceremony ended with tears of joy and applause for the happy couple.

Guests walked through lighted trees to the reception area. An antique dresser, rescued from the original ranch foreman's house, served as backdrop for the guest register, a fancy H canvas to sign with metallic gold ink pens. A lavish buffet was served, along with beautiful and delicious wedding cake. The four tier champagne infused white bride's cake was iced in combed buttercream with each layer outlined in fresh red carnations. The groom's Guinness chocolate cake was a two tier faux tree trunk design, marked with the Hunnicutt Ranch brand. A tented reception area, complete with chandeliers, protected guests from a light rain. Tables had centerpieces of red roses and red carnations, surrounded by candles. Personalized stemless wine glasses with red mesh candy bags were given as wedding favors. Cody & Ashley's first dance was to "Unchained Melody." She danced with her father to his favorite song, "What a Wonderful World." DJ, Wylie Wagner kept the celebration going as guests danced, visited, and enjoyed the photo area, complete with props for added fun. Following the traditional cutting of the cake and bouquet toss, honor attendants Cole and Monin each gave lovely toasts.

The evening concluded with lavender being tossed on the bride & groom. Guests cheered as the limousine made its way down the drive and through the bumpgate.

OZONA SENIOR HAPPENINGS

Movies every Thursday afternoon

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

Everyone that worked on this year's homecoming really did a great job. The bonfire was hot as always, the parade was wonderful and the game was beyond exciting. Students, parents and teachers deserve a big hand for all their hard work.

I have not heard anything from the GED classes that Howard College is furnishing for those that are interested. They contacted me and said they would let me know when they found a teacher and with more information. I will post this information when I get it.

The next Bingo Social will be 6:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 19. We will be serving spaghetti and meat sauce with salad, garlic bread and peach cobbler. Hope to see all of you here for this. Don't forget your prize must be worth $5-$10 and one prize for each person playing.

The movie will be Thursday, Oct. 1, will be "Dirty Dancing" starring Patrick Swayze and Jennifer Gray. Another oldie but goody. This is a repeat, I know, but due to personal problems we didn't get to have the movie last week. Don't miss it. Come on out and enjoy yourself with popcorn and drinks at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Don't forget the Thunderbird. They are available to help you get around. Just give them a call and leave a message.

Be sure to say who you are and where you are. They will call you back. Call us at 392-9094 if you do not have their number.

Clean a ceiling fan with a pillowcase. This is so useful. Slide a pillowcase over each blade and wipe them clean. The dust goes in the pillow case and can be repeated until all the blades are clean. When you're done, take it outside and shake it to set those dust bunnies free once more.

Exercise - 9 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Bridge - 1:30 p.m. Mondays

Balance Exercise - 9 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays

Mexican Train - 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays

Prayer Group - 3 p.m. Wednesdays

Quilting - 9:30 a.m. Thursdays

Movies - 2 p.m. Thursdays

Come on out, the coffee is on.

OBITUARIES

Martha Louise Martin Haile

Martha Louise Martin Haile (Ludecke) was born August 19, 1929 in Dallas, Texas to Wesley Simpson and Diamond Orene McLeod Martin. Her life on this earth ended September 23, 2015 in the presence of a loving family.

Martha and her parents moved to Eunice, New Mexico at age 6 where she started first grade and graduated high school. The friends she went to school with remained lifelong friends. Martha met Van Haile at a street dance in Burnet, Texas where they said "it was love at first sight." They married November 12, 1948, and later had two daughters, Vanna Suzan and Debra K. Mom and Daddy always loved each other through good times and bad.

Mom spoke often of her favorite times when she was young. She loved horses and rode at the drop of a hat. She was an artist who never quite believed in herself, but there are a few drawings left which attest to her incredible talent. The country was her "holy ground." Martha often took advantage of any opportunity to escape to the country, go walking, sit and meditate then draw whatever she saw; trees, cactus, abandoned ranch houses, horse pens, rabbits, just anything that caught her eye. She drew paper dolls for my sister and me when we were little. You couldn't buy any as beautiful as those. Mom was spunky, sassy, funny, and let us get away with too much. She had lots of turmoil throughout her life but never complained. Even the last few years when she was bed-ridden, could not do anything for herself, she never complained. She kept her wit and sass, her fabulous sense of humor to the end. The last end. She met death face to face on several occasions; apparently it was not yet her time as she returned to us over and over again.

She was preceded in death by her parents, a half-brother, Wesley Simpson Martin of Brady, Texas and our daddy, Van Haile.

Survivors include daughters Vanna Jones and husband Tony and Debbie Bohl and husband Gene; granddaughters Lori Murray and husband Jody, Jennifer Jones, Courtney Orr and husband Justin, Megan Nowell and husband Jimmy; great-grandchildren Cambry Sanchez and husband Rudy, Ashley Mowrey Rivera and husband Robert, Michaela Mowrey Allison and husband Jeff, Wade and Carson Halterman and Tell Nowell and great-great-grandchildren Jayde Mowrey, Adalyn Allison and Leah Grace Sanchez. Martha is also survived by the loving staff of the Crockett County Care, her roommate, Mildred "Mimi" Hignight and a wealth of precious friends.

Mom leaves a legacy of love, laughter, finding the good in any situation. However, she said if you can't find anything good to say, keep quiet because "I don't want to hear it and neither does anyone else!" We will miss her deeply yet all are grateful to have had her as long as we have. Thanks for the lessons and the memories Mom. As you soar with the angels, show 'em that spunky, sassy, delightful being that is the essence of you. See you "that day."

Thanks to Hospice of San Angelo for the incredible care they provided Mom, all four times. Hospice angels, you are amazing! Dr. Marcus Sims and Ike Whitten, P.A., we so appreciate your care of Ms. Martha. Thank you to each and every staff member at the Crockett County Care Center, Ozona, Texas. Never have I seen a more loving, caring, "nursing home." You truly go above and beyond. We have not had a moment's concern regarding mom's well being. HOSA and CCC between your two agencies, we have been able to rest easy these last years. For that priceless gift we can never thank you enough. A special thank you to HOSA Aides Rosemarie Romero and Cristy Rodriguez for the tender care shown on each visit. You're both amazing.

Funeral services were Saturday, September 26, at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Ozona, Texas. Arrangements by Kerbow Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Jody Murray, Jimmy Nowell, Justin Orr and Wade Halterman. Online condolences can be made at www.kerbowfuneralhome.com

Memorials may be made to Hospice of San Angelo, the Crockett County Care Center, or the charity of your choosing. God bless you all.

MAPLE SYRUP

Last week while visiting another town I found myself going up and down the aisles in a large supermarket. I was looking for a few special items for my loved ones. I was looking for was a couple of avocados for my wife because she likes them very much. I was also looking for a little bottle of maple-flavored syrup for my grandchildren's because when they come over to visit they always ask me to make pancakes for them. In trying to find those little gifts or surprises for the ones I love it reminded me of a similar situation in heaven. God our Father in heaven wants to give us good things, (James 1:17). Of course, the greatest gift He gave to us was His Son Jesus who died for our sins, (John 3:16, 4:10, 6:32-35). I don't try to go out or buy special gifts for everybody just for those that I have a special relationship with. God loves everybody, (Romans 5:8-11) but he has a special or different love and relationship with those that have asked forgiveness for their sins and asked Christ Jesus to be their Lord and Savior, (John 1:12). The Bible talks about that relationship or those that have obeyed and those that haven't (Psalm 34:8-16, Ecclesiastes 2:26) Why not start with God's greatest gift to us and go on from there. See you in Church next Sunday.

Celebrate Banned Books Week

BY LOUISE LEDOUX
CROCKETT COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

"Much speech is protected that is not wholesome or uplifting. The court was merely saying that the choice as to whether to engage in or receive such speech should be made by us, not by government." - First Amendment attorney Steven Helle on the June 27 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that video games are fully protected speech, even with regard to minors, Chicago Tribune, June 29.

"Don't just teach your children to Read, teach them to Question what they read. Teach them to question Everything!" - George Carlin Censorship of all kinds is an ongoing attack on our freedoms.

Banned Books Week is an annual event sponsored by the American Library Association celebrating the freedom to read.

Typically held during the last week of September, it highlights the value of free and open access to information.

Banned Books Week brings together the entire book community - librarians, booksellers, publishers, journalists, teachers, and readers of all types - in shared support of the freedom to seek and to express ideas, even those some consider unorthodox or unpopular.

The books featured during Banned Books Week have all been targeted with removal or restrictions in libraries and schools.

While books have been and continue to be banned, part of the Banned Books Week celebration is the fact that, in a majority of cases, the books have remained available.

This happens only thanks to the efforts of librarians, teachers, students, and community members who stand up and speak out Ozona won the boys title with 37 points.

This was the Lions third straight meet win. The Lions again placed five runners in the top 15.

Boys' team standings were - 1. Ozona, 37; 2. Miles, 54; 3. Comstock, 65.

"This was a good race that had most of our district opponents and several of our regional opponents as well. The race was about 250 meters longer than normal, so we did have some slower times, but were able to put in some really good work," said Coach John Esparza. "Again, we were very proud of how our kids represented the community and we continue to get better each week. We have a few injuries that we are trying to overcome, but overall we are improving each week."

The OHS Teams will run in Round Rock Saturday.

offensive line exploding off the ball, and our skill players executing a new blocking scheme on the edge to get the offense moving," Perez said.

The Owls would drive the ball with a minute left in the game, but the Lions defense held them back to seal the win.

"Defense flew around and got the ball carries and quarterback when needed," Perez said. "A tremendous team effort to bring us to win number two."

Kalen Perez had three carries and rushed for 75 yards. Jaden Perez had 72 yards passing and one interception. Fay caught the ball two times for 59 yards.

The Lions are now 2-3 heading into their final non-district game against Eldorado this week. The Eagles are also 2-3 coming off a 33-27 loss to Roscoe.

Kickoff is 7:30 p.m. Friday at Eldorado.

"Each of our kids is understanding their role more and more each week, and I believe we are on the rise. Our focus this week will of course not having a lull in our attitudes, and play after such an emotionally and physically draining ball game," Perez said. "The fans once again come early and stayed late to help us on to victory. Nothing like our Lion fans."

OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL TECHNOLOGY

Not too late to join math, science and robotics teams

BY JASON DAVIS
OZONA MIDDLE SCHOOL

By the time you read this there will only be a few days left in the first six weeks. Please encourage your student to attend school every day. School is a way to help students phase into the real world. We all want our students to be good workers in the future who are punctual and have good communication skills and make sure to get the job done to the highest standards.

Please sit down with your student and share with them that being a competent student will help them to become a competent worker. Students who take school seriously and study hard and turn their work in on time are on a solid path to a good life after high school.

The second part of the Robotics competition this year is called Invention. Unlike Arena the Invention competition is very open-ended. Arena is narrowly focused on tasks and scoring points where Invention involves solving problems. The students will present a real world problem to a panel of judges, and they will make a model of that problem scaled down to the Lego robot. The students will use their robot to solve the problem. Robots and machinery have important functions in our everyday lives that we may not think about. They can be used for jobs that would require many workers to complete such as aerial work platforms or cranes that lift construction workers and materials high into the air; dangerous situations such as radioactive materials or high temperature situations such as a steel mill; and jobs that would take an almost endless amount of time to complete such as making copies or analyzing data with computers.

Over the next couple of months we will evaluate our teams and move some groups into the Invention category. The Arena category is maxed out at 16 students per campus, so we will likely end up with two invention teams. Teams have a financial limit that they can spend on materials, but this route has potentially big rewards for student imagination and creativity.

It is not too late to join the Math and Science UIL/TMSCA events and Robotics. I urge students to come to a practice or two and at least give it a shot.

The opportunities in the Middle School age group are limited to district meets for athletics, but in these academic events students have a chance to make it to state and compete against students from everywhere in Texas and multiple classifications (1A through 6A).

Schedule Reminders: Number Sense on Mondays from 3:40 to 4:30 p.m.; Science on Mondays from 7 to 8 p.m.; Calculator during lunch on Mondays and Tuesdays (when students go to lunch they are to go to the front of the line and take their lunch trays to Mr. Graves' room for practice); Mathematics from 3:40 to 4:20 p.m. on Tuesdays and Robotics on Wednesdays from 3:40 to 5 p.m. Students who are only in Robotics are welcome to come work on their robots quietly on Mondays and Tuesdays while the other practices are occurring.

Texas Parks & Wildlife launch party Oct. 15

BY SHANON BIGGERSTAFF
OZONA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

On Thursday, Oct. 15, Ozona will host a launch party for Texas Parks & Wildlife, who plans to unveil the recently published Heart of Texas West Map.

One of nine in the Great Texas Wildlife Trails Program, these wildlife and birding maps will guide you to the best nature viewing spots in the state.

The Heart of Texas West Map stretches north from San Angelo down south to Laredo, west from Ozona to as far east as Austin.

Included in the map are 12 separate loops, or trails, each of which encompasses an array of wildlife, nature and birding sites.

The map furnishes information about trail locations, detailed instructions on how to reach each site and GPS coordinates where available.

Festivities, open to the

THE TEXAS CAMEL CORP will be bringing two camels, Richard and Xi'an! with whom you can visit, or take a "selfie."

general public and at no charge, will begin at 1 p.m. at the Ozona Chamber of Commerce and Visitor Center.

Texas Parks & Wildlife will make their formal announcements at 1:30 p.m., followed by an opportunity for guests to get a preview of the different attractions available to visit in West Texas.

Ever wondered what the role of the camel was in West Texas? Stop by and visit with the Texas Camel Corps and get a "selfie" with one of two camels Richard or Xi'an.

Look for a tent and a representative of Fort Lancaster who will talk with you about the history of the west and the fort.

Walk through the Crockett County Interpretive Trail. This exhibit is an interpretation of plant material in its native habitat within a 100 mile radius of Ozona.

The trail includes a Rain Harvest Exhibit explaining the process of collecting water for landscaping, livestock watering or home use. There is also a wildlife viewing area and watering hole for birds and butterflies.

If you're more adventurous, look for the jeeps and motorcycles on site to learn about the Escondido Draw Recreation Area, an off-road vehicle park located just 20 miles west of Ozona.

If east is your direction of choice, you may want to visit with a representative of the Caverns of Sonora.

Looking for a place where you can sleep under the stars or just enjoy the great outdoors?

There will be three Nature Tourism Resorts represented to talk about the many available activities at their locations.

Are you the batty type? If so you will enjoy a chat with the staff of the Devil's Sinkhole.

These and many more attractions will have a display or exhibit set-up waiting to share the details of their sites.

For more information, call the Ozona Chamber of Commerce and Visitor Center at (325) 392-3737 or visit www.ozona.com.

Commissioners approve road report

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

The Crockett County Commissioners' Court approved their commissioners' road report at a special meeting Monday night.

The road report is one that must be approved by the end of September due to the Texas Department of Transportation's Transportation Infrastructure Fund Grant.

Crockett County was approved to receive around $2.2 million from the County Transportation Infrastructure Fund Grant Program.

The Legislature approved the program in 2013 to address county roads affected by energy development, particularly those counties in South and West Texas seeing the most drilling activity. The funds will be used to pave and repair county roads.

County Road 109 has been finished through the grant.

County Roads 209 and 107 have been approved for repairs, and work on those roads should begin early in October, said Commissioner Pleas Childress III.

At a special called meeting held on Sept. 24, the commissioners approved specifications and putting out for bids on a new roof at the Crockett County Courthouse Annex.

The commissioners will meet at noon Oct. 14 to open, and approve, the roof bids.

Also at the Sept. 24 meeting, the commissioners approved the TxDOT Ramp Grant for the Ozona Airport.

TxDOT administers the Routine Airport Maintenance Program (RAMP), which matches local government grants up to $50,000 for basic improvements such as parking lots, fencing, and other airside and landside needs.

The next regular commissioners' court meeting will be 9 a.m. Oct. 12 at the courthouse annex. The meeting is open to the public.

Texas ag leadership program seeking applicants

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas Agricultural Lifetime Leadership Program is seeking applicants for its new class, which will begin in July 2016.

TALL is a two-year leadership development program managed by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service. Applications for the new class, Class XV, are due March 15.

The application forms are online at <http://tall.tamu.edu>.

"The agriculture industry constantly faces new and unique challenges, and there is a need for individuals who have leadership potential to serve in decision-making positions. TALL graduates provide a new pool of proven leaders that can provide the leadership, insight, knowledge and direction to ensure that agriculture is viable in the future," said Dr. Jim Mazurkiewicz, AgriLife Extension leadership program director.

The program invests 455 hours of intensive training per person in seminars, speakers and domestic and international study trips over two years, Mazurkiewicz added.

It is equivalent to the time spent obtaining a master's degree in agriculture.

The typical class size is about 26, and tuition is $3,000.

"The mission of the program is to create a cadre of Texas leaders to ensure effective understanding and encourage positive action on key issues, theories, policy and economics that will advance the agriculture industry," Mazurkiewicz said.

Participants include traditional crop producers, ranchers, bankers and attorneys, as well as those who work in lumber, food processing, agricultural corporations and horticultural industries, he said.

The new facility is estimated to have a $153,000 increase on the county's operating costs due to adding five employees and it being a larger facility. For the taxpayer, this would be at most an increase of $.35 a month.

The two bonds will be separate items on the ballot. Early voting in the bond election will be 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Oct. 19-30 at the courthouse annex.

Election Day voting will be 7 a.m.-7 p.m. Polling locations are Precinct 1 - Crockett County Courthouse; Precinct 2 - Crockett County Senior Center; Precinct 3 - Crockett County Civic Center; Precinct 4 - Ozona Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center.

The last day to register to vote in the Nov. 3 election is Monday, Oct. 5. Crockett County residents can register at the county tax office. For more information about voting in Texas, visit vote.texas.gov.
