Crockett County voters pass jail, wellness center bonds

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Crockett County voters passed a $6 million bond for a new jail and a $4 million bond for a new wellness center Tuesday.

Final total for the jail was 485 for and 250 against. Early voting numbers were 250 for and 131 against. Precinct 1 voters had 43 for, 32 against; Precinct 2 83 for, 26 against; Precinct 3 72 for, 48 against and Precinct 4 37 for, 13 against.

Final total for the wellness center was 425 for and 312 against. Early voting numbers were 220 for and 162 against. Precinct 1 46 for, 30 against; Precinct 2 66 for, 43 against; Precinct 3 70 for, 52 against and Precinct 4 23 for, 25 against.

The $6 million jail bond will be for a new facility proposed south of Ozona off of State Highway 163 between the cemeteries and south softball field.

The new jail was proposed due to the conditions of the current jail.

Sheriff Robert Rodriguez said that the current jail has been moved down from a 72-hour holding facility to a 48-hour holding facility due to the Texas Jail Commission.

The proposed wellness center location is across from the current Family Health Center of Ozona and the Crockett County Care Center. The land has been given to the Crockett County Wellness Center Board by the J. Cleo Thompson Family.

With both bonds passing, the tax increase will be $.103 per $100 valuation.

All seven state constitutional amendments appeared headed toward passage Tuesday evening as of press time.

The amendments included measures aimed at cutting property taxes, boosting funding for road projects and reiterating Texans' right to hunt and fish.

Crockett County voters passed all seven amendments. Local state constitutional amendments results were: Proposition 1 530 for, 148 against; Proposition 2 600 for, 77 against; Proposition 3 414 for, 260 against; Proposition 4 474 for, 194 against; Proposition 5 528 for, 162 against; Proposition 6 604 for, 89 against and Proposition 7 530 for, 141 against.

Total registered voters for Crockett County is around 2,700.

Fire Ball benefit dinner and dance Saturday

The Firefighter's Fire Ball Benefit Dinner and Dance will be held from 6 p.m.-midnight Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Crockett County Fair Park Convention Center.

Cost is $50 per couple; $25 per person; $10 ages 7-18 and 6 under free.

Tickets are available at The Ozona Stockman, Triple C Hardware & Lumber, Petals & Pearls or at the door.

The Fire Ball tickets are available to everyone not just firefighters.

Semi formal dress is encouraged but not required.

The event will also feature door prizes and a silent auction.

All proceeds to benefit the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department.

Entertainment for the dance is Case Hardin of San Angelo.

Hardin grew up with a ranching and rodeo background while developing a love for neo-traditional and Texas country music.

He began his music career his senior year of high school in 2013, and hasn't looked back since his American Idol debut that same year.

Backed by his Day Money Band (which includes band members anywhere from Neil McCoy to Reba McEntire), his influences are very recognizable in the way that he plays, from classic country greats like Merle Haggard and Conway Twitty all the way to performers like George Strait, Tracy Byrd, Cody Johnson, and Brooks & Dunn.

Hardin, 19, currently attends Angelo State University and plans to study law while still playing music and shows all across Texas.

With many more shows available in the future spanning across the state, Case Hardin's ultimate goal is to have the public associate his

Commissioners approve care center roof plan

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

The Crockett County Commissioners approved a plan, and to advertise for bids, for a new roof for the Crockett County Care Center, Clinic and West Texas Rehab Center.

The commissioners held a special meeting on Oct. 28. County Judge Fred Deaton abstained from voting on the motion due to a conflict of interest.

Jason Clinton with SKG Engineering presented the roofing plan to the court. He said some of the utilities on top of the buildings will have to be relocated and the air conditioner units on top of the Rehab building will have to be replaced.

Clinton also said trees would need to be trimmed back due to leaves on top of the current roof.

He said his best guess at an estimated cost would be $500,000.

Earlier this month, the commissioners approved a $90,000 bid for a new roof on the courthouse annex.

The county has $622,000 budgeted for both projects.

Clinton said the care center roof project is quite a bit larger with a lot more items. The project will take about a month to complete.

Clinton said he is hoping to have the bids approved before the end of the year.

The commissioners set Nov. 23 as the day to meet and open bids.

INTERNET SERVICE

At a special called meeting on Monday, Nov. 2, the commissioners approved to increase the bandwidth in adding new internet service to the care center, clinic and EMS buildings.

They also approved to have the Crockett County Public Library connected to T1 fiber optic lines.

Last month, the commissioners approved an agreement with Global Data Technology to install and provide fiber optic internet service for the courthouse, courthouse annex, sheriff's office, fire department, clinic, EMS and care center.

At Monday's meeting, EMS Coordinator Eddie Martin said if the bandwidth was increased with the care center, clinic and EMS buildings, officials from Shannon Medical Center said they would be willing to partner with Crockett

ANTHONY - After traveling six hours by bus, the Ozona Lions were determined the long trip back was going to be victorious.

The Lions came home with a 21-14 overtime win over the Anthony Wildcats.

The thrilling game was the first district win this season for the Lions.

Ozona is now 1-2 in district play and 3-6 overall heading into this week's final regular season match against McCamey.

"The Anthony game was a great win for our kids, coaches, community and definitely our die hard fans that made the trip all the way there," said

TOMMY FAY scored two touchdowns for the Lions during Friday's game against Anthony. Ozona won 21-14 in overtime.

Making the best of a bad situation

Suppose the Texas agriculture commissioner had to recuse himself from any regulation of beef, or the state comptroller had to stay out of any tax cases involving motor fuel.

Strange, right? Attorney General Ken Paxton is in that kind of a box right now. Paxton, a McKinney Republican who has been the state's top lawyer since January, was indicted this year on securities charges. He has said he is innocent and expects to be acquitted, but you know what they say about the speed of the wheels of justice.

This is going to take a while.

In the meantime, Paxton is still the state's attorney general, and he's a busy one, too, churning out legal actions and news releases to announce them several times a week.

Except on securities law. That's not a big part of the Texas attorney general's business, but it is his job to represent the state in those matters, whether they come to him from the State Securities Board, as consumer actions or from something else.

As first reported by Texas Lawyer, Paxton's office is routing some things to Chip Roy, his first assistant attorney general, and others: matters pertaining to his pending charges or any of the five law firms representing him against those charges, and anything involving the State Securities Board or the Texas Ethics Commission, the paper said.

It's not ideal, but the Office of the Attorney General is one of those agencies that can run pretty well when the boss is gone. You wouldn't know it from the news releases — that's what they're for, after all — but most of the work is done by people down the line, whether it's litigation or child support, open records or whatever.

Texas law doesn't even require the attorney general to be an attorney.

It would probably be hard to get a nonlawyer through an election — or even a political debate — but the requirements tell you something about the job. The AG doesn't have to go to court or read law to do the job. The AG just has to manage the people who do those things, deciding what they should concentrate on and making decisions when needed.

Truth be told, the first assistant to the attorney general already does a lot of that work.

STATE ANALYSIS

The last time a Texas AG was indicted while in office — Jim Mattox, a Democrat, was charged with commercial bribery in 1983 — he stayed on as AG and let others handle much of the work until he was acquitted. Mattox got re-elected in 1986, a reminder that charges like these are not always politically fatal.

Paxton is charged with acting as a securities investment adviser without registering — a third-degree felony — and on two counts of felony securities fraud. Prosecutors allege he offered to sell two people more than $100,000 worth of stock in Servery, a tech firm, while not disclosing to those buyers that the company was compensating him.

Partisans on the other side have gone predictably bonkers about his recusals, suggesting that Paxton should quit his office because of the indictments. That's politics. Paxton isn't going to quit. Mattox didn't quit, either.

And if he did quit, his top aides would run the AG's office until a new boss came in. Just like they're doing right now with some of the work there, and just as they will be doing if and when Paxton goes to trial and has his hands full with that.

It's not normal to have a statewide officeholder serving while under indictment — not in Texas, anyhow — but it happens. The people whose names aren't on agency letterheads keep doing what they do whether the boss is soaring or nose-diving. They run their agencies, and the state doesn't screech to a stop.

And consider the alternative: What if Paxton hadn't recused himself from matters that might be conflicts of interest? We'd have the indictments, the trial, and then the state would have to unwind whatever tangle was created by those conflicts.

Sometimes, governing means choosing the lesser of two messes.

Empty Saddles

IT'S THE PITTS

LEE PITTS

I find this hard to believe but it's been theorized that the equine species never bucked until it arrived in North America. This theory is largely based on the writings of a Greek cowboy philosopher named Xenophon who was the Buck Brannaman of his generation. He wrote volumes about horses 25 centuries ago but never once mentioned that any of them bucked.

When the Aztecs first saw Cortes and his gang riding horses they thought it was one animal that had the ability to come apart and go back together again. The Aztecs never mentioned seeing a horse buck either. In fact, in all the ancient wars in Europe, Africa, and Asia there is not one mention of a bucking horse. That is, until America began sending them horses. There was not even a word that means "to buck" in the many European, African and Asian dialects. In other words, besides many other American inventions we gave the world, add to the list bronc busters, peelers, twisters, and scratchers.

We don't know if the first version of the American horse 13,000 years ago bucked because before the caveman was able to mount up the horse became extinct on this continent. No doubt because there was no Endangered Species Act to protect it. (Just kidding.) It was the horse.2 version that picked up the bucking habit. Speaking of bad habits, horses didn't collect shoes either like some Nordstrom-shopping-women do until some bad-backed American blacksmith invented horseshoes.

The theory is American mustangs first started bucking because cougars waiting in trees would jump on their backs and the horses would then buck to get rid of them. But didn't Africa have big cats too? Why didn't their horses buck? Perhaps it was the methods used by early bronc busters who were under so much pressure to produce rideable horses quickly that they created bucking horses in the process. I've read that one third of horses broke to ride in this manner were killed.

After bucking broncs were created early cowboys then had to come up with ways to make them stop, like using mane hairs to tie heavy bolts and washers in the bronc's mane so that every time it jumped it knocked itself silly with rusty hardware.

Personally, I'm thankful we created horses that buck otherwise we wouldn't have the greatest license plate in all the land, Wyoming's. We'd have never heard of Casey Tibbs or the Etbauer brothers, rodeo would be missing a third of its events, and Charles Russell would have run out of good material to paint or sculpt. The English language would be devoid of such phrases as bite the dust, chewing gravel, kissing the ground, huntin' leather, pickin' daisies or hoppin' for mamma.

Like me, Henry Miller was a big fan of bucking horses too. Miller was a German butcher who put together the Miller and Lux outfit with over a million acres. The story is told about the time he went to look at a bunch of horses to buy. He pointed to a horse and told the young son of the owner to fetch that particular horse. The kid, wanting to impress the Cattle King, quickly haltered the horse and went out of his way to show how gentle the horse was.

Miller asked, "Are they all that gentle? Do they buck?"

The young man assured Miller that their horses were gentle and never bucked. Despite these claims and the quality of the horses, the Cattle King didn't buy any horses that day, telling the owner, "I don't want horses that gentle. They can be too easily caught and horse thieves would soon steal every one of them. They are shepherd's horses."

Just think, if horses didn't buck I wouldn't have scars all over my body to prove I was a cowboy after fallin' from outer space and landing in rock piles. I'm not ashamed to say I've been dusted, dumped, piled, spilled, shrugged, greased and folded over in every style imaginable. I'll never forget the first time I was dumped off one damnable desperado. I paid my entry fee and would have made the buzzer if it weren't for one terrible jolt that registered 7.0 on the Richter scale and sent a lightning rod out the top of my head when I finally landed there in front of the grocery store.

Governor rails against Dallas sheriff's detention policy

AUSTIN — Gov. Greg Abbott on Oct. 26 wrote to Dallas County Sheriff Lupe Valdez, saying her "case-by-case immigrant detention plan will no longer be tolerated in Texas."

Under the sheriff's current policy, an undocumented person who committed minor offenses is not held past their release date an extra 48 hours for federal immigration authorities.

Abbott accused Valdez "of refusing to automatically detain all criminal immigrants pursuant to the U.S. Immigration & Customs Enforcement's (ICE) federal detainer program, which is designed to prevent dangerous criminals from being released into communities."

The governor said actions the State of Texas could take to combat such policies are:

- Passing laws that prohibit any policy or action that promotes sanctuary to people in this state illegally.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Ed Sterling | Texas Press Association

- Enacting laws that make it illegal for a sheriff's department to not honor a federal immigration detainer request.

- Evaluating the extent to which local taxpayers should foot the bill for local decisions that increase costs for Texas' health and education systems.

- Amending the Tort Claims Act to ensure counties are fully financially responsible for the actions of any illegal immigrants who are released because the county's sheriff failed to honor an ICE detainer request.

AG SEEKS TO INTERVENE

Last week, the Texas Attorney General's Office filed court papers requesting to intervene in the City of Austin's lawsuit against the Travis County Appraisal District.

In its lawsuit filed Aug. 25, the capital city is appealing

"systematic undervaluation" of certain commercial properties by the county appraisal district. The city alleges the appraisal district's action shifts the tax burden to residential homeowners and thus is in violation of the state constitution.

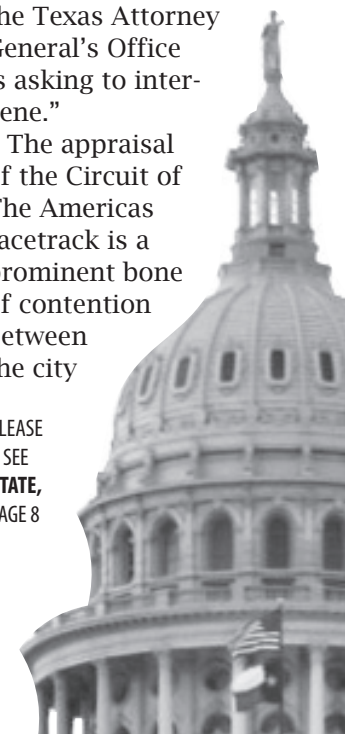

According to an Oct. 29 news release by Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton, "Austin is attempting to invalidate Texas' non-disclosure law, which prevents taxing authorities from forcing property owners to disclose personal information regarding purchases and sales. Doing away with this protection would affect all Texas property owners, commercial and residential alike."

Further, the news release said, "The district court barred Texas homeowners from intervening in the lawsuit. Because the city is attempting to rewrite Texas tax law and taxpayers are entirely unrepresented, the Texas Attorney General's Office is asking to intervene."

The appraisal of the Circuit of The Americas racetrack is a prominent bone of contention between the city

Baggett elected to SWCD Board of Directors

Jack Baggett, Jr. of Ozona was elected to represent subdivision #3 of the Crockett County Soil and Water Conservation District #235. The Crockett County SWCD's headquarters is located in Ozona at 201-D 11th St.

JACK BAGGETT JR.

Baggett lives on and operates his family ranch south of Ozona.

In addition to his agricultural enterprise, Baggett is currently Chairman of the Crockett County Appraisal Review Board and Chairman of the Methodist Church Foundation.

He previously served on the Crockett County CCSD School Board, Crockett County Hospital Board and the Ozona Chamber of Commerce.

The Crockett County SWCD's purpose is to make available to local landowners and operators technical, financial and educational resources to help them to better conserve the soil, water and related resources which they manage or own.

The Crockett County SWCD is a political subdivision of state government and is divided into five subdivisions. Subdivision three's boundaries include the Southeastern part of the county south of Interstate-10 East, and east of State Highway 163 South.

Jack is welcomed back as a returning member of the board of directors. As a member of this board he will play a significant role in helping the entire board provide technical assistance to our district cooperators who wish to implement conservation programs on their land.

District convention report

BY CHARLOTTE HARRELL
TEXAS GARDEN CLUBS INC.

Town & Country Garden Club of Coleman and Cross Plains Garden Club jointly hosted a fantastic district convention Oct. 29-30 with 41 members in attendance.

Charlotte Harrell, Pamela Maresch and Rosalind Williams represented the Ozona Garden Club.

A pre-convention shopping spree in the old, newly revitalized downtown Coleman, registration for the convention at the historic Miller Library building, and an Italian dinner at Rancho Pizzeria set the tone for a good convention on Friday at the First Methodist Church of Coleman.

Our hosts made the church's fellowship hall a delight with lovely table decorations.

The program of designs "From the Ranch" was prepared by Nan Markland, Alice Hemphill, Jane Padgett, Becky Greaves, Diana Miller and Sarah Stone. Each designer presented two designs each made from "found items" on their ranches or work rooms, proving that any old thing can become beautiful when creative imagination is sparked.

An extensive array of raffle items tempted everyone to buy lots of raffle tickets in an effort to raise funds for both District VIII and the garden clubs.

District Director Mary Perkins led the business meeting. After a presentation by Matt Lewis of the San Angelo Area Foundation, the district members voted to establish their scholarship fund with that institution, beginning with $10,300. It was also noted that the proceeds of any District VIII Life Memberships purchased at $50.00 each would be placed in the scholarship fund.

TGC District VIII members will be welcomed to Ozona March 3-4, 2016, for the spring convention.

Why bullies are like cancerous tumors

Bullying is the use of force, threat, or oppression to abuse, intimidate, or dominate others. Bullies are like cancerous tumors growing stronger at the expense of others.

Wikipedia explains, "One essential prerequisite is the perception, by the bully or by others, of an imbalance of social or physical power, which distinguishes bullying from conflict. Behaviors used to assert such domination can include verbal harassment or threat, physical assault or coercion, and such acts may be directed repeatedly towards particular targets. Rationalizations for such behavior sometimes include differences of social class, race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, appearance, behavior, body language, personality, reputation, lineage, strength, size or ability."

Bullying may be one-on-one or more complex where the bully uses one or more 'deputies' who assist in their oppression. Members of certain belief systems can use bullying tactics to persuade others to subscribe to their ways of thinking.

We wonder how can someone allow their beliefs to extend to such unreasonable extremes that they can justify bullying others but studies indicate envy and resentment can be enough to bring the bully out of a person. Some bullies are arrogant and self-absorbed or they may lash out to conceal shame or anxiety, or to raise self-esteem: they are rewarded by demeaning others. They may simply be jealous or because they themselves were or are bullied.

Psychologist Roy Baumeister asserts, "People who are prone to abusive behavior tend to have inflated but fragile egos. Because they think too highly of themselves, are frequently offended by the criticisms and lack of deference of other people, and react to this disrespect with violence and insults."

It can seem as though they have conceived beliefs that have made them grow ill and diseased, and are determined to infect others.

Truth is the only real defense when confronting reality.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

JIM FISH

The concept of truth is very basic and can only be experienced by our several senses, yet unable to be conceived or explained in any terms the human mind can muster or relate. Therefore, any correspondence, language, concept or thought is a theory of truth, at best.

That which is true, or real, exists whether anyone believes it or not. It simply, 'is'. That which is not real requires at least one mind to believe it to be true.

The best defense against bullying is realizing you are truth...if for no other reason, you exist. The ill-conceived concepts of bullies have nothing to do with you. Oppressive persons act from a reality they, and they alone, have created and have plague-ridden any semblance of the truth as they know it. Our minds have the capacity to discern the truth as it applies to each of us.

Many of us have insecurities, doubts and fears that invade our minds and can obstruct what we have to create and strengthened as our real selves. Bullies thrive in these conditions.

Ask yourself, "What would I do if I were not convinced of this bully's assertions, or if I weren't frightened?" ... and do it, or seek help. Defend yourself against assault, or seek help if you lack the ability.

Here's to our health,

JIM FISH is an Integrative Nutrition Health Coach. He will be glad to answer any specific health questions to the best of his ability. Email with "Here's to Our Health" in the subject to jimfish@usa.com, or write to Jim Fish, PO Box 905, Ozona, Texas 76943

TAKING OUT THE TRASH

It can be a source of irritation for many marriages. Especially when the subject arises about who will take the trash out and when it should be taken out. I can't believe how much trash and garbage accumulates around here on a daily basis. Our little trashcan in the kitchen seems to stay perpetually full. I don't know when I have gone by and found it empty. I can take it out in the morning and come by later on that day and it is already filling up again. Our kitchen trashcan reminds me of a problem Christians face in life. Hauling out or getting rid of the daily sins we commit. If we say we don't have any sins the Bible says we are deceiving ourselves, (1 John 1:8 & 10). I have found that in everyday life they just sort of build up or accumulate. If we don't deal with them, they will overwhelm us. I have also found that just like the trash that if my sins, (1 John 1:9) are dealt, (confessed) with frequently, (at least daily) they are not such a problem. The only reason God the Father can forgive our sins is because of what Jesus Christ did on the cross, (Revelation 1:5). It is because of His shed blood that we can be forgiven, (Ephesians 1:7 & 1 John 1:7). If we don't confess our sins we don't get forgiveness, (1 John 1:9). See you in Church next Sunday.

Bingo Social Monday

BY BRENDA NEWTON
SENIOR CENTER DIRECTOR

I was in San Antonio this weekend and it really made me appreciate our little town. It was raining cats and dogs, and the traffic did not slow down at all. I have decided that some people are crazy. Not the ones in our pretty little town.

The Bingo Social for November will be Monday, Nov. 9, at 6:30 p.m. We will be serving Hobo Stew with cornbread muffins and dump cake for dessert. Don't forget your prize must be worth $5 to $10 and one prize for each person playing.

I am going to try something new on Thursdays afternoon. We will be having bingo each Thursday at 2 p.m. Bring a small gift item for a bingo prize.

Don't forget the Thunderbird. They are available to help you get around. Just give them a call and leave a message. Be sure to say who you are and where you area. They will call you back. Call us at (325) 392-9094 if you do not have their number.

Outlook promising for Texas Deer Season

BY STEVE LIGHTFOOT
TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE

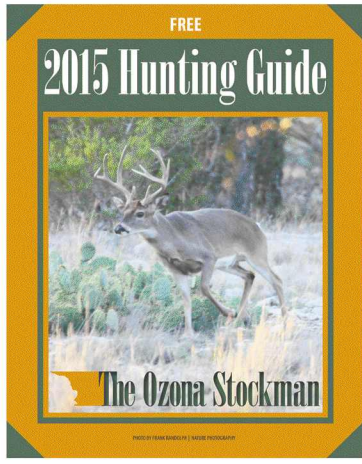

AUSTIN – Hunters should expect the 2015-16 Texas white-tailed deer season to be one of the best in years as timely rainfall and mild weather have certainly set the table, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The general season opens Saturday, Nov. 7 and runs through Jan. 3, 2016 in the 209 counties that comprise the North Zone and through Jan. 17, 2016 in the 30 counties of the South Zone. For county specific regulations, check the 2015-16 Outdoor Annual — Texas Hunting and Fishing Regulations available at hunting license sales outlets, online at www.tpwd.state.tx.us and as a free mobile app download on iOS and Android platforms at www.txoutdoorannual.com/app.

“We saw a diverse buffet of deer foods this spring where vegetation growth was measured in feet rather than inches this year,” said Alan Cain, TPWD white-tailed deer program leader. “Meeting nutritional demands of antler growth, rearing fawns and building up body reserves for the rigors of rut as well as the winter should be an easy venture for most big game animals this year.”

Unlike in recent years, deer didn't have to search far to find a highly nutritious diet of native weeds and browse plants. As a selective forager, deer prefer native forages high in protein and energy that are easily digestible. The forbs, a biologist term for weeds, fit that bill, and there were plenty of them this year.

Although dry conditions returned in July and continued through late October the recent deluge of rain across the state may set the stage for an early winter weed crop and toward the mid to later periods of the hunting season deer may not be attracted to feeders so hunters might have to change up their hunting strategies.

Antler growth should be well above average, predicts Cain. Exceptions to this overall excellent outlook may be in areas of East Texas where unusually wet years can result in lower-than-normal fawn recruitment.

“I have no reservations suggesting antler quality will be above average this year, and with a good number of bucks in the 5-year-old age class I expect a number of hunters to harvest some exceptional bucks this year,” Cain said.

So what can hunters expect with regards to deer numbers and quality. For starters the 2014 statewide deer population estimate was 3.95 million deer, the highest estimated population since 2005. Statewide population trends indicate a slow but steady growth in the deer population during the last 10 years.

“Although these numbers are from 2014 I would predict the deer population to be about the same if not break the 4 million deer mark for 2015, so hunters should experience a quarry-rich hunting environment this year,” Cain said, citing above average fawn production this year.

He also suggests hunters take advantage of opportunities to harvest antlerless deer this season, too, in order to offset high fawn production.

Texas deer hunters wishing to assist with the statewide chronic wasting disease (CWD) monitoring effort this fall can do so by voluntarily taking their harvested deer (or the head of the harvested deer) to a location where TPWD wildlife biologists will be collecting tissue samples for testing.

A list of collection sites and times is available online at www.tpwd.texas.gov/cwd. In addition to those established collection locations, biologists will also be conducting localized sampling at various sites throughout the season to meet sampling objectives. For additional information regarding localized CWD sampling efforts during this deer season, please contact your local wildlife biologist (http://tpwd.texas.gov/landwater/land/technical_guidance/biologists/).

Hunters are also urged to check out the “My Texas Hunt Harvest” app that provides a means to voluntarily report and track harvested game from a smartphone or tablet. The information collected will help TPWD wildlife biologists assess annual harvest and manage healthy game populations across Texas. Hunters should note that electronic reporting using the app does not fulfill tagging requirements for any game required to be tagged, or requirements for the completion of the harvest log on the back of the hunting license as it applies to white-tailed deer. The app is available for free download at the App Store for iOS devices and Google Play for Android devices. You can also report your harvest at <https://apps.tpwd.state.tx.us/whs/>.

Coach Edward Perez. "The kids played extremely hard and executed on some plays we have been working on all year."

Tommy Fay scored two touchdowns for the Lions.

Jadon Perez had one touchdown.

Francisco Rivera was perfect on extra point kicks.

Kalen Perez was the leading rusher and receiver. He carried the ball nine times for 68 yards and caught the ball once for 42 yards.

Jose Ojeda converted a critical fourth down punt fake with an eight yard run to keep the Lions offensive drive alive.

Ojeda also led the defense with nine tackles.

"The kids realized that our backs were against the wall and that our goal for a great team effort had to be there for us to have success. The entire staff is very proud of our kids and their resilience in finishing a hard fought game. Thank you to all the fans that made the trip," Perez said.

The Lions will take on the Badgers at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Lion Stadium. This will also be Senior Night for Ozona.

Funk talks about being great leaders

BY MELISSA PERNER
THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Great leaders are confident, outsmart their haters, never allow toxic people to hold them back and are forgiving.

Motivational speaker Jessie Funk drove home those points to students at Ozona Middle School during a special assembly on Oct. 28.

Funk's presentation was part of Ozona Schools' Red Ribbon Week, which teaches students about drug awareness. Funk also gave presentations at Ozona Elementary and High Schools.

In her presentation, Funk talked about how great leaders learn to stay away from drugs, have confidence on the outside, even when they are not confident on the inside, and they can turn the tables on those who bully them.

"You have to make a conscience choice to look confident and bold," Funk said. "Bullies build up this wall not to be seen. I believe no one is born mean, it's learned."

Funk talked about how she was bullied in junior high, and how that led to her becoming a bully.

"I became one of the worst bullies. I was a mean girl," she said. "Sometimes it's easier to turn to drugs, bullying, cutting or something else to do to numb ourselves. In order to outsmart this, you have to choose kindness."

Funk and several OMS Students gave examples of how to be confident, how to outsmart bullies and how to avoid toxic relationships.

"I expect you to teach and actively look for ways to reach out to other kids," Funk said. "We have so much greatness in us already. A leader never allows toxic people to hold them back. We have a choice to pitch our tent and live in that misery or choose to forgive and more forward."

Funk has been teaching and mentoring students for over a decade. She holds a leadership certification from Notre Dame University and a degree in psychology.

She has authored six books and as a professional singer she has released five albums adding the dynamic element of music to her presentations.

Hurd introduces cyber bill

BY SHANA TEEHAN
OFFICE OF U.S. REP. WILL HURD

WILL HURD

U.S. Rep. Will Hurd, R-San Antonio, on Monday introduced the State and Local Cyber Protection Act of 2015, which will give state and local governments access to federal resources when it comes to securing their digital information systems.

In a letter of support for the legislation, the National Association of State Chief Information Officers (NASCIO) said, "Cybersecurity remains one of the biggest priorities for our nation's CIOs and we are pleased that Rep. Hurd has introduced H.R. 3869, which we believe will assist CIOs in bolstering their state's cybersecurity posture."

Hurd's bill directs the National Cybersecurity and Communications Integration Center (NCCIC) at the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to coordinate with state and local governments on securing their information systems on a voluntary basis. The NCCIC can assist in identifying system vulnerabilities and possible solutions. They can also provide technical, implementation and privacy training for cybersecurity analysts. In addition, the NCCIC will be required to seek feedback from state and local governments in order to report on the effectiveness of their efforts.

The letter continued on by encouraging the House Homeland Security Committee to report the bill favorably out of committee.

"Cybersecurity isn't just a buzzword. It's a serious issue that can potentially impact every single American. This is common-sense legislation that strengthens our nation's cyber posture at every level of government," Hurd said.

"Our firemen operate out of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department. Although the county provides them with the equipment they need to do their jobs, the budget they have is only enough to cover their equipment. Our volunteer firemen have a special account that is used to help them purchase items that they use that is not provided by the county. The funds are from donations they receive. Sometimes they use this fund to purchase food and drinks during fire calls. With so many wildfires this account can deplete very quickly.

We want to recognize our firemen and our fire department by providing an event that not only allows us to do some recognition but also allows us to raise some funds for their special account," said Frank Tambunga, county commissioner.

For more information call Shelly Childress at (325) 277-5381 or Frank Tambunga at (325) 226-2827.

County in paying for their part of the internet use at the clinic.

Martin said the cost will increase from $1,150 a month to $1,700 for the increased bandwidth, but that Shannon will pay $650 of the $1,700 making the county's total $1,050 for the three buildings.

Cost will be $1,700 a month for the annex, courthouse, sheriff's office and fire department.

Currently, the county pays $4,500 to $5,000 a month for phone, fax and Internet.

The new internet service will be dedicated to the county only.

"We both enjoy the benefit of a bigger connection. It's a win-win for the county," Martin said.

The library currently runs on a DSL internet connection, which gets bogged down, or stops working during busy times. The library has 10 computers available to the public as well as wireless internet access.

"It's a terrible speed," said Librarian Louise Ledoux. Martin said to add the library cost would be around $550 per month.

Ledoux said she had the money in her budget to cover the cost.

The next regular commissioners' court meeting will be 9 a.m. Monday, Nov. 9 at the courthouse annex. The commissioners will also have a joint meeting with the Crockett County Care Center, Health and Emergency Services Board at 6 p.m. Nov. 16 at the courthouse annex.

Both meetings are open to the public.

Travis Central Appraisal District; Individual Property Owners Who Claim C1 Vacant Land or F1 Commercial Real Property Within Travis County, Texas; and Glenn Hegar, in his official capacity as Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, et al., Defendants.

TXDOT AWARDS GRANTS

More than $20 million in federal "TIGER" grants was awarded by the Texas Department of Transportation on Oct. 29 to improve transportation services for rural populations.

TIGER stands for Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery.

The state agency said the funding would help replace 325 vehicles located throughout the state that are used to transport rural residents. Funds also will go toward updating or constructing transportation facilities in or near the cities of South Padre Island, Early, Weatherford and Cedar Creek.

According to TxDOT, the Lone Star State has the largest rural population in the U.S., with more than 6 million residents living outside urban areas. Between 2000 and 2010, TxDOT reported, the state's rural population grew by 7.5 percent. Also, many areas served by rural transportation services have populations that are proportionally older, have lower income and often have a higher percentage of people with disabilities.

CORRECTION:

Board gets new chief
 Gov. Abbott on Oct. 21 appointed Bobby Jenkins of Austin as chair of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. Jenkins replaces Harold Hahn of El Paso as chair.

Jenkins, president of ABC Home and Commercial Services, has served as vice chairman of the coordinating board since September 2013.

The agency's mission is "to promote access, affordability, quality, success, and cost efficiency in the state's institutions of higher education."

EDITOR'S NOTE: In last week's column, the writer erroneously reported that Jenkins succeeded Raymond A. Paredes as chair. Paredes serves as Texas Commissioner of Higher Education and is a member of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

ELECTION RESULTS

TO COME

Early voting ended Oct. 30 and Election Day was Nov. 3. Seven proposed amendments to the state constitution were on the ballot.

Statewide results will be recorded in next week's column.

Public Notice

Q&A

What is a public notice?

It's information about important government activities. Notice in the newspaper is required for a good reason — to make sure it's NOTICED. It's crucial to government transparency...and government accountability.

Your local paper is the most visible, independent source for this crucial service. We not only print notices in the paper, but post them on our website and a statewide website at no extra charge. And they're archived forever, so there's a permanent and unalterable record.

Texas newspapers have published public notices since 1836. As your hometown paper, we're proud to provide this service to our communities.
