

SHORTY LAMBERT, the plumbing man: "It will rain Thursday of this week, and nearly all day Friday. Then the rain will let up five days and we'll have five rainy days next week; and the week after that, five more rainy days."
The editor: "Where?"
That stuff Shorty smokes in his pipe is pretty powerful. Or else he's loco from the sandstorms. This corner of "The Great Moral Guide" doesn't believe it ever will rain, here that is.

ONE OF CONRAD WILLIAMS' tumbling tumble weeds arrived in Muleshoe Monday at 2 p.m. It covered the distance, 35 miles, in about three hours, fighting a headwind part of the way. It didn't have Conrad's name on it, but it looked like one of his. And while we were fighting the dust out of our place elsewhere and had our back turned, old Clay Beavers picked it up, him and two other fellows and lugged it into The Journal's spike and span of the street and bade it goodbye; last time I saw it, it was making about 30 mph along about Evans Bros. oil outfit, headed east by northeast.

AROUND TOWN they're telling the story about the maddest man. This salesman told the train conductor: "I must get off at Milford, before we reach New York. Now I'm going back to the club car and have a few and lots of times I get mad after I've imbibed. But put me off at Milford, no matter how much I fight you."
The man realized when the train reached New York that he would be unable to reach Milford in time for his appointment, and did he ever give the conductor and station officials a bad time.
"That," said the station master, "is the maddest man I ever saw."
"I've seen one man who was madder," said the conductor. "He was the man I put off at Milford."

Why Bailey Countians Continue To Fight

Journal readers will observe in this week's issue of the paper the advertisements of several different Muleshoe business firms, relative to the water problem. The tenor of these messages is that although Lubbock has obtained permission to use highway right-of-way for the pipeline that would drain away water from underneath Bailey county lands and that at first blush it would seem that all is lost, it ain't necessarily so.

The men who thought up these messages hope they will so arouse the people who will be affected in this area: Bailey, Lamb, Castro, Hale, Parmer, Hockley counties and perhaps others, that out of this stirring up will come some idea that will lead to the correct solution of the problem posed by Lubbock's determination to go through with their uneconomical project.

Bailey county folks and Muleshoe area folks, regardless of what others might do, will continue to oppose the "principle" of Lubbock's taking water out of the county.

Next week The Journal likely will have advertisements of other firms covering various phases of the situation, in the determination to continue the effort to explore all avenues possibly open to us.

C. R. Anthony store will be rebuilt and may be ready for business again by the first part of May, LINDAL MURRAY, manager, announced after he and company officials had taken stock of the situation resulting from Muleshoe's most disastrous fire in history last Friday.

Jo Edamron, owner of the building and owner of the Damron Drug Store next door, said he hopes to reopen his store by the end of the week. Severe smoke damage was caused by his stock, walls and fixtures from the fire which caused a total loss of stock and fixtures in Anthony's.

Mr. Damron, veteran drug store man here, is undaunted by the fire which caused him great loss in the Anthony building and in his own store. He and his family immediately began preparations to restore everything.

There was practically nothing left in Anthony's stock that could be sold; there will be some little salvage. But the fixtures were ruined and will be replaced.

HIGHWAY GRANTS USE . . . Lubbock Gets OK For Right of Way

The City of Lubbock has been granted right of way for laying a 45-inch water line from near Shallowater to just below Muleshoe along Highway 81. This information was revealed in a letter sent the city of Lubbock by State Highway Department engineer DeWitt Greer, dated April 2. The letter outlined certain requirements for laying the pipeline between the highway and the railroad tracks.

Conditions contained in the letter require that pipeline be laid on the north side of highway 81 between the highway and the Santa Fe railroad, and that in case the pipeline breaks and floods the highway, the city will be held responsible for damages.

The city of Lubbock plans to begin immediate preparation for constructing the 52 miles of 45-inch pipeline from well fields near Shallowater to League 206, where Lubbock has purchased 4,400 acres of water rights. Lubbock owns 53,000 acres of water rights in Bailey county, but declares no intention of developing anything other than League 206 at the present time.

The pipeline project is estimated to cost $4,323,000, and is designed to deliver 40 million gallons of water daily to Lubbock from beneath Bailey county land. Future plans call for more wells and pumping stations to increase the daily withdrawal to 62 millions of gallons daily.

IT'S NO DISGRACE TO HAVE YOUR PUMP LOWERED

No, you don't even have to feel lonesome, because lots of farmers are having this work done now. We're busy this year, lowering pumps, lowered several this week one was set 20 feet lower than formerly.

What are we driving at? We're trying to tell our farmer friends that we don't have an inexhaustible supply of water, we barely have enough right now for ourselves, without sharing it with Lubbock or any other neighbor, much as we'd like to do it.

And we're hoping that you will wake up, get indignant, get excited enough to try and help stave off this threat to your future and the community's economy, even at this late hour, before it's everlastingly too late.

It's better to get worked up now than to be left high and dry a few years hence. Please join your neighbors in attempting to work out a favorable solution to this problem. We sincerely believe it can be done if enough folks will just get interested and start agitating.

Our Water Supply Is NOT Inexhaustible!

From our experience in servicing irrigation motors, we KNOW: That not only has water close to the surface been depleted and exhausted, but that the water that was plentiful at depths where pumps formerly were set, also is being rapidly depleted.

Consider This

One irrigation firm reports that 70% of their work right now is concerned with drilling new wells to replace those whose water is gone, or setting pumps lower in old wells, to get a dependable supply of water. Another firm reports 80% of his work is in lowering pumps, from 10 to 20 feet.

reports he has had at least 100 applications for loans to replace domestic wells. This means the irrigation water table is being lowered and is sapping the water formerly used for pressure wells about the farmstead.

Now, men who formerly drilled wells 100 feet are having their wells drilled to 200 feet depth.

We don't see how any man can figure that Lubbock's taking a 45-inch pipeline full of water out of our district can fail to hasten the day when more and more farmers will find it uneconomical to pull water from an ever greater depth to water his crops.

One loan company representative here

It Costs Money

It costs money to lower a pump, add a stage, or in some cases to buy a bigger motor. We know in our experience that the more power a motor has, the more money it takes to repair it because more labor and more cost for parts are involved.

greatly disturbed. Your income, and the economy of your entire community and county, are threatened.

Mr. Irrigation Farmer have you considered these things, the complications and increased costs involved in a lowering water table? If so, you cannot fail to be

We hope you will get even more disturbed, even get agitated. Who knows but that you, yourself might have an idea about this crisis that would help to solve it. And please remember: The Japs hit us a terrific blow at Pearl Harbor, but we won the last battle.

MULESHOE CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

NERVOUSNESS

Woman, age 34 years, came to the Chiropractic Clinic, at the insistence and persistence of her husband whose sinus headaches had been greatly improved by Chiropractic at the Clinic. Her symptoms of extreme nervousness had been increased by major surgery which rendered her unbearably nervous for four years following the operation. A severe car accident aggravated an already serious condition so that she scarcely knew a day free from extreme nervousness, pain in lower back, hip and leg, hurting in neck, shoulder and arm, pain in kidney, headaches, constipation, colon trouble, poor circulation in arm, and soreness in neck glands.

Because Chiropractic is a principle of healing which locates the CAUSE of disease and malfunction in the body, the entire body function will respond and repair as nerve energy is released to the body. Our spinal examination reveals if a condition of ill health is caused by vertebral pressure on nerves and eliminates those we cannot help. Recommended service has remarkably improved this woman's health.

She said, "Now I know I'm better."

CONVULSIONS

Little girl, age 2, who had suffered epileptic form convulsions since 10 months of age when she fell from a bed was brought to the Chiropractic Clinic at the urging of patients. Nerve-deadening drugs had been medically prescribed, and this little girl's growth was stunted, she remained in a dazed or highly excitable state, and kidneys were infected and weak.

After a spinal nerve analysis and spinal x-rays, corrective adjustments were begun to correct the cause of her condition—pressure on nerves. From the beginning, this baby has improved steadily. From the depths of drugs (which were stopped immediately on beginning Chiropractic service) she has emerged into a beautiful, normal healthy child—friends exclaim how different she looks—rosy cheeked and cheerful. After beginning adjustments, her mother had complete results training which had been impossible before.

She continues to grow, repair, and bloom!

Note: Texas Workmen's Compensation Law authorizes payment for Chiropractic services. Ask about it from your employer and his insurance company.

Stripes and polka dots make a striking combination in this cotton sailtone sportswear. The pants, of vivid striped cotton, are tapered in Italian fashion and finished with a wide, contrasting cummerbund. The sleeveless top is in coordinated polka dot with the popular stand-away neckline. Designed by Pretty Maid of St. Louis, the outfit is in a "drip dry" cotton.

BREEZE

This beautiful dress looks as cool as the name of the fabric in which it is created — "Breeze." Adele Simpson designed the glamorous dance frock in Supima cotton by Hope Skillman. Supima is a fine new extra long-staple grown in the Southwest, and this cotton chiffon is the first Supima fabric.

Woodley and Hanks Engagement Told At Tea, Wedding to be Held in June

MISS ANN WOODLEY

The engagement of Miss Ann Woodley to Derrell Gene "Dink" Hanks, was announced at a tea in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Woodley, 1308 Avenue E. Saturday afternoon, March 31, from three to six.

Over two hundred guests registered and were given announcement favors, which were pictures of the bride-elect and her fiancé. Bridal cards attached to the picture bore the date: June 2, 1956. A tiny pink ceramic wedding bell marked the wedding book for the registration page.

On the mantel in the reception room was an Easter arrangement featuring a small white rabbit bride in wedding gown and veil, floating a nosegay of candytuft, floating on a pink angel hair cloud. A silver candelabra holding aqua tapers and white glittered ivy completed the arrangement.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Woodley, the bride-elect, her grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Jameson of Odessa, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. J. H. Hanks.

The serving table was laid with a handmade imported white embroidered, linen and lace cloth. An arrangement of aqua carnations and candytuft, glittered white ivy and aqua tapers in a silver and crystal candelabra centered the table. Pastel bon bon cakes and flower mints were served from the silver appointed table. Mrs. J. A. Jameson and Mrs. T. T. Clements of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Ross Mahaney of Lamesa, and Mrs. Jim Hodge of Amarillo, alternated at the coffee service. Other members of the house party were friends and classmates of the bride-elect, who will also be her bridal attendants in the wedding: Misses Ginger

CARNIVAL PLAID

Gay, "carnival plaid" cotton is used for this eye-catching swim suit by Gantner of California. There's a Hawaiian touch in the lei of ruffles, which can be tied low at the back as a trim when mildy is sunbathing. The multi-color satin striped cotton comes in pink, aqua, or chartreuse combinations.

Special Service Held by Progress Methodist WSCS

Women's Society for Christian Service of the Progress Methodist church, held a "Day Apart" service last Wednesday during pre-Easter week observance. President, Mrs. Joe Walker, was in charge.

Four ladies related that they planned to attend the district meeting at Silverton on Friday, April 7.

Mrs. Arthur Cooper led the program, which began with a hymn by the group, "Take Time to Be Holy." Each member gave her favorite Scripture verse, and told why it appealed to her. Mrs. Fern Davis then presented, "Modern Aspects of the Ten Commandments."

A discussion of "Our Beliefs," was led by Mrs. Arthur Cooper, after which the ladies sang, "Blest Be the Tie."

An interesting talk on "Discipline," was given by Mrs. Sadie Bass. After a discussion of this subject, each lady offered a prayer.

Those attending were: Mmes. Velma Gwyn, Sadie Bass, Jean Henry, Juanita Urteaga, Ruth Cooper, Fern Davis and Joyce Walker.

Douglass, Judy Hanks, Mary Elizabeth Clements of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Bobby Ross Goodwin, and Mrs. Gene Richardson of Lubbock. Others assisting with the hospitalities were Misses Joy Dean Warner and Lola Roark, of Midland.

The wedding will take place June 2, in the First Methodist church in Muleshoe, with the Rev. C. E. Jameson of Odessa, grandfather of the bride-elect, reading the double-ring ceremony.

Miss Woodley is a graduate of Muleshoe and has been a student for the past two years at West Texas State College in Canyon, where she was a majorette with the Buffalo band and a member of Pi Omega sorority. She is the granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Jameson and the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodley of Shamrock and Quanah.

Derrell Hanks is a graduate of Lamesa high school, and spent the past four years in the U. S. Air Force in San Antonio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanks of Muleshoe. He is presently associated with his father in dairy-farming near Muleshoe.

Egg Hunt Held At Progress

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and punch were served.

Those attending were: Jane and Mary Wedel, May and Jim Thomson, Norman, Niel, Terry Don and Shady Bass, Doris Cooper, Mrs. Henry Bass, Mrs. Cleburn Gray and Kathy Gray.

KAFTAN COAT

This cotton kaftan coat, illustrating the Oriental influence in this season's fashions, speaks of exotic bazaars and temple bells. Gay, colorful Sanforized striped cotton adapts perfectly to the deep side-slit lines. The dress, in a coordinated solid color cotton, has a mandarin collar and easy waistline.

CARPORT CONVERTED INTO MODERN BEDROOM

How to add a bedroom to a house on a small lot? This homeowner saw possibilities in his existing carport, which he enclosed with concrete masonry walls atop concrete spread footings. Windows in the new bedroom addition are the same type as in the existing house. Two coats of portland cement paint will blend old and new portions of house together.

How Complacent Can We Get?

Engineering plans are now being drawn at Lubbock's direction, preparatory to awarding of a contract for construction of a 45 inch pipeline into Bailey County to convey to Lubbock a part of the already dwindling supply of water in our reservoir.

In our opinion our very future is in jeopardy; but in our opinion most of us are pretty complacent about it, pretty unconcerned, and pretty indifferent.

Without irrigation water in abundance, the value of your land would decline drastically. Your future would be imperiled. Every man who irrigates and every man who expects to irrigate in the future ought to be running a fever about this situation, we think.

Don't Let Smooth Words Mislead You

Regardless of what Lubbock spokesmen may say about our supply of water and of what any expert may think about it, we think that if we fill a 45 inch pipeline full of water day in and day out, from now on if they want it, we will miss that water here in Bailey County and Muleshoe area.

Do not be misled by statements tending to prove otherwise. If you take water out of a reservoir, it's reasonable to suppose there will be less water in the reservoir.

It Is Not "Too Late"

Folks, we have neglected to do the things that ought to have been done when this project was first announced; but don't let anyone tell you it is too late to do something now.

that confronts you and then to act. We believe that if you, the individual irrigation farmer, will become aroused to the situation and will cooperate with others in finding a solution, this disaster might be averted.

The purpose of this message is to wake you up, to urge you to think on this danger

Let us know what you think.

NATION'S OLDEST, THIRD LARGEST . . .

4-H Clubbers, FFA Youth To Turn Out For Annual Dairy Show at Plainview

The nation's oldest and third largest show, now in its 29th consecutive year, will open April 14 and continue through the 20th. The Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging contest drew much favorable comment and attracted some eight college judging teams, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, winning most of the awards last year. Superintendent for this year's Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle judging contest will be T. L. Leach, professor, agricultural education, Texas Technological College.

In 1955 some 65 4-H and F.F.A. teams were represented at the dairy show, involving approximately 200 high school students.

Another division which draws a great deal of interest is the Dairy Products judging contest which was won by the Brownfield High School Vocation Agriculture team last year. Superintendent of this department is Milton Peoples, Dairy Department, Texas Technological College.

President Martin Fulcher, Lubbock, Texas, stated that he expected the entries this year to exceed last year's entries due to the fact there had been a definite increase in dairy cattle the past year.

President Fulcher also stated that the catalogues were mailed early this year, February 1.

The show is opened to breeders in the state of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, and a general registration of 400 head of cattle is expected.

Other divisions and officials are: Jersey division, Bill Kimbrough, county agent, Lamb county, Littlefield, Texas, superintendent; Dave Sherrill, county agent, Lubbock county, Lubbock, Texas, assistant superintendent; R. N. McClain, Brownfield State Bank, Brownfield, Texas, assistant superintendent.

Spotted Alfalfa Invades 10 States and Muleshoe Area

A timely, authoritative booklet concerning the Spotted Alfalfa Aphid, the widely discussed, destructive pest which appeared suddenly two years ago, already has invaded and seriously damaged alfalfa crops in ten western states and is now spreading into other areas, has been published for free distribution to hay growers, dairymen, cattlemen and other interested persons.

The booklet includes information about the Spotted Alfalfa Aphid obtained from university entomologists, federal, state and county agricultural agents and other official sources and has been produced as a public service by the American Cyanamid Company.

This 16-page publication includes color photos of winged and wingless Spotted Alfalfa Aphids, pictures of typical damage to alfalfa crops, data for identification and detailed recommendations for effective control of this pest that multiplies so amazingly and migrates so swiftly over great distances.

Free copies of the booklet may be obtained by writing to American Cyanamid Company, 1440 Broadway, Oakland 12, Calif.

Few Muleshoe city dwellers are aware that this aphid, aided and abetted by green bugs, has helped to delay the harvest of the first crop on a big acreage of alfalfa fields around Muleshoe. The growers know about it, and so does Arlys Leveridge, manager of the alfalfa mill here.

FROM MIDLAND

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Harry, of Midland, and his sister, Mrs. R. H. Harvey, of North Cowden, were here to attend to business matters the latter part of the week. Mrs. Harvey and Mr. Harry are children of the late E. Harry, who resided in Enochs community until his death five years ago.

GUEST FROM NORMAN

Mrs. Mable Cooper, of Norman, Okla., visited here two days last week in the home of Mrs. Zilpha Zimmer. She was returning to her home in Norman, after visiting friends in Phoenix and other points in Arizona. Mrs. Zimmer and Mrs. Cooper have been friends since their school days.

"ALTHOUGH our boys are in college now and out of 4-H and FFA competition, we still feel a keen interest in the club projects of other boys on the Plains," Sherman Inman says, in talking about the combined livestock and farming operation he carries on six and a half miles west of Muleshoe.

Sherman is a supervisor of the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District, having been elected to that post in October, 1955. He is intensely interested in soil conservation, carrying out a number of standard approved soil conservation practices as well as being cooperative in trying out new practices.

He farms 240 acres in connection with his registered Poland China breeding program which brings visitors to the Inman farm from many distant places. His fame as a Poland China breeder has proved to be embarrassing at times. He jokingly claims that customers frequently buy pigs that he would prefer to keep for himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Inman have three children, Marlon and Jerry, both students at Hardin-Simmons University, and Judy, nine, who attends school at Muleshoe. Oddly enough neither of the Inman sons are majoring in agriculture despite the more than 100 ribbons, banners and trophies they garnered while in high school. Mrs. Inman keeps a large box of their ribbons and trophies, which she feels the boys will appreciate more in later years. They had their room papered with the ribbons at one time.

The Inman farm is irrigated with three wells, one ten-inch and two eight-inch wells. Sherman has 55 acres in alfalfa plus an additional acreage in hog pasture. He leaves the alfalfa in as long as there is a good stand. Sherman considers alfalfa a good cash crop as well as being a good soil builder.

Another soil conservation practice Inman carries out is the interplanting of New Era peas in his feed crops. He also plants Mung beans and New Era peas in his Hegari.

Cotton is the principal cash crop on the Inman farm, but he has raised a better than average corn crop also, making an average of more than 122 bushels per acre from 10 acres in the fall of 1955.

In addition to being a supervisor on the Soil Conservation District, Sherman Inman is president of the Panhandle-Plains Poland China Breeders; a director in the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the county Veterans Land Board.

Inman is quick to point out the advantages of soil conservation, and how it will always pay good returns if the investment made. He believes in soil conservation and practices his belief.

A visitor to the Inman farm will soon see how practical this belief has been for Sherman Inman.

Congressman Mahon Reports Farm Bill Progress in House and Senate

(Editor's Note: The following letter has been received by area agricultural leaders and others interested in the passage of the Senate farm bill. Congressman George Mahon has written several such letters to keep his constituents informed on the progress of the controversial bill.)

Dear Friends:
I had planned to write a report after the passage of the Senate farm bill, giving a brief summary of the contents of the bill. However, the bill is so long and technical, I find that it is impossible to summarize it adequately.

The legislation is now being considered by a few members of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees — conferees — who will revamp the bill and iron out the differences between the Senate and the House version prior to final passage by the Senate and House and prior to the time the measure goes to the President for his approval or veto. In other words, many changes in the legislation are anticipated before final approval.

The Senate bill provides for a soil bank plan, embracing a so-called conservation reserve. Theoretically, the idea of a soil bank is attractive, but as a practical matter, unless great care is used, the plan could prove unacceptable to both the irrigator and the dryland farmer, landlord and tenant. If benefits to the dryland farmer in West Texas from the soil bank should be based on production during the last three or five years, the benefit rates would be extremely low. I have discussed this matter with House conferees in an effort to meet this problem. It seems certain that some sort of soil bank plan will become the law.

There is a grain sorghum-feed grain provision in the Senate version. As written, it offers very little, especially for 1956, but I hope something worth while will come of it. It would assure a support price on milo, oats, etc., for 1956 which could not be lower than the support level already announced. To get the support, 15 percent of a farmer's grain sorghum acreage would have to be put in the soil bank. Soil bank benefits would be payable to the farmer on the layout acres. However, farmers wishing to forego the government loan would not be subjected to acreage controls on feed grains. The support level in 1957 would be more attractive than in 1956 as will be noted from the foregoing provisions in the bill.

The price of grain sorghum, barley, oats, and rye, respectively, shall be supported in any area through loans, purchases, or other operations during 1956 at a price determined by the Secretary to bear the same ratio to the support of corn in such areas as the feed value equivalent of such grains bear to the feed value of corn: Provided, That (1) the support price in any area for the 1956 crop of any such commodity shall not be lower than the support price therefor announced prior to the enactment of this subsection, and (2) the producers of such commodities, to be eligible for price support, shall have (a) entered into contracts with the Secretary to place into the acreage reserve or the conservation reserve a portion of the tillable acres of grain sorghums, rye, oats, and barley equivalent to 15 per centum of the average number of acres devoted to production of such commodities, during the preceding three years, and (b) planted to acreage of such commodities not exceeding the average acreage, planted to such commodities on the farm during the preceding three years. After 1956 the support level on any such crop shall be 95 per centum of the support level established for corn in the commercial area, with such adjustments on price support levels for each such grain as determined by the feed equivalent that such grain bears to the feed value of corn.

The House version provides for 90 per cent of parity supports on cotton and other basic crops. The Senate version as to cotton does not provide for 90 percent but, in effect, this might be accomplished by the Senate bill for 1956 because a set aside of 7 1/4 million bales of cotton is contained in the Senate version. This would compel the Secretary to fix the support level on cotton in the area of 90 per cent.

Despite our efforts to the contrary, the Senate version would base the loan on one-inch cotton rather than 7/8, thereby heavily penalizing all cotton farmers. However, I have not lost hope. I think this fight may still be won. Fortunately, we have succeeded thus far in blocking proposals which would give a higher parity level of support to long staple than to short staple cotton.

As to wheat, a certificate plan is provided in the Senate version which would assure the wheat grower of 100 per cent of parity for that portion of his crop produced for domestic consumption. Controls on wheat acreage would continue until the surplus is disposed of, but quotas would not be in effect.

This report is necessarily sketchy. I have sent the entire Senate and House versions of the farm bill to the offices of the ASC, County Agents and, where names were available, to the presidents of farm organizations.

I think it may be ten days or more before the House and Senate conferees agree on the final version of the bill. Of course, this matter is wholly unpredictable. I shall continue my best efforts here, and I welcome suggestions from the people at home at all times.

Sincerely,
GEORGE MAHON.

Liberace Bit By Midget Stops the Jones Show

Spike Jones is proud of the fact that only one of the acts in his "Musical Insanities of 1956" to be presented in Lubbock Auditorium on April 13, ever has been seen on television.

The one exception is the hilarious Liberace impersonation done by little Billy Barty, a midget who works with a miniature piano and a miniature candelabra.

"This one we just couldn't replace," says Spike. "The customers wouldn't stand for it."

Barty's "Liberace bit" created such a furor when it first was introduced on TV that Liberace, himself, phoned Spike long distance to say he was sorry he'd missed it and to ask if it couldn't be repeated. Spike, and little Billy, obliged, and Liberace wrote the midget a fan letter saying he thought it was simply great. It later emerged as one of Spike's best-selling records, "I'm in the Mood for Love."

Tickets for Spike's one performance in Lubbock's beautiful auditorium, went on sale Monday and have been moving at a brisk pace, according to Auditorium Manager David Blackburn. The tickets may be purchased at the auditorium box office Reservations are being taken by phone (PO 2-4616), and by mail (Lubbock Auditorium, City Hall, Lubbock, Texas).

BABSON DISCUSSES... AUTOMATIC FACTORIES

Babson Park, Mas., April 5 — We see much in the news today regarding "Automation", which is the scientific name for automatic factories. I want all investors to know how I feel regarding such developments.

CHANGES WILL COME The automatic factory is coming but will come slowly, for several reasons: (1) It awaits more consolidation. (2) It requires large capital expenditure. (3) It applies only to standard goods which can be used in great quantities, and cannot now be used for a product which has various styles and sizes. The oil industry uses automation successfully; but the baking, candy, textile, and many other industries could also do so if they could raise the capital and secure the volume necessary for a profitable change-over.

REASONS FOR AUTOMATION Automation is absolutely necessary if we are to continue to raise the American standard of living. It is also necessary for our national security. A recent article in LIFE magazine, March 5, 1956, shows how the Russians are educating their youth for automation. Most important of all, the automatic factory is in the best interest of all groups—customers, suppliers, share owners, the public, and employees.

Efficient employees have nothing to fear from automation. The inefficient, as my friend, H. L. Pratt teaches, should go back to school and learn how to become efficient. This especially applies to those in the food industry. During the past few years, the cost of our food has increased unnecessarily, notwithstanding the good work done by the super-markets.

Although labor leaders have not openly opposed automation, they are using it in an appeal for shorter hours and higher wages. Temporarily, when a factory changes over to automatic operation it will throw some people out of employment, but the most intelligent workers will still be needed to watch the machines and keep them in order. In other words, the automatic factory will upgrade labor and encourage efficiency and quality.

Sand Hills Philosopher Advises Congress Not To Worry Because Farm Bill Might Be Unworkable

(Editor's Note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm, is still concerned with the farm problem, his letter this week reveals.)

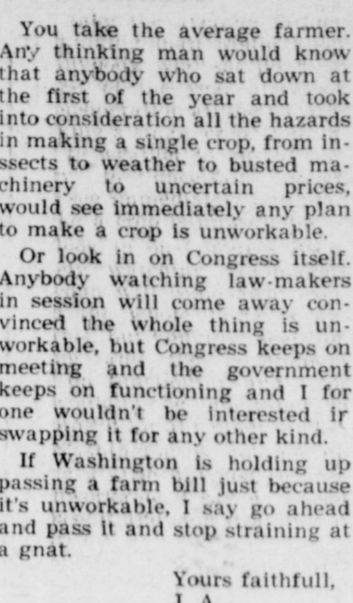

Dear Editor: I was sitting around out here on my farm the other day still waiting for Congress to solve the farm problem and getting a little mad because some expert said on the radio that nothing much in the way of a good farm bill can be expected because the farm problem is now involved in politics, which is ridiculous. The only reason any problem ever gets involved in politics is because it's a problem. When something is going smoothly, to suit everybody, naturally you don't call in Washington, but when a kink develops, whether it's in the farming business or the flood control business or the housing business, then's when a cry goes up for help, and anybody who thinks he can take a problem to Washington without getting it involved in politics comes pretty close to being born yesterday.

But what I started out to say was some expert in Washington has been lambasting the proposed farm bill on the grounds it's unworkable. This is the flimsiest excuse for attacking a farm bill I ever heard of. Of course it's not workable, from a theoretical standpoint, and never will be. But that doesn't have any bearing on it. When you analyze it closely and long enough, you'll find the monetary system isn't workable; at the start of any given marriage, you can find plenty of people who'll say it won't work; traffic plans aren't workable, etc., but people still like to handle money, keep getting married and even staying married, and the worst traffic snarl finally works itself out.

supermarket. Since then, these same purchases have increased in price about 11%. The farmer has constantly been getting less during this period and the supermarkets have been benefiting from "self-service". The increased cost must be due to certain services rendered between the time the farmer sells the food and the time you buy it at the supermarket. It looks to me as if the food business is in immediate serious need of automation.

efficient employees have nothing to fear from automation. The inefficient, as my friend, H. L. Pratt teaches, should go back to school and learn how to become efficient. This especially applies to those in the food industry. During the past few years, the cost of our food has increased unnecessarily, notwithstanding the good work done by the super-markets. In 1949, the average reader paid about $850 a year to his favorite

Good Neighbor Harmony

There are four basic reasons for present farm difficulties, none of which farmers can control. First, there are nearly 5,000,000 farms, individually operated and each competing with the others for a limited market. Second, for most crops the size of production cannot be accurately determined in advance of harvest. Weather, drought, disease, insects can raise or lower production after planting time. Third, farmers are caught in a vice—the cost-price squeeze—between falling prices of the things they sell and rising costs of the things they must buy. Fourth, there has been an increasing spread between what the farmer gets for his products and the consumer pays. Farmers get a smaller and smaller share of the money spent for food. The average farmer wants to work his farm without interference, to produce as fully and efficiently as he can. But he knows, also, that unlimited production means ruinously low prices. He doesn't like government interference and he doesn't want subsidies. He knows that for every dollar given him he must part with some of his freedom. He doesn't want to wake up some morning and find that the government is running his farm. That happened in Russia, and the result has been both low production and low income. We have, as one Senator puts it, not a farm problem but a farm dilemma.

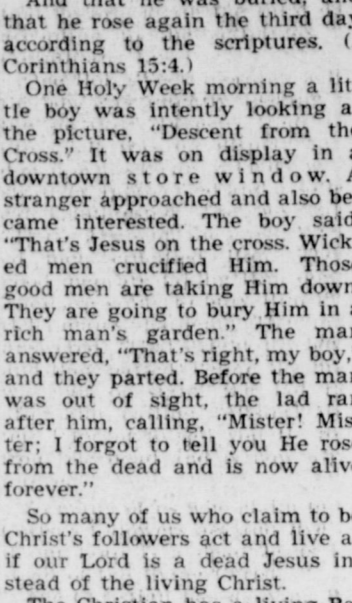

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES THIS WEEK -In Washington

Availability today of God's healing and regenerative power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. Readings from the King James version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" Christ Jesus' healing of the "man with an unclean spirit" will be read from Mark including the following (1:27): "And they were all amazed, inasmuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, 'What thing is this? What new doctrine is this?' for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him." Among the correlative passages to be read from Science and Health is the following (494:11): "It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

Today's Meditation

Read I Corinthians 15:1-8 And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures. (I Corinthians 15:4.) One Holy Week morning a little boy was intently looking at the picture, "Descent from the Cross." It was on display in a downtown store window. A stranger approached and also became interested. The boy said, "That's Jesus on the cross. Wicked men crucified Him. Those good men are taking Him down. They are going to bury Him in a rich man's garden." The man answered, "That's right, my boy," and they parted. Before the man was out of sight, the lad ran after him, calling, "Mister! Mister! I forgot to tell you He rose from the dead and is now alive forever!" So many of us who claim to be Christ's followers act and live as if our Lord is a dead Jesus instead of the living Christ. The Christian has a living Redeemer. He has all power in heaven and on earth and has promised to go with us even to the end of the world. What a story to a needy world!

He's In Race

Ralph W. Yarborough of Austin, pledging to "build a structure of morality" in state government, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas. Yarborough announced a platform of progress, including water conservation, drought relief, higher old age pensions, improved schools with adequate teacher pay and adequate retirement pay, adequate classroom space, a youth development program, a juvenile delinquency program based on "broader era of humanitarian principles." He said he would take his campaign in person "to the people in every corner of this great commonwealth." Yarborough made his announcement simply, to the press in contrast to the statewide radio and television broadcasts of other gubernatorial contenders. "Humbly I accept," Yarborough said, "the commission of duty you have given me in tens of thousands of messages... to lead the fight for the good name of Texas."

West Texas Vegetable Council Hears Plans For Marketing Survey

PARMER COUNTY Farm Bureau News
By RAYMOND EULER

If there is anything more confusing than the present draft of the farm bill, still being hotly debated in Congress, we are not aware of it. We are sure there is no layman who could properly explain some of the provisions and even some of the politicians and administration would be a virtual impossibility. Above all, we hope whatever comes out will give some immediate relief and encouragement to agricultural people.

As long as legislators insist on using farm legislation proposals for bait to voters, without regard to the ultimate effect on their operations, both from economic and freedom viewpoints, the problem will remain unsolved. Farm Bureau's efforts are presently being exerted more for prevention of hand typing legislation than anything else, so that farmers will still have the opportunity of solving their production and marketing problems themselves.

Title 1, Public Law 480, passed in 1954, with strong Farm Bureau support, is not nearly the full answer to export bottle necks, but it has been of immense value to agriculture already. Here are some of the exports ordered under this law since its inception in 1954: 120,908,000 bushels of wheat; 45,000,000 bushels of feed grains; 1,302,300 bales of cotton; 98,366,000 pounds of dairy products; 1,022,326,000 pounds of fats and oils (cottonseed and soy bean products, principally); 81,284,000 pounds of meat. These products would, according to records pre-growth of the Council to include farmers, businessmen, agricultural experts and commercial organizations and businesses interested in vegetable production.

April 12 Meeting
A general public meeting will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, April 12, at the Texas Tech campus in Lubbock to explain the Council and its objectives to anyone interested in attending.

It will be the first open meeting held by the Council. Ronald Davis, president of the Council, opened the meeting here yesterday by explaining that the Council is a group of people systematically working for an area to find out how it can best get into vegetable production, provided a potential is found.

He then introduced Joe E. Cole, extension horticulturist, who has been assigned to work with area farmers on the crops they are currently producing.

Making contacts through the county agents Cole will be working in Lubbock, Hale, Castro, Deaf Smith, Bailey, Lamb, Parmer, Floyd, Swisher, and Crosby counties.

He is on three year assignment, with the possibility of longer stay if conditions merit.

"I am not here to promote," Cole said. "My job will be working with the farmers with crops they are already growing."

Demonstration plots will be set up with different crops. This year, due to the late crops, we will have to use crops already planted.

"From these we will select base crops for the area, using them in the future as checks against new varieties."

Timing Important
He warned that vegetable farmers must produce crops competitively which mature at times to hit lags in other areas.

grow the crops cheaper than they are grown or better quality than other areas if they are to be successful.

He is stationed in the District Extension Office at Tech. He added that if interest develops in other counties the project will probably be extended to include them.

Introduced next were Dr. H. B. Sorenson and Leigh Hammond, both of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station.

Team Plan
Sorenson said that their work would be vegetable, fruit and flower marketing survey.

Their appointment resulted from a letter written from the Vegetable Council to R. D. Lewis, extension director, requesting that a marketing survey of this area be made.

Sorenson said that the team would:

1. Evaluate specific crops in terms of competitive position with other areas, including when they could be ready for market, in what quantity, and at what cost.

2. Determine specific buying strength for various crops in different markets at the time the produce will be available.

3. Study facility requirements for marketing, determining centers and collecting points needed in West Texas.

He then passed out to those present questionnaires which will help keep the survey rolling.

"We're not trying to promote anything," he pointed out. "If we find out that your ideas are not marketable, we'll tell you so."

Hammond added that the preliminary work "is not the real thing." Getting out and finding marketing conditions will be the real work.

Gene Quest, chairman of the constitutional committee, then passed out copies of the proposed constitution, which after discussion, was adopted with minor changes.

It provided eventual setting up of a Council composed of any interested individuals, with the affairs of the Council operated by an executive board.

Officers of the board will be elected by the total Council membership which is allowed to elect delegates to the Executive Board.

Financing and districting details were yet to be worked out.

Dr. George O. Elle, Texas Tech, told the group in closing that "The organization is teetering. At this point it can tip forward, and become a progressive, constructive association which can mean much to the farmers of this area, or it can fall back, slowly breaking apart with no one the worse off."

"Each person interested in the prospect of increased vegetable production in this area must do all possible if it is to go forward."

Present at the meeting were L. A. Marshall, Floydada; Donald Davis, Lazbuddie; Sorenson, Hammond, Cole and Elle; Jason Gordon, Plainview; Don Anthony, Dumas; and E. O. Baker, Muleshoe.

Also C. E. Layman, Earth; W. H. Braden, Springlake; Ivan Fowler, Littlefield; Arno Struve, Abernathy; Ollie Limer, Plainview; Bob Hilburn, Plainview; Gene Quest, Lubbock; and H. B. Thornton, Lockney.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, March 22.—The West Texas Vegetable Council, still in the infant stage, showed signs of getting on its feet here Thursday as 12 members of the steering group heard progress reports and laid plans for future work.

On the progress side of the ledger was the announcement that three experts, two for marketing and one for production, are now assigned to this area to help compile marketing and growing information.

While all three pointed out that they are not connected with promotion in any way, they did offer to help the Council in any way possible with factual information.

Reduced Rates for Auto Insurance Become Effective in Texas May 1

Residents of the smaller cities and towns and rural areas, as well as farmers and ranchers, grabbed a larger slice of the automobile rate reductions announced this week by the Board of Insurance Commissioners than did their city cousins, Morris Brownlee of Houston, a member of the Board, said.

The new rates, estimated to save Texas drivers a grand total of $9,500,000, will apply to policies effective on and after May 1.

Attention was called to the fact that a reduced rate for losses had made possible reductions totaling $21,000,000 in automobile rates in the past two years, and Commissioner Brownlee commented that the reductions announced this week indicated that rural drivers contributed greatly toward making these reductions possible.

fire and theft rates for commercial vehicles operating regularly or frequently beyond a 150 mile radius of the place of principal garaging were reduced 11.5% and the collision coverages for such vehicles were increased 2.3%. These changes apply in all sections of the state.

Commissioner Brownlee pointed out that the private passenger changes applied to all classes of drivers and that the 10% discount allowed for male and female drivers under 25 years of age who complete the driver education course approved by the State Department of Education was continued without change. He said that statistics were not yet available to indicate whether this should be higher or lower.

SEARCH DISASTER RUINS — With the help of a crane, firemen search the ruins of the Tidewater Mill and Elevator Co. for the bodies of those still reported missing. The industrial section of Philadelphia was rocked by the tremendous explosions which destroyed a large grain elevator and several smaller buildings. The disaster is said to be the worst in 20 years for Philadelphia.

Letters To The Editor

PROGRESS MINISTER ASKS MISUNDERSTANDING BE CLEARED UP

Muleshoe, Texas, Rt. 2, April 2, 1956.
Editor, The Muleshoe Journal, Muleshoe, Texas.

Dear Editor: With reference to the article in your last week's edition of the paper, "Progress to Have Community Center," I wish to say I do appreciate the publicity given, but feel that the article is misleading to the public, as the building now being reconstructed is not a community property.

Some years ago, after the Alamo school disbanded, the property mentioned was purchased from the school board by the Methodist church with the assistance of other organizations and individuals interested in the community and Progress. At a later date, by due and legal procedure, the interests of the other organizations and individuals were purchased by the Methodist church. Since that time, the building being reconstructed at present has been strictly the property of the Methodist church.

Since reconstruction began recently, the procedure has been solely the responsibility of the Methodist church. I do not mean that the use of the building will be withheld from other organizations. At present it is our plan to let the building be used on occasion to other organizations by an arrangement through the trustees of the church or some person or persons appointed by them.

This letter is written with no offense to anyone, but I am requesting that it be printed in your next edition so that the good people and organizations of the community who are our friends will not be misinformed.

Thanking you for your interest in us, I am,
Sincerely,
C. T. JACKSON, Pastor,
Progress Methodist Church,
Muleshoe, Texas, Route 2.

There was an attendance of approximately forty-five, with four lodges, and two grand jurisdictions being represented.

Bula Juniors To Give Play Tonight

"Aaron Slick From Punkin' Creek," Broadway's second most produced play and the "grand-pappy" of all rural and hillbilly comedies, will be presented in the Bula high school auditorium Thursday, April 5, at 8 p.m., by the Bula junior class under the sponsorship of Marion J. McDaniel.

Appearing in the play will be an experienced cast. Last year the class presented "Hobgoblin House," a mystery-comedy, as a part of a speech course. Junior Austin and Arvin Stoud acted in last year's senior play. Hard work and long study both last year and this year should enable the cast to produce a highly skilled play.

Mr. McDaniel will be producing his sixth play, having produced one every year he has been at Bula. Said Mr. McDaniel, "I believe that this year's play will be a great achievement for the class, or at least as good as could be done without going outside the class for character casting which I never do."

Admission will be 25 cents for seventh grade and below, 50 cents for eighth and above, and possibly some reserved seats at 75 cents.

"The ditch you can carry" — moveable tubing that has revolutionized irrigation, reduced costs, and simplified handling.

FLEX-FLUME is a heavy-duty system designed to carry large volumes of water at minimum pressure, yet it is light-weight and provides simple, leak-proof couplings for joining the standard 100-foot lengths.

When you change locations, Flex-Flume is easily collapsed and rolled for movement to the next field. No engineering necessary, no storage problems.

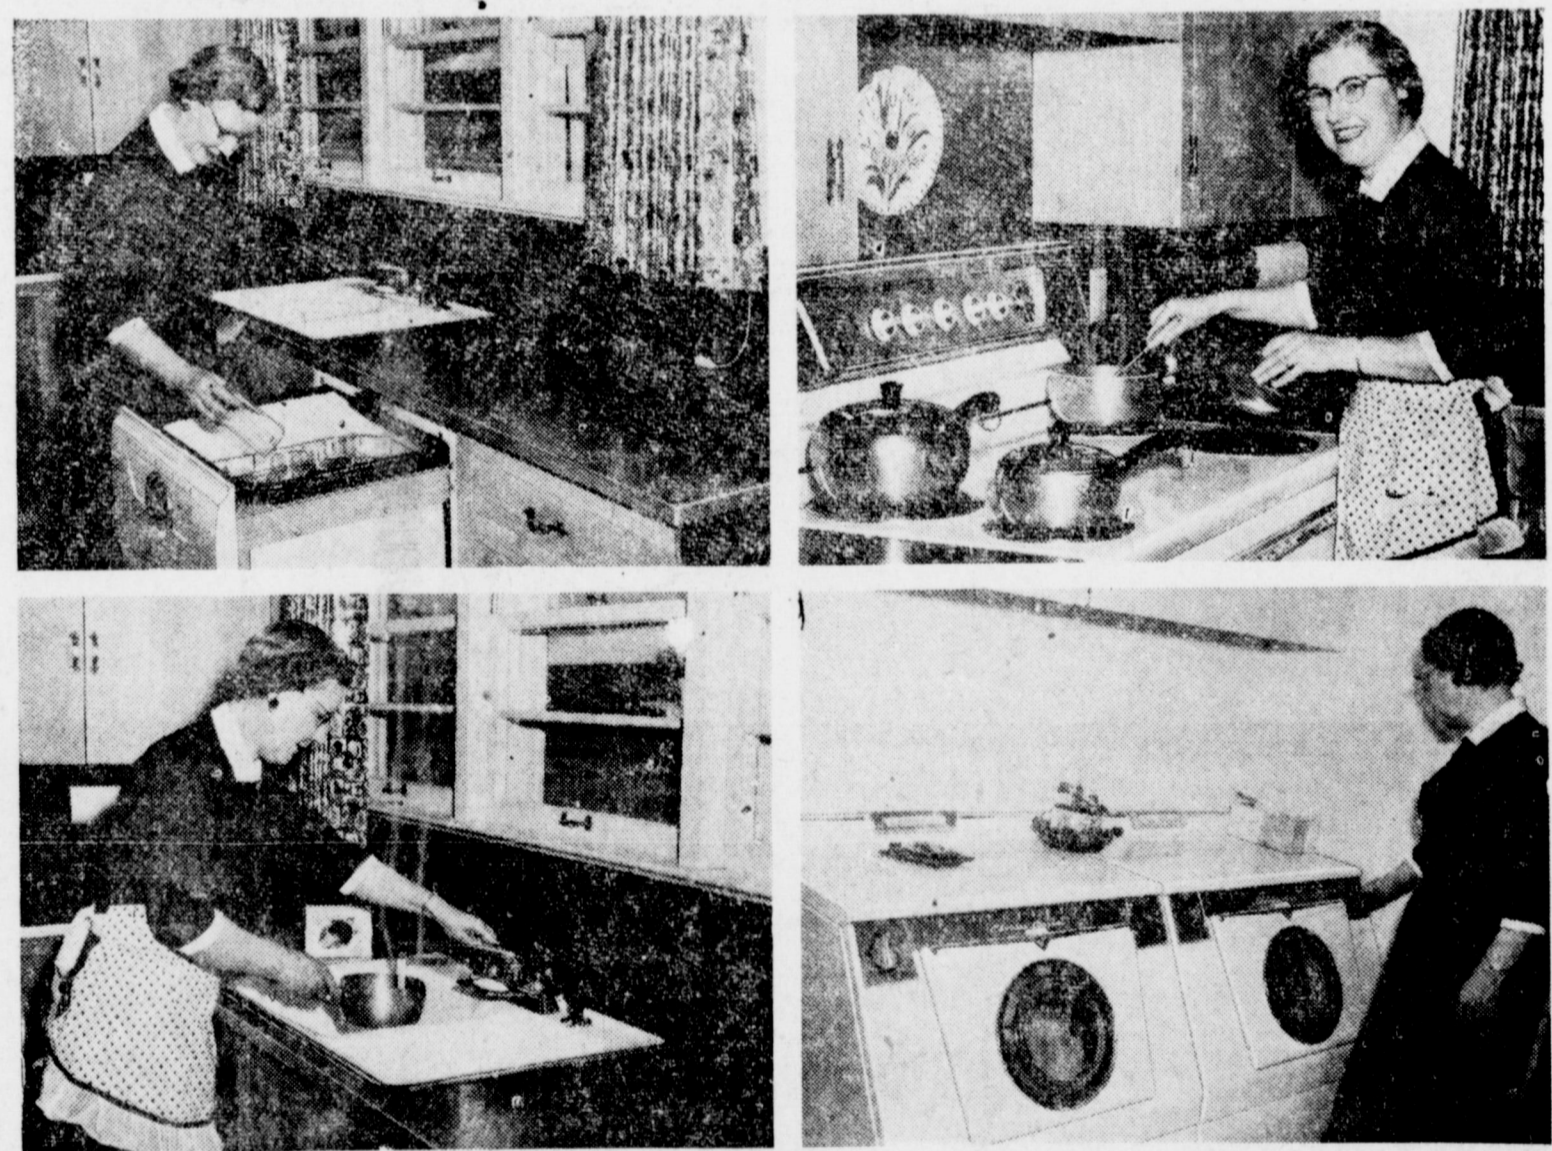

Flex-Flume increases yields and profits, carrying water and liquid fertilizer without loss by evaporation, seepage or weeds. Row outlets are adaptable to any standard row spacings.

Flex-Flume is backed by a three-year warranty against weathering, is impervious to rot, rust, and corrosion.

"Every place where hot water is needed, each member of our family enjoys the benefits of our electric water heaters."

There are five in the family, too, but Mrs. Murphy adds, "We are never out of hot water."

And, for parents, here's something that's very important from Mrs. Murphy. She says, "My husband and I know that heating water the electric way is completely safe. Why, you can use the space above the water heater for storage."

For speed, safety, cleanliness — yes, and economy, too, for Reddy's special water heating rate makes the cost less than you'd think, see the modern water heater. Of course, it's electric.
