WHAT RIGHTS ARE ALLOWED SOME VETERANS

Some boys were drafted into the Service, took their training, spent from one to five years in the Theatre of War, and were lucky to be able to return to their homes without serious bodily injury. But many of our boys were killed on the firing line, and scores will carry the scars of battle for life.

But for one to get no farther than the Induction Center and Army Hospital and be wounded by our own doctors is a different problem.

On November 16, 1942, I was drafted into the Army from Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas. At that time I was 42 years old. I asked the Army doctors to put me in shape to make a soldier, but instead they injured my spinal column for life, then refused to admit they did it.

Due to the fact that I have had hemorrhoids ever since boyhood and knowing by past experience I could not withstand the training of an Army soldier without very ill effects, I asked for an operation, then was compelled to have the operation or be subject to court martial. Being afraid I might have to accept a dishonorable discharge, I submitted to their plans. I was also compelled to let the doctors give me a spinal bloc. Not long after I began to recover from my hemorrhoid operation, a hurting developed in the lower side of my stomach. The doctors claimed I had a stomach ulcer. In fact, that was their excuse for giving me my discharge. But, less than 90 days later, the hurting left my stomach and it has never bothered me since. I do not believe I ever had a stomach ulcer.

I applied for a Service Disconnected Disability pension less than 30 days after I was discharged, stating the Army doctor stuck a needle in my spine and in doing so injured the nerves of my spinal column. I consulted numerous doctors from time to time, but it was not until May 1945 that I found a doctor who would promise me he would tell me what was or is wrong with my spine and give me a statement. He stated I had arthritis severe of the lumbar spine. It was not until the following October that the Veterans Administration admitted they knew I have arthritis of the spine. I had never been bothered with my spine before in my life, and had done hard labor all my life.

I moved to Tahoka in February, 1938. From that date until I was drafted I worked at daily labor, doing anything I could find to do. I worked in three different feed mills, helped build the streets of Tahoka, rode 70 miles per day in an old WPA truck, and shoveled and broke rock 8 hours per day, helped build the airport north of Lubbock. I also helped build several hundred miles of rural electric lines on the South Plains dirt, digging anchor holes from 6 to 12 feet into the ground. But the Army claims my back trouble began prior to being drafted into the Army.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Pat B. Healy of 312 30th street, Lubbock, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joyce, to Raymond Carroll Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bailey also of Lubbock. The couple plan a May wedding and will be at home in Lubbock.

The News is your best advertising medium—by far.

Since my discharge, I have tried to hold many different jobs, but was compelled to give them up on account of my spinal puncture. I have contacted every known organization of the Veterans Service but none has done anything for me.

I do not ask for charity. I only ask for what belongs to me and has belonged to me ever since I was discharged from the Army. I am unemployed now and had to quit a job two weeks back on account of my spinal trouble, and don't know if I will be able to find another soon.

You may use your own judgment in regard to my case, but if you wish to help me, write your congressman and ask him why my case has been misrepresented and no one will try to do anything about it. (Signed)

By BILL STRANGE, JR.

A N. Y. matrimonial engineer says that for a $500 fee he can teach any man in 10 hours how to marry a millionaire. That's good pay for 10 hours work even if you have to spend your own money for the license. All you have to do is be sincere... flatter the girl... be intelligent... listen to her... make her think you need her desperately. This reduces love to an advertising campaign. Instead of looking for the girl in a million you look for the girl with a million bucks... but if the right girl doesn't go with it you'll miss a lot that money can't buy.

The Seattle Sheriff's office investigated a report on a woman screaming... and found a girl taking singing lessons. At least it was an unprejudiced criticism. You won't be able to find anything to criticize about the 1950 Ford-tops in driving ease and road endurance. Drop in today to BILL STRANGE MOTORS and drive one—you'll be convinced. Phone 49. Adv.

Grassroots

By Bill Griffin
ROSE CARE—April is a busy month for the rose gardener. It is a little too late to plant roses unless you are using plants that have been held in cold storage, but there are a lot of things that can be done to make those you already have growing more productive and beautiful. Roses do best in a fertile soil. If fertilization is needed, now is the-time to make the application. Two or three pounds of 4-12-4 or 5-10-5 commercial fertilizer for each hundred square feet of space in the rose garden is about right. The fertilizer should be worked into the soil by shallow cultivation. Deep cultivation at this time of the year will destroy the young feeder roots that are near the ground surface and this may retard plant growth and cut down on the production of flowers. The rose garden can be mulched at this time. A good mulch of decayed leaves, straw, grass clippings, or well decayed barnyard manure will help hold moisture, keep down weed and grass growth in the garden and will improve the tilth of the soil.

Roses should be checked now for new sprout growth. They come from the root stock; usually grow very rapidly and are easy to recognize because the leaves are small and light green in color. They should be removed for they can crowd-off the more desirable rose graft.

Roses require good drainage, yet they need plenty of moisture for heavy flower production. They should not be sprinkled, because moisture applied to the leaves encourage black spot and mildew. Both diseases are likely to develop during periods of rainy or cloudy weather and roses should be dusted with copper-sulphur dust within 24 hours after each rain for control.

Black spots is "public enemy No. 1" so far as roses are concerned. It causes the black spots on the leaves; turns them yellow later and they drop. Die back of the stems usually follows and if the disease is not brought under control, the entire plant may die.

Out-of-shape plants may be pruned from now until summer but no more growth should be removed than is necessary. Prune only to keep the plants a convenient size and attractive in form.

WELLS H. D. CLUB MEETS AT LEDBETTER HOME

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. A. E. Leverett on April 18, when joint programs on the control of insects in the garden and yard and the control of household insects will be given by leaders in the club.

Anyone interested in either of these programs, is invited to attend the meeting, beginning at 2:30 p. m. —Reporter.

Former Tahokan Becomes Famous As Surgeon By Rare Operation

Dr. Conrad Lamb, who was reared in Tahoka and who now is a famous surgeon connected with Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, Michigan, during the past few years has been making a name for himself in the medical profession.

But, last week he made the headlines of the nation's daily newspapers when he, with the aid of his assistant, successfully performed a delicate heart artery operation which may herald new advances in vascular surgery (operating on blood vessels).

The operation was performed Wednesday of last week, the Associated Press reports, by Dr. Lamb and his assistant, Dr. H. H. Aram, on an un-named 57-year-old Detroit man, who is alive and "doing well." Officials of the hospital said "the rare and dramatic operation undoubtedly saved his life."

The patient, according to the Associated Press, was admitted to the hospital with an advanced thoracic aneurism, a condition in which the walls of the main artery (aorta) were diseased and giving way before direct pressure from the heart.

Doctors said if the patient's ballooning artery, which already was distended to the size of a small grapefruit, had burst death would have followed immediately.

Dr. Lamb transplanted into the man's chest a six-inch long segment of a dead man's heart artery.

While the operation was being performed, the main artery was temporarily replaced with a tube three-quarters of an inch in diameter which continued to feed blood through the many smaller arteries below the aorta in order that the entire lower half of the body would not be without circulation.

"Probably the most dramatic aspect of Dr. Lamb's operation," the AP continues, "concerns the fact that the segment of healthy artery transplanted to replace the patient's diseased aorta was taken five days earlier from the body of a deceased person in post-mortem surgery."

"It was preserved for five days at Ford Hospital under refrigeration in penicillin and blood plasma before it was spliced into the living man's artery at a point just two inches from his heart."

Conrad was reared in Tahoka, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ely Lamb, former Tahoka ginners now of Seagraves. He graduated from the Tahoka high school in about 1922 or 1923, worked for Craft's Tailor Shop. He attended Simmons University (Hardin-Simmons) from 1923 to 1927, majoring in chemistry, and was a member during his stay at Simmons of the debating team, Pre-med club, business manager of The Brand, college newspaper; business manager of the Corral, college annual; and held many other college offices. He was a charter member of the famous Cowboy Band, being a cornet player, which toured the nation and played in England before the King and other Royalty. Later he attended medical schools, much of the time playing in dance orchestras to defray his educational expenses.

He and his wife and three children visited friends in Tahoka briefly last summer.

Pythian Sisters Plan New Home

Members of Lynn Temple No. 45 of the Pythian Sisters met Tuesday evening, April 4, at 7:30 p. m. for the first regular meeting of the month.

Roll call was made, and all officers were present.

Business included discussion of the Grand Temple meeting in May at Mineral Wells. Our Grand Temple representative, Nina Short, and several Pythian Sisters plan to attend.

As new business, it was decided to start a fund for building a new Temple. This, we realize, is a great undertaking, but from small beginnings all great things grow.

After the meeting, the program and entertainment committee took over, and games centered around Easter were played. During one of these games, a prize was given to the one who found the Silver egg. This prize went to Tommie Terry, as she was the lucky one.

Refreshments of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, and coffee were served to the 23 members present by Mildred Sherrill, Lucy Brice, and Fannie Lee Server.

Next meeting is April 18 at 7:30 p. m. Everyone is urged to attend. —Reporter.

Senior Play

When Janelle's boy friend, who has jilted her (Bert Stevens) wires that he is coming for a visit, she persuades Lewis to act the part of her emergency husband. Their little game of deception runs into trouble when Lewis's fiancée (Jean Henderson) drops in for a visit, accompanied by her hard-boiled uncle Hiram (Delwyn Tunnell). To top it off Geneva's mother (Wanda Short) and Dan's rich aunt (Jolene Bragg) arrive unexpectedly and begin asking embarrassing questions.

With JoAnn Thomas playing the part of Aunt Jubilee, the Negro cook, and Nell Eubanks cast as her daughter, Elberta Peach—there's a laugh in every line.

And just when the lives of the newly-weds and their friends become hopelessly tangled, the Wild Man from Borneo (Duwaine Townsend) escapes from a nearby circus

Lynn County Busses Are Transporting 1474 Students

O'Donnell Leads With 435 Students Riding Busses Daily

Lynn county schools are being paid a total of $38,991.00 by the State for transporting 1474 students, the annual bus transportation report of County Superintendent Lenore M. Tunnell shows.

Children living two miles or more from school are eligible for bus transportation. Others may be transported if convenient and if busses are not crowded. The State pays for such transportation at a rate of $3.50 per student per month, or $31.50 for the school year.

Lynn county schools operate 23 busses in transporting the 1474 students. Approved scholastics in the county total 2892, Mrs. Tunnell said.

O'Donnell has the largest number of bus students, 435, including some from Dawson county, and by the end of the school year will collect a total of $11,130.50 for transportation.

Wilson transports a total of 389 students and will qualify for $10,049.00.

Tahoka has 360 bus students which bring in $9,569.00. In addition, it receives 20 students from Grassland, at a transportation allowable of $630.00.

Grassland transports 26 students to its own school and will receive $672.00 on these. Two from Grassland attend Post High School and that district will draw $63.00 on these.

New Home hauls 189 students, which will bring that district $5,517.75.

Newmoore carries 37 students to its own school and will receive transportation aid of $906.25 on these. In addition, 16 high school students are transported to Dawson High School (Welch), which will receive $441.00 on these.

Mrs. Tunnell says payments are made by the State each month during the 9-months school year on the above basis for transportation.

NEW BLOOD NEEDED ON HIGHER COURT

We note that G. H. Nelson of Lubbock has announced as a candidate for a position on the Court of Criminal Appeals. This court is the supreme court in Texas in criminal cases. Nelson is 48 years of age and has served as county attorney of Lynn county, district attorney of the 106th judicial district, and as state senator from the 30th senatorial district. In addition to this he has much experience in the private practice of law. We believe that he is well qualified to fill the position to which he aspires.

The only other candidate for the place thus far is Judge F. L. Hawkins, 84 years of age, who has held the position for the past 28 years. We believe that he is old enough to retire—too old in fact to serve longer efficiently.

Furthermore, we believe that the court needs some new blood among its membership. Judges can become so technical that they will sometimes unbendingly adhere to the letter of the law, as construed by them, rather than to deviate one iota from it even though such action may defeat justice. Two notable cases decided by the court of criminal appeals in recent years illustrate the point, the drowning case and the "stomping" case. We believe that while district and county attorneys ought to be careful in the drawing of indictments, yet judges on the bench should ever keep in mind that to do justice is the real and paramount purpose of the law.

We believe that Judge Nelson would not make a farce of justice and bring the courts into disrepute by any decision of his if he were on the court of criminal appeals. Texas should get behind him and elect him to this important judicial position.

From this distance it looks as if Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin was merely playing politics when he made his charges of the existence of communists in wholesale quantities in the State Department of our Government. Up to now he has proved practically nothing. He has merely made a monkey of himself. Far commendable has been the attitude of Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and other patriotic Republicans who have not dared to stoop to the use of questionable methods just to advance their own political ambitions or the position of their party. We were especially gratified a few days ago at the statement made by Senator Lodge. He had the ring of statesmanship and patriotism about it rather than the clangor and the clamor of a mere politician. We despised the attitude and the course of the elder Senator Lodge at the close of World War No. 1 when he deliberately undertook to sabotage and did sabotage the proposed League of Nations mainly because it had been proposed and promoted by President Woodrow Wilson, his political and personal antagonist. We have decided that Senator Lodge, Jr., is a great improvement over his able but vindictive father.

ODDS AND ENDS

(By E. I. The Elder)

"I remember, I remember the house where I was born, The little window where the sun came peeping in at morn; He never came a wink too soon nor made too long a stay, But now I often wish the night (wrote Thomas Hood in gloomy mood) would bear my breath away."

We can go all the way with Mr. Hood in this first verse of his beautiful little poem until we get to the last line: we can not follow him there. We have never wanted the night to take our breath away; for, in truth, in spite of all its trials and tribulations, we think that life is really wonderful.

Like Mr. Hood, however, we can well remember the house where we were born—a little three-room box house that stood at the east end of a bois d'arc hedge running east and west and at the north end of another hedge running north and south, with an opening of perhaps a hundred yards between these ends of the two hedges. Thorny hedges were planted out and grown in those early days to serve as fences. Most fences, however, were built of rails.

That little house, changed and re-modeled slightly a time or two, continued to stand and to house first one tenant farmer and his family and then another until some eight or ten years ago, when it was destroyed by fire.

We drove by the place a few days ago just to view the scene and to revive smouldering memories. The unkempt hedges were still there, but they were ragged and scraggly, due to the ravages of time.

The larger house that sat further up on the hillside to the southeast of our birthplace and which was the second house in which we lived as a child, had been torn down and the usable lumber moved away. The present owner had built a larger and more attractive house at another place on the farm and there was nothing about the premises except the terrain itself that looked natural.

Yes, and we drove over to the old Stampede school grounds, where as a child and as a youth, we attended school. No longer does the school-house sit by the road, "a ragged beggar sunning," for the ruthless hands of Progress have likewise torn it down and consigned it to the junk piles. Has a better and more modern school building been erected to take its place? Not so. The children are now transported in buses to Moody, where, mayhap, better teachers do function.

But, though the school houses and equipment those pioneer days were much inferior to those of the present day, though the curriculum was not as broad, though the teachers did not hold college degrees, and though the salaries paid were shamefully meager as compared with present day salaries, we dare say that there are few teachers in the public schools of today that exceed many of those of the pioneer days in aptness to teach, in devotion to duty, and in the influence for good that they wielded over the students. Speaking personally, we have encountered few teachers who were superior to Isaac N. Isbill in his field, who taught for five years in the little old Stampede school-house while this writer was a child and a youth.

Right there we were taught not only the three "R's" but also a little geography, a little history, a little grammar, and a little science, and we were fired with the desire to learn far more than could be taught in the public schools.

There, too, at recess and at noon, we played "stink" base, and Wolf over the River, and "cat" and town-ball and shinny, and sometimes marbles and "tops." Even baseball had come in vogue when we first went away to school. Yes, and when the days got warm, we would go about twice a week, at noon, down to the old swimming hole, and what a time we would have!

So, the other day, after looking over the grounds, we drove down to the creek, crossed it, and parked our little red "Chevy"—a thing that we had never dreamed of doing even in our wildest flights of fancy when we played along the banks of this same creek sixty years ago.

Parking the car, we struck out on foot. We went first to the old spring from which we drank as a child. It had been filled up and abandoned, but Nature, refusing to be thwarted by the unappreciative minds and purposes of men, had made another opening for the pent-up waters beneath the surface of the earth and here they came bubbling out through another aperture and laughing gaily as they sped on down to the larger stream below. We took our cup and caught it brimming full and drank joyfully of the finest liquid that ever passed down the throat of man or beast.

This done, we went on down to the old swimming hole. There it was, slightly changed, that old willow tree that used to bend over it, gone; but otherwise it was much the same as it was a couple of generations ago. One thing, however, was lacking. There were no schoolboys diving into its pure, clean waters, and there were no shouts of school boys running down to the school's edge, undressing as they came. Only a squirrel, frightened by our approach, showed us his heels as he scampered to a near-by tree.

Two other things we missed. One was the old mustang grape vine, and the other was the big old spreading elm tree not far from the spring, under which we boys used to play marbles. The familiar elm that used to stand much closer to the school house was still there but was now only an ugly skeleton of its former self.

Far greater than any of these changes, however, was the change that time had wrought in the community personnel. Not a single one of the "old settlers" who were residents of the community when I was a child is to be found there now. They have all passed on. Just a few of those of my age or a little older than I are living there now. Practically all of their descendants are also gone; some of them having died, many of them having moved out to greener pastures.

That team "greener pasture" is used only figuratively, however, for since we have been down in this area we have seen no real pastures greener than those that lie in Stampede Valley and in some other communities of Bell county. Though they are suffering from a two months drouth and everybody is crying for rain, yet their corn is up and their grass is green. The cows in this area are of good stock too and are generally fat. The flowers are blooming too, we mean the wild prairie flowers. We have seen fields of bluebonnets and wild phlox or sweet Williams as they were called when I was a child now blooming on the thinner soils in Stampede Valley and along the Leon River north of Belton would rival a West Texas sunset for beauty. They not doubt would have been still more gorgeous had the rainfall been more plentiful.

Twice before, since coming to central Texas early in March, I had passed through Belton, but the other day I stopped to see a few old friends. There are possibly more old-timers in Belton than in Temple, though Temple is three or four times as large.

Standing on a bank corner, I met a number of these old-timers in just little while. Most of them at first I did not recognize, nor did most of them recognize me, until introduced. For an hour we certainly had a good time; but time was passing and I wanted to go out to the Belton Dam now under construction. So I went—drove out by myself; and immediately I discovered upon approaching it that it is to be a big thing—big for this country.

The dam is being constructed across the Leon River about four (Cont'd. on Back Page)

Ked Raiders Plan Game

Lubbock, April 12.—High school coaches and players from about 50 communities have been invited to be guests of Texas Tech at the annual football game ending spring practice for the Red Raiders Friday night, April 14. A colorful show in the form of a Spring Round-Up has been planned in connection with the game, with Mary Woody, Ballinger junior, as Round-Up Queen. The Lubbock Sheriff's Possee and two male quartets will be featured during the ceremonies. "Ox" Jamison, Seagraves, will act as ranch boss, with John Andrews, Amarillo, and James Conley, Quanah, 1949 Raider co-captain, as foreman.

Coach Dell Morgan has divided his squad into equal divisions and expects a close football game to be offered before several thousand fans. Coaches for the teams will be selected by lot just before game time, with Assistants G. B. Morris and Carl Mulleneaux tossing and calling a coin.

Next fall Coach Morgan expects to rely mainly on graduates of the 1949 freshman squad—he is hopeful some of the new potential stars will show well Friday night. Starters will include: Buddy Barron, Temple, guard; Don Seale, Idalou, quarterback; Alton Linne, Monahans, end; Bill O'Grady, Fort Worth, fullback; Jimmie Williams, Phillips, center; and Jim Turner, Olney, back, all freshmen.

Tickets for the Round-Up have been placed on sale in all communities surrounding Lubbock. Proceeds will go toward furtherance of the Tech athletic program.

Dates for the 1950 Texas 4-H Club Round-Up and the annual Extension Conference have been set for the week of June 12-16.

miles from Belton. Its maximum height is to be 190 feet. The dam and spillway will be 6,000 feet long. The reservoir area at spillway crest will be 23,620 acres. In other words, when filled to the spillway, it will cover approximately 37 square miles. It will back the water up-stream to within six or eight miles of Gatesville, as the river flows. The water content of the reservoir is given as 1,097,600 acre feet, the second largest in Texas, being exceeded only by Marshall Ford reservoir on the Colorado River near Austin. The Denison lake on the Red River is five times as large, but it is situated partly in Oklahoma. Its water content will be much larger than the Possum Kingdom Lake and a little larger than the Buchanan reservoir between Burnett and Lano. Highway 36 which runs from Abilene through Comanche, Hamilton, and Gatesville to Temple will cross the lake near its middle point a mile north of Moffat, and the waters of the lake will extend around nearly to Platt, the old stomping ground of Vester and Victor Botkin in Coryell county. They will also extend far back up in the Cowhouse, Cedar Creek, and Stampede. This lake should be another fisherman's paradise.

But its going to be hard on scores of families whose homes and farms will be covered by the impounded waters. We heard of one man recently whose orchard of 1,000 trees will be inundated. All of the rich bottom lands along these streams for miles and miles will be buried and taken out of production. Numerous valuable pecan trees will be destroyed.

But the Government will doubtless pay the owners well for their lands and their homes. We heard the complaint a few days ago that the Government had bought a vast amount of land at the beginning of the war for the establishment of Camp Hood that was not needed and never used, though extravagant prices for the land was paid by the Government.

Let us hope that the benefits derived from this dam will outweigh the costs, current and prospective.
