Because of her long experience in all phases of disaster work, Mrs. Kubly was flown to Blackwell. Election Called On Consolidation

Elections in the Grassland and Tahoka school districts have been set for Tuesday, June 28, on the proposal to consolidate the two districts.

The elections were called Monday by County Judge W. M. Mathis after petitions asking for the election had been presented bearing the names of 27 voters in the Grassland district and 23 voters in the Tahoka district.

A majority vote would be necessary in each district to consolidate the two school districts.

High school and eighth grade students of the Grassland district have been attending the Tahoka High School for a number of years, but that district has operated a two-teacher school for all students through the seventh grade.

In return for schooling its high school students, Grassland has been giving Tahoka state apportionment and transportation funds on the students transferring. This lacks about $120.00 per pupil paying the Tahoka cost of educating a student.

Recently, due to this rising cost per pupil, the Tahoka board asked Grassland for more financial help.

In a joint meeting of the two boards, Tahoka laid its problems before the Grassland board, and calling of the consolidation election was the result.

Grassland has problems also, among them the need for repairing and improving its present school plant if it is to be continued in use, and the board there had been considering the feasibility of a bond election to improve the plant.

Wilmer Smith Is Capitol Visitor

Wilmer Smith of New Home, who is chairman of the National Advisory Committee to the Federal Farm Credit Board, recently was in Washington D. C., where he testified before the House and Senate Agricultural Committees on matters dealing with farm credit.

By invitation, Smith testified before the House Committee on May 17 to 19 and before the Senate Committee on May 19 and 20 in regard to House Bill 2166 and Senate Bill 5196, respectively, both of which are similar and have to do with farm credit.

Mr. Smith says he was given a very courteous and sympathetic hearing in both committee rooms.

Bible School At Church of Christ

The annual Vacation Bible School at the Tahoka Church of Christ will open Monday morning and continue through Friday, according to Doyle Kelsey, minister of the Church.

The classes will begin each morning at 9 o'clock and continue until 11 o'clock.

All children and young people of the community have a cordial invitation to attend the school.

Queen Contest Entries Sought

August 19 has been set as the date for the annual Queen Contest sponsored by Lynn County Farm Bureau, and deadline for the entry of contestants has been set as August 1.

Mrs. Charles Verner will work with and train the girls, so that each entrant may have a more equal chance in winning.

Eligible young ladies are those aged 16 to 22 (16 by Sept. 1, 1955, and not over 22 by Sept. 1, 1955), whose father or a brother is a member of the Farm Bureau.

Entry in the contest may be made either by calling or going by the Farm Bureau office in Tahoka. Registration is open now, and will continue until August 1.

Girls will enjoy the competition and will have a chance at some valuable prizes and also a chance to advance to the district and state contests.

Collection Not For Church of Christ

No one has been authorized to take up a public collection for any Church of Christ in Tahoka, states Doyle Kelsey and L. A. Forsythe of the Tahoka Church of Christ.

This week, a local Colored man was taking up a collection in the business district of Tahoka for a "Church of Christ."

The News is informed that there is no Colored Church of Christ in Tahoka, and that possibly the man was taking up the collection for another Colored Church here.

Furthermore, Kelsey and Forsythe declare that no affiliate of the local Church of Christ makes any solicitation of funds from the general public.

Mrs. Pauline Walters was a medical patient in Tahoka Hospital Saturday through Wednesday.

Mrs. Lawrence Harvick was a medical patient in Tahoka Hospital Tuesday and Wednesday.

Fiddlers Coming Here June 24th

Entries have started coming in for the Old Fiddlers Contest which will be held at 3 p. m. Friday, June 24, in conjunction with the annual Lynn County Pioneer Reunion, R. C. Wells reports.

Cash prizes of $50.00, $30.00, and $20.00 will be paid the first three winners in the contest.

This week, Tahoka Chamber of Commerce announced it would give three trophies for the most interestingly decorated store windows during the Reunion. Business institutions are asked to again place in their windows display of pioneer pictures, relics, etc., which proved to be so interesting last year.

Suitable awards will again be made at the Reunion to the oldest man, the oldest lady, and the person coming the greatest distance to the reunion.

Seek Extension Cotton Acreage

At its regular meeting Friday, June 3, the Lynn County ASC Committee requested the State ASC Committee to extend the date of release and reapportionment of 1955 cotton acreage allotments in Lynn County to June 15, and June 22, respectively.

If these dates are approved, and we believe they will be, stated Dee Green, office manager, farmers who have not planted their cotton allotments may release such allotments through June 15 to the County Committee for reapportionment to other farms.

Cotton acreage that has been planted and did not come up is not eligible for release. The farm on which the cotton was planted will get full credit for the acreage planted up to the allotment regardless of whether it came up or not.

J. E. Ketner, Lynn County Pioneer, Tells of Breaking Lapse-Lease Law

BY J. E. KETNER
(As told by Ben Moore)

I was born January 8, 1867, at Taylor, Texas, except that there was no Taylor at that time so far as I can learn.

At that time even Williamson county was sort of "on the frontier." Round Rock, our family's trading point, was to become famous a bit later with Sam Bass getting killed there.

My earliest schooling was in Burnet, where the old Government Post was not a forgotten site in the minds of local citizens.

Previous to the building of the Santa Fe into Coleman in 1866, we had moved to that town, which had only tents as homes. The organization of the county took place beneath the branches of a large liveoak tree.

Name of the first set of county officers are to be seen on the present court house cornerstone, this stone having served in the older building. My interest in the inscriptions on the stone may link up with the closing of my story.

From Round Rock came the supplies for the new town, hauled principally by ox teams—not as far away now, but a far piece (Cont'd. On Back Page)

Edmunds Well Is Put On Pump

The News is informed that W. E. Edmunds oil well on the eastern edge of the county in the Gordon community will be completed as a producer.

A pump is being installed to test the well, which has production in two states.

The well has drilled northwest of the Mrs. N. E. Jones well, just over the line in Garza county, by J. Paul Gercher and Manor Oil Co. Location is in section 1422, TTRR survey, block A-651, and total depth is 4,390 feet.

Mary Squires Dies Wednesday

Miss Mary Squires, 51, a resident of Tahoka for 30 years, died at 1:25 p. m. Wednesday in a Lubbock hospital, where she had been a patient nearly three weeks.

In ill health for about two years, she underwent surgery on May 21 for an intestinal ailment. Complications developed, including pneumonia, but early this week relatives believed her to be showing improvement Tuesday, doctors told them it only a matter of time until the end.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 3:30 p. m. at Stanley Funeral Chapel, with Rev. J. B. Stewart, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Burial followed in Tahoka Cemetery.

Mary Gertrude Squires was born Nov. 2, 1903, at Savoy. Her father, G. D. Squires, died in 1918, and her mother some years later was married to the late J. A. South. The family moved to Tahoka from Childress in 1928, and this has been her home ever since.

For about 15 years, Mary had been cashier and salesclerk at Rutherford's, and was known by a large majority of the people of Lynn County. She was a member of the First Methodist Church.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. J. A. South, 1800 Lockwood; one sister, Mrs. J. Temple (Ruth) Brashear, also of Tahoka; one brother, Glenmore D. (Lefty) Squires of Angleton; and one nephew, Billy Joe Brashear.

Lubbock Firm Buys Elevators

C. W. and Clyde Tatum of Economy Mills of Lubbock have contracted to buy the grain elevators, storage building, feed stor and service station property of the Burleson, Estate. The News is informed.

The property is located along about 600 feet of Santa Fe track on both sides of U. S. 390, the Post highway. It was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burleson. Since their death, Buel Draper and "Happy" Smith, administrator of the estate, have leased the property out.

The Tatum are experienced grain elevator and feed mill operators. Although they have announced no definite plans, it is presumed they will improve the property and reopen the business.

Bobby Lehman is home for the summer from the University of Texas, where he has been a pre-medical student.

Mary Louise Fenton is attending summer session at Texas Tech.

Baptist Addition Nears Completion

Partitions are being put up, and plastering is being done in the Educational Building of the First Baptist Church. The annex should be completed in approximately two months.

A committee has been appointed to plan special services for the opening day. The Church has voted to observe annual Promotion Day when the new building is opened. New officers and teachers and Training Union workers for the coming year will be elected early and will take over on the opening day.

The new Educational Building will provide for four nursery departments, three primary departments, two young peoples departments, and younger adults departments, as well as several class rooms for the older adults. It will also include a Pastor's study.

The new building will also provide for a kitchen and fellowship hall 20 x 60. Also, it will contain five restrooms.

Keith Connolly of Denver, Colo., blew in Wednesday with the sandstorm for a few days visit with his mother, Mrs. James Connolly, and other relatives.

Sheriff's Posse Wins Trophys

Lynn County Sheriff's Posse won two trophies last week for participation in rodeo parades, according to John Ellis of O'Donnell.

Last Wednesday, the Lynn Posse took first place in the parade at Midland. A beautiful trophy was added to the Posse's present imposing collection of prizes. Twenty-nine riders participated in the event. Gaines county took second place, and Martin county third.

Then, at the Slaton Rodeo parade, Friday, Lynn county Posse won second place and another trophy.

City Is Sprayed For Mosquitoes

City of Tahoka sprayed the town Tuesday with its "fogging machine" to cut down on a new hatch of mosquitoes and also the flies.

The spraying equipment will be used again in the near future to destroy the next hatch.

Those newcomers to West Texas who had not previously seen one, were initiated to a real sandstorm Wednesday at about 2:45 p. m.

Rolling in out of the north, the red duster turned day into night for about 15 minutes. Although street lights came on, they were largely ineffective in lighting up sufficiently to make navigation safe.

The sandstorm was followed by a shower which amounted to only .15 of an inch in Tahoka. Heaviest fall reported to The News was .3 in parts of the Redwine community.

Sand and electricity in the air damaged a lot of cotton over the county, especially in rows running north and south, searing some of the tender plants to a crisp and cutting others off at the ground.

However, the loss is not critical if more moisture can be received soon.

One agricultural "expert" estimates that about half of the county's cotton is in good shape, about 25 percent desperately in need of rain, and the remaining 25 percent still in the seed sacks.

The sandstorm was accompanied by a radical change in temperature, with the U. S. Weather Bureau thermometer dropping from a record high for the year of 100 degrees at 2:40 p. m. to 62 degrees at 6:30 p. m. The temperature remained cool and the skies cloudy on Thursday morning, with a trace of rain falling at about 8:30 a. m., accompanied by a minor amount of hail.

A warehouse belonging to D. W. Gagnat and located near the Santa Fe tracks was partially unroofed by the wind Wednesday. Other buildings received slight damage, and many limbs were broken from trees over the town.

In the Colored section of Northeast Tahoka, the back porch was blown off the Thomas Seymore home. After a search for the porch, Charles Etts found it on top of the house.

Mitchell Williams District Attorney

Mitchell Williams, county attorney, was appointed district attorney of the 106th Judicial District Monday afternoon by Governor Allan Shivers. The district includes Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Gaines, Terry and Yoakum counties.

Williams will succeed Vernon A. Townes of Denver City, whose resignation become effective Friday. Townes, formerly of Brownfield and a cousin of Charles Townes and Mrs. Clint Walker of Tahoka, became district attorney January 1. He resigned to become County Attorney of Yoakum county.

While living at O'Donnell, Mitchell Williams was appointed county attorney of Lynn county in May, 1951, to succeed Sam Garrard. He has served in this capacity ever since.

Williams, who is 33, was born and reared at Hope, Ark. He married Mary Holloway in 1942, and the couple have one son. He served in the U. S. Army from 1943 to 1946, spent 20 months in the European Theatre, and was captain when discharged. He attended Baylor University at Waco, where he received his law degree in 1950.

Immediately hereafter, in July, 1950, he came to O'Donnell to practice law, and lived there until his appointment as county attorney.

He has been active in local civic and church work. He is former president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce, is a steward in the First Methodist (Cont'n. On Back Page)

Use of Cotton Products Is Important To Every Citizen of Lynn County

"Every person in Lynn county should be interested in the future of America cotton, and every person should purchase and use cotton products," John T. Gregg, West Texas representative of the National Cotton Council, told Rotarians at their weekly meeting Thursday noon of last week.

"The future prosperity of Tahoka and Lynn county depends almost entirely on the use of cotton—and cotton has real competition from the new substitutes, such as rayon, nylon, orlon, dacron paper, etc. Yet, look around you. How many of you are wearing socks or shirts of these competing materials? Even farmers buy them."

"Such competitive materials have taken the place of 6 million bales of cotton since the '20s and '30s," the speaker said.

In 1939, when the National Cotton Council was formed, American cotton exports had gone down from 8 million in the 1920s to 5 million bales in the 1930s, and foreign production had gone up 7 million bales. The new substitutes were taking the place of the product of a million and a half of our farmers.

Since that date, due to work of the Cotton Council, great progress has been made in maintaining a cotton market, developing new uses for cotton, and making the public more conscious of the importance of Americans using cotton products. As a result, there now seems to be a leveling-off of the trend, and the outlook is not quite so gloomy.

The National Cotton Council was organized at Dallas in 1939 for the purpose of increasing the consumption of cotton and cottonseed.

The Council has 245 delegate members from 14 state units in the cotton belt, of which 47 are actual cotton farmers (8 from Texas). Texas has three ginner delegates, one of whom is Wilmer Smith of New Home. Texas has three compress delegates, one of whom is Harris Underwood of Lubbock. There are also representatives on the council from the oil mills, spinners, buyers—in fact, every branch of the cotton business. These men set its policies.

Mr. Gregg says the Council is now showing results from its long fight for markets and for policies (both private and governmental) which would make for increased efficiency in production, processing, and marketing of cotton.

Through the Council, there is now a united effort to promote "Such competitive materials since 1939 the favorable results have been many."

The Council has engaged in 64 major activities of benefit to the cotton farmer.

COBB INFANT DIES

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cobb of Seminole died at birth in Austin Saturday. Mr. Cobb is representative in the Texas Legislature from the 99th District, comprising, Lynn, Dawson, Gaines and Andrews counties.

data from surveys on cotton's position in the domestic market. It has waged vigorous sales and promotion campaigns, improved public relations; and it has sought out and promoted new uses for cotton products, such as mellorine and margarine.

Quality has been improved, such as to make cotton wrinkle proof, water repellent, soil resistant, flame resistant give it more lustre, and even to develop it into a substitute for wool.

Work has been done on the efficiency and quality in growing, ginning and merchandising of raw cotton, such as getting machinery companies to build better machines for mechanical farming, insect and weed control, defoliation, protection against fire losses and bale contamination.

In the field of legislation, it has worked for sound governmental policies aimed at efficiency and progress in the cotton industry.

The Council fights for free enterprise, and opposes discriminations against cotton in federal government policy.

The Council works for expanded cotton exports.

In this day of competition, cotton has to fight for its place in the sun, and The News hopes to carry further stories in the future to break down in more detail the work that is being done to improve the market for cotton.

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire") . . . and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-r-o-o-o-O-OOM!

Mister, you got you a flat mountain! . . . At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can ladle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo . . . built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

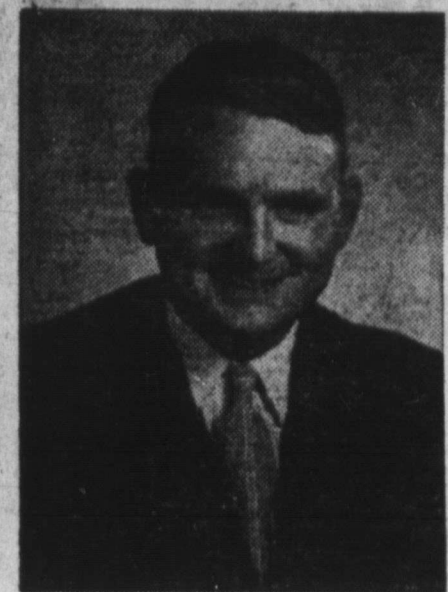

An engineer instantly understands why these V8's are so hyper-efficient . . . how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more . . . how big valves let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, and point the nose at the nearest hill. These V8's can do their own talking . . . and nobody argues with them!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

A major recommendation of the Attorney General's Committee to study Antitrust Laws was abolition of fair trade laws.

Paradoxically, in all the high flown language on this subject such as "restoring free competitive pricing" no mention was made of enforcing free "competitive pricing" in sales of gasoline, steel, cement, many other big industry products which are not fair traded, but which hold an astonishing unanimity of pricing structure nonetheless.

On analysis, this report by 80 corporation lawyers, professors and bureaucrats is not surprising. What committee lacked was a man with a screwdriver.

A committeeman with a screwdriver, ie, a servicing dealer, or a dealer's serviceman, could have told this great intellectual assemblage some facts of life.

For example, the Jones Co. may have decided to build the best food mixer possible.

So the Jones Company had at it, setting up production facilities, quality controls, and intensive advertising. But that was not all the Jones Co. needed.

It also needed dealers who would sell and stock this quality item. In addition, as is well known to any man with a screwdriver, there is no such thing as a flow of manufactured items without a percentage showing defects after being put in use.

To keep faith with the public, the Jones Company couldn't expect the consumer to wait while the defective mixer went to the National Federation of Independent Business factory and back. Neither is it practical for a mass production factory to spend time on a single unit, to say nothing of the postage costs involved.

So the Jones Company had to make arrangements with their dealers to handle service work on a local level. This in turn, required a plan to make it profitable for dealers to handle the Jones Mixer. So Jones Co. put a fair trade price on the item. Now this point is important.

The Jones Company did not set a price on all mixers. Indeed, all competitors, both domestic and Japanese, have always been free to give their products away if they so desired. But to assure the public of satisfaction with a Jones mixer, Jones dealers had to be assured of a fair profit.

So the Jones name means a lot to the consumer, it has prestige. Discount houses, price cutters, may set any price on a Jap made mixer they want, but the quality seeking segment of the public doesn't react.

Undoubtedly, among the corporation lawyers who arrived at this recommendation there are some who at some time would like to have helped some small businessmen by cutting his usual fee, yet refrained for fear if knowledge of this leak out, it would affect his prestige with his corporation clients. Yet, there was no hesitation in recommending the Jones prestige be thrown to the wolves.

These are things a man with a screwdriver could have told this august committee.

But a man with a screwdriver was not there, so a recommendation was made, which if put into force, would eventually drive American quality merchandise off the market, leaving field open to Japanese 19 cent per hour labor industry.

Plan Aid to Low Income Families

College Station, June 9—Local initiative, interest and enterprise form the foundation for a proposed plan aimed at helping low-income farm families find ways to improve their level of living. The plan has been presented to Congress by President Eisenhower.

The President's long-range plan is based upon the concept that a permanent solution must begin with the goals set by the people themselves, and be attained through the cooperative efforts of all segments of the community and all levels of government concerned with the problem.

Recommendations included in the plan call for an expansion of Federal and State services in technical assistance and extension work in areas of low resources; more intermediate-term credit from private and cooperative leading agencies for farm development; additional credit and technical assistance from the Farms Home Administration; a Federal-State research program aimed at solving problems common to the low-income group; improved state employment services and encouragement of industrial expansion in regions of underemployed rural labor.

Also to begin pilot programs within the next school year to develop more educational and vocational training opportunities in rural areas; improve health service and medical facilities in areas of need and trade area and community development program to increase income and raise living standards.

A U. S. Department of Agriculture report, upon which the plan is based, shows that 1.5 million farm families have a total cash income of less than $1,000 a year. Under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse has been the major USDA official responsible for directing and coordinating the USDA's part in the program.

Control Cotton Insects Pays Off

College Station — Early-season cotton insect control paid up to $108.33 per cent at the Lubbock Experiment Station in 1954. Insecticide tests at the station included pre-square applications for thrip control and post-square treatments for fleahoppers and thrips control. Toxaphene and dieldrin sprays also were compared in two experiments. W. L. Owen, Jr. entomologist at the station, reports that the pre-square toxaphene applications controlled thrips effectively for at least one week. Two treatments reduced plant malformation but did not protect cotton from thrips injury where infestations persisted after the plants reached the fruiting stage. Where damage was confined to the pre-square of growth, controls did not increase yields materially.

Deferred grazing, say range specialists, is the best method for bringing back drouthy, overgrazed lands. If as much as 15 percent of the key grasses are left, rest rather than reseed.

Where fleahoppers and thrips occurred in damaging infestation, economical control was gained with two or three applications of toxaphene or dieldrin sprays. Owen says. Although both materials were equally effective in controlling fleahoppers, dieldrin was superior to toxaphene for thrips control since infestations were reduced for longer periods. Yields of seed cotton were 653 pounds to the acre with two applications of toxaphene while two treatments of dieldrin produced 700 pounds of seed cotton per acre more than untreated cotton. Three applications of toxaphene and dieldrin increased yields 727 and 904 pounds per acre over untreated cotton. Owen says assuming the lint from treated and untreated cotton was equal in quality the average gross return from control was $96.46 per acre for toxaphene and $108.33 per acre for the dieldrin treatments.

Local initiative, interest and enterprise form the foundation for a proposed plan aimed at helping low-income farm families find ways to improve their level of living. President Eisenhower presented the plan to Congress.

Keltner Family Holds Reunion

For the first time since their children married and began raising families of their own, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Keltner of the Keltner Hotel had all their children and grandchildren at home at the same time early this week.

Those arriving last week end for the family reunion this week are:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keltner and three children of Globe, Arizona. Frank is manager of the J. C. Penney Department Store in Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keltner and two children of Casa Grande, Arizona. "He" operates a drug store in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Ray Keltner and three children of Clinton, North Carolina. Monte is associated with an electrical firm.

Mrs. Cubana Ecdes of the family home.

Also guests are Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Keltner of Ada, Oklahoma. A. T., retired wholesale grocer, is a brother of C. B., and the two Mrs. Keltners are sisters.

The Keltners have been in Tahoka 31 years. Mr. Keltner came here in 1924 at the age of 50 and built the present hotel building.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Keltner will have been married 50 years next October 9. Since it appeared impossible for all the children to be here on their Golden Wedding Anniversary this fall, they decided to meet here this week for the reunion.

"I love the time-saving advantages of my ELECTRIC RANGE!"

says Mrs. James Russell, 1009 BALTIMORE STREET PLAINVIEW, TEXAS

Reddy Kilowatt just loves to take the work out of cooking, as he has for so many homemakers like Mrs. Russell. "Preparing breakfast for my husband, James, is a snap. The controlled heat of our electric range turns out perfect pan cakes every time." Start the day right—cook breakfast electrically.

We've never seen anything like it! This new Purina Fly Bait kills flies while you watch—and keeps it up for weeks on end. You just scatter the little dry particles where flies congregate—in barns, feed rooms, poultry houses, even outside—and Purina Fly Bait does the rest.

Before you buy any fly control, stop by the store and see this brand new product kill flies while you watch. It comes in handy 2-lb. shaker-top cans or in 10- and 25-lb. bags. And say, you'll like the low, low price tag on Fly Bait. Stop by the first chance you get.

DALE THUREN FARM STORE

The modern range? Of course, it's electric. Mrs. Russell points out the "plus values" on her electric range. "The minute timer—continuous oven—grill—automatic timer—and self-lighted work surface are all wonderful. They give me a big bonus—extra time for other things."

Perfection comes from accuracy—and the heat of an electric range is pre-set, no outside force—a breeze, for example—can affect it. In Mrs. Russell's words: "I can put my pie in the oven, set the timer, and go about my other household tasks while my electric range bakes the pie perfectly."

Yes, in ranges, as in all other appliances, to be modern, it must be electric. And if it's electric it's convenient and time-saving, like Mrs. Russell's all-electric kitchen. "My all-electric kitchen affords more leisure time for my family and friends." Yours will, too.

General Telephone, Poka-Lambro Reach Agreement On Area Service

An agreement has been reached between General Telephone Company of the Southwest and the Rural Electrification Administration on the form of contract to be used for extended area service between cooperative telephone exchanges and exchanges owned by General, it has been announced by R. E. Saunders, changes owned by General.

Saunders explained that "extended area service" is a charge and service arrangement whereby subscribers in different exchanges can call each other without a toll charge. The agreement between REA and General has to do with the contract principles involving apportionment of costs between the exchanges owned by the cooperative and the exchange owned by General.

In a published bulletin, REA set forth several points of consideration for its borrowers. The bulletin stated that "before" deciding to provide extended area service, a borrower should make the following determinations:

1. That sufficient community of interest exists between the exchanges to justify the investment and the annual carrying charges thereon.

2. A borrower must ascertain that EAS is desired and will be used by a substantial number of subscribers in the exchanges involved. Otherwise, the provision of such service would favor a few at the expense of many who would have to pay increased monthly rates for a service of little benefit to them.

3. Where there is any question of the need for EAS, it may be more prudent to establish service initially on a toll basis and, subsequently, study usage.

4. Because of the possible adverse effect of EAS on the feasibility of REA loans, all EAS agreements are required to be made subject to approval by the Administrator.

A part of the contract form to be used by General and REA states that "Proof of public interest and required approvals shall be a prerequisite to the effectiveness of the agreement."

In defining certain terms, the contract form states "Public interest means that the resulting service arrangement and changes will be mutually and reciprocally advantageous to a substantial majority of the subscribers of each exchange. Required approval by ordinance or order of the regulatory body having jurisdiction over either rates or service of both of either party. Required approval may also, at the request of either party, include written evidence of approval of a substantial majority of the subscribers of one or both exchanges."

Saunders said his Company has 22 requests from cooperatives for extended area service. Each case will be reviewed and studied on its own merits and this may take considerable time. He said his Company's policy would be to handle these re-

Here's where all that wonderful performance begins!

They're all true—all the wonderful things you hear about Pontiac's great performance.

The way it sweeps uphill or down: with the same effortless ease. The tremendous burst of passing power that answers the nudge of your toe. The thought-quick response in stop-and-go traffic that makes the car seem part of you. The smooth, quiet way it goes about its business however hard or far you drive.

Lift the hood of a Pontiac and you'll be face to face with the reason. That compact power plant nested there may look much like other V-8's—but that's where your eyes deceive you!

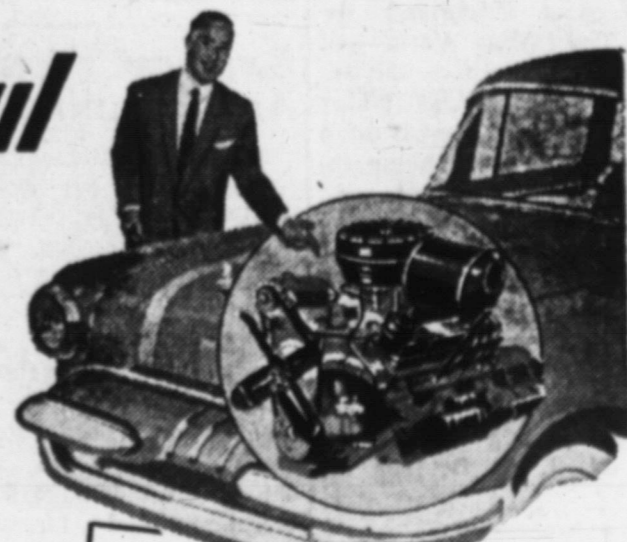

The Strato-Streak V-8 is in a class all by itself—filled with engineering "firsts" that make it the mightiest engine ever to appear in Pontiac's price field. And it's one of the many Pontiac advantages you can't get anywhere else. Pontiac alone gives you the terrific drive of Strato-Streak performance.

This sensational performance, remember, comes in a distinguished, future-fashioned beauty that is tagged with a price any new-car buyer can readily afford.

Here's your wide-open invitation to come in and try the result—the fastest-selling Pontiac of all time. The car is ready whenever you are! Make it soon.

Thrips... universal pest, responsible for extensive damage to cotton in early season. About 1/25 of an inch long, they are slender, active bugs, pointed at both ends and varying in color from light yellow to almost black.

The flea hopper feeds on the juices of tender parts of the cotton plant... causing greatest damage to immature squares. The infested plants grow tall and whiplike with fewer branches... produce only a few bolls near the top.

Get higher cotton yields KILL THRIPS and FLEAHOPPERS with dieldrin

Use dieldrin early to kill thrips, flea hoppers and other cotton insects. Dieldrin-treated cotton gets a good early start... pays bigger dividends. You get better quality cotton and earlier harvest—less danger of heavy loss due to early frost.

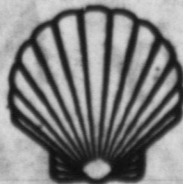

Tested at Texas A. & M. (1954), dieldrin-treated cotton produced almost three times as many bolls in a three-week period after treatment as did the untreated cotton. It pays to use dieldrin! Here's why:

It's long lasting! Dieldrin gives long-lasting protection. Days after application, dieldrin still has lethal effect.

It's easy to use! Used as a dust, dieldrin is smooth-textured, free-flowing. In a spray, dieldrin forms top-creaming emulsions... eliminates nozzle clogging.

It's economical! Two to three applications at the recommended dosage—1/10 pound of actual dieldrin per acre—gives top control.

Use dieldrin early this year! Your insecticide dealer has dieldrin and information on latest methods of application best suited for your use. Don't delay—order dieldrin today!

Wells Completed At Country Club

Water pumps have been installed, and work of planting the greens at the new T-Bar Country Club, a mile and a half northwest of Tahoka, is about ready to start.

Southwestern Public Service last week completed the running of power lines to the site, which will make possible the connection of the wells with electricity.

The club has five small wells on the site. One two and a half inch well has been in use for some time, but the other four will be run with electric motors. Frank Greathouse has been installing three of these pumps this week and last.

Three of these wells tested last week end proved to be sufficient for the club's purposes, but another will also be put on pump to same expense of buying pipe.

The Club has experienced many difficulties in getting water, but members working on the project are now certain they have sufficient water.

Grass was planted in the fairways following the recent rains, but some of it was killed by the high winds which followed.

With favorable weather, O. C. Elliott, "Red" Brown, and "Sonny" Roberts, who recently have been working on the project in their spare time, believe that the course should begin to take shape in the coming weeks.

Injury Victims Show Improvement

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Eaker of Wells, injured seriously in a car-pick-up crash Thursday morning of last week, are both improving nicely at Tahoka Hospital.

However, R. F. Newcomb of Midland, driver of the pick-up, who was transferred to Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, Friday, was still in critical condition Monday. He was to have undergone surgery that day, and it is reported that doctors said if he lived through Tuesday he would probably get well. He had head injuries and had never regained consciousness.

Mr. Eaker received a fractured vertebrae and Mrs. Eaker a fractured pelvis and broken ribs in the accident.

The crash occurred at the intersection U. S. Hwy. 87 and Farm Road 213.

O'Donnell Youths Enlist In Army

Two O'Donnell boys, Billy Joe Mahurin and John Wheat, have recently enlisted in the U. S. Army for service in the Third Armored Division, according to M/Sgt. W. A. (Sam) Bass, of the Lubbock Recruiting office.

They went directly from Amarillo to Camp Chaffee, Ark., for processing, following which they were to be sent to Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training. Following this, later this summer, their unity of the Third Armored Division will go to Europe to replace the Second Armored Division for service in Germany.

Their enlistment was under the Army's new plan of rotation with stability, Operation Gyroscope. M/Sgt. Bass, who is at the postoffice in Tahoka to sign up recruits each Monday, says there are still openings for young men under this plan.

Odds and Ends

(BY E. I. THE ELDER)

Several weeks ago, while I was still in the Hospital or had just been released from the Hospital, a communication came to me from my Mexico correspondent, Senorita Aurora Gutierrez, for publication in this Column. I was not able to write to her personally at the time, but later I did write to her explaining that I was no longer in position to use her contributions to this Column. My sister Mary also wrote to her for me. That communication, Senorita Aurora stated, was the last of the series of contributions to this Column in which she had been telling about some of the interesting cities of Mexico, the last one describing the most beautiful small city in that country, the flower-bespangled city of Taxco (pronounced Taxco) built on the opposite sides of two steep mountains, on the highway from Mexico City to the marvelous seaside resort at Acapulco. Mr. Boyd and I had visited this city while we were in Mexico and also the rich silver mines that had been worked for many decades some six or eight miles out in the country. Seno-rita's communication dealt in part with the beauties of Taxco, as I remember it, and in part with the great historic city of Guadalajara. I promised to publish that communication in this Column, but I now find that I have misplaced it and can not fulfill my promise.

Just recently, I received another communication from Senorita Aurora, in which she proposed to send me other contributions (in Spanish) about other Mexican cities or in English about Mexico generally. I am sorry that I can not use such contributions longer, for I am unable to write or read the Spanish language intelligently nor can I promise to use general information about Mexico, for I am still down here in Waco and can not supplement her "articles" with explanations that it would doubtless be necessary for me to make.

I want to acknowledge receipt recently of two very fine letters which I received from these two Mexican friends of mine, Senorita Aurora Gutierrez, and her aunt, Senorita Elvira Gutierrez. Senorita Aurora is the teacher of a Sunday School class of children in a Baptist Mission Church in Mexico and is a wonderful vocalist in the song services, and Senorita Elvira, her aunt, is the teacher of a women's class and the most effective leader in the Church. They have been very devoted friends of mine ever since I visited in their city for ten weeks in February till mid-April in 1952. May the Lord bless both of them in the splendid work which they are doing in their church there. I remember most pleasantly also Senorita Elvira's parents, a fine couple of elderly people who were always delighted to have Rev. W. G. Boyd and myself as visitors in their home. Those weeks spent in Mexico were among the most pleasant I have ever spent anywhere. Mexico is a great and promising country, folks—a country with which it behooves us to be always neighborly and helpful.

The word "Brazos" means Arms, and that affords the explanation as to how the Brazos River got its name. It certainly has plenty of arms, especially in its upper reaches. It gathers into its banks water that falls all over territory. One of these arms has its rise in eastern Lynn county, in the vicinity of Grassland and Draw and Redwine.

But, there are three Bosque the South Plains and adjacent Rivers, here in central Texas, the South Bosque, the North Bosque, and the Middle Bosque; all three of them flow into Lake Waco. The main dam across the Bosque is built below the confluence of all of them, and its waters therefore, when the Lake is full, spangle out and up each of them and up numerous small tributaries of each of them, and Lake Waco becomes a many-pronged, sprawling, shapeless mass of water.

Since Lake Waco had not been full for two years or more and since recent flash floods had filled it to capacity and a log-jam had partially blocked the free flow of water through the spillway, thus raising slightly the normal level of the lake when full, my sister Alice and I decided to go out to the Lake and take a look in the mid-afternoon last Sunday at the far-flung sprawling waters, and we found the sight to be all it was cracked up to be. There are two dams across the lake. One of them is across that end of the lake whose waters come down its head in the vicinity of McGregor and Moody. We crossed over on the dam first, where we found a number of club grounds maintained by various organizations as well as private fishing camps, etc. After exploring several miles of terrain like this, some of it densely wooded, we back-tracked and came back over the same bridge to the east side of the lake.

It's some two miles from that point around to the northeast—if I had my directions on straight—to the big dam that impounded the waters of all three of the Bosques. The North Bosque is by far the longest and the largest of the three streams. It rises in the vicinity of Stephenville and Dublin; flows down the Bosque Valley by Hico, Irledell, Meridian, Clifton, and Valley Mills, and drains therefore a large territory. That North Bosque Valley is one of the most scenic in all Central Texas. It brings vast floods of water every year of normal rainfall into Lake Waco. The middle Bosque lies, of course, between these two. It heads in the vicinity of Crawford, the town from which the late Wash Hickerson and some of his neighbors came from to Tahoka. It drains a much smaller territory and its annual flow into Lake Waco is the least of the three streams.

Following the heavy rains of last week, a sizable log had become lodged in the spillway of the big dam and had to be released Sunday morning under directions of highway engineers. A vast amount of limbs and small logs still remained on the waters of the lake near the spillway however when we visited the scene.

Then we crossed over to the other side on the mile-long dam that impounded the waters of all the Bosque—that is, all of it except that which was still pouring through the spillway and racing on down into the Brazos, and thence on and on down that hundreds of miles and emptying into the inexhaustible waters of the Gulf.

Let us stop here long enough to observe that as we rounded the curvature of the lake from the South Bosque dam on around to the lower dam, we noted hundreds of people along the banks of the lake, fishing, swimming, or just watching the waves of the turbulent waters, and then when we crossed over to the other side on the big dam, the parked cars could be numbered only in the thousands and the people in three or four times that number. Most of them were parked under fine old spreading oaks, stately cottonwoods, luxuriant pecans, or other handsome trees. Many picnic parties had brought their lunches, the fishermen their hooks, the boatmen their boat-racing equipment; the women their children and babies, and some of them merely their their sun-bath garbs.

The Waco Chamber of Commerce and other business men are now waging a campaign for the Federal Government to appropriate funds for the construction of another dam some where in the vicinity of Waco to impound the countless billions of gallons of water that race down the Brazos River each day through Waco and thence on hundreds of miles into the Gulf Mexico without watering a single acre of land or furnishing a drink to scarcely a single thirsty child.

There may be many other rivers in the United States whose waters are not being used for irrigation, domestic, or industrial purposes, but few of them can make out as strong a case as can the proponents of this proposed project.

P. S. A day later, Monday night, another rain and electrical storm struck East Waco; a stroke of lightning hit the East Waco power house and put it out of commission for a short time, bringing utter darkness to that part of the city, and flooding the Waco News-Tribune with inquiries as to whether another tornado had struck the city. Luckily little damage was done.

Guess it will rain again tonight. It rains nearly every night.

Well, good luck to everybody.

and again I bid you, Good-Night.—E. I. Hill.

Biggest thing in Low-Priced cars

-actually costs less than some models of the well-known smaller cars! (Come in and check)

THIS is a Buick—a 2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan.

It packs a wallowing 188-hp V8 engine under the hood—is carried on a strapping 122-inch wheelbase—rides with the luxury cushioning of all-coil springing, the solid steadiness of a full-length torque-tube drive, the extra safety and silence of tubeless tires.

It's big and brawny and road-steady and roomy—each seat cushion measures over five feet in width.

Yet this beauty—as the price we'll show you proves—delivers locally for just about the price of the well-known smaller cars—even below some models of those same cars.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That, for sure, is one reason why Buick sales go higher and higher and higher. More and more people are finding that you can buy a

Buick for the price of a smaller car, so more and more people are getting this bigger buy for their money.

They want the bigger package of sheer automobile for the money that they get in Buick—bigger in power thrill, in roomy comfort, in riding steadiness, in structural solidity.

They want the added prestige and pleasure of owning Buick styling and size—and the added safety and sureness of Buick road-ability and handling ease.

They want, too, the spectacular performance and better gas mileage of Variable Pitch Dynaflo†—yours at modest extra cost.

And they certainly want the choice Buick offers of a car in every price range, with each one the buy in its field—the low-price SPECIAL, the supremely-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

Why don't you come in for a visit and see how much real automobile your money can buy here?

†Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

John Thomas Farms Place Southeast of Tahoka

Pictured above is the John F. Thomas farm home, located five miles east and four miles south of Tahoka, in the Redwine community.

Frank Greathouse was the first town reader to recognize the place, and Ruben McElroy was the first rural reader. Others included Jack Stevens, Barbara Thomas, Joel Holloway, Wendell Inman, Sue Dudgeon, and Patricia Hammonds.

The Thomas farm is a part of the old Redwine place, later owned by C. B. Evens. John Thomas bought 200 acres of the land in 1943, and built the modern home in 1961. He also owns a farm of 123 acres at New Lynn. John has been farming in this county most of the time since 1932, when he first went to New Moore, where he lived a year and a half. He returned to Lynn county to stay in 1936, and farmed the old Corley place west of Lonnie Williams, and several other places before buying his own farm.

John claims he is a very poor farmer. By hard work and by allowing his wife to clerk at Rutherford's, he says, they almost manage to make a living. He says he was let most of his farm blow over on his neighbors. Seriously, Mr. Thomas is recognized as a pretty fair farmer. His home place is contoured and his New Lynn farm is terraced. He tries to keep up with modern agricultural methods, and keeps a few chickens and cows to supply the family table.

He said everything in the picture looked right except the water in the back yard. He believes the photographer must have put the water in the picture, for he says he doesn't remember having had that big a rain and he's pretty sure none of his kids are old enough to remember such a rain.

Fishing is the leading hobby of the Thomas family, but he also finds time for civic work. He is a director of the Farmers Co-op. Gin of Tahoka and is a member of the Lynn County Democratic Committee. He has served as president of the Tahoka school board, and has been a member of the board of stewards of the First Methodist Church, in which Mrs. Thomas also is a worker.

John was born at Eden, and was reared there and around Abilene. Mrs. Thomas, the former Norma Edwards, was born and reared at Richland Springs in San Saba county. The couple met there and were married in 1936. They have three children, Barbara Sue, 13, John Freddie, 11, and Linda Joyce, 9, all of whom attend school in Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. McMeans of Greenville visited here the first of the week with Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Durham while en route home from Tujunga, Calif., where they visited their son, Fort McMeans, and the latter's wife, the former Margaret Durham. Being a newspaper man with the Greenville Messenger, he dropped into The News office for a visit.

High time you discovered the difference in Dodge!

New Dodge Custom Royal Lancer 4-Door Sedan—most beautiful car on the road today.

Next time you're driving around town, just notice the number of gleaming new Dodge cars you see on the street!

Then ask yourself: "What is it these people have found out about the new Dodge that's causing this landslide of popular favor?"

Part of it, of course, is the new Dodge styling. You can see at a glance how much bigger and more luxurious this car is—up to 9 inches longer than its competitors.

But the real story behind the rush to Dodge is this: People are discovering the difference in the way Dodge cars are engineered and built!

They discover it in the solid, substantial feel of the car—the way it handles and rides. They learn to appreciate it in the deep-down goodness of every part and feature: Doors that don't rattle. Body joints that don't squeak. Windows that work smoothly.

There is really no substitute for the dependability that is built into Dodge. Isn't it time you discovered this difference for yourself?

Your Dodge dealer brings you the NATIONAL OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT on television (NBC-TV) Saturday evening, June 18. Consult your newspaper for time.

Former Tahokan Portrait Artist

Mrs. Louise Clairmont of San Antonio, who is a native of Tahoka, has become one of the Southwest's most prominent portrait painters, a writer in Sunday's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal revealed.

Mrs. Clairmont, now a grandmother, is the former Miss Louise Bartley, daughter of Mrs. T. M. Bartley of Waco and the late Judge T. M. Bartley. She was born in Tahoka, but her family moved to Waco when she was about five years of age.

T. M. Bartley was one of Tahoka's prominent early day citizens. He practiced law here, and served as County Judge of Lynn County.

After moving to Waco, he served in the Texas Legislature, and then he became secretary of the Grand Lodge of Texas, which position he held until his death about 15 years ago.

Currently, Mrs. Clairmont is making her home in Lubbock at the Century House, 1629 16th Street, while fulfilling a number of portrait commissions for a number of prominent Lubbock citizens.

The Avalanche reveals that she gained considerable prominence in the field of Art. She studied at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, in art schools in New York City and Paris, France, and since practiced her profession in Boston, Hollywood, San Antonio, and many other cities.

Her maternal grandparents lived at Floydada, where her grandfather was once postmaster, and she now has a daughter living in that city.

Many oldtimers here remember the Bartley family well.

J. E. Ketner

 when ox teams were in vogue, I can tell you.

In the year 1865, I began work for the Squires outfit. We rounded up 2,900 yearlings and drove them to the Cheyenne River country of Nebraska, with no fences encountered en route to that far-away range.

Although buffalo had been practically exterminated during the late 1870s, we did see a few on the range where the cattle were delivered in Nebraska.

In 1887, I began working on the range between Midland and the country about Gail, much of my time being spent to the northwest of present-day Lamesa, on the headwaters of the Colorado. The north line of the TIF outfit ran along the south line of the present O'Donnell town section.

At the turn of the century, I was in the employ of the Long-S (Col. C. C. Slaughter) outfit, which had vast cattle and land holdings north of Big Spring, along the upper drainage of the Colorado.

Along with the late cowboy-banker, A. L. Lockwood, and Yeiser, whose initials I have forgotten, I found myself going with a trail herd to the new little town of Hereford for shipment to market over the new railroad. The cattle were fat Stanton was a nearer shipping point, but grass was better toward the north. Anyway, what was time to cowboys of that day?

Scattered small tracts of land over the South Plains had been secured by "nesters" as they were called by ranchers. But almost all of the vast Plains was under control of the cattle barons, who had succeeded in keeping the lands leased from the State—lands which, in due course, should have been sold to actual settlers at the end of such lease terms.

Should money be sent to the State, say sixty days before the end of the previous lease period, and such money was accepted by the State, of course that land did not come on the market. "Filing" on the land," was the term used in speaking of that time in history.

After our delivery of the herd to the shipping pens in Hereford, I was sitting in the local barber's chair there in the little town of Hereford, when a fellow began reading aloud from his newspaper, stating, "I see here that fellow Ketner has won his suit against the Land Commissioner at Austin."

You can imagine my feelings, this being my first news of my victory.

I told the fellow that I happened to be Ketner, and of course had to take a look at the article.

A recent communication from the present Land Commissioner, Mr. Earl Rudder, says: "Ketner vs. Rogan: This case was an opinion of the Supreme Court of Texas, dated June 9, 1902. The case involved the petition of Ketner for a mandamus against the then Land Commissioner, Charles Rogan, and Ketner was successful in obtaining a writ of mandamus compelling the Commissioner to accept his application for the purchase of two sections of land in Lynn county."

Immediately, the race was on by actual farmers, who have succeeded in making this vast empire into a veritable breadbasket, cotton empire, or what have you. Lynn county was organized in April, 1903.

Being the only survivors of the first set of county officers, I am beginning to feel quite lonesome. I was one of the first county commissioners.

June 24, 1955, is Pioneer Day in Tahoka, the day in which beef, the best of all foods, is to be brought forth.

COOPER IMPROVING

E. J. Cooper, who suffered a little "flare up" with his heart last week and was taken to Tahoka Hospital for treatment, was able to go home Tuesday. He is reported to be doing nicely.

Bill Balch, Wife Going To Europe

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. (Bill) Balch of New Home left Sunday on a month-long vacation trip to Europe to visit their son, Don D. Balch, stationed at Frankfurt, Germany, with the U. S. Army.

They left Amarillo at 9 p. m. Sunday by TWA airliner, and were to leave New York City at 12 noon Monday. They were to fly all the way to and from Europe.

Arriving in Paris, France, at 7 a. m. Tuesday, the couple expected to spend 10 hours in that city before making the two hour hop by air over to Frankfurt.

While visiting their son, they also expect to tour most of Western Europe, and also expect to visit with Dan Cowan, also from New Home, with J. W. Smith and wife of Slaton, and possibly with other boys from this area now serving in Germany.

They have passage on TWA back to Amarillo on July 7.

YOUTH NIGHTS PLANNED

The Young People and Intermediates of the First Baptist Church are planning a Youth Night which will be held each Friday night during the summer. We are going to start our meetings at 7:30 each week. This Friday night the meeting will be at the Church.

Various types of fun and fellowship will be planned from time to time. Once each month, there will be something extra special in the way of entertainment. We'd like to have many of the Youth of our town to come and join in this program.—Reporter.

Plans Are Made For Youth Camp

Five men from the First Baptist Church attended a District R. A. Leadership conference at District Nine Encampment grounds near Floydada.

Those attending were J. C. Womack, R. A. counselor; Durwood Howard, Brotherhood president; Clyde Allen, member of Camp committee; and Bob Lewis, Educational Director; and the pastor, Rev. Clifford Harris.

District Nine youth camps will begin with General Camp on July 4. Y. W. A. and Junior and intermediate camps will follow.

Over 6,000 persons attended last year, and larger groups are expected this year.

Several new buildings have gone up on the camp grounds, including an administration building with a small infirmary.

ADAMSON HOME FROM ARMY

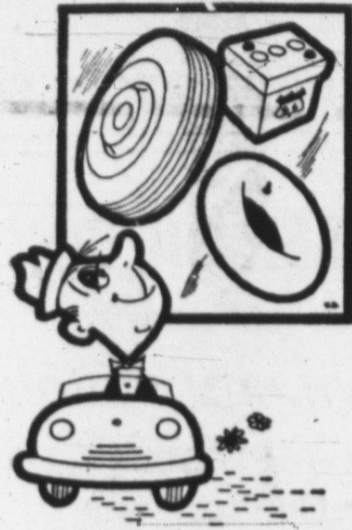

Cpl. Robert Dean Adamson, who has been with the First Army in Germany for 10 months, arrived home Thursday with his discharge.

He arrived at Camp Chaffee, Ark., Tuesday of this week and called his mother, Mrs. D. R. Adamson Sr., that he was en route home.

Rev. A. G. Gage of Lubbock was here Wednesday visiting.

He reported that their daughter, Dolores, entered Texas Tech Monday for the summer session.

Other improvements have been made which will make camping more enjoyable this year. Plans are being discussed which will improve the cabin of the local church.
