Miss Lynda Davis And Kent Gibson Married Saturday In Methodist Church Ceremony

Miss Lynda Davis became the bride of Kent Gibson in a double ring ceremony Saturday at 4:00 p. m. in the First Methodist Church of Tahoka with the pastor, Rev. Aubrey White, officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Davis of Route 3, Post (Grassland). Kent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gibson of Tahoka.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of peau de soie. The figure bodice featured a scooped neckline embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads. The long, tapered sleeves came to petal points over the wrists. The bouffant skirt was accented with a bustle that swept into a chapel train. Lace medallions embroidered with seed pearls and crystal beads emphasized the princess lines. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of embroidered petal medallions.

The bride carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with two white orchids.

Miss Sharon Patterson, organist, accompanied Mrs. E. W. Patterson, soloist, in traditional wedding music. Mrs. Madeline Hogi read Elizabeth Barrett Browning's sonnet, "How Do I Love Thee?"

Miss Dixie Davis of Denver, Colorado, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Coy Williams of Irving. They wore identical street-length dresses of aqua peau de soie fashioned with scoop neckline and fitted bodice. The bell-shaped skirts were accented by soft pleats. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations and lilies.

Lendell Norman of Tahoka was best man. Groomsman was Wendell Norman, also of Tahoka. Serving as ushers were Robert Draper, Bland Draper, Johnny Draper, and Walton Terry, all of Tahoka.

Candlelighters were Cindy Gibson and "Sis" Ledbetter, both of Tahoka.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a trip to Monterrey, Mexico. For traveling, Mrs. Gibson chose an aqua silk suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was the white orchids from the center of her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Post High School and Texas Christian University. She was employed as an elementary grade teacher three years in Andrews. For the past six months, she has been employed in the Irving school district.

The groom is a graduate of Tahoka High School and attended Texas Tech and North Texas State University. He is employed by the ASCS in Tahoka.

The couple will reside at 2401 45th street in Lubbock.

The Brotherhood of St. John Lutheran Church is hosting a Ladies Night on April 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Bill Griffin, County Agent, will be bringing the last of a series of meetings to the Brotherhood and it will involve the farm family and their responsibilities to the community, to each other, and to their Church.

These meetings have depicted the Christian's total stewardship and have been helpful to the men. All the men and women of the congregation are invited to attend this Brotherhood meeting.

St. John Ladies Meeting Thursday

The American Lutheran Church Women of St. John Lutheran Church will meet on April 9, at 7:30 p. m. This is a general meeting for all the circles.

DAUGHTERS VISIT HERE

Mrs. Wade (Mildred) Schooler, accompanied by her three daughters and granddaughter, Mrs. Danny Harris and daughter, Karen, and Marsha and Pam, left Sunday for their home in South Gate, Calif., after a visit here with Mildred's mother, Mrs. E. S. (Betty) Davis, and brother, Otis.

Mrs. Hubert (Veda) Davis of Martin also came up to be here with her sister and others, and is remaining for a few days longer.

Bownds Reunion At Lamesa Sunday

The annual W. A. Bownds family reunion will be held Sunday, April 5, in the Forrest Park Center at Lamesa, and all relatives, friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.

Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish, and enjoy visiting together. After lunch, there will be games for those who wish to play.

This reunion will be held again next year on the first Sunday in April at the same place.

4-H Bake Show Is Set For April 18

The Lynn County 4-H Bake Show is scheduled for April 18, in the board room of Lyntegar Electric. For details consult Mrs. Billie Carr, Home Demonstration Agent.

The 4-H Favorite Food Show will be the same day. Here are some helpful suggestions for the participants:

- Do choose a simple recipe suited to the ability of a 4-H Club member.
- Do enter inexpensive recipes and ones that do not require too many ingredients. Complicated, expensive recipes are not in line with the recipe in the 4-H Favorite Food units.
- Do choose recipes that 4-H members and homemakers will make often.
- Do offer a recipe with a pleasing combination of flavors. The exotic flavor combination appeals to few people.
- Do enter a recipe that requires a minimum of special kitchen equipment and of preparation time.

Can you afford a 16% INCREASE IN YOUR PAYROLL TAX?

That is the minimum payroll tax increase all workers earning $100 or more a week would be forced to pay if the MEDICARE bill now before Congress becomes law.

What's more the Medicare plan is morally wrong for it would compel wage-earners, and their employers, to shoulder this new tax load to provide care for millions of the elderly financially able to take care of themselves.

Everyone agrees that all our elderly should receive all the health care they need when they need it. That's why local, state and federal programs are available now for helping those who need help in paying for health care.

In other words, those least able to pay more taxes would be paying hospital bills for many who are most able to pay their own way.

And you are now paying taxes to support these programs.

No need has ever been demonstrated for Medicare, a costly, compulsory Federal Government plan.

If you believe as we do, write your Congressman and your Senators today. Urge them to vote against Medicare (H.R. 3920).

For more information why MEDICARE would be BAD MEDICINE, ask your family physician.

Texas Crude Oil Prices Are Higher

Austin — Texas crude oil currently is selling for more dollars than any year since the Suez crisis in 1957, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon reports.

Langdon said this should be welcome news to the people of Texas because the Texas oil and gas dollar pays for 42 per cent of the state's cost of public education, and almost 60 per cent of the state's cost of teacher retirement, old-age assistance, blind assistance and aid to dependent children.

He stated that oil production is up three per cent over the previous year, and "an even more encouraging" jump is expected for 1964.

Langdon Said Fact That The Texas Petroleum Industry Was In Such A Healthy State After More Than Half A Century Of Intensive Development Could Be Laid To Two Factors: (1) There Was A Lot Of Oil To Begin With; And (2) It Has Not Been Wasted Promiscuously.

Critics of the way the Railroad Commission has regulated the oil and gas industries disregard the Commissioners' duty to guard the public interest. When they talked about allowances and production, they ignored the fact that natural gas has in recent years become an important energy source replacing to some extent oil; and that Texas was more dominant in gas production than in crude oil production.

Langdon is the newest member of the Railroad Commission, having been appointed last spring. Now he is seeking the voters' approval to serve the remaining four years of a six-year term. He resigned as chief justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals to accept the Railroad Commission post.

Before moving to El Paso, Langdon was district judge for five West Texas counties. While on the bench and as a practicing attorney in a large oil producing area, he gained vast knowledge of the oil and gas industries, as well as transportation matters, which the Commission regulates.

Burglars Enter New Hegi Home

Several items were taken from the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Hegi Monday night when someone gained entrance by way of the front door, which was boarded up, but value of the loss had not been completed Thursday.

This is the second time a new house under construction has been entered, the first that of Don Saverance on North Eighth, although it was not thought anything was stolen at that residence.

Use Of Fertilizer Essential To Yield Increase, Preventing Soil Depletion

Progressive farmers, who are also good managers, have demonstrated that more net income can be made from a soil improving system of farming than from one that depletes soil fertility. Soils are depleted to a degree every time plant food nutrients or organic matter is removed by cropping or erosion; and not replaced.

Average yields and income in most sections of Texas are too low to give a good return from land, capital and management. Low yields, also, permit erosion and encourage soil depletion. In 1933 cotton and cottonseed returned growers $622,216,000 from 5,875,000 harvested acres (379 lbs. lint) or $139.05 per acre. Grain Sorghum — $250,216,000 from 5,772,000 acres (2,380 lbs. grain) or $43.34 per acre; Wheat — $79,205,000 from 2,321,000 acres (17.5 bushels) or $34.12 per acre; and Hay — $57,148,000 from 1,980,000 acres or $28.86 per acre.

The use of fertilizer is an essential step in increasing crop yields and profits. Fertilizer normally returns $3 to $10 for each dollar spent when properly used. The rewards from well fertilized soils are:

1. Higher, more profitable yields.
2. Better soil and water conservation.
3. More effective utilization of water and plant food nutrients.
4. Soil improvement—more of each plant food nutrient and organic matter added than removed.

A crop must be grown under good management to get the most out of fertilizer. Then, it is profitable to use adequate amounts to produce the highest yield moisture and other climatic conditions permit. When soils contain sufficient organic matter to keep them in good physical condition and enough plant food is used, a bale of cotton can be produced from 15 usable inches of water. 4500 lbs. grain sorghum—25 inches; 40 bushels wheat—20 inches; and 4 tons alfalfa—32 inches. Twice as much moisture is required to produce the above yields when soils are low in organic matter, are in poor physical condition, and no fertilizer is used. Higher yields require proportionately greater amounts of water.

The most practical way to maintain an adequate level of organic matter in the soil is to apply enough fertilizer to produce high yields. Then, return all crop residues to the soil. Barnyard manure, cotton burs and other residues should be applied when available and application is feasible. An average return of 4000 lbs. of above ground residue is required to maintain soil organic matter. The average must be higher to add to the organic matter supply. Grain sorghum producing 4500 lbs. per acre will return about 5500 lbs. residue; 40 bu. wheat—500 lbs., and bale per acre stripped cotton—2000 to 300 lbs. Organic matter cannot be maintained when cotton is grown continuously, when grain yields are too low, or when residues are burned.

The use of an adequate amount of plant food is highly beneficial in conserving soil and water. A well fertilized crop starts off fast; covers the soil more quickly and produces a denser crop growth. This breaks the impact of rain on the surface of the soil to a greater extent than does a crop that has been poorly fertilized. Adequate vegetative cover, either as a living crop or crop residues left on the soil after harvest, is the most economical way to reduce soil and water losses. By using enough fertilizer to produce high yields, there are more stalks and stubble available for return to the soil. This aids in increasing the soil's ability to take in water and store it deep for later use.

Margie Gomez is the Tahoka GI Forum's candidate for queen in the contest which will be held in Lubbock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony G. Gomez of Tahoka.

Large amounts of plant food are utilized in producing crops. To produce a bale of cotton, 80 lbs. nitrogen (N); 40 lbs. phosphate (P2O5), and 60 lbs. potash (K2O) are required. A yield of 4500 lbs. grain sorghum requires (110-60-70); 40 bu. wheat requires (80-30-50), and 6 tons Coastal Bermuda Hay requires (240-80-220).

A lot of plant food is removed from the soil in the harvested portion of the crop. For example, one bale of stripped cotton removes 50 lbs. nitrogen; 25 lbs. phosphate, and 50 lbs. potash. 4500 lbs. grain sorghum removes (70-35-20); 40 bu. wheat removes (50-25-15) and 6 tons Coastal Bermuda Hay removes (180-60-180). To improve soil fertility, more of each of the plant food nutrients must be applied than removed.

The amount of applied plant food nutrients utilized will vary with the crop grown, soil moisture, the physical condition of the soil, and the organic matter content of the soil. The plants will get 30 - 70 percent of the nitrogen; 10 - 30 percent of the phosphate, and 30 - 60 percent of the potash the first year the fertilizer is applied. The nutrients remaining in the soil will be used by subsequent crops.

Nitrogen is the growth and moisture stretching factor in crop production. It gives plants their green color and a higher protein content. Nitrogen deficiency in plants is indicated by a yellowish color of leaves. Corn and grain sorghum "fire" along the midrib of the leaf. Cotton develops a yellowish color and makes a small stalk. Bermuda grasses have a yellowish color and produce small yields of forage which are less palatable and have a lower protein content.

Phosphorus encourages early mat development, early fruiting, and hastens maturity. Adequate phosphorus makes cool season crops resistant to cold. In growing plants, phosphorus is essential in the development of new cells. In mature plants over half of the phosphorus is in the fruits and seeds. Phosphorus deficiency in plants is indicated by a slow growth and poor fruiting. Cotton sheds squares and small bolls when the plants don't get enough phosphorus. Foliage of corn and grain sorghum often shows a purpling of the leaves.

Potassium makes plants grow vigorously, aids in fighting diseases, and is essential in the formation of starches, sugars, and oils in plants. In corn, small grain and grain sorghum, it stiffens the stalks. Potash deficiency is indicated by a scorching of the edge of leaves.

The soil must supply plants with a well balanced supply of plant food nutrients in order to produce high yields of good quality. It is much better to maintain a balance of plant food in soils than to deplete a nutrient and then try to get them back into proper balance.

Fertile soils are one of our nation's greatest assets. Let's keep them productive so farms, communities, towns and cities may prosper.

Bray Nominated For Start Award

A. M. Bray, franchisee new car and truck dealer in Tahoka, and member of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, has been nominated for the 1934 Texas Quality Dealer of the Year Award. H. C. Pittman, Executive Vice President of TADA, announced from Austin that considerations in selecting nominees for the Quality Dealer Award included the dealer's community service activities, his high standards of business ethics, his management ability of his dealership over a period of years, his advertising practices, and the overall public acceptance of the dealer and his dealership.

Said Pittman: "This is our second year to conduct the Quality Dealer program. Throughout Texas, News Editors, Chamber of Commerce, local Dealer Associations, and individual members of TADA are helping us to seek, find and publicize these Quality Dealers—outstanding community leaders—who all too often are taken for granted by all of us."

Final selection of the Texas Quality Dealer will be made by a panel of three judges: The Honorable Clyde E. Smith, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas; Mr. Pat Taggart, Executive Vice President of Newspapers, Inc.; and Dr. Willis Tate, President of Southern Methodist University. Announcement of the Quality Dealer will be made at a luncheon at the Association's 47th state convention to be held in Dallas on April 19-21. Principal speaker for the luncheon will be Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr. Miss Texas of 1934 will present the award.

Youngsters Need Knowledge Of Use Home Telephone

College Station—Small children should know and trust the telephone operator as much as they do the corner policeman, and should turn to the operator in the event of an emergency.

Extension Service specialists at Texas A&M University say that although pre-school youngsters can't be expected to memorize long telephone numbers, they can be taught one rule: If an accident happens, dial zero, tell the operator what is wrong, and she will help you.

A child should be taught, however, that he is to dial zero only in emergencies, say Bobye Riney, Extension rural civil defense specialist; and Patsy Reynolds, family life education specialist.

One five-year-old's plaintive message to the operator was "My Mommie's asleep and won't wake up—and there's a fire in our house." After a little prodding, the operator learned the boy's name and address and called the fire department. Firemen rushed to the address, found the house on fire, and the mother knocked out by sleeping pills. Both survived, thanks to the child's action and the operator's help.

Another youngster whose mother fell through a floor and was trapped, went directly to the telephone and dialed zero. He couldn't remember his daddy's name or where he lived, but he rattled off the name and address of his grandparents. The operator called them, got the child's address and had a doctor on the way in minutes.

Although operators are ingenious in tracing calls from small fry, such procedure is a waste of precious time. Encourage your child to memorize his name, his father's name and address, the specialists recommend.

SMALL BUSINESS

By C. WILSON HARDER

A 79% majority of the nation's independent business proprietors, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, favor the measure introduced by Rep. Bruce Alger of Texas which amends the U.S. Constitution to provide no treaty or international agreement shall affect the rights of U. S. citizens unless approved by the Senate.

Further complicating the situation is UN admission with full voting powers of the many new nations in Africa and elsewhere with no previous background showing they are mature enough to vote in a world body. Thus, many things could happen to destroy the rights of the American citizen.

As an obviously extreme example, the new African nations could conceivably get the UN to make that all traffic police in all the world must speak Swahili. This would mean that every U.S. town would have to make sure its traffic officers spoke this African dialect.

Of course, the threat could be removed by disbanding the UN and starting a new world organization with its scope confined to the activities for which the majority of Americans thought the UN was set up for in the first place. But this could result in no organization providing for free discussion. It is much better to keep nations talking together. Thus passage of the measure proposed by Rep. Alger would protect American citizens from present constant hazard of losing liberty on decisions of a coalition of Congo bongo drum beaters.

Largely due to discussions within the UN, the full impact of this control has not been manifest. But there are divisions within the UN which are supposed to control all facets of international life, such as the International Labor Organization, the FOA to control the world's food supply, and UNESCO set up to prescribe what school children in all nations are to be taught.

But formation of the United Nations changed all this. While to the public at large, UN was sold as a forum for all nations to discuss openly their differences and seek a peaceful solution, the "one worlders" really expanded the scope of the organization. Actually, UN is working toward all peoples controlled by one big world government.

Lynn County Soil Conservation District News

E. R. BLAKNEY
WARD EAKIN
HAROLD PAYNE
BOYD BARNES
MELVIN WUENSCHKE

With the irrigation season getting underway, it will be well for us to review some basic principles of irrigation water management. In view of the general shortage of water for irrigation purposes, we become doubly aware of the need to conserve it and use it as efficiently as possible.

Obviously our objective in irrigating is to apply sufficient water to meet the needs of the crop. But at the same time our system must be efficient. For example, with a surface system the field must be flat enough so that the water can be absorbed by the soil. If the slope is too great the water moves off before it can soak in the soil. About .05 of a foot fall per 100 feet affords an ideal grade for row watering. But, on the other hand the slope is directly related to the length of run and slopes of nearly 1 foot fall per 100 feet can be properly irrigated if the run is not longer than 500 feet. These figures apply to Amarillo loam and Amarillo fine sandy loam—the two major soil types in the District.

Another factor to be considered in irrigating is length of setting. This will vary with slope and length of run from 7 to 11 hours. Experience has shown that normally you can pre-water about 1 acre for every 3 gallons of water the well is producing. During the cotton peak use season it will take about 7 gallons of water per minute per acre to meet plant needs.

We can see, then, that there is much more to irrigating than drilling wells and turning it loose down a furrow. A great deal of planning and work is involved in a conservation irrigation system. Think twice before you air your clothes in the sun, advises the National Institute of Drycleaning. If they are green, blue or white, they could change color. White garments may contain a fluorescent whitening dye which is destroyed by sunlight causing the garment to yellow, and many green and blue dyes in silk and wool are susceptible to sunlight and will fade.

Girl Seeks Help In Alaskan Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Renfro received a letter this week from Miss Evelyn Bryant in Fort Worth who is seeking help to return to her home in Anchorage, Alaska. She is anxious to see her parents and family following the earthquake there last week end.

Miss Bryant, 18, last summer found a wallet in a telephone booth with the name and address of Miss Rita Sue Renfro, Tahoka, and promptly returned the wallet to Tahoka with everything intact. It was lost by the Renfros' daughter, Mrs. Billy Cain, who was living in nearby Mountainview, Alaska, where her husband was then stationed.

After failing to contact Miss Bryant by telephone Wednesday, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram was called, and the paper immediately located the young lady and had her call Tahoka.

She said she was very anxious to return home even if she was forced to travel the long distance by bus. Miss Bryant is in Fort Worth visiting a sister.

Dr. Wendell Cain's Play Acclaimed

Dr. Wendell Cain, brother of Alton Cain and a frequent visitor to Tahoka, recently directed the play, "Three Little Foxes" by Lillian Hellman presented by Amarillo Little Theatre on March 18, 19, 20, and 21. The play won wide acclaim in that city.

Dr. Cain is professor of Speech at West Texas State University, Canyon, which position he has held since 1950. He is a graduate of the Canyon college, received his master's degree from Greely, Colo., and his Ph.D. degree from University of Denver. He is a veteran of World War II, having spent four years with the Marines in combat in the South Pacific.

The play was highly publicized in Amarillo. "Three Little Foxes" is one of a number of plays he had produced for Amarillo Little Theatre and The Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State.

FBI Agent Shanklin Tells Work In Crime Detection

J. Gordon Shanklin, special agent in charge of the Dallas office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), was the speaker at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday.

He told of some of the misconceptions about the FBI, outlined briefly the growth in scope of its work, and then told three fascinating stories of the methods used in solving three major crimes in which he had a part.

Mr. Shanklin said the FBI is not quite as good at solving crimes as some "investigators" on TV who usually do the job in 25 minutes, but he did tell one story of a crime solved in three hours and 25 minutes, committed in Miami, Florida, which involved investigation by telephone in New York, Chicago, and San Francisco, resulting in the arrest. "There was nothing to it," he jokingly remarked.

There are a number of Government investigative agencies, of which the FBI is one. The FBI is frequently called on to help these others, but only to gather information. For example, it gathers information on prospective Federal employees, Army Service officers, violators of Income Tax laws, Civil Service employees, and "security risks," but this is not its main function.

Basically, the FBI is concerned with crimes involving interstate commerce, sabotage, and crimes in the Federal interest, or crimes which involve crossing state lines such as kidnapping, bank robbery because banks are in the Federal orbit, fraudulent checks sent across state lines, and crimes and fraud against the Federal government.

When J. Edgar Hoover became the director of the FBI in 1924, there were only 20 violations investigated, but this has grown in scope to 170 types of crimes the FBI investigates today.

Kidnapping was added to the list of crimes for FBI investigation following the Lindberg case, but even then the FBI didn't come into the picture until after a waiting period of seven days. In 1906, the waiting period was cut to 24 hours.

Citing some changes in the pattern of crimes, he declared that in the early 1930's most of the bank robberies were by a gang, while today 60 percent of such robberies are by a single person.

One explanation he gave for the increasing crime rate is the growing concentration of people in Railroad Commissioner Jim C. Langdon, right, tells Attorney General Waggoner Carr about the West Texas Boy's Ranch (near San Angelo) program. As a reward for his interest, Judge Langdon, who is a ranch director, gives him two tickets to the ranch's annual rodeo on Saturday, May 23. Carr plans to attend.

Clayton Eudaley Dies In Dallas

Clayton Eudaley, 45, of Saginaw, formerly of Tahoka, passed away Thursday of last week and was buried Saturday in Oak Lawn Cemetery in Fort Worth following services held in a funeral home in that city at 2:00 p. m.

He was the son of Claude E. Eudaley of Tahoka and the brother of Mrs. George Price of Levelland. He lived here a number of years, and his first wife passed away here in 1939. Since last December he had been in and out of Veterans Hospital at Dallas, where he died, suffering from a malignancy.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Martin of the home and Cecil of Albuquerque; a daughter, Marie Eudaley of Austin; three sisters, Mrs. Maureta McCuiston of Lubbock, Mrs. Zelma Brogdon of Tracy, Calif., and Mrs. George Price of Levelland; his father and three grandchildren.

Mr. Eudaley had gone to his bedside when Clayton passed away.

Screwworms On The Move Again

Screwworms are on the move again in Texas, and livestock producers must take precaution in handling their livestock if they do not want the insects to spread across the State, Bill Griffin, County Agricultural Agent, warned.

Griffin reported that several infestations have already been detected in various parts of the State, and, with the coming of spring weather and an increase in livestock management practices, few areas can be counted completely safe from screwworm attack.

Spring is an ideal period for screwworms because of the mild weather, the county agent indicated. In addition, such activities as calving, farrowing, and shearing, along with routine surgical operations, provide thousands of wounds that are open invitation to screw worm infestation.

Griffin pointed out that although the statement recently released by the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, the United States Department of Agriculture, and the Texas Animal Health Commission that screwworms have been eliminated from the overwintering areas of the Southwest, he warned that screwworm cases could occur because of insects migrating into the United States from Mexico. Cases caused by migratory flies, if not detected and treated promptly, could permit the screwworm to become re-established in Texas.

To prevent this from happening, Griffin urged producers to inspect their livestock frequently, treat wounds and infestations, collect larvae samples, and report cases immediately so that emergency measures can be taken. Sterile screwworm flies will again be dropped near all cases reported, the county agent said.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Davis of Grassland left early this week for San Augustine, where they expect to stay several weeks. Leroy said he was going down there to work, but we suspect he may do a little fishing.

Most of our politicians, it seems, think more of a "good image" than the good of the country.

America's greatest need is a few statesmen and not quite so many politicians interested in building up a personal following.

One of Texas' greatest statesmen, State Senator George "Cotton" Moffett of Chillicothe, retiring after 34 years of great service to our state, was honored with a banquet at Quanaah Tuesday. Possibly at no time in Texas history have so many high officials, from Governor Connally down, gathered in any town outside Austin as were present in Quanaah to pay tribute to Senator Moffett.

The long, tedious process of securing right-of-way for the new four-lane 86 27 highway through Tahoka continues, and City officials say most of the property has either been bought for the route or agreements have been reached, though some are yet to be signed. Many of the houses along the route have already been moved or torn down. City, County and State officials still hope to negotiate for the remaining tracts and avoid the necessity of condemnation proceedings. A half million dollars was allocated two years ago by the State for the construction.

Buy, build, live in Tahoka.

The Printer once worked in the Texas Senate for a month (1936) to gain a little knowledge of how laws are passed, government, etc., and became acquainted with Senator Moffett. We still admire the former Hardeman county cotton farmer as a great Texan.

There's another big push on to rob the rich and pay the poor. How else can we attain a socialistic state?

President Johnson has come up with a "poverty program." You are poverty stricken, he says, if you make $3,000 or less a year, and the government should do something to help you. The idea is to take away from the man who has tried to get ahead and give it to the ne'er-do-well, those who don't try or care, as well as to the worthy unfortunate people. He doesn't put it quite so bluntly, but that's about what his program boils down to, if we are able to read and reason. If he puts his program over, we think we'll just quit and let you dupes silly enough to keep on working support us.

We're already taking Social Security and Self Employment and Unemployment taxes, whether you like it or not. We're going to, if the Washington planners have their way, have medicare and public housing and controlled farming and equal rights (at least for Colored people) and a college education for all financed by Federal taxes and a dozen other fine things. We're even paying a premium on illegitimate babies - the more fatherless babies a woman has the more pay she draws from the tax "kitty." We've got people in Tahoka living six months out of the year on "unemployment compensation," and you couldn't hire one of them at all.

A mix-up in dates in the Rose Theatre advertisement threw some people a curve last week. The News had "A For Texas" showing on Friday and Saturday and "The Robe" on Sunday and Monday whereas the pictures were shown in reverse of the order advertised. We are very sorry. Even The News makes mistakes. Leonard Barnes, Rose manager, however is an understanding man. The public owes him credit, though, for doing his very best to bring so many of the higher type pictures to the theatre. He tries his best to get all the top pictures he can and to schedule family type shows. Why not tell him you appreciate the shows he is bringing to Tahoka?

Ed Eakin in Quanaah Tribune-Chief: Almost 100 years ago when Chief Quanaah Parker and his bunch of Comanches were running Quanaah and just about every thing else around here they had no taxes, there was no debt, and the women did all the work. And white man thought he could improve on a system like this!

Charles Didway in Post Dispatch gives this recipe for "hippopotamus stew":

It calls for one hippopotamus (medium size) two rabbits (optional), salt and pepper. You carefully cut the hippopotamus into small, bite-sized pieces. Add enough tasty brown gravy to cover and simmer slowly at 645 degrees for about four weeks or until tender. This will serve 3,900 people. If more guests are expected, two rabbits may be added, but this only if necessary, as most people do not like to find hare in their stew.

"Do you says prayers before eating?" the minister asked the little boy. "No, sir, I don't need to," replied the child. "My mother's a good cook."

Mrs. Wanda Faye Smith says: Catsup is stuff that comes in a bottle; first it won't come out, and then a lot'll.

We extend our personal thanks to Lexi Adams for the nice letter of appreciation for our "bonus fund" donation to the recent Lynn County Livestock Show. A nice note from a nice little girl who showed the grand champion calf.

Uncle Zeb in Claude News says: Uncle Sam has money available to develop under-developed countries. It is possible for one of our citizens to develop an idea and then get some of this money to further develop the plan to the point that he could develop a ranch and grow cattle for himself which he could ship back to America and sell to a packing house that he had already developed. Evidence that this actually happened developed during the recent hearing looking into such developments.

Uncle Zeb also says: If you bought an article some years back for $10 and it now costs $15 to get it repaired, then you know for sure we have inflation.

D. B. McMillan of O'Donnell says: "Money is so 'free and easy' I can't make enough to pay it back."

And Arlys Askew was quoting Tom Anderson of Farm and Ranch: "Free people are not equal, and equal people are not free."

Notice To Voters Of Precinct One

I have been asked the question before a group if I am a Democrat or a Republican. I was a Democrat before this started, I am now a Democrat, and when the votes are counted I will be a 101 percent Democrat.

If I am elected, when you call on me to do a job I will do it or let you know why I can't.

I certainly feel I have common sense enough to take care of the job at the court house and in the precinct.

I will appreciate your support and vote for Commissioner of Precinct 1.

HARVEY FREEMAN. 1tc.

CARD OF THANKS

Just a word to my sweet friends and to Dr. Prohl and Thomas for the kindness, courtesy and thoughtfulness to me while I was in the hospital. Thanks so very much for the flowers, cards, and visits. May God's richest blessings be upon each one.—Mrs. Frank Ashley. 1tc.

"Drop-Outs" Are Study Subject

One of the goals of the Lynn County Home Demonstration Club is to study the school "drop-outs" according to Billie Carr, Home Demonstration Agent. The following article was taken from a manuscript which is in process by L. G. Burchinal and J. D. Cowhig, Rural Youth in an Urban Society. All parents should be interested in this topic.

As farm youth continue their traditional migration to city jobs, they are meeting increasingly cold receptions. The city no longer needs masses of unskilled labor. Instead, industry needs young men and women with at least a high school education and specialized training. And education levels of rural youth lag behind those of urban youth.

The rural youth finds that physical strength and informal training are no longer bulwarks of job security.

Despite today's emphasis on intellectual ability and formal training, interests of rural youth have not kept pace. About 40 per cent of the nation's farm high school seniors do not plan to attend college. They have a different attitude toward education in general.

For example, compared with city youth, rural students in Iowa showed less interest in mathematics, foreign languages, science, English and history. They were more interested in vocational training, auto driving lessons and home economics. Only one-third of all rural high school graduates in 1960 enrolled in college, compared with one-half of the urban graduates. If he does go to college, the country student is apt to be less prepared for the work. His college entrance exam score is considerably lower than that of the city graduate, and more rural than urban students arrive in college with academic deficiencies. But once in college, the rural student catches up and makes about the same grades as the urban student.

Although the farm boy may be at a disadvantage when he looks for a job in the city, he is worse off if he stays on the farm. Only 10 per cent of the boys now living on farms can expect to become farmers earning $2,500 or more a year.

Vegetables should be cooked in small amounts of water and for as short time as possible, say Extension Service foods and nutrition specialists.

Leo Jackson Is Rotary Governor

Leo Jackson of Irving, former Tahoka coach who first became a Rotarian here, last week was elected District 381 Rotary International Governor at the annual conference in Greenville, according to a copy of The Sunday Irving News-Texas brought The News by Evon Wilson.

Jackson's election was unanimous by the 56 clubs in the district. He was nominated by W. T. Hanes, Irving school superintendent, who was president of the Tahoka Rotary Club when Jackson first became a Rotarian 25 years ago.

Leo followed Hanes to Cameron as coach and then to Irving, where he has been athletic director until resigning recently to become community relations director of Irving's First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Jackson is a former president of the Irving club. Hanes is a former district governor.

Cotton Ginnings Gain Is Slight

Lynn county cotton ginnings from the 1963 crop showed a gain of only 147 bales between the February 1 report and the report of March 20, received by The News from the U. S. Bureau of the Census this week.

Through March 20, Lynn county had ginned 155,883 bales as compared to 160,301 on the same date from the 1962 crop.

There was no change in the ranking of counties, and the top eight counties in Texas are all on the South Plains, Lubbock, Hockley, Hale, Lamb, Lynn, Dawson, Crosby, and Terry leading in this order.

Lubbock led all counties in production with 246,756. Surrounding Lynn, Dawson ginned 152,541, Terry 126,440, and Garza 19,626.

However, there will be some shifts in final figures when the April report is issued. The final report will list cotton adjusted to counties where produced, not where ginned, and will adjust bales to 500-pound averages.

Americans spent an average of $400 per person for food in 1963. That's less than 19 percent of their take-home pay, a record low in the United States, and it is less than any other country in the world. In 1963, Americans ate more meat, especially beef. They also consumed more chicken, more vegetables and less fruit. They ate less fish and fewer eggs, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
