

Snow Totals Set Record

The eight inches of snow received last mid-week brought the total for the year since Jan. 1 to 28 inches, an all-time record since official recordings were started in 1913. Including the December, 1982 snowfall, total for the winter has been 36 inches, also a record. This April snowfall also is a record.

Since Jan. 1, total precipitation, rain and snow, has been 4.02 inches, according to records kept here by the National Weather Service observer.

Most important aspect of the snow last week is the fact Lynn County soil has been put in fine condition for this year's crop.

Frank Hill, official weather observer here, said snow caught in the NWS rain-snow gauge is melted down to water and then measured. In case of high winds, the gauge may not be accurate and measurements must be taken over a wide area to determine an educated guess. But, these snows have come with little wind, and the snow gauge is fairly accurate when the rain funnel has been removed.

In Tahoka, 8 inches of snow in January totaled 1.76 inches when melted down.

In last week's snows, two inches was recorded Tuesday, three inches on Friday and three inches on Saturday morning.

In Tahoka, 18 inches of melted snow and rain had 2.76 inches of moisture. In February, there was nearly two inches for .19 inches of moisture; in March, .25 inches of rain; and in April, 8 inches with .82 inches of water.

One of the previous big snows on record came on Feb. 16 and 17, 1940, when about eight inches was recorded. However, that snow was accompanied by high winds, snow drifted in piles up to as much as six feet. Tahoka was isolated for two days with no chance for anyone to get to the outside world by automobile and was difficult for trucks and buses to travel any highway out of town.

In fact, five Tahoka school buses were stranded loaded with students who had to be rescued by tractors and a few trucks. Many students spent the night in rural homes, in Tahoka homes, and some in the court house. About 20 people spent the night in a four room house four miles south of Woodrow. Also, two men froze to death during the storm southeast of O'Donnell when their car bogged down and they attempted to reach their farm home on foot.

Several farmers say this April snow has made the moisture meet and a timely light shower in May when the soil warms up will permit planting.

Fun, Food Festival Nets $7800

The third annual Fun and Food Festival held Saturday evening from 4 to 9 p.m. at the show barn was even better than ever. Friends got together and played children's games, listened to the entertainment at goodies from the booths, "gave their blood and opened up their hearts and pocket books at the auction of donated items," said Grace Huffaker, president of the Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Huffaker said she and her team of volunteers serving at the hospital, "are most grateful for the wonderful support given to this event which is its only fund raising project." Her co-chairman was Nadine Dunlap.

This year the festivities of the evening were dedicated to Juanita Warren, an auxiliary member who served as long as she could and is still supportive in every way possible. She was presented a plaque.

The Festival netted $7864.90 which will be used to purchase an isolette for new born babies and other needed equipment for the hospital.

United Blood Services from Lubbock screened 26 persons.

Action By Jailer Saves Man; Burglaries Cleared

Quick action by a Lynn County jailer was credited with saving the life of a 20-year-old Lubbock man who tried to hang himself in Lynn County jail last Friday evening.

The man had been arrested for driving while intoxicated and placed in a detoxification cell. Jailer Joe Childress checked on him a few minutes later and discovered he had taken the elastic from his underwear, tied it around his neck and to the top of the bars and was hanging. Childress reached through the bars to hold up the man and relieve the tension on his neck and with the aid of a jail trusty got the man down. He was treated at Lynn County Hospital, released and returned to jail, where he caused no further problems before getting out on bond the next day.

A Crime Line tip resulted in the clearing of two burglaries of the same farm building of Walter Steen, Wilson, last week. Steen's building a half mile off FM 211 on FM 1054 was burglarized March 21 and again on March 24, with welding gear and other tools taken.

The Crime Line tip resulted in the arrest Friday of Refugio Faz Jr., 24, of Wilson, who pleaded guilty Monday before 106th District Judge George Hansard and was assessed a 3-year probated sentence, fined $1,000 and required to make restitution for any items not recovered.

Sheriff Stanley Krause said another suspect in the case is being sought and will be charged. The Crime Line caller was paid a reward of $300.

A similar reward is being offered in a burglary Monday night of a building owned by C.B. Schniers, Rt. 2, Slaton. Taken from the building near FM 212 and U.S. 84

Volunteers Watch Out For Tornadoes

BY DEAN BARTLEY

The calendar says it's spring time. It also says, for those who live in this area, that another tornado season is just around the corner. It is important that everyone in the community thinks in preparedness terms of taking the proper safety precautions during the occasional violent storms which occur.

According to the National Weather Service, 40 per cent of all tornadoes occur in May. The NWS keeps a round-the-clock watch on atmospheric conditions and issues watches and warnings for severe thunderstorms, tornadoes, and flash floods.

Every thunderstorm has different characteristics. One may produce a thundershower, whereas, another may produce a tornado, but all thunderstorms are capable of producing a tornado, which is its most destructive child. In an average year, tornadoes in the United States claim about 100 lives and cause millions of dollars in damage.

Two of the worst tornadoes that have hit Lynn County were the ones that crossed the Draw community in 1938 and Tahoka and northeastern Lynn County in 1957. The tornado which struck Draw killed three persons and injured 15 or 20 in northern Dawson and SE Lynn County.

On May 24, 1957, a tornado hit Tahoka shortly after 1 p.m. Failure of the tornado to kill or injure anyone was due principally to a tornado alert, sounded by the Tahoka fire department.

Many homes, businesses, and churches were damaged as a result of the tornado. Heaviest damage was at the Tahoka Compress, where loss was estimated from $100,000 to $200,000. Total loss to the area was from $250,000 to $400,000.

Tahoka and the area are blessed by having many volunteer and professional persons who serve as tornado spotters, in rescue assistance roles and law enforcement people. Lynn County Sheriff Stanley Krause's office receives a teletype from the NWS on all severe weather, which is updated as any change takes place. During a severe thunderstorm warning 6 to 8 of his personnel will be spotting the cloud. These key people have in-service training each year to be storm spotters. Spotters play an

Tahoka Band Earns Div. I In Contest

On Friday, April 8, the Tahoka High School Band traveled to Sundown for the 1983 UIL Concert and Sightreading Contest. The band received a first division in concert and a second division in sight-reading. The band's three selections for contest were Winchester March, Slavonic Folk Suite and Rhapsodic Episode.

Each band had three concert judges and one sightreading judge. Tahoka and Denver City were the only bands to receive straight ones from the judges. Other bands in the Class AAA competition were Abernathy, whose ratings were II, I; Seminole II, I; Denver City I, I; Roosevelt II, II; Frenship I, III; Cooper II, III; Slaton IV, II and Post III, I.

After the concert Band Director Mike McGhee said, "This band is constantly surprising me. This is the first division I rating Tahoka has received in many years."

The band will be traveling to Amarillo on May 4 to participate in the Greater Southwest Music Festival on May 5. Two of the selections to be played by the band are Rhapsodic Episode and Phoenix Overture. Everyone is invited to attend.

WOODWORK
BY DALTON

ONE OF OUR writers was trying to get information together for a story I suggested might be called "What to do when a tornado comes." Of course, the obvious reaction to that kind of title would be "run like mad."

We discussed tornado warnings and shelters and such and concluded that people working downtown are out of luck so far as having any place to hide from a twister. "Where DO we go if a tornado hits while we're working down here?" she asked. "That depends on what kind of life you have led," I told her.

The people who are supposed to know about such things used to tell us all to get in a corner nearest the approaching tornado, if you can't find any real shelter. Then they decided that wasn't such a hot idea, and maybe everybody ought to find a corner as far away from the approaching funnel as possible (like in the next county).

I'm not sure where they are suggesting you go inside a home these days, but generally I think it is into a closet or bathroom or small area (if I know the funnel is a block down the street headed my way, the bathroom might be just the place). Or, if you go to the corner of the room as mentioned earlier, you scrunch down, make yourself as small as possible (drink three quarts of Cambridge) and pray.

Most tornadoes occur in May, we're told. So we have dirt all through April and then tornadoes in May. Next year I would like to take my vacation about the first week in April. And come back about the first week in September.

Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Line, 998-5145, day or night; it is not necessary to identify yourself. Arrangements will be made to pay the reward.

essential role in advance warning, one reason being tornadoes are not visible on the radar screen. Krause's staff works very closely with the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department, who also help spot the clouds. In the event of a tornado warning the Tahoka fire alarm will be sounded with four short rings. The "all clear" signal, adopted this year, will be two short rings. Wilson's warning is four long rings. As of now they do not have an all-clear signal. O'Donnell uses one continuous ring with the all-clear signal another continuous ring. At New Home the signal is four short rings. They do not have an all-clear signal.

The Tahoka fire department asks that all families with storm shelters notify them as to where the shelters are located and how many persons will be in the shelters. (Forms to fill out and return to the department are on page 3). They will have a map showing where these shelters are located in case of a disaster. Should a disaster occur, Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon will declare the area as such, whereas the Red Cross will be called in, marital law will be declared by Sheriff Krause, and rescue services provided by the fire department.

Tahoka has no designated public storm shelter in the downtown area. Persons who are working in daytime jobs when a storm threatens should go to a corner the furthest away from the direction the storm is approaching, or to the center of the building away from all windows.

Those residents who are home, but have no storm cellars do not have an official place to go for shelter in a storm. They either have to know somebody who has a shelter or take their chances.

The personnel of the Tahoka Schools are trained to provide the greatest possible protection for the children. All students are taken to designated areas of safety, asked to kneel down, face the wall, place their hands over their heads, and remain until the all clear is sounded. System wide drills are given periodically.

The school has the following alert systems:

1. Weather alert receiver with the U.S. Weather Bureau in all three buildings.
2. Citizen band radio receiver to monitor fire department and the school lookout person.
3. City alert system.

The most dangerous place a person or child can be during a tornado is in an automobile. Schools are considered some of the safest structures in the community. School officials encourage all parents to assist the school in protecting their children by not blocking the streets and taking their children out of the buildings and into their cars during an alert. During an alert all buildings and playgrounds are checked to see that every child is in a place of safety. Wilson, O'Donnell and New Home schools have the same basic policies as Tahoka, each having their own means of being alerted. The O'Donnell school has just been approved as a fall-out shelter, states Dale Read, superintendent.

According to the National Weather Service the rules to follow when a tornado threatens are:

- *Listen to a National Weather Service Radio.
- *Listen to local radio or TV stations.
- *If a warning sounds seek shelter immediately.
- *Don't take time to open windows.
- *Go to basement, storm cellar, or interior parts of lowest level of building.
- *Get under something sturdy.
- *If caught outdoors lie flat in nearby ditch.
- *Don't try to outrun the tornado in your vehicle.
- *Always protect your head.

In the final analysis, most officials believe it is up to each individual and family to make plans ahead of time for any emergency which may be faced. Knowing what to do is half of staying alive.

"The average amount of time women spend in household activities has changed very little in the past fifty years," says Lynn White, a home economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. According to White, research shows that homemakers as a whole spend 47-52 hours a week in household activities. Employed wives spend 26-35 hours per week on household activities in addition to their forty-hour work week. "Major appliances, easy-care clothes and convenience foods have not led to a decrease in the total time spent on household work," says White, "although they have changed the way in which that time is spent."

Parents who feel they cannot afford the $30-$40 cost of a new child safety seat may be tempted to search the garage sales and want ads looking for a bargain. "But a used child safety seat that is defective is no bargain," says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Look first for a label stating that the device "meets or exceeds all federal safety standards," says Shirer. A torn harness or padding can be repaired with replacements from the manufacturer. But twisted, bent, or loose metal frames and seat bars mean the seat is unsafe, says Shirer. Parents should ask the owner for the manufacturer's directions and try the seat in their car before making the purchase, adds Shirer.

Progress Against Hearing, Speech Problems

Most of the 22 million Americans who have speech, hearing or language problems can be helped. The encouraging news is that these millions of people respond to many new treatments—medical or surgical—or can be assisted by hearing aids or specialized rehabilitation. Much thanks for this recent progress is due to the efforts of the organizations who sponsor the annual Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month observance in May of each year. This year's campaign chairman is television star Lorne Greene, who personally overcame a hearing loss. He's working hand-in-hand with the 1983 poster child, four-year-old Brooke Broberg. This youngster, a resident of Shawnee, KS, is working to overcome a speech problem. Together, these two will work to bring their message of hope across America. Twenty-seven organizations are pooling their financial resources to further the Council's national public information program. It's a message that will be welcome news for millions of Americans.

Dear Friends:

I have enjoyed reading the Lynn County News this year - 1983.

Especially enjoyed the Keltner Hotel news as that was about my late husband, J. Frank Edwards, and my friends, Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Keltner, sons and daughter, Cubana, the many other families and to my friends, a hearty greeting!

The Hill Country is in full Blue Bonnet season, among other flower varieties: beauty through out the year. And has become an art center of Central Texas. "Welcome to The Hill Country."

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Editor:

Having graduated from Texas Tech University cum laude, and being currently enrolled as a graduate student in the department of English, I felt compelled to write to you concerning your column dated March 30, 1983. Part of my duties as a graduate student include teaching freshman English. I am appalled at the apathy exhibited by my students and I often wonder where it comes from. After having read your column, I have a clearer idea. I believe your exact words were, "I really don't care much what happens to the EPA." Perhaps if you did care a bit more, Texas Tech would be inviting you, instead of Ralph Nadar, to address students at our University. These folks may "cause more trouble than they do good," but at least they are aware of the world and actively taking part in it.

Thomas Young To Receive Scholarship

Thomas Young, Tahoka High School senior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young has been named to receive a presidential scholarship at McMurry College for the coming year, according to Dr. Thomas Kim, McMurry President.

To be eligible for a presidential scholarship at McMurry, a student must graduate in the top quarter of his high school class. A score of 21 or better on the ACT qualifies a recipient for additional presidential scholarship funds.

Your column was also very narrow in depicting Tech's guest speakers. Tech has seen such speakers as Dick Gregory, Ralph Nadar, and Gloria Steinem, but the other end of the spectrum has also been represented by such speakers as Phyllis Schafly, Thomas Murton and Frank Herbert.

Your assumption that "we all know that college students are traditionally liberal" is a common one; perhaps just as common as the assumption that most newspaper editors are liberal.

We all know that people often condemn things that they do not understand; later, however, many of them learn better.

Jona Valentine-Ross

LUBBOCK, Friday, April 8, 1983

Three more speakers have been added to the program for the 26th annual meeting of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., to be held at 1:00 p.m. April 22 in the Banquet Hall of Lubbock's Memorial Civic Center.

Nineteenth District Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock, announced last week as the principal speaker, will be joined on the podium by State Senator John Montford; Ed Breihan, immediate past president of the National Cotton Council and current general manager of Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Lubbock, and Nick Hahn, Executive Vice President of Cotton Incorporated.

Each of the speakers, according to PCG President Tommy Fondren, has been asked to present the view from his particular area of expertise on the meeting's general theme, "Research, Promotion and Politics that Determine Cotton's Destiny."

Hance is a member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, Fondren notes, a position from which he is able to have more than a little influence on Federal legislation and on administrative decisions affecting PCG producer and allied industry members.

Senator Montford, as a member of the State Committee on Natural Resources and Vice Chairman of the Subcommittee on Water, is expected to review and assess his own and other efforts to develop and implement a Texas water plan. Montford is also a member of the State Education Committee and the Committee on Jurisprudence.

"Breihan's long years of prominence in agricultural matters and especially his service to the industry as 1982 President of the multi-segment National Cotton Council," Fondren continues, "uniquely qualifies him to provide an overview of industrywide efforts to maintain a healthy climate for cotton on all fronts."

The final speaker, Hahn, heads up the nationwide producers' research and marketing company, Cotton

Incorporated, into which producers put by far the biggest portion of their annual investment in research and market development. And, Fondren says, "that fact should make every producer want to hear his outline of CI achievements and plans for future activities."

The PCG program also includes the annual President's and Executive Vice President's reports to the membership, highlighting PCG's contribution to research, promotion and services aimed at promoting and protecting the specific interests of producers in the organization's 25 High Plains counties.

Concluding the day's activities for PCG will be a meeting of the 50-man Board of Directors at which 1983-84 officers will be elected. Current officers, in addition to Fondren, are Vice President Gerald Caswell of Brownfield, Bennie Claunch of Bula, Secretary-Treasurer, and Gary Ivey of Ralls, Chairman of the Board. All are eligible for re-election.

Green Thumb Workers Training Session Held

Green thumb workers attended a special alcoholism training session at the Senior Center in Leveland on April 11.

They were shown a film entitled "They Do Recover," in which Ralph Waite of "The Waltons," Wilbur Mills, former congressman, and Doc Severinson of the "Tonight Show" discussed the development of their alcohol problems and the paths they followed to find relief.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

The calendar may indicate that spring planting time is here, but the soil temperature may not agree.

To get your crops off to a good start, it's best to base spring planting on soil temperature readings rather than on the calendar date, emphasizes Stanley Young, county agent.

So get a soil thermometer. It's inexpensive and easy to use and can be bought at most farm supply stores. It's a good investment and can help you get your 1983 crops off to a good start.

Take soil temperature readings for several days at the same time of day—the early morning is usually best for more reliable readings.

The Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University also monitors soil temperature readings over the state and reports these as a part of their daily radio agricultural advisories. However, these are regional readings and may differ from readings at specific locations, so keeping track of soil temperatures on your farm is still a good idea.

He offers these guidelines regarding soil temperatures and spring planting:

1. Make sure soil temperatures at the 4-inch depth are above 60 degrees F. for about a week before planting. It's best to wait until the 65-degree mark for cotton and for about 70 degrees for peanuts and soybeans.

2. Check the three-to-five-day weather forecast and don't plant if cold weather is on the way.

3. Plant on a firm, settled seedbed. A raised bed warms up faster than flat ground and offers better drainage from excess moisture.

4. Plant only deep enough to get to moisture and avoid disturbing the seedbed any more than necessary.

5. Plant high quality seed with a germination of 85 percent or higher.
6. Don't exceed normal seeding rates by more than about 15 percent since too many plants can delay crop maturity.

Farmers have several good choices of cover crops to plant on conserving-use acreage in the new PIK program.

Both legumes and annual grasses can be used as cover crops on this acreage, says Stanley Young, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Both would provide ground cover to prevent erosion and would produce residue that could be incorporated into the soil for improvement purposes.

Legumes are traditionally thought of as soil improvement crops because they offer the ability to naturally fix the nitrogen they use for growth if they are inoculated at planting. Legumes would require a good phosphorus and potassium level for adequate growth and on acid soils would need to be limed.

Legumes need to be planted as early as possible in the spring. Some types of legumes that would be useful in Texas are alfalfa, annual lespedeza, cowpeas, guar, mungbeans and sweet clover. Seed availability and price could be major considerations regarding legumes. With sizeable acreages being planted, many types of legume seed will be totally depleted.

Warm season annual grasses, such as hybrid sudans, forage sorghums, sudan-sorghum crosses and millets would offer ground cover and residue for incorporation. These grasses would require the addition of nitrogen fertilizer, when compared to legumes, to provide maximum dry matter production. Seed should be readily available for these forages, and they could be planted later than legumes.

Conserving-use acreage will have the limitation that the cover crop cannot be grazed or harvested during a designated six-month period during the growing season. In most instances, this period will be May through October, but local ASCS offices will provide actual dates for each county. Cover crops can be plowed under as green manure crops during this period, again according to the local ASCS guidelines.

For individuals considering grazing or haying the cover crops after the restricted period, the long growing period has some drawbacks. In most instances, plants will have made a seed crop that may complicate future crops on that field. The forages will be quite mature and, therefore, lower in quality than desirable. Livestock grazing these over-mature crops or fed the over-mature hay would require supplementation to maintain body weight.

With this regard, the cover crops would need to be treated like crop residue from any other crop. The final consideration is that crops baled after the restricted period will reduce the amount of organic residue going back to the soil, thus reducing the soil improvement aspect to a degree.

While the choice of cover crops for conserving-use acreage is fairly broad, seed supplies will be a limiting factor. For best conservation effects, cover crops should be allowed to grow throughout the growing season and then plowed into the soil for residue incorporation.

The Food and Drug Administration requires that packaging which makes a specific nutritional claim must have the product's nutritional content printed on the label, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutritional specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The label must show the serving size, calories, and amounts of protein, carbohydrates and fats per serving. It must also indicate the percentage of US RDA provided per serving. The RDA stands for "recommended daily allowance" or the approximate amounts of protein, vitamins, and minerals needed by adults for good health. To eat an adequate diet, the total amount of food consumed a day should add up to about 100 percent of the US RDA for nutrients, says Haggard.

U.S. Is World Leader In Agriculture

"The United States Leads The World in Agriculture" was the theme of a talk at Rotary by James Baxter of Shamrock, senior agricultural student at Texas Tech, president-elect of the Aggie Council and member of "Ambassadors for Agriculture."

That statement is not new, but Baxter's talk was filled with impressive statistics. America leads in spite of loss of farm land for various reasons and the number of farms has decreased from 6.8 million farm acres in 1935 to 2.3 million in 1934.

Value of agriculture product exports in 1979 was 176.6 billion dollars, 19 percent of our nation's total exports.

He also gave figures to illustrate the plight of the farmer today, where the farmer is receiving less for his products than the cost of production. This, in spite of the fact that today one farmer produces food and fiber to feed fifty people.

John Krey, First National Bank vice president, arranged the program.

Aggie engineers building smart tractor

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University agricultural engineers are developing an automated tractor system that could tell a farmer when to slow down or even shift gears to conserve fuel.

The research conducted by Texas A&M's Agricultural Engineering Department is part of an effort to help farmers improve energy efficiency, reduce their costs and lower consumers' grocery bills.

The researchers are connecting a complex network of sensors to a tractor for measuring such things as fuel flow, forward travel speed and the amount of power that's being produced.

Sugar Red

As the name implies, Sugar Red is a vigorous sweet sorghum hybrid using early sumac (red top cane) as one of the parents. Fast growing and very leafy, Sugar Red makes a very sweet and palatable forage* plus 20%-40% more tonnage than common open-pollinated varieties. Sugar Red is very drought tolerant yet gets 7-9 feet tall under good conditions. Sugar Red is mostly sterile and works well in a winter grazeout program with a minimum of volunteer plants the following year.

HAY-SMAK

You can look to HAY-SMAK Hybrid Sorghum-Sudangrass for a most dependable forage ... producing excellent grazing, superior hay, good green chop, and satisfactory ensilage.

HYBRID SORGHUM-SUDANGRASS

Bundle King II

A fast growing sweet sorghum hybrid. Extremely sweet stalks and very leafy. Makes premium quality hay, bundles or ensilage.* No volunteer problem if left to maturity. Works well for a fall or winter graze-out, as cattle like the soft, sweet stalks and leaves after frost. Very drought tolerant.

Tahoka Pioneer Museum continues to receive items for display that give present-day people an insight to life during early days in Lynn County.

Bert Stice has given six pictures he acquired from Brown Bishop, early day school man.

Included are a picture of teachers attending the first Lynn County Teachers Institute at Tahoka in 1907; Berry Flat School group, 1910-1911; Draw school pupils and teachers, 1911-1912; O'Donnell school teachers and students, 1915; O'Donnell 11th grade, 1915; and Old Stokes Hotel, with a crowd of people in front, believed to be about 1907.

The Museum also has acquired one of the outstanding pieces of sculpture by local artist, Bill Craig, the ranch wagon, team of four horses and cowboy driver. This has been acclaimed by other artists as remarkable for its detail and authenticity.

First Baptist Church of Tahoka has given a 10-volume set of Encyclopedia Britannica, 1903, of interest for its pictures and text describing events and places of 1890s and before.

Dwain Jones has given a quilt he acquired following the death of B.R. (Buck) Brewer. A "friendship quilt" made in the early 1930s bears the names of scores of Brewer family members and friends.

Another "friendship" quilt has been loaned by Charles F. King of Lamesa made by ladies of Tahoka Methodist Church in about 1920 in honor of Mrs. Geo. W. (Aunt Sophie) King, who came to Tahoka in the 1805-1907 period. Her husband freighted mail and supplies from Tahoka to the new town of Post City. Names of pioneers are inscribed on the quilt blocks.

Mrs. Claude (Willie) Thomas has contributed a picture of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.B. McCord, who came to the Grassland area in 1916. The picture was taken on their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Marilyn (Carmack) McPhaul brought the Museum several pictures from Borden County Museum. One is a picture

Striped fabrics are more fashionable and available this spring than in past seasons. Although anyone can wear stripes, it takes thought when planning to select the most becoming pattern for the individual. Look at a striped fabric or garment in a mirror before buying to see what kind of effect it produces. Consider the size of the stripes, color and design as used or as you plan to use it.

When vertical stripes are too far apart they may make the eye move in a horizontal direction from stripe to stripe going across the body. This can make the wearer appear heavier. Similarly, if horizontal stripe is wide enough, it creates a ladder effect and makes the eye move upward. This adds an appearance of length or height to the wearer.

When sewing with a stripe, pattern selection is particularly important. If the pattern is illustrated in a stripe on the package, of Thomas Bros. Drug and WOW Hall upstairs taken in about 1907, and two pictures are of Sam H. Sanford when he was sheriff and tax collector of Lynn County in the early 1920s. Three other pictures have not been identified as being from Lynn County.

then stripes are especially suitable and have been checked for possible matching problems. Avoid patterns that are labeled "not suitable for stripes" because they cannot be properly matched and will distract from the garment's appearance.

As you buy yardage, include extra for matching. The amount depends on the size of the stripes and the number of lengths to be laid out. Use the most dominant stripe in the center of the major garment pieces such as the bodice, skirt or sleeve. Place a definite horizontal stripe at the hemline or garment edge. It can then be matched to other pieces or a separate garment.

Striped fabrics may seem a little more difficult to work with, but they can also provide opportunities for creativity. You can create many interesting effects by tucking or pleating stripes, or designing other unusual details.

So experiment with striped fabrics this spring—you'll be glad you did when you see the fashionable results.

A young oyster is called a set.

CLOWING AROUND—Having fun at the Fun and Food Festival were: Casey Weaver, right, and Curtis Erickson, center. Casey, who has a lion's face painted on him, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Weaver and Curtis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Erickson. The boy at left is unidentified.

Right-Of-Way Payments Okayed

Payments to three organizations for putting the right-of-way to proposed FM 1328 in Lynn County were approved by county commissioners in regular session Monday.

Lynnteg Electric Co-Op was paid $25,404 for moving lines and poles along the proposed route; Poka Lambro telephone cooperative received $4802 and Sahara Irrigation was paid $1679 for moving underground pipe. The total on the three is $31,885.

The work involves an 8-mile stretch of road running north and south to connect the southern end to U.S. 380 about 15 miles west of Tahoka.

E.R. Moore Insurance Agency in O'Donnell was low bidder on insurance coverage for the courthouse, jail building, welfare building, sheriff's vehicles and courthouse boiler, and commissioners voted to award the one-year coverage to Moore on his bid of $6,263 total premium for a year on the covered items.

Stenholm Announces Art Competition

Congressman Charles Stenholm announced plans for an art competition for high school students, grades 9 - 12, in the 17th Congressional District. The winning entry will be displayed later this year in a national exhibition in the corridor leading to the United States Capitol.

According to Con. Stenholm, the art competition is part of an artistic discovery, a nationwide activity initiated by members of the United States House of Representatives to recognize the creative talents of young people.

The contest, to be conducted at no expense to the Federal government, is open to any high school student in the 17th district. Artwork must be no larger than 30" x 30" (unframed), and two-dimensional. Eligible categories are paintings, drawings, collages, and prints.

A regional show, scheduled in Post for Wednesday, May 11, is one of eight to be held over the district prior to the District Show on May 12 in Abilene. Students in Crosby, Garza, and Lynn counties should contact Candace McConnel in Post prior to May 11 and have their entries in place by 10 a.m. on that date at Post High School.

Details are available from any Congressman Stenholm's offices or from Candace McConnel in Post, 806/495-2770.

Youth Gives Impressions Of Washington Visit

Thomas Young, local high school student, who along with classmate Todd Lockaby, told of their recent trip to Washington, D.C. at Rotary last Thursday. They boys, members of Mrs. Burks' Civics class, qualified for the trip along with other students from over the nation to attend the "President's Classroom" meeting.

They attended many seminars, heard talks by a member of the nation's leaders, attended a congressional session, and were taken on a sight-seeing trip over the city. Thomas also showed pictures he took of many of the nation's public buildings and shrines.

Thomas said they came home with a better knowledge and understanding of our government and our heritage.

He seemed a little surprised that most of the young people at the meeting were conservative in their political thinking.

Among the places visited were the Capitol, White House, Department of Agriculture, Smithsonian Institute, Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln memorials and most of the other major points of interest.

Binie White was in charge of the program.

Lynn County Cancer Crusade Set

The American Cancer Society has announced that a special health survey will be conducted in Lynn County as a part of the Society's local educational and fund raising crusade. The survey is a main feature of this year's educational crusade pamphlet to be distributed by local ACS volunteers door-to-door the week of April 18-22.

According to Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Chairman of the Cancer Crusade here the survey is a detachable, confidential questionnaire related to individual health awareness and action that takes about five minutes to complete. It is then mailed back to the ACS. "The results of this survey, which I really encourage the citizens of Lynn County to complete, will be used by ACS volunteers to determine more effective education programs in this part of the state," Mrs. Turner said.

"Education is a great means of prevention," said Mrs. Turner. "At present rates, the lives of about 320,000 Americans will be saved from cancer in 1983. However, we already have the scientific knowledge and know-how to save nearly 145,000 more with the help of earlier diagnosis and treatment."

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Joint Hearings Eye Export PIK: House Agricultural and Foreign Affairs committees in joint hearings were told by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block that slowdown in farm exports has given special urgency to efforts to maintain and expand agricultural exports. He said the value of agricultural exports declined by nearly $5 billion in fiscal '82 and a further decline is indicated this year. He noted that the U.S. share of world markets declined for a number of commodities from 1980 to 1982, with U.S. cotton's share dropping from 40 percent to just over 30 percent. Sec. Block said USDA is using every tool under existing authority to reverse the decline, and strongly supported a blended credit program.

Boll Weevil Numbers Up: USDA researchers in the Greenville, Miss., area say their tests have turned up unusually large numbers of winter-surviving boll weevils in ground trash. Tests indicate 808 weevils per acre. This points to 42 percent survival, which USDA entomologist Dr. Ted Pfrimmer says is four times normal.

PIK Audit Underway: USDA's inspector-general has begun a three-phase audit of the payment-in-kind program in selected states and counties. The first phase is reviewing requirements for program participation. The second phase, focuses on compliance with program regulations, and will include an audit of cotton cooperatives, beginning June 15. The final phase in mid-September will cover handling of PIK-designated commodities by cooperatives, warehouses, and USDA's field and county offices.

Arkansas entomologist Dr. Jake Phillips reported 512 weevils per acre in the state's Delta area, based on ground trash examinations. Arizona extension agent Ivan Shields said traps set last fall indicate over 90 percent of the state's cotton this year would be infested with weevils. Arizona growers are setting traps this spring to slow the weevil advance.

The second phase, focuses on compliance with program regulations, and will include an audit of cotton cooperatives, beginning June 15. Food protein researchers at Texas A&M University have developed a new way to prevent the green color that characteristically forms in protein extracted from sunflower seeds—the world's second largest source of edible oil and fourth largest source of feed protein. As a result of the work, protein-rich isolates from sunflower flour used in products such as infant formulas and meat extenders are now white.

"Animals don't mind, but humans just do not want to eat prepared foods that are green," said J. T. Lawhon, a researcher with Texas A&M's Food Protein Research and Development Center. He has been involved in the project for about four years.
