Pistol Theft From Pickup Investigated

A Smith & Wesson .38 revolver was reported stolen Sunday from a pickup owned by E.C. Smallwood of Slaton. Smallwood said the gun and some small wrenches were taken from his pickup when it was parked on FM 2106 about 2.5 miles north of FM 211. The stolen items were valued at $300, and Lynn County Crime Line, 998-5145, has offered a $200 reward in the case.

Tahoka Police Dept. issued 14 traffic tickets during the last week, with 11 of these for running stop signs.

In jail during the week were one person each for revocation of probation, criminal mischief, DWI second offense, DWI bond forfeiture, and driving while license suspended plus traffic violation.

Clean-Up Campaign Urged Here

Citizens and businesses in Tahoka are being urged to clean up and spruce up their areas in preparation for the arrival of the Texas Wagon Train in May. The Tahoka Chamber of Commerce and local Wagon Train Committee is asking residents to put forth this effort, especially the downtown area and those sites on the direct route of the train as it passes through town.

"We would like for the visitors to leave us with only compliments of Tahoka. We are the friendliest town in Texas, so let us be the cleanest," said Weldon Self, Chamber President.

The Wagon Train is due to arrive in Tahoka at noon Thursday, May 8, travelling that morning from O'Donnell. The train will circle the downtown square before it proceeds to the campsite on Highway 380.

WOODWORK

BY DALTON

A LOT OF PEOPLE are going outside at weird times of the night to look at Halley's Comet, a phenomenon named for some guy named Halley who was always looking up at the sky instead of looking where he was going.

I'm not sure whether I have seen Halley's comet or not. We did see something that might have been it one night when we were driving to Brownfield, and that was a few months ago. The problem now is that it is best seen about 4:30 in the morning, which is the worst possible time. Usually I am in bed by two or three o'clock, and I certainly don't plan to get up at 4:30, because that would make the night awfully short. Further complicating things is the fact that once I get up in the middle of the night, I have a hard time going back to sleep.

Our favorite son-in-law got up and drove outside of town to see the comet one morning. He reported that it looked a bit fuzzy, with a little tail. We had a puppy once that fit that description.

Tahoka Rodeo Assn. To Meet Friday

The Tahoka Rodeo Association will meet Friday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Paris Cafeteria. All interested citizens are invited to attend.

Outgoing Councilman Praises City

Three new city council members were sworn in and briefed on various city operations Monday night, and Dr. Richard White, who wound up eight years of service as a council member, took the opportunity at his final council meeting to praise the city and its leaders for progress made in the last few years.

After Mayor Jim Solomon commended outgoing council members H.B. McCord, Dr. White and Nicky Summitt for their service, Dr. White, who did not seek re-election, responded by saying he has enjoyed working with city officials over the years more than anything else.

"Tahoka has been blessed with good leadership," Dr. White said. "This city is in the best financial condition ever. I can't take credit for that, but I am proud to have worked with the people who are responsible. It has been due to two strong mayors and a good council... Tahoka has been far better to me than I have been to the community."

White also commended City Manager Carl Reynolds and said Solomon and former Mayor Melton Leslie have provided excellent leadership.

Sworn in as council members were Dayton Parker, Wayne Tekell and Leonard Dunn, winners in the recent election. Also present were councilmen Jim Thomas and Dalton Wood, who was appointed mayor pro tem to serve in the event that Solomon is not available.

Councilmen heard the monthly report of police activities from Chief Gary Morrison. He reported 38 traffic citations issued during the month, and that just four accidents were investigated. He also noted that no burglaries were reported in the city.

Local Student Receives Letter From White House

Dannette Robledo, a sixth grade student in Tahoka schools, received a letter from The White House recently, in reply to her letter to President Ronald Reagan.

Miss Robledo sent a letter to the President on Jan. 29 stating her sorrow for the tragic explosion of the Space Shuttle Challenger, and the loss of the lives of the astronauts. She received a letter from The White House, dated March 31, 1986, from Anne Higgins, Special Assistant to the President and Director of Correspondence.

The letter thanked her for sharing her thoughts with President

Reagan, "who believes that perhaps the best way for you to honor the memory of Christa McAuliffe and the other astronauts would be to work hard in school and in your community so that you can do as Christa always urged her students, 'reach for the stars'."

Enclosed with the letter was the President's Address to the Nation on Jan. 28, 1986, concerning the Space Shuttle Challenger.

Miss Robledo is the daughter of Sandy Robledo of Tahoka.

H.E. In '80's SELECT FROZEN MEALS FOR NUTRITION

People who are trying to cut back on salt and fat in their diets should carefully read the labels on the frozen plate dinners and entrees they buy, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) nutritionist.

According to Mary K. Sweeten, a recent study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that store-bought frozen dinners and entrees have high levels of fat and sodium.

Sodium content ranged from 900 to 1164 milligrams in the five national brand products tested, while 1100 to 3300 milligrams of sodium is estimated to be a safe and adequate daily intake for adults, she explains.

The fat content of frozen dinners included in the study ranged from 14 to 24 grams per serving for dinners and 2 to 16 grams per serving for the entrees. The lighter entrees contained 2 to 5 grams of fat per serving.

This amount of fat in frozen dinners and entrees represents a substantial part of the recommended 65 to 75 grams for persons consuming about 2000 calories a day, she adds.

"Judging the nutritional adequacy of frozen plate dinners and entrees is no easy task, even with the help of nutrition labels," says Sweeten. "But it's especially important that people on lowsodium or low-fat diets make the effort."

The TAEX nutritionist suggests that consumers use nutrition labels to make comparisons among the products.

"Look for those that contain higher percentages of the Recommended Dietary Allowances for the most nutrients," she advises. Also look for products that contain fewer grams of fat, or a lower percentage of total calories as fat, and fewer milligrams of sodium."

When you buy a convenience product that is low in certain nutrients or higher in fat or sodium, you can compensate by adjusting what you eat during the rest of the day, says the nutritionist.

She also recommends comparing the nutrient content of the frozen meal to the foods you typically eat.

If the convenience product contains about the same amount of meat, vegetable or fruit, and rice or pasta you normally eat at a meal, it probably will make a similar nutritional contribution to your day's food intake, Sweeten remarks.

PRACTICE HELPS CHILDREN LEARN SAFETY--Practice, not preaching, helps children learn safety, says a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Because children don't have the mental capacities of adults, they must be taught in a manner that accounts for their limitations. Children must experience their lessons—not just hear them. They must be taken by the hand and shown how to do things safely. Then they should be observed to be sure they follow through when alone.

Devotional

By Rev. Hazel House

SCRIPTURE:
Matthew 13:44-49

There is something better, something infinitely more valuable than what we now have. "Finding one pearl of great price, he sold all that he had and bought it."

In the Old Testament reading in I Kings, we read that the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream, "ask what I shall give you." It pleased God that this great King, the model of wisdom, asked for "understanding to discern what is right."

And Paul said "we know that all things work together for good to them that love God." The Father's plan of love intends for us "to be conformed to the image of His Son." We are called, justified, and glorified.

In the parable of the pearl of great price — the treasure hidden in the field — These two parables in Matthew 13 make the same point. The Kingdom of God is of such great value that nothing should be spared in getting it. Remember, he sells all he has and buys that field.

Jesus teaches the importance of the way and the truth. When Christ was asked, "What shall we do that we may be doing the works of God?" He did not offer a general game plan, but went to the source.

"This is the work of God that you believe in. Him whom He has sent." Behind one's actions are the beliefs that fashion those actions.

Faced with a multitude of choices in today's world we try to keep every pearl and tend to value all things about equally. Many are lax in doctrine and casual in ethics. Pluralism is in vogue.

It is a tragic thing for a man or a woman, for a church or a community, to kind of play with life's highest ideals and heaven's very best gift, thus neglecting the Kingdom of God.

To choose little when much is offered is to lose the best choice of all — even Christ Himself and the eternal life.

If we believe that the God who has created all things is a God of goodness and mercy; one who is steadfast in patience and gracious ways; a Father who knows us, loves us, thinks of us, provides for us; and the one who has sent His only Son to tell us of a love that will never let us go — Will we not with joy turn from any anxious affection that cannot save and does not heal?

OUT OF THE WOODS

By Juanell (Wood) Jones

MY HUSBAND AND I are perfectly suited for each other. He loves to watch basketball on television, and I love to read books. See what nice, compatible hobbies those are? I realized this the other night while we were both "doing our own thing" in the living room. He had the stereo headphones hooked up to the television and was watching his game, while I was curled up on the couch with a spine-tingling mystery.

He was listening to the game with headphones so that I wouldn't be bothered with the "noise and excitement" of the sport. This was a good idea in theory, but in practice it didn't quite carry off as intended — I kept hearing things like, "Oh good grief, don't do that!" and "I can't believe it!" and "No, don't...wait...Shoot it!" from the direction of his recliner.

Normally when I read, I get so involved with the book that I tune out everything else going on around me. In fact, in the book I was reading there was a passage that reminded me of how well I communicate when I'm reading: This guy asked his wife a question, while she was reading, and was able to count almost to 100 before she looked up, eyes glazed, and said "Did you say something, honey?" That's me to a "T".

But guys watching their favorite sport seldom comment on them quietly, and Gary is no exception to the rule! I think it must have been a good game, judging from the volume of noise he was making.

I have to admit, though, that occasionally I laugh aloud at some particularly funny phrase when I'm reading, or "oh no!" several times through some spine-chilling "who-done-its."

We really enjoy our leisure moments, my husband and I. Anybody watching us would think we were nuts.

I HAD ANOTHER escapade with a mouse the other night, or at least I thought I did. After I went to bed (my husband was already snoozing away), I kept hearing these little sounds over in the corner of the bedroom. Sounded just like a mouse, too. It had to be a mouse. There wasn't any other explanation.

So, I punched Gary a little harder than necessary, I guess, because he sat straight up in bed, hollering "What, what!?"

"Honey, there's a mouse over there in that corner, just listen," I explained, trying to keep calm, but holding on to his arm just in case the rodent tried to 'get me.'

Sleepy, and a little exasperated at my mouse-phobia by now, he got up and turned on the closet light which was just enough for me to see the little culprit ... it was a moth. Must have been a drunk moth, because he kept bumping into the wall (making these funny little scratchy sounds, you know, like mice do).

Gary didn't seem to think we could catch him in a mouse trap.

Cotton Today

Outlook Conference Slated: Phoenix will be the site of this year's National Cotton Outlook Conference sponsored by the Cotton Foundation and the National Cotton Council.

The annual session will be held June 10-11 at the Arizona Biltmore Hotel, with the theme of "Productivity — the Competitive Edge."

Among topics to be discussed are the farm program, cotton's market outlook, crop financing, progress on establishing a cotton information network, and new technologies. Conference-goers also will tour Sun Dance Farms to observe no-till and drip irrigation systems.

Frank B. Jones Jr., Lamesa, Tx., producer, is Foundation president and Tommy Funk, Harlingen, Tx., producer, is board chairman. The Foundation is made up of representatives of farm equipment manufacturers, agricultural chemical companies, banks, and other corporate firms which supply the cotton industry. It was organized in 1955 to support cotton research and education.

Leadership Class Turns Westward: The Cotton Leadership Class will visit cotton industry leaders and view cotton production and processing in parts of Texas and California in mid-April.

The 10 class members — representing each segment of the cotton industry — will tour the Rio Grande Valley April 14-15 with stops in Harlingen, Weslaco, and Raymondville. They go to the San Joaquin Valley April 16-18 for stops in Bakersfield, Buttonwillow, Shafter, Coalinga, and Fresno before winding up their session at the port of Long Beach.

The class concluded its training with a week-long session in Washington, D.C., in June. Now in its third year, the program is conducted by the National Cotton Council and funded by a grant to the Cotton Foundation from Du Pont's Agricultural Chemicals Department.

Research Targeted: The Beltwide Boll Weevil Action Committee has developed recommendations on future research technology to aid future expansion of eradication program.

The committee, headed by Louisiana producer John S. (Duke) Barr III, made its suggestions after hearing reports from advisory members from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state universities.

4-H NEWS

4-H Program Builds Character, Leadership

The care and training of a horse can build character, leadership and responsibility, and that's what the 4-H horse program is all about.

Owning a horse is a big investment in time and money, and training it is a big undertaking that requires a lot of hard work. However, the effort can help a 4-H member grow and develop into a responsible citizen.

Specific objectives of the 4-H horse program are these:

1. To acquire skills in horse management by owning a horse or pony and being responsible for it.
2. To appreciate riding as recreation.
3. To learn horsemanship skills and understanding breeding, training and raising horses as a business.
4. To acquire safety skills to prevent injury to persons and animals.
5. To promote love for humane treatment of animals.
6. To develop sportsmanship, cooperation, decision-making ability and public speaking skills through participation in demonstrations, tours, judging and exhibits.

4-H'ers with horse projects can compete at various horse shows held annually and can qualify for district and state competition. Those who excel in the project can qualify for awards provided by the American Quarter Horse Assn., including six expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago each fall and six $1,000 scholarships at the national level.

Further details about the 4-H horse program as well as other 4-H projects and activities are available at the county Extension office.

4-H Has Program in Commodity Marketing

Marketing of agricultural commodities is receiving more and more emphasis as producers attempt to get a better price for their products.

Through the 4-H Commodity Marketing program, youth can learn about marketing systems and their impacts on the prices of farm and ranch products.

Objectives of the 4-H Commodity Marketing program are these:

- Learn basic economic marketing and management principles of a free marketing system.
- Investigate the cash and futures market.
- Apply economic marketing and management principles and tools to other 4-H projects.

The Chicago Board of Trade hosts and annual Commodity Marketing Symposium for one 4-H'er from each state who excels in the program.

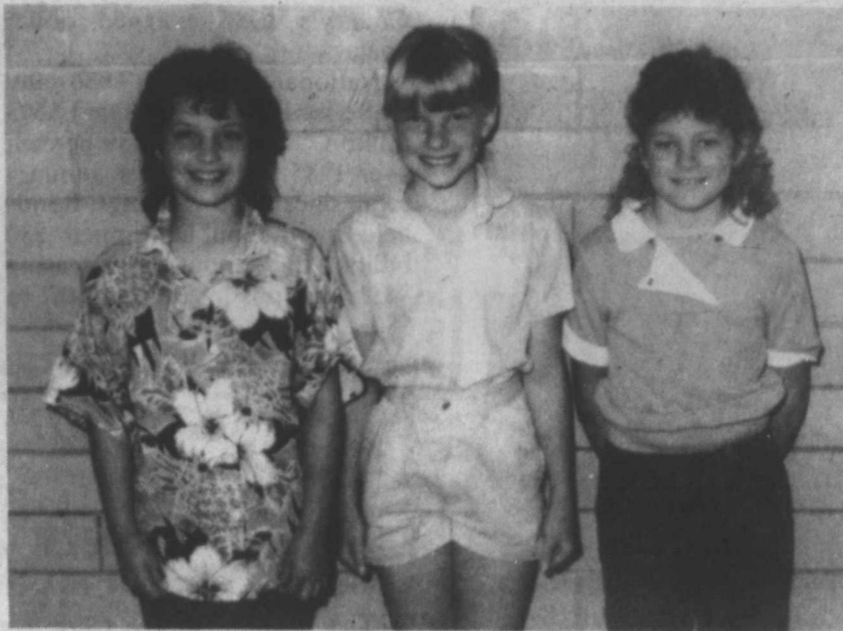

More details about the 4-H Commodity Marketing program are available from the county Extension office.

4-H Makes a Difference

According to a nationwide poll, 4-H makes a difference in the lives of former members.

A national poll last fall of 1,761 individuals showed that 4-H does, indeed, have a positive effect on the lives of individuals who were involved in the program as youths.

The randomly selected sample of individuals that were polled included 710 former 4-H members and 743 members of other youth organizations. The remainder had not been involved in organized groups during their youth.

A key finding of the survey is that former 4-H members today are more active in community activities, particularly in leadership roles, than non-members.

When comparing both former 4-H members and those participating in other youth organizations with nonparticipants in youth groups, the community involvement aspect is particularly significant. Those who did not take part in organizations as youth are currently much less involved in adult community activities.

4-H also tends to have family ties. Former 4-H members indicated that their children are participating in 4-H to a large degree (by 50 percent more than children of non 4-H parents). They themselves also take part in Extension educational programs and activities to a significantly greater degree than former members of other youth groups as well as former nonparticipants in youth groups.

One reason for the greater involvement by former 4-H'ers relates to the types of experiences they had as youths. Without question, the study showed that former 4-H members gave higher rankings to personal development, knowledge, leadership, and coping skills experiences than did former members of other organizations.

4-H participants also felt that their overall experiences were more valuable to them than did participants of other youth organizations.

The survey also found that characteristics of 4-H members, as youths, are no different from other youths across the nation who are involved in such groups as Scouts, Boys and Girls Clubs, YMCA and YWCA, church organizations, and FFA and FHA. Their backgrounds, educational attainments and incomes are generally similar.

The poll was conducted by Dr. Howard Ladewig, program evaluation specialist with the Extension Service, and Dr. John Thomas, rural sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. The study was funded by a grant from the Extension Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

4-H is an informal educational program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19 that is conducted by the Extension Service at the state and national level. Its objective is to provide help in the development of knowledge and leadership as well as in problem-solving and personal skills.

DAYTON PARKER

To focus on nearby objects, eye muscles must elongate the eyeball to increase lens curvature. In nearsightedness, this increased convexity becomes permanent because of increased fluid pressure in the eye. Dr. Lane theorizes that if this fluid pressure could be regulated by eliminating sugar in the diet and easing of visual and muscular eye strain, then nearsightedness might be halted and hopefully corrected. Dr. Lane suggests, "Give up sugar — boost your intake of calcium and chromium foods such as dairy products, ocean fish, dark green leafy vegetables, and whole grains.

Local Residents Lead Study

Lynn County study group will have a kickoff meeting Monday, April 21, at 8 p.m. in the Lyntegar Electric Cooperative meeting room.

Lynn County leaders, as well as others throughout Texas, are concerned about rapid changes occurring in the state economy and population--changes that are placing challenging demands on resources of all state residents and their communities.

"These changes point to the need for identifying the most critical issues facing Texans today, and determining new directions the Texas Agricultural Extension Service should take as the state moves toward the 1990's," explains Stanley Young, county Extension agent.

This spring, a process for mapping a new plan of action for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be launched. Several Lynn County leaders will be among more than 10,000

Texans, representing all 254 counties, who will conduct an Extension-sponsored study to identify key local issues, Young said.

"Local citizen input is crucial if Extension is to fully address educational needs that reflect the major concerns of all Texans," Young notes.

At the local meeting, leaders will form four task forces for identifying the most critical issues in the broad fields of agriculture and natural resources, home economics, youth and community development, the county agent says.

A second meeting is planned in about eight weeks, when the county study group will present its findings and finalize priority concerns.

On any given day, one out of every ten hairs on your head has stopped growing, it's said.

Savings Bonds Sales In Texas Are Up

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds during January 1986 in Texas amounted to $28,095,341, an increase of $5,163,035 for 39.9 per cent over the January a year ago, T.J. Morrow, District Director for U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, announced recently. These sales represent 7.6 per cent of the state's 1986 assigned dollar goal of $370,000,000.

Sales of the Series EE Bonds amounted to $3,560 during January 1986 in Lynn County, F.B. Hegi, Volunteer County Chairman, said. These sales represent 4.9 per cent of the County's 1986 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, January 1986 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $575 million, an increase of 39 percent over 1985 sales, highest January total since 1979. Savings Bonds held by the public topped $80 billion in January, increasing $451 million in the month to $80.25 billion.

Farmers Co-Op To Close Out One Of Gins

Farmers Cooperative Assn. No. 1 of Tahoka this week mailed ginning rebates to its members averaging $10 per bale and announced that a decision has been made to close out the smallest of two gin plants operated by the co-op.

Manager Earlon Shirley said closing the smaller gin plant and doing all the ginning in the larger, more modern plant would effect a considerable savings in gin operations. He also noted that the remaining gin can easily handle the amount of ginning required.

THS Soph Attends Leadership Seminar

CODY SMITH

Tahoka High School sophomore Cody Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, represented Tahoka at the Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar in Dallas April 4-6. Attending the event were 152 students representing as many schools in the Texas North area. The event was sponsored by North Texas Optimist Clubs and the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

Actor Hugh O'Brian established the foundation in 1958 for the purpose of seeking out, recognizing and rewarding leadership potential in high school sophomores. The program is designed to bring a select group of high school sophomores with demonstrated leadership qualities together with a group of distinguished leaders in business education, government and professions. "At these events, 10th graders get a realistic look at what makes the American incentive system tick, thus better enabling them to think for themselves."

Smith was chosen after writing an essay on leadership and submitting an application. At the meeting in Austin, he introduced one of the key speakers, Isreal Sheinberg, an executive of a data processing company.

Cody's local sponsor was Phebe K. Warner Study Club.

Cody has served as freshman class representative of the Student Council, vice president of Tahoka 4-H, delegate to District 4-H Council, and presently is treasurer of the Student Council.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Dalton,

It is always a pleasure to read the Lynn County News and learn of the happenings in that area. Although I have been away from Tahoka for six years I still think of the wonderful town and its good people every day. It's hard, I'm sure, for the citizens of Tahoka to realize how fortunate they are to live in such a fine town. One of the pitfalls of living in a large city after living in a small town are the traffic jams, pollution, water rationing, crowds and its high crime rate. It's always a pleasure to return to Tahoka because it seems to rejuvenate my spirit.

Enclosed you will find my subscription for two years. I look forward to many years of reading the Lynn County News and keeping in touch with Tahoka.

Sincerely,
Jim E. Curtis

In Memory of our beloved Mother, Ora Snider:

Mother, Mother, oh so dear
You hear God's message loud and clear.
Send down from His majestic sky
His angels standing gently by.
To gather you and take you home to live on His majestic throne.
Where streets are paved with solid gold and peace and joy and love unfold.
The place you've always longed to be where you will live eternally.

Area Farmers Face Economic Crisis

Local farmers are dropping like flies because of farm depression, and they're doing it by voluntary liquidation, by bankruptcy, and farm foreclosures. Texas is losing about 100 farmers a week. The existence of a farm crisis is general knowledge; its effects on Texas are particularly sobering because of the importance of agriculture in Texas' economy.

Texas has 185,000 farmers and ranchers—more than any other state. When farm families are counted, the total farming population is 600,000 or 4 percent of the total population of the state. The South Plains Service Delivery Area (SDA), consisting of 13 counties (11,930 square miles), has a total population of 153,205 (1985). There are reportedly 6,200 farmers, and using the national average of 3.3 persons per farm family, there is 20,400 total farm population; which is 13% of the total South Plains SDA population. Three counties with significant farm family populations are Hale (2,746), Lamb (2,716), and Hockley (2,089). Farmers in our South Plains are 20 percent below age 35, approximately 45 percent are between 35 and 55, and approximately 35 percent are 55 or older.

South Plains Community Action Assn., Inc. (SPCAA) is setting up Farmers' Assistance Centers to help local farmers who are having financial difficulties. SPCAA will serve a 13 county area of Northwest Texas to include the following counties: Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lynn, Motley, Terry, Yoakum.

The Farmers Assistance Centers objectives are: to evaluate current skills and abilities, help in job search, provide vocational training, classroom training, on the job training, job referrals and placement in a permanent, full time job.

This program is designed to assist farmers with severe cash-flow problems and those facing bankruptcy and/or foreclosures. Farmers should visit a designated Farm Assistance Center for details and eligibility requirements. The Centers will be staffed in the following communities:

South Plains Community Action Assn., Inc., 411 Austin Street, Levelland, TX 79336, (806) 894-6104; Caprock Community Action Assn., Inc., 1909 Quincy, Plainview, TX 79072, (806) 293-4397; Caprock Community Action Assn., Inc., 224 Berkshire, Crosbyton, TX 79322, (806) 675-2462.

Check Soil Temperature Before Planting

In many cases the early bird does get the worm. But when it comes to spring planting, farmers may want to use a little restraint and take a look at soil temperatures before cranking up their planters.

One of the keys to getting spring crops off to a good start is to heed soil temperatures.

Soil temperatures have been shown to have an important effect on how well seeds germinate. Planting in cool soils often leads to poor seed germination and poor crop stands. Plants that do come up often lack vigor for early growth. And this opens the door to early season/disease and insect attacks.

Farmers are advised to begin planting only after danger of a late frost is past and the soil has warmed to temperatures favorable to the intended crop.

Farmers also need to keep attuned to weather forecasts prior to planting. A sudden change in weather conditions following planting can be detrimental to the crop, particularly a cool, wet spell that can lower soil temperatures drastically.

Just when is it safe to plant what crop?

Average minimum temperatures (at the four-inch depth) for planting are as follows: corn, 50 degrees; sorghum, 55 degrees; cotton, 65 degrees; and soybeans, 70 degrees. "Minimum" rather than "average" temperatures should be used for rice and peanuts, with rice being 60 degrees and peanuts, 70 degrees.

Hardy vegetables such as onions, cabbage, and potatoes can be planted once soil temperatures range between 45 and 50 degrees while warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, melons, beans and peppers need soil that has warmed into the 60s.

With early season planting, particularly when soil temperatures are still marginal, farmers need to pay particular attention to using high quality seed, fungicides and other seed protectants, and adjusting seeding rates.

How do farmers keep abreast of changing soil temperatures?

Daily readings are taken at various locations throughout Texas in cooperation with the Extension Service, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the National Weather Service and individual cooperators. For example, the regional temperature reading for North Texas is based on temperatures at Lavon Dam northeast of Dallas, while readings are also made for the High Plains, Trans-Pecos area, Coastal Plains, South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As temperatures are collected, they are included in daily agricultural weather advisories issued for each of the regions by the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University. The advisories are fed into the NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration) weather wire teletype system to be received by commercial radio and television stations. The advisories are also carried over the NOAA Weather Radio Network.

Specific temperature readings for about 50 locations also are distributed daily through regular weather service dissemination channels.

Keeping tabs on the weather and soil conditions can help farmers get off to a good start with spring planting. With the high cost of farm inputs, it's information that should be put to good use.

SPC Sets Summer Basketball Camps

Basketball camps for boys and girls are scheduled this summer by South Plains College in Levelland.

The girls camp is open to fifth grade through high school and is scheduled July 27-Aug. 1.

The boys camp, open to third grade through high school, is scheduled Aug. 3-7.

However, Texas University Interscholastic League regulations prohibit students who participate on the varsity level from attending the camps, according to Joe Tubb, SPC athletic director. The ruling does not affect next year's varsity as well as out-of-state players, he said.

Costs are $160 for overnight campers, $135 for day campers who eat in Texan Hall, and $85 for day campers who do not eat in the college cafeteria. Overnight campers should bring bed clothing, proper work-out clothing, personal toilet articles, casual clothes, swimming suit and spending money, Tubb noted. Those who do not plan to eat in Texan Hall should bring a sack lunch.

Tubb added that each camper must furnish a statement from a physician explaining that the camper is physically fit to participate in activities.

For more information, contact SPC's Continuing Education Office at 894-9611, ext. 391.

Better Business Bureau News

The BBB of the South Plains, Inc. has learned that two companies by the names of CHEMGLO, INC. of Allendale, NJ and LITECHEM, INC. of Ramsey, NJ have been mailing invoices for 20-35 gallon drums of week killer to golf club owners/managers and orchard and farm owners which were never ordered or delivered. Just last week, it was learned that a country club had paid invoices totaling over $5400 to CHEMGLO for week killer only after they questioned a fifth invoice received from the same company for all-purpose cleaner in the amount of $1399.

The companies' response to complaints is that the invoice was sent in error.

The U.S. Postal Service filed suit against the company (P.S. Docket 22/59) alleging CHEMGLO, INC. and owner, David Glassman had violated federal law. On September 13, 1985, a cease and desist order was issued in connection with the company offering product or service for sale by the mail. The company must cease and desist from falsely representing that; the merchandise identified on the statement of invoice was previously ordered by the addressee; the apparent order for merchandise specified on the invoice represents a sales contract between the company and the addressee; and the addressee is obligated to remit to the company the invoiced amount of money. The company must also cease and desist from sending any solicitation for the order of goods/services that looks like a bill, invoice or statement of account due that does not comply with federal law.

BBB/South Plains urges book-keeping staffs to verify that an order was placed and merchandise received before making payment.

Appreciate Your Business

CARD OF THANKS

A simple "Thank You" seems so small and inadequate when you've all played such an important part in our lives. The love and concern shown in the birth of our baby has just been overwhelming.

To Dr. Vickers, Bro. L.C. and Mary Lou, Villa Craig and Wayla Bueerman, Gilda Taylor, and all of our church friends at Sweet Street that lifted us up in prayer, we would like to say a "very special thank you". We love each one of you and our prayer is that God will bless each of your lives in a very special way.
Donny and Deana

We would like to thank everyone who was so helpful during our recent fire. A special thanks to the Tahoka fire department, police and all of our friends. Tahoka is a wonderful place to live.
The Guy Witt family
15-1tc

I wish to express my appreciation to those of you who voted for me for city council person on April 5, 1986.

All of us, as citizens of Tahoka, have so much to be thankful for in our "Little City".

I congratulate all of you that obtained seats on the hospital board, school system, and city council.

It takes persons that are ambitious and willing to serve as governing bodies on each of these boards.

As was stated in last week's article in the newspaper on my behalf, there were "Umpteen" reasons why I may decide to ask for your votes again in the future.

Sincerely,
Kathy Dorman

The children of Ora Snider would like to express our thanks and gratitude to everyone for their love and support during our mother's illness. Your prayers, visits, food and other acts of kindness was a great comfort to us.

A special thanks to Omega Smith, Judy Holden, Maxine Paris, Avis Henry, Dr. Banerjee and all the nurses and aides, Rev. Terry Bailey and his wife, Wanda and all the ladies of the church.

Our mother was one of God's special people and she will be missed by many.
God Bless You All
George, Minnie, Mae, Joe and Rose

The family of Mrs. Clara Wuensche wish to thank everyone for their prayers and cards, flowers, and other expressions of kindness and sympathy during her long illness and our recent bereavement. May God bless each of you.

Thank you for all the concern, calls, visits, flowers, cards and prayers said in my behalf while I was in the hospital in Lubbock. Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated.
Lillian Daniell and family
