THS Senior Wins Trip To Canada For International Science Fair

by JUANELL JONES

For 16-year-old Tahoka High School senior Josh Dunlap, the month of May promises to be an exciting time of end-of-school senior activities, graduation, and a once-in-a-lifetime chance to compete in the Super Bowl of science fairs - The International Science Fair in Ontario, Canada.

Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Dunlap of Tahoka, placed first in Physical Science in the South Plains Regional Science Fair last weekend to win the prestigious opportunity to compete with nearly 1000 students from over 30 other countries in the International Science Fair. His science teacher, Mrs. Betty Stennett, will accompany him on the all-expense paid six-day trip, May 8-14.

Only two individual projects and one team project qualified from the regional science fair to attend the international event, which is sponsored by Science Service Inc. and many corporate, professional, and governmental sponsors.

Students and teachers from around the world come together for six days in Hamilton, Ontario to exchange ideas, to compete for and win scholarships, to experience cultural exchanges and to make a host of new friends. More than 600 awards in 16 scientific categories will be presented, including scholarships, summer internships, scientific field trips, expensive laboratory equipment, and networking opportunities.

Dunlap won the Regional Science Fair with his newfangled bicycle which he has spent the past five years designing, testing, and improving - and of which he says he is still considering other improvements. The UHVECB Bicycle (Universal High-Velocity Even-Carriage Bicycle) was built using shock absorbers from a scrapped dirt bike, a lifter spring from a Chevrolet V-8 engine, an air conditioner pulley and a door hinge.

He wanted to build a bicycle which is safer to ride, which changes gears automatically, has a smoother ride and will maneuver safely at a higher velocity than conventional bicycles.

Instead of gears and a chain, the bike uses two pulleys and V-shaped belt. As the bike picks up speed, the belt sinks deeper into the back pulley, effectively changing the gear ratio without shifting gears.

"The first year's work consisted of designs and tests on the drive system," explained the THS senior. "I did many tests to determine which gear ratios were the best. Then the test went to the UHVECB drive system, where I found what gear ratios were in use at what speeds," he said. "During the second year I built the UHVECB prototype. Much of my time was spent trouble shooting, as is the case with any first time prototype. I began the testing by constructing a computer simulation of my bicycle in action. I then ran tests to check the smoothness of acceleration," Dunlap said.

This year, the main emphasis of the project was on the suspension system, and Dunlap designed a system that keeps the back wheel almost entirely vertical, even when the bike leans, which he said would help the bike corner better. "I did measurements of the rear drive wheel's attitude with respect to the pavement when the bike is in a curve, with an objective of keeping more tire tread in contact with the pavement in order to provide more stability and greater maneuverability," explained Dunlap. "Also, I tested the vertical displacement while going over a bump and tested the force exerted on specific joints on the bike. I predicted that the UHVECB would show less force and vertical displacement and the results supported my hypothesis," he added.

And, last weekend, the years of hard work paid off. Along with his first place Physical Science award and the all-expense paid trip to Canada, Dunlap received several other awards, including the U.S. Army Award, NASA Award, Department of Public Safety Award, First Place 12th Grade Award, and a $500 Engineering Scholarship to Texas Tech University.

"Josh really deserved to win," said Mrs. Stennett. "The project was his idea, his work and his success. Josh has worked very hard for the past three years and it finally paid off!" she added.

What Is A Town?

A town is a group of people.

It is schools. It is museums. It is churches. It is industry and jobs. It is retail business.

They all have to work together. All must have the support of the people. Or there is no town.

Give your local businessman a chance to work with you on your business. You shouldn't spend your hard earned money with him unless his selection is adequate and his price competitive. But give him the first opportunity to make the sale.

The local businessman pays the highest percentage of local taxes. He most often is the civic leader who dedicates his time and talents to his town. He is contacted first for contributions to charitable projects. Without his business firm, you have no town.

Give the local businessman a fair shake ... that's all he asks while he continues to work for our town.

Museum News

The new brick front on the Tahoka Pioneer Museum is progressing nicely and plans to refurbish the rest of the property were discussed at the meeting of the Board of Directors on April 10 at the Museum. There is still much to do, to clean up and complete the front of the building and the parking area, but things are looking better every day. Thanks to Brad Hammonds for his donation of some materials for the new brick front.

As the equipment that has been on display outside is getting very weathered, Bill Craig and Jim Solomon were appointed to present recommendations at the next meeting regarding getting the large equipment under some kind of protective covering. Also, to complement the new Fire Station, the property lines will be defined in an orderly fashion.

The old fire truck that has been stored at the Burks garage, will be stored at the City yard under tarpaulins until proper restoration or disposition is decided.

Thanks to Mary Louder for her efforts in getting the new "tree" that is in the lobby. It adds so much to the fresh appearance of the entry way.

Pat Jacobs, daughter of Frank Hill who was a charter member of the Board of Directors of the Tahoka Pioneer Museum, and who was instrumental in the organization of the artifacts and archives, has sent a file that she had received from Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCord, III, of St. Joseph, Missouri. This file contains original correspondence and legal papers on the Nave-McCord Ranch and the Square and Compass Ranch in Lynn and Garza counties. McCord is the great-grandson of the Mr. McCord of the Nave-McCord Ranch.

Board members present were Arlys Askew, Melvin Burks, Mary Louder, Bill Craig, K.R. Durham, Weesie Carroll, Jim Solomon, Edde Lockaby, Elmer Owens and Mildred Abbe. Not present were Madeline Hegi, Betsy Pridmore and Frances Wells.

MUSEUM GETS NEW LOOK—The Tahoka Pioneer Museum now has a new brick front, giving it a facelift. In the lower photo bricklayers are shown working on the project several days ago.

April Child Abuse Prevention Month Join The Blue Ribbon Campaign To Help Stop Child Abuse

(First in a series by Dr. Molly Helmlinger, Lynn County Child Welfare Board Officer)

In Spring 1989, Bonnie Finney, a Norfolk, Virginia grandmother took a stand against child abuse by tying a symbolic blue ribbon to her van. It was a signal of her personal commitment to involve everyone in the battle to stop child abuse. Bonnie's own grandson, Michael Wayne Dickenson, suffered a tragic death because of child abuse, which gave her blue ribbon its own inspiring message. In Bonnie's own words, "The blue ribbon serves as a constant reminder to fight for protection for our children...put one on your car...give one to your friends...tell them what it means...you may save a child's life."

In just over five years, Blue Ribbon public awareness effort has inspired statewide community involvement to prevent and stop child abuse and neglect in every town, city, and county in Texas. During the month of April, citizens concerned about the very real problem of child abuse and neglect are asked to wear blue ribbons as a symbol that they can make a difference. As Blue Ribbon founder Bonnie Finney demonstrated, one person really can make a difference. Blue ribbons will be distributed throughout Lynn County during the month of April.

County Approves Dry Hydrants

Lynn County Commissioners Monday approved placing dry hydrants in Precinct 3, among other routine business during the regular session.

Several dry hydrants, which offer access to irrigation water for use by fire departments in fighting rural fires, have been placed in Lynn County through grant funds appropriated by the Wes-Tex Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) from the Texas Forest Service. However, more dry hydrants are needed in Precinct 3, and because sources from the RC&D say funds are no longer available from the Forest Service, commissioners voted unanimously to pay for the hydrants from Road & Bridge funds. Commissioners will work with fire department officials and Soil Conservation Service sources to determine the placement of the new hydrants.

Lynn County Extension Agents Bryan Reynolds and Doris Collins met with the court to update commissioners on their activities with 4-H members, stock shows and other activities.

Accounts were approved as presented, except for a bill for a court reporter's meals on days that he works in Lynn County.

County Judge J.F. Brandon reminded commissioners that all precinct employees and all personnel are asked to attend a safety meeting on April 18 at the courthouse.

Only two commissioners were present at the meeting, J.T. Miller and Sandy Cox, with Judge Brandon presiding. Commissioners T.A. Stone and Jacky Henry were absent.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
Mother Nature is proving a fickle partner to High Plains cotton farmers. Several years of mild winters have invited the nation's No. 1 pest to establish a home in an alarming and increasing number of cotton acres. In the past, we've been able to keep the few weevils in check through a diapause program, along with our traditional wickered winters. Today, however, we must take matters into our own hands by approving boll weevil eradication. I urge all 20,000-plus of you to join the Boll Weevil Eradication effort by voting yes.

Each year, farmers watch the cost of boll weevil control rise - $22.5 million last year across the state - and see the pest take a bigger bite out of their cotton production - $20 million in annual crop losses. But it doesn't have to be that way - the technology is available to eliminate these losses.

Cotton sales generated $1 billion last year in the High Plains. That money travels through the community in many ways, multiplying its effect as it goes. When farmers make more money, their entire community benefits. What's more, the eradication program will create jobs during the program's duration. By approving this measure, an enhanced pre-eradication diapause will be conducted by Plains Cotton Growers under a cooperative agreement with the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation. In 1998, an actual eradication program is set to come on line.

Of course, there are costs to associated with the program. But I believe the benefits outweigh these costs. Without the program, we'll continue to struggle against this devastating pest and see more farmers unable to stay in business. Vote yes for boll weevil eradication.

If you have questions about the eradication program, call toll free 1-800-687-1212.

Sincerely,
Rick Perry, Commissioner

TISD Trustees Approve Transfers, School Trips

by JUANELL JONES

School trips for students, transfer requests, district auditors, and a request for driver's education for an out-of-district student were approved by Tahoka Independent School District Board of Trustees, among other routine business Tuesday night.

Trustees considered a request from an O'Donnell student to take a Driver's Education course from Tahoka High School, and trustees approved the request, contingent upon an opening available in the class after local students have first priority in filling the class, and with a fee to be assessed by Superintendent David Hutton which would cover district costs.

Trustees voted unanimously to approve the request, noting that the approval was for this year's driver's ed course only and that any further such requests must be considered by the board.

Overnight trips for students involved in regional athletic events, a national FHA conference in Washington, D.C. in July, and an international science fair in Canada were all approved by trustees. THS senior Josh Dunlap and teacher Betty Stennett will attend an all-expenses paid international science fair in Canada in May, with the only costs to the district being for a substitute teacher for Mrs. Stennett's class, and funds for the other trips will come from budgeted funds.

The auditing firm of Love, Hays & Reeger was approved as district

Great West Texas Shootout Set For April 22-23

Entry deadline is Wednesday, April 19.

auditors at a fee of approximately $6,500 to $7,500, and budget amendment requests were approved. A list of six students requesting transfers into the district were approved, four of whom already attend school here. The Board also okayed a Regional Media Services Contract with Education Service Center for access to films and other media services.

Trustees went into closed session for about an hour and a half to discuss personnel, and pay scales for teachers who are over Step 10. The Board took no action on the pay scale, but unanimously approved a one-year contract to Mrs. Loreta Tekell as the district's Business Manager.

Also discussed at the meeting was the school calendar for 1995-96, with trustees looking at three different proposals submitted by site-based councils from elementary, middle school and high school campuses. After some discussion, trustees moved to table the item for further discussion, and asked Supt. Hutton to seek a compromise proposal from the district site-based council. The main difference between the proposals concerned starting dates and the number of days for Christmas holidays.

Monthly bills were approved, and Mrs. Tekell reported an account balance in all funds of $1,477,475.67.

Several dates were set for upcoming meetings, with trustees to meet with a TASB representative on April 25 to review an updated version of school board policy; a noon meeting May 8 to canvass election results for trustees; and the regular monthly meeting scheduled for the evening of May 9.

School principals reminded trustees of upcoming dates for special school activities, including May 15, 8:30 a.m., Honors Assembly for Elementary; May 17, 1 p.m., High School Academic Assembly, and at 2 p.m., Middle School Academic Assembly; May 18, Academic Recognition Banquet; and May 20, High School Athletic Banquet. Supt. Hutton informed trustees that work was progressing as scheduled on the new track, with completion expected in mid-May.

The meeting adjourned at 10:25 p.m.

Summer Youth Job Program Offers Training For Area Youth

One of the most gratifying, yet challenging programs the South Plains Rural Industry Council (SPRIC) administers through South Plains Community Action is the Summer Youth Employment and Training Program. Last year's program which ended August 31, provided jobs and/or training for 238 students in the 13 rural counties served by SPRPIC.

It was a first time experience in the Summer Youth program for 15 students from Lynn County and possibly the only opportunity they have had to actually earn a salary during the summer.

"Lynn County employers and worksite supervisors are appreciated by the SPCA and the students they supervise," said a spokesman for the program. "Without their willingness to mentor, share knowledge, and take responsibility for employing the youth for the summer, the program would be difficult to operate," added the spokesman.

Mario Maurez, maintenance supervisor at Tahoka ISD for 36 years, has worked with the Summer Youth Program for about 20 years. He said, "The Summer Youth Program helps students financially and it saves the taxpayers money, since we don't have to pay a salary to someone. We can get a lot more work done with the students instead of hiring one or two other people on our own. The big plus of this program is that it helps the kid's family out financially and it keeps the kids out of trouble."

Catherine Barham, director at Lynn County Senior Citizens for 14 years, has worked with the Summer Youth students for eight years. She said, "The program introduces the students to the work force. It exposes them to working with a supervisor and gives the students responsibilities and duties to complete on a timely basis."

Planning has already started for next year's Summer Youth Program which will begin in June 1995. The National emphasis for Summer Youth Employment and Training Programs for two years has been enriching the academic status of students in the program. For the program during the Summer 1993, South Plains Community Action provided academic enrichment to 40% of the participants. In 1994, 68% received academic enrichment based upon their need.

The need to bridge the gap between education and work experience will be another main goal of the new program. Many students fail to make the connection between what is learned in the classroom and how it applies to the work world, according to the spokesman.

"Research shows that strong work/school connections have a significant payoff in terms of skills development and long-term employability. Therefore, next year's program will be designed to help youth discover how remaining in school and getting a good education will help them with future job pursuits and career options by offering them actual learning experiences on the job," explained a spokesman for the program.

According to JTPA staff, the academic enrichment this last summer enabled many students to pass state requirements, master tests, next grade levels and pass to the next grade.

The new Summer Youth program will encourage learning by allowing students to take more responsibility for the work to be done. The program will be designed to challenge the youth intellectually.

Work projects under the professional supervision of worksite mentors will allow students to research, plan, implement and evaluate their work. The key factor in successfully emphasizing learning through increased responsibility is worksite supervisors.

SPCA is interested in supervisors who want to be mentors to students and allow the students to plan community projects that will challenge the students to call upon a variety of skills and talents.

Plans are underway to develop programs to allow the students to have a rich learning experience during their Summer Youth job placement. Anyone who has an idea for community project or who is willing to work closely with a student for an enriching job experience may call JTPA staff at 894-6104 for more information.

OHS Wins Top Honors In Academic Contest

Besting their rival Plains by 40 points, students at O'Donnell High School captured the overall championship in the University Interscholastic League District 2-1A academic contest at Sudan, April 1.

Runners-up in the district contest the past four years, this was the first district academic championship for O'Donnell since 1985, reported Principal Glenn Hopkins.

O'Donnell scored 276 points in the competition. Plains was second overall with 236 points and Happy was third with 160.

Other schools competing in the district contest were Anton, Bovina, Farwell, Kress, Nazareth, Smyer, Sudan, and Whiteface.

But while congratulating the students on their academic success, Hopkins also challenged them to go a step further and win the all-around district spring championship.

That championship will be decided by the schools' achievements not only in academics but also in golf, tennis and track.

O'Donnell had 11 students qualify for regional in 14 individual events and one team contest.

In addition, the OHS one-act play production of "Inherit the Wind" won top honors in district competition recently and competed in the area contest Saturday at Lubbock Christian University.

O'Donnell has captured the district title in one-act play for 15 of the past 18 years, reported Hopkins.

At the district one-act play contest, J. Ryan Ash was selected as best actor while Charlie Vaughn and Maria Renteria were named to the all-star cast. Receiving honorable mention were Jimmy Don Vaughn and Sha Anderson.

At the zone contest on March 21, Charlie Vaughn and Maria Renteria were chosen to the all-star cast while J. Ryan Ash and Joseph Berumen received honorable mention.

Jennifer Barrett, a junior, led OHS in Saturday's academic competition as she won first in Lincoln-Douglas debate, first in editorial writing, second in spelling, and second in headline writing.

Barrett also was a member of the spelling team which won first place. Other team members are Donnie Vasquez and Ricky Guzman.

Donnie Vasquez was first individual in spelling. Jimmy Don Vaughn won first in Prose and J. Ryan Ash placed first in poetry.

Other second place winners for O'Donnell were Charlie Vaughn in prose, Maria Renteria in Lincoln-Douglas debate, Chera Forbes in current events and Laura Salinas in informative speaking.

Qualifying for regional with third-place finishes in district competition were Casandra Morton in poetry and Andrea Bessire in news writing.

Henry Guenther qualified as an alternate to the regional contest by placing fourth in accounting.

O'Donnell's computer science team of Joe Contreras, Richie Franklin and Belinda Burrola placed fourth.

Fifth-place finishers for O'Donnell were Henry Guenther in number sense and Tiffany Moxley in Lincoln-Douglas debate.

OHS students placing sixth were Erin Mounce in editorial writing, Randy Cook in headline writing, Joseph Berumen in computer application, Ricky Guzman in spelling, Randy Cook in calculator and Erin Mounce in literary criticism.

Woodwork...

by Dalton

A REPORT from England says that psychiatrists have discovered a recent syndrome related to the lottery in England: people who don't win are getting depressed and they're going out and getting drunk every time they lose.

Wow. If all the people I know in this country who play the lottery regularly got drunk every time they didn't win, those of you who don't play the game would have to step carefully down the sidewalks to keep from stumbling over the forms of losers.

Some folks buy so many lottery tickets they don't have enough money left to go get drunk (those who oppose the lottery for moral reasons should get some comfort out of that).

I choose some losing numbers almost every Wednesday and Saturday, sometimes with all six numbers just one off the actual number. I had never thought about getting drunk the next day. I wonder if that would help.

Probably not. It reminds me of the organization once proposed by George Dolan of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, called Smokers Anonymous. The way it works, all the people who can't seem to quit smoking form this group, and each member teams with another. If you wake up in the middle of the night and feel a desperate need for a cigarette, you call up your buddy. He comes over, and you get drunk together.

Yes, I have told that story before. After so many years of writing columns, some columnists have a tendency to repeat themselves. Repeat themselves. Themselves.

HANDED to me this week was a copy of last week's Motley County Tribune, the Matador newspaper, in which someone named Earlyne Jameson wrote a story about early day home remedies, how awful some of them were for the patients, and how some of them really worked.

I remember my grandmother putting mustard on my chest and covering it with a hot cloth when I had a bad cough or chest cold. I remember it was pretty hot, too, and made you smell like a burned hamburger with lots of mustard. I remember taking castor oil, Milk of Magnesia and something really terrible called Black Draught. None of these things were ever tried on me after I got big enough to fight back.

Here are some excerpts from the Jameson story: From coughs to snake bites, home remedies cured whatever ailed you...The first step considered in curing a cold was to "clean out the system." A dose of castor oil and orange juice was a dreaded medication. An early concoction was a mixture of cayenne pepper, cream of tartar, flowers of sulphur, powdered charcoal and honey. One man said, "Our mother made us swallow stuff that today would be labeled 'For External Use Only.'"

For sore throats, a flannel rag was tied around your neck. Tin cups were filled with an equal quantity of tar and turpentine and put on top of a wooden stove. The fumes would make you choke and cough up matter from the throat.

Chest poultices were a must for colds. Choices included camphorated oil, mustard, onions, goose grease or turpentine.

When you felt a little man hammering in your head, you'd be given little sips of a mixture of cider vinegar and honey...Carrot juice was thought good for varicose veins, gout and Addison's disease. The liquid from boiling watermelon seeds was for kidney complaints.

Arthritis acting up? Carry a raw potato in the pocket. A puff of smoke stopped an earache.

The story mentioned some other old time remedies too, many of which probably worked. I read somewhere recently that many medical experts today are seriously re-studying some old home remedies and finding that some were valid and could still be used.

The Australian koala bear is not related to any kind of bear. It's actually a marsupial; like the kangaroo, it carries its babies in a pouch on its belly.

No ideas is so outlandish that it should not be considered with a searching but at the same time with a steady eye.
