Theft, Forgery Cases Reported During Week

Officers with the Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. arrested one man on a theft charge and investigated a forgery case in which a check for $3,067.30 was involved, and also checked on another case of theft.

A'30-year-old Tahoka man was arrested and charged with theft over $50 and less than $500 after a complaint from a man living in the county that the suspect was seen running from the victim's home with the money Wednesday.

In another theft report, Jesse Ray Gutierrez, age and address not listed, said his drivers license, social security card and vehicle title were stolen out of his pickup which was left locked at the side of U.S. 87 about 9 miles north of Tahoka on an unspecifie'd date. A window was broken out of the pickup.

was named as a suspect in forging a signature on a $3,067 check made out to B&B Fertilizer near New Home and then depositing the check into her personal account at a Lubbock bank. The sheriff's office was notified of the forgery Friday, Feb. 4.

Seven persons were added to the list of jail residents during the last week, on these charges: one person on a warrant for speeding, no seat belt, no financial responsibility, failure to display drivers license and failure to appear on all the above charges. A second person was arrested on a warrant for no seat belt, no financial responsibility, illegal registration, expired registration, and failure to appear.

MY WIFE OWES me a horse. That's the good news. The bad news is that I really don't want a horse, especially if I have to ride it. The last time I rode a horse was about 40 years ago, and my rear end is still sore. As I went up, the horse went down, and vice versa. Horses and I never could see end to end.

The reason she owes me a horse is that as we were getting Sleepy in Seattle Feb. 6, we turned on the TV for a brief time, catching a Hallmark Hall of Fame movie about mid-point. We were too fired to watch the rest of it, but I commented to her, "That's old James Coburn," referring to the guy on the screen at the time.

"That's not James Coburn," she said. "He's a lot older than that."

"That sure is James Coburn," I insisted.

"It is not," said she.

"Is, too," said I.

This mature dialog went on for awhile, until I said, "I'll bet you a horse that's James Coburn." And she agreed.

I don't know why I said that; I certainly have no need or desire for a horse.

Back in Tahoka a few days later, I saw an ad in People magazine showing James Coburn appearing in a Hallmark presentation on that date on CBS.

I'm going to show it to her as soon as I detect the proper mood. When we argue, she's usually right, so I will make the most of this one victory.

However, instead of a horse, I plan to try to get her to give me one of those new Honda cars which gets 70 mpg and runs partly on batteries and partly on a 3-cylinder gasoline engine. I'm not sure they are selling them yet, but I saw a picture of

Three City Council Seats Up For Election

Three seats on the Tahoka City Council will be up for election this year, one of which is an at-large position. In a noon meeting Monday, the council ordered a general election for Saturday, May 6 for the purpose of electing a council member in District 2, District 4 and the at-large District 5. Currently, those positions are held by Clara Calvillo, Jay Dee House, and Ray Don Box. City Administrator Jerry Webster was appointed as early voting judge. Dean Bartley was named election judge and Jackie Stephens as alternate judge. Filing period for candidates begins Feb. 21 and ends March 22, at Tahoka City Hall. All three positions are two-year terms. The only other item on the agenda was a resolution denying the request from Energas Company for a rate increase, which council members unanimously approved.

Present at the meeting were four of five council members, including Jay Dee House, Ray Box, John Chapa Jr. and Clara Calvillo, with council member Amy Preston absent.

Five County Teams In Basketball Playoffs

Five Lynn County high school basketball teams are heading for basketball playoffs in Class A and AA, with both of O'Donnell's varsity teams sharing the spotlight, and one team each from Tahoka, Wilson and New Home earning playoff berths.

Tahoka's varsity boys team claimed the District Championship title Tuesday night in District 3-2A, defeating Coahoma 81-47 to end a perfect 10-0 district season. Statistics show the last time a Bulldog team went undefeated in district was 33 years ago in 1967. Three years ago, in 1997, the boys team went all the way to the state playoffs for the first time ever. As district champions, the Bulldogs draw a bye in the Bi-District round of playoffs and advance playoff hopes for the Lynn County to the Area round, Feb. 24-25-26.

"We will play the winner of the match between Ozona and either Tornillo or Anthony - Tornillo and Anthony play today and the loser will play Ozona Monday for Bi-District. We will play the winner of that game for Area, most likely on Thursday night," said Bulldog Coach Rusty tough practice game this Friday, taking on the undefeated Shallowater boys team (ranked number ten in the state in Class 3A) at Lubbock Coronado High School gym at 6 p.m.

New Home's Lady Leopards (12-11) tied for the Class 1A District at O'Donnell High School have made championship title with Jayton, and played the Lady Jaybirds on Friday, Feb. 11 to decide seeding for the playoffs, losing 60-40 to be designated as the number two seed. In Bi-District playoffs held Tuesday night, the Lady Leopards met Guthrie (25-4), who leaped ahead in the first quarter and maintained the lead for an 81-47 win to claim the Class 1A Bi-District win over New Home, dashing seed playoff spot. girls' team.

THS Principal Tommy Varner Resigns; Trustees Call For May 6 Election Here

by JUANELL JONES

Trustees will be looking to fill another top position for the 2000-20001 school year at Tahoka Independent School District, with the resignation of the high school principal coming just one month after the resignation of the athletic director/head football coach.

Tahoka High School Principal Tommy Varner will be leaving the district at the end of the school year, he told trustees at the regular monthly meeting last Thursday. Varner cited family reasons for resigning his position here after just one year, and told The News that he and his wife wanted to relocate to be closer to their daughter at College Station

"Tahoka has been real good to us - the kids have tremendous attitudes here. We've enjoyed it and hate to leave, but we're going to do what's best for our family," Varner said. "I believe in God, family and education, and my family comes before education. With our daughter at A&M we choose to try to get closer to her. I am looking at three different opportunities down in that area, so we believe God is opening that door for us," he explained.

Varner's resignation is effective June 30, 2000.

In addition to the high school principal position, the district is still looking to fill the Athletic Director position, but as of Tuesday morning school officials said that position has not yet been filled, although several Trustees retired to a three-hour closed session to consider personnel. Upon return to open session, oneyear contract extensions and $1500 increase in salaries were unanimously approved for Middle School Principal Glo Hays, Elementary Principal James Baker and Elementary Assistant Principal Lisa Ramirez.

Teacher contracts will be considered at the March board meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, March 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Harvick Educational Center. Normally the board meets on the second Thursday of the month, but with the varsity boys basketball team in the playoffs trustees set the meeting earlier in the week to allow fans travel time in hopes that the team would be in the state playoff tournament March 9-11 in Austin.

Wildlife Packets Available To Help Establish Habitat

Managing land for wildlife is gaining interest with Texas landowners. And whether it's deer in central Texas or quail and pheasant on the Plains, wildlife seedling packets produced by the Texas Forest Service West Texas Nursery in Lubbock are available to assist landowners in creating habitat.

Now is the time for landowners to order wildlife packets from West Texas Nursery before species are sold out, says Ray Crager, Texas Forest Service silviculturist.

Since 1978, West Texas Nursery has been growing high-quality, adaptable seedlings for two-thirds of the state to be planted as conservation windbreaks and wildlife habitat.

Four wildlife packets are available: Quail/Pheasant, Deer, Turkey and Squirrel. Each packet contains 100 bare-root deciduous trees and shrubs that cater specifically to the habitat needs of their labeled species. Each $46 packet includes the following trees:

The New Home Lady Leopards faced the Guthrie Lady Jaguars in a Class 1A Bi-District playoff battle on Tuesday, Feb. 15 in Floydada, but the Lady Jaguars gained an early lead and maintained it to win 81-47 over New Home's Ladies, ending their playoff season.

Guthrie, the number one seed from District 15-A, used a fierce fullcourt defense to plague New Home, the number two seed out of District 16-A. Guthrie jumped out to a 32-4 first-quarter lead, but pulled off their press when they had a 30-point lead in the second quarter. Leading scorers for New Home were Stephanie Kieth with 13 and Danielle Flores with 11.

The Lady Leopards faced the Jayton Lady Jaybirds on Friday, Feb. 11. to decide the first and second seed teams out of District 16-A. Both teams ended district play tied for first, but the Lady Leopards lost 60-40 in the seed match.

"The team is disappointed about not winning the district outright, but we will be ready to play Tuesday night. The girls have had a good season and have overcome a lot," said Coach Joe Helms.

From the tipoff, the Lady Jaybirds seemed better prepared for the battle of the district co-champions.

The first quarter was a tough battle as each team tried to set the tempo. Jayton had a slight lead at the end of the quarter, 16-9.

The Lady Leopards lost some of their composure during the second quarter and were outscored 14-1 and trailed 30-10 at halftime.

A strong first half by the Lady Jaybirds put the Lady Leopards in a situation they were not familiar with during district play, down by 20 points and unsure of finding a way to get back into the game.

The third quarter did not result in much of an improvement for the Lady Leopards as they trailed 24-50.

Team leading scorer Danielle Flores was held way below her usual scoring output due to a strong Lady Jaybird defense placed on her all during the game. The rest of the Lady Leopards tried to make up for the loss in scoring but Jayton was just too much for the ladies to handle.

Sophomore Heather Kieth led the Lady Leopards in scoring with 12 points. Senior Lexi Wied added 10

Hotline For Older Texans Offers Legal Service

State Representative David Counts (D-Knox City) reports to his constituents that the Texas Legal Services Center (TLSC) provides free or reduced cost legal services for low income, elderly Texans who need the help of an attorney.

The Legal Hotline for Older Texans offers legal assistance to Texans over the age of 60 who are below 125% of the federal poverty level and are having problems with health care, housing, and government benefits.

The hotline will discuss the facts of an individual's specific case to determine the type of legal services needed. Then they will make a referral to an attorney, and will offer a reduced fee schedule for their older cli-

The hotline also serves as a legal information clearinghouse. TLSC collects information from attorney's groups and advocacy organizations from across the state that is made available to anyone who calls. With one call, older Texans can get information about any legal issue.

Rep. Counts said, "I hope our elderly take advantage of this service, this is a good place to help find information that can sometime be confusing and misleading.'

The hotline is a public/non-profit partnership whereby the state funds part of the operations through the Basic Legal Services Fund.

Elderly Texans can access the hotline by calling 1-800-622-2520. To learn more about the hotline and other services offered by TLSC, interested individuals can visit the TLSC website at <www.tlsc.org>.

New Jail Facilities Proposal Halted; Commissioners Seek Public Input

by JUANELL JONES

Lynn County Commissioners did an about-face this week, backing off abruptly from pursuing plans for a new county jail facility after digging deeper into the financial issues concerning the project. And, all four commissioners and Lynn County Judge J.F. Brandon stated they wanted public input before making any decisions which could incur a large debt to the county.

'We want to table any decision on the jail expansion project at this time, and we want public input before making any decisions. This is just too big of a project and too much money involved for the five of us to make that kind of decision for the entire county," said Commissioner Mike Braddock, referring to the four commissioners and Judge Brandon.

Commissioners J.T. Miller, Sandy Cox Kizer, Don Morton and Judge Brandon unanimously concurred, voting to table the issue until further discussion and information was available and allowing time for Lynn County citizens to voice their opin-

The about-face came Monday morning during regular session, following a Friday morning special session when commissioners delved deeper into the financial aspects of a proposed jail expansion project which was being considered. Commissioners unanimously voted to pursue the project at a meeting held last Monday, but a follow-up special session on Friday put a damper on their enthusiasm for the project.

Commissioners met with Vince Viaile of First Southwest Company, a finance company involved in such type projects, and Danny Butler of DVCI, and local representatives of the three Lynn County banks were invited to attend. John Krey of First National Bank of Tahoka, and Dan Cook and Kelly Livingston of Wilson State Bank attended the meeting, as well as Lynn County Sheriff Jake

Diggs. The meeting, which lasted just over an hour, covered the cost estimates and legal aspects regarding the financing of such a project. "There were just too many figures that were questionable estimates, and when we began looking at a 20-year debt to pay off, we just decided we better back off and take another look," said one commissioner, who said that when figures jumped from an estimated $2.3 million project to over $4 million that the group backed away from making any firm decisions on the proposal.

Commissioners first eyed the proposal brought by Sheriff Diggs at a special meeting last Monday, considering the renovation of an existing building in Tahoka to a 48-bed jail facility. Last year, the county spent $64,000 to send prisoners elsewhere because the existing 14-bed jail facility located just southeast of the county courthouse cannot accommodate all the prisoners booked.

Commissioners said the county spends anywhere from $5,000 to $8,000 per month on prison keep elsewhere, and were considering that savings from that as well as having extra beds to keep other state and federal prisoners would bring in extra funding to help pay for the new fa-

Commissioners invite county citizens to visit with them about their opinions on the proposed project and/ or to suggest other options.

In other business at Monday morning's regular session, the court met in closed session for about 20 minutes with Lynn County Attorney James Napper to discuss a proposed contract with the Lynn County Appraisal District. Upon returning to open session, commissioners voted unanimously to approve the revised contract and submit it to the Appraisal District for their consider-

Proud, Prosperous, Productive Selected As Slogan For Tahoka

"Proud, Prosperous, Productive ... Tahoka," was the winning entry submitted by Mrs. G.W. White in the contest which had been underway here for over a month to find an official slogan for the city,

And plans for using the slogan on bumper stickers and in other ways are already underway by the Tahoka Jaycees, sponsors of the slogan contest.

As winner of the contest, Mrs. White received a $30 gift certificate redeemable at Tahoka merchants from the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce, co-donors.

Officially ending September 30, more than 100 entries were submitted in the contest, and were judged Tuesday afternoon by a committee headed by Tahoka Mayor Meldon Leslie.

Remarking on the contest, Leslie said, "there were some very very good entries, it was difficult for us to make our final selection.

Asked what made her think of the slogan, Mrs. White said "I've lived here always, and think a person should be proud of their hometown, and you can't stay in a town unless it's prosperous and productive, so I thought all three together just fit Tahoka." She also added that the winning entry was the only one that she had submitted and that she had "never won anything before."

Guy Witt, chairman of the Jaycee committee which conducted the contest, extended his thanks in behalf of the club to everyone who helped with the contest, adding, "we appreciate the cooperation everyone gave us with the contest and certainly appreciate everyone who submitted an entry in the contest."

TDA Proposes Rules For Organic Cotton In Boll Weevil Eradication Zones

The Texas Department of Agriculture last week proposed rules establishing guidelines for organic cotton production in active boll weevil eradication zones. TDA is hosting hearings in Lubbock, Lamesa and Muleshoe to take comments on the proposal rules.

"These proposed rules are merely a draft," said Matt Brockman, special assistant for Producer Relations. "We want the cotton industry to take these hearings and the comment period seriously and provide us with the best input possible."

IDA developed the rules to maintain the effectiveness of the boll weevil eradication program as well as to protect the integrity of TDA's organic certification standards and the crops marketed under the program. The proposed rules published in the Texas Register establish an indemnification program for growers who must destroy organic cotton crops due to infestation in active eradication zones. Growers who must destroy organic cotton crops, or who forgo the planting of organic cotton in favor of an alternative crop, will be compensated according to a proposed formulas. The plan takes into consideration the growers' historical planting patterns, yields used in the federal crop insurance program and historical data relating to prices paid for organic cotton, lint and seed.

Adjustments will be made to any indemnification due from the proceeds of the alternative crop and for costs, ginning costs and other costs associated with treatments around organic cotton fields. Only growers who have an established history of organic cotton will be eligible for indemnification. Acres not having an established planting history before the 2000 crop year will not be eligible for indemnification.

"We need to develop a system that respects the integrity of the eradication effort; but also does not place financial hardship on the organic cotton growers who will be impacted by the program," Brockman said. "In the long run boll weevil eradication will be good for all cotton farmers."

Texas recently has seen a dramatic reduction in boll weevil numbers. Significant reduction in the pest has reduced production costs and increased yields in areas of the state where eradication programs have been in operation for three or more years. More than 3 million acres of Texas cotton is in active eradication.

TDA will take comments for 30 days, starting Feb. 11. Those who would like to comment can write TDA at P.O. Box 12847, Austin 78711, or fax TDA at (512) 463-1104. To comment over the telephone or for more information, call Matt Brockman or Scott Heselmeyer at (512) 463-7593. TDA's three hearings will be at the following locations: • Lubbock—10:30 a.m., Feb. 21, Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 1/2 mile east of I-27 on FM 1294; • Lamesa—3 p.m., Feb. 21, Dawson County Annex, 609 N. First Street; • Muleshoe—9 a.m., other factors like administrative Feb. 22, Muleshoe State Bank, 1010 West American Blvd.

Four To Ten Inches Of Moisture May Be Needed To Bring Lynn County Soils To Field Capacity

Lynn County producers within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 may need from four to ten inches of water from irrigation and/or precipitation to bring the five-foot root zone soil profile to field capacity prior to spring 2000 planting, according to pre-plant soil moisture data released by the Water District and the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (USDA-NRCS).

At the time pre-plant soil moisture readings were made in November/December 1999, approximately 40 percent of Lynn County needed four to six inches of moisture, 53 percent of the county needed from six to eight inches of moisture, and seven percent of the county needed from eight to ten inches of moisture.

"The lack of fall precipitation, and an extended growing season resulting from a later than normal winter freeze are factors contributing to the drier than normal soil conditions across the 15-county Water District service area," said Gerald Crenwelge, USDA-NRCS Soil Scientist.

Producers should check soil moisture conditions in their individual fields prior to the start of preplant irrigation.

A Water District publication, Estimating Soil Moisture By Feel and Appearance, can guide producers in assessing their soil moisture conditions. Anyone residing within the High Plains Water District service area can receive a free copy by contacting the District's Lubbock office at (806) 762-0181.

Historical data shows that above: average crop yields are more likelywhen the five-foot root zone soil profile is at or near field capacity prior to planting field crops.

Since soils are drier, Crenwelge says producers need to keep their soils prepared so that they can readily absorb any precipitation that occurs during the pre-plant and growing seasons. In addition, he reminds producers to utilize techniques such as furrow diking to keep rainfall from running off the field.

"Once moisture is stored in the soil, producers should keep it there by limiting tillage practices that might turn moist soil to the surface, where the moisture can evaporate and no longer be available for plant use," said Crenwelge.

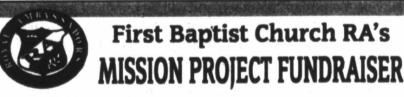

Copies of the regional and/or Lynn County soil moisture survey maps are available by contacting your local USDA-NRCS office or the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 office, 2930 Ave. Q, Lubbock 79405-1499 or by calling (806) 762-0181.
