Fuel Conservation On the Farm Can Mean Big Saving

Right on the farm is the place for fuel conservation to begin. And the farm tractor is the first nachine on the farm to begin it

Tractor owners in Texas own nearly 215,000 tractors, and from this number, it's estimated that 21 million gallons—just a hundred gallons a tractor—is wasted every year. That's just in Texas

W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer of Texas A&M College, says there are at least seven good ways to save gasoline in order to cut down on the lareg amount wasted.

Here they are:
1. Don't let the motor idle when the tractor is not in use. Cut off the engine when hooking up equipment. 2. Look ahead. Figure out about how much you'll need and when-you'll need it. Then tell the tank wagon salesman well in advance. 3. Prepare all the farm storage ossible ahead of time, and see hat all drums are in good repair. If you need more storage, get the new drums ready before hand. 4. Make one trip to town do for many. Keep on hand a sup-ply of spark plugs, fan belts, tools gaskets and other day-to-day tractor repair parts.

5. Haul full loads whenever

6. Tune up the engine during slack periods when it isn't needed in the field. And don't forget to adjust the carburetor. 7. Put your equipment in the field in the best possible condition. By doing so you'll prevent costly breakdowns when in usel So, here's another 7-Step program the farmer may find to good advantage, Ulich concludes.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it A might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model - styled and executed by Buick - is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid-a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet - a really stunning creation in side as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis - which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.

Subject to Damage From Insects

Stored Grain Is

Those tiny insects in your grain bin may be small, but they do a tremendous lot of damage to stored grain. Thats' the word from the USDA Bureau of Entonology and Plant Quarantine.

The first place to start getting rid of them is right inside the bin itself. By doing a good job of bin cleaning, and afterward spraying with 5 per cent DDT before the newly harvested grain is put in, you can go a long way oward killing out the hold-over nfestation. Also you're giving the new grain a chance to escape damage

Dr. H. C. Johnson, head of the Texas A&M College department of entomology, says these tiny inects get one out of every eight bushels of farm stored grain in Texas. Missouri loses one bushel in ten, according to 1948 figures. But in that same year, the national loss average to insects was one in twenty. So, Texas is practically at the top of the "high Entomologists point out that grain losses can be lowered quite bit by harvesting the grain as soon as it's dry enough for safe storage and by storing it in weather-tight bins that have been made insect free by a thorough cleaning and spraying.

Then after you"ve got all the grain in storage, check it now and then to see if the bugs are getting into it. If they are, fumigate with a mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride at the rate of 3 to 6 gallons per 1,000 bushels, depending on how tight the storage bin is, Dr. Johnston says.

Stored grain insects take 300 million bushels of the nation's total production every year. That much gain is worth a lot of today's prices. So Texas has a long way to go in cutting down her share of the 300 million bushels the insects get, he concludes.

False Notions Hinder Texas Cancer Control

False notions about the causes of cancer are hindering cancer control in Texas to a great extent, J. Louis Neff, executive director of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, said re-

"Unfortunately, we do not yet know exactly what does cause the dreaded disease," Mr. Neff said. "What we do know, however, is that certain old fashioned ideas about cancer are not true. It is a great misfortune that so much about cancer is clocked in ig-norance and fear."

The executive director stated, with emphasis, that cancer is not caused by a single severe injury, or by the use of aluminum cook ing utensils, or by electric refrig-eration, or by any particular food or combination of foods, or by the use of alcohol, or by kissing or by any other form of contact between persons or between persons and enimals.

"These versions of what causes cancer are all old wives tales," and the more we of the American Cancer Society can do to discredit these false notions and bring the true facts about the disease to the people of the state, the sooner it will be that Texas conquers cancer.

"Cancer is not caused by a germ or infection. It is neither contagous or infectious. Nor is cancer necessarily hereditary. Evi-dence indicates that children may inherit a certain degree of susceptibility which should make them more alert to warning signals. But there is no reason to assume that children will inevitably die of cancer because one 7:30 p. m.-Evening Preaching or more parents die of the dis-

The American Cancer Society official pointed out that cancer results when certain body cells rebel against the orderly process of growth and start off on a rampage of lawless expansion, destruction, and death. What causes this wild and destructive growth is not known.

"Until we do find the causes of cancer and develop additional methods of treatment," he concludes, "we must fight cancer with what we now know.

Simple Rules Tell How To Fight Polio at Home

With polio a very real and posible danger to people of Haskell the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis lists the following easy to follow health rules for children:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.

2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise or irregular hours.

3. Avoid swimming in polluted water. Use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities.
4. Avoid sudden chilling. Renove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes.

5. Observe the golden rule of personal cleanliness. Keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects. Dectors have listed the following symptom of the dreaded poliomyelitis: headache, nausea or upet stomach, muscle soreness or stiffness, and unexplained fever.

Should polio strike in your family, call a doctor immediately. Early diagnosis and prompt treatment by qualified medical personnel often prevent scrious

2. What is a pedigree registry certificate, and how does it differ from a breeding certificate?

A pedigree registry certificate cer-tifies that an animal is accepted as eligible for registration in its breed while a breeding certificate merely association and is bred as stated, certifies that the signer's bull, stallion, boar or ram served the specified female on a certain date.

3. What is the proper age for breeding a Jersey heifer?

Tests made over a period of years at the Research Farm of the Raiston Purina Company show that it is better to breed heifers according to body size rather than age. A Jersey heifer weighing 500 lbs. is fully big enough to breed. Jersey heifers at the Purina Research Farm usually reach this weight by 12 months

Texas Farmers Who 'Double Up' Increase Profits

Every farmer suspects that he "should be twins" to get all of his work done. It is a fact, says L. Ward, educational director, National Cottonseed Products Association, that the cotton grower who is a "twin," by being a livestock producer also, profits more.

"By using the feed products of his cotton crop — cottonseed meal, or cake, and hulls - the cotton farmer gets added value from his cottonseed, his grains and pastures, and his time and abor," Ward says.

New Drug Helps

The University of Pennsylvana has announced the development of a new drug which doctors say has been used to bring about decrease in blood pressure.

Penn's school of medicine said the drug, technically known as dihydroergocormine, was developed by four university physicians engaged in the drive to combat heart and circulatory diseases - the nation's number one killer. For the first time, the universi-

Varying in depth from ankle high to well over the head, the can drive over eleven miles of Frio River is rock - bottomed, spring - fed stream. In spite of its name the river is warm and boasts several good swimming spots. At one point about fifty yards wide, solid rock stretches across the river and forms a miniature falls.

Anglers claim that swimmers have no effect on fishing. With everything from cane poles with a worm on the hook to rods, reels and fancy gaits, the fishermen go after the bass, bream, channel cat and perch in the river. Though the river is the center of attraction, visitors may wander over the trails n the park either on foot or horseback. The trails are marked by orange painted symbols - a horseshoe or a foot -burned into blackened cypressi stumps. The hiking and bridle paths twist up the mountains into dense forests.

The highest peak in Uvalde County, 2,008 feet high, is at the end of one trail. Another trail leads to the park cave — some-times called Barking Lizard Cave. The cave got its name from the odd creatures that dwell inside-lizards that make a sound like a basking hound, are about four feet long and look like a Gila monster.

There are eighteen cabins with rates ranging from $3.50 to $6 a

You can rent horses at the ridng stable and incase you can't ride, you can rent a bicycle. The parks headquarters are centrally located in a cool cypress grove. Playground equipment for children is there. Built of native white stone, the building contains the park office, locker rooms, a soft dring counter and restaurant. In the dining room a huge fireplace and rough cypress paneling add a rustic air. The mantel of the fireplace is made from a solid piece of cypress about fourteen feet long. Wrought iron chandeliers hang from the ceiling and the floor is inlaid with beautiful decorated tile.

At the rear of the building is the dance terrace. Thursday night is set aside for square dancing. One area of the park is especially for campers. There is wood for your camp fire, picnic tables and water taps.

Land for the park was purchased from the private owners by building headquarters, maintenance buildings and cottages and in laying out and paving roards was begun by the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1935, at the park, named in honor of Uvalde's oJhn Nance Garner, was not opened to the public until May

sond Drive Theme—100 Years Transport

The prairie schooner, the airplane and that rugged servant of modern-day transport, the truck-trailer, are joined in today's Opportunity Savings Bond Drive, representing the century between the gold rush of 1849 and the Treasury Bond campaign of 1949. Prairie schooners took the '49'ers west to California when gold was found, but the airplane brought the old pioneer wagons to a network of cities where, mounted on Fruehauf trailers, powered by International truck-tractors, they are serving as a point-of-sale for Savings Bonds. Here is one of the 30 wagons mounted on a trailer with the plane in the background—another example of how air transport and motor transport are being linked to perform a multitude of hauling jobs requiring both utmost speed and utmost flexibility.
