

THE BULLETIN. JOHN HENRY BROWN, EDITOR. INDIANOLA, TEXAS. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1852.

John W. W. - We are prepared to execute John W. W. of all kinds with promptness and in the best style at the Bulletin office.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. Cooke, in to-day's paper. Every stock raiser and honest man in the country has an interest, and should esteem it a duty to use all reasonable means to detect and punish such villainy as is therein complained of. We often hear our farmers and stock raisers make similar complaints. The punishment for stealing cattle, horses, &c., is imprisonment in the penitentiary from one to seven years, and the sooner the rogues are detected and convicted the better it will be for the people at large. Without information, our towns have no means of enforcing rules to prevent this species of robbery, and the consequence is, whether just or not, our farmers have been greatly injured in this behalf. It is to be hoped we may be incorporated very soon, on this as well as many other accounts.

From an informality in the returns of the election in this county on the 24 inst, the Chief Justice declined receiving them; consequently a new election has been ordered for Saturday.

The election. - The following are all the returns we have yet received of the Presidential election which took place on the 24th inst. The vote has been a very small one. We regret this on more than one account. Texas should have given Mr. Pierce a full vote. This city could have polled 600 votes, instead of 371.

Table with 2 columns: Name and Votes. Includes Travis county - Austin, 289; Wadsworth, 10; Town of Bastrop, 10; N. Bonifacio, Comal co., 153; Lockhart, Caldwell co., 116; La Grange, Fayette co., 124; Town of Washington, 147; Bastrop, (incomplete) 734.

The County Court of Calhoun met in regular session, in Indianola, on Monday last; present, Chief Justice Beaman, Commissioners Rens, Westerman, Ogden and Ashworth. They have contracted to have a jail finished within a few weeks. Good thing this. We have long stood in need of a decent cage to which to board and lodge those unfortunate individuals who cannot get along through life without annoying others. It costs the county four bits a day to feed and lodge such, but it is less objectionable than their society, since emigration began in good earnest, and company is plenty. We can now get along without them. In justice to our county, however, it is proper to say that the courts alluded to are always transient, and do not belong to our jurisdiction. We can boast as good a county of permanent citizens as any in the State.

The schooner Aripe, Capt. Shepherd, sailed from the Powder Horn wharf for Mobile on Monday.

The Steamship Louisiana, Capt. J. Smith, sailed for New Orleans, via Galveston on Saturday.

FOR LAVERNA. - The German Brig Leo, Gen. Prater, master, sailed from Indianola, on Saturday last for Lavaca, Central America, where she will take in a cargo of logwood and return to Bremen.

COTTON FOR EUROPE DIRECT. - We are daily expecting a ship from Germany, by which, on its return trip, cotton can be shipped from Indianola to Bremen at one cent per pound, while we pay three-fourths to New York. Thus the shipper has a strong inducement to ship direct, by which he will get much more for his cotton, and will equal certainty. Messrs. Henry Rung & Co., agents of the German line in Indianola, will make liberal advances on cotton shipped by it, and no house in the country is more solvent or responsible.

There is now a well-concerted and powerful effort being made throughout the southern States to build up a direct trade between southern ports and Europe, by which it is clearly demonstrated there would be a saving of ten per cent on the gross productions of the south, now paid to northern ship-owners, brokers, &c., for doing for us, which we should do for ourselves. Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah, Mobile and New Orleans have taken hold of the subject in good earnest, and will assuredly succeed. Capitalists in Europe have come forward to aid in the great cause.

The door is open to Texas. Emigrant ships are coming to Galveston and Indianola they will back freights and will take them at the lowest possible rates. Galveston has already shipped considerable cotton direct, and we hope to see Lavaca, Indianola and Matagorda follow the example, and in many cases, when the government shall have deepened our Passes to 18 or 20 feet, we shall be able to commerce on this bay beyond present conception. In this one grand desideratum, if on none other, there may be a field of interest and action on the bay.

HEALTH. Indianola is again quite healthy. We hope the citizens will make the improvements alluded to last week, and thus remove even the semblance of cause for disease among us; for we do not wish to deny that sickness has been here, and among the more unfortunate class of foreigners, it has been severe; but among others, but two or three deaths have occurred from the fever that prevailed.

We have lived in Indianola five years, and notwithstanding we have had much sickness since June last, we consider it naturally as healthy a place as there is on the Gulf of Mexico. Through the year 1848, there was no sickness nor deaths in the place. In March, 1849, there were a few deaths from cholera, but on removing a local cause that had accumulated on the beach the disease at once disappeared, and from that time to June, 1852, making in all a period of over four years, considering that it was a landing place for passengers and emigrants, and the rendezvous for most of the boatmen and seafaring men visiting the bay, we believe it to have been the healthiest point we ever knew. In fact, until the last two years we had no regular practicing physicians in the place. For eleven months previous to last May, in a population of about a thousand souls, there had scarcely been a death.

From June last we have had much sickness; but as we have before stated, it has doubtless originated from and been fostered by local causes that could be removed in a week. The only reason that it has not been so in the State, has had no corporation to do such things, and every one who has lived much in towns, know the thousand and one difficulties attending such improvements when carried out by individual subscribers.

It must be borne in mind, too, that where troops and foreign emigrants land from long sea voyages, sickness often prevails among them without extending amongst the citizens. So it has often been here. So it was in Port Lavaca in December, 1848, among the troops, when thirty died in one day; 10 in another and the mortality was greater than we ever know it to be anywhere, yet it did not spread among the citizens, only one or two of whom died. Among such crowds of persons disease is always apt to break out from the rapid transit from one climate to another, and is unable to do so on the highest mountain or in the lowest valley - in the most healthy as well as the most sickly places.

In the late sickness, it began here and in Port Lavaca, at the same time as simple dengue or lumbago fever; and was as general in that place as this; but we had a large foreign population, including many unacclimated emigrants, which the Port did not have, and when the disease got among them, it became more violent and was pronounced bilious intermittent fever; and still later, in a few cases, where the parties had been exposed and imprudent in their habits, it ran into yellow; and here, too, the disease was encouraged by the local causes before alluded to.

The situation of Indianola is peculiar, and must ever be a healthy one, unless causes are allowed artificially to accumulate. In the first place, the front on the bay for four miles is beautiful, clean shell beach, from three to seven hundred yards wide. Next comes a wide, shallow bayou running the whole length of the shell beach, from Powder Horn to White's Bayou. Behind this is a high, beautiful prairie for several miles, free from boggy hollow and swamp, and well drained. We have no four miles of low, except on the West, and at four miles distance. The local cause for sickness, to which we have alluded, consists in small ponds between the bay and the bayou in the rear, which were originally entirely cut off from the bay, and the water in them washes from the streets, they have become water tight, and none but rain water, mingled with filth, enters them. This, with the lack of more perfect outlets for the bayou, is the great cause of the disease that existed here. A small amount of labor bestowed in cutting ditches so as to connect all these places constantly with the bay, will not only remove the cause, but make them conducive to the health of the place, for every one knows that salt water is promotive of health, and that such ditches, as in San Antonio, would cleanse and purify the place.

PLATTERING PICTURE. - By the last mail we received a letter from a traveling friend dated "New Orleans, August 26th, 1852, in which the writer says: 'I have been in a great many small places, but this Napoleon is the greatest kind of corruption I have ever seen in, and it appears to be getting worse. I mean to the horror of all that is filthy, degraded and corrupt, and the only thing that remains here two days and nights is really sickening.'

That a sickly kind of picture of Napoleon, and we must, in public opinion, citizens, and the paper in the past issue on that point, with black marks conspicuously penciling the article. At the same time, as the honorable individuals, we would consider the Napoleon which the dirt became so great that the people, sleeping could make no way, independent of the black ink, the hazy, carrying of the paper old mail, she was seen, making herself in a full cry, crying a loud wailing cry. 'Oh! wretched man of abominable filth, if it had not been for you, my poor, blessed Pass Car would now be living.'

It is through inward health that we enjoy all outward things.

MEXICANS AND MEXICAN CARTS. It has often been said, like many other falsehoods, uttered by our enemies, that Mexicans would not haul from Indianola. Such reports have been circulated to endeavor to prejudice persons from trading and settling here, by persons residing elsewhere. The daily observation of every one here gives the best contradiction to the statement. Scarcely a day passes that our streets are not more or less crowded with these vehicles, bringing in pecans, &c., and returning loaded with merchandise, and strung to say, they will not get sick nor die in the streets. That is very remarkable. One would suppose from the lies that have been so actively circulated by contemptible falsifiers interested in so doing, that it were impossible for an up-country American, German or Mexican to visit Indianola without dying. The fact is but two up-country people have visited this place within four months and died. They both came here unwell, and only one of them died here, and he had been greatly exposed, peddling, and came here sick. The truth will prevail and when the people find that these awful reports are gotten up and principally circulated by men purely for the purpose of injuring our trade, they will cease to regard them.

COUNTY SURVEYOR. - Henry Beaman, Esq., has been elected surveyor of Calhoun County. His office is in Indianola. Formerly we were attached, in land matters, to the old counties of Victoria and Jackson.

HENRY RUNG & CO. are receiving a fine lot of new lumber at their yard in the upper end of town.

DEADLY WEAPONS. - From the number of cases we mentioned in the newspapers, as well as those happening within the circuit of our acquaintance, we are often reminded of the dreadful effects of carrying deadly weapons. It is a practice that should be frowned down by every well-wisher of society; for in a country where there is no war there is no necessity for so doing. It is a natural consequence for men who indulge in the habit, on very slight causes to use them; and the evil increases in a progressive ratio, for one occasion begets another.

The fact is, a good citizen, and especially a brave one, has no reason to carry arms in a civilized country; but those who are reckless and place light estimate on the value of human life, and the enormity of the crime of murder, are the last to yield up the miserable habit. And it follows that, time and again, upon very trifling occasions, men kill each other. A false notion of courage and honor is kept up; men of bad character are induced to cling together, and in cases of death it is often impossible to convict and punish the guilty. Men are thus led, step by step, to look upon murder without the horror that should ever arise in the human breast upon such contemplation. It is a fact, and a most solemn one, that men in thousands of instances, commit what in law is considered excusable or justifiable murder, when in truth, and under the law of God, they are guilty of the crime in its highest grade. For instance, one man may in divers ways injure and provoke another, unknown to others, until, stung and goaded to desperation, the injured party commits an unlawful attack upon the really guilty one, and in self defence for the time being, the guilty man kills the other. Here, in human law, the real murderer is pronounced justifiable, while by the Divine law he is guilty. In truth, whenever one man takes the life of another, intentionally, in personal combat, without conscientiously believing the act necessary to save his own, he is, to all intents and purposes, in the sight of Heaven, a murderer; and although he may escape public censure and the upbraidings of conscience for a time, we have too often seen that, sooner or later, remorse will arise to harass and render life miserable to him. These are old ideas, but they are solemn and impressive, and men should take them home to their bosoms and dwell upon them. How often have we seen this class of men in Texas. They are known by unmistakable marks, and are sad warnings to the thoughtless and unwary, as well as the vicious, to remember, that under all possible circumstances in life, "The All-seeing eye is upon them."

PREJUDICE FULFILLED. - We learn, says the Baltimore American, that as an appropriate mark of respect for the President of the United States, a number of gentlemen, Senators, Members of Congress, Judges of the Supreme Court, and citizens of both political parties, have employed Mr. D. Stone to execute a bust, in pure Italian marble, of Mr. Fillmore, with the design of having it placed permanently in the Presidential Mansion, as an appropriate memorial to the character of one who has so greatly adorned and dignified his high position. It is to be regretted that specimens of the Presidents have not been preserved in the same manner.

A ship which cleared at Boston on the 12th ult for California, had on board a cargo of upwards of nine hundred tons of - the largest cargo ever shipped around Cape Horn or Cape Good Hope. At San Francisco, on the 10th of September, there was no ice, and for its substitute, snow, brought down from the Sierra Nevada mountains, the saloon passengers were paying eight dollars per hundred pounds.

Col. Rufus M. Johnson, - Colonel Johnson, the old hero who killed Tecumseh, was ever fond of relating anecdotes of his brave followers in the war of 1812. In a speech made by him at Alton, Illinois, in 1830, speaking of the battle of the Thames, he said: 'I was ordered, by Gen. Harrison to pick a troop of my best mounted men, and endeavor, if possible, to charge and break the enemy's lines. Among the men selected for the emergency was one John Lamb, a man of stalwart frame, and remarkable for reckless daring. At the word "charge," the bit of Lamb's bridle broke, and his impetuous horse, left uncheckered, leaped forward, and in advance of all others, directly for the enemy. Seeing there was no help for him, and no alternative but to stick to his horse, when some hundred yards ahead of my men and very near the British, going like lightning, Lamb, proudly raising himself to the utmost tension, in his straps, and bringing his place to bear on the foe, exclaimed, "Clear the track you d-- English red-coats, or I'll give you particular notice!" And, "And," the old Colonel, "the red-coats did clear a wide lane for him, and he passed through untouched."

Some Scott papers appear to think that Mr. Scott had the good world have supported Gen. Scott. We think the following extract of a letter written by him in 1838, in the whole executive committee of New York, communicating his views as to the annihilation of Gen. Taylor, is conclusive evidence that he retained to the last his ancient opinions about military affairs, and would not therefore, have supported Gen. Scott. In addition, there were a few strong reasons for Mr. Scott to yield his support to Gen. Taylor, which do not exist in the case of Gen. Scott. The indisputable fact that Gen. Scott was nominated by the Northern and anti-slavery wing of the whig party - a coalition and event which Mr. Clay had denounced before the Legislature of Kentucky, after the passage of the compromise measures, and declared he would sustain - is sufficient of itself to remove all doubt as to what course he would have pursued in the present contest. But read his letter about Gen. Taylor's nomination. How forcibly many of the remarks apply to the case of Gen. Scott. - Kentucky Freeman.

From the New York Herald. Extract from a letter written by Henry Clay to the Whig Executive Committee of this city, dated Astoria, 20th Sept. 1848. "And here gentlemen I would stop, but for your request that I would communicate my views, I shall do so briefly and frankly, but with reluctance and regret. "Concurring entirely with you that the peace, prosperity, and happiness of the U. States, depend, materially on the preservation of the whig principles, I should be most happy if I saw more clearly that I do that they are likely to prevail. "But I cannot help thinking that the Philadelphia Convention humiliated itself, and as far as it could, placed the whig party in a degraded condition. General Taylor refused to be a candidate. He professed himself to be a whig; but he so enveloped himself in the drapery of qualification and conditions, that it is extremely difficult to discern his real politics. "He was, and yet is willing, to receive any and every nomination, no matter how trivial or how insignificant. In his letter to the Richmond Republican of the 20th of April last, he declared his purpose to remain a candidate, no matter what nomination might be made by the Convention. I know what was said and done by the Louisiana delegation in the Convention; but there is a veil about that matter which I have not penetrated. The letter from him, which it is stated one of that delegation possessed, has never been published; and a senator on the same subject addressed to the independent party of Maryland, has, in his language, been withdrawn from the public. It was quite natural, that after receiving the nomination he should approve the sincerity which he obtained it. What I should be glad to see is some revocation of the declaration in the Richmond Republican letter before the nomination was made. "On the great leading national measure, which has so long divided parties, he has any fixed opinions they are not publicly known. Exclusively a military man, with the least experience in civil affairs, he took up and always living in the camp, with his sword by his side and his spurs on his shoulders, it is proposed to transfer him from the actual position of second in command of the army to the Chief Magistracy of this great and noble Republic. "I cannot come out in the active support of such a candidate. I hope that those who know anything of my opinions deliberately formed, and in good will, would not to those opinions I shall adhere with increased, instead of diminished, confidence; and I think that my talents ought to be recognized to the science which I have imposed on myself from references to them as well as from strong objections which I entertain to the competitor of Gen. Taylor. "I wish to lead, or instead, no one; but to leave all to the unbiased dictates of their own judgment. "I know and feel all that can be urged on the actual picture of the present contest. "Content with you the strongest apprehensions from the election of Gen. Scott, but I do not see enough of hope and confidence in that of Gen. Taylor, to stimulate my exertions, and animate my zeal. A deeper fear that his success may lead to the formation of a mere personal party. There is a chance indeed, that he may give the country a better administration of the Executive Government than his competitor would; but it is no such a chance as to assume the responsibility of recommending any course; or offering any advice to others. "With great respect, I am your friend and obedient servant, HENRY CLAY."

TWO WEEKS LATER FROM MEXICO.

By the long telegraph we have received the news of our Mexican exchanges up to the 23rd from Vera Cruz, and the Bulletin from the city of Mexico. The news presents many points of interest, but they are all of that disorganized character which has so long marked the advance from that country.

The extra session of Congress closed on the 12th ult, and Gen. Arista delivered a long speech, which we shall notice to-morrow. The Government had concluded the law of the press on the 13th in consequence of the decree says of the accelerated opportunity that the members of Congress would attend the extra session, and that the Government could count on their co-operation to put an end to the agitation that subsists in the Republic.

On the 16th three impeachment bills were presented in Congress, one against the Minister of Justice for having decreed the law of the press, one against Sandoval, chief clerk of the War Department, for having directed a commandante to disobey the orders of the court in the affair of Sanor Belancourt; and one against Senor Ramirez, ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs, for the dissolution of the Ayuntamiento.

The city of Mexico was once continued state affairs. The Universal of the 18th says: "Spies are making their harvest from the credulity and fear of the Government. Last night the roof of the palace was filled with all the positions of war necessary to resist an attack; the sentinels were doubled, watches were set, and all the preparations usual under the pressure of fear or danger were made. Unless precautions were taken, every one laughs at these steps."

The Sign of the same day says: "Last night, about half past 9 a rocket-bomb exploded in the Plaza de Armas, and alarmed the Government and the police. This will probably give rise to new arrests."

Many new papers of an ephemeral character have been started in the city of Mexico, with such titles as Amigos, the Justice Monkey, the Mexican, &c. all directed against the Government.

The Minister of War has issued a circular in which the State authorities are directed to arrest all military men who have not the necessary passports, and to proceed against them according to law, especially if there is any suspicion that they intend to join the insurgents.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to grant an amnesty to parties engaged in the Vera Cruz movement. Of this movement the Monitor says:

Senators Salazar and Soto, commissioned by the State Government of Vera Cruz to confer with the Supreme Government in relation to the affairs of that State, yesterday began to hold interviews with the President and Ministers. It is probable that measures will be taken to allay the alarm in those places occupied by the insurgents, and it is to be hoped concessions will be made to the people.

Rebollo has proclaimed the plan of Guanajuato with some additions. A glass factory has been established in Michoacan.

On the 1st October Gov. Cardenas took formal possession of the gubernatorial chair of Tamaulipas. The Tampico Chronicle says that the trade of that place is almost entirely destroyed by the immense quantities of goods smuggled into the Northern States over the frontier. The Legislature of Tamaulipas has decided: "That no one shall be persecuted or molested in the State in consequence of religious tenets."

The Union of Vera Cruz has dates from Yucatan to the 2d of October. The papers contain no news of the war carried on there with the Indians. The Sign of the same day says: "The Sign of the same day says: 'The situation of the frontier States is daily more and more deplorable, and in need of a decided and efficacious assistance, they receive only a steric compensation. The enthusiasm which some time since existed in their favor has subsided. In fact, nothing is done, nothing is undertaken with resolution and energy to remove the horrors, to which these States are a prey, and the efforts of a few good citizens, when they are not destroyed by the impudence of others, are framed by opposition from those who should most support them.'"

A new line of stages is to be started from the city of Mexico to Tapachula, in the Pacific States, twice a week. From Vera Cruz to Mexico $35, from Mexico to Tapachula $10. Time three to four to five days, including two days for rest. Road said to be excellent, hotels abundant at $2.34 day, meals 75 cents. A branch line will be run to San Blas as soon as the road is repaired. Distance twenty leagues, or 210.

The following is a summary of the state of the several pronouncements now existing in Mexico: "In Michoacan the insurgents continue to make preparations for resistance. In Jalisco the Guadalupe movement is stated to be in a bad way, and matters likely to return to their former state. In Tamaulipas Gov. Cardenas is likely to find a strong opposition. In the States of Vera Cruz, affairs look better for the Government. The insurgents are reported to be in Orizaba. The Supreme Government and that of Jalisco are about to take measures to establish tranquility there. A movement at Mexico had been suppressed."

The important ship canal which is to unite Lake Superior and Mississippi will soon be begun. The surveys for its location have been completed, and the ground has been found quite as favorable for the way, and speedy construction of the work as was expected. Several routes have been surveyed, which will enable the Legislature of Michigan and contractors to obtain a perfect understanding of the whole subject. The canal will be a fraction less than a mile in length. The law of Congress provides that the locks shall be at least 250 feet long and 60 feet wide, and the Michigan Legislature has power to enlarge the dimensions.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

The following extracts exhibit the various qualifications of the Homestead Exemption bills now in force in the several States named: "MAINE. - A lot of land, a dwelling house, and out-buildings thereon, or so much thereof as shall not exceed $3,000 in value. SOUTH CAROLINA. - A homestead of fifty acres of land, including the dwelling house, and appurtenances, not to exceed $500 in value, and not to extend to any property situated within the limits of any city or town corporate. THE LAST MR. MARTIN. - The London correspondent of the Public Advertiser, speaking of the death of Mr. Laville Martin, the Paris correspondent of the London Daily News, who was killed by Mr. Howe, remarks: "You will recollect I sent you some months ago a sketch of an affair between him and Louis Napoleon respecting a song; since that his articles have been distinguished by a greater degree of force and consistent talent than before, inasmuch that he was the most divided of all the English correspondents, with his letters were the most read and commended the 'despatches' considered not only in England but also in France and throughout Europe. A few weeks ago an English nobleman begged him to resign his post and take a seat in the House of Commons, where he would undoubtedly have distinguished himself; but Mr. Martin, fascinated by the charms of a Paris life, and his high reputation, has in the hey-day of manhood fallen a victim to the wild justice of revenge."

There is nothing more stirring to the young heart, so pure and unselfish, than the dream of glory, then to receive joy at the hands of others, in the hope of being a comfort to the low or meagre up earth, and we are very apt in those early days, when no experience of disappointment or world-taught prudence has set a limit to the boundlessness of our desires for good, and we have a temple, a wreath of it, is combined in hope.

Messrs. Harper & Brothers, of New York, have in press, and will immediately publish, the Private Life of Daniel Webster, from the most authentic sources, written by Charles Lannan, a well-known writer, who has been a personal friend and private Secretary of the deceased statesman.

STATE OF JACKSON. - The formation of the superb equestrian statue of Jackson, in Washington, has been lately laid in Lafayette square, immediately before the portal of the Presidential mansion. The projected statue of the president, in his best military dress, is to be placed on the 18th of October, the anniversary of the surrender of Vicksburg, and that on the glorious anniversary, the 8th of January next, the statue of the hero of New Orleans will be erected. It is a brilliant and magnificent achievement of art. The projected statue, a monument of genius and taste of Downing, is worthy of the statue and others; and the points which are hereafter expected to adorn it, they are so far as the artist is concerned, by a few respectable and influential citizens. There can be, as yet, no real work undertaken. We hear, by a special messenger, in respect of Columbus "filling the bow to the old world," and also of Southey. Orders in honor of our sagacious warriors will doubtless follow. - Washington paper.

The editor of the New York Herald states he has been informed, from respectable authority, that two American gentlemen, officers of the army of the Dominican Republic, in the island of Hayti, have made arrangements with a private gentleman, in which they propose to take a large number of emigrants to Dominica; and further, that eight hundred men have already sailed for the island, and the Dominicans, the terms offer being highly advantageous to many of the emigrants and their families.

TRUCK COMPANY. - There is no kind of courage which will bear comparison with that of man, whose opinions stand in opposition, upon fearful questions of passion, to those of the giddy, glib and excited multitudes, who, nevertheless, carries their "vote" out. That man who can stand in the breach of universal public opinion, will all the fabled of opinion disgracing him to the thought of the lookers on - will the "face of glory" leading against his breast, and the fingers of the mighty, combined many, pointing him to scorn - nay, with the fury of the drunken rable dragging him with instant death - and those that all having to present friend to witness a word of defense or pollution, in his behalf, to his reverence - but heavily giving his naked head to the storm, because he knows himself to be virtuous in his purpose; that man shall come forth from the fire, and shall be tried gold; philosophy shall confirm his name in his richest nation, history shall give him a place on his brightest page, and old-age, hoary with its bright shall remember him as of yesterday. - Horace-Shoe Robinson.

WORTHY MEN OF MASS. - When our town is worth a thousand dollars, and there are thousands, we really say, the value is worth as much as the former. Now if this amounting money that simply that one has the times to reach property as the other, our moments would be truly spent in exulting at the expression that when we are all the wealth of a man by the weight of his purse, the amount of his stock, or the number of his horses, without examining either the furniture of his head or the quality of his blood, common sense smiles at the delusion, and deigns not to correct the error. Is the man's intellect all this? No. Shall he not be rated as high as the purest of gold which contains the common standard of his worth? May also the requirements of art, nor the endowments of nature, have the honor of being invariable with the stock of his farm, his merchandise, or his household furniture. Strange to say, such is scarcely ever the case!

The Victoria Advertiser comes to us this week in an entirely new and much improved dress, and contains a large amount of gratulation to its contributors. Being something of a dandy, "our wretched" we can but more highly appreciate the new suit of our "wretched" friends. We wish them most sincerely an increased and profitable success, well knowing that during their seven years' labor in Victoria they have done much not only for their town, but for all of western Texas.

A SERIOUS GRIEVANCE. A BOIT two weeks ago, Mr. G. Underhill, the A. B. reporter of the 1st inst., has been known before to stray from his range, necked to a black work ox, and grazing in company with other work oxen in the vicinity of Indianola, and in sight of several farmers and wagon rangers. Mr. Underhill's oxen, in consequence of their being so near the oxen in sight, and their role into town, and have made due and careful enquiries for the owner. He could find none. All disclaim them. Now this is to notify the owner of said black ox, that he may be found on Green Lake, and he is hereby warned by request to come forward, prove his property, pay costs and damages, and take him away, otherwise the ox will be dealt with according to law. This makes the fourth notice we have had by sudden disappearance from the range which I know of, but do not know how many other stock cattle. STEPHEN F. COCKE, Nov. 18, 1852-5W
