$950,000 bond election called for wastewater plant

A bond authorization election has been called by the board of directors of Crockett County Water Control & Improvement District to be held August 10. The $950,000 bond election will be presented to the voters of the district to construct a wastewater plant, the line from Ozona to the plant, and the pump station to get the wastewater across Johnson Draw to the treatment plant. The approximate cost of the wastewater project is about $760,000. The balance of the election proceeds will be used for other water, wastewater or sanitation collection projects or sanitation collection projects. The Water District has an agreement on a site on the Sarah Seay property, and a permit with the Texas Department of Water Resources to construct a wastewater treatment plant on this site. The district was granted a permit by the Environmental Protection Agency June 25 to operate a wastewater plant 2.5 miles south of Ozona. The facility will handle one-half million gallons daily says CCWCID Manager Dee Keilers. Net out-flow should be about 300,000 gallons with a 24 acre ponding area. Water from the treatment plant would be enough to irrigate 50 acres. Call for the bond authorization election follows a June 21 ruling in Austin District Court in the case of Arlington Helbing versus the Texas Department of Water Resources and the Crockett County Water District. Judge Hume Cofer ruled in favor of the Department of Water Resources and the Water District. Helbing is a landowner downstream from the proposed treatment plant site.

Bonds which will be sought by the Water District will be general obligation type bonds paid for by revenues from the project and or by taxes if the Water District Board so decides. The search for a site for a new wastewater plant began as early as 1972, says Keilers, when the district was under the management of Bill Cooper, who retired last year. Members of the Water District Board are: J. W. Johnigan, president; Dan Davidson, vice-president; Duane Childress, secretary; Harold Shaw, assistant secretary; and Gene Perry.

High school renovation underway

By Gary Davis

Ozona High School's administrative offices will take on a different look for the 1985-86 school year. A renovation project on the first floor of the high school building should be completed by the beginning of the school year. The entire first floor, with the exception of one classroom and the existing restrooms, is being converted into office space for the principal, counselor and secretaries. A new teacher workroom and lounge is also being created. The existing principal's office will house the secretary when the project is completed. That office will join the newly remodeled principal's office, created from the attendance clerk's former office. The attendance clerk will now be located where the school secretary has been, and the computer terminal will also be in the attendance clerk's office.

The counselor's office is being created from a portion of an old classroom where he will also have a conference room which will have a library with career counseling materials. Both the counselor and the principal will have one-way windows looking into a newly created in-school suspension room. This room will have enough space to accommodate eight students, should the need arise. One classroom has been left as it is and will be used for drivers' education. The existing teachers' lounge and dark room will be turned into a bookroom, a teacher workroom and lounge. The bookroom, to be located at the south end of the building, will have cabinets and shelves for books, supplies and materials. It will adjoin the teacher workroom, which will have the computer terminal and a work area with duplication and copy machines. The workroom will join the lounge area, which will be taken from a portion of the old workroom and darkroom. It will have a coffee and refreshment bar as well as a reading table for teachers. The local school district is acting as its own contractor with the assistance of Jack Brewer, the construction manager. In addition to the high school project, the district is also waiting to approve the "Heritage School". The delay on that project stems from the bonding company, Security National Insurance Company, having to complete the project when the general contractor defaulted. The newly renovated building is completed, but a settlement must be reached between the local school district and the bonding company before the building can be used. The school has also purchased three new houses to be used as teacherages. They are three bedroom ready-built homes with two bathrooms, a living room and a kitchen-dining room combination. The bid on this project was awarded to Bryan Builders, Inc. from San Angelo. The houses should begin arriving in late July. Accident claims two Two Ozona residents died Friday morning following a motorcycle accident near the intersection of Texas 163 and First Street. Lonnie Galindo, age 19, was pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Raymond Davee. A passenger on the cycle, J. B. Green, age 17, died at Angelo Community Hospital in San Angelo while undergoing treatment of multiple injuries. The two were traveling south on Texas 163 when the cycle went out of control, crossed the roadway and hit a tree according to investigating officer Neil Lovorn of the Texas Department of Public Safety. He was assisted in the investigation by Sgt. Ken Hailey.

Red-headed little Miss Katie Worthington was a perfect example of the Fourth of July spirit as she enjoyed the festivities at City Park. Katie is the 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Worthington.

Wool and Mohair has new manager

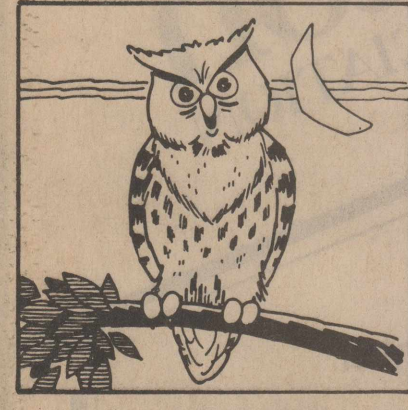

Brian May, new manager at Ozona Wool and Mohair, can load mohair bags with the best of them. He is also a graduate of Texas A&M with a doctorate in beef cattle research. May began his post with Ozona Wool July 1 after moving here from College Station with his wife, Patti, who is a CPA. "I plan to do wool and mohair research here with emphasis on nutrition and wool production," says May. "I also plan to help with 4-H in their wool and mohair judging teams." May says he was hired by the board of directors of Ozona Wool and Mohair to help make it more of a family related business. The facility will serve the entire community along with the ranchers by offering garden products, feeds and fertilizers, club animal products such as grooming and sheep shearing products. "The mohair market is pretty much at a standstill," says May. The firm has been in contact with

Rachel's reviews

By Rachel O. Hall

Corn that is found in the local supermarkets today is generally "Country Gentlemen" and "Golden Bantam" which are white and yellow, respectively. These types of corn can be successfully used for corn pudding, corn creole, corn fritters, scalloped or chowders.

Fresh corn can easily be prepared and stored in your freezer. Select ears with plump, tender kernels and thin, sweet milk. If the milk is thick and starchy, it is better to freeze corn as cream style.

WHOLE GRAIN STYLE

Husk, silk, trim and wash. Heat in boiling water 4 minutes. Cool, cut kernels from cob at about 2/3 the depth of the kernels. Package and freeze immediately.

CREAM STYLE

Husk, silk, trim and wash. Heat in boiling water 4 minutes. Cool, cut kernels tips once or twice, no deeper than the center of the kernels. Scrape the cobs with the back of knife to remove the juice and heart of the kernel. Package and freeze immediately.

ON-THE-COB

Husk, silk, trim, wash and sort ears according to size.

Heat in boiling water - Small ears up to 1 1/4 inches in diameter 7 minutes

Medium ears 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 inches in diameter 9 minutes

Large ears over 1 1/2 inches in diameter 11 minutes.

Cool and drain. Pack ears into containers or wrap in moisture-vapor-proof material. Freeze immediately.

CORN CHOWDER

4 slices bacon
1 med. onion, chopped
2 17 ounce cans cream style corn

2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Fry bacon until crisp; remove from drippings and crumble.

Add onion to bacon drippings and cook over med. heat until transparent. Stir in corn, milk, bacon and seasonings. Cook over medium heat until hot, stirring constantly; add butter, stirring until melted. Yield: 6 servings.

May use 3 1/2 cups of fresh or frozen whole or cream style corn.)

Wildflower planting on highways pushed by Bentsen

Senator Lloyd Bentsen has introduced legislation to encourage states to plant native wildflowers along the nation's highways.

Bentsen said a state wildflower project in Texas has resulted in a reduction in littering, mowing and watering costs.

"The experience in Texas indicates that not only does this type of planting beautify the roadways, it has the potential of reducing mowing costs by 25 percent more," Bentsen said.

The wildflower provision was included in legislation approved by the Senate earlier this year, but the bill did not achieve final passage through Congress.

Under Bentsen's legislation, states would be required to spend at least 25 cents of every $100 they receive in federal-aid highway construction landscaping funds to plant wildflowers. The requirement could be waived for agricultural areas or areas where it is difficult to raise the flowers.

CARE-A-VAN gets big boost

By Jo Davidson

Thank you, Ozona, and the Chamber of Commerce for making the Fourth of July fun day at the park. The Knights of Columbus guys at the fajitas booth helped to bring the Care-A-Van project closer to its goal. More than $1,700 was raised, mostly by their efforts, and those citizens who donated so generously. These fellows have backed our cause from the start, and we pay a very special thanks to them for all their work. Also, to all the folks who got "dunked" for our project - thanks for being such good sports - Garland Davis, Rudy Martinez, Glenda Winkley, Stan Lambert and Sonny Henderson.

Our workers cooking the funnel

"Anyone who has seen the blue bonnets along the Interstates in Texas knows how effective this type of planting could be throughout the nation," Bentsen said.

Helping Hands making plans for new building

Helping Hands for the Elderly, Inc. is making plans for a new building. Upon notification that Crockett County will grant one acre of land for the site, directors of the organization have voted to sell the old building as a starting point. The sale was voted on at a meeting July 1 at the home of Kathy and Franklin Reavis. Sale possibilities, building estimates and structure design were discussed during the session.

Other concerns of the organization are applications for grants for a 10-16 passenger van from the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation, and for commodity foods.

Elma and Cecil Buckner were in charge of the van grant application.

A commodity food representative has met with Ozona Chamber of Commerce Secretary Beth Boyd. Once the application is completed, it will be two to three weeks before commodities arrive says Mrs. Reavis.

Helping Hands will be having its second birthday on July 18.

Angora goat field day and billie sale

The Annual Angora Goat Field Day and Billie Sale will be held at the Texas A&M Experiment Station in Sonora on Thursday, July 11. The field day program will begin at 11:00 a.m. followed by a barbecue meal at noon.

The auction sale of the top performance tested billies will begin at 1:00 p.m.

Some 62 breeder-cooperators performance tested about 400 head this year. Several local ranchers take advantage of this opportunity to buy these performance tested billies annually. This is an excellent way to make faster improvement in angora goat production breeding programs by using these tested billies with known genetic traits.

After lunch, test results will be explained and awards given to the owners of the two top-indexing animals.

D. L. Cloudt, Rocksprings warehouseman, and Dr. Jake Landers, Extension range specialist of San Angelo, will speak on dealing with defects in wool and mohair. Dr. J. W. Bassett, sheep, goat, wool and mohair professor at Texas A&M University, will conclude the program with a talk on kemp in Angora goats.

Sul Ross names Davis Animal Science Center head

ALPINE -- Dr. Delmer I Davis, currently an associate professor at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, has been named administrative head of the Sul Ross State University Everett E. Turner Range Animal Science Center.

Dr. Davis will be a professor of RAS in addition to having administrative responsibility of the department and the university ranch.

Davis received his bachelor of science degree from Abilene Christian University in 1966 and completed work on his Ph.D. at the University of Tennessee in 1969.

While at Tennessee, Davis was a NDEA Research Fellow and served as an assistant professor of meat science. He went on to California State University-Fresno in 1970 and returned to Texas as an area livestock specialist with Texas A&M University in 1972.

In 1978, Dr. Davis joined Tarleton State University as an assistant professor and was responsible for teaching feeds and livestock nutrition. He served as a nutritionist with a feed company until he assumed his current position in Kentucky. His teaching duties at Kentucky have included feeds, beef science, and reproductive physiology.

Dr. Davis has published extensively in professional journals and other professional publications. He has worked with research grants from several sources

"Dr. Davis brings a wide variety of both teaching experience and experience in private industry to Sul Ross" said Dr. Earl Elam, vice-president for academic affairs. "He is familiar with the program we have at Sul Ross and has a well-rounded background."

Davis fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Dr. Ernie Harman in May of 1984.

Hunting and fishing way back when

By Ron Beall

Back in the good ol' days of 1941-42 Texas hunting licenses and game laws were lengthy and subject to many local applications. The laws were amended frequently, and all sportsmen were advised to know whether there were any special applications of the law to the county where they were hunting or fishing.

A resident hunter's license was required of every citizen of the state who planned to hunt outside the county of his residence. This license was only $2 for any hunter above the age of 17. The non-resident hunter was required to pay a fee of $25. Resident fishing licenses were a whopping $1.10 if the fisherman planned to use artificial lure or bait. The non-resident had a choice of a fee of $5, or $1.10 for a five day license for fishing with any kind of bait.

Armed with the proper licenses, and of course the "trusty" deer rifle, the hunter of the '40s in Texas was blessed with an abundance of game. It was reported that the Texas deer kill was as high as 30,000 annually. A closed season was provided by law on antelope during the '40s despite the fact that they were once abounding on the plains of West Texas.

According to reports of dealers to the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission in 1940, there were approximately 648,000 furs taken in Texas that year. The muskrat was taken over by the opossum as Texas' leading fur-producing animal. There was some trapping throughout the Edwards Plateau and the Brush Country of the border region. A moderate number of pelts were also taken in the Big Bend Area.

Texas fishing was a delight in the '40s. There were reports of nearly 250 different kinds of native fish in the fresh and salt waters of Texas. Among these native fish appeared the Spoonbill Cat, Paddle Fish. This fish inhabited lowland streams and ponds of East Texas and was valued for its roe, which was made into caviar. At times, there was considerable commercial production of caviar from East Texas lakes.

"Suffice it to say" - hunting and fishing were 'great' - WAY BACK WHEN!!!

Scaling new SCS chief

Wilson Scaling of Henrietta has become chief of the USDA Soil Conservation Service. In the July issue of Soil and Water Conservation News, he said he is pleased with his new job.

"The Soil Conservation Service runs an excellent voluntary soil and water conservation program," Scaling said. "I'm proud to be named the agency's new chief and I am confident in my knowledge and understanding of the strong partnership between SCS and conservation districts."

"I've learned firsthand how that partnership works - as a practicing steward of the soil, director of the Little Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District, area director of the Texas Association of Conservation Districts, and member of the National Association of Conservation Districts."

Conservation districts are governed by locally elected landowners who coordinate conservation work within their district.

Scaling said he firmly believes soil and water conservation is the key to America's long-term productivity in agriculture.

"Conservation has served my family well for many years," he said. "It's the care that my ancestors have taken of the natural resources that's keeping our livestock operation in north-central Texas profitable today."

"I plan to lead SCS in helping many more people share the feelings of pride and satisfaction that taking good care of the soil, water and other resources has given me and my family. I believe SCS and local conservation districts working together have the natural ability to make it happen for generations to come," Scaling concluded.

Spider mites, tiny pests cause large problems

Spider mites are tiny but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60-inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. They lay eggs on the underside of leaves, which hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year.

Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of an infested leaf. They feed by inserting their mouth-parts into the tissue and sucking juice from the plant. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant, the agent explains.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins and then throughout the plant. The plant may also shed buds and small fruit. Spider mites can completely defoliate a plant if not controlled.

Control of spider mites is often difficult and requires from two to four applications of insecticide at five-day intervals. Plants should be checked frequently for spider mites since the pests can build up rapidly.

Insecticides registered for controlling spider mites in gardens are diazinon, kelthane, malathion, ethion and sulfur. However, avoid using sulphur on vine plants as severe plant change could occur. Kelthane usually gives better control, provided it is cleared for the crop.

Baseball's ten comandments

It has been said that many years ago, the manager of a Major League baseball team wrote 10 rules for baseball players. The rules were designed to help the players improve their play on the field.

The following are 10 rules for baseball players to live by. They are listed with a brief explanation.

First and foremost, no player ever becomes a ball player by walking after the ball. Hustle is the name of the game in every sport. Baseball players are playing at their best when they hustle on and off the field between innings.

Secondly, a batter cannot become a .300 hitter unless he or she takes the bat off their shoulder. Batters have to be ready at the plate for any type of pitch. Resting the bat on the shoulder is a sign that a batter is not ready.

Third, any outfielder who throws the baseball back of the runner is locking the barn door after the horse is stolen. Outfielders should always throw to a baseman or a cutoff man who is located ahead of an advancing runner.

The fourth rule is one of the most important. If you keep your head up, you may not have to keep it down. Everyone makes mistakes in a baseball game, but dwelling on an error will only lead to more errors. Once you have made a mistake, forget about it, fessional coaches recommended the head first slide to prevent leg injuries.

Rule five states that when you start to slide, slide! Don't change your mind once you have committed to sliding. Most high school, collegiate and pro-

The sixth rule states that a player should not alibi for bad hops. Anyone can field the good ones. Everyone makes mistakes, but not everyone is big enough to admit their mistakes. Some players would rather make excuses. The sun was in my eyes. The field is uneven. I slipped. Or any other of a number of excuses just don't change the situation. Just try to do better the next time.

Seventh, always run out plays. Even though a ground ball or a fly ball appears to be a routine play and you, the runner, will be out, you can never tell. The defensive player may throw the ball away or drop the baseball. Players never look bad when they are hustling and giving an all-out effort, even when they are out.

Rule eight states that players should never quit. The game is never over until the last out has been made. Many runs scored in games come with two outs in an inning.

Ninth, don't find faults with umpires. They are doing the best they can to call the game in a fair, consistent manner. Everyone makes mistakes, and they occasionally make a bad call, but players and coaches rarely, if ever, win arguments on judgement type calls.

Last, but not least, rule 10. A pitcher who hasn't control hasn't anything. It makes little difference how hard a pitcher can throw, if he or she cannot get the ball over the plate for a strike, the velocity makes no difference. Young players should concentrate on control. As they grow into young men or women, they become stronger and their throwing velocity will increase.

Diet extremes bad for weight-lifters

The fitness boom has created great interest in weight-lifting and its big brother, body-building. Aspiring Arnold Schwarzeneggers everywhere are working toward the commendable goal of getting into shape.

To reach their goals, however, many adopt extreme diets that instead can hinder athletic performance and even jeopardize health, warns the Texas Medical Association.

In fact, research indicates that muscle-builders have well-developed physiques because of exercise and lifting weights and not because of what they eat or avoid eating.

In attempting to increase muscle size, body-builders tend to devour large quantities of protein such as meats, eggs and protein powders.

But the Tufts University Diet and Nutrition Letter notes that eating unusually large amounts of protein simply does not build muscle. Exercise does. As research has shown, even animals on restricted diets will build muscles if they exercise.

Because the body cannot store protein, the excess is used either for energy or to build fat, the newsletter says. Waste products from the excess protein end up in the urine, which places a strain on the kidneys.

In addition, cholesterol and fat in many protein foods can work against a body-builder susceptible to heart disease.

Low-carbohydrate diets designed to reduce body fat also can cause problems. If carbohydrate reserves in the muscle become depleted, body-builders will experience chronic fatigue and be unable to maintain their training, the Tufts newsletter says.

Elimination of carbohydrates from a diet can lead to serious dehydration and body electrolyte imbalances, the newsletter cautions. Actually, reasonable amounts of foods rich in carbohydrates will not add to body fat stores or slow down the loss of fat.

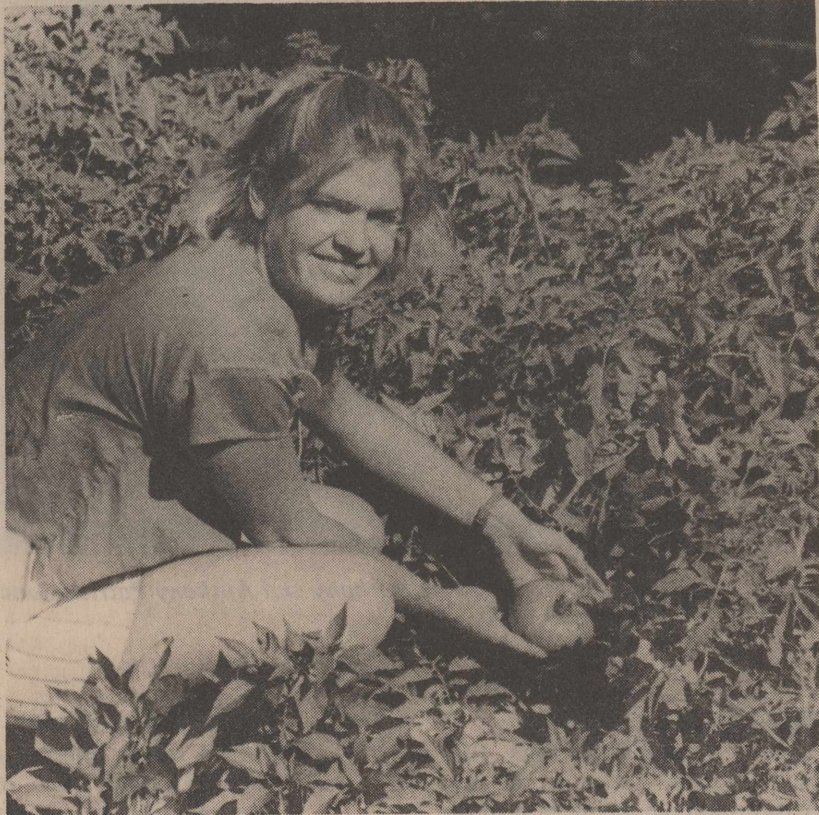

Finally, steroid drugs should be avoided. Long-term use can lead to impotence, sterility, liver and kidney damage, a rise in blood cholesterol and possible cancer.

Ten youths attend camp

By Gary Davis

Ten young ladies from Ozona attended a week-long basketball camp on the campus of Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Kellie Williams, the eighth grade daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim D. Williams, was named to the All Stars and was also given the best offense award. She was also on the team that took second place in the three-on-three tournament.

Also attending the camp were: Stacy Lay, Tammy Arrott, Sarah Pullen, Terel Seahorn, Tamie Reagor, Kimberly Coy, Elizabeth Watson, Melissa Watson and Ann Trull.

West Texas Masters Saturday

By Gary Davis

There are only three more days until the third annual West Texas Masters Track Meet. The West Texas Masters, the largest in the entire state, is expected to field more entries than ever before.

All of the proceeds of the meet will be donated to Michelle Marshall, a local nine-year-old cancer patient.

Organizers are expecting more than 400 visitors to Ozona during the upcoming weekend. A pasta supper will get things off and running Friday evening. The cost of the supper will be $3.95 for adults and $3.25 for children. It will be held at the Circle Bar Motel. Following the track meet a hospitality house will also be open at the Circle Bar.

Late registration fees are now being charged to entrants in the Masters. The fee is $7.00 for the first event entered and $2.00 is being charged for each additional event.

A concession stand will be open throughout the day. Field events will begin at 2:00 p.m. and running events at 5:30. The flag raising will be at 5:15.

Care Center News

By Ann McCartney
Director of Activities and Social Care

We have something new at the Care Center, and we were so pleased, too, because the Fourth of July is the perfect time to fly the new flags. Thanks go to Hilda Dysart for donating us a U. S. flag. We bought a Texas flag from donated monies. Everyone agreed how nice they looked.

We started the month of July with a Resident's Council Meeting. Interested residents met and discussed programs that were to take place during the month, both new and old. We have activities at ten and at three-thirty Monday through Friday as well as church services at four o'clock on Sunday afternoons. Volunteers are needed and welcomed at all these events.

Since the Fourth of July fell on Thursday, we scheduled the beauty shop for Tuesday this week. Clara Byrd and Betty Bullard graciously came and gave of their time that day.

Janet Wilson and Dorothy Doll assisted residents Pauline Clinton, Ola Mills and Marianna Perez with dominoes on Tuesday.

Ceramic class on Wednesday was directed by Doris Karr, Janet Wilson, Jackie Ginsberg, daughter of Ola Mills, Marie Pierson and Becky Bratton, great-granddaughter of Hilda Dysart. Residents Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramoz, Pauline Clinton, Hilda Dysart, Ola Mills, Doris Robnett and Marianna Perez participated in this event.

Ninfa Cervantez and Ted Turnley led Bible study this week. This was followed by a movie. All was held in the living room.

Our residents did not miss out on the Fourth of July celebrations. There was a big picnic in the court yard where almost all went out to eat. At least one resident, Tomasa Ramoz, went to the park and joined in all the fun there. Several residents ended the events of the day by going outside and watching the fireworks that night. Volunteers helping with the picnic included: Doris Karr, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Clinton, Janet Wilson and Clara Byrd. We also want to compliment our own kitchen for fixing an attractive display of food including a creatively decorated watermelon.

Everybody who did not come by and purchase one of our funnel cakes at the auxiliary booth missed a treat.

Many people helped with the auxiliary booth. Special thanks go to Jo Davidson who has been the "chief" at all our fundraisers, and a working chief she is! She sets up, takes down and works all the hours in between.

Other unsung heroes who have helped with our various events have been our husbands and their friends. Those seen helping included Charlie Davidson, Raymond Pierson, J. McCartney and his friend, Ray Hildebrand. Thanks, men, we needed you!

Bingo was played this week on Monday and Friday. This was another event that was rescheduled because of the Fourth of July. Seventeen residents played each day. Volunteers helping one or both days included our own Alice Ross and Minnie Karr, plus Amalia Lumberas, Elodia Zapata, Yolanda Martinez, Angelita Pena, Elsa Ramirez, Dorothy Doll, Mattie Cooper, Janet Wilson, Jackie Ginsburg, Anna Bell Patrick and her young friend, Ann Nelson. That sounds like a lot of volunteers, but since many people have to be assisted on the one-to-one basis, we still needed more "eyes", especially when we started playing the first game of the week. So, if you have some volunteer time, come join us at ten on Tuesday mornings. Winners this week included Grace Cotter, Pauline Clinton and Minnie Karr. Gift certificates were donated by El Chato's and The Teacher Store.

Our first Arm Chair Travels program this week followed the eating of some delicious watermelons donated by June Henderson. Dorothy Doll assisted residents' travel across Texas to some watermelon festivals. Thanks also go to Jo Davidson and Janet Wilson, as well as Dorothy Doll, for helping serve the watermelons and to Jim's Foodway for delivering them.

Thanks to The Crockett County News for bringing newspapers for all our residents.

Four members of the United Methodist Church brought church and communion services on Sunday afternoon. ZRev. Ken Harrison was the pastor in charge. Lucile Harrell played the piano. Joan Nicholas and yours truly assisted.

Volunteers are great! Keep coming!

Residents at the Care Center enjoy doing crafts work. Pictured clockwise are volunteer Becky Bratton, granddaughter of Mrs. Hilda Dysart, Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramoz, Ola Mills and Mrs. Dysart.

affair with food and soft drinks available on the grounds. A limited number of booths will be available for those with arts and crafts or groups needing fund raisers.

For further information, contact Jo Davidson at 392-2094 or Beth Boyd at the Chamber of Commerce.

A Bluegrass Festival is being planned for all West Texas to benefit the Care-A-Van project August 17-18 at Emerald Park. Bands from around the state are being contacted to participate.

A gospel church program is also planned for Sunday morning. The festival will be a family

METHODIST TO HOST BIBLE SCHOOL

United Methodist Church will host Vacation Church School Sunday, July 14, through Thursday, July 18 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Bus transportation is available by calling the church office or by contacting Lou C. Haire at 392-3581.

Tooter O'Bryant, Bruce Beasley, Jimmy Grado, Peter Shacklette, Lance Keilers and Mike Thompson represented the local Scout troop at Camp Sol Myer last month. Peter was inducted into the Order of the Arrow at special ceremonies during the week of camp.

Adult leaders attending from Ozona were Elliott Barrera and Paul Shacklette.

SOFTBALL GAME TO BENEFIT MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY

A charity softball game will be held on July 18 at 7:30 p.m. for the Muscular Dystrophy Association with all proceeds going to that organization.

Organizers are in need of 18 men and 10 women to participate in the game to be held at the Little League complex.

Those interested may contact Connie Nelson at 392-3543 or Pam Coates at 392-5883.

Donations will be accepted at the game.

ADVICE

The following was distributed at the Veterans' Hospital in San Antonio and was reprinted as a community service project there of the Veterans of Foreign Wars:

"Don't do it, Son."

"So you were stopped for a traffic violation and were discovered in possession of pot. And you were convicted of possession, a felony, and received a suspended sentence. Do you think that is the end of it, Son?"

"Not quite! You also lost your right to vote, to own a gun or to run for public office. You lost the opportunity of ever becoming a doctor, dentist, certified public accountant, engineer, lawyer, architect, realtor, osteopath, pharmacist, school teacher, barber or a stockbroker. You can't ever hold a job where you must be licensed or bonded and you can never work for the city, the county or the Federal government. You can't be admitted to West Point, Annapolis or the Air Force Academy, but you can enlist in the military service and be assigned to a labor battalion.

"Son, take it from some guys with a lot of mileage behind them; you, with a lot of mileage still ahead."
