Chamber names Judge Fields 1986 Citizen of the Year

Three local citizens and a community service organization received top awards at the 22nd Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet January 30 at the Crockett County Civic Center.

Judge A. O. Fields was named 1986 Crockett County Citizen of the Year. He was cited for his contributions as a father, husband to wife Mildred, and his reputation as an excellent river cook. Fields' specialty includes scratch hot biscuits. His professional life has carried him from serving on the World War II battlefield to being active in the local Veterans of Foreign Wars. He served as manager of the Ford Motor Company, was postmaster and was auditor for the Crockett County Schools. Fields served as justice of the peace from 1959 until the fall of 1983 when he became Crockett County Judge.

The Fields have two grown children. Their daughter and her husband, Barbara and Johnie Griffin, reside in Andrews. Their son, Dr. Thomas Fields, and his wife, Sondra, both are teachers in Greenville.

Senior National Honor Society

high school student Steve Sanchez, was named Crockett County Young Citizen of the Year. Sanchez has served numerous elected positions, among them Freshman Class president, class favorite, Mr. OHS, and Student Council president. A letter read by Chamber President Steve Sessom from Ozona High School Principal Jim Payne referred to Sanchez as "an outstanding young man, an able leader and a willing worker".

Sanchez' activities have extended beyond the academic class room arena to the sports arena. He served as quarterback for the 1985 varsity Lions' football team, and was captain of the team. He has been a member of the varsity basketball team since his freshman year and has been on the All-District team for three years.

Sanchez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ventura Sanchez.

Cited for her varied contributions to the Ozona United Methodist Church, the Ozona Garden Club and her continuing interest in the welfare of others was 1986 Unsung Heroine Mrs. Myrtle Post. This vibrant woman has served as a director of the Ozona Community Center, is a past president of the Women's Society of Christian Service and has been chairman of the altar and grounds committee of the Ozona United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Post has been active on both the local and national levels in her service to the garden club. She is a master judge in the National Council of Garden Clubs and also served on the Crockett County Civic Committee. The Myrtle Post Garden Club was named in her honor. Mrs. Post also is a past president of the Ozona Woman's Club.

The Ozona Woman's League was named Organization of the Year because of its many years of service to the community. Among the projects helped by the League are the contributions to helping Hands, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, 4-H Club activities, the Emerald House, the Crockett County Museum, Crime-stoppers, the Ozona Chamber of Commerce and the Transient Fund.

The League's 45 members have established the Mildred North Scholarship Fund to help further the education of a high school senior, have provided day care and Community Center playground equipment, assisted in the organization of the Youth Center and have worked with Texans in the War on Drugs program.

No area of community life has escaped the outreach programs provided or established by the Ozona Woman's League since its beginning in July 1960. League members have established an interest free loan fund in memory of former Ozona High School Principal J. A. Pelto. In 1985, the League provided furnishings for the children's reading room at the new Crockett County Library in memory of Peggy Hagelstein Holden. The League has provided funds for the Charlotte B. Phillips Art Scholarship, furnished a room in the Crockett County Care Center and provided training kits for the Crockett County Fire Department.

The League's annual bazaar, held the Tuesday before Thanksgiving, serves as the primary fund raiser for the organization. Serving as League president and accepting the award at the banquet was Carmen Sutton.

Mrs. Myrtle Post, Unsung Heroine of the Year, accepts her award from Dr. Steve Sessom, president of Ozona Chamber of Commerce. Assisting is Jonezy Williams.

School moves into district AA

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

According to Crockett County School administrators and teachers, the reassignment of Ozona to a AA district from a AAA district will be beneficial to students in competitive UIL literary and athletic contests.

Ozona will remain in District 6-AA until the end of the 1987-88 school year, Superintendent of Schools Garland Davis said. Other schools in the 6-AA district are Iraan, Rankin, Eldorado, Stanton, Forsan, Big Lake and McCamey. At the present time, McCamey and Iraan will not compete in the 6AA football program, but will compete against teams to the west of Ozona.

The 7AAA district, which Ozona competed in this year, now includes Sonora, Abilene Wiley, Clyde, Balingier, Colorado City, Coahoma, Brady and Merkel.

This reclassification will cut down on travel time to athletic events tremendously, Davis explained. Forsan, 119 miles away, is the furthest distance the teams will have to travel.

"I am tickled pink. Our students will be able to compete with students from schools more nearly the same size as this school," Davis said. The school district, which has an actual enrollment of 257 students, simply does not have the enrollment needed to compete on the AAA level.

The factoring process used by the University Interscholastic League has caused the enrollment figures to be inflated, Davis said. Through this factoring process, the actual number of the usually smaller Senior Class is given less value than the incoming larger present 8th Grade Class. This factoring process has caused the enrollment to be inflated to 277 students, above the old minimum of AAA schools of 275 students.

Under the new U.I.L. guidelines, AA schools will have enrollments of between 135-284 students. The AAA schools' new enrollment numbers will be 284-714 students.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Ted Cotton concurred with Davis' assessment and added, "We can now compete well. We have been on the low end of AAA ball for years."

U.I.L. speech and drama teacher David Porter felt that Ozona's position in speech and literary and journalism events would, in the long run, improve "year to year at the AA level. Porter cautioned against a dramatic upturn by Ozona in these events, by noting that many of the schools in Ozona's U.I.L. district were winners in the past.

Ozona High School Athletic Director Rip Sewell referred to the change as simply "a game of numbers. This AA designation will put the numbers in our favor. Overall, this will effect our win-loss record, as we will no longer be at the bottom of the classification.

"Ozona has been in the AAA classification for 16 of the last 18 years," Sewell noted. The only time Ozona was in AA was during the 1979-80 and 1980-81 school years.

"I definitely feel things here are on the upswing," Sewell said. For every 10 boys trying out for the team, there will be one good athlete. When you field 70 on a football team and another school in the district fields 130, there is going to be a marked difference in the quality of team fielded," Sewell concluded.

Filing ends .....

Filing for the May 3 Democratic Primary ballot ended Monday with only two incumbents unopposed.

Judge A. O. Fields and County Clerk Debbi Puckett drew no opposition.

In the justice of the peace race, Incumbent Raymond Davee will be on the ballot along with David Weant and Jerry Lay.

Precinct 2 commissioner B. W. Stuart is asking re-election. Others in the race for that position are Jerry Hill and Billy Carson.

Precinct 4 commissioner Jesus "Chuy" Castro will be challenged in his bid for re-election by Carlos Lopez and B. R. "Jody" Conaway.

District Judge Brock Jones has also filed for a place on the ballot. He is unopposed.

Absentee voting in the May election will begin April 14 and continue through April 29.

Ozona students place well at Eldorado meet

Ten Ozona High School students participated in a practice UIL speech and literary meet Saturday, February 1, at Eldorado.

T. C. Tucker took a first place medal in editorial writing and a fourth place in feature writing. He also competed in news writing.

Amy Beth Scoggins walked away with a second place medal for prose as well as participating in headline writing.

Summer Shacklette advanced to the finals in prose to place fifth in that event.

Mark Sanchez advanced to the finals in persuasive speaking and competed in number sense.

Copie Davis took part in headline and news writing while Linda Villarreal competed in feature writing.

Richard Borrego, Scott Denman, and Isabel Benitez competed in number sense. Jesse Castillo and Benitez participated in the spelling contest, also.

Ozona students will compete again at Reagan County High School on February 8.

from one precinct to another or persons who wish to register to vote must do so before the April 3 cut off date says County Clerk Debbi Puckett. Voters will not be allowed to vote in any precinct other than the one in which they are registered. Registration or address changes for voters must be done at the office of Tax Assessor Tommy Stokes. Absentee balloting will be held in the Clerk's Office.

Conaway files for Pct. 4

B. R. "Jody" Conaway announced his candidacy this week for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct 4, of Crockett County, Texas.

Conaway has been a resident of Crockett County for the past 26 years. As an employee of Ozona Gas Processing Plant for 22 years and as Superintendent of the plant for the past 16 years, he has been actively involved in working with the people, and is aware of the needs of Precinct 4.

"I have lived in this precinct for the past 20 years and the boundaries of Precinct 4 encompass the majority of the holdings for which I am responsible," says Conaway.

He went on to say, "In seeking election as County Commissioner of Precinct 4, I feel that I can make a contribution to our precinct and to Crockett County. The position of County Commissioner is one of utmost importance and responsibility which I would fill with honesty and fairness."

Jody and his wife, Shirley Ann, live on the plant site, two miles south of the township on Highway 163.

Honored at the 1986 Chamber of Commerce Banquet were Steve Sanchez, Young Citizen of the Year; Judge A. O. Fields, Citizen of the Year; Mrs. Myrtle Post, Unsung Heroine; and Ozona Woman's League as Organization of the Year. League President Carmen Sutton accepted the award on behalf of the organization.

Granddaughter of Ozonans receives award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Sonya Gibson has been named a United States National Award winner in English.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Sonya, who attends Christoval High School, was nominated for this award by Nelda Nowlin, an English teacher at the school. Sonya will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Sonya is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Gibson. Her grandparents are Alice McKinney of Christoval and Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Carter of Ozona.

Workouts help boys become bigger, faster and stronger

As an outgrowth of the recent Bigger, Faster, Stronger seminar held at Ozona High School last month, a new program is underway for boys in the 7th through the 12th grades. This program is free to all Ozona students who wish to better themselves physically, Bobby Aycock, co-sponsor of the program, said.

"The program has now been underway four weeks. We really want to get more students involved," Aycock said.

The BFS workouts are being held at the Ozona High School field house at 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The program is designed to do just what it is called. The routine is a combination of weight lifting, agility drills and running.

Students may join the program at any time. It is hoped that the session can continue during the summer, Aycock, a co-founder of the West Texas Masters Track Meet, said. "There is close supervision of all participants. We really want to encourage fathers to watch the development of their sons."

"We especially invite those who want to be bigger, or stronger or faster," Aycock said.

For a student to obtain the best results, all meetings must be attended. Records are kept as a part of the program, and "it is real pleasing to see the boys' eyes light up when they see the progress they have made," said Aycock. "This is a momentum builder, as well as a body builder." A student does not have to be involved in any of the school sports programs to participate in BFS.

Coach Jim Green is assisting with the new program. Any interested boy may drop by the high school field house and watch some of the students work out after 5:30 p.m.

Commentary

It started out, soaring toward the heavens on a windy Florida Tuesday morning. It ended, with an explosion like an atom bomb, ten miles high. When it was over, America had lost seven of its own - seven brave heroes, including a high school teacher who wanted to teach the world about space.

Everyone will remember what they were doing the moment they heard of the Challenger Space Shuttle disaster. It was press day, and we at THE NEWS were struggling to meet our afternoon deadline.

We all continued to do our work, but we had knots in our throats, sick feelings in our stomachs. We were all sad over the deaths of people we never met, yet were a part of us.

Heroes hold a special place in the lives of Americans. We often put on a pedestal our political and entertainment leaders, but there are heroes right here in Ozona. Men, women, and children here are facing family illness, separation, and yet heroically going on, becoming heroes in their own homes and families if not the world.

This untimely explosion served to remind us of our local heroes. The space shuttle explosion brought this nation and world a sense of grief, and the child's question of "Why did this happen?" Perhaps we will never be able to know why it happened, but we can be comforted by a belief and faith that we as Americans will continue to reach the stars.

Exhibit reaches out to many

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

The grand opening of the Sesqui-centennial Indian Exhibit at the Crockett County Museum was a "tremendous success", according to museum curator Violene Stanton.

"I thought the grand opening was terrific," said museum director Geneice Childress. "Our efforts were appreciated and well received. The exhibit is very informative. It details the life and environment of Indians who lived in this county before us."

An added attraction for opening day was a demonstration on methods of making arrowheads by Rick Bachman.

Approximately 136 persons attended the Sunday open house, Mrs. Stanton said. There were 115 local citizens, one person from the Republic of South Africa, two persons from Georgia, two persons from Indiana and 16 from other parts of Texas.

Out-of-town opening day visitors included: Dorothy Askins of Pumpville, Myrtle and Carl Malone of Pandale, J. Ray and Lois Martin of Coleman, Raymond Cox Jr., Evelyn Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layton, Ronnie Taylor and Sara Taylor, all of Livingston, Fred and Jeanne Wade of Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Naska and son Pete of Rankin, William G. DeKirk of Republic of South Africa, Bob and Ellen Greeley of Latayette, Indiana, Malcolm Tweedy of Fort Davis, Mary Daniels of Atlanta, Georgia, and Jack Davis of Palestine.

Serving as hostesses for the grand opening were Ann Childress, Camille Jones and Cathy Carson. Alleane Jones manned the museum's new book store. This store will "contain outstanding, informative quality books for all ages," Mrs. Childress said.

Persons who contributed to the exhibit include: Geneice Childress, Lonnie Van Ness, Don Smith, Violene Stanton, the Texas Historical Commission, Mrs. Dick Short, Dr. Robert Mallouf, Mrs. W. T. Stokes, Dr. Glenna Dean, Fred Freeman, Patricia Mercado-Allinger, Beecher Montgomery, Dr. Curtis Tunnell, Jimmy Freeman, Mark Parson, The Ozona Stockman, Totsie Hagelstein, Peggie Macio, Nola Montgomery, Kevin Mason and the Petroleum Museum in Midland.

Others assisting include: Tom Everett, Ted White, Ed Rowland, Carey Beherends, Billy Mills, Susan Williams, Vera Del Allen, Martha Gries, Texas Memorial Museum of Austin, Lynn Deaton, Bobby Vargas, Joan Nicholas, Mary Jo Mason, Dorothy Montgomery, Ann Childress, Jim White, Joycelyn Graves, Herbert Kunkel, The Crockett County News, Camille Jones, Scotty Moore, Clara B. # Chamber goals

More than 200 persons crowded into the Civic Center auditorium for the Chamber of Commerce banquet. The music, with Judy Reagar as soloist and Sara Hignight as pianist, started the festivities at 6:30 p.m. Mrs. Reagar entertained the gathering crowd with old favorites such as "Strangers in the Night", "Let It Be Me", "Moon River", "People", "Once in Every Hour" and closed with the song "Steve" honoring Dr. Steve Sessom, president of the Chamber of Commerce, to the tune "Mame".

Following the invocation given by First Baptist Church minister Rev. Jim Gray, the banquet, catered by Charlie Frazier of Charlie's Place, began. Baked chicken, scalloped potatoes, peas, corn, cole slaw and cherry cobbler provided a sumptuous feast for everyone. The tables were decorated with red dyed yucca seed pods, dried statice and white bow centerpieces, provided by the Myrtle Post Garden Club.

During a welcoming speech by Dr. Sessom, the goals and activities of the Chamber of Commerce were outlined. Dr. Sessom noted the absence of Beth Boyd, secretary and manager of the Chamber. Mrs. Boyd was in San Angelo due to the illness of her husband, Leonard.

Among the year-long activities sponsored by the Chamber are the annual tennis tournament, the quarterly blood drive, the Halloween Carnival, deer lease listings and new Christmas decorations.

"We now have new Crockett County maps at the Chamber office," Dr. Sessom said. "We are re-evaluating our function and feel that we have become a real Chamber of Commerce. We are working on solutions which would encourage new businesses to come to Ozona. The Chamber of Commerce is an information center. We want to develop community pride and help people realize how wonderful this community is."

Sessom noted that economic times are difficult for the county now, with the recent drought and the continuing oil and gas industry slowdown. Ozona has lost businesses and families. "I am, however, encouraged by the movement of new families to this area," said Sessom.

The Chamber of Commerce recently conducted a consumer opinion survey, Sessom revealed. Though final results of the survey will not be known for two months, "the overwhelming theme cited by everyone interviewed was that this is a wonderful place."

Those who had purchased 10 or more tickets or sponsored tables were then recognized. They included Oscar Kost, FESCO, Crockett County Water District, J. B. Miller, South Texas Lumber Company, Energas, S. M. Sessom, D.D.S., J. Cleo Thompson, Inn of the West and Wool Growers.

Guest speaker Billie Scott of Austin enraptured the audience with her moving dramatizations of women of Texas.

Her first character was Jane Long, known as the Wife of Mississippi and the Mother of Texas. Jane married Dr. James Long in 1815, and they moved to Richmond Virginia, where her daughters, Rebecca and Ann, were born. They later moved to Fort Bolivar and heard the Indians nearby, Mrs. Scott said. Jane's husband went to Mexico, leaving behind his wife and family. After a time, Mrs. Long, her servant and a child were all who were left at the fort. "We fired a cannon at the Indians and ran my red petticoat up the pole as a flag. We had promised James we would not leave the fort. James was killed in Mexico. You can make all kinds of promises, but they don't have to all come true." With her faithful servant, Kian, Mrs. Long and her family moved to Brazoria where she established a boarding house. The merry widow, Jane Long, never remarried, because she only loved one man. She died in 1880 at the age of 82.

The second character portrayed by Mrs. Scott, Kian, the servant of Mrs. Long, told how prejudice faded away with her mistress. "When I'se sick and she was birthing a baby, she nursed me well again," Kian related.

The third character to come alive was Hannah Este Burnet, the first lady of Texas. "My husband was David G. Burnet. He was asked to go to San Felipe for the convention of 1833. On March 17, 1836, he was appointed ad interim president of the Republic. Two of our children died during the fight for Texas independence. Burnet was defeated by Sam Houston during the political battle that fall, Hannah Burnet remembered bitterly. "We retired to Oakland, and on October 30, 1858, I died. My husband said on my death, I died the death of a righteous person and am forever blessed."

The third wife of Sam Houston, Margaret Lea Houston, then came to life. Mrs. Houston told of the tale when her son, Sam Houston Jr., locked the senate in their chambers and took the key. "I'm so glad I can tell you about my children, six daughters and two sons. Everyone said I was too soft for Sam, that our marriage would never last."

The next woman, Angelina Eberly, was anything but angelic in her relations with Sam Houston. Mrs. Eberly, keeper of the keys to the Texas Archives in 1842, wanted to keep the archives in Austin. Houston felt that Austin was too close to the frontier, and wanted them moved to Houston. "When the men came in the middle of the night to get the archives, I fired a cannon. I haven't seen those men again. Austin is our capital - I started the original ERA," Mrs. Eberly exclaimed.

A second woman, Pamela Mann, also related her battle with Sam Houston. During a trip, Mrs. Mann and her family, with their two oxen, ran into Sam Houston and his "pathetic group of soldiers. He spied our oxen. He wanted to use the oxen to pull the Twin Sisters (cannon) to Harrisburg, but it was already in the hands of Santa Anna." Mrs. Mann was insistent about going to Nacogdoches to escape the fighting. Pamela Mann then apologized to the ladies in the house. In 1839, she and her husband had run gambling house and stated, "if you only knew what we had to do to make a living."

Mrs. Scott's closing remarks were directed to the courageous men who have sacrificed to the defense of our country.

"Pray we will appreciate these brave young men. Freedom is never free. Help build a better world... don't ask how. Don't say you're too old or too young...take God's gifts and use them to be a better human."

"Duty is what I must do...not what the people think."
Ralph Waldo Emerson

Thank you, Dear Friends

for your encouragement when I indicated I would like to serve as County Judge. Now that Judge Fields has filed for re-election I will not be a candidate as I do not choose to run against a friend.

I am still really interested in County Government and encourage each of you voters to ask the candidates to express themselves concerning the vital issues of the day, including the operation of the hospital, protection of our fresh water, maintenance of County Roads and prosecution of law violators.

I will continue working to assist in finding solutions to these and other problems.

Cubs win Big Lake tourney

By T. C. Tucker

Just as the girls did, the Cubs had to compete against Big Lake for the championship title.

As always, the Cubs warmed up in the opening quarter, then ran away with the game, winning 30-16.

"We played like a team again," said Coach Don Payne. "Not like the first game of the tournament."

Lalo Rodriguez led scorers with seven points. Chris Denman and Luis DeLaGarza followed with six each. Roger Martinez led rebounders with eight.

Cubs 26, Rankin 24

In the first game of the tournament, each boy was in a different position than what he was accustomed to, and as Coach Payne put it, "It was our worst game of the year."

Rankin's team had a 6'1" player who overpowered the Cubs in the first half.

Lalo Rodriguez was moved to point guard and would not let Rankin's big player score as he did in the first half. Rodriguez did well in denying the pass to the big guy.

Pete Ramirez led scorers with 11 points. Denman led with eight rebounds.

Cubs 37, McCamey 22

McCamey was tough, but compared to Rankin, the game was a picnic.

Throughout the tourney, the Cubs played better each game.

Ramirez once more led in the Cubs' scoring with 12 points. Denman followed with 11. Denman and Rodriguez led in rebounds with six and five respectively.

Lady Lions lose two games

By T. C. Tucker

The Lady Lions have continued to encounter misfortune during their district games. Having to travel for both of their games last week to Sonora and Coahoma, the drives may have worn the girls down somewhat.

Ozona started out ahead in their game with Sonora, but lost the lead in the final seconds of the second quarter when Sonora hit four free throws one right after the other.

In the third quarter, one team would score several points and then the other would follow suit. The Lady Lions finished the third quarter one point behind Sonora.

Sonora slammed into the hoop 15 unanswered points in the fourth quarter before Ozona scored one. When Ozona did score, it was too late and too little. Ozona found their hands full of another defeat, 31-41.

Scoring leaders for the Lady Lions were Stacy Lay with ten points, Julie Reagar with seven, and Lydia Pena with six. Lay led in rebounds with 12, while Vickie Reagar had six. J. Reagar was steal leader with five.

The Lady Lions could not break the press in Friday night's game at Coahoma. That was the main problem in the first quarter. When they finally broke the press, they could not put the ball into the hoop.

With the first quarter ending 8-16 in favor of Coahoma, the Lady Lions came out in the second quarter and pulled within three, but that was all.

The game was fairly even in the second half, Ozona being able to sink more of their shots. However, Coahoma burst out toward the end of the quarter and led 45-32 at the end of the quarter.

Ozona seemed as if they might rally to the point of re-taking the lead in the fourth quarter. But Coahoma themselves rallied and stormed away with the game, 59-42. Zelda Munoz led the Lady Lions with 17 points, followed by Vickie Reagar with ten. Munoz and Sharon McCrohan led in rebounding with five apiece. Julie Reagar followed with four. McCrohan was stealing leader with three.

The Lady Lions' final game will be played here February 7 with games starting at 6:30. Everyone is expected to come out and support Ozona in their game against Colorado City.

Continental Singers to appear

The Continental Singers and Orchestra, a worldwide contemporary Christian musical group, will be performing their dynamic new program "All Over the World - Let Them See Jesus" next Thursday, February 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Ozona High School Auditorium.

Featuring 25 vocalists and a 10-piece orchestra, the Continentals' program is an energetic look at the command of Christ to "go into all the world and make disciples." It contains songs by some of today's foremost Christian composers and arrangers designed to challenge the audience and motivate them to take action in sharing their faith. Ken Waggoner, executive vice president of Continental Ministries, explains that "All Over the World" is a musical 'Great Commission'. We are expected by God to take the gospel to the world and reach people - one by one. It can start right here with our neighbors and extend out to people in the most obscure parts of the earth."

The concert reflects that viewpoint as it encourages Christians to open their hearts to "a world in need of the answers only Jesus Christ can supply". Waggoner speaks adamantly, "if we truly believe what we say we believe, then we must tell others about Him".

Now in their 19th year of operation, The Continental Singers will send out 18 tours to take this message to all 50 states and approximately 32 countries throughout the world.

The Continentals are well known for utilizing a variety of musical styles to convey their theme. This year's program will incorporate a contemporary approach with bright arrangements and strong lyrical content. Waggoner promises that it will "cause people to sit up and take notice. We want them to be moved and motivated."

The Ozona concert is being sponsored by First Baptist Church.

For those interested in touring with The Continentals as vocalists, instrumentalists, or technicians, auditions will be held after the concert.

A Preacher's Pondering

Ralph O. Moore

Minister

Ozona Church of Christ

The first waves of shock had hit the nation as the space shuttle and its seven member crew went down in a fiery catastrophe before our very eyes. The news media, always hungry for a leak, and anxious to be the one to "break the story", immediately began interrogating officials concerning the mishap.

Indicating the tragedy might be reason to suspend manned space flights, reporters were capitalizing on the deaths of the seven Americans as the impetus to end exploration of "the last frontier". The deaths of these seven, a terrible calamity I assure you, was being exploited because it was on national center-stage, a prime-time spectacle of horror.

Senator Jake Garn of Utah, responding to reporters, acknowledged the great loss and mourned its occurrence, but put things into proper perspective by calling attention to the number of deaths on our highways due to drunk drivers without ever raising media eyebrows. He has a point.

Death is often difficult to deal with, and the death of the seven aboard Challenger certainly leaves our nation a difficult moment to overcome. But the deaths of literally thousands, those killed by drunks on our roads each year, are not pulled into such a spotlight of national attention.

Those killed by drunk drivers are people, too. They are both military and civilian, black and white, mothers and fathers. They come from varied professions - including teachers! They, too, leave behind people who mourn their loss. Their deaths leave family, friends, and business associates with adjustments to make.

I'm afraid we have misjudged the value of life, and that we have evaluated death on the merits of its national exposure rather than on its reality and hurt.

If seven deaths on a space vehicle can spark national attention, outpourings of grief from every sector, and immediate investigations in industry and congress - why can't fifty thousand deaths on our highways do it?

If we are going to be so concerned about delaying the space program until we find the cause that prevents its happening again, why can't we be as concerned about jailing the drunk instead of letting him go out to kill again?

I lament the deaths of these seven Americans. I mourn their loss and feel deep sympathy for their families. But I feel just as much grief for those who have died at the hands of an intoxicated killer on our highways. It should make no difference whether one's death is seen by many or hidden in obscurity as to the attention it gets and the sorrow it spawns - the pain is still there.

I hope that we never lose our national compassion. It is good, at such a time as this, to see the sympathetic chords of our country being touched - but, the fact remains, we should also be sensitive to the senseless killing and maiming of ordinary people every day by drunken drivers.

The purest love is that consuming, absorbing desire for, and delight in, another's highest good.

We don't have to change, grow and be good to be loved by God. We are loved so that we can change, grow and be good.

TEAMS tests begin Feb. 11

The Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) tests given to students in odd numbered grades (1, 3, 5, 7, 9 and 11) simply provide a tool to determine students' overall strengths and weaknesses, a tool to grade the Crockett County school system and a barometer for teachers to gauge their classes' performance, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Ted Cotton.

The testing schedule will be February 18-19 for grades 3 and 5 with make up day February 20. Grade 7 will be tested February 11, 12 and 13 with the make up day scheduled for February 14.

Grade 9 will be tested February 18, 19 and 20 with the make up day set for February 20.

The first grade will take the test at a date to be determined later, sometime in April. The 11th graders took the test in October. Individual teachers will administer the test in grades 3 and 5. Jim Williams, Ozona High School counselor will oversee the testing in grades 7 and 9.

The TEAMS concept is an outgrowth of the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) test, which was mandated by the Texas State Senate Bill 350 in 1979, Cotton explained. The original TABS, like the present TEAMS test, established minimum statewide competencies in mathematics, reading and writing for students in grades 5 and 9. In 1981, grade 3 was added to the statewide testing program.

"The school system is able to see where students need help. The school system can then plan its curriculum to ensure that students get additional help in problem areas, Cotton said.

"Failure of the test does mean a student will not be promoted. The only time promotion is refused is when it is in the best interest for the student and for students not passing the exit level (grade 11) TEAMS test (even these students have an opportunity to pass the test four times)."

TEAMS adds to the total picture of each student, of each class, and of the overall system. Class grades as well as I.Q. or achievement tests add to this total picture. Until this year, there was no set overall passing score for students in grades 3 or 5. "The state has now established a passing score for each portion of the test," explained the four-year superintendent of schools and former teacher and principal.

The TEAMS test zeros in on specific objectives that students are supposed to know at each grade level. An I.Q. test, on the other hand, tests a students' ability level, as compared with a national norm.

The TEAMS oriented curriculum composes slightly more than 10 percent of the total classroom curriculum at each grade level, Cotton said.

In order for a student to achieve mastery of a test objective, he or she must answer three of the four multiple choice questions correctly. Each year, the test is updated and new objectives are included.

The high scoring objectives are eliminated from the test, and replaced with harder testing objectives, Cotton continued. "Parents can't help students prepare for TEAMS because it is based on things the student has learned since kindergarten, sort of like educational building blocks."

Prohibitive costs of administering the test restrict the test to being held every other year, instead of each year. Teachers in each grade can evaluate the test results and plan their lessons accordingly.

According to the Crockett County Consolidate annual performance report for 1984-85, student scores for Ozona, as compared with this region and the state as a whole, have improved slightly since the 1980-81 school year. The improvement is more marked in the lower grades (3, 5). Overall the test results here compare favorably as compared with both the region and state scores.

The tests are graded in Iowa City, Iowa by a national testing firm. Results are usually back by mid-April. Following evaluation by teachers, parents are sent a copy of their child's individual test results, Cotton said.

TEAMS provides a part of "our total evaluation. We are trying to do what is best for each student. We want students to have success in the classroom. We have a wonderful group of students, and the best teachers. We feel that success builds a positive self image for both students and teachers," Cotton said.

Cotton, in his 21st year with the Crockett County School System, came to Ozona in 1965, following his graduation from East Texas State University. Like many other school professionals, he feels HB 72 has taken "so much away from the school system. Because of the Crockett County tax structure (based on taxable wealth), the school system is eligible for very little state aide.

"The state has mandated so many new state programs and yet not allowed any funding for them. Some ideas, like the pre-kindergarten program, are excellent. The no pass/no play rule really hurts the marginal student. I am in favor of a shorter three week suspension."

Cotton started out in the classroom teaching fifth grade and junior high english. Though he thoroughly enjoys his present job, Cotton, who served as elementary school principal for 10 years, clearly misses the interaction with students.

Cotton, like other teachers here, likes the students, is concerned about them, and works with them for a better school system.

Shorty Flannagan was presented a watch and plaque from Crockett County last week upon his retirement from the Road Department after 20 years. Pictured with Flannagan are B. W. Stuart and Chuy Castro, commissioners, and Flannagan's son, Jim Bob.

Shorty Flannagan retires from County

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

For some, retirement after years of service to a company is a simple decision that they make and enjoy. For Granville "Shorty" Flannagan, who retired from the Crockett County Road Department January 31 after 20 years of service, the time was right.

Flannagan, a small, wiry man with six children, professes he has had a rough life. "I started working after quitting school in third grade," said the soft spoken man. The retired welder was not content to work just five days a week. Because of his large family, he felt he had to work seven days a week. On weekends, since 1950, he has dug water wells, first for Hugh Gray and then for the late Dub Stokes and now for Tommy Stokes.

"We moved to Ozona in 1928 from Lamesa when I was four years old. I worked for Hugh Gray for 10 years after I quit school digging water wells," Flannagan reminisced.

Flannagan feels that Ozona has changed a lot since he first moved here with his family. "I remember when Highway 163 was not paved. I am a small town guy. I don't like big towns. This community has been my life."

Flannagan's entire life has centered around his work and trying to provide for his family. "I just live one day at a time. I thought I had to go to work when I quit school. I thought I was smarter than the teacher."

His long-time boss, Tommy Stokes, plans to keep the hard working man busy. "He is like a member of the family. He worked for my father, Dub Stokes. He is still digging wells for me," said Stokes.

Unlike many families, Flannagan's children have all remained in Ozona. After being awarded a watch and a plaque from the Crockett County Commissioners Friday, Flannagan's family honored him with a surprise party at the Civic Center Saturday.

Road Department employees Commissioners B. W. Stuart and Chuy Castro, County Auditor Dick Kirby and Tax Assessor Tommy Stokes attended the Friday afternoon presentation ceremony which concluded with refreshments.

Approximately 50 people gathered

Saturday night to honor Flannagan on his retirement. Cake, coffee, punch, hors d'ouerves, dips and chips were served amid much visiting.

Flannagan and his wife, Frances, enjoy fishing in their limited spare time. Most of their life revolves around their children, Stanley, Janelle Yates, Luneta Carson, Roland, Billy, who is a 7th grader, and Jim Bob, a kindergarten student. They are the grandparents for seven active grandchildren.

The wiry, thin man, who says his time for retirement has come, will be missed. Though small in stature, Flannagan stands 10 feet tall in the eyes of his family, friends, and present boss.

Martha Washington's silver service it is said was the source of the silver that went into the first U.S. coins.

Fatal accidents down in area

By Scotty Moore

A review of Department of Public Safety records for Crockett, Irion and Schleicher Counties for 1984 and 1985 shows a decrease in fatal accidents says DPS Sergeant Kenneth Hailey. Sutton County, also in this sector, has shown an increase.

Total statistics for the four county area show a decrease of 15 percent. "We're looking forward to a good year," Hailey said of 1986. "We're already showing a decrease."

CHECK YOUR FILTER

A Clean Filter Will Help You To Save Money In Home Energy Bills.

The purpose of a filter in your heating or air conditioning air blower is to help catch dust and dirt before it can enter your unit. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt. If it gets clogged, your filter won't be able to do the cleaning job it is supposed to and your unit will use more electricity.

To avoid damage to your unit and to save energy and money, be sure your filter is clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to manufacturer's instructions. Non-permanent filters should be replaced.

West Texas Utilities recommends checking the filter in your heating unit once every 30 days to help keep your system in top operating condition.

For additional conservation tips contact your local WTU office.

Remember REDDY Supplies the energy— but only YOU can use it wisely!

Rachel's reviews

By Rachel O. Hall

Response to the Fit For Life series has been good. An orientation class was held February 4. Anyone who missed the orientation class and is interested in the 12 week course should contact the County Extension Office on or before February 7.

The Crockett Heights Extension Homemaker Club will be meeting February 11, 9:30 a.m. at Goldia Kilgore's home. Members are encouraged to bring their favorite food recipe.

How many times have you allowed an overzealous sales clerk to talk you into buying a shoe that doesn't fit? If your shoe doesn't fit properly, chances are you won't feel like wearing them while exercising.

Before buying any type of exercise shoes, take an assessment of your feet. A higher arch or one foot larger than the other is not unusual. The largest foot should be measured from the heel to longest toe. Width should be measured at the widest point of the foot. All measurements should be taken while standing.

The sole composition and flexibility of an exercise shoe refer to the stiffness of the sole. The sole should allow enough flexibility for foot motion and be constructed of materials that are tough enough to withstand shock, but soft enough to cushion. Waffle tread and ripple sole are better for dirt and grass walking or running, while transverse treads are better for street exercise.

The mid-sole should be constructed of flexible material to absorb shock and allow flexibility. A good balance between flexibility and cushioning minimize risk of lower leg injuries such as shin splints and tendonitis.

The heel is one of the most important construction details of a shoe. It should be constructed of rigid material and add stability to the heel and ankle. A soft heel counter leads to rotational injuries of the lower leg, knee and hip. The heel should fit snugly.

The toe box keeps the upper shoe material away from contact with the toes. It should allow free movement of toes with little friction. A tight toe box may cause corns, black toe nails, or cramping. The toes should not touch the end of the shoe. Three-fourths of an inch between toes and top of shoe are recommended.

Other tips for improving your shoe shopping include: shop toward the end of the day when feet are slightly swollen; take along the socks you will be wearing; and walk or run around the store, preferably on a hard surface rather than carpet, to make sure they are comfortable in action.

Informative meetings for League

The Ozona Woman's League started off the month of January with two very good, informative meetings.

On January 14, League members met at the Crockett County Library. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Erby Chandler and Mrs. J. S. Pierce IV.

Dr. Lourell Sutliff, M.D., associated with the Women's Clinic of San Angelo, gave a very informative talk and slide presentation. Dr. Sutliff's topic was estrogen replacement and osteoporosis. League members learned of the dangers women face from lack of calcium and low levels of estrogen.

Dr. Sutliff stated that he or one of his associates are available to give programs to any club or organization. If anyone is interested, please contact the Women's Clinic of San Angelo.

Members attending the meeting were Mmes: Jack Baggett, Jim Bob Bailey, Douglas Bean, Louis Bunger, Bill Carson Jr., Erby Chandler, Fred Chandler, Bob Childress, Dwight Childress, Johnny Childress, Pleas Childress III, Dennis Clark, Vince Huffman, John R. Hunnicutt, Rick Hunnicutt, Roy M. Jackson II, Brock Jones, Carl Malone Jr., Bill Mason, Gary Buck Mitchell, Douglas Moore, J. S. Pierce V, Wade Richardson, Lane Scott, Steve Sessom, Jeffrey Sutton, Gary Vannoy and John L. Henderson.

On January 28, League members met at the Crockett County National Bank. League member and Farmer's Insurance Agent, Mrs. Randy Upham, gave a very informative and interesting talk on women's and children's insurance needs. Mrs. Upham showed members several different types of insurance policies available. She also explained that any type of policy could be drawn up according to the individual's personal needs.

Following the program, a short business meeting was held, with Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton, president, presiding. New officers were elected for the 1986-1988 years. They are: Mrs. Bill Carson Jr., president; Mrs. Gary Vannoy, first vice president; Mrs. Dennis Clark, second vice president; Mrs. Roy M. Jackson II, recording secretary; Mrs. Steve Sessom, treasurer; Mrs. Brock Jones, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bob Childress, public relations; Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton, parliamentarian.

Congressman Loeffler Reports Terrorism: Undeclared war demands strong action by U.S.

President Reagan's announced sanctions against Libya are aimed at exacting a price for Col. Khaddafi's state-sponsored terrorism, but sanctions must be followed by tough measures to combat the undeclared war of terrorism being waged against the free world.

I fully support the President's sanctions, but I also favor any further action which the U. S. takes against cowardly, bloodthirsty madmen such as Khaddafi who send terrorists to take innocent lives. After the airport massacres in Rome and Vienna, Libya's official news agency extolled these bloody episodes as "heroic". Many other incidents attest to the violent crime Khaddafi is directing against the west.

In London, a Libyan "diplomat" murdered a British policewoman. In Cairo, his hired gunmen were caught attempting to kill a Libyan exile. There was a recent hijacking of an Egyptian airliner in which 60 people died in Malta, and the terrorists involved are widely believed to have been trained in Libya.

What upsets me almost as much as these acts of violence is the fact that virtually no other western nation has the courage to join in the sanctions. Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Greece -- none of them have shown any inclination to bring any economic pressure to bear upon Khaddafi's regime. Even the countries where Libyan gunmen have carried out several killings continue to do business as usual with Khaddafi.

It is true that our allies have more at stake economically in refusing to trade with Libya. However, they must realize that Col. Khaddafi's regime represents a threat to all free nations. By refusing to act against governments which believe terrorism is an acceptable method of advancing political goals, the free nations of the world only make the road easier for outlaw nations such as Libya.

By executive order, the President has ordered all Americans to leave Libya and has directed U.S. companies to break off all economic dealings with Libya or face prosecution by the United States. I support this as an initial step, but Congress must provide the President with the intelligence resources that are clearly vital to preventing further acts of terrorism.

President Reagan has undertaken a five-year strengthening of U. S. intelligence capabilities, and as he recently indicated, it has paid off in foiling more than one hundred potential terrorist incidents. Effective intelligence cannot guarantee the safety of our citizens against terrorism, but it aids our government in thwarting such incidents.

The U. S. and other nations must realize that we are the targets in a globally waged, undeclared "shadow" war of terrorism.

In war, a combatant's most valuable resource is intelligence -- knowing or deducing where and how the enemy will strike next and preparing to meet the threat. The best thing the U. S. can do now to fight terrorism is beef up intelligence. Not only will this enable us to thwart terrorism, but we will be accurately and effectively in future better prepared to retaliate swiftly, incidents.

Jean Read works with a computer during last week's watch. 32 attended the ranch oriented seminar. Extension seminar as husband Nat Read and Nancy Hale

Computer seminar has good attendance

Use of microcomputers in ranch management was the subject of a two-day seminar sponsored January 28 and 29 by the Extension Service at Crockett County Public Library. There were 32 participants in the workshop which was designed to provide ranchers and agribusinessmen an opportunity to learn how the computers are being used in ranch management.

The first day's activities began with the presentation of a physical/financial "picture" of an average Crockett County ranch followed by potential range improvements for the mythical ranch. Then the financial feasibility of making range improvements to the ranch were determined by using software available through the Extension Service. Ranchers Phillips Robbins of Fort Stockton and Jeff Sutton of Ozona discussed the use of microcomputers in their individual ranching operations.

Hands-on use of ranch management software in sheep and goat enterprise budgeting and analysis, wildlife and beef cattle budgeting and analysis, forage and range planning and budgeting and ranch financial statements and accounting software for beginners was part of the seminar. Selection of hardware and software was discussed.

Did you know - Texas, the only State in the Union with the right to maintain its own Navy, has its own Air Force, too? And, it's the only one of its kind in the world. It is the Confederate Air Force headquartered at Rebel Field in the Rio Grande Valley town of Harlingen. The C.A.F. has only one mission - to maintain a museum of the great fighter planes used by all sides in World War II. Its ultimate goal is to have a complete line of the fighters in flying condition and ready to go.

Come read more about the C.A.F. in a new book just added to our collection - "Yesterday's Wings." This exciting book by Joseph E. Brown describes the history of the fighter planes of WWII and depicts the efforts of the members of the C.A.F. to rebuild and restore these airplanes. The book contains many full color pictures of planes, but to get the true picture, you need to see

Halley's Comet spurs on book

By T. C. Tucker

Halley's Comet, a once in a lifetime event for many people, returns for a brief visit in the next few months. Along with the comet come the souvenirs, clothing, gimmicks and books.

Comet is such a book. Written by Carl Sagan and his wife, Ann Druyan, Comet is a fact-filled, greatly illustrated book on comets.

Comet is interestingly written with each chapter explaining a different topic on comets. Topics such as "What makes up a comet?", or "How does it relate to our own solar system?" are just a couple of the many found in this book.

The superb paintings, photographs and illustrations scattered throughout the book can enthrall one for many hours. Many of the paintings were specifically designed for this book.

The authors wrote quite a bit of this book in the second person form as if they were sitting in your living room and talking to you directly. Many authors and readers shy away from this type of writing style, but it does exceptionally well for this book. In the opening chapter, one is discovering what it might be like riding on a comet.

Many of the chapters are mini-biographies about certain men who contributed to the studying of comets. Edmund Halley is one of these such men. Halley's biography is considerably longer than those of the other men. No doubt this is due to the appearance of his comet.

The book is very long, but if one does not like long books, he can choose to read the chapters which interest him.

Comet is very popular at this time. And like telescopes, its popularity will decline little by little after Halley's Comet passes us by. However, if one is interested the slightest bit in comets, he should go to the library and study this book.

Comet is currently eighth on the New York Times Best Seller List and is available at the Crockett County Library.
