Fly-In crowd surpasses 1,000

The Ozona Fly-In may have been a little slow in taking off Saturday, Oct. 25, but the Ozona Airport was definitely where the action was as about 1,000 visitors and 30 airplanes came to see what was happening during the day.

The event featured Confederate Air Force planes belonging to members of the West Texas Wing as part of a 29th year celebration of Ozona Airport service, the Texas Sesquicentennial and the 200th anniversary of David Crockett's birthdate. It is also the 29th year of the Confederate Air Force's existence.

No CAF planes were in sight at 10 a.m. when Texas Senator Bill Sims was scheduled to hand over Texas and United States flags to Steve Sessom, Ozona Chamber of Commerce president, who would in turn hand the flags to A. O. Fields, Crockett County judge.

Dignitaries mingled with the small crowd and waited until a few minutes past the scheduled time when a large B-25 bomber belonging to Bill Arnott of Breckenridge appeared accompanied by a black and white Corsair owned by Howard Purdue, also of Breckenridge. The two planes made several passes over the airfield before landing.

Sims congratulated the Ozona Airport on completing 29 years of service to the county and mentioned the Fly-In as part of the Texas Sesquicentennial celebration before handing the two flags, one of which has flown over the state capitol and the other over the national capitol, to Sessom who passed them to Fields.

Boy Scouts George Wall, Rodney Beasley and Tooter O'Bryant accepted the flags from Fields and raised them on the newly erected flagpole before lowering them to half-mast as decreed by President Ronald Reagan. Flags were to be flown at half-mast throughout the weekend in remembrance of Marines killed in Lebanon and American hostages being held there.

What had been promised by the weatherman to be a sunny day turned dark and chilly, threatening rain for a half hour before finally clearing. Several experimental, an-

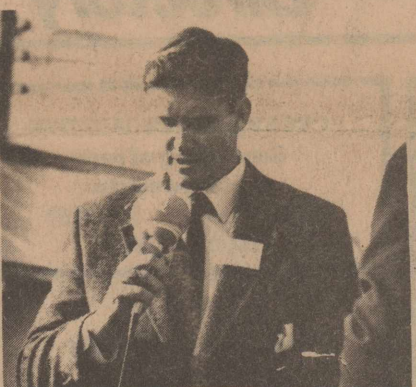

Three BT-13 WWII trainers flying in formation during the Fly-In excited the crowd and one grinning newsmen who used up a roll of 36 trying to capture the once in a lifetime experience.

Seated in the second seat of the first airplane is Bobby Aycock, also grinning from ear to ear. He said he used up two rolls of 36. Pilot of the plane tique and ordinary civilian aircraft as well as a number of CAF warbirds flew in. Some CAF planes did cancel because of threatening weather.

The crowd increased in numbers shortly after the arrival of the first CAF warbirds and remained fairly constant throughout the rest of the day with most individuals spending a couple of hours before leaving. Some stayed the entire day.

"Who could stay home with all those planes flying over the house," one visitor said.

Although advertised as a static display of aircraft, most of the CAF pilots, at one time or another during the day, did check out the flyability of their planes by taking them through a few maneuvers and fly-bys of the airport. A few Ozonans considered themselves fortunate in being invited to go along as passengers.

The B-25 bomber, "Silver Lady", and easily the largest plane on display, was especially popular with visitors. Children and a few adults climbed into the cockpit and checked out the bomb bay throughout the day. The big plane trailed smoke and simulated machine gun fire in fly-bys.

"The Ozona airport runway is fine," B-25 co-pilot Nelson Ezell of Breckenridge said. "But that tower is in the way. I'm surprised that it is allowed to be there."

Ezell referred to the tower standing on Ozona's east hill but said maneuvering around the tower was not too difficult.

Jack Morgan of Christoval and Ray Parrish of Hext, both CAF members and frequent moderators of air shows and fly-ins, donated their time and efforts to speak over a public address system throughout the day, giving history lessons about World War II, cautioning children about climbing onto airplanes and interpreting the activities for visitors.

Halloween Carnival Saturday

Spooks and goblins will be lining up at 5:00 p.m. Nov. 1 for the annual Halloween parade. Entrants are to gather at the Ozona National Bank drive-in area to begin the parade, says Beth Boyd, Chamber of Commerce secretary. Prizes will be given for the best costumes.

A Halloween carnival will begin on the square after the parade circles the block and disbands.

A total of 14 booths had been entered in the Chamber sponsored event by Monday, according to Mrs. Boyd.

The Day Care Center will have a face painting booth and Frank 'n Stuff and Halloweeners.

Pie by the slice can be obtained from the 4-H leaders after working up an appetite at their dunking or basketball booths.

The Lions Booster Club will sell fajitas, Band Boosters will have burritos and balloons, the Eastern Star will sell cotton candy and popcorn, with the K. C. ladies selling chili con carne.

Southside Lions will cook hamburgers and Frito pies, and the Catholic Church booth will sell tamales.

Frustrations will go by the wayside after a visit to the Boy Scouts' car bash. Another booth in the activity line will be the F.F.A. bucking barrel.

Helping Hands for the Elderly will have a game booth, and Alpha Alpha Mu will sponsor the fish pond, bean bag toss, picture taking and caramel apples.

Balloons and cokes will be offered by Beta Sigma Phi.

The Arts and Crafts Guild will have cakes and three crafts booths. The Church of God of Prophecy will also have a craft booth.

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is asking all merchants to get in the Halloween spirit by dressing in costume Friday says Beth Boyd.

Prepares for regional Band captures superior rating

By Allison Larisa Schoenhals

The Ozona Lion Band journeyed to Brady Saturday, Oct. 25, to compete for a coveted "1" rating in the district marching contest which would enable them to advance to regional competition.

The group marched at 2 p.m. as one of twelve Class AA bands. When the results were announced, band members and fans learned that the Ozona band and that of Eldorado

High School were the only two earning "1" ratings.

Director Kelly Glaze and assistant director Eric Wharton made good on their promises to perform cartwheels in the parking lot to the delight of waiting bandmen after the ratings announcement.

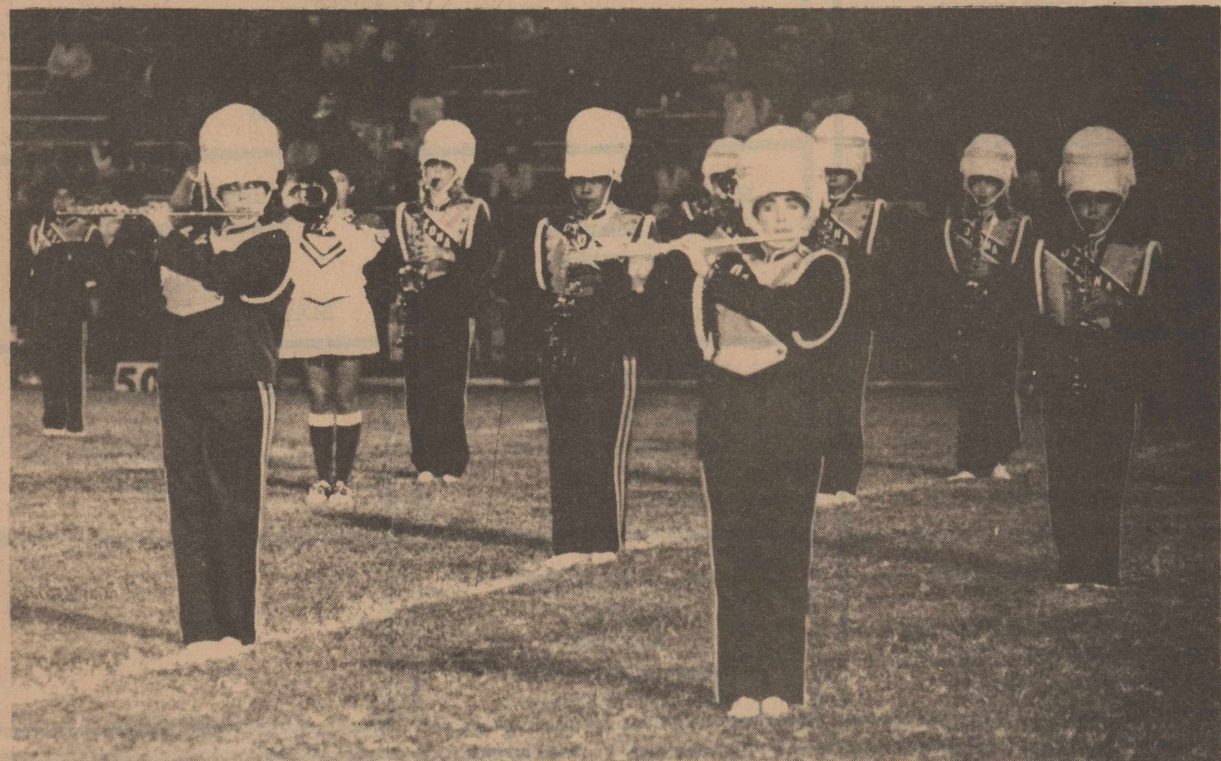

Several fans arrived in Ozona ahead of the three band buses, alerting the town to the top rating. Deputy sheriffs met the buses at Midway Lane and provided an escort into town and around the square before arriving at the band hall. The escort was complete with sirens and flashing lights.

"I'm very proud of the kids and the job they did," Wharton said. "In order to get to state they are going to have to work as hard as they have been and not slack off."

The regional contest will take place at Baylor University Stadium in Community Center reaches half-century mark

The Ozona Community Center will celebrate its 50th anniversary on Sunday, November 2, from 2:00 until 5:00 p.m. at the Community Center Building. Opening ceremonies will be held at 2 p.m., and the public - and especially all former students - are invited to the open house from 2:30 to 5:00.

The Community Center has been a vital part of the community for 50 years. The center was a dream come true in 1936 for the Woman's Missionary Society of the Ozona Methodist Church. Two workers were hired for the 1937 summer months, and a full-time staff member, Miss Mary Riddle, was appointed to develop a program of work for the Center.

With a large contribution from the Robert and Mary Massie Foundation and with the help of many local citizens, the present stone building was constructed. Later a wing was added on the north end to provide space for the growing kindergarten program. This addition was also funded by the Massie Foundation. Major repairs and renovations were needed after the flood in 1954, and in 1963 a brick home was completed for the use of the staff.

A board of directors, which meets monthly, forms the guiding group for the center. Its membership represents the entire community. The current members are: Marilyn Cox, president; Virginia Cotton, vice-president; Darolyn Webster, secretary; Beverly Evans, treasurer; and, Lara Sue Baggett, Esmi Barrera, Cathy Carson, Becky Childress, Elizabeth Clark, Jill Crawford, Felice Gutierrez, Lucille Harrell, Ken Harrison, Marissa Lara, Leticia Macias, Tommie Pena-Alfaro, Kathryn Russell, Fannie Sanchez, Walter Spiller, Nancy Vannoy, Linda Vasquez and Belinda Wilkins.

The main program of the center is an early childhood development program for three and four-year-old children - open to all families in the community. Mrs. Stella Valadez is currently director of the center and is assisted by Del Perez. The goal of the program is to increase the children's potential for success in later school programs.

For Us

Charles Huffman, Pastor
Hope Lutheran Church, Sonora
Faith Lutheran Church, Ozona

"I was crucified with Christ, and I don't live anymore, but Christ lives in me. The life I now live in my body I live by believing in the Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me." - Galatians 2:20

We may know everything that there is to know about Jesus Christ and still not properly know Him. The saving knowledge of God's Son is to know Him in everything as being FOR US. When we read what the Gospel has to tell us about the Son of God, in faith we add to every part of it: He is that and He did that FOR US.

When Jesus was born at Bethlehem, He was laid in a manger because there was no room for Him at the inn. He was laid in a manger FOR US, that we might lie in the welcoming arms of God. He lived His perfect and holy life FOR US, that we might be holy with His holiness before God. When Jesus died at Calvary, He was nailed to a cross because there was no room for Him in our kind of world. He died the death of curse FOR US (Galatians 3:13), that we might be blessed beyond death by God. He rose from the dead FOR US, that by living and believing in Him we might never die to God (John 11:25-26). Forty days after His resurrection, Jesus Christ also ascended into heaven. What does this mean FOR US? For one thing, it means that Jesus went to prepare a place FOR US, so that where He is, we might be also (John 14:2-3).

All things were made by Him, but when He came to His own people He was not welcomed (John 1:9-12). And to this day men must either put Him out of the way or accept Him as Savior and Lord. To this day we either condemn Him as a blasphemer (Matthew 26:63-66), or won Him by faith as our Immanuel, as 'God with us' (Matthew 1:23).

Yet the cross seems to disprove every claim that Jesus ever made. How could He possibly be the Son of God? (Mark 9:7) How could God love Jesus when He wouldn't even deliver Him? (Mark 15:34) How could He offer to save others when He couldn't even save Himself? (Luke 23:35).

This is the way it looks from afar, when we see the Cross of Christ without seeing ourselves involved in it. But when we draw near, so near that we see Jesus Christ dying for us sinners, then we know that this has to do with God's love FOR US (1 John 4:10).

But Jesus' ascension into heaven also has another reason FOR US who trust only in His death and resurrection as the way of salvation and eternal life. He makes intercession FOR US at the right hand of God (Romans 8:34). He always keeps His eye of love on His people. When Christ Jesus sees us in a particular difficulty, sorrow, illness, or terrible fall into sin, He turns to His Father and asks that for His sake God will still regard us as His beloved children. We can be sure that Jesus does this FOR US because He still bears the scars in His hands. And as He pleads FOR US, He shows His Father the scars of His love FOR US, the scars of our salvation.

Drawn near to the Cross of Christ, we see it as our glory - our only glory before God and man. Now we are so near the Cross that we are crucified with Christ and live by faith in the Son of God who loved us and gave Himself FOR US!

Twirling ensemble advances to state

Ozona High School's twirling ensemble received a I rating in district competition Oct. 25, qualifying them for the state meet in June.

Judy Flores, Peggy Knox and Sandra Ramirez and Jennifer Probst performed their ensemble immediately after the band completed its superior performance.

The girls also competed as soloists.

Waco Saturday, Nov. 1. Bandsmen are already looking forward to the competition.

"If we work really hard and get our act together, state is in our hands," said Shawna Newton, flag corps member.

All bands advancing to regionals earned Division I, or superior ratings. Ratings range from I to V, with I being the top rating. Other West Texas high school bands advancing to regional include: Class A Irion County, Class AAA Glenrose and Llano, Class AAAAA Brownwood and Stephenville.

"I feel we did great," drummer Roland DeHoyos said. "We were confident and secure about ourselves this year. We backed each other up through the good times and bad, and the additional support really helped."

DeHoyos expressed further optimism about the future: "We'll do super if we put our heads together and work in unity."

"We've worked really hard, but there's still a lot more work to be accomplished," twirler Peggy Knox said. "District wasn't an easy contest, but we did it."

One bandsman summed up the experience. "There's no stopping us now!"

Addition, please

Omitted from the third grade honor roll, Mrs. Kirby's class, were the names of Lynne Haire and Zack Harrison.

Library has spooky books

"Things are shaping up nicely for our first anniversary celebration at the library," says Louise Ledoux, county librarian. "I now have 20 local authors confirmed for our display and reception. I know there are more out there that I don't know about yet. Don't be shy! Let me hear from you."

"All you kids getting ready for Halloween and planning your costumes, remember, the library has a birthday coming up in November. Save those costumes to wear to the Library Birthday Party as your favorite story book character. Prizes will be given for the best costumes," said Mrs. Ledoux.

"Come by and check out our collection of special books for Halloween. We have mystical books about haunted houses, strange happenings, and graveyards. There are haunted tales of astrology, mythological beasts and enchantment. In secret rooms, find books full of scary stories about ghosts, vampires and witches! It's all at your public library," says Mrs. Ledoux. Have a safe and happy Halloween.

New books at the library include: Keep Your Gift Plants Thriving by Solit Folk Art in Texas by Abernethy The Grapes of Wrath by Steinbeck Les Miserables by Hugo A Farewell to Arms by Hemingway Gods & Mortals by Grant Life - How Did It Get Here? by Watchtower

Alzheimer's Disease Month

There is an Alzheimer's support group in San Angelo and they welcome anyone who is a caregiver or is interested in learning more about Alzheimer's disease. This group meets every third Saturday at the West Angelo Church of Christ at 3200 San Antonio Street.

Interesting topics are discussed each meeting, and programs presented by local doctors, attorneys and laymen provide a lot of educational information. If you are interested in more information on Alzheimer's or the support group, call Jo Davidson at 392-2094.

Derold Vargas

OHS junior Derold Vargas feels a strong commitment to the team. Setting a good example in everything he does is important to Vargas.

The 16-year-old student enjoys riding around, listening to music and meeting new girls.

Andy Trevino

Senior Lion Andy Trevino has strong goals for himself and his team.

Interests away from school and the football field include riding horses, listening to music, hunting and riding around.

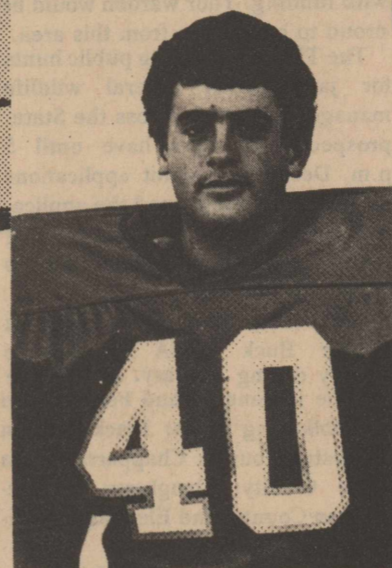

Peter Shacklette

OHS senior Peter Shacklette has been a member of the Lions team throughout high school.

Following high school, Shacklette plans to attend ASU and be a member of the Air Force R.O.T.C. An Air Force career lies ahead for Shacklette.

Personal interests for the 17-year-old student are rebuilding old vehicles, studying history and cruising the drag and looking at girls. Traveling abroad is an interest which he hopes to fulfill through his career.

Bret Hood

Bret Hood has been sidelined for much of the 1986 season with a knee injury, but a good attitude and moral support for the team have been part of his contribution.

The junior student plays football, basketball and golf and sets high goals for himself and the teams.

Away from school, he enjoys hunting, fishing and playing golf.

23 sub fierro Junior OHS student Sub Fierro enjoys playing football, fishing and just hanging out. Becoming the best that he can be is important to the 16-year-old student.

Following graduation, he plans to attend a trade school.

Valdo Galindo

Football and track are the sports which get Valdo Galindo's participation. The 17-year-old senior is shooting for an all-district slot this year in football and hopes to qualify for state in track.

Loud music, sports and spending time with friends occupy Galindo after school.

Chy Flores

Football and basketball claim the attention of senior student Chy Flores. The 18-year-old athlete is striving for an all district honor this season.

After school activities include riding around, listening to music and being with friends.

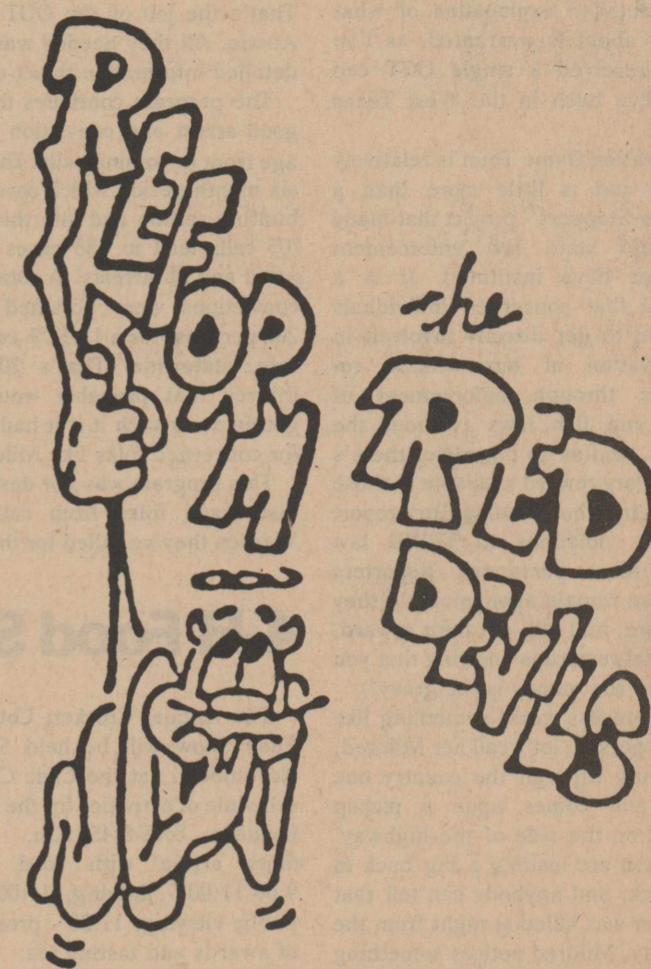

Dean Tambunga

Senior student Dean Tambunga has high goals for himself and his team.

The 17-year-old Tambunga plans to leave Ozona following high school and build his life elsewhere.

For now, his interests include riding around with friends, listening to music and playing his drums.

CROCKETT COUNTY
OUTDOORS
by Rod Chalmers

I am repeatedly surprised to find people who have never heard of Operation Game Thief. I've made mention of this program in other articles in the past, but I think a more detailed explanation of what it's all about is warranted, as I've never received a single OGT call since I've been in the West Texas area.

Operation Game Thief is relatively simple and is little more than a "Crime-Stoppers" project that many city and state law enforcement agencies have instituted. It is a method that concerned individuals can use to get directly involved in conservation of our wildlife resources through enforcement of game and fish laws (without the risks!). And as an incentive, there's a monetary reward available to those going to the trouble to report flagrant violations to TPWD law enforcement personnel. Reporters can even remain anonymous, if they so desire, and still get their reward. (The real reward is knowing that you helped - the money is the gravy!)

The process works something like this. A person, let's call her Mildred, is driving through the country one night and comes upon a pickup parked on the side of the highway. Two men are loading a big buck in the back, and anybody can tell that the deer was killed at night from the highway. Mildred notices something about each man: one's wearing a camouflage T-shirt and's got a beard; the other's heavy-set and wearing a blue feed-company cap. She drives over the hill and slows down till the pickup overtakes and passes her. She notices that it's a red and white Chevy, and the license is 1234-AA, and they turn east on US190 at 10:30 p.m. Mildred pulls in at Gertrude's house, and before they swap recipes, she calls 1-800-792-GAME (toll-free) and gives all that information to the TPWD Communication Center (which operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year). The dispatcher immediately relays this information to the Game Warden in that area, and from that time on, he's got the football. If she gave accurate information, and acted fast, the game thieves are likely to be going to jail instead of home to skin that buck, and they'll never know how they got caught!

It'll also work if Mildred knows about some game-hog that killed six deer on the lease last weekend. Many of our OGT convictions are after-the-fact and put together after extensive investigations. But Mildred's not about to report that Uncle Henry went fishing last weekend without a license, and fact is the OCT program was created to handle cases threatening the resource or public safety, not to create revenue through the sale of licenses.

But back to our deer poaching case. Sometime a few months later, the six-member "Operation Game Thief Committee" (appointees of the Executive Director of TPWD, who serve without pay) met and reviewed all OGT cases of the past six months, and decided to give Mildred, whom they knew only as Number 86-113, a reward of $400 for that toll-free call she made last November. (It would have been better if she had left her name and phone number, in case the Warden had needed more information, but she was afraid the deer-killers might have been bro-in-law Fred and his cousin, and there would be fireworks at home when hubby found out!) Mildred's reward, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the poachers, came from public donations, not taxpayers' money. The money for the fines and subsequent replacement cost of the deer, came from the poachers' hip pockets.

What needs to be clarified here, is that Mildred didn't need to know who the Game Warden in her area was, or what his phone number was, or even what county she was in. That's the job of the OGT folks in Austin. All they needed was timely, detailed information to act upon.

The program continues to give a good arrest and conviction percentage from in-coming calls. During the six month period which covered last hunting season and into the Spring, 705 calls lead to 588 cases investigated and 66 arrests. A total of 168 convictions were obtained against 206 persons, for a 11.12% conviction rate, statewide. That's 206 game thieves that probably would have gotten away with it if it hadn't been for concerned folks like Mildred.

This program was not designed to discourage folks from calling the Warden they've called for the last 10 years. Most of the time, direct communications between the witness and the investigating officer is quicker and surer, but we've had good luck with OGT, too. This is merely a way to impress upon individuals the importance of their observations and active involvement in helping with wildlife conservation in Texas.

Persons or organizations interested in making donations to the OGT fund may contact Capt. Stanley Brooks at TPWD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin 78744.

By the way, thanks go to Jack and Janie Riggs for their help in the past with funding. Your warden would be proud to have more from this area.

The TPWD is offering public hunts for javelina on several wildlife management areas across the State. Prospective hunters have until 5 p.m. Dec. 1 to submit applications for public drawings, and the application forms may be obtained by writing to Austin or picking them up at any TPWD office.

An archery hunt will be held on Walter Buck WMA in Kimble County during January. Gun hunts will be in January and February on the following areas: Black Gap in Brewster County; Chapparral in La Salle County; Daughtrey in McMullen County; and Elephant Mountain in Brewster County.

There will be a $20 charge for those drawn to hunt, but all it costs to apply is a 22 cent stamp.

McMullan horse high seller

Lorelei and Frank McMullan of Ozona raised the high selling horse at the 32nd Hankins Bros. Horse Sale held in San Antonio Saturday, Oct. 25.

Callope Queen, a black two-year-old filly by Poco Hankins out of a King Bars mare, traces back to the famous foundation sire, King, four times and was bought by Molly Arrowsmith from Middlebrook, Virginia for $3,100.

At the sale, 65 head of weanlings, yearlings, mares and stallions averaged $747. The McMullans' 26-year-old stallion, Poco Hankins, sold to Carol Crews Carter of Big Lake. Many Poco Hankins offspring have made topnotch roping and using horses in this area.

Attending the sale with the McMullans were Kay and Eddie Stewart, Lana and Jake, Cliff and Susan McMullan and Jess. Also attending from Ozona were Drake and Shane McKinney.

4-H Food Show Nov. 1

The Annual Crockett County 4-H Food Show will be held Saturday, November 1, at the Civic Center. A schedule of activities for the morning includes: 8:15-8:45 a.m. - contestants arrive with food entries; 9:00-11:00 - judging; 11:00-11:30 - public viewing; 11:30 - presentation of awards and tasting tea.

Prior to the 4-H Food Show, 4-H'ers must complete a project record, menu and recipe form. Project records and menus are judged prior to the food show, while judge's interviews are held the day of the show. The various percentages of competition include: project record (10%), menu (20%), food (20%), and knowledge of nutrition (50%).

There are three age divisions this year: Junior I (ages 8-11), Junior II (Ages 12-13), and Senior (ages 14-19). 4-H'ers may enter one of four categories: snacks and desserts, breads and cereal, main dish, and fruits and vegetables.

Co-chairmen of this year's 4-H Food Show are Sharman West and Janie Chandler. The following 4-H leaders have worked with 88 4-H'ers throughout their foods project: Debbie and Tammy Arrott, Cynthia Flores, Tanya Ramos, Judy Farris, Randi Thompson, Sharman and Trebie West, Nancy Vannoy, Evelyn Keith, Mary Lou Hayes, Kathy Mayfield, Cathy Carson, Carman Sutton, Donna Snyder, Barbara Dominguez, Elsa Vasquez, Lou Whitley, Janie Chandler, Juanita Delgado, Becky Herring, Esmi Barrera, Betty Martin, Sandi Montgomery, Debbie Phillips, Alicia Perez, Sadie Davidson, Belinda Wilkins and Nell Mayfield.

4-H'ers may participate in a foods and nutrition project and choose not to enter the food show. 57 have chosen to participate in this year's food show. Objectives of the 4-H Foods and Nutrition Program include: helping 4-H members develop leadership talents and citizenship; understand the interrelation of science, nutrition and food preparation; understand signs of good health and food needs of different age groups; develop food buying skills; develop management skills in planning, preparation, and nutritious meal service; insure food safety; and to understand the social and cultural roles of food in daily living.

Numerous local businesses have donated awards and supplies for the County 4-H Food Show.

Vote your choice Nov. 4th

The governor's race is expected to be the most hotly contested in the general election slated Nov. 4 with three candidates vying for the position.

Incumbent Democrat Mark White squares off against former governor Republican Bill Clements Tuesday in what appears to be a grudge battle. Clements was ousted from the governorship in 1982 by White.

Libertarian candidate Theresa Doyle is also in the running, but has not attracted the large campaign contributions both White and Clements have commanded.

In the United States Congressional Representative race for District 21 which includes Crockett County, Democrat Pete Snelson faces Republican Lamar Smith and Libertarian Party candidate Jim Robinson.

Democrat Attorney General incumbent Jim Mattox is opposed by Republican Roy R. Barrera Jr. and Libertarian Mike Stephens.

State comptroller Bob Bullock is opposed by only one candidate, Libertarian George Meeks, while state treasurer Ann Richards also faces one opponent, Libertarian Robert F. Reid.

The general land office commissioner's position is sought by Democrat Garry Mauro, Republican M. D. Anderson Jr. and Libertarian Honey Sue Lanham.

Democrat Jim Hightower, Republican Bill Powers and Libertarian Rebecca Reed are all agriculture commissioner candidates.

The state railroad commissioner candidates include Democrat John Sharp, Republican Milton E. Fox and Libertarian Chloe "Jack" Daniel.

State supreme court places are sought by Democrats Oscar H. Mauzy, Robert M. Campbell, Jim Wallace and Raul A. Gonzalez. Republican contenders for the places are Charles Ben Howell who opposes Mauzy while Nathan E. White Jr. faces Campbell and John L. Bates opposes Raul A. Gonzalez. Jim Wallace' only opponent is Libertarian Wiley H. Rawlins.

Court of Criminal Appeals judge positions are sought by Rusty Duncan, Mike McCormick and Marvin O. Teague, all Democrats and uncontested.

District 67 state representative candidates are Democrat Lester Dahlberg and Republican Gerald Geistweidt.

Justices of the Court of Appeals, 8th district, are unopposed. All Democrats, they are Max N. Osborn, Jerry Woodard and Larry Fuller.

At the local level, no candidate faces an opponent in the general election. Candidates include Brock Jones, district judge, 112th judicial district; county judge, A. O. Fields; Debbie Puckett, district and county clerk, and county treasurer, Jim Dudley.

Jerry Hill is the candidate for commissioner of Precinct 2, while Jesus "Chuy" Castro runs unopposed in Precinct 4.

Christine Davee is the justice of the peace candidate.

Voters will also have opportunity to vote on four proposed constitutional amendments.

No. 1 would place the responsibility of distributing among counties property taxes collected on equipment belonging to railroad companies. Under the amendment, the apportionment would be done by the State Property Tax Board, which already calculates the value and draws up the distribution schedule. The Legislature could later designate another distributing body.

The second proposed amendment would require each house to include in its rules of procedure a rule that each bill contain a title expressing the bill's subject. The bill changes the unconditional constitutional requirement that a bill's subject must be completely reflected in its caption. If the bill is passed, the courts could no longer overturn an enacted bill on the basis of a deceptive title.

Amendment 3 would allow counties and other political subdivisions such as cities and school districts to join mutual insurance companies. The constitution prohibits political subdivisions from loaning public money to a corporation or from becoming stockholders. Mutual insurance companies are owned by policy holders who are recognized as stockholders.

Proposed Amendment 4 deals with branch banks. If passed, branches would be limited to three full-service branch banks in the main bank's city or county.

Absentee voting for the Nov. 4 election is being conducted in the law library at the courthouse.

Voting places on Nov. 4 will be: Pct. 1 courthouse, Pct. 2 Ozona Junior High, Pct. 3 Civic Center, Pct. 4 Ozona Primary School and Pct. 36 WTU Power Station.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Scotty,

I enjoy reading your paper. On my next trip home I'll drop by your office to see your setup.

Recently, at an antique and garage sale I came across a print of Fort Lancaster in 1861. It was taken from "Harpers Weekly" - 1861. This is apparently a sketch drawn by an Army Draftsman. I can't recall having seen this before. Thought you might be able to use it someday. Keep up the good work.

Bobby Sutton

Dear Bobby,

It is good to hear from you after so many years!

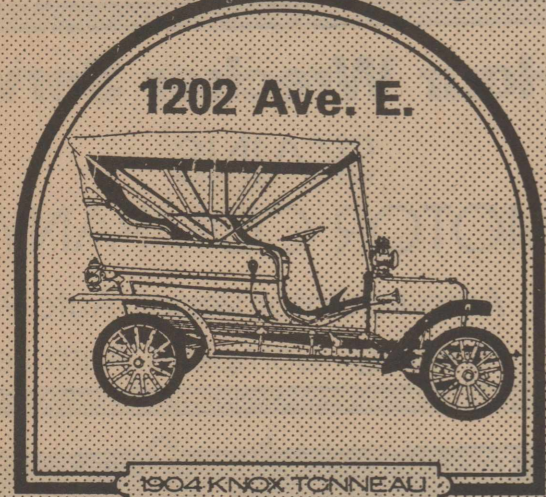

The print is interesting, and I, too, have never seen it in print. Please do come by for a visit on your next trip back to "Our Hometown". I see your Mother and Father quite frequently and enjoy them a lot.

For old times,
Scotty

Star Telegram features local youth

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram needed ten full-color photos and three and a half pages of the Sunday, Oct. 26, paper to describe homecoming in a small town -- Ozona.

Two reporters and a photographer spent three days in Ozona trying to capture the flavor of Homecoming Week by focusing on two Ozona High School seniors, Roger Flores and Vickie Reagor, during that time.

Vickie stands in another photo, wearing her Homecoming Queen's crown and holding an armful of yellow roses which had been presented with the crown.

A large headline declares "Coming of age in Ozona" with Ozona in letters almost an inch high. An introduction to the story by Sheila Taylor and Mike Menichini fills most of the remainder of the page.

The story mentions the isolation and starkness of the location and says that it's not easy to find a place where teenagers lack bored worldliness and stand with right hands over their hearts while the school song is played at football games and where parents and teachers stand behind them in the bleachers and do the same.

Space, sheep, goats, and until recently, oil described Ozona as did mesquite, cedars, and the purple flowers of the sagebrush.

Life was found to be slower paced in Ozona than in Fort Worth, Arlington or Dallas. The universal teenagers' complaint, "There's nothing to do around here," was given believability by telling the readers that there is:

- No movie theater
- No skating rink
- No shopping mall
- No fast-food joint
- No bowling alley, health club, pizza joint, Six Flags Over Texas, Wet 'n Wild or Texas Stadium.

In small towns like Ozona everything centers around the school according to Jim Payne, Ozona High School principal.

The Ozona school's 14-building campus is described as resembling a private academy more than a public school. The computer department is described as a particular source of pride.

Teachers are described as often performing dual duties by coaching more than one event, driving school buses in their spare time or, in the case of Superintendent Garland Davis, announcing at home football games.

Even childless people are noticed to speak of the town's youth as "Our kids".

Glowing terms describe Ozona's teenagers. Vickie Reagor is modest and fits perfectly the image of a wholesome, teenage beauty with brown-eyes and dark blond hair and soft, West Texas drawl.

Roger Flores is depicted as likable, intelligent, polite and outgoing. His nickname, "The Speaker of the House", describes his articulateness.

Other teenagers and their statements are given generous space in the paper. Jena Allen, Stacy Lay, Stacy Berry and Stacie Winkley are all pictured or quoted or both.

Jim Williams said that Ozona's teenagers may have a little trouble adjusting to the city, but that they adjust quicker than a city kid moving to Ozona.

Card of Thanks

The Oct. 25 Ozona Fly-In and Airport Appreciation Day created lasting memories for many of those attending. Spectators thrilled to the sights and sounds of the planes as they learned something of the technology and history of the machines.

Visiting pilots, ground crew, announcers and other out of town guests commented frequently on the friendliness, cooperation and attention shown them by Ozonans.

Thank you are in order for the various committees, their chairmen, the civic organizations, and individuals who worked so hard to make the day a success.
Ozona Chamber of Commerce

Dear Friends,

Your loving gifts of food, flowers and memorials have been such a comfort to us following the loss of our dear one. Your visits have also been a blessing to us and will be treasured.

Thank you all for the many kind things you have done to make this time easier.
