City confirms rabies case

City Hall has confirmed a case of rabies inside the Clarendon city limits this week.

City Secretary Machiel Covey said animal control picked up a skunk west of Koogle Street last Thursday, and a positive test for rabies was received Monday morning.

Local officials have been urging caution with regards to rabies the last two weeks because the instances of rabies in the Texas Panhandle are twice as high as they were last year.

Citizens are urged to get their pets vaccinated for rabies immediately, and everyone needs to stay away from any wild animals - skunks, raccoon, etc. - which may be coming into populated areas due to the drought conditions.

Bronco Band will compete Saturday

The Clarendon High School Bronco Band will compete in the Area Marching Contest this Saturday, October 29, in Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo.

The band will perform at 11 a.m. and will be facing 21 other bands from four other regions in Class A. Those advancing will be announced at 4 p.m. Saturday, and the finals to determine who goes on to the state contest will be held at 6:30 p.m.

Repairs to begin Monday on Fourth

The City of Clarendon will begin repairs Monday, October 31, on the four blocks of East Fourth Street between Carhart and Jackson Streets.

During street repairs, citizens are asked to avoid the area for a few days because of the heavy equipment working there. Residents in the area are asked to park on side streets for a few days so as not to be blocked in their driveways.

4H Carnival, Chili Supper is Saturday

The Donley County 4-H Fall Carnival & Chili Supper will be held Saturday, October 29, from 6:00- 9:00 p.m. in the Donley Activity County Center.

The event will feature games for the whole family, good food, a cake walk, and a haunted house. Admission is free, and game tickets are five for a dollar.

The Chili Supper is all-you-can-eat and costs $4 for kids and $6 for adults. Proceeds benefit the Donley County 4-H.

Art appreciation

Greta Byars and Betty Ann Sansing study one of the exhibits at the third annual Clarendon Arts Festival last weekend at the Donley County Activity Center. Les Beaux Arts Club organized the festival and reports that about $14,000 in art sales were generated by the gallery compared to about $16,000 last year. Estimated attendance over the three-day event was about 1,000 people. Festival organizer Chriss Clifford said exceptionally good weather and other events going on the same weekend may have hurt attendance some this year. She also said about 320 area students attended the educational Fine Arts Day program on Friday.

USDA authorizes emergency grazing of CRP

Donley County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Bruce Ferguson has announced that in response to drought conditions, the Texas FSA State Committee authorized emergency grazing use of Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres for 92 Texas counties - including Donley County - effective November 1, 2011, for the fiscal year (FY) 2012 winter/spring period.

"The 2012 CRP emergency grazing period begins on November

1, 2011, and ends on January 29, 2012," said Ferguson. "CRP land previously hayed or grazed, either managed or emergency use, during the previous 12 months is excluded from the FY 2012 grazing authorization."

The FY 2012 CRP emergency authorization permits grazing only. No haying of CRP acres is allowed at this time. Additionally, there will be a 25 percent CRP payment reduction on the 2012 annual payment for CRP acres used for grazing under these emergency provisions.

To take advantage of the emergency grazing provisions, authorized producers can use the CRP acreage for their own livestock or may grant another livestock producer use of the CRP acreage. The eligible CRP acreage is limited to the acreage located within the approved counties.

Eligible producers who are interested in grazing CRP under the emergency authorization and current CRP participants who choose to provide land for grazing to an eligible livestock producer, must first request approval to graze eligible acreage; obtain a modified conservation plan from the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) to include grazing requirements, leave at least 25 percent of each field or contiguous CRP field ungrazed for wildlife, or graze not more than 75 percent of the stocking rate as determined by NRCS.

For more information, call 806-874-3561.

Water district gets $1 million for conservation

AUSTIN - The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) last week approved by resolution a $1,000,000 loan from the Agricultural Water Conservation Program to the Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District to finance an agricultural water conservation program.

The Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District will utilize these funds to provide loans to area farmers to purchase center-pivot irrigation systems.

The District's jurisdictional area covers all or parts of eight counties in the Panhandle of Texas, including Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Donley, Armstrong, Potter, Hutchinson and Roberts. The area covers 6,378 square miles and has 967,000 cultivated acres, of which 281,500 are irrigated. Principal crops grown in the area include wheat, grain sorghum, corn and sunflowers.

The TWDB is the state agency charged with collecting and disseminating water-related data, assisting with regional planning and preparing the State Water Plan for the development of the state's water resources. The TWDB administers cost-effective financial programs for the construction of water supply, wastewater treatment, flood control, and agricultural water conservation projects.

Early voting underway on state propositions

Early voting is underway this week as citizens in Donley County and across the state begin to decide the fate of ten proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

Balloting by personal appearance began Monday in the Clerk's Office in Donley County Courthouse Annex and will end on November 4. Election Day will be Tuesday, November 8.

State Sen. Kel Seliger has a column on page two of this week's Enterprise discussing Proposition 2, and the Texas Secretary of State's office offers the following explanations of all ten propositions on the ballot:

Explanatory Statements for the November 8, 2011 Texas Constitutional Amendment Election

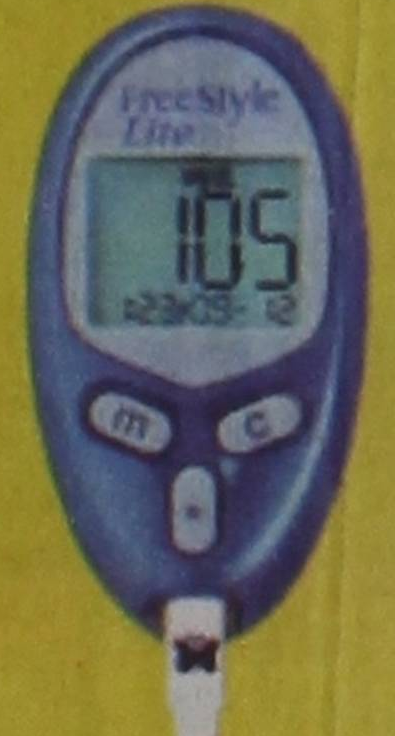

Proposition Number 1 would amend the constitution to authorize the legislature to provide the surviving spouse of a 100 percent or totally disabled veteran with an exemption from ad valorem taxation of all or part of the market value of the surviving spouse's residence homestead as long as the surviving spouse has not remarried, the property was the residence homestead of the surviving spouse when the qualifying veteran died, and the property remains the residence homestead of the surviving spouse.

Proposition Number 2 would amend the constitution to authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue additional general obligation bonds on a continuing basis for one or more accounts of the Texas Water Development Fund II, with the restriction that the total amount of bonds outstanding at any time does not exceed $6 billion.

Proposition Number 3 would amend the constitution to authorize the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board or its successors to issue and sell general obligation bonds on a continuing basis for the purpose of financing educational loans for students, subject to certain constitutional restrictions, including a restriction as to the maximum principal amount of bonds outstanding at any one time.

Proposition Number 4 would amend the constitution to authorize the legislature to permit a county to issue bonds or notes to finance the development or redevelopment of an unproductive, underdeveloped, or blighted area within the county, and to pledge increases in ad valorem tax revenues imposed on property in the area by the county for repayment of such bonds or notes. The amendment does not provide independent authority for increasing ad valorem Kaddafi's removal, 30 years late?

By Dr. Paul Kengor

In the 1980s, I was an unrefined adolescent from blue-collar Butler, Pennsylvania. I knew nothing and cared nothing about politics. I had no idea if I was a conservative or liberal, Democrat or Republican, or much of anything else. But I knew one thing: Moammar Kaddafi was a bad dude. This was expressed in a rather unsophisticated way by the bumper-sticker affixed to my white Chevy Chevette, which declared simply and succinctly: "Kaddafi Sucks."

Yep, Moammar Kaddafi was a bad dude. And now, three decades later, and some 40-plus years after coming to power, he is gone, dispatched to the ash-heap of history with other murderous terrorists and dictators: Osama Bin Laden, Saddam Hussein, Pol Pot, Mao Tse-Tung, Joe Stalin, Vladimir Lenin.

I will not here add to reports of how Kaddafi met his final fate, but I would like to share a valuable piece of information that was revealed to me by Bill Clark, Ronald Reagan's right-hand man and national security adviser when Kaddafi was ramping up in the 1980s.

It was early 1981. President Reagan had just been inaugurated. Alexandre de Marenches, the director of France's external intelligence agency, SDECE, came to the White House with a highly sensitive plan to remove Kaddafi. The plan was to assassinate the Libyan dictator during a parade, by use of an explosive device placed near the reviewing stand. "Our answer," said Clark, "was that we understood their feelings toward the man, but we don't do assassinations."

That was because there was an executive order banning assassinations, first signed by President Gerald Ford and supported by President Carter. The Reagan team had no intention of violating the order as one of the first acts of the new administration.

Intelligence sources I consulted confirmed Clark's recollection of de Marenches' request. "He came over to the U.S., probably in early February 1981," said one source, a high-level CIA "operations" person. "His interlocutor was Vice President Bush. The purpose of the visit was to discuss the removal of Kaddafi. He came to try to get us involved operationally in the plan.... He wanted not just our moral or political support but to get us involved in the actual operation."

This same source pointed to the "Safari Club," which was a group of countries — France, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Morocco, and the Shah's Iran — that had banded together for two primary purposes: 1) to fight the spread of Soviet communism in Africa; and 2) to counter Kaddafi, particularly his adventures in neighboring Chad. The group was formed by intelligence ministers in the mid-1970s, and de Marenches was its catalyst. The group was appalled by America's unwillingness to no longer stand up to the Soviets; it was post-Watergate, post-Vietnam, Americans had elected an incredibly liberal Congress, and Jimmy Carter was president. The Club sought to fill the vacuum.

De Marenches' offer against Kaddafi was consistent with the concerns of the Safari Club.

As an indication of the confidential nature of his overture, de Marenches did not discuss his offer to the Reagan administration in either of his 1986 and 1992 books. But he did note yet another intention to kill Kaddafi: He said that on March 1, 1978, Egyptian leader Anwar Sadat had asked de Marenches for help in "disposing of him [Kaddafi] physically."

Think of the irony here, and how tragically history unfolds: It would be Sadat who was assassinated in 1981 — on October 6, 1981. He was killed at a reviewing stand at a parade, shot by Islamists for his "crime" of making peace with Israel.

While Sadat died, Kaddafi was permitted to live. Sadat made peace. Kaddafi left a trail of blood and violence.

And here's another irony still: Just weeks after de Marenches' offer to Reagan to assassinate Kaddafi, Reagan was shot, on March 30, 1981, and nearly bled to death.

In retrospect, should President Reagan have agreed to the French request to take out Kaddafi? A lot of innocent lives would have been spared. Terrorist attacks from Lockerbie, Scotland to the Mediterranean would have been averted.

Alas, such action by Reagan would indeed have been illegal, and was not the mission or foreign-policy plan of his incoming administration. Had Reagan started his presidency by violating an executive order on assassinations, liberals in that post-Watergate/post-Vietnam Congress would have run him out of town with impeachment papers before his historic two-term takedown of the Evil Empire could commence.

Reagan did what he could — or couldn't. Nonetheless, this is a very intriguing tale of what happens behind the scenes — and what might have been. The death of Kaddafi had to wait — it had to wait a long, painful 30 years. Only now, finally, this bad dude is gone.

Clark, Ronald Reagan's Top Hand" and his latest release, "Dupes: How America's Adversaries Have Manipulated Progressives for a Century."

Water matters for the future of Texas

It is hard to remember which came first — the wildfires or the drought. Both, coupled with the intense summer heat, have made these past months unbearable for Texans in many parts of the state.

Texas is experiencing one of the most severe droughts on record. The eleven months from October 2010 through August 2011 marked the driest in Texas for that same timeframe since 1895, leaving many families and farmers suffering from this critical water shortage. The Texas Water Development Board (Board) estimates that the drought could cost Texas businesses and employees upwards of $12 billion, annually, in lost income. Enter Proposition 2.

Proposition 2 is a proposed constitutional amendment that will allow the Board to issue additional general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $6 billion at any time. Proceeds from these bonds will be used in a revolving loan program that political subdivisions — such as cities, counties, districts, river authorities, and nonprofit water supply corporations — can apply for and access to fund water and wastewater infrastructure in their communities. By using a lower bonding rate, this financing option through the state is sometimes the only way water infrastructure projects are possible.

There is a history of voters approving constitutional amendments that give the Board this authority. In 1957, Texans authorized the Board to issue up to $4.23 billion in bonds for financing water-related projects. It is estimated that the Board's existing bond authority will be exhausted before 2013, when the Legislature meets again. Without additional bonding authority and the passage of Proposition 2, the Board will not be able to assist communities with funds to provide for the water needs of the state. Simply put, without Proposition 2, the Board will be out of money to loan. And without rain, ensuring a sound infrastructure may be the only way to have access to water in dire times.

Will Proposition 2 cost taxpayers money? No.

Proposition 2 is self-supporting, meaning the repayment will not come from state general revenue. Entities that choose to use this funding to address their water needs will repay the principal and interest on the loans. It is those principal and interest payments that will be used to repay the bonds. While I understand the concern that the Board will be authorized to issue debt that has not been specifically approved by the taxpayers, the evergreen nature of these bonds is vital to the continuation of long-term guest column by state sen. keel seliger

funding for water infrastructure. The fact of the matter is, if cities do not have the option to apply for monies from the Board, communities throughout the state will be forced to raise money on their own to support these essential water projects.

Ultimately, these monies will provide the funding necessary to support the infrastructure and components of the State Water Plan. The State Water Plan, which is updated every five years by the Board using a 50-year planning horizon, represents a true bottom-up approach necessary for water planning. Regional water plans developed by local entities are used to form the larger, statewide document. This plan prioritizes projects for water funding throughout the state, and funds to realize those projects are supported by the Board through these loans.

With meteorologists telling us that the current drought is going to get worse before it gets better, the decisions that we make regarding future water supply and infrastructure are more important than ever before. It is important that we all make our voices heard at the ballot box, and I encourage everyone to get out and vote.

Keel Seliger represents District 31 in the Texas Senate, spanning 26 counties from the Panhandle to the Permian Basin and serves as Chair of the Senate Select Committee on Redistricting, as well as actively serving on the Education, Finance, International Relations and Trade, and Natural Resources Committees.

Time for a new approach in DC

Americans are aware that there is a fundamental divide in Washington, D.C. over how to revive our lagging economy.

Thirty-one months ago, the President signed into law a nearly $1 trillion dollar economic stimulus package. Republicans opposed the bill because it increased the deficit; it was a short-term patch, assembled in secret, and favored certain groups. Today, there are 1.7 million fewer jobs than when the bill was signed. Unemployment remains above nine percent.

Nevertheless, the President has spent more than a month now campaigning on a second stimulus bill, hastily developed, that would raise taxes permanently, would increase spending, and, again, is targeted at a few select groups. He has urged Republicans to offer an alternative, rather than just criticizing his plan.

It's clearly time for a new approach. That's why last week I joined a group of Senators in rolling out the Senate Republican jobs plan. It offers reasoned guidelines to lower spending, reform our tax code, curb over-regulation, encourage domestic energy exploration, and implement common sense health care policies — serious plans for long-term growth and fiscal accountability.

Here are the five pillars of our plan:

Restore fiscal accountability
Washington should be forced to do what an American family must do every day: live within its means. Specifically, by requiring a balanced budget amendment to the U.S. Constitution and placing a statutory limit on spending, we can ensure Congress makes the difficult but necessary decisions about the nation's spending priorities. Additionally, immediate spending cuts are needed to substantially reduce deficits. Freezing record-high spending levels, as the President has suggested in the past, will not put the nation on a sustainable path, nor will it restore the consumer and business confidence needed to get our economy growing again.

Reform the tax code
This is vital to spurring economic growth and can be done by making the tax code flatter, fairer and simpler. Simplifying and reducing business and individual tax rates will encourage businesses to invest and grow. Our plan would make the research and development tax credit permanent. This would spur innovation and provide certainty in a way that the temporary credit currently does not. In addition, we would make the small business tax incentive permanent, and reduce taxes on capital gains and dividends, steps which are critical to economic growth and innovation.

Cut regulation

We must unburden the economy from costly, job-killing regulations. Currently, businesses are forced to spend an inordinate amount of time and financial resources complying with cumbersome rules and regulations imposed by the federal government. This is time and money that businesses could spend on developing new products and services, growing their markets, and creating jobs. One proposal contained in our plan, known as the REINS Act, would require congressional approval on any proposed federal regulation that would impose more than a $100 million cost on the U.S. economy.

Our plan will also prohibit the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) from over-regulating greenhouse gases under the Clean Air Act. If Congress does not act to stop the EPA, trillions of dollars will be extracted from our economy, and more than 1 million jobs eliminated.

Encourage domestic exploration

Increasing access to reliable, affordable and cleaner domestic energy is vital to our economic recovery as well as our national security. We can do this by lifting the flat prohibition on developing resources in the outer continental shelf and allowing access for exploration of energy resources on federal lands.

While the drilling moratorium in the Gulf of Mexico may have been officially lifted a year ago, there continues to be a steep decline in the number of permits approved by the administration, creating a de-facto moratorium. In addition, the administration has failed to restore the time leaseholders lost during the moratorium. This policy has forced hundreds of rigs to sit idle, and thus far 11 rigs have left the Gulf to drill for oil overseas — taking their jobs and tax revenue with them. Offshore energy producers are vital to America's economic growth and energy security, and our national energy policies need to start reflecting that reality.

Common sense health care

It is becoming clear that the Obama health care law will cause costs to explode — for businesses and workers that rely on job-based coverage, and for state governments that are on the hook for implementing the new law. It will not bend the cost curve downward, nor will it improve health care quality and safety. The health care law must be repealed. However, repealing this ill-conceived law is not enough. Health insurance premiums are projected to continue to rise faster than inflation. Congress needs to enact meaningful medical malpractice reform, allow purchases of insurance, across state lines, provide additional risk pools for small business, and strengthen health savings accounts.

The divide in Washington, D.C. is clear: on the one hand, as exemplified by the first and second stimulus bills, the administration offers ill-considered, temporary patches that favor a select group of Americans. On the other hand, as outlined above, Republicans offer thoughtful consistent policies that will support sustained growth for the nation as a whole.

Americans see a struggling economy and know where short-term thinking has gotten us. It's time for a new approach.

FAITH TESTED

None of us know the depth of our faith until it is tried or tested. Revelation 2:10 tells us that we must be "faithful unto death". That means being faithful even if it costs us our lives. This is certainly consistent throughout the Bible.

Genesis 22 gives us the account of God commanding Abraham to take Isaac and offer him as a burnt sacrifice. Abraham was to take Isaac to Moriah and offer him there.

In verse 3 of the chapter Abraham gets up early the very next morning and prepares for the trip. Abraham and his group traveled a couple of days to get to the destination. Verses 9-10 show Abraham in the last minutes with his son. He is not dragging his feet in obeying God's command. He is not trying to find another interpretation of what God had told him to do. God was very clear. There was no gray area and Abraham wasn't looking for any. Here we see a faithful servant of God carrying out a command that would tempt many of us not to obey.

There is another faith being tested in this account. Isaac's faith was surely tested. Verse 7, Isaac wants to know where the lamb is for the sacrifice. In verse 8, Abraham tells Isaac that God would provide and in verse 9 we see that Abraham bound Isaac and made ready to sacrifice him. The question that is extremely important is, "How old is Isaac?" We see in verse 6 that Abraham gave the wood for the sacrifice to Isaac to carry. In verse 5, Abraham refers to Isaac as a young man or lad. It would be safe to reason that Isaac was a teen or older. Josephus believed Isaac to be about 25 years of age (Antiquities, I, xiii, 1-4). We can't be sure of the age, but if he could carry the wood for the sacrifice, he was certainly strong enough to struggle with his very aged father. We not only don't read of a struggle, but after the ordeal, we see for the rest of Abraham's life a loving relationship with his son. Isaac obviously never held it against his father. The command of God demanded obedience from both father and son. One was being commanded to give his son, the other commanded to give himself.

This is a foreshadowing of Jesus and His deep love and faith in God. Jesus came to do what the will of God was (John 9:1-5). We should assess our faith in light of the examples of Abraham, Isaac, and our Savior. How deep is our faith? Are we willing to follow the commands of God quickly and completely? If not, why not? Trials will come. The question is, "What will you do?"

Hedley Senior Citizens hit with food restrictions

There are still people in Hedley that we would like your prayers for: Wayne Copeland, Anita Mitchell, Bill Carson, the Methodist Youth Group and our Senior Citizens.

The Senior Citizens just received word that the Federal Government is telling us what we can and cannot cook for the Senior Citizens. We just got mandated menus and recipes that we are to serve. If we don't do it their way, we will not get paid. I guess this is that new nutrition program, and it is taking effect immediately and nationwide. I know nutrition is a good thing; but when they come in and tell us it is their way or the highway, then I have to question what our government is up to.

We can no longer serve any fried foods; any canned vegetables, puddings, etc.; or pre-packaged meats like chicken strips or chicken fried steak, steak fingers, hamburger patties, etc. Everything must be from scratch even gravy. All vegetables must be frozen or fresh. This is going to raise our food bill higher than it is now, not to mention what this is going to do to the Food Bank; they work with canned goods.

They have made us menus that I cannot substitute anything. One example: Roast Pork, Succotash, Whole Wheat Roll, Banana Pudding & Low Fat Milk. That's it... that's all I can put on a tray and the portions are a lot smaller. The bread has to be made from scratch, and the pudding has to be made from scratch. Yes, in most cases this nutrition thing will be a good thing, but what I am so upset about is that we chatty kathy

by kathy spier
Hedley • 856-5302

don't have the time or the money to get this done. We don't have the time to do this by scratch on everything. Granted, most of the menus are not bad in themselves, but it is the time and money to get it done that we are worried about. I am so upset that I am in the process of writing a letter to about 50 congressmen that my Board of Director wants me to write.

Please bear with us as this is going to be a very upsetting change. If you think this is as wrong as we do, please write your congressmen.

Please, Lord, help us thru this uncertain time.

Social Security benefits to rise in January 2012

Monthly Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits for more than 60 million Americans will increase 3.6 percent in 2012, the Social Security Administration announced today.

The 3.6 percent cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) will begin with benefits that nearly 55 million Social Security beneficiaries receive in January 2012. Increased payments to more than 8 million SSI beneficiaries will begin on December 30, 2011.

Some other changes that take effect in January of each year are based on the increase in average wages. Based on that increase, the maximum amount of earnings subject to the Social Security tax (taxable maximum) will increase to $110,100 from $106,800. Of the estimated 161 million workers who will pay Social Security taxes in 2012, about 10 million will pay higher taxes as a result of the increase in the taxable maximum.

Information about Medicare changes for 2012, when announced, will be available at www.Medicare.gov. For some beneficiaries, their Social Security increase may be partially or completely offset by increases in Medicare premiums.

The Social Security Act provides for how the COLA is calculated. To read more, please visit www.socialsecurity.gov/cola.

Clarendon City employees attend Annual Conference

Mayor Larry Hicks, City Secretary Machiel Covey, and City Administrator Lambert Little were in Houston October 11-14, 2011, representing the City of Clarendon at the 99th Texas Municipal League Annual Conference.

The theme of this year's conference was "Winning Game Plans for Texas Cities" and the four-day meeting provided an opportunity for officials to attend workshops addressing current municipal issues. In addition, the conference offered a chance to visit with elected and appointed officials from across Texas to learn how other cities are coping with the challenges facing municipal government today. The conference also provided the opportunity for city officials to visit with exhibitors from across the state.

During the meeting, conference attendees were offered a number of sessions on leadership development, public policy issues, economic development strategies, risk management, health care, performance measures, ethics, parliamentary procedure, and much more. Delegates also had the opportunity to hear presentations by Dr. Lowell Catlett, a futurist and economist from New Mexico State University in Las Cruces; Ross Ramsey, Executive Editor of The Texas Tribune; and Dr. Will Miller, a therapist and teacher at Purdue University.

Over 3,000 municipal officials, spouses, and exhibitors attended the conference, which was sponsored by the Texas Municipal League. The League is a voluntary association of over 1,200 Texas cities. The City of Clarendon is a member of the Texas Municipal League.

What beautiful weather the Lord is sending us! I hope everyone has taken advantage of it and gotten outside. I have noticed things that usually occur in the spring are happening now, such as the Forsythia blooming and last night swarming gnats ran me back into the house. That was okay, I had just watched the Dallas Cowboys win followed by a win from the Texas Rangers. Both games were played in Arlington. Oh, my! What a traffic jam that had to be!

Last week the Girl Scouts of Clarendon hosted a party and invited the four Red Hat groups from Clarendon, including the group from the nursing home.

The Red Hats are an organization of women primarily over the age of 50 who meet and have fun. They wear red hats, purple attire and as much shiny, blingy jewelry and accessories as desired. Women under the age of 50 are welcomed, but they wear pink hats.

Names of groups in the organization vary, the Clarendon groups are the Classy Dames, Scarlet Saints, Twilight Red Hatters and from the nursing home, the Has Beens.

As a member of the Classy Dames I was thrilled when I received the invitation from the Scouts to meet and mingle. The girls ranged from K-10, the tiny girls are Daisies, next Brownies, Juniors, Cadets, and Seniors. They each had made a pink hat with the older girls using a sewing machine and working on their sewing badge, and the younger ones gluing flowers and ribbon. They learned a new song, "Make new friends but keep the old, one is silver and the other gold". I think we were their silver friends.

Seeing the scouts brought back memories of my girls in scouts and being a leader in Mt. Home, Idaho, and the wonderful camping trips and day trips we made in the mountains.

When Juliette Gordon Low began the Girl Scouts in 1912 in Phishing scam targeting local bank customers

The latest phishing scam to hit Amarillo, Lubbock, and the Panhandle of Texas is targeting customers of the Herring Banks.

Jerry Woodard, president of the Herring Bank in Clarendon, said consumers are reporting receiving an automated phone call to their cell phones that said their account with the bank has been frozen and to unfreeze the account they are instructed to give their card and PIN.

It says their account has been frozen and to unfreeze the account "please press 1." Consumers who followed the instructions were then prompted to enter their card number and PIN. According to bank officials, the con artist used fraudulent terminals to determine if the cards were valid numbers and shared them worldwide. Fraudulent charges were showing up within hours.

The bank's website has a "scam alert" that shows it is aware of the scam targeting its customers.

The alert reads: "If you have entered your ATM or debit card information in response to an email or phone call, please call the number on the back of your card immediately for further instructions."

"Herring Bank does not request customer account information by email. If you encounter a suspicious email that says it is from Herring Bank, do not respond."

This is good information on any calls from other banks, credit card companies or any phone calls or emails requesting your personal information. Remember they don't need your information; they already have it and will not ask you for it again. Hang up and call the bank or company wanting your information. Be sure to look on the back of your card or look up the correct number do not use any numbers from the caller. "The phone number that shows up is usually a number to a legitimate company; however, the number has been 'spoofed' to appear coming from another number other than the original one."

What you should know about the national do not call registry:

The National Do Not Call Registry gives you a choice about whether to receive telemarketing calls at home or on your cell phone. Most telemarketers should not call your number once it has been on the registry for 31 days. If they do, you can file a complaint at this Website. You can register your home or mobile phone for free. To register your number: Online: www.donotcall.gov, Phone: 1-888-382-1222

Broncos miss two chances for comeback

By Sandy Anderberg

Two missed chances to score inside the five added to the demise of the Broncos in their district season opener against Quanah.

The 30-42 final put the Broncos at 0-1 in district with two regular season games to go.

Overall, according to head coach Gary Jack, the Broncos put together a fairly good offensive game despite the loss.

"We were ahead early," Jack said. "We played hard and it was a tough game, but our mistakes cost us the win."

Clarendon racked up over 450 total yards of offense, just behind the Indians' 500 yards.

Wesley Williams posted over 170 yards rushing, which put him over the 1,000-yard mark already this season, and Charleston Harris added another 100 plus on the night.

"We did a lot of good things offensively," Jack said.

"And with six minutes left in the game, it's a four-point game. Either it was our win or anybody's game."

Several Broncos had good games and according to Jack, quarterback Chance McAnear threw the ball well and Jerami Johnson made good catches.

Jack noted that Chris Shultz did

Broncos Montana Hysinger, Jonah Sell and Joseph Jaramillo during the Alma Mater after the game last Friday. The Broncos lost their first district game 30-42 to Quanah, but will fight for their playoff chances this Friday in Lockney.

a great job on both sides of the ball. Trevor Cobb and Trajen Johnson played well on defense.

Jonah Sell played good defense with a fumble recovery. Harris was great on offense and played good defense as well. He also had one fumble recovery and recorded a QB sack. Diego Santos caused two fumbles and Jayson Pigg had a fumble recovery.

The loss put the Broncos in a must-win situation as they prepare to face Lockney on the road Friday night.

"We need to win this week,"

Jack said. "And we need to be ready to play. We have a few guys back from injuries, and we are getting healthier."

The Broncos will hit the road again to face-off against Lockney at 7:30 p.m. Friday night, October 2 in Lockney.

Drugs in the News

Less Heart Risk: Ibuprofen and Naproxen

In the late 1990s, it was discovered that anti-inflammatory drugs called NSAIDs (nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs) increased the risk of heart attacks and strokes. This occurred with some of the newer drugs (called Cox-2 inhibitors) that were developed to avoid NSAID-related gastrointestinal bleeding. Two of the prescription drugs in this group at that time (Vioxx and Bextra) were determined to be at such risk for cardiovascular problems that they were eventually pulled from the market. A similar drug, Celebrex, is still available with a warning about possible cardiovascular problems.

A recent evaluation of 30 studies involving NSAIDs suggests that naproxen (Aleve) and low doses of ibuprofen (Advil, Motrin) are the least likely to increase cardiovascular risk, while some other drugs in this group do increase the risk. Health experts warn, however, that an increase in gastrointestinal problems, such as bleeding, can occur with NSAID use, especially if the person has a history of ulcers, drinks alcohol heavily or takes steroids for such things as asthma or arthritis.

CCC celebrates new cart barn

By Sandy Anderberg

After a fire destroyed the cart barn at the Clarendon Country Club last summer, the members worked hard to get a new one put up in its place. They celebrated that event by having an 18-hole scramble on Saturday that drew 37 players.

The team of Mike Santos, Frank Dale, Steve Hall, and Jimmy Hampton took the top spot at 15 under par. Terry Esch, Audie Watson, Sunday Morris, and Jana Lemons finished second at 12 under and the team of P.J. Lemons, Neil Conrad, Kevin Wood, and Lea Brown took third at 11 under par.

Gene Rogers won the weekly men's game with a net 68. Tom Stauder was second with a 69, and Ellis Knight turned in a net 72 for third. Gayle Rogers won the women's game on Thursday with a gross 87.

The Two-Person Polar Bear Tournament will be held November 5-6 and entries are still being taken. Tee times for the two-day thirty-six-hole contest will be at 1:00 p.m.

There are two seats open in Voting Region 2, which consists of the following 40 counties: Archer, Armstrong, Baylor, Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Crosby, Dickens, Donley, Fisher, Floyd, Foard, Garza, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Haskell, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Lipscomb, Motley, Ochiltree, Roberts, Scurry, Shackelford, Stephens, Stonewall, Throckmorton, Wheeler, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young.

Proposition Number 5 would amend the constitution to authorize the legislature to allow cities and counties to enter into interlocal contracts with other cities and counties without having to assess an ad valorem tax and set aside a specified amount of funds for the payment of costs under the interlocal contract.

Proposition Number 6 would amend the constitution to increase the amount of principal that is available for withdrawal from the permanent school fund each year and would also clarify certain references to that fund in the constitution. YOUR PROPERTY TAXES JUST WENT UP. OR HADN'T YOU HEARD?

When local governments want to increase tax revenues, they are required to publish notices in the newspaper so that you will know. But that right to know could disappear.

Local governmental entities across the state want to hide their public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites. What you don't know will affect you personally!

If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
